I must really think, that the Committee appointed to inquire what was wanting to prepare us for our march had not all the necessary letters laid before them. It has been my chief object, since I had the honour to command this battalion, that they might be well armed. I have urged the Committee of this place on that head, and I saw Mr. Tucker's letters, wrote very pressingly for arms and blankets. You have now sent money, but it is too late—before the officers go to the different parts of the Province, gather them up, and have them repaired, it will be too late; there will nothing do at present, but about three hundred stand of good arms put into their hands under stoppages. The Committee have entirely forgot canteens and camp-kettles; camp equipage I suppose will follow us. I do assure you I think they are as likely a battalion of men as any in the Continental service, and I hope they will do their duty with any that is not more experienced. For God's sake do not let them be disgraced for want of their necessities. If I might advise, I would have the Congress to send two or three men from Philadelphia, as a Committee to examine the regiment immediately, and make report to the Congress what they want, and let some of these gentlemen be taken out of the Committee that fitted out the Pennsylvania Battalion. The four companies here might not be filled up, but those at Burlington want every thing.

I am determined to march off the four companies that are here, with what little fitting I can get here for them. They will make but a poor figure, but I cannot help it. The first company I hope will set off the end of this week, and the others follow as soon as they can. I should be glad to have the orders of Congress with what company I shall march. I hope with the first, for I am distressed beyond measure to have so fine a parcel of men under my command, and yet so unfit for doing their country service when it is so much wanted.

I have the pleasure to inform you that I sent out one of my Lieutenants in the country to purchase blankets; he has in a few days bought of different farmers about fifty; those, with what he picked up a few days ago, completed Captain Stout's company in this article. Blankets may be had in plenty through the country.

I am, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant,
WILLIAM MAXWELL.

To the Honourable John Hancock, President of the Continental Congress, at Philadelphia.

COLONEL MAXWELL'S MEMORIAL RELATING TO NECESSARIES WANTED FOR HIS BATTALION.

January 31, 1776.

Memorandum.—The West New-Jersey Regiment are in want of the following articles, before they can be properly equipped for marching, viz:

Near one half their arms; leggins; a number of warm waistcoats; some coats and breeches; stockings to make two pair per man; some shirts; Canada caps for the whole regiment; canteens and camp-kettles; mittens for the whole regiment; moccasins, may be had at Albany. About one pair of stockings per man are furnished by Mr. Lawrey. The other articles he has no orders from Congress to provide, and if he had, they could not be purchased in Jersey. Money in advance is required. Such articles as come from Philadelphia were furnished by Mr. Clement Biddle.

WILLIAM MAXWELL.

FREDERICK HARTELL TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

To the worthy Gentlemen of the Congress, &c., &c., the Petition of FREDERICK HARTELL, humbly sheweth:

That your petitioner hath been many years in the King of Hungary's service, as a Captain-Lieutenant, sold out in the month of May, 1755, and was in several field-battles; afterwards, entered in the English Royal American service, as a non-commissioned officer, on condition of being preferred, and after the siege at Havana the regiment was broke; and hath ever since followed the tobaccoconist business in the city of New-York.

Your petitioner, therefore, most humbly prays, as he is ready and willing to serve in his former calling, for the good of American liberty, to place him into some station, and give him a birth, that you, worthy gentlemen, shall think proper, after being examined.

And your petitioner shall ever pray.

FREDERICK HARTELL.

New-York, January 31, 1776.

JOHN WYLLEY TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, January 31, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: If you should think me worthy of a Captain's commission, I would be willing to engage in the service of my country.

JOHN WYLLEY.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 9, 1776.]

Albany, January 31, 1776.

SIR: I detained your express in hopes of some intelligence from General Wooster. The post is arrived, but I have no letters from the General. All was well when the post left it, which was on the 22d. He met the gentlemen with the money at Point-au-Fer, and supposes they arrived at Montreal on the 23d.

A number of Tories, in no less than forty sleds, are, I am informed, on their way from Canada. I shall dispose of them agreeable to the resolutions of Congress.

This morning Mr. Deane is returned from Oncida, and brought the enclosed speech in answer to mine.

A grand meeting of the Six Nations, and those of Canada, is to be held very soon at Onondaga. I have ordered Mr. Deane to return, and attend it, that we may know what passes. Colonel Butler is at Niagara, where he has had a conference with the Indians. Mr. Deane will try to discover what has passed there.

Although the number of Commissioners in this Department is sufficient, yet it might be proper to add some who can attend upon all occasions; strictly, a majority only can act, but necessity drives me too often to act solely. Mr. Dowse is removed out of town, and the other gentlemen reside at a considerable distance, so that I must not only do the business, but have the burden of all that come, and they are very troublesome visitants to a man that has something to do.

Major Hughes is still here, labouring under a fistula. As I could not permit him to go to any seaport, I have consented that he should go to Elizabethtown, that Doctor Jones may attend and perform an operation on him there. I should not have been under apprehensions if he had been permitted to go to New-York, as he has a family in Canada, and dare not go off. If Doctor Jones will not attend him at Elizabethtown, I could even wish he was sent to New-York under proper restrictions, lest it should give occasion of charging us with want of humanity.

I am, sir, most respectfully, your obedient, humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., &c., &c.

P. S. The express came here a passenger from Peekskill. I, therefore, send this by the New-York post, and he goes down with the prisoners.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO GENERAL SCHUYLER.

Lebanon, January 31, 1776.

SIR: Your letter of the 23d instant, by Bennett, he delivered me last evening. We shall depend that our men who come to Albany without arms, be supplied with them. Hope there will be more than half who will provide themselves with such as are good. I readily believe that the difficulties attending the march and fatigue of our troops to Canada will be nothing like so great as are generally imagined. General Washington desired me, by his letter of the 21st instant, "to have provision made upon the best terms I could, for such necessities as are requisite for the march of the regiment from hence." I have, accordingly, appointed Mr. Strong, of Salisbury, to make the necessary provision for their march to Albany, and Captain Throop, who raises one company in this part of the Colony, to take care for the necessities for them, until he gets to Canaan, from whence that company may be supplied with the rest of the battalion; a regular account with the vouchers thereof to be kept, that payment may be made. It is expected that the regiment from this Colony will march forward by divisions, and some of them will be at Albany soon. It gives me pleasure to find that Colonel Warner and Colonel Fellows are in so great forwardness to go for the relief of our friends in Canada. I do sincerely congratulate you on your success in disarming the Tories in Tryon County. Suppressing such enemies to American liberty is of very great importance.

The account of the money advanced to the battalion now raising here, shall be transmitted to the Paymaster-General, agreeable to your request. I informed you that Edward Mott was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel of this regiment, since which some uneasiness, arising from the appointment of a Field-Officer in this part of the Colony, remote from the place where most of the battalion is raised. Nathaniel Buel is appointed Lieutenant-Colonel, on the generous resignation of Colonel Mott, and John Sedgwick Major. This alteration was made in expectation of forwarding the enlistment in that quarter.

The roll of Colonel Hinman's Regiment, and the one of Colonel Waterbury's not sent, shall forward when received. Hope some of them will come by Bennett. Am unable to say much concerning General Lee's expedition into the Colony of New-York. The constant hurry prevents my entering into further particulars.

I am, sir, &c.,

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

To General Schuyler.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO JOSEPH REED.

Cambridge, January 31, 1776.

DEAR SIR: In my last, by Mr. John Adams, I communicated my distresses to you on account of my want of your assistance. I have since been under some concern at having done it, lest it should precipitate your return before you are ready for it, or bring on a final resignation, which I am unwilling to think of, if your return can be made convenient and agreeable. True it is, that from a variety of causes, my business has been, and now is, multiplied and perplexed, whilst the means of execution are greatly contracted. This may be a cause for my wishing you here, but no inducement to your coming, if you hesitate before.

I have now to thank you for your favours, and for the several articles of intelligence which they convey. The account given of your navy, at the same time that it is exceedingly unfavourable to our wishes, is a little provoking to me, inasmuch as it has deprived us of necessary articles, which otherwise would have been sent hither, but which a kind of fatality, I fear, will forever deprive us of. In the instance of New-York, we are not to receive a particle of what you expected would be sent from thence; the time and season passing away, as I believe the troops in Boston also will, before the season for taking the field arrives. I dare say they are preparing for it now, as we have undoubted intelligence of Clinton's leaving Boston with a number of troops, believed to be designed for Long-Island or New-York, in consequence of assurances from Governor Tryon of powerful aid from the Tories there.

I hope my countrymen of Virginia will rise superior to any losses the whole navy of Great Britain can bring on them, and that the destruction of Norfolk, and the attempted devastation of other places, will have no other effect than to unite the whole country in one indissoluble bond. A few more of such flaming arguments as were exhibited at Falmouth and Norfolk, added to the sound doctrine and unanswerable reasoning contained in the pamphlet "Common Sense," will not leave numbers at a loss to decide upon the propriety of a separation.

By a letter of the 21st instant, from General Wooster, I find, that Arnold was continuing the blockade of Quebeck on the 19th, which, under the heaviness of our loss there, is a most favourable circumstance, and exhibits a fresh proof of Arnold's ability and perseverance in the midst of difficulties. The reinforcement ordered to him will, I hope, complete the entire conquest of Canada this Winter; and except for the loss of the gallant chief and his brave followers, I should think the rebuff rather favourable than otherwise; for had the country been subdued by such a handful of men, it is more than probable that it would have been left to the defence of a few, and rescued from us in the Spring. Our eyes will now be open, not only to the importance of holding it, but to the numbers which are requisite to that end.

In my last I think I informed you of my sending General Lee to New-York, with the intention of securing the Tories on Long-Island, and preventing, if possible, the King's troops from making a lodgment there; but I fear the Congress will be duped by the representations from that Government, or yield to them in such a manner as to become marplots to the expedition. The city seems to be entirely under the government of Tryon and the Captain of the man-of-war.

Mrs. Washington desires me to thank you for the picture sent her. Mr. Campbell, whom I never saw to my knowledge, has made a very formidable figure of the Commander-in-chief, giving him a sufficient portion of terror on his countenance. Mrs. Washington also desires her compliments to Mrs. Reed, as I do, and with the sincerest regard and affection, I remain, dear sir, your most obedient servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

P. S. I had written the letter, herewith enclosed, before your favour of the 21st came to hand. The account given of the behaviour of the men under General Montgomery is exactly consonant to the opinion I have formed of these people, and such as they will exhibit abundant proofs of, in similar cases, whenever called upon. Place them behind a parapet, a breastwork, stone wall, or any thing that will afford them shelter, and from their knowledge of a fire-lock, they will give a good account of the enemy; but I am as well convinced, as if I had seen it, that they will not march boldly up to a work, nor stand exposed in a plain; and yet, if we are furnished with the means, and the weather will afford us a passage, and we can get in men, for these three things are necessary, something must be attempted. The men must be brought to face danger; they cannot always have an intrenchment or a stone wall as a safeguard or shield; and it is of essential importance that the troops in Boston should be destroyed, if possible, before they can be reinforced or removed. This is clearly my opinion. Whether circumstances will admit of the trial, and, if tried, what will be the result, the all-wise Disposer of events alone can tell.

Cambridge, January 31, 1776.

SIR: Mr. Glover called upon the General this day, informing him that the Legislative power of this Province were about making some alterations or amendment in the act relative to captures made by armed vessels, fitted out of this Colony, so as to make that act conformable to the resolutions of Congress. He also mentioned that some difficulties may arise after condemnation, respecting the sale of prizes made by the Continental vessels, as it seems the Deputy Sheriff is ordered to take charge of, and sell the prizes made by vessels fitted out by individuals, or otherwise. That will certainly militate with the agreement entered into by his Excellency with the agents appointed by him, who are to have a certain commission and no more, for transacting that business. Now, sir, I am ordered by the General to lay the matter before you, requesting that no future impediments may arise, after condemnation of these vessels, to interrupt the sale of them and cargoes. A clause, in this particular, enacting that all vessels, taken by the cruisers fitted out at the Continental expense, shall be given up to the agents appointed for negotiating that business, immediately after condemnation, will answer every purpose of this application to you.

I have the honour to enclose you a resolve of Congress, empowering the Paymaster-General of this Army to draw bills on the President, with an extract from his letter to his Excellency on the same subject.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,
To the Honourable James Warren, Esq., Speaker, &c.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO MAJOR BELLOWS.

Exeter, January 31, 1776.

SIR: We have just received a packet from the Continental Congress, informing us nine regiments are to be sent forthwith to Canada, all which are raising, and some on their march by this time, desiring our regiment may be forwarded with all speed, and that when any one or two companies are ready, to march forward. They likewise direct forty shillings, lawful money, to be given each soldier well accoutred, as a bounty, and one month's pay advance; therefore, you may assure all the men you muster that forty shillings of the money you pay them is a bounty, and the other one month's pay advance. Pray do every thing to forward the men, and hurry Colonel Waite as much as possible. The necessities are gone and going from Exeter to Cohass. Colonel Bedel will set off from here, we expect, to-morrow. Three or four companies at Plymouth and Cohass are enlisted.

In behalf of the Committee of Safety, I am, sir, your most humble servant,
MESHECH WEARE.

P. S. Pay the commission officers two months' wages.

INSTRUCTIONS TO COLONEL MOREY AND MAJOR BELLOWS.

In Committee of Safety, Exeter, January 31, 1776.

To ISRAEL MOREY and JOHN BELLOWS, Esquires:

As you, by vote of the Council and Assembly of this Colony, are appointed Mustermasters and Paymasters to the regiment raising for Canada, you are hereby directed, out of the money you have received from the Treasury, to pay each soldier you shall muster, being an able-bodied, effective man, and well accoutred, forty shillings, lawful money, as a bounty, and two months' wages to each commissioned officer, also one month's pay to each non-commissioned officer and soldier, at the rates established by the Continental Congress, and assist in providing for and forwarding the regiment with all speed, and make return of your doings as soon as may be to the General Court of this Colony, or Committee of Safety. You are likewise to observe that the soldiers that receive the Colony guns are to be informed that they are to allow one dollar for the use of the same; and should they not be returned at the end of the campaign, they are to pay therefor forty-five shillings, lawful money, each; and the officers are to take care that the above stoppages are to be made upon making up the muster-rolls.

By order of the Committee: MESHECH WEARE.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO SELECTMEN OF THE TOWNS OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

In Committee of Safety, January 31, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: We have received intelligence from our Delegates at Philadelphia, that if the numbers of all the people in each town are not speedily sent, we run the hazard of being doomed much beyond our proportion of the Continental expenses. As yours has not come to hand, we pray you to despatch it with speed, according to the request made last Fall. If you have sent, and it hath miscarried, we must entreat your sending again.

By order of the Committee: MESHECH WEARE.

P. S. Pay let the return be made on oath.

ADDRESS OF THE GENTRY, CLERGY, ETC., OF THE BOROUGH OF SUDBURY.

Address of the Gentry, Clergy, Principal Inhabitants, Manufacturers, and Freemen, of the Borough of Sudbury, in the County of Suffolk, presented to His Majesty by Sir Walden Hamner, Bart., one of their Representatives in Parliament, introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bedchamber in waiting; which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Gentry, Clergy, Principal Inhabitants, Manufacturers, and Freemen, of the Borough of Sudbury, in the County of Suffolk.

Most Gracious Sovereign:

We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, beg leave to express our detestation and abhorrence of the most unnatural rebellion now subsisting in your Majesty's Colonies in America, encouraged, we fear, by disaffected persons as well on this, as the other side of the Atlantick, who at the same time boast of the liberty and laws of the most excellent Constitution in the world; yet, misled by faction and supposed injured rights, forget their natural duty and allegiance, and disown their subjection to the Legislative authority of this Kingdom, in defiance of all order and government. These unprecedented measures, subversive of every civil establishment, must excite the indignation of every friend to his country, and, we are sorry to say it, call aloud for the decisive exertions of your Majesty's arms. In times so critical, we think it our indispensable duty to profess our hearty zeal and attachment to your Majesty's person, family, and Government. Confiding in the wisdom of your Majesty's Council and the spirit of Parliament, we presume to hope that a period will soon be put to these calamities. Amongst many of your faithful subjects, we, deeply sensible of the many inestimable blessings we enjoy under your Majesty's mild and happy reign, most heartily and cheerfully offer our best services, assuring you, sir, that in this, and every part of this Kingdom, where we have any connection, we shall, at the peril of our lives and fortunes, maintain, support, and defend, to the utmost of our power, your Majesty's Crown and Government, against all the secret or avowed disturbers of the publick peace. And we further hope and trust that your fleets and armies, with the assistance of Divine Providence, will soon chastise and bring back to their duty and obedience those deluded persons who may have dared to violate the peace and good order of your Majesty's dominions in America.

LORD GEORGE GERMAINE TO MAJOR GENERAL HOWE.

Whitehall, February 1, 1776.

SIR: Since my letter to you of the 5th of January, every effort has been exerted in the different Departments to bring forward the preparations for the ensuing campaign in North America; and, though the severity of the weather, almost beyond what has ever been known in this country, very much obstructs the service in the Naval Department, yet I am encouraged to hope that the reinforcement for the army under your command will be embarked before the end of March, and that the armament intended for Quebeck will be ready much sooner.

The unfortunate events which have happened in Canada make it necessary that we should not only exert every endeavour for the relief of Quebeck as early as possible, but also for having a force there ready to commence its operations as soon as the season will admit.

The great attention which the King shows, upon all occasions, to the rank and merit of his officers, would have led His Majesty to have appointed Major-General Clinton to command upon this service, under Major-General Carleton; but as His Majesty's pleasure has been already signified that he should command the body of forces to be employed upon an expedition to the southward, and he, is by this time probably sailed for Cape-Fear, in order to wait their arrival, His Majesty has thought fit that Major-General Burgoyne should act as second in command to General Carleton in Canada, and that he should proceed thither with the eight regiments from Ireland, which I hope will be ready to sail by the 20th of next month.

If Quebeck should fall before any relief can be got thither, and Major-General Carleton should unhappily not survive the loss of it, the King's intentions are, that in such an event, the command of the whole of His Majesty's forces in North America should devolve upon you. It is also His Majesty's intentions immediately, to appoint Major-Generals Clinton, Burgoyne, Lord Percy, and Lord Cornwallis, Lieutenant-Generals in America. The old Colonels who now act as Brigadiers are to have commissions as Major-Generals, and the other Colonels will be appointed Brigadiers.

In case of Major-General Carleton's death, it will remain with you to dispose of the different commands as you, in your discretion, shall think fit. It will, consequently, be in your power to leave the command of the troops on the side of Canada to Major-General Burgoyne; or, if you think it more advisable, you may appoint General Clinton to that service; and it being His Majesty's pleasure that Major-General Lord Cornwallis should be employed in Canada, he and his regiment are to be sent thither as soon as he joins the army under your command.

In the present state of affairs in North America, the security of Nova-Scotia and Newfoundland are objects of attention; and I am commanded by the King to signify to you His Majesty's pleasure, that the two battalions of marines now serving under your command, or any part of them you shall judge necessary, should be posted at Halifax; and that a detachment of Major Gorham's corps be posted at St. John's, in Newfoundland, as a garrison will be wanted there. It is also His Majesty's pleasure that as many of the private men of the Sixty-Fifth Regiment as are fit for service should be turned over to the Twenty-Seventh Regiment, and, if there are more than will complete it, you will incorporate them in any other corps; that the Twenty-Seventh Regiment, when so completed, be joined to the army under your command; and that the commissioned and non-commissioned officers and invalids of the Sixty-Fifth be sent home to England.

I must not omit to acquaint you, before I leave the subject of military arrangement, that the officers of the Guards have expressed such spirit and zeal for His Majesty's service, that His Majesty has ordered a detachment of a thousand men, rank and file, with officers in proportion, to serve under you in America; and I have only further to add, that the King is so desirous of expressing, upon every occasion, his Royal approbation of the General Officers serving in the principal ranks in America, that he has declared his intentions that he will not employ any General Officer from hence who may be superior in rank to Major-Generals Clinton, Burgoyne, Lord Percy, or Lord Cornwallis.

This letter will be intrusted to the care of the commander of His Majesty's ship Greyhound, who will also deliver up to you the officers of the privateer fitted out by the Rebels, under a commission from the Congress, and taken by one of Admiral Graves's Squadron. The private men have all voluntarily entered themselves on board His Majesty's ships; but the officers having refused so to do, it has been judged fit to send them back to America, for the same obvious reasons that induced the sending back the Rebel prisoners taken in arms upon the attack of Montreal, in September last.

It is hoped that the possession of these prisoners will enable you to procure the release of such of His Majesty's officers and loyal subjects as are in the disgraceful situation of being prisoners to the Rebels; for, although it cannot be that you should enter into any treaty or agreement with Rebels for a regular cartel for exchange of prisoners, yet I doubt not but your own discretion will suggest to you the means of effecting such exchange, without the King's dignity and honour being committed, or His Majesty's name used in any negotiation for that purpose; and I am the more strongly urged to point out to you the expediency of such a measure, on account of the possible difficulties which may otherwise occur in the case of foreign troops serving in North America.

I am, &c.,

GEORGE GERMAINE.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO DELEGATES IN CONGRESS.

[No. 7.]

Annapolis, February 1, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The enclosed memorandum was intended to be delivered personally to Mr. Chase whilst in Baltimore Town, but his going sooner than we expected, prevented its being done; we should be obliged to you to advert to the contents thereof, as if addressed to all the Deputies, and be pleased to give us an answer, as soon as you can, with convenience to yourselves. We find that blankets, strouds, camp equipage, and cannon, to say nothing of powder, will be much wanted, and we doubt, are not to be procured in this Province. When any thing occurs in the news way, we should be glad to have a line from you, and are, your most, &c.

To the Deputies of Maryland, in Congress.

Mr. Chase is requested by the Council of Safety to furnish them with the price and dimensions of the chevaux-de-frise lately made at Philadelphia.

To inform them whether any thing, and what, has been done in Congress, in consequence of a resolve of the late Convention, relative to the canvass imported into this Province by Mr. Jugé, a foreigner.

Whether Messrs. Willing and Morris have received a letter from Messrs. Chamberlaine, Hooe, and Ringgold, or either of them, advising them that this Province would receive five tons of the saltpetre imported by said Willing and Morris, manufactured into gunpowder, in part discharge of the powder to be furnished by them, and whether they have taken any measures in consequence of it.

Whether there are any match coat blankets or strouds to be got in Philadelphia or New-York, and to transmit the plates and paper directed by the money bill, to be procured at Philadelphia, as soon as possible.

Also, to inform them whether there be any probability of getting knapsacks, haversacks, and canteens, for the soldiers, and at what prices, respectively, and in what time they can be furnished.

JOHN D. THOMPSON TO BENJAMIN RUMSEY.

Cecil County, February 1, 1776.

DEAR SIR: By Captain Craig I inform you Mr. Nathaniel Rumsey is arrived. I called on him yesterday, he tells me he has (in partnership with a gentleman of Philadelphia) about eight tons of gunpowder, and five tons of saltpetre; he has engaged to supply this County with one ton of powder, at the same price the Committee of Philadelphia will, provided the money will be immediately advanced. This County has very little powder; I am sure not more than sixty pounds; the people are very uneasy on that head, and seem much distressed. I most earnestly beg that you will represent this matter to the Council of Safety, and request of them to advance to the Committee of this County such a sum of money as will purchase one ton, at the rate of twenty-five pounds per hundred. Captain Craig, if the Council pleases to advance the money, will receive it, and deliver it to Colonel John Veasey, Chairman of the Committee.

I am, dear sir, your very humble servant,

JOHN D. THOMPSON.

To Benjamin Rumsey, Esq.

DORCHESTER COUNTY (MARYLAND) COMMITTEE TO COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Dorchester County, February 1, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Captain Joseph Robson, who commands the Minute Company of this County, applied last week to us, and informed us, that he had, upon his receiving orders from the last Convention to march his company to Virginia, examined the guns belonging to the men in his company, and could not make out more than ten that were in any sort fit for service; and as the Convention had ordered that the company should be supplied with arms from Chestertown, we advised the Captain immediately to make application to the Committee of that County, for that purpose, which he has since accordingly done, but has been able to procure from thence only ten muskets, with three bayonets, and not one cartridge or cartouch-box, of which articles the company are also entirely in want.

It, therefore, under the resolve of the Convention, becomes our duty to endeavour to borrow as many guns as will supply this deficiency, and this duty we would, with great pleasure, readily comply with, was it in our power; but the scarcity of all kinds of arms in this County in such that we are convinced they are neither to be borrowed nor bought, were we empowered to purchase them.

As this is the condition Captain Robson's company is in, and it is impossible for us to supply their wants, we have thought it incumbent on us, immediately to lay the matter before your Honours, in order that you may give such orders as you may think proper on this occasion. We believe Captain Robson and his company are ready and willing to march, if they can be supplied with arms, and any service that is in our power upon this, or any other occasion, we shall also be ready, with great cheerfulness, to perform.

We are, with great respect, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants.

Signed by order of the Committee of Observation for Dorchester County.

JAMES MURRAY, Chairman.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety, of Maryland.

QUEEN-ANNE (MARYLAND) COMPANY OF MILITIA TO COLONEL ROBERT TYLER.

SIR: At the same time that we regard the loss of you as our chief, it affords us infinite pleasure that you are appointed Colonel to our battalion, to which truly honourable and exalted station we beg leave most sincerely to congratulate you.

Prompted by gratitude, we cannot omit this opportunity to express our thanks for your uniform, steady, and manly opposition against every attempt of tyranny and usurpation, from whatever quarter, to destroy the constitutional rights and privileges of the subject; you having early in life distinguished yourself as a bold and forward leader of opposition, and a most daring champion in the public cause, gained so much the esteem and confidence of the publick that you were elected a Burgess for this County, since which you have eminently appeared an independent agent for the people, and a faithful trustee of that sacred charge committed to a Representative by his constituents. Your conduct last war, a war truly national, demands the acknowledgments of all good men and friends to America; for at a time when others were spending their time in idle dissipation, and wallowing in sensuality and excess of ease, though blest with so large a fortune that you might have staid at home and basked in the sunshine of affluence, you entered a volunteer in the service of your country, and generously took up arms and risked your life in a wilderness against cruel Savages, in defence of our glorious Constitution, and to the relief of the poor distressed frontier inhabitants.

Being fully persuaded, that without the most perfect harmony and union among ourselves, the great events which have happened in our favour, will not have those permanent good consequences so much wished for, be assured of our most earnest desire, that all party heats, dissensions, and broils, may be finally abolished from among us; our salvation most clearly depends upon it; at a time when we are all afloat in the same bottom, and must inevitably sink or swim together, surely we ought now, more particularly, above all things, to love one another. May we all heartily unite, hand in hand, against the common enemy, (who would rejoice to see divisions among us,) is the prayer of yours, &c.

It is agreed that this Address be published.

COLONEL TYLER'S ANSWER.

To the Gentlemen, Officers, and Soldiers, belonging to the QUEEN-ANNE Company of Militia:

GENTLEMEN: Be pleased to accept my best thanks for your very neighbourly and most friendly congratulatory address, on my being raised to so honourable a station as that of Lieutenant-Colonel in the battalion to which you belong. You have expressed your approbation of my promotion in terms that do me much honour. We are all of us, at this time, unhappily forced into a most unnatural civil war, by the vile machinations of a despotick Minister, whose aim is to exchange the laws and maxims of our happy Constitution for the exercise of tyranny and arbitrary power over us, learned from the most despotick Courts of Europe. I have, therefore, drawn my sword with you in defence of invaded liberty, our very best inheritance; and you may be assured in such a contest, I will prefer even death itself to an unmanly, base submission. May the Great God of Heaven stretch forth his arm to us in the day of so hard a trial, is the prayer of,

Gentlemen, your much obliged, faithful servant,

ROBERT TYLER.

P. S. You may be assured that I will, as you have desired, use my best endeavours to cultivate harmony and a good understanding between our officers and brother soldiers, as the only sure way to save us from destruction; and as to all matters that have been unwarily thrown out to create disturbance, I am for burying them in oblivion. As your address is to be published, request you will publish my answer. I am, &c.,

R. T.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO JOHN MCKESSON.

Albany, February 1, 1776.

SIR: Mr. Hancock had already transmitted me like copies of the resolutions of Congress, as were enclosed in yours of the 25th ultimo, which I received yesterday.

I have more reasons than one for wishing that no commissions may be sent to me from the Committee of Safety, to be delivered to the officers they may please to name. The Colonel of the regiment will be the proper person to distribute them.

I am, sir, your humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To John McKesson, Esq., Secretary to the Provincial Convention of New-York.

THOMAS YOUNGS TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

Sag-Harbour, February 1, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Enclosed, we send you the most correct map of the east end of Long-Island, and the islands adjacent, we were able to take at this difficult season. The bearings and distances of the points of land are chiefly taken by the compass; the soundings and shoals taken from the most experienced coasters we have here. The ice prevented us from taking them ourselves.

I am, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant:

By order of the Committee:

THOMAS YOUNGS, Chairman.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Albany, 10 o'clock, A. M., February 1, 1776.

SIR: Just now Colonel Easton arrived from Montreal with the prisoners mentioned in the enclosed list; they immediately go to Lebanon.

General Wooster, in a letter of the 20th ultimo, says:

'I have just received intelligence from our army before Quebeck; they still continue the blockade with spirit, yet are greatly distressed for want of men, being alarmed almost every night, and having so few men, if not assisted in a little time, good as they are (and men never behaved better) they must be worn out. I have sent them a reinforcement of a hundred and twenty, who, I expect, will arrive there to-morrow, and another party of seventy will set off from this place this morning.'

'What our people at Quebeck will do, or what any of us can do for want of money, God only knows. Money we must have, or give up every thing. Every engine is set at work to discredit us with the people of the country. Our friends are already drained. If the Lakes are not so taken as to render it prudent to venture the military chest across, cannot some trusty person come on with a thousand or two pounds for present use, and in the meantime we shall make every shift to promote the service.'

'I mentioned in my last, that cannon, mortars, and ammunition might be wanted. Should be glad of your thoughts upon the subject, and to know what quantity of powder can be forwarded, and how many cannon and mortars, and what size. Mr. Pelissier, of Three-Rivers, has sent to me to know the size of our mortars and cannon, as he is about casting shells and shot.

"I think it of importance that whatever is sent, should be here by the first of March; by that time, if properly assisted, we shall be able to erect batteries. They must be cannonaded in earnest; the place is strong, and they are determined to hold out desperately, you will, therefore, see the necessity of spirited measures in order to take possession of it before they can be reinforced from Great Britain."

Mr. Antill has this moment delivered me your favour of the 20th ultimo.

I believe there is left, at the posts above, one eighteen-pounder, nineteen twelve-pounders, twenty-nine of nine, twenty-three of six, twenty-five of four, and some swivels.

I shall immediately employ people to cut and draw timber for repairing Ticonderoga, provided I can get forage for horses. It will be much less expensive now than in Spring or Summer; but an Engineer should be sent up for the business; nor can I, without the assistance of such a person, ascertain the number of cannon necessary for its defence. They should all be of the largest size that can be had.

I have already transmitted General Wooster the former resolutions of Congress; those by Colonel Hazen will send on by that gentleman.

I am, sir, most sincerely, your obedient, humble servant,
PHILIP SCHUYLER.

JONATHAN TRUMBULL, JR., Paymaster-General.

To the Honourable Major-General Schuyler.

GENERAL ARNOLD TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Camp before Quebec, February 1, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I have the pleasure of acquainting you we still hold our ground before Quebeck, and keep the enemy closely blockaded, though we have received but a small reinforcement of one hundred and fifty men from Montreal. The enemy have, within this ten days, sallied out twice at Palace-Gate, with about four or five hundred men, with a view of seizing two field-pieces we have on that side; our men advanced briskly to attack them, when they made a precipitate retreat under cover of their guns. I make no doubt of holding our ground, as we expect a reinforcement daily, which we are anxiously waiting for, as the duty is very severe.

I have taken the liberty, in former letters to the honourable Continental Congress, to give my opinion in regard to men and measures necessary for the reduction of Quebeck. The necessary ways and means for supporting those men I have omitted, as General Montgomery, in his life time, transmitted you his sentiments on the matter, as well as on the necessary measures for forming a lasting union between this country and the Colonies. I have only to observe, if the capital is taken I believe paper money will soon have a currency.

Major John Brown, who came down with General Montgomery, with about one hundred and sixty men collected from different regiments, now assumes and insists on the title of Colonel, which, he says, the General promised him at Montreal. That the General promised him promotion, he told me sometime before his death. When Major Brown wrote to remind him of his promise, the General handed me his letter, and told me, at the same time, as Colonel Easton and Major Brown were publicly impeached with plundering the officers' baggage taken at Sorel, contrary to articles of capitulation, and to the great scandal of the American Army, he could not, in conscience or honour promote him, (Major Brown), until those matters were cleared up. He then sent for Major Brown, and told him his sentiments on the matter very freely; after which I heard of no further application for promotion. This transaction Colonel Campbell, Major Dubois, and several gentlemen, were knowing to. As Colonel Easton and Major Brown have, doubtless, a sufficient share of modest merit to apply to the honourable Continental Congress for promotion, I think it my duty to say the charge before-mentioned is the publick topick of conversation at Montreal, and among the officers of the Army in general; and, as such conduct is unbecoming the character of gentlemen or soldiers, I believe it would give great disgust to the Army in general if those gentlemen were promoted before those matters were cleared up.

This will be delivered you by Mr. David Hopkins, a gentleman who came out a volunteer with me; his spirited conduct, both on march and since our arrival in this country, merit my recommendation to your notice, of which I think him worthy.

I am, with the greatest respect and esteem, dear sir, your most obedient and humble servant,

BENEDICT ARNOLD.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

P. S. The contents of the enclosed letter I do not wish to be kept from the gentlemen mentioned therein; the publick interest is my chief motive for writing. I should despise myself were I capable of asserting a thing in prejudice of any gentlemen without sufficient reasons to make it publick.

B. A.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO GENERAL SCHUYLER.

Cambridge, February 1, 1776.

DEAR SIR: On the 27th ultimo, I had the pleasure of writing you, and then mentioned my being under some embarrassments respecting the application which I expected from our Caughnawaga friends. I have now the pleasure to inform you, that in a talk they honoured me with yesterday, they put the matter upon the footing I wished; that is, to join the forces in Canada whenever you shall call for their assistance.

They requested me to certify my approbation of the treaty they had concluded with you, which I did. Upon the occasion they expressed much satisfaction, and said that they were now happy that a firm peace was made between them and their brothers, and that they were now free like the New-England people. I heartily wish that this union may be lasting, and that nothing may cast up to interrupt it. The expediency of calling upon them I shall leave to you. Circumstances and policy will suggest the occasion. I promised them to write you by Colonel Bedel of what they had done, and shall submit it to your discretion to communicate to them such parts of this as you may think necessary.

I have advanced one hundred pounds, lawful money, to Colonel Bedel, for the expenses attending their return home. This he will account with you for.

I am, dear sir, your affectionate, humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To the Honourable Major-General Schuyler.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO COLONEL BEDEL.

Cambridge, February 1, 1776.

SIR: The Continental Congress having called upon the Government of New-Hampshire to raise a regiment for the service of the United Colonies, which they have accordingly complied with, and appointed you to the command of, I have to desire that you will use your utmost diligence and despatch possible, to raise the said regiment, and march it into Canada by the way of Number Four and Onion River, on which communication a supply of provisions will be laid by order of Major-General Schuyler. This regiment is to be raised upon the Continental establishment, and agreeable to the terms and requisition of the Congress, as transmitted to New-Hampshire.

As the necessity of reinforcing our troops, posted before, and forming the blockade of Quebeck, is too apparent to need description, I would have you order each company to march as fast as they are raised, the whole putting themselves under the General, or commanding officer in Canada, as fast as they arrive there. Such necessities as are indispensably necessary for the use of your regiment, will, I expect, be procured for you by your Colony, in the doing of which, and on your march, I recommend the utmost economy that can be used consistent with despatch.

You will take under your care, Jean Baptist, together with the other Indians, (now at this place,) of the Caughnawaga tribe, and conduct them in the safest and most agreeable manner to themselves into Canada. You will receive a warrant upon the Paymaster for one hundred pounds, lawful, with which you are to bear their expenses, rendering an account of the just expenditure thereof for their use, to the Commissary of the Northern Department when you get there, who will be advertised of this matter, and directed to settle with you.

These, are, sir, my instructions, to which I doubt not you will pay a proper attention. I must again recommend your making all possible despatch; and that you may have a share in the glory of expelling the instruments of Ministerial tyranny from that fair Province, is the sincere wish of, sir, your most obedient servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Colonel Timothy Bedel.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO TIMOTHY PICKERING, JUN.

Cambridge, February 1, 1776.

SIR: Your favour of yesterday, I received, and am sorry to hear that the quota of Militia, which the town of Salem was to furnish by resolve of the honourable General Court, cannot be had.

The generous tender of services made by you, sir, and the rest of the volunteers, claims a return of my sincere thanks. Should I have occasion to call upon them, I shall do it; at present I wish them to continue at Salem, and to hold themselves in readiness.

I am, sir, your and their humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Timothy Pickering, Jun., Esq., Salem.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO WILLIAM WATSON.

Cambridge, February 1, 1776.

SIR: Major Hobart will want one hundred tons of the coals taken in the two prizes sent into your place by Commodore Manly. As it is for the publick service, his Excellency is willing to let him have them, he paying as much for them as any one else would.

His Excellency desires you would be careful to prevent a waste of this article, as it will be very much wanting for the publick works. He is informed that there has been some pilfering already. I am, sir, yours, &c.

To William Watson, Esq., Plymouth.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO WILLIAM WATSON.

Cambridge, February 1, 1776.

SIR: Your favour of the 29th ultimo, is come to hand. There must be an inquiry made into the conduct of that Captain, who so shamefully deserted his Commodore. Please to let the General know which of the schooners it was.

The General thinks it will be proper that the Captains of these vessels prove upon oath their private property; after which you may deliver to them all except the beef and pork, which he thinks most probably belongs to the vessels. If it does not, it is clear that they must be meant for supplying the enemy. Upon that principle, he does not think it will be proper to give them unto the Captains.

His Excellency has no objections to these gentlemen's returning to Plymouth; nor has he any objections to their disposing of the checks and baize at your place, if they choose it. He is pleased that the schooners got under way. Yours, &c.

To William Watson, Esq., Plymouth.

By His Excellency GEORGE WASHINGTON, Esq., Commander-in-chief of the Army of the UNITED COLONIES.

To WILLIAM BURKE, Esq.

By virtue of the powers and authorities to me given by the honourable Continental Congress, I do hereby constitute and appoint you Captain and Commander of the schooner Warren, now lying at Beverly Port, in the service of the United Colonies of North America; to have, hold, exercise, and enjoy the said office of Captain and Commander of the said vessel, and to perform and execute all matters and things which to your said office do, or may of right belong or appertain, until further order shall be given herein by the honourable Continental Congress, myself, or any future Commander-in-chief of said Army; willing and commanding all officers, soldiers, and persons whatsoever, any way concerned, to be obedient and assisting to you in the due execution of this commission.

Given under my hand and seal, at Cambridge, this 1st day of February, Annoque Domini 1776.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

William Burke, - Captain, - - 1 February, 1776.

Cambridge, February 1, 1776.

We hear, that as Captain Manly was coming out of Plymouth, January 30, an armed brig, (which went from Boston for the purpose of taking him, as he supposed,) gave him chase, upon which he ran his vessel on shore a little south of the North-River, in Scituate. The brig came to anchor, and fired not less than four hundred times upon the privateer; but, very remarkable, no man was even wounded. One ball entered the stern, and passed but about six inches from Captain Manly, who was confined by sickness in his cabin. The next day one hundred and thirty balls were found upon the adjacent shore.

Besides the above, which is from a correspondent near where the affair happened, we hear, that after the brig ceased firing she manned her boats, boarded Captain Manly's vessel, (the people being ashore,) and endeavoured to set her on fire; but seeing our people coming upon them, they were glad to get off without effecting their design. She has since been got off, is refitting, and nearly ready for another cruise.

JAMES OTIS TO COUNCIL OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Barnstable, February 1, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: This encloses the examination of one William Heath, the master of the sloop Betsey, taken and brought into this harbour the 31st of January last, by Captain Jonathan Howes, &c., bound from Nova-Scotia to Boston, to supply our enemies, and who has been in that employ for a considerable time. He appears to me to be a surly, inimical fellow to this country, and he destroyed all his papers, save the register and shipping paper, (and as I am told, that was his orders, if he was likely to be taken.) It is reported that he beat one of his foremast men so that his life is in danger. Some others of them frozen, that I have had the examination of. But three of them which I also enclose. They are, also, unable to travel as yet, and so are gone on board again to be subsisted there out of the cargo, by Captain Howes's consent, until they are able to travel to Court, or otherwise. Mott and Peters, belong to this country, and Peters has a wife and family at Salem.

If the Council have occasion for them, they shall be sent to them, but it appears to me that they were forced into the service. But Heath appears to me to be a bad man, and ought to have good care taken of him. My son, Colonel Otis, has ordered him to your Honours, with a proper guard.

I am, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant,
JAMES OTIS.

To the President of the Honourable Council, in Watertown.

JOSEPH OTIS TO COUNCIL OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Barnstable, February 1, 1776.

HONoured SIR: By Captain Daniel Howes, I have the pleasure to send to the Council a master of a vessel taken off our harbour. The papers Captain Howes has will inform as to the circumstances. The hands that are aboard appear to be very honest men, and forced into the service, and are about entering aboard an armed vessel fixing from here.

Colonel Elisha Doan has sent two vessels from Chatham to the West-Indies, within a fortnight, and Captain Solomon Davis is fixing two from here. I hope the honourable Council and House will inquire whether these men have leave, if not, I hope there will be proper orders about them.

I have the honour to be yours, and the honourable Council's obedient servant,
JOSEPH OTIS.

Williamsburgh, Virginia, February 2, 1776.

We have the pleasure to inform the publick, that Colonel Charles Carter, of Stafford, goes prosperously on with his manufactory of Saltpetre, and gives it as his opinion, that were people in general to pay proper attention to that business, Virginia might pay her quota of the expenses of the war by it, as every housekeeper can, with much ease, make more or less. That gentleman writes on the 21st instant: "I have got the following Saltpetre Works established, and am now on my way to many estates, where I hope that more will be set on foot in a very short time; and can with truth aver, that nothing but the neglect of the overseers can frustrate the scheme. No proper directions for making saltpetre having appeared in print, it may be expected that I should publish my own process; but as it would take up too much of your paper, I shall only mention, that any person may be taught by applying to any of the following gentlemen: Messrs. Gilpin and Hartshorn, Alexandria; Mr. Robert Bailey, Colchester; Mr. John Murray, Dumfries; Mr. John Smith, Aquia; Mr. Joshua Brown, at Ludlow Farm, in Stafford; Mr. William Nelson, in Caroline; and Mr. William Griffin, of King and Queen. At Aquia we now make about twelve pounds of refined saltpetre per day, at Dumfries, eight pounds; at Ravensthorpe, twenty pounds; at Alexandria, ten pounds; at Colchester, six pounds; and, when the whole gets in motion, I do not doubt making from five hundred to one thousand weight per day, which I hope will add spirit to our glorious cause."

THOMAS JOHNSON, JUN., TO DANIEL OF ST. THOMAS JENIFER.

Fredericktown, February 2, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I yesterday received yours, advising me of your meeting in Baltimore the 29th past. My family's being several of them indisposed, the badness of the weather, and the probability of your breaking up but a little after the time I could get to Baltimore, has prevented my setting out. Mr. Stand's inability to go to Philadelphia will shorten my stay here.

I am told that Clapham, of Virginia, agreed yesterday with our gunsmiths for a number of rifles, and that the Virginians are purchasing us all they can. I fear, unless what useful guns that can be bought are purchased immediately for our troops, we shall have soldiers without arms. The one hundred pounds sent me by Mr. Ford, will buy only twenty rifles.

Mr. Hughes has sanguine expectations of complying with his contract for cannon.

I am, dear sir, your very affectionate friend,

THOMAS JOHNSON, JUN.

To the Honourable Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, Esq.

FIELD-OFFICERS OF ELK-RIDGE BATTALION TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Elk-Ridge, February, 2, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The honourable Convention having been pleased to appoint us Field-Officers for the Elk-Ridge Battalion of Militia, and we, well knowing the situation of said battalion respecting fire-arms, many being without any, and others in such order that, were we called to action, would not be able to make a proper defence; and we, considering that at a very small expense to the Province many of the guns belonging to the poorer people, who cannot conveniently pay for the repairing and putting them in proper order, could be made fit for use, beg leave to request of your Honours, that, should you think it expedient that said arms should be repaired, to signify the same to us, and we will have them done in the most speedy, cheapest, and effectual manner.

We are, respectfully, gentlemen, your most obedient servants,

THOMAS DORSEY,

JOHN DORSEY,

EDWARD GAITHER, JUN.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety for the Province of Maryland.

LINDENBERGER AND MCCLELLAN TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Baltimore-Town, February 2, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: At the sitting of the last Convention we brought a sample of gunpowder made by us. Thomas Johnston, Esq., acquainted us it was approved of, and a resolve was made, and entered, to lend us (if required) any sum of money, not amounting above one thousand pounds, without interest, for two years; but, as the gentlemen in Convention and we did not know on what terms we should agree, we were informed the matter should be left to the consideration of the Council of Safety, which would sit in Baltimore, and we, therefore, beg leave to acquaint the gentlemen, whenever they shall think proper, we shall attend.

Gentlemen, we are, with due respect, your very humble servants,

GEORGE LINDENBERGER,

JOHN MCCLELLAN.

To the Council of Safety of Maryland.

SAMUEL CHASE TO DANIEL OF ST. THOMAS JENIFER.

Charlestown, February 2, 1776.

DEAR SIR: Captain Nathaniel Ramsey informs me, that he can procure about one hundred and forty yards of country-made cloth, at about eight shillings, currency, per yard, and linen, country-made, from two shillings four pence, to two shillings eight pence, fit and proper for hunting-shirts, enough for his company. The cash will be necessary. I once more take the liberty to remind you of the gun-locks in the hands of Mr. S. West.

I shall be glad to render the Province, or you, any service in the city of Philadelphia.

I am, sir, with regard, your obedient servant,

SAMUEL CHASE.

To the Honourable Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, Esq.

MARYLAND DELEGATES TO COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Philadelphia, February 2, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Last night we received your letters by Maynard, covering the resolutions of Congress relative to the plates and paper for the present currency. As the furnishing devices is a business to which we are entire strangers, we have advised with Doctor Benjamin Franklin, and shall, with his assistance, set the engraver to work in a few days.

As the Convention have ordered both plates and paper here, we submit to you, whether it would not be expedient to have the printing, also, done by Hall & Sellers. Of this we are certain, that the business would be done with much greater expedition. But in this shall be governed by your directions.

With respect to cannon, so far as we can form any opinion, from the short time to make the inquiry, none can be had here, or from any of the Eastern Governments; they are very scarce through the whole Continent.

A Committee of Congress, of which Mr. Rogers is a member, have been appointed, to make inquiry into the quantity of cannon on hand, and what will be wanted, and where, and on what terms they can be had. No report is yet made, but a letter from Mr. Chase to Mr. Paca, mentioning that Hughes, in Frederick, had contracted with the Convention to supply our Province at thirty-two pounds ten shillings, being communicated to Congress, the members of the Committee were immediately very desirous to see Mr. Hughes, to know whether he would make the like contract for supplying the demands of Congress. This will convince you that a supply cannot be had from hence, and that you must rely on your own resources, by casting them in the Province.

Mr. Paca purchased from Mr. Morris twelve guns, of six-pound balls, for six hundred pounds, by order of Mr. Johnson; they would have been sent down, had not the ice stopped the navigation.

WILLIAM PACA,
R. ALEXANDER.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

P. S. Agreeable to your request, a passport was granted Maynard, who proceeded immediately to New-York.

Mr. Purviance enclosed us affidavits of two skippers, who had been taken by Lord Dunmore, mentioning that a pilot-boat, with a clergyman from Maryland, had arrived at Norfolk, who gave information of the outfit of the store and provision vessels. If you have heard of this business, be pleased to advise us; we are desirous of knowing the truth, a difficult task at present.

LORD STIRLING TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Elizabethtown, February 2, 1776.

SIR: The cargo of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, is now chiefly unladen and brought up to this town, except the coal, which it will be best to take out as it is disposed of.

I have, as yet, received no orders from Congress relating to this ship, nor no answer to the three letters to you relating to her, since her capture, and of which it was impossible for me to keep copies.

Captain Dempster is very desirous of returning to England. Two of his Mates, and the foremast-men, would be glad of working their passage home, or through the West-Indies. It will, perhaps, be best to send them to Philadelphia for that purpose, in preference to any of the ports to the eastward.

I am told that the Congress has established some rules with regard to prizes, and, also, some Admiralty jurisdiction; but, as I have not seen them, I cannot tell whether this ship is comprehended within them, and shall be glad to be instructed with regard to that point.

I now enclose a copy of the orders I gave to Captain Rogers when I put the ship into his charge. This Captain Rogers was well recommended to me by the New-York Committee of Safety. He is, I believe, as fit a man as any to command a ship of force; or, if it should be thought proper to keep three or four small sloops, to run in and out of Sandy-Hook, and the inlets of Egg-Harbour, Barnegat, &c., I believe he would be a very proper person to command them.

Some attempts have been made, in this Province, to break through the prohibition ordered by Congress to the shipping of lumber and provision. I have taken every step in my power to prevent it, and have laid the whole proceedings before the Convention of this Province, which is now sitting at Brunswick.

Enclosed is a copy of my letter to them on that subject, as, also, copy of my letter to them on the subject of arms, and I hope they will come into the measure I have recommended to them.

I now, also, enclose copies of the orders I sent to Colonel Maxwell, with regard to preparing his regiment for marching to Albany, and his answer thereto. These would have been transmitted sooner to you, but my absence a few days from this place, on the little naval excursion, and my illness in consequence of it, for a day or two more, has thrown me behind hand in my correspondence, which I find swells to such a size that it will be impossible for me to get through it with any regularity, without the help of one or two good clerks.

I just hear that seven hundred men, from New-England, arrived in New-York this afternoon, and that General Lee is at King's Bridge with a like number.

I have the honour to be, with great respect and regard, your most humble servant,

STIRLING.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 25, 1776.

MY LORD: Since the last communication between your Lordship and us, concerning the arms we undertook to supply you with for the troops under your command, we have orders from Congress to raise four new battalions, besides one which before that time we were under orders to raise.

We are, also, informed that there are still thirty stands of publick arms in the town of Newark, which are not appropriated to the use of your troops. There may be others in the same situation in other parts of your Colony, and we conceive it a hardship to be obliged to forward a department of service out of our Colony, by supplying those arms which we intended for you, and which, with many more, will be wanted for equipping our own battalions. We can assure you, my Lord, with the greatest truth, that we are totally at a loss how to supply our new levies with arms, without taking them from our Militia, which nothing but the most urgent necessity will justify, as by that means the defence of this important post will be weakened.

We, therefore, earnestly request you to release us from our former engagement to you, and are, my Lord, most respectfully, your Lordship's obedient, humble servant.

By order of the Committee:

JOSEPH HALLETT, Chairman.

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Stirling.

Elizabethtown, January 28, 1776.

SIR: I received your letter of the 25th, respecting the one hundred stand of arms which you were to have supplied me with. I shall lay the letter before the Continental Congress, and the Convention which meet this week at Brunswick, in hopes that some other means may be taken for providing an equal number.

A certain ship is lately arrived here with stores, some of which, perhaps, may be of use to the publick service under your direction. I, therefore, subjoin a list of her cargo, in order that you may know whether any part of it will be useful for that purpose. The ship is about one hundred feet long on the main deck, and will commodiously carry twenty six and ten three-pounders. W. R. is well worthy of your confidence.

I have the honour to be, your most humble servant,

STIRLING.

To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety, at New-York.

Elizabethtown, February 2, 1776.

SIR: Some time ago I obtained a promise from the Congress of New-York to supply my regiment with one hundred stand of arms, to be paid for out of the moneys advanced by the Continental Congress for purchasing arms for the New-Jersey troops. Four more new regiments being ordered to be raised in the Province of New-York, has put the Committee of Safety of that Province under the necessity of desiring to be released from their promise, as will appear from the enclosed copy of a letter which I have received from them. This disappointment, together with others, will leave my battalion deficient upwards of two hundred stand of arms, notwithstanding the seventy-nine which I have received from Hackensack, and thirty-six from Newark; and how to remedy the deficiency I know not, unless the Congress of New-Jersey will order that such of the Provincial arms, imported during the last war, as are not yet disposed of by the counties or towns, to which they were sent, be immediately collected and paid for, to such counties or towns, out of the moneys advanced by the Continental Congress. This, I have reason to believe, would produce a considerable number, as I am informed the Counties of Monmouth and Middlesex have never yet disposed of their quota of these arms. Be pleased to lay this matter before the Congress of New-Jersey.

And am, sir, your most humble servant,

STIRLING.

To Samuel Tucker, Esq.

Elizabethtown, January 27, 1776.

SIR: I do now deliver into your custody and charge, and you are hereby authorized and directed, in behalf and on account of the Continental Congress, to take charge of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, lately commanded by Captain John Hamilton Dempster, and now lying at or near Elizabethtown-Point, in New-Jersey, with all her cargo and stores, and the same to preserve and secure in the best manner you can, until further order from the Continental Congress, their General or Commander-in-chief in this Province, for the time being.

And you are, in the most exact way in your power, to see that the said Captain Dempster's private property on board said ship, and that of each of his officers and men be secured and preserved until such further order as aforesaid. I shall, in the mean time, send on board, and in the neighbourhood of said ship post such guards as I find necessary to preserve her from any attempts that may be made on her.

In behalf of the Continental Congress of the United Colonies in America.

STIRLING.

To Captain William Rogers.

Elizabethtown, February 2, 1776.

SIR: By the enclosed copies, which I must beg the favour of you to lay before the Congress of New-Jersey, they will see the informations I received with regard to vessels loading in this Province with provisions and lumber, contrary to the rules established by the Continental Congress, and the steps I have taken in order to prevent the same. I am very lately informed that there are now two or three vessels loaded, or loading, with those articles at or near Brunswick; they have never produced any permit or license to me. These attempts will convince the Congress of the necessity of some persons being appointed to have a general superintendency of this matter, to whom all permits or licenses should be produced. I have hitherto acted from the necessity of keeping so consequential a rule of Congress inviolate. I shall always be ready, while I remain in this Province, to give the best assistance in my power to all publick measures.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

STIRLING.

To Samuel Tucker, Esq.

Elizabethtown, January 12, 1776.

DEAR SIR: In consequence of orders I have received from Congress, I shall, I believe, very soon be obliged to order your regiment to the east part of this Province, and, probably, farther. I must, therefore, request that you will, as soon as possible, put your regiment in order for actual service, and hold them in that order, and in readiness for marching, in twenty-four hours after notice.

I now send you two dozen of the last edition of the Articles of War, and have directed Captain Conway to send you from Brunswick one of the frocks of his Company, which you may use as a pattern.

STIRLING.

To Colonel Maxwell, Trenton.

Elizabethtown, January 18, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I hope you received my letter of the 12th instant, desiring you to put your regiment in order for actual service, as soon as possible. I have since received orders from Congress immediately to direct you to put your regiment in a state of readiness to march to Albany, and, as soon as ready, to inform Mr. Hancock, the President, thereof, that the particular orders of Congress may be transmitted for your proceedings. I must, therefore, request that you will immediately inform Mr. Hancock of the present state of your regiment, and send a duplicate thereof to me. As soon as the regiment is ready to march, you will inform him, as well as myself thereof; and afterwards, as frequently as you can, you are to inform me of your proceedings.

STIRLING.

To Colonel Maxwell.

Trenton, January 22, 1776.

MY LORD: I had the honour of receiving yours of the 18th instant, this day, as also yours of the 12th, some days ago; at the same time the Mustermaster came here, with whom I was obliged to go to Burlington, from which place I despatched an officer, with a party, to the Congress, with the same directions you sent me, with additional orders for flints. I expected them from Philadelphia before this time, with which I intended to have answered yours, and which I hope, in some measure, will plead my excuse for not having done it before; but whenever they come, you may depend I shall immediately transmit them to you.

I have received from Mr. Livingston, the orders of the Congress for my march to Canada, but no orders to transmit to them the state of my regiment, but shall now do it as soon as possible; and when done, send your Lordship the duplicates, according to your request, and, also, an account of any thing besides that may be worthy your notice. I must acknowledge that, to maniage a new regiment left in winter quarters, amongst their friends, and so much in want of every necessary, is a task much harder than I thought. Your drums and fifes have been here two or three days. I endeavoured to get an empty wagon to send them on to Brunswick, but could not. I informed Mr. Lowrey of their being here, who promised to send them with the stockings, as they should come. Five hundred pair came here Saturday evening; they are all to go off in the morning. I wish them safe to hand.

And am, your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,

WILLIAM MAXWELL.

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Stirling.

ARENDT VAN HOOK TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 2, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Having been active in discipline from the earliest period in which it was thought expedient to call us forth in the defence of our country, and willing to be as extensively useful as possible, at this time of embodying more troops, am induced to deliver in my name to the House for a Captaincy, and am led to hope that the letter recommendatory, put into the hands of Joseph Hallett, Esq., will be a strong motive to induce the honourable House to grant my request.

I am, gentlemen, with the greatest deference, your obedient, humble servant,

ARENDT VAN HOOK.

To the Honourable the Provincial Congress of New-York.

New-York, February 1, 1776.

Mr. Arendt Van Hook, Gentleman, of this place, lately belonging to the Independent Company of Fusiliers, having served as a private in said company, and received his discharge from the same with intent, as he informs us, to enter into the Provincial service as Captain, we do, therefore, most heartily recommend him to the attention and favour of the Congress, being fully convinced that (from the cheerful and unwearied attention which he has always paid to his duty, and those mental qualifications of which he is possessed) he will fill, with honour, the station for which he solicits.

HENRY G. LIVINGSTON,
WILLIAM S. LIVINGSTON.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Lebanon, February 2, 1776.

SIR: In compliance with the requisition of the honourable Continental Congress and of your Excellency, we are, with the greatest cheerfulness, making our utmost exertions to raise and despatch one battalion to Canada and three to your camp; and have much satisfaction to inform you, that there appears a great freedom in our men to engage in each of those important services; and the regiments are filling up very fast; and some companies have marched for your camp about two days since; but am just informed of a very material difficulty, which must greatly retard the march of both, unless it can be removed, viz: that our Treasury is entirely exhausted of money; without which it will be impossible to persuade the men to set forward to Canada, nor can it be reasonable to expect it. In this exigency we know not what to do, and the cause must greatly suffer unless your Excellency can relieve us; and have, therefore, by advice of my Council, sent one of the Committee of our Pay-Table to wait on, and request of your Excellency, the replacing the sum which they lately paid some of our troops in your camp, with no other view than to quiet and induce them more freely to re-engage in your service; in doing which, I trust, they had your approbation. The same bills they made use of for that purpose, were just before brought, at our instance and expense from the Continental Treasury, towards reimbursing our expenses in the great cause; and, judging it could not be better used, we improved it for that purpose. But I need use no arguments with your Excellency; your own truly publick spirit and zeal for promoting this unspeakably important cause, will be abundantly sufficient to induce you to comply with our request, founded only on principles of general good, if it be in your power.

I am, sir, with the highest esteem and regard, your most obedient and very humble servant,

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

To His Excellency General Washington.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO GENERAL SCHUYLER.

Lebanon, February 2, 1776.

SIR: The three prisoners, bearers hereof, were sent to this Colony in October last from Montreal. They have ever complained extremely of the hardship of their being imprisoned, having as they allege, and by all I can learn, never acted any ininical part, but were peaceable inhabitants about their own business. They appear to behave like persons not disposed to injure us; have complained much of their detention, and have long been pushing very hard for liberty to return home, but have hitherto been put off and detained; and now on the repetition of their pressing importunity, I have laid the matter before my Council of Safety for advice. They are of opinion, and advise me, to give them a permit, to return as far on their way as to you, for your further direction, though, so far as we are able to judge, they are of opinion, that it will be of no advantage to keep them here, having reason to think they are not unfriendly, and that the report they will carry home, must be of advantage to our common cause; and would, therefore, recommend it to your Honour, unless you know of special reasons against it, that you would be pleased to permit them to return to their respective homes.

Monsieur Orillat, who was sent with them, (an opulent merchant, appeared very stubborn, refractory, and ininical, and was carefully watched, and at a good deal of expense, but not imprisoned, lest it might disgust the Canadians;) made his escape six or seven weeks since, and could not be found. These had given their parole, which he refused. I doubt not of your favour to them, as far as you shall be able, consistent with the common safety.

I am, sir, with esteem and regard, your most obedient, and very humble servant,

J. TRUMBULL.

To the Honourable Major-General Schuyler.

COSMOPOLITAN, NO. VII.

To the Inhabitants of the American Colonies:

FRIENDS AND FELLOW-CITIZENS: If rebellion against his country, can mar the retired repose of our hero, he must be consummately wretched. If treason, if carnage, if the tears of widows, and the cries of orphans; if the laying waste whole towns, and mowing down whole communities; if the sacrilegious pilfering, and prostitution of dissenting churches; if the din of war, and garments rolled in blood; if poverty, anguish, barbarity, cruelty, and a distressed Continent, as it were, with indignant contempt, starting from its foundations, to repel the hostile stroke of the procuring hand, can arrest his feelings, it will, it must plant daggers in his heart, and harrow up his soul.

Ministerial measures against America, since the year 1763, are the declared, and true causes of present calamities. The wretch who procured those measures, together with their aiders and abettors, are by every principle of law and of logick, equity and common sense, justly chargeable with their nefarious and sanguinary consequences. Their origin, their qualities, their progress, their ends, their authors, planners, supporters, and abettors, are made as conspicuous as the meridian beamings of the sun, by a number of original letters, which the Representatives of the people gave the publick in the year 1773, which then discovered the infernal scheme that was laid for the total destruction of the liberties of all America, and by the recent publication of another series of detestable letters from the same author. This number will have for its subject-matter the contents of the former.

The shades with which our unmatched bashaw arrayed himself, are too dark and complicated to admit of a complete description. With a legion of merely imputed virtues, dead to the feelings of gratitude, and the principles of common integrity; deaf, deaf as an adder to the tongue of truth and the voice of justice; his first returns to that munificent country that gave him being, yielded him nourishment, loaded him with honours, furnished him with wealth, raised him to importance, and crowned him with applause, were a labour'd concatenation of aspersions, calumnies, and as abominable falsehoods as ever were propagated by a child of Adam. The past mistaken confidence of his countrymen, bore a lying testimony to the goodness of his heart, and the purity of his conduct. This he perverted to complete the ruin of those who made him what he was, and even what he wished to be. It gave villany a varnish, and untruth the blush of credibility. It gave a sanction to those vile, repeated misrepresentations, which, under the ostensible, hypocritical ardours of loyalty, and the bare-faced pretensions to an attachment to the happiness of his countrymen, and the rights of mankind, he was incessantly making; that the reins of Government were totally relaxed; that society was unhinged; that all was chaos, confusion and anarchy; the friends to good order and government insulted; the Constitution subverted, and the laws under the feet of a licentious insatiated rabble. This trafficking in lies was carried on by cargoes at a time, when, in point of loyalty and good order, we stood unrivalled by any people on the face of the earth. I dare to appeal to all mankind; to Mr. Hutchinson himself; to challenge every individual in the Province, to produce an instance in which Government was enfeebled, the laws obstructed, guilt unpunished, or innocence unguarded, where it did not connect with the usurped authority of the King or his Parliament. How infamously base, how preposterously infamous was it then, to represent the natural and necessary effects of oppressive laws, as the pre-existent causes that produced them, and to justify the destruction of a peaceable and regular Government, by the jarrings and distresses of tyranny.

This was his policy: First to wrong and injure the subject, and then to make the least opposition or complaint a justification for the injury done them, and even a reason for increasing the pressure. Good God! what slavery to be denied not only the liberty of acting, but the privilege of speaking? At this period, was not our internal Executive Government in its full vigour, and every purpose of society completely answered? Was there even an attempt to screen a felon, to cover a trespasser, or other transgressor from the lash of the law; to defraud the publick, oppress the individual, bias the jury, or to derogate from the dignity of the upright judge? Cannot every town, every County, evince the contrary? Will not every unprejudiced peace-officer, and the recorded transactions of every impartial court, fly in his face, and give the lie to the wicked aspersion? The people looked up to the civil magistrate with a reverential awe while clothed with the urim and thummim of freedom and rectitude. They considered juridical courts, until their shameful prostitution, as the sanctum sanctorum, the ark of tabernacles, in which their most valuable treasures were deposited. To these they repaired, like the Israelites of old, to hear from the lips of the judges the great things of the law, and of the testimony.

From whence then were those repeated declarations: That "Government had been so long in the hands of the populace, that it must come out of them by degrees." That "it is not strange that measures should be immediately taken to reduce the Colonies to their former state of Government and order." That "principles of Government absurd enough spread through all the Colonies." That "the Legislative powers have been influenced by them, and the Executive powers entirely lost their force." That, "there is continual danger of mobs and insurrections." That, ignorant as they be, yet "the heads of a Boston town meeting influence all public measures." That, "it is not possible this anarchy should last always." That, "it is not possible that provision for dissolving those combinations, and subjecting all who do not renounce them to penalties adequate to the offence, should not be made the first week the Parliament meets;" (meaning the Non-Importation Agreement.) That "the resentment of Parliament will most certainly be placed some where, because I think it ought to be so, that those who have been the most steady in preserving the Constitution, and opposing the licentiousness of such as call themselves Sons of Liberty, will certainly meet with favour and encouragement." That, "if no measures are taken to secure the dependance, or nothing more than some declaratory acts or resolves, it is all over with us." That, "the friends of Government will be utterly disheartened, and the friends of anarchy will be afraid of nothing, be it ever so extravagant." That "all the aid you (meaning Great Britain) can give to the officers of the Crown, they will have enough to do to maintain the authority of Government, and to carry the laws into execution. If they are discountenanced, neglected, or fail of support from you, they must submit to every thing the present opposers to Government think fit to require of them;" &c., &c. The reader will recollect, that the letters from whence these extracts were taken, were officiously wrote in the years 1768 and 1769, during Governour Bernard's administration. That it is a part of the same dark scheme that has since grown into more open exertions. The observations and inquiries upon these extracts, that naturally present to view, are many and obvious; but lest I should anticipate the judgment of my readers, I waive the fertile subject. By his unremitting assiduity, and the force of banded auxiliaries, these egregious falsehoods are imposed upon the willing credulity of the best and the most discerning of Kings, i. e. the reigning Prince. Having thus treated the offence, and fixed the imputation; the next step is to devise an adequate remedy for an evil that never existed. The grand difficulty in the mind of our jesuitical politician, was to establish the barriers against popular efforts, and to take from the body the power of thinking; to silence the voice of mankind, to lay the political spirit at rest, and to confine their active virtues in chains and in fetters. At all events, there must be an abridgement of English liberties. Power that the wisdom of the Constitution had placed in the hands of the subject must be transferred to lawless usurpers.

Not to mention the Royal bribes he received as first pensioner; his overbearing insolence in power; the many black scenes he ran through for the sake of greatness; his inglorious contempt of the two branches of the legislature, and of men much better than himself; his gross partiality to the avowed enemies of constitutional rights; his virulence to all who opposed his destructive measures; and his outrages, when as First Justice of the Province, with a band of red coats, he attacked in a riotous and tumultuous manner the house of manufacturing, and attempted violently to wrest it from the hands of its only proprietor, to make it a place of arms, a cage for mercenaries, the strong hold of civil robbery, and the grave of every principle of justice and of law, both human and divine. This was enough to evince the eminent villany that lurked in the folds of his forehead, or the doublings of his heart; and the complacency with which he reflected upon the crimes he had perpetrated, proved him steeled against the keenness of remorse; that a pension had fettered his soul, that corruption had polluted his lips, and that he was equally eager to sacrifice every sentiment of equity, and principle of social freedom, to the force of arms.

ROBERT C. NICHOLAS TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Virginia, February 3, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your very obliging favour by Captain Matthews. Your former letter, in answer to mine, by Mr. Byrd, I received in due time, and took the earliest opportunity of recommending it to our Delegates to fix upon some method to defray the expenses incurred by this country in the Northern Colonies. This they tell me that they have not been able to effect, so that I have been obliged to stretch my own credit in England to furnish them with bills of exchange for their immediate purposes. I particularly recommended to them to try at reimbursing you, what you might be in advance for Mr. Byrd, but I do not believe they have had it in their power yet. Indeed, I know they have been obliged to borrow money towards paying for arms, &c., purchased for us at Philadelphia. These inconveniences, however, I hope will soon be remedied, as the Congress hath agreed to take part, at least, of our troops on Continental pay, which will enable us to exchange our money for that of the Continent. Indeed, considering our Union in other respects, it has been matter of wonder to me, that our currency should want equal credit in other Colonies. I shall write to Colonel Harrison about Mr. Byrd's affair, and desire the favour of you to send him Mr. Byrd's account.

I cannot but condole with you on the loss of General Montgomery, and the other brave officers and soldiers before Quebeck. This will be matter of great triumph to our enemies, but I hope of not long continuance.

Our sentiments on the situation of this country, and the measures necessary to be pursued, coincide exactly; but we are much puzzled how to manage those amphibious animals we have to deal with. The different occurrences here, you no doubt have pretty regular accounts of through the channel of our newspapers, as the printers never fail publishing every incident of the least importance. You must have heard of the destruction of the greater part of Norfolk by the men-of-war, and their infernal crews, and I expect that the remains will soon be laid in ashes.

I hope your lady is safe, and well with you. I beg my respectful compliments to her, Mr. Custis and his lady. That the Almighty may take you and your whole corps under his protection, and crown your endeavours to preserve the liberties of America with success, is the ardent wish of, dear sir, your affectionate and most obedient servant,

ROBERT C. NICHOLAS.

To General Washington.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO STEPHEN WEST.

[No. 8.] Annapolis, February 3, 1776.

SIR: The Council of Safety have been informed that you have a number of gun-locks to dispose of; if that be the case, you will be pleased to let them know by the first opportunity what number you have, and the price; also, whether they are single or double-bridled locks. You wrote for an order on the Treasury for powder delivered the Committee; send up their receipt for the quantity delivered, and your order will be made out at any time, when your receiver may attend for the cash. We are, &c.

To Mr. Stephen West.

TO THE PEOPLE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia, February 3, 1776.

When the little pamphlet, entitled "Common Sense," first made its appearance in favour of that so often abjured idea, of independence upon Great Britain, I was informed that no less than three gentlemen of respectable abilities were engaged to answer it. As yet I have seen nothing which directly pretends to dispute a single position of the author. The oblique essay in Humphreys's paper, and solemn Testimony of the Quakers, however intended, having offered nothing to the purpose, I shall take leave to examine this important question, with all candour and attention, and submit the result to my much interested country.

Dependence of one man or State upon another is either absolute, or limited by some certain terms of agreement. The dependence of these Colonies, which Great Britain calls constitutional, as declared by act of Parliament, is absolute. If the contrary of this be the bugbear so many have been declaiming against, I could wish my countrymen would consider the consequence of so stupid a profession. If a limited dependence is intended, I would be much obliged to any one who will show me the Britanno-American Magna-Charta wherein the terms of our limited dependence are precisely stated. If no such thing can be found, and absolute dependence be accounted inadmissible, the sound we are squabbling about has certainly no determinate meaning. If any say we mean that kind of dependence we acknowledged at and before the year 1763, I answer, vague and uncertain laws, and, more especially, Constitutions, are the very instruments of slavery. The Magna-Charta of England was very explicit, considering the time it was formed, and yet much blood was spilled in disputes concerning its meaning.

Besides the danger of an indefinite dependence upon an undetermined power, it might be worth while to consider what the characters are on whom we are so ready to acknowledge ourselves dependant. The votaries for this idol tell us, upon the good people of our mother country, whom they represent as the most just, humane, and affectionate friends we can have in the world. Were this true, it were some encouragement; but who can pretend ignorance that these just and humane friends are as much under the tyranny of men of a reverse character as we should be could these miscreants gain their ends? I disclaim any more than a mutual dependence on any man or number of men on earth; but an indefinite dependence upon a combination of men, who have, in the face of the sun, broken through the most solemn covenants, debauched the hereditary and corrupted the elective guardians of the people's rights; who have, in fact, established an absolute tyranny in Great Britain and Ireland, and openly declared themselves competent to bind the Colonists in all cases whatsoever—I say, indefinite dependence on such a combination of usurping innovators is evidently as dangerous to liberty, as fatal to civil and social happiness, as any one step that could be proposed, even by the destroyer of men. The utmost that the honest party in Great Britain can do is to warn us to avoid this dependence at all hazards. Does not even a Duke of Grafton declare the Ministerial measures illegal and dangerous? And shall America, no way connected with this Administration, press our submission to such measures, and reconciliation to the authors of them? Would not such pigeon-hearted wretches equally forward the recall of the Stuart family, and the establishment of Popery throughout Christendom, did they conceive the party in favour of those loyal measures the strongest? Shame on the men who can court exemption from present trouble and expense, at the price of their own posterity's liberty! The honest party in England cannot wish for the reconciliation proposed. It is as unsafe to them as to us, and they thoroughly apprehend it. What check have they now upon the Crown, and what shadow of control can they pretend, when the Crown can command fifteen or twenty millions a year, which they have nothing to say to? A proper proportion of our commerce is all that can benefit any good man in Britain or Ireland; and God forbid we should be so cruel as to furnish bad men with power to enslave both Britain and America. Administration has now fairly dis severed the dangerous tie. Execrated will he be by the latest posterity who again joins the fatal cord!

But, say the puling, pusillanimous cowards, "we shall be subject to a long and bloody war if we declare independence." On the contrary, I affirm it the only step that can bring the contest to a speedy and happy issue. By declaring independence, we put ourselves on a footing for an equal negotiation. Now, we are called a pack of villanous Rebels, who, like the St. Vincent's Indians, can expect nothing more than a pardon for our lives, and the sovereign favour respecting freedom and property to be at the King's will. Grant, Almighty God, that I may be numbered with the dead before that sable day dawns on North America!

All Europe knows the illegal and inhuman treatment we have received from Britons. All Europe wishes the haughty Empress of the main reduced to a more humble department. After herself has thrust her Colonies from her, the maritime Powers cannot be such idiots as to suffer her to reduce them to a more absolute obedience of her dictates than they were heretofore obliged to yield. Does not the most superficial politician know that, while we profess ourselves the subjects of Great Britain, and yet hold arms against her, they have a right to treat us as Rebels, and that, according to the laws of nature and nations, no other State has a right to interfere in the dispute? But, on the other hand, on our declaration of independence, the maritime States, at least, will find it their interest (which always secures the question of inclination) to protect a people who can be so advantageous to them. So that those short-sighted politicians, who conclude that this step will involve us in slaughter and devastation, may plainly perceive that no measure in our power will so naturally and effectually work our deliverance. The motion of a finger of the Grand Monarch would procure as gentle a temper in the omnipotent British Minister as appeared in the Manilla ransom and Falkland Islands affairs. From without, certainly, we have every thing to hope, nothing to fear: from within, some tell us the Presbyterians, if freed from the restraining power of Great Britain, would overrun the peaceable Quakers in this Government. For my own part, I despise and detest the bickerings of sectaries, and am apprehensive of no trouble from that quarter, especially while no peculiar honours or emoluments are annexed to either. I heartily wish too many of the Quakers did not give cause of complaint, by endeavouring to counteract the measures of their fellow-citizens for the common safety. If they profess themselves only pilgrims here, let them walk through the men of this world without interfering with their actions on either side. If they would not pull down Kings, let them not support tyrants; for, whether they understand it or not, there is, and ever has been, an essential difference in the characters.

Finally, with M. de Vattel, I account a State a moral person, having an interest and will of its own; and I think that State a monster whose prime mover has an interest and will in direct opposition to its prosperity and security. This position has been so clearly demonstrated in the pamphlet first mentioned in this essay, that I shall only add, if there are any arguments in favour of returning to a state of dependence on Great Britain, that is, on the present Administration of Great Britain, I could wish they were timely offered, that they may be soberly considered before the cunning proposals of the Cabinet set all the timid, lazy, and irresolute members of the community into a clamour for peace at any rate.

CANDIDUS.

TO THE PRIVATES OF THE MILITARY ASSOCIATION BELONGING TO THE PROVINCE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia, February 3, 1776.

The Committee of the Privates of the Association belonging to the City and Liberties of Philadelphia are of opinion that the best thing which can be done at present for the good of the general cause of American liberty, and the support of our Military Association, is, that the Associates sign the Articles of Association given out by the honourable House of Assembly, with all convenient expedition, and they do most heartily recommend the same to every Associator throughout the Province; and as the honourable House of Assembly have expressed an intention of changing or altering the Articles as occasion may require, and as the defects and imperfections of any law are best ascertained by experience, and a reciprocation of sentiments upon it, the Committee would gladly enter into a friendly correspondence with the privates of those battalions throughout the Province which sign the Articles, that they may know the sense of the Associates in general on any part of the Articles which may need amendment, and that any future application to the honourable House of Assembly may express the desires of the whole body of Associates. But they most earnestly recommend the most perfect, cheerful, and implicit submission to the present set of Military Articles, until they be hereafter altered or amended by Legislative authority, as the most effectual means of giving strength and energy to the operations of the friends of liberty and America who are intrusted with the care of the publick.

Signed by order of the Committee:

JAMES CANNON, Clerk.

N. B. Frederick Hagener, Michael Shubert, William Adcock, Edward Ryves, George Nelson, Robert Bell, Andrew Porter, Patrick Logan, and James Cannon, are appointed a Committee of Correspondence for the foregoing purpose, and every letter to the Committee, directed to either of them, shall be attended to with care, and answered with punctuality.

WILLIAM LIVINGSTON TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Woodbridge, February 3, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I had the pleasure last evening to see Colonel Heard returning with his troops from his Queen's County expedition, which he has, by all accounts, conducted with the greatest prudence and zeal for the cause. This morning he drew up his troops, and they really made a fine figure. Among his prisoners are some of the most dangerous Tories in the County. Having no particular orders how to dispose of his prisoners, he is resolved to conduct them to Philadelphia, unless he meets with the order of Congress to the contrary. The party of the Continental troops he had with him behaved in so disorderly a manner that he was obliged to dismiss them. The Colonel has really great merit in the conduct of the affair, and I hope he will receive the approbation of the Congress.

You will excuse the badness of the paper, there being no better to be had here. I am, sir, your most humble servant,

WILLIAM LIVINGSTON.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

COLONEL MAXWELL TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Trenton, February 3, 1776.

SIR: I have the pleasure to inform you, (beg you will lay this information before Congress,) that things are much altered since I waited on you. I arrived in Trenton the evening of that day. I waited on the Congress (though late) the next morning. I waited on our Provincial Congress at Brunswick. They have sent orders to the different Counties, that have not parted with their Province arms, to deliver them to such officers as I may appoint to receive them, and they will pay the County their price or replace them with others as soon as possible. I despatched officers for that purpose this day, and assure you I have rode night and day to expedite the business.

Mr. Lourey had not received yours of the 25th ultimo, till I found it and delivered it to him, with your further resolves of the 31st ultimo. He was to the eastward with the other regiment; he is now furnishing us with every thing in his power; those things that the Congress had ordered him to furnish before, are all complete. Canteens and camp-kettles are not to be had here for more than two companies. Mr. Clem. Biddle promised me he would apply to Congress for leave to send us some that belonged to companies of Militia in town.

One of my companies sets off to-morrow, the other will follow as soon as possible. If the arms are sent to us, I make no doubt of being able to march agreeable to orders. Had I been allowed to judge of the necessaries fit for my regiment at first, I do imagine I should have given such representation to Congress as would have had it completed before now, as the Commissary has ever been indefatigable in his department to complete the troops under my command. I am, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

WILLIAM MAXWELL.

To the Honourable John Hancock, President of the Continental Congress, at Philadelphia.

JOHN GRAHAM TO NEW-YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

Upper-Barrack, February 3, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I hope you will please to excuse me for giving the honourable Committee so much trouble, but as

I have been in close confinement for sixteen days, and have already acquainted the honourable House with my reasons of leaving this town, in a letter dated the 23d of January, and that I never have been heard by any body of men, either at Freehold, in the Jerseys, where I was first made prisoner the 29th of December, 1775, nor here—I beg leave, gentlemen, to say, that I think it very cruel, as I have never seen a precedent of the kind, even in the most inveterate war with the French, to keep a prisoner in close confinement for a crime of my nature, if it can be called one.

I can further say that I have been an inhabitant here, for this six years and upwards, and my principle never was to injure either country or town, but rather to serve them. For the first place, I made myself under an obligation to borrow two guns of Colonel James, of the Royal Artillery, to teach Captain Samuel Tudor's company, as well as others in this city. I likewise did show them the nature of proving of guns; and did myself prove the first brass six-pounder you now have mounted, as well did attend and give directions how to furnish the carriages, with no other view than serving the country. Now, gentlemen, I shall beg leave you will please to hear me, or set me at liberty, as another inhabitant.

I am, gentlemen, with the greatest respect, your very humble servant,

JOHN GRAHAM.

To the New-York Committee of Safety.

CONNECTICUT COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

At a meeting of the Governour, &c., Friday, January, 26, 1776, present:

His Honour the Governour, Jabez Huntington, William Williams, Nathaniel Wales, Jedediah Elderkin, Joshua West, and Benjamin Huntington, Esquires.

Colonel Burrell, and Nathaniel Buel, appointed a Major in the Regiment for Canada, &c., were present, wanting several regulations, &c., about said Regiment; and said Buel, it seems, refuses the birth, because Lieutenant-Colonel Mott is put before him.

Mr. Stanley, with a Letter from Colonel Lee, about their Minute-Men, wants Commissions for the officers, &c.

Letter wrote in answer, that Commissions will soon be sent; but cannot be now, for the hurry, &c.; and advising that the Minute-Men may freely enlist into this service; and when they return, also into the Minute service, &c.

It appearing, by the representation of Colonel Burrell, that the appointment of Lieutenant-Colonel Mott, being remote in that eastern part of the Colony, distant from the Regiment to which he is appointed, causes great uneasiness and dissatisfaction in that County of Litchfield, where the men are to be raised, and is likely to retard and impede the enlisting there, and that it is of great importance to raise and send forward said Regiment to the relief of our friends in Canada. And said Lieutenant-Colonel Mott, having been apprized of the said uneasiness, and the reasons of it, and written to his Honour the Governour his apprehensions that the service may be injured by his holding said commission, and requesting that he may not be held in any situation to the hurt of the service, and generously resigning said commission for those reasons;

On consideration thereof, it is thought best to accept said resignation, and excuse him from said service; and do, therefore, release and excuse said Lieutenant-Colonel Mott from the same, and appoint Nathaniel Buel, of Salisbury, who was before appointed Major, to be Lieutenant-Colonel of said Regiment in the room of said Lieutenant-Colonel Mott, resigned.

A good deal of time yesterday hearing Colonel Burrell, and Major Buel, about the affair of fitting out the Regiment, &c. to Canada.

Saturday, January 27, 1776.

Letters and Resolutions came in from Congress by express, directing, &c., in the same, for keeping up nine Battalions in Canada, &c., and that one of them be raised here, &c., and commissions sent blank, &c.; and the whole plan and regulations, &c., to consist of eight Companies, &c., &c., somewhat different from our plan, and the matter taken up and considered, &c., &c.

Gave orders, by letter, to the Pay-Table, that they must examine and settle the Pay-Rolls of the Officers of the late Northern Army, and pay the balances, taking proper receipts and orders on the Paymaster of the Northern Department for the money, to replace in the Treasury, in consideration of the great uneasiness of the people who served and claim their pay.

Passed an Order for Captain Harding to go to Saybrook, and assist in forming the plan of the Ship, &c., as on paper by itself. (And copy sent by B. H., Esq.)

Drafted a Proclamation on the Congress plan of raising a Battalion, &c., for Quebeck, and passed, &c.; to be eight Companies, ninety men each, including officers.

Adjourned until Monday next, nine o'clock, A. M.

Monday, January 29, 1776.

Met again, P. M., present:

His Honour the Governour, the Honourable Matthew Griswold, Esq. Jabez Huntington, William Williams, Nathaniel Wales, Jedediah Elderkin, Joshua West, and Benjamin Huntington, Esquires.

Captain Lester came in from viewing the Row-Galleys at Philadelphia, and also, Mr. Winslow, from the same view at Providence; and reported the construction, &c., and showed plans, and were consulting about them, &c., A. M.

P. M., the said builders came in, having consulted a plan of building two of said Row-Galleys, and considered the same, and agreed that two to be built, one by said Lester, and one by said Winslow, shall be sixty feet keel, eighteen feet beam, and five feet hold, four inches dead rising; and agreed with them that they, as master-builders, shall have one dollar per day for themselves, and they employ good workmen, at the best and easiest rate they possibly can, and faithfully do and discharge every part of the duty, by their best skill and fidelity.

Captain Lester moves, that he should have some allowance for the use of his yard and tools, and is willing to submit it to our future consideration; and that they may allow their workmen liquor necessary, and as they used to do when they employed men for themselves. And that Captain Lester procure the necessary iron work, and apply, as occasion shall be, to Colonel Huntington and Benjamin Huntington, Esq.; and they withdrew.

And Colonel Elderkin gave in his Account and Report of the circumstances, &c., of the Furnace, &c., at Salisbury, and the Works thereabouts, Colebrook, &c., for which he was appointed 9th instant. Among many other things, that a lot of about two hundred acres of Land lies near the Furnace, with about one hundred and fifty acres of wood upon it, and may be bought in order for coal; and very difficult to get it any other way, &c. And, on consideration, is Voted and agreed, That Captain Elijah Hyde, of Lebanon, be appointed to repair to Colonel Hamlin and the Reverend Mr. Whittlesey, whose Ladies are owners of said Lands, to know upon what terms the Land may be purchased, or part of it, or how the wood, or any part thereof, may be had, and to obtain the terms under the hands of those gentlemen and their wives, and make report to this Board.

Sundry Regulations, relating to arming the people, &c., and on the question about making Scabbards and Belts for the Bayonets for the Guns, &c., made or fixed for the Colony:

Voted, That they ought to be provided.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, January 30, 1776.

Met again the same as yesterday.

Colonel Saltonstall came in, and the time taken up in considering how and in what manner the Fortifications at New-London and Groton shall be made and carried on; the subject discoursed, &c., &c.

P. M. On application, &c., Doctor Robert Usher, of Chatham, is appointed Surgeon and Physician for Colonel Wadsworth's Regiment, in the recruits raising for Cambridge, &c.; and Doctor Elias Norton, Surgeon's Mate for the same Regiment.

Doctor Elisha Perkins is appointed Surgeon and Physician for Colonel Douglas's Regiment, in the same service, and Doctor Thomas Gray, Surgeon's Mate for the same Regiment; and this Board do appoint the Rev. John Fuller, Chaplain of said Colonel Douglas's Regiment.

A number of Officers came in, moving sundry questions about Guns, Blankets, &c., for the Recruits, &c., and on the question, Voted, That each Officer and Soldier, or other person, supplying a Gun and Bayonet for the service, shall be allowed one Shilling and six Pence for the use of it; and each person supplying a Blanket be allowed three Shillings for the use of the same. And if either be lost, without any default of the Soldier, the owner shall be paid for it, they being both appraised before hand; if by his default, to be borne by the carrier.

That in case any shall not be able, and with assistance of their Officers, to provide themselves with Gun and Blanket, the Selectmen of the several Towns are directed to use their utmost endeavours and speed to procure them. And, if they cannot be otherwise obtained, that they procure warrants to impress them.

Voted, That an Armourer be provided for each Regiment.

Adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

N. B. Colonel Porter came in just before, and talked with him about the Furnace, &c., at Salisbury.

Wednesday, January 31, 1776, A. M.

Met according to adjournment.

Present the same as yesterday; and, also, Colonel Dyer came about ten o'clock.

Captain Uriah Hayden, present, being sent for, &c., to conclude about building the Ship for defence, &c., and have and do agree that he shall, and he undertakes to build said Ship, to be eighty feet keel, twenty-seven feet beam, and twelve feet hold; to have six Shillings per day for, and finding himself; and that he shall employ good and faithful workmen, and on the best and easiest terms he possibly can, and discharge every part of the duty with the greatest fidelity, care, and despatch, and is to advise and consult Captain Harding, who is sent for that purpose, or any other person, or persons, who may be appointed by this Board, and to attend every direction he may receive from the Governour and this Council, about the moulding and manner of building and finishing the same, and keep and render careful and exact accounts of his doings in the premises.

The foregoing agreed to.

URIAH HAYDEN.

(Copy given him of the same.)

Agreed with Benjamin Williams, Esq., of Saybrook, that he be employed to do the work (all the necessary iron work) for the War-Ship Captain Hayden is employed to build; that is to say, all the Smith's work, larger and smaller, as low, and including deck-nails, and the same deliver at said Hayden's Ship-Yard, at the rate of twenty Shillings per hundred weight, and to do the same in good and workmanlike manner, and in good and due season, as fast as it shall be wanted for its proper use and uses, and to do and perform the whole in good, faithful, and upright manner, to be done and wrought of Iron, to be found and delivered at his Shop, at or near said Yard.

Said Williams agrees to the above.

BENJAMIN WILLIAMS.

(Copy given him.)

On further consideration, Voted, That the dead-rising for the Row-Galleys ordered to be built by Captains Lester and Winslow, be about seven inches instead of four, as before agreed.

Sundry Letters prepared for General Schuyler, Colonels Wolcott and Wadsworth, Governour Cooke, &c., and consideration had about supplying Colonel Burrell's Regiment on their march, &c., to Albany, and many things for promoting the general service.

Mr. Harpin came A. M., and heard him P. M., to have orders, &c., about Fortifications at Milford, &c., and as no orders had been given by the Assembly, save that they ought to have six cannon there from New-Haven, if to be obtained, &c. Declined giving any special directions, and referred them to the General Assembly.

Voted, That Mr. Adonijah Strong, of Salisbury, be, and he is hereby, appointed and directed to make necessary provision upon the best terms he can, for such necessities as are requisite for the march of the Regiment raising under the command of Colonel Burrell, for the relief of the Continental Army in Canada, that is to say, for their march as far as Albany, agreeable to the request of General Washington to the Governour for that purpose, and to keep a regular account, with proper vouchers, that payment may be made.

(Copy given for said Mr. Strong, present.)

— Thursday, February 1, 1776.

Met again. Present, the same as yesterday, except Colonel Dyer absent.

Voted, In so far compliance with the request of the General Congress, received a few days since, for a ton of Powder, to be sent to Canada, &c., having very little, &c., that about seven hundred and twenty-eight pounds Powder be forwarded from this Colony, at the discretion and direction of his Honour the Governour, for the use of the Army in that quarter.

Whereas, it is necessary that the bounty, wages, pay for blankets, knapsacks, provisions, for the march of the Battalion now raising for the reinforcement of the Northern Army, &c., according to the Proclamation of his Honour the Governour, of the 27th January, 1776, issued in consequence of the Resolve and Order of the honourable Continental Congress, should be paid and advanced; and said Congress having ordered twelve thousand five hundred Dollars to be put into the hands of, and forwarded by the Delegates of this Colony with all expedition, for the use of said Battalion, for the purpose aforesaid, which is expected to arrive soon, but, as it is possible it may not come in season, and the service must not be delayed, it is, therefore,

Resolved and ordered, That the Committee of the Pay-Table draw on the Colony Treasurer for such sum as they shall find necessary, for payment of all the sums ordered to be paid and advanced as by said Proclamation is provided, and by the same may appear, keeping particular and separate accounts of expenditures in this service; and that the aforesaid sum shall be put into the hands of Mr. William Lawrence, of Hartford, who is hereby directed and ordered to receive the same, and, as soon as necessary, repair to Canaan, or elsewhere, if it should appear proper, and pay off each officer and soldier of said Battalion such sums as shall be due, and to be advanced and paid to them, respectively, before their march, according to the terms of said Proclamation, and taking proper receipts, or signing, of every person to whom for, and expressive of the sum, and use for which the same is paid; and keeping clear and perfect accounts of his doings in the premises, and to make return of his original doings to his Honour the Governour, and lodge a duplicate thereof with the Committee of the Pay-Table: for which service the said Lawrence is to have twenty-six and two-thirds Dollars per month, and his reasonable expenses borne.

Voted and resolved, That Mr. Jesse Root, of Hartford, be added to the Committee appointed by the Assembly to take care of the Prisoners who are in, or may be sent to this Colony; and,

Voted, That the Committee for taking care of Prisoners be, and they are, directed to make out a proper and clear account of the charge and expense arising and incurred for the expense and support of all Prisoners in this Colony, from their first coming to the 1st February, instant, with the proper vouchers, together with the charges of taking care of them, and the same transmit to his Honour the Governour, to be laid before Congress for payment.

On request of the Commissaries, viz: Colonel Jonathan Fitch and Captain Samuel Squier, for direction and orders for money necessary to make provision for the march and support of the men raised to aid General Lee in his expedition to New-York, &c., to which they were appointed by this Board the 22d January, 1776, it is Voted and resolved, That the Pay-Table Committee draw on the Treasurer of this Colony, for and in favour of said Commissaries, for the sum of five hundred Pounds, each, to be by them improved in the most careful and frugal manner, to make the necessary provisions for that purpose, they keeping exact accounts of their doings, and proper vouchers thereof, and the same fairly stated, transmit to his Honour the Governour, that they may be laid before General Washington for reimbursement.

(Two copies given, one to each.)

Voted, That Captain Isaac Sears be appointed and employed to purchase and procure a suitable quantity and assortment of Duck, for a Ship of about two hundred and sixty tons, building for the use and defence of this Colony; and, also, about seven tons of suitable Iron for said Ship, and send forward in the most prudent and careful manner, and deliver the Iron to the care of Captain Benjamin Williams, and the Duck to the care of Captain Uriah Hayden, both of Saybrook, in this Colony.

And adjourned to to-morrow morning.

— Friday, February 2, 1776, A. M.

Met according to adjournment. Present, the same as yesterday, and, also, Colonel Dyer.

On motion from Colonel Wadsworth, for direction about three prisoners in his care, who have been long pressing for leave to return home, and think themselves unjustly detained, &c., and on consideration of the circumstances attending them, it appears highly probable that said persons had never shown themselves inimical to, or been active against the United Colonies, and, therefore,

Voted, That his Honour the Governour be advised to give them a Permit to pass and return, to Major-General Schuyler, at Albany, and that it be recommended to said General, unless he knows of special reasons against it, to permit them to return to their respective homes, apprehending their dispositions to be favourable, and that their report will be no disadvantage to the common cause. And Papers, Letters, &c., to General Schuyler made and sent Colonel Wadsworth, per Brownson.

A good deal of consideration being had about getting along with and carrying on Fortification sat New-London, Groton, &c., according to directions of Assembly, &c., &c.,

Voted, That Colonel Dyer and Esquire Wales be, and they are hereby, appointed a Committee, and instructed to repair to New-London and Groton, view, and examine the ground and places where Fortifications are proposed to be erected, and where some are begun, for defence of those places, and form the best judgment they shall be able of the particular places and parts where the same ought to be made and carried on to the best advantage, and to consider how many men ought to be raised and employed to carry on said Works, at each of said places, for proper security, and how soon said Works may be undertaken and carried on to advantage, and under whose conduct and command, and to consider of proper persons to oversee and direct the Works. Also, to consider of the expediency of removing some, and how many, of the Cannon, the Ball, Powder, and necessary implements from New-London, to Works erected, or to be erected on Groton-Hill, and whether any part of the Company now raised at New-London should be discharged; and, also, of the propriety and safety of the Colony's Powder and other Military Stores remaining where they are, in a Magazine near the water, in New-London, and whether any part, and how much, ought to be removed, and where to be safely deposited, and such other matters as they may judge to concern the safety and interest, and defence of those places, so far as respects the common good, and of facts, with their opinion, make report to this Board as soon as may be.

Voted, also, That Colonel Samuel Mott be desired to attend with said Committee. (Copy given.)

Mr. Bushnell was here, by request of the Governour and Council, &c., and gave an account of his Machine, contrived to blow Ships, &c.; and was asked many questions about it, &c., &c. And being retired, on consideration, Voted, That we hold ourselves under obligations of secrecy about it; and his Honour the Deputy-Governour is desired to reward him for his trouble and expenses in coming here, and signify to him that we approve of his plan, and that it will be agreeable to have him proceed to make every necessary preparation and experiment about it, with expectation of proper publick notice and reward.

This Board having been empowered and authorized by the General Assembly in December last, to supply the Batteries at Groton, Stonington, New-Haven, &c., with Cannon and suitable Ammunition, from time to time, as they shall find necessary, and having considered and examined how, and in what manner, the same can be effected; and after the greatest care and inquiry can find no expedient to obtain them, unless by causing them to be cast and founded in the Furnace of Mr. Richard Smith, at Salisbury; and having made proper inquiry into the circumstances, &c., of said Furnace, and finding them to be such that there is a probability of success, and the matter being of so much importance, it is on consideration thought advisable to make the attempt; and is, therefore, considered, ordered, and resolved, by this Board, to improve said Furnace in the best manner for the purpose of casting Cannon and Cannon Ball, of such size and dimensions as shall be found practicable; and we directed that all proper preparations of materials of Ore, Coal, and all necessary implements for the use aforesaid, be forthwith made and provided in the best, and speediest, and most prudent manner.

And Colonel Jedediah Elderkin is hereby appointed a Committee to repair forthwith to Salisbury, and give proper orders and directions for providing every necessary material for setting forward and promoting said business, and getting every thing into the best readiness to carry on the same. And he is directed to improve, or cause to be improved for Coal, the Wood on fifty acres of land, near said Furnace, belonging to Mrs. Hamlin and Mrs. Whitlesey, heirs of the Honourable Colonel Newton, deceased, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, in manner and according to the terms and liberty given by the Reverend Mr. Whitlesey under his hand. And said Colonel Elderkin is allowed to take his son Bela, with him, to assist in any necessary services he shall be able to do, and is to make report of his doings in the premises to this Board.

This Board being informed that the Treasury of this Colony is exhausted of Money, by the many expenditures thereof, in various ways, for the support of the common rights of the United Colonies, and in particular by a considerable sum being drafted and expended for payment of the Connecticut Forces under his Excellency General Washington, near Boston, with a view to quiet the soldiery, and engage them more cheerfully to re-engage in the service; and there being at this time very pressing demands upon the Treasury for considerable sums, in order to furnish and fit out the Battalion now raising, for reinforcing the Continental Army in Canada, and, also, three Regiments raising for recruiting said General Washington's Army, and without a present supply it will be impracticable to send off said now raising Troops, and there being no other apparent way to obtain it,

It is, therefore, Resolved, and Ordered, That any one of the Committee of Pay-Table, viz: William Pitkin, Thomas Seymour, Ezekiel Williams, Oliver Ellsworth, Esqs., or either of them, with such assistance as they shall judge necessary, repair forthwith to his Excellency General Washington, set before him the nature and necessity of the case, and request of him to pay and replace the sum and sums which said Committee lately paid and advanced out of our Treasury, towards the pay and wages of said Forces in his camp by his approbation. And said Pitkin, &c., or either of them, is hereby authorized and empowered to receive the said sum, and the same, as soon as possible, lodge with the Treasury of this Colony, for the uses aforesaid, taking his receipts therefor.

Saturday, February 3, 1776.

Met according to adjournment—Present, as yesterday, except the Deputy-Governour, gone to Litchfield Court, and Esquire West, not come.

Moved by the Governour, by motion to him from Governour Griswold, that some encouragement should be given, to enable Mr. Bushnell to pay expenses incurred in preparing his Machine for the design projected, &c., and to carry forward the plan, &c., &c., it appearing to be a work of great ingenuity, &c., &c. A prospect that it may be attended with success, and being undertaken merely to serve the publick, and of considerable expense and labour, &c. It is thought reasonable that something should be done, &c.

Voted, and Ordered, That the Treasurer pay and deliver to his Honour the Deputy-Governour, the sum of sixty Pounds, to be by him improved for the use of the Colony and publick, according to instructions from this Board. (N. B. Order drawn 25th May, 1776; delivered Deputy-Governour at Hartford.)

Voted, and Ordered, That the Committee of Pay-Table draw on the Treasurer in favour of Colonel Elderkin, for the sum of one hundred Pounds, to enable him to do the necessary to forward the Works to be done at the Furnace, at Salisbury, whither he is going by order, to prepare said Furnace for the casting of Cannon, &c.

(It is done, and the Governour lent him the Money, and his order endorsed.)

Passed an Account of Captain Harding, for service in going round the Sea-Coast to see about buying or building a Ship for defence, &c., at six Shillings per day, and expenses, two Pounds seventeen Shillings.

Appointed the Rev. Mr. Perry Chaplain for Colonel Wolcott's Regiment.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 9, 1776.]

Lebanon, February 3, 1776.

SIR: Your two letters of the 12th and 20th January last, enclosing the resolves of Congress of the 8th, 18th, and 20th of the same month, the first and last relative to a battalion for Canada, the other concerning Doctor Church, with the bundle of blank commissions, John Walker, your express, delivered me on the 27th.

We received on the 18th, the disagreeable news of the repulse of our troops in their attempts on Quebeck, and the fall of the brave and gallant General Montgomery, with others. On considering the necessity of reinforcing our troops in that quarter with all possible despatch, did immediately set forward raising and equipping a battalion in the northern part of this Colony. My Proclamation and orders were issued and sent thither the 20th of January. After receiving your resolves a second Proclamation was issued. I hear men enlist cheerfully, particulars of their progress, being at a distance from me, am unable to inform.

On the request of General Washington, had just before finished orders for two regiments to be raised to aid and assist General Lee in his expedition into the Colony of New-York. I hear they are filled, and numbers of gentlemen besides gone on that service; wish them success. General Washington not receiving the intelligence from Canada so early as it came to me, I received from him a requisition to raise four battalions to be marched to his camp near Boston, to reinforce the lines till 1st of April next; soon after this, he desired one to be raised for Canada, and but three for his camp; of these last, two companies are marched, and the rest of these three regiments will go forward next week.

As there appears a cheerful spirit to assist and succour our friends at Canada, I depend that some divisions of that battalion will begin their march very soon.

A difficulty arises from the want of money, our Treasury is very high exhausted. The twelve thousand five hundred dollars, ordered by Congress for this service, I find, since beginning to write, is received.

We have for the benefit of the common cause advanced far the greatest part of the money received from the honourable Congress, in pay of our troops at General Washington's camp, but through hurry have not had time to liquidate and prepare our accounts to lay before your body. The sum of fifty thousand pounds, requested in my latter letters, should think very safely advanced to the Colony, to be accounted for and delivered to our Delegates, to forward with despatch, as our necessities require it, or shall greatly suffer by delay.

The Proclamations issued on the several above-mentioned occasions are enclosed, to show our proceedings, without enlarging, only that I am, with great truth and regard, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

To the Honourable President Hancock.

Proclamation for raising one thousand five hundred Men for General LEE, &c.

COLONY OF CONNECTICUT.—BY THE GOVERNOUR.

Whereas, his Excellency General Washington, by his letter of the 7th January, 1776, has signified to me that he has great reason to believe that the Ministerial troops are about to attempt possessing themselves of the City of New-York, or Long-Island, or both, strengthen themselves there and get the command of the country, and the communication with Canada, &c., a matter of the utmost importance to be prevented; and has, therefore, despatched the Honourable Major-General Lee through this Colony, to that city, &c., to counteract their designs; and has, also, signified his desire, that ten or fifteen hundred volunteers may be forthwith raised in the western parts of this Colony for that important purpose; and that every necessary expense, attending their march and stay, will be borne by the publick, and requesting my aid to encourage the raising of said volunteers for this important business; and, therefore, I have thought fit, by and with the advice of my Council of Safety, to issue this my Proclamation, and do hereby earnestly recommend it to all the good people of this Colony, in the western and most contiguous parts of New-York especially, whose circumstances will admit, freely and cheerfully to engage in this most important service, to the number of fifteen hundred men, to be formed into two distinct Regiments, under the command and discretion of the Honourable Charles Lee, Esq., Major-General of the Army of the United Colonies; and of Colonel Waterbury, Lieutenant-Colonel Bradley, and Major Hobby, Field-Officers of one regiment, and Colonel Ward, Lieutenant-Colonel Lewis, and Major Douglas, Field-Officers of the other regiment; and such Captains, and other subordinate Officers, worthy of trust and confidence, who have been employed in the present war, or are now in commission in the Militia of this Colony, as may be agreed on by the said Field-Officers, respectively; and do further encourage them, both officers and soldiers, to expect the same pay and billeting allowance, as the troops now in the service of the United Colonies near Boston are entitled to, and that they may also expect to be soon released and discharged from said service.

Given under my hand, &c., at Lebanon, in said Colony, the 12th day of January, Anno Domini 1776.

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

Proclamation for raising, &c., a Northern Regiment, &c., January 19, 1776, respecting CANADA.

COLONY OF CONNECTICUT, ss:—BY THE GOVERNOUR.

Whereas, I have authentick intelligence, that the Army under the command of the late General Montgomery, has been repulsed in attempting to dispossess the enemies of American liberty of the City of Quebec, the General slain, with several officers and soldiers, and a number taken prisoners, whereby reinforcements are become indispensably necessary, in order to maintain the advantages already gained in that country, an object of vast importance for the safety of the Northern Frontiers, and for the protection of our friends belonging to that Province, and the security of their and our rights and liberties. And the complement of troops designed by the honourable Continental Congress for that station, not being complete, and it appearing at this critical juncture of the greatest necessity, that measures should be taken, without delay, to reinforce the Army there, for the great and salutary purposes aforesaid. And also, having the highest reason to expect the approbation of said honourable Congress, and that they will take any necessary recruits into their pay; but their distance being so great, that a delay for their orders might be attended with dangerous, if not fatal consequences:

On consideration of the matters aforesaid, by and with the advice and assistance of my Council of Safety, I have thought it necessary, that at least one Regiment of Foot should be raised by voluntary enlistment in this Colony, as soon as possible, to consist of a number not exceeding seven hundred and fifty effective men, officers included, and to be formed into ten companies, of seventy-five each, including officers; each company to have one Captain, two Lieutenants, one Ensign, and non-Commissioned Officers as usual, to be marched with all possible expedition to the relief and succour of the Continental Army in that quarter, and to continue in service until the first day of November next, unless they can be sooner released, consistent with the common safety; and do hereby appoint, order and direct the same accordingly, and thereupon issue this Proclamation for that purpose, hereby declaring and engaging, that all such officers and soldiers, who shall undertake and enlist, pursuant to the orders aforesaid, shall have, and receive the same pay, wages, billeting and allowance, as other officers and soldiers of that Army are entitled to; and shall have one month's pay advance, before they march out of this Colony; and each non-commissioned officer and soldier finding himself a good blanket, shall be entitled to two dollars therefor, and the property of it be his own. And I do hereby earnestly recommend it to, and invite all persons able for said service, to a sufficient number, freely and cheerfully to engage in, and undertake the same for the sake of the love of their country, and all the dear-bought rights and privileges thereof, the happiness of themselves and all posterity. And on the most mature and deliberate consideration, doubt not, but I am warranted further to encourage them to hope for and expect the protection and blessing of Almighty God. The righteous Lord loveth righteousness, and will, I doubt not, own and succeed this just and righteous cause.

Given under my hand at Lebanon, in said Colony, the 18th day of January, Annoque Domini 1776.

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

COLONY OF CONNECTICUT.—BY THE GOVERNOUR.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, I have received advice from his Excellency General Washington, at the camp near Boston, of the 16th January, instant: That by reason of the slow progress in raising men for the Army, &c., their lines are in so defenceless a state, that he, with the advice of the General Officers of his camp, is of opinion that it is expedient, and absolutely necessary, that a number of new Regiments by him mentioned, should be forthwith raised in several Colonies, equal to those of the new establishment, and to be officered by said Colonies according to their mode, and to repair to that camp by the last day of January, instant, if possible, to be in readiness to act as circumstances may require, until the first day of April next, and requesting that four of said regiments might be furnished by this Colony, as their proportion; and that every exertion and influence may be used for complying with said requisition.

And having immediately laid said requisition before my Council of Safety for their consideration and advice, and being unanimously of opinion that the reasons enforcing said request are indisputably well-founded, and that our compliance is of great importance for our and the common safety, for the present and all future time, and have, therefore, voted and resolved, that four Regiments be forthwith raised in this Colony by voluntary enlistments, each regiment to consist of seven hundred and twenty-eight men, officers included, divided into eight companies of ninety men each, including officers; each regiment to be commanded by one Colonel, one Lieutenant-Colonel, and one Major, and each company by one Captain, two Lieutenants, and one Ensign, with non-Commissioned Officers as usual; to be on Continental pay, and the same as other officers and soldiers on that station are entitled to, and to be marched forthwith to the camp near Boston, for the purposes and for the term aforesaid; and do, therefore, by and with the advice of my said Council, issue this Proclamation, hereby declaring and promising, that all able-bodied, effective men, to a sufficient number, who shall engage and enlist into this necessary service, and shall furnish and equip him and themselves with sufficient clothing, arms, and accoutrements, shall have and receive the same pay, wages, billeting, and allowance, as the officers and soldiers in said Army are entitled to, and shall have one penny per mile for marching expenses out, and home, allowed them, and be discharged by the first day of April next.

And the said four regiments are to be commanded as follows, viz: The first by Colonel James Wadsworth, Lieutenant-Colonel Com'dt Sage, and Major Dyar Throope; the second by Colonel Erastus Wolcott, Lieutenant-Colonel Fisher Gay, and Major John Chester; the third by Colonel John Douglas, Lieutenant-Colonel William Danielson, and Major Thomas Brown, or such other Field-Officers as, on the failure of either of them, shall be, with advice aforesaid, by me appointed; and each company by such Captain, Lieutenants, and Ensign, as shall be nominated by the Colonel or Chief, and other Field-Officers of the several Militia regiments from whence they may be taken, and according to the rules given them by me, they advising with the Captains of their respective regiments.

Every Captain and Subaltern Officer of such Volunteers, obtaining a writing under the hand of the Colonel, or chief officer of such Militia regiment, certifying his or their nomination to either of said offices, or an appointment from me, the same shall be a sufficient warrant for such nominated officer to engage and enlist men for the purpose aforesaid, and to take upon him and them, and exercise the respective commands aforesaid, and to march to said camp by direction of their Colonel, or chief officer, with all possible despatch.

And all officers and soldiers are to yield all due obedience to their superior officers, and to the Commander-in-chief of said Army, according to the rules and discipline of war, for the time being.

And all able-bodied men for said service, to a sufficient number, are hereby earnestly called upon and invited, laying aside all warm dispute about rank, pay, and every lesser consideration, to strive only to emulate each other in a virtuous love of their country, and zeal to serve its cause, in this great and critical juncture, when all that is dear to freemen is threatened and vigorously attacked.

Having great reason to hope, that laying aside every lesser contest and dispute, a cheerful and free exertion of our strength and ability for one ensuing campaign, by the blessing of Almighty God, which we have reason to expect, will lay a sure and happy foundation for putting an end to the present unhappy war, into which we are forced by oppression, for defending those rights which are worth our every effort to maintain and preserve.

Given under my hand, at Lebanon, in said Colony, on the 20th day of January, 1776.

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

We, the subscribers, do hereby acknowledge, each for himself, to have voluntarily enlisted to serve in a regiment raised according to the direction of the foregoing Proclamation of his Honour the Governour, dated the 20th January, 1776, for the purposes therein expressed, and until the first day of April next, in a Company of which is appointed Captain.

Witness our hands, the day and date of our names, respectively, affixed, in the year 1776.

On the General hearing of the repulse before Quebeck, &c., he was willing to release one of the regiments asked for, on account of another requested for Quebeck, the raising of which was begun before the General's second letter, and thereon it was reduced to three for his camp.

COLONY OF CONNECTICUT.—BY THE GOVERNOUR.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, on receiving intelligence of the repulse and death of the late General Montgomery, in attempting to dispossess the enemies of American liberty of the city of Quebeck, and from a sense of the great importance of supporting the Continental Army in the Northern Department, in order to maintain the advantages gained, the protection and safety of the Northern frontiers, of our friends belonging to that Province, and the security of their and our rights and liberties; and sensible the complement of troops on that station was not complete, and having great reason to expect the approbation of the honourable Continental Congress, and that they would take any necessary recruits into their pay, but fearing a delay for their orders might be attended with dangerous or fatal consequences, I did, therefore, by and with the advice of my Council of Safety, order and direct the raising one Regiment of Foot, by voluntary enlistments in this Colony, to be marched with all possible expedition, for the relief and succour of the Continental Army in the Province of Quebeck, and did, accordingly, issue my Proclamation and Orders for that purpose, bearing date the eighteenth day of January, Anno Domini 1776, therein setting forth the number, regulation, encouragement, pay, wages, and term of service for said regiment, as by the same may appear, and immediately gave notice thereof to his Excellency General Washington, to which his Excellency has been pleased to say, in answer, "That the early attention paid by this Colony to this important business, had anticipated his requisition, and claimed, in a particular manner, the thanks of every well-wishing American."

And before the time permitted to advise and receive an answer from the honourable Continental Congress relating to the premises, I have received authenticated information and instruction from said Congress, that in order to prevent the execrable designs of our enemies, and defeat their fond expectation of being able, by means of the Canadians and Indians, to spread desolation through the New-England Colonies, and for many important reasons, that honourable body have thought fit that a number of battalions, out of several Colonies, should be supported in that Province the present year, for its defence, and that the American Army there be reinforced with all possible despatch, as well for the security and relief of our friends there, as for the better securing the rights and liberties of that and the other United Colonies, and requesting that one of said battalions be raised and furnished in this Colony; and for the more speedy raising and forwarding the same, I am warranted by said Congress to issue this, my second Proclamation, and to declare and promise as therein contained, and do, therefore, by and with the advice of my said Council, issue this Proclamation, and do hereby, for and in behalf of said Congress, declare and engage, that all able-bodied, effective men, to a sufficient number, who shall voluntarily engage and enlist into this necessary service, shall have and receive from the Paymaster-General of the Northern Department the following pay, wages, and encouragements, viz:

The Colonel fifteen pounds per month; the Lieutenant-Colonel twelve pounds; the Major ten pounds; a Captain eight pounds; a Lieutenant five pounds eight shillings; an Ensign four pounds; a Sergeant forty-eight shillings; a Corporal forty-four shillings; a Drummer and Fifer forty-four shillings; and a Private forty shillings per calendar month, each; a Chaplain six pounds; an Adjutant five pounds ten shillings; a Quartermaster three pounds; a Surgeon seven pounds ten shillings; Surgeon's Mate four pounds each, per month, as aforesaid.

And as a further encouragement for non-Commissioned Officers and Privates more cheerfully and speedily to enter into this important service of their country, every such able-bodied and effective man enlisting into the same, being properly clothed therefor, and having a good firelock with a bayonet, and other accoutrements, shall have and receive, as a bounty, the sum of six dollars and two-thirds; and every such soldier not having such arms and accoutrements, shall have four dollars as a bounty, and his arms and accoutrements shall be provided by the Colony, and the cost to be deducted out of the soldier's pay. And, also, each soldier to provide himself a blanket and knapsack, for which he shall receive a reasonable value.

And all officers and soldiers shall, also, receive one month's advance pay before their march, to enable them to provide necessary clothing. Arms lost in the service without fault of the soldiers, shall be paid for.

The said Battalion is to consist of eight companies, and to be commanded by one Colonel, one Lieutenant-Colonel, and one Major; and each company to consist of ninety men, officers included; and the undertaking and enlistment is to be for the term of twelve months, or until the first day of February, 1777, unless they may be sooner discharged, which shall be, if consistent with the common safety.

first, I was contented with an inquiry by the Committee of the County, and expected it would have rested there; but, having transmitted a copy of the first deposition, and other proceedings, to one of our Delegates, for his private satisfaction, together with the copy of an instruction to him and his colleague, he thought himself obliged to lay the matter before the honourable the Convention; and I am informed some ill-natured inferences were drawn from the circumstance that only one deposition appeared. I now submit the whole to my countrymen, and hope they will have charity enough to suppose what I said proceeded from the dictates of an honest mind, anxious for the publick weal. I have only to observe that the conversation happened before the defeat of Colonel Hutchins, and was in the company of several of the late Committee of the County, who I thought could not have mistaken my meaning. They knew I had, from the beginning of our disturbances, exerted myself within the small circle of my acquaintance in raising a spirit of opposition to Parliamentary tyranny. They knew I had formed, and carried into Committee, two resolves, the one for purchasing ammunition, the other for raising volunteer companies.

I am, sir, your obedient, humble servant,

CUTHBERT BULLITT.

SAMUEL PURVIANCE, JR., TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Baltimore, February 4, 1776.

SIR: The bearer, Captain Allen, having called on me to know if I had any commands to Annapolis, I take the liberty to advise you that he will be a very safe opportunity, and, if it be agreeable to the gentlemen of the Council, I should be glad you would send us by him one thousand pounds of the money granted for the defence of the town, as cash will very soon be wanted, it being agreed last night to send people to the woods to cut down timber, and to set the smiths at work. At the same time, I am to inform you we have not yet fixed the plan of conducting the business, and that what I now write is without authority from the Committee, whom I cannot consult before to-morrow, our stated day of meeting; but, as the opportunity is so favourable, I am certain the Committee will approve of what I do.

If you think proper to send the money, please to take a receipt from Captain Allen, for the Committee of Baltimore, by order of the Chairman.

I am, with respect, sir, your most humble servant,

SAMUEL PURVIANCE, JR.

To the Honourable Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, Esq.

COMMITTEE OF READING TO PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATES.

Reading, February 4, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: A number of the English soldiers who were lately taken in Canada have arrived here, with their wives and children. The Committee were immediately assembled, and, although they were much surprised at so large a party being ordered here without any previous notice, and without any person attending them to supply them with necessaries, yet, understanding it was the pleasure of Congress the said soldiers should be quartered here, they immediately appointed Mr. Henry Hollar, a member of the Committee, to provide houses, fire-wood, and provisions for the party, who must have otherwise suffered much at this severe season. As we are totally unacquainted with the pleasure of the honourable Congress as to the particular quantities of provisions to be allowed these prisoners, we have despatched an express to you, gentlemen, desiring you will, by his return, be pleased to procure and send to us the directions of Congress to govern us in the matter.

As Mr. Hollar has been an active member of this Committee, and is a very suitable person, we beg leave to recommend him to be continued as Commissary for the soldiers stationed here.

We are, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants.

By order of the Committee of Correspondence:

MARK BRID, Chairman.

To the Honourable the Delegates of the Province of Pennsylvania, in the Continental Congress at Philadelpia.

LORD STIRLING TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Elizabethtown, February 4, 1776.

SIR: I have this moment received General Lee's commands to join him, with five hundred men of my Regiment, at New-York. I purpose setting out to-morrow morning, with about half that number, and now send orders for the remainder to follow me from Brunswick to Amboy. We have, as yet, received no powder. I was obliged to borrow for the two last excursions, and will now try to do the best we can on this occasion.

I am your most humble servant,

STIRLING.

To the Honourable John Hancock.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress of the Colony of NEW-YORK, assembled at the City of NEW-YORK.

The humble Petition of GUERT SPT. DE WINT, Esq., of the Island of St. Thomas, in the WEST-INDIES, now at ORANGE Town, in the County of ORANGE, sheweth:

That your Petitioner arrived here in May last, and has since that time, laid out a good deal of money in the purchase of horses, carriages, and household furniture, for his and family's use, while he remained in this Province; that your Petitioner prays your permit to carry the same to the Island of St. Thomas, his place of abode, times being bad for selling the same.

That your Petitioner prays your permission to take with him a generous supply of the good things of this country, for their use at sea, his family consisting of fourteen in number.

That your Petitioner has an estate, or plantation, on said island, with a crop now standing on the fields, which must perish for the want of lumber; your Petitioner, therefore, prays your permit to carry with him ten thousand staves, and five thousand hoops, for the sole use of said plantation.

They must, in a short time, be in the utmost distress for the want of provisions; he, therefore, prays your permit to carry with him one hundred barrels flour, fifty tierces bread, fifty barrels rye-flour, ten barrels pork, for the sole use of his negroes and family.

Your Petitioner promises, (if in his power,) to remit the amount of said goods, as soon as possible, in those articles recommended by the Continental Congress, as published under date of the 25th of July, 1775.

Your Petitioner makes not the least doubt of your humane indulgence, in this his petition, as he is convinced the humanity of your honourable Congress would not suffer the innocent and helpless to remain in distress.

Any instructions in the sailing of the vessel, or courses you may be pleased to order him to steer, shall, with the utmost punctuality, be observed, and your Petitioner shall forever pray.

GUERT SPT. DE WINT.

February 4, 1776.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Albany, February 4, 1776.

SIR: Since my last, I have recollected that Mr. Francis Phisster, who is a half-pay Lieutenant in the Royal Americans, was last war employed by the Crown as an Engineer, and I have often been informed that he was esteemed as capable in that branch as any that was employed. He has bought an estate, and resides in this County, and has a contract to supply the carriages on the Niagara Carrying-place, by which I have been informed he clears between three and four hundred a year. What his political principles are I know not, but if he could be induced to enter into our service I should be under no apprehensions, as he has a wife and family, which he is excessively fond of, who would be a sure pledge. I shall immediately send a gentleman to sound him on the occasion, and to hint that a genteel appointment would take place if he will engage. Should Congress think proper to employ him, they will be so good as to let me know what offers to make him, in case I should find him in a disposition favourable to our wishes.

I have caused the Canadian officers, who are prisoners, to pay their own bills for subsistence, having only paid for their lodgings, fire-wood, and candles, and advanced them some money, the accounts whereof I shall transmit to the Treasury. I have done the like to five of the Highland chiefs. The last prisoners from Canada I have sent to Ulster County, as I had an opportunity by returning sleds. They will remain there until further orders. Enclose the return of them. I have now only two officers left here, who are indisposed.

I think small quantities of provision should be stored in different places, near Hudson's River, between this and the Highlands, as an immediate supply in case there should be a necessity to call out the force of the country.

So long a march as that from Pennsylvania and Jersey into Canada, will disable many of our men. I have offered, if this County will push them on twenty or thirty miles beyond Crown-Point in sleds, to pay for each sled four shillings a day, to enable the sledmen to find forage.

All the stores that were here are already gone to Fort-George, and I have sent off a number of carpenters to procure the timber for the batteaus.

Such is the scarcity of forage, that I am at my wits' end to procure what will be necessary for the Spring work at Ticonderoga.

February 6.

Yesterday Colonel Ritzema arrived from Canada, and brought me a letter from General Wooster, copy whereof enclose. Colonel Ritzema does not think it possible to complete two regiments out of the last campaign's troops, now in Canada. I shall be agreeably disappointed if one can be raised there. I have advised Colonel Ritzema to proceed to Philadelphia, that Congress may have an opportunity of examining him as to our affairs in Canada. The civil police of that country, I am very certain, claims immediate attention. Its arrangements ought not to be left to any military commander, who must necessarily have his hands full of other business.

Enclose an account that has been sent me by Governour Stene's overseer. He supposes that by this time a much greater quantity of staves than what he has charged, are destroyed. I have so many applications of the like kind that I am ashamed of the conduct of our troops. Tories and Whigs are indiscriminately the object of plunder whenever a fair opportunity offers. You cannot, sir, imagine, how detrimental this is to our cause; and what remedy to apply, I know not. I have given orders, I have entreated the officers to attend and prevent such scandalous depredations, but all in vain.

I believe there are very few arms left in Canada, either of those found in the garrisons taken, or those left by the soldiers. What is become of them? They are stolen and brought down the country. Very few, fit for any thing, are left in store here. Half the regiment raising in Connecticut is to be supplied here. If I should have a number sufficient, they will hardly be worth the carrying. The arms of the two companies from Pennsylvania, that are arrived, are also much out of repair. Could not the arms taken from the Tories on Long-Island, be immediately sent up?

I conceive that the quantity of powder Congress has ordered up is vastly short of what will be wanted in Canada. Let the fate of Quebeck be what it will, fifteen tons would not be too much.

I am, most respectfully, and most sincerely, sir, your obedient, humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., &c.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO WINTHROP SARGENT.

Cambridge, February 4, 1776.

Acknowledged receipt of his letter, of the 2d instant, giving an account of the brig Henry and Esther, laden with sixty-two cords of wood, one hundred and fifty butts with water, forty suits of soldiers' bedding, taken by Captain Waters and Captain Tucker, and sent in to Swan-Harbour. Ordered the private property to be given up, after Captain Nelles proves the same on oath; to libel her immediately. If the harbour is unsafe, to remove her to a place more secure. If the sailors will engage on board of any of our armed vessels for twelve months, they will be entitled to one month's pay advance; but they must be dispersed, so that many of them may not be on board any one vessel.

To Winthrop Sargent, Esq., Cape-Ann.

BRITISH FLEET IN JAMES RIVER.

Nansemond, Virginia, February 5, 1776.

Saturday night last, we received intelligence of six tenders sailing from Norfolk the day before, and that three of them were on their way up this river, which was confirmed about nine o'clock by three vessels anchoring, one near Sleepy-Hole Ferry, and two more, two or three miles higher up, having come as far as the flood tide served. Their boats were moving about the remainder part of the night, one up the river, since supposed as high as Goodrich's, five miles higher up, and just within the Narrows, but returned a little before day. They attempted nothing till the morning, when a boat full of armed men approached the shore within half a mile of the tenders, and were fired upon by four men from the bank, at one hundred yards distance; they returned the fire, and rowed wide of the place, when the four men were honoured with a salute of well-directed cannon, but without any bad consequence. This first effort seemed of singular service, as they never attempted landing after, except at one desolate place, which they effected in the night, and burnt a house with some corn in it belonging to Mr. Couper. It appears, by indubitable proof, that this incursion was partly intended, with the concurrence of Goodrich and sons, to get possession of two vessels loaded with pork, bacon, and other provisions, which, to the discredit of his neighbourhood, those avaricious, false men have been suffered to collect and put on board, and with all expedition put themselves under the protection of the tenders. Though it was with a good deal of difficulty the last of them effected it, (from the fire of our men, and the tenders' boats being repulsed,) they weighed, ran up, and took possession, under a heavy fire of our brave men, who had nothing but small arms, and a scanty portion of ammunition to oppose their cannon and musketry. There was one occurrence happened, which, had we foreseen, a tender and her prize would have fallen into our hands. The wind being ahead on their return, they were obliged to come within sixty yards of a high bank; fifty men, with a plenty of ammunition, could have drove them below decks, and prevented them from tending the sheets, by which they must have come ashore. A few regulars, with the help of ammunition to our own men, would secure us in such a manner, that the fertile lands on this river may be cultivated to the no small advantage of the community; whereas, if we are drove back, the lands are so indifferent, for near one hundred miles, that a famine must be the inevitable consequence.

SURRY COUNTY (VIRGINIA) COMMITTEE.

Surry County, February 5, 1776.

At a meeting of the Freeholders of the said County, at the Court-House, agreeable to an Ordinance of the last Convention, the following gentlemen were chosen to serve as a Committee for the said County:

In Committee, February 6, 1776.

Allen Cocke, Gentleman, was unanimously chosen Chairman of the said Committee, and John Wesson, Clerk thereof.

Resolved, That the Clerk of this Committee do transmit a copy hereof to the Publick Printer, to be published in his Gazette.

JOHN WESSON, Clerk.

CAPTAIN DUNCAN CAMPBELL TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Philadelphia, February 5, 1776.

SIR: The state of my private business, and the unfavourable season of the year, to move a sickly woman and a very young family, hath induced me to apply to the Congress, for leave to go to the Province of New-York, and reside at my own house. This indulgence will save me a very heavy expense, and enable me to settle some debts that I owe.

I shall always hold myself in readiness to move to any place the Congress may think proper. I do assure you, sir, that I will esteem it a particular favour, if you will move the Congress to grant my request.

I am, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,
DUNCAN CAMPBELL.

To the Honourable John Hancock.

To the Honourable the Committee of Safety of the Province of PENNSYLVANIA.

The Petition of the Committee of Privates of the Association, belonging to the City and Liberties of PHILADELPHIA, humbly sheweth:

That as it is of the utmost consequence, in the prosecution of our present most righteous opposition to tyranny and arbitrary power, that none be commissioned as officers in the Continental service, but those who manifest the most sincere and warm attachment to the cause of liberty; and as the honourable Continental Congress has intrusted the appointment of all inferior, and the recommendation of all superior officers, for this Province to this honourable Board, your Petitioners do pray this honourable Board to appoint or recommend none, but such as have signed the Articles of Association given out by the honourable House of Representatives of the freemen of this Province, seeing this ought, at this time, to be considered as the strongest mark of attachment to the cause which our present circumstances will admit of.

As your Petitioners have the pleasure to assure this honourable Board that the signing the Articles of Association aforesaid is become very general in the City and Districts, and like to be universal among those who have heretofore associated, and as the Association is principally composed of tradesmen and others, who earn their living by their industry, they do further pray this honourable Board, that such of them as may be capable of performing such public works as this honourable Board may have in charge to see executed, and have signed the Association aforesaid, may be employed, in preference to all others, and that such works may be as equally distributed among the signers of the Association as conveniently can.

The propriety of this application, your Petitioners humbly conceive, will speak for itself; and as they assure themselves that this honourable Board will consider the Associators, who sign the articles, as better to be depended on, and more worthy of encouragement, than those who do not, they take the liberty to request this honourable Board to show them these marks of their favour and countenance. And your Petitioners will pray, &c.

Signed, on behalf of the Committee of Privates.
SAMUEL SIMPSON, Chairman.

Philadelphia, February 5, 1776.

The Petition from the Committee of Privates being read, this Board resolved, that the matters therein prayed are reasonable and proper, and this Committee will pay a due regard to the same.

Extract from the Minutes:

WILLIAM GOVETT, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA COMMITTEE.

February 5, 1776. }

Whereas the Continental Congress did lately resolve, "That if any person should be so lost to all virtue and regard for this country, as to refuse to receive the Bills of Credit emitted by the authority of Congress, or should obstruct or discourage the currency thereof, and be convicted by the Committee of the City, County, or District, where he should reside, such person should be deemed, published, and treated as an enemy of his country, and be precluded from all trade or intercourse with the inhabitants of the Colonies."

And whereas John Drinker, hatter, Thomas and Samuel Fisher, of the house of Joshua Fisher & Sons, merchants, all of this city, having been charged with a breach of this Resolve, in refusing to receive the above Bills of Credit in payment, appeared before this Committee, ac-knowledgeed the truth of the charge, and alleged, in their defence, scruples of conscience thereupon, as being money emitted for the purpose of war;

This Committee, pursuant to the trust reposed in them, proceeded to consider the charge and defence, and are of opinion, that if such allegation was true, yet as the Congress have made no exception, and as such conduct tends to subvert the most essential rights and liberties of their fellow-citizens, and by destroying the means of defence, to expose their lives and properties to unavoidable ruin, it ought not to be admitted; but it appears to this Committee, by their own acknowledgments, that the above persons have heretofore received, and do continue to receive Bills of Credit emitted in this and the neighbouring Provinces, though frequently issued for the purposes of war, therefore, such objection is not well founded, nor the present pretence consistent with their former conduct. This Committee, therefore, (the parties having declared they did not mean to appeal to any other Board) do hold up to the world the said John Drinker, Thomas and Samuel Fisher, as enemies to their country, and precluded from all trade or intercourse with the inhabitants of these Colonies.

Ordered, That the above be published.

Kingwood, Hunterdon County, Committee Chamber, }
February 5, 1776. }

Whereas, Nathaniel Blinko, merchant, of the township of Kingwood, aforesaid, hath extorted upon his merchandise, from time to time, contrary to the Resolves of the honourable Continental Congress, though often admonished to the contrary by the members of this Board, when he hath declared that he would ask what he pleased, in spite of the Committee; Therefore, Resolved, That we will break off all dealings or commerce with the said Nathaniel Blinko, and hold him up as an enemy to the glorious struggles for American liberty; and we request that none may deal with him, on pain of being treated in the same manner.

By order of the Committee:

WILLIAM COOLBAGH, Clerk.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM NEW-YORK, TO A GENTLEMAN IN PHILADELPHIA, DATED FEBRUARY 5, 1776.

Yesterday, about the same time, Generals Lee and Clinton arrived. The Committee of Safety met immediately, and we expected something like a commencement of hostilities to-day. The Mayor went on board, and the Governor and General both assured him not a man was to be landed here. A twenty gun ship, said to be the Mercury, and a transport, came into the harbour yesterday. Clinton came in the frigate, and is going to the Southward, I believe to Virginia. A Dr. Gilson has been taken into custody at Newport, and sent to Head-Quarters for treasonable practices at Rhode-Island. Lee says, he will send word on board the men-of-war, that if they set a house on fire, in consequence of his coming, he will chain one hundred of their friends together by the neck, and make the house their funeral pile.

GENERAL LEE TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

New-York, February 5, 1776.

MY DEAR GENERAL: I arrived here yesterday, but not without some difficulty. My disorder increased, rather than diminished, so that I was under the necessity of being carried in a litter a considerable part of the way. I consider it as a piece of the greatest good fortune that the Congress have detached a Committee to this place; otherwise I should have made a most ridiculous figure, besides bringing upon myself the enmity of the whole Province. My hands were effectually tied up from taking any steps necessary for the publick service, by the late resolve of the Congress, putting every detachment to the Continental forces under the command of the Provincial Congress where such detachment is.

I should apprise you that General Clinton arrived almost at the same instant with myself. He has brought no troops with him, and pledges his honour that none are coming. He says it is merely a visit to his friend Tryon. If it is really so, it is the most whimsical piece of civility I ever heard of. He informs us that his intention is for North-Carolina, where he expects five regiments from England; that he only brought two companies of light-infantry from Boston. This is certainly a droll way of proceeding; to communicate his full plan to the enemy is too novel to be credited.

The Congress Committee, a certain number of the Committee of Safety, and your humble servant, have had two conferences. The result of these conferences is such as will agreeably surprise you. It is, in the first place, agreed, and justly, that to fortify the town against shipping is impracticable; but we are to fortify lodgments, in some commanding part of the city, for two thousand men. We are to erect enclosed batteries, on both sides the water, near Hellgate, which will answer the double purpose of securing the town against piracies through the Sound, and secure our communication with Long-Island, now become a more capital point than ever, as it is determined to form a strong fortified camp of three thousand men in that island, immediately opposite to New-York. The pass in the Highlands is to be made as respectable as possible, and guarded by a battalion. In short, I think the plan judicious and complete. The two brass pieces, and other articles, will be sent down as you require. You have heard of the fate of the cannon near King's Bridge.

As I write with pain, you will excuse my abrupt conclusion. Yours, dear General, C. LEE.

To General Washington.

P. S. My love to Gates and the rest, female and male.

THOMAS LYNCH TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

New-York, February 5, 1776.

DEAR SIR: You have doubtless heard of my being here, on a Committee of Congress. The object was to consult with General Lee and the people of this place, on the best manner of securing it. God knows there is ample room for it. Every thing is wanting. The strong apathy that holds Congress in fetters is still more forcible here. However, luckily, Clinton is come without force. He has none but the Mercury and one transport brig.

I mentioned to you, some time ago, some propositions which Lord Drummond had been talking to me of. General Robinson writes to him by Clinton, that he (Clinton) is very desirous of being instrumental in bringing about the same end. It is mysterious to me how such a man should be sent on such an errand. Be it as it may, it will not produce any remission of our using the present moment to strengthen ourselves and weaken our enemies. Lord Drummond's great point is to get some Member of Congress to go home to inform the Cabinet of the real desires and intentions of that body respecting the re-establishment of peace. To promote this purpose, he has desired me to enclose you a letter, which, after you have read, if you think it can do no harm, you will be so kind as to forward to Robinson, and to send his answer to his Lordship, under your cover. Robinson will, doubtless, send it open to you.

Were I to guess at my Lord's motives, it would be that Lord North and his Scottish friends found that their places were in danger, and that there is no way left to secure them, but by restoring the nation to that state in which alone little minds can rule it with peace and quiet. Indeed, every paper I have seen seems tending that way.

I am, dear sir, your most obedient servant,

THOMAS LYNCH.

LORD DRUMMOND TO BRIGADIER-GENERAL ROBINSON.

New-York, February 5, 1776.

MY DEAR SIR: Just as I was sitting down to write to you, I received yours, by General Clinton, but have not as yet had an opportunity of seeing him.

During the very few months I was with you at Boston, I expressed my wish of being able to make known at Philadelphia the disposition in England towards an accommodation, upon liberal terms, and such as were founded in equity and candour.

You then concurred with me in thinking that, however much those gentlemen whose province it now is to think for the publick might be held up as aiming at a total separation, they had as their sole object such a reconciliation as would give a constitutional security to their children. In this opinion I think we were not deceived. From all the conversation I had at Philadelphia with those gentlemen, (who allow me, I hope, to rank myself among the number of their friends,) I have every reason to think them most seriously disposed towards reconciliation. From a conviction of this, I have pressed the setting on foot a negotiation; nor am I without hopes of success. Should such an event take place, it is not impossible but a deputation from hence may be found expedient, and, in that case, a passport requisite for a security against English cruisers. Such a passport must be left blank, for filling up names, and sent by the same conveyance that this passes through. It will be needless to caution you against delay.

My slight acquaintance with General Howe and Admiral Shuldham will furnish you with an apology for not making a more direct application.

I continue, my dear friend, yours, &c.

DRUMMOND.

Brigadier General Robinson, Boston.

P. S. Let me guard you against letting this go to the publick, till we see how far my hopes are well-grounded.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Albany, February 5, 1776.

SIR: Your Honour's favour I had the pleasure to receive by Colonel Mott, and just now Mr. Bennett has handed me one of the 31st.

As the number of Captains appointed to the Regiment to be commanded by Colonel Burrell exceeds the Continental arrangement, I conclude your Honour had not received the resolutions of Congress on that head. If the alteration can be made so as to correspond with the intentions of Congress, without detriment to the service, would it not be best to do it?

I have not been honoured with a line from Congress, in answer to mine requesting their direction how I was to order the payment for the troops. Through the multiplicity of their weighty affairs, I suppose it has slipped their attention. Apprehensive, however, that the service may suffer, I shall venture to order payment to the men, from the times they were discharged until they returned to their respective habitations, which I propose doing by allowing at the rate of fifteen miles per day from where they were dismissed to their respective Captain's place of abode. I hope it will prove satisfactory to Congress: it cannot fail of being so to the men.

Although the troops raised in Berkshire have made large calls upon me for arms, yet I hope to be able to furnish the number for Colonel Burrell's Regiment, which I mentioned in my last. I wish, however, that as many may be completely furnished as possible. As I am not possessed of an appraisement of the arms that were delivered into the Continental stores by soldiers from your Colony; I cannot fall upon any mode with propriety, other than to request that your Honour will be pleased to authorize persons to pay the several Captains, on producing the receipts, and when the whole are paid, to transmit the account and voucher; on the receipt of which, I will immediately issue a warrant for the reimbursement to the Colony.

When I pointed out to General Washington the route by Number Four, for the march of troops into Canada, it was on a supposition that they might be detached from his camp. Colonel Burrell's march will, undoubtedly, be much the easiest through this city; but when the men arrive here, they must be supplied out of the Continental stores, and be provided with sleds for their baggage by the Commissary-General. If the sleds that convey the baggage from Connecticut here choose to proceed, they may go on. I mention this, that we may not labour under the confusion of so many different Commissaries, and variety of accounts. I have had a quantity of hard bread baked here, at Fort-George, and Ticonderoga; and have caused the most portable pork to be picked out, and a good part of it dressed, for the greater convenience of the men on their march. As soon as Mr. Trumbull, the Paymaster-General, can finish the rolls, he will send them, with a Deputy, to pay the Captains. I hope a very few days will accomplish this.

Colonel Mott's motives for resigning the Lieutenant-Colonelcy do him great honour, and evince his zeal for our righteous cause. By letters from General Wooster, of the 20th ultimo, I learn, with pleasure, that all is safe in Canada, and that our brave little corps before Quebeck hold their ground and continue the blockade. Can Europe any longer doubt of the virtue, perseverance, and spirit of Americans, when they see a city invested, in the depth of Winter, in a country which, at that season, is almost uninhabitable; when they see citizens become soldiers, regardless of the comforts they might enjoy in their own habitations, and quitting them with alacrity, to undertake a march of many hundred miles, through snow and over frozen seas, without tents, without any shelter from the inclemency of the weather, but the azure canopy of Heaven? What a striking lesson to tyrants! What a glorious instance of what the spirit of liberty can do! Our cause, sir, I boldly pronounce, cannot sink whilst the present unanimity subsists; whilst we continue resolved, with a steady perseverance, to make use of those means which indulgent Heaven has put into our power for our defence. I have not heard a word from General Lee since his arrival in this Colony. Mr. Bennett showed me a copy of a line of his, which gives me great uneasiness. I hope no obstacles will be thrown in his way to prevent the execution of his orders. It is of much importance to us that all the Malignants, in every Colony, should be secured. I learned, with pleasure, the effectual steps your respectable Government has taken. I wish the Convention of New-York may follow so fair an example.

I am in better health than I have latterly been. I hope the approach of Spring may restore it; that I may be able to take an active part. A close attention to business in the closet I find more prejudicial to my cough than the fatigues of out-door work.

I am, sir, with very great esteem and regard, your Honour's most obedient, humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

P. S. Our military chest is very low; we will, however, try to furnish your Colony, as far as possible, as I can easily conceive that you must be distressed for money.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Lebanon, February 5, 1776.

SIR: Enclosed is account of the charges and expenses incurred by providing for Messrs. Penet and De Pliarne, in their journey to Philadelphia, by your Excellency's direction. I have sent forward to you the bills, showing how the account arose. Please to order payment to be made, and sent to me by the post who brings this.

The battalion raising in this Colony, to march to the assistance of our friends at Canada, are enlisted to serve until the 1st of February next, with bounty, pay, wages, and allowances, agreeable to resolve of Congress, sent me by the express who last came to you this way.

Our Treasury was exhausted, and knew not how to set the troops forward, until Saturday. Intelligence came to me that twelve thousand five hundred dollars was received from the honourable Congress for that purpose. My Proclamation was out sometime before, and hear that men enlist freely, and hope they will be on their march soon; have ordered them go off by divisions, and hope nothing will retard them.

Through fear of delay, wrote last week to you on the head of our payment of the troops that served under you last season; the pay-rolls are to meet your approbation and order for payment; and, although provision is received for those going to Canada, yet there remains innumerable calls we are unable to answer without further supplies, and apprehend payment is to be made by you, on those rolls.

Three battalions raised and marching to your camp will come on soon; three dollars a man was paid, in part of wages, to enable them to make necessary provisions. I hear that two or three companies are gone forward, and the rest going this week.

FOURTH SERIES.—VOL. IV.

I received a letter from Major-General Lee, dated at Stamford, January 31st, wherein he writes: "A most unexpected and severe attack of the rheumatism, or gout, has seized me here and prevented me personally proceeding. I have sent Colonel Waterbury on, as he is sufficiently strong in numbers betwixt his own regiment and the volunteers. I thought it prudent to order back Ward's Regiment till they received your Honour's further orders." In another scrip, he says: "There is a late resolve of the Continental Congress, which had I seen before, would have stopped me. It is, that every detachment of the Army is to act under the direction of the Provincial Congress where it is. What then will be the use of a detachment at New-York? I answer, by asking, is New-York to be left to be more inimical to us than even the Province of Quebeck? The policy of many there is strained to the utmost against our rights. However, I hope better things of your Congress, if not perverted by artful threats and craft."

Since writing thus far, I am informed that General Lee was carried into New-York in a litter, and three members of the Continental Congress are to meet him there, to settle measures of conduct.

I am, with great truth and regard, sir, your obedient, humble servant,

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

To His Excellency General Washington.

Marblehead, February 5, 1776.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR: The subscribers, in conformity to the resolves of the General Court, handed us for the enlistment of ninety-one men out of this town, beg leave to acquaint your Honours we have made use of our utmost exertions to effect the same, but to no purpose, as the men were almost all before engaged in the service.

We are your Honours' humble servants,

JOSHUA ORNE,	} Committee of Correspondence.
JOSEPH HOMAN,
STEPHEN PHILLIPS,
EDWARD FETTYPLACE,
WILLIAM KNIGHT, WILLIAM DOLIVER,

To the Honourable Council and House of Representatives for the Colony of the Massachusetts-Bay.

Penobscot-River, February 5, 1776.

To the Honourable the Council and House of Representatives in General Council assembled:

Keahawit and Pierre Toma, heads of the St. John's, and in behalf of the Micmacae Tribe, send health to you, and to inform you that we received your letter, dated the 16th October last. We thank you for the kindness you have done us, in providing ammunition and provisions for the Winter season, and for granting liberty for a Priest to pray with us to Almighty God, to make us strong, to oppose the wicked people of Old England. The Penobscot Indians are all of one heart, though of different tribes, and we are willing to assist you with our lives to oppose the wicked people of Old England, and we are ready to come up in the Spring, if we are wanted, and you to send us a letter to desire us to come.

We put all in one head and heart, and shall always keep it there, in remembrance of your kindness.

We thank you by kissing our hand, and shall always stand by you and keep that kiss in our hand in remembrance of it.

We pray God to bless you in your present war with the wicked people of Old England, to drive them out of our lands.

Williamsburgh, Virginia, Friday, February 9, 1776.

By advices from the army under Colonel Howe, we learn that they abandoned Norfolk last Tuesday, after removing the poor inhabitants, with what effects they could carry along with them, and demolishing the intrenchments which Lord Dunmore threw up a little before he fled on board the fleet now lying before that place. What few houses remained after the late bombardment were, likewise, destroyed, after being valued, to prevent our enemies taking shelter in them.

Thus, in the course of five weeks, has a town which contained upwards of six thousand inhabitants, many of them in affluent circumstances, a place that carried on an extensive trade and commerce, consequently affording bread to many thousands, been reduced to ashes, and become desolate, through the wicked and cruel machinations of Lord North and the junto, aided by their faithful servants, my Lord Dunmore, with his motley army, and the renowned Captain Bellew, Commodore of his Britannick Majesty's fleet in Virginia, and his generous and valiant crew. Truly may it be now said,

"Never can true reconciliation grow,
Where wounds of deadly hate have pierc'd so deep."

The troops are now stationed at Kemp's Landing, the Great-Bridge, and in and about Suffolk.

H. HOLLINGSWORTH TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

The subscriber will engage to have made any quantity, from two hundred to two thousand muskets, on the same plan, and at the same price they are made in this or the adjacent Provinces, and finish one hundred by the tenth day of April next, and one hundred per month after, till the quantity engaged are finished, provided I am furnished with locks for said muskets at least twenty days before said day, (for which shall be allowed fifteen shillings for each lock, out of the price of the muskets so finished,) and providing I am advanced the sum of three hundred and twenty-five pounds immediately, (or as soon as good security is offered,) and a further sum of one hundred pounds at the delivery of said hundred muskets, towards defraying the expense of the second hundred; and for each hundred after to have the sum of fifty pounds advanced, till the quantity wanted are completed: as witness my hand, this sixth day of February, 1776.

H. HOLLINGSWORTH.
Cecil County.

To the Honourable Council of Safety, now sitting.

P. S. It is meant that said muskets be completed with stock, bayonet, rammer, and brass mounting.

SAMUEL CHASE TO DANIEL OF ST. THOMAS JENIFER.

In Congress, Philadelphia, February 6, 1776.

DEAR SIR: The Congress just now received the letter from the Council of Safety of New-York. Pray despatch copy to Virginia by the post, or, if gone, by express to their Convention.

A brig is arrived to Mr. Morris, with fifteen tons of powder, and fifteen hundred stand of arms; five tons, and five hundred arms belonging to our Province.

Adieu. SAMUEL CHASE.

PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS TO GENERAL SCHUYLER.

Philadelphia, February 6, 1776.

SIR: Your letters of the 22d and 25th of last month, together with the narrative of your proceedings in Tryon County, and the several enclosures, have been duly received and communicated to Congress, in answer to which I am directed to forward you the enclosed resolutions.

It is with great pleasure I inform you that the prudence, zeal, and temper manifested in your late expedition, met with the warmest approbation of Congress, though, at the same time, I cannot forbear expressing my grief for your relapse. I hope your exertions in the cause of your country will not make you forget the necessary attention due to your health.

As the operations in Canada, which are so important in their consequences, cannot be carried on without a large supply of specie, the Congress have recommended it to the several Colonies to employ proper persons for collecting all the gold and silver they can, to be exchanged for Continental bills, and have recommended to you to encourage sutlers to attend the Army in Canada, and the money arising therefrom to be disposed of agreeable to the resolve enclosed, which mode will be very advantageous, and doubt not your exertions to effect it.

I must refer you to the resolutions of Congress herewith transmitted, and being much pressed for time cannot add but that I am, with much esteem, sir, your very humble servant,

JOHN HANCOCK.

To Major-General Schuyler, at Albany.

NEW-JERSEY CONGRESS TO PRESIDENT HANCOCK.

In Provincial Congress, New-Jersey, Brunswick, }
February 6, 1776.

SIR: Pursuant to the direction of your honourable House, signified to us by your letter, this Congress have this day unanimously agreed to recommend the gentlemen named in the within resolve, for the commissions of Field-Officers of the third battalion of forces now raising in this Colony for the Continental service.

And it is with great pleasure that I am able to inform you, sir, that from the active zeal of the gentlemen now recommended, who are persons of family and great reputation in New-Jersey, we doubt not but they will do honour to themselves and very essential service to the common cause.

By order of the Congress.

I am your humble servant,

SAMUEL TUCKER, President.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

In Provincial Congress, New-Jersey, Brunswick, }
February 6, 1776.

By motion made, Resolved unanimously, That the following gentlemen be recommended by this Congress to the honourable the Continental Congress, as proper persons for Field-Officers of the Third Battalion, to be raised in this Colony, to wit: Elias Dayton, Colonel; Anthony Walton-White, Lieutenant-Colonel; Francis Barber, Major.

A true copy:

WILLIAM PATTERSON, Secretary.

SAMUEL TUCKER, President.

Ordered, That the President do sign an attested copy of this Resolution, and transmit the same to the Continental Congress. A true copy.

Attest:

WILLIAM PATTERSON, Secretary.

NEW-JERSEY CONGRESS TO PRESIDENT HANCOCK.

In Provincial Congress, New-Jersey, Brunswick, }
February 6, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Induced by a report current in this Province that the honourable the Continental Congress have agreed to allow the use of East-India Teas, many persons have publicly sold that article, and the use of it is, therefore, in danger of becoming more general.

We did not hesitate to determine that common report, often deceitful and always uncertain, ought not to be sufficient to contravene a known and established regulation; but, on a resolve being proposed for the purpose of putting a stop to this growing evil, one of the members informed us that he heard several of the Continental Delegates publicly declare, it was agreed in Congress that no notice should be taken of the sale or use of East-India Teas in the Eastern Colonies.

Here, indeed, we hesitated; and, it being of great moment that every regulation of the honourable Representative body of the Continent should be preserved inviolate, we must request that you will speedily inform us whether any, or what agreement has been made by you respecting the sale and use of East-India Teas.

By order of Congress.

Your most humble servant,

SAMUEL TUCKER, President.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

ABRAHAM LOTT TO NEW-YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

New-York, February 6, 1776.

Yesterday at 2 ho., P. M., Mr. Lott received the enclosed order for sea-provisions for His Majesty's ship Mercury, which he thinks he is at liberty to supply, pursuant to the order of the honourable Congress in August last; but being desirous to act so as not to give offence in these difficult times, humbly begs the advice and direction of this honourable Committee, whether the command shall be complied with or not.

To the Honourable the Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York.

Mercury, February 5, 1776.

SIR: Please to supply His Majesty's ship Mercury, with the following Provisions, to complete her to three months, viz: Two thousand pounds bread; two hundred gallons spirits; two thousand pounds flour; two hundred pounds butter; four hundred pounds cheese; eleven bushels peas; eleven bushels oatmeal.

The above to be sent on board as soon as possible.

From, sir, your most obedient servant,

JOHN HERRING.

In Committee of Safety, New-York, February 6, 1776.

Abraham Lott, Esq., attended, and informed the Committee that the Purser of His Majesty's ship Mercury, had sent to him (as Agent-Victualler of His Majesty's ships in this port) a list of sundry Provisions required for the said ship Mercury, and Mr. Lott desired to know whether he be at liberty to supply the said ship Mercury, with Provisions:

Ordered, That Mr. Lott be informed that it is the sense of this Committee that he ought not to supply the said ship Mercury with Provisions.

WILLIAM A. FORBES TO NEW-YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

New-York, February 6, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Your petitioner having understood that several battalions are to be raised, in defence of our inestimable rights and liberties, and being duly sensible of the justness of the cause in which we are all embarked, humbly begs leave to offer himself to serve in one of said battalions. He flatters himself his conduct hitherto, as an officer, will recommend him to the honourable Board, and boasts he could fill the commission of a captaincy, with that truly patriotick spirit becoming an American soldier.

Your petitioner, therefore, humbly prays the honourable gentlemen will take it in their serious consideration, and remains, with the utmost respect, gentlemen, your very humble servant,

WILLIAM ALEXANDER FORBES.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress.

LORD GEORGE GERMAINE TO MAJOR-GENERAL HOWE.

Whitehall, February 7, 1776.

SIR: Since my letter to you of the 1st instant, I have received your despatches of the 19th and 26th of December, by which I had the satisfaction to find that four victualling ships from England were arrived at Boston, and I have just now learned by a note from Mr. Robinson to Mr. Pownall, that there is advice of two others having got in.

This seasonable relief to the Army under your command is of great importance, at the same time the King very much approves the measures you have taken for procuring a supply of provisions from St. Eustatia, and of rice from the Colony of Georgia.

His Majesty observes, that you have very properly declined sending the remainder of the Sixty-Fifth Regiment to Halifax upon the advice you had received of the Twenty-Seventh being arrived there; this arrangement, however, does not make any alteration with regard to His Majesty's intention that the commissioned and non-commissioned officers and invalids should be sent to Great Britain, but you will consider yourself at liberty to incorporate the private men of that regiment fit for service, either into the Twenty-Seventh Regiment, or any other corps that you shall think proper. I am, &c.,

GEORGE GERMAINE.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER TO A GENTLEMAN IN PHILADELPHIA, DATED CHARLESTOWN, SOUTH-CAROLINA, FEBRUARY 7, 1776.

The troubles in the back parts are entirely subsided. Their ringleaders, with about one hundred and thirty others, were taken. All to about twenty have been dismissed, and sent safe to their own houses, being convinced of their mistake, and well satisfied with the treatment they received when taken. They had been persuaded to take up arms to preserve their lives and properties, which they heard had been sold to the Indians, who were to butcher them all on a fixed day, when the Liberty People, (as they call them,) were to go into forts, and leave them open and defenceless to the enemy, to be destroyed entirely. Some villains swore before a magistrate, that powder had been sent to the Indians for this diabolical purpose. Upon this they collected a second and third time, but were attacked by Colonels Richardson and Thompson at the break of day, after a forced march of twenty-five miles in the night, surprised and taken.

About thirty of the prisoners work at a battery six miles from town, on Sullivan's Island, at the mouth of the harbour. I did myself the honour of going down as a volunteer with the detachment. Here I got acquainted with several of the insurgents, who were plain, honest, sensible fellows; and as I assumed no character above a digger or spadesman, in which, without vanity, I excelled the whole corps, they looked upon me as their brother, and heard me gladly. I gave them a full and proper account of every thing concerning the ground of the war. This, with three or four gallons of rum, was of infinite service to our cause.

The reason of deferring the battery on Sullivan's Island was the Tamar and Cherokee, sloops-of-war, lay close alongside of this Island, which was made a den for runaway slaves, who were encouraged and protected by the people belonging to the ships. The departure of them, occasioned by want of provisions, which we refused to supply them with, the moment we had it in our power to prevent them from plundering, gave us an opportunity of fortifying the Island. I went twice down, and worked the first time three, and the second two days, the only volunteer. The ships were but a few days gone, when three others sent from England, appeared off our bar, the Syren, of twenty-eight, Raven, of twenty guns, and a transport. They several times attempted coming in, but the wind for three or four days prevented them. One of our pilot boats fired upon their barge, which was several times returned without damage. They at last sailed for Georgia, where they and the other men-of-war are now striving to procure provisions, after which we expect a visit from them, and are pretty well prepared. We have above one hundred heavy cannon mounted for the defence of the town and harbour, and the Militia from all parts are marching into town.

Upon the return of the Georgia Delegates, the Sons of Liberty assembled, unrigged all the vessels that were ready to sail for England, set up a Liberty Pole, seized upon the persons of the Governour and Council, and sent to us for two hundred men. Some Tories there are striving to bring on an Indian war, and recruiting for Government in the back parts of that Province.

The town is surrounded with seven batteries, two on James's Island, viz: Fort Johnston of twenty, and a new one of eleven guns; and two on Sullivan's Island, one of twelve, and another of four guns; so that we can rake the whole harbour from the bar. But I suppose this is nothing to what your Council of Safety has done for the defence of Philadelphia, which is so easily defended on account of the length of your river. You must be impregnable by this time. You are happy, my dear friend, in not being exposed to the more than diabolical machinations of Government tools, and the dread of insurrections from your Slaves. Hell would be ashamed of such mean and more than brutal attempts to destroy us, and the Devil would blush at the impudence of the man who would have the effrontery to recommend a re-union with so barbarous a Government.

WILLIAM SPEAR TO DANIEL OF ST. THOMAS JENIFER.

Baltimore, February 7, 1776.

SIR: Enclosed you have invoice of the osnaburghs you directed me to keep for you, which I have ready to deliver to your order. By the enclosed account, it appears there is a balance in my favour of one hundred and sixty-eight pounds, twelve shillings and two pence, which sum please to give the bearer, Mr. Cummings, an order on the Treasurer for, and oblige, sir, your obedient, humble servant,

WILLIAM SPEAR.

To the Honourable Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer.

P. S. There is accounts come to Philadelphia from the West-Indies, that there is a number of our vessels seized. Mr. Neill's schooner from this place is said to be one of that number. I tremble for such vessels as is destined for St. Eustatia and Martinico, on account of their vicinity with St. Christopher and Dominico. If you should have any thing to add to my captain's orders, I will attend you with him. The time of his sailing is very uncertain, as our navigation is entirely stopped by the ice.

WILLIAM SPEAR.

PHILADELPHIA COMMITTEE TO MARYLAND COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

In Committee of Safety, February 7, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The manufacturing of Saltpetre, so peculiarly favoured by the great quantities of nitre with which the earth in and about tobacco houses and works is so plentifully impregnated, is a subject too plainly pointed out by this circumstance, that we should deem it impertinent to hint the necessity of increasing so important an article to our Southern brethren, so distinguished for their zeal in the opposition to the unjust encroachments on our liberties, but that we fear the vigorous endeavours for the increase of Saltpetre through this city and Province may encourage an undue dependance on this or any other Colony, which has erected Publick Works, to the injury of the publick cause; and desirous to diffuse the spirit of making so necessary and profitable an article, permit us to offer you our service in instructing any persons, at our Publick Works in this city, that you or any Committee through your Province may recommend to us for that purpose, whereby the knowledge of this so necessary branch may be spread through your Colony.

We are, gentlemen, your obedient and very humble servants,

By order of the Committee:

JOHN NIXON, Chairman.

To the Committee of Safety, Maryland.

AMOS WILKINSON TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Philadelphia Barracks, February 7, 1776.

SIR: In consequence of your orders to the commanding officer of this garrison, I was ordered, with a party of men, to convey General Prescott from the jail of this city to some private lodgings, which orders I accordingly executed to the best of my abilities, and had him lodged this night at Smith's tavern. Nothing material occurred to the guard until about twelve o'clock the same night, when a certain Mr. Richeson, (one of the British prisoners,) came in the guard-room, at Mr. Smith's, and tantalized the guard, in the following manner: Pray, gentlemen, what are you bearing arms for? The Sergeant of the guard made answer, To defend our rights and properties. Mr. Richeson then said, What do you think of getting a good whipping in the Spring? The Sergeant made answer, He supposed they would, if it laid in their power to give it. Before the discourse between them, I laid down by the stove, and took no notice of him, the said Richeson, until he showed a quantity of gold to the men, and said, Here is the right coin, damn your Continental money, and the first promoters of it; or words to that effect. With that, I jumped up, seized hold of him, and pitched him out of the room, and ordered him to be taken to his room. He immediately after sent me word by the Sergeant, that he was a gentleman, and expected I would show myself as one, by calling on him in the morning, and give him satisfaction. Accordingly, I waited on him, (first sending him word by the landlord, I should wait on him, with either a good horse-whip or ratan,) with a whip, but on my entering his room, he immediately asked my pardon, and begged I would take no notice of what had passed, as he had been in liquor.

AMOS WILKINSON, Lieutenant.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

TO THE PEOPLE IN GENERAL.

Philadelphia, February 7, 1776.

When the Prophet Samuel was sent to Bethlehem to anoint a King out of the house of Jesse, and had the eldest son of the family brought before him, his lofty stature and goodly appearance made the Prophet cry out, "Surely the Lord's anointed is before him." But he received this gentle reproof from his Divine conductor: "Look not on his countenance, nor on the height of his stature, because I have refused him. For the Lord seeth not as man seeth, for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart."

Were man to set about the destruction or dissolution of a great empire, he would begin with making choice of one of the mightiest Powers upon earth to effect it. Then vast warlike preparations would succeed; nor would he enter upon the grand design until his armies were so numerous, and his instruments of war so terrible and destructive, that they might well be styled the Invincible. All would now begin to move, and the whole world would tremble at his approach; but a few months would convince him that without God he could do nothing. On the other hand, he who sets up and pulls down, confines, or extends empires at his pleasure, generally, if not always, carries on his great work with instruments apparently unfit for the great purpose, but which in his hands are always effectual. By this means the part he takes appears visible, and the glory of success is given to whom it is due.

It always gives me sensible delight when I see publick calamities affect mankind with a sense of religion, and earnest desire of reformation; and I most heartily concur in sentiment with the Representatives of a certain people "that our minds ought to be affected with the most awful consideration of the dispensations of Divine Providence to mankind in general in former ages," that we know how to conduct ourselves in like circumstances, and avoid as much as possible the appearance of resisting the Divine Will, as publicly declared in His providential proceedings, lest we should be found to fight against God.

The Assyrian, one of the first and greatest empires recorded in antiquity, arose to such an height as nearly to command the then inhabited world; the consequence was that her rulers became corrupted and arbitrary, and forgetting the Divine designs in appointing them, they forsook the paths of justice and equity, and looked upon their people as made for their pleasure. This brought down the Divine vengeance upon her, which was executed by the Medes and Persians, two nations at that time of small consideration. On the ruins of the Assyrian arose the Persian empire, which grew to equal, if not superior height and iniquity. It too was destroyed by the Macedonians, a people of no political signification a few years before they were called by Divine Providence to effect this great work. The next great empire we read of was the Roman, which, having arrived at the height of luxury, pride, and arbitrariness, fell by the hands of savages, who to this day have scarcely any historical existence. The Turks and the Saracens, of all the people at that day the least in the opinions of mankind, divided the Eastern and Western Empire between them. Thus, most if not all of the great empires in the world have successively been overthrown by nations, which, in their time, were of no political consequence. And there are few if any examples of one great empire being employed in the overthrow of another. The contest between Rome and Carthage was that of two great cities aiming at universal dominion, neither having at that time arisen into empire. Thus deals the Divine Providence, always taking steps which appear strange and wonderful, that the whole may bear the evident marks of his hand.

To apply this to our present circumstances, and receive instruction thereby, let us take a view of the present state of Great Britain, and the conduct of Divine Providence towards this country, and it will enable us to discover the designs of Providence, and what measures we ought to pursue, that we might effectually co-operate with the Divine intentions.

It must be allowed by every one who has the least knowledge of the English nation, that there is no degree of vice, folly, or corruption, now wanting to fill up any measure of iniquity necessary for the downfall of a state. From the King on the throne, to the meanest freeman in the nation, all is corrupt. The Crown, far from regarding its duty in the political world, only uses the publick money to bribe the publick officer. The legislator grants the money of the people with a degree of cheerfulness proportioned to the prospect he has of handling it through the fingers of corruption. The freeman sells the importance he possesses in the state for the good of himself and his neighbours, for a belly full of porter, and gives his vote to the man, who by the largess he offers, shows he is the most unfit person in the nation to be possessed of the trust. Thus men, guilty of the worst of vices, possess the places of power and trust, which ought to be filled by none but those of the greatest integrity and virtue. And the consequence is, that the nation is ruled with a rod of iron, and there is no part of the empire free from oppression. Her princes are corrupt, her nobles degenerate, and the representatives of the people are bought and sold. The Government moves on the springs of iniquity, and the measure of their conduct is directed alone by their power of execution, and not by justice or equity; so that it is, perhaps, impossible in all history, to produce a more complete state of corruption in Government. Omnia sunt venalia Rome, is nothing to this, for bribery is descended to the lowest dregs of the nation, and nothing is free from the touch of its pollution. The omnipotence of the Almighty is arrogated by men who rule with the tyranny of the Devil. This is Great Britain's true, but melancholy condition. The eye of partial affection may cast a veil over it; but ingenuity and candour will acknowledge the facts. Tell me, then, ye devotees of religion, the intentions of God to a nation like this, and point out the advantages of being reconciled to such a Government.

Suffice this, for the present, on the part of the state of Great Britain. Now let us return to the conduct of Providence towards these Colonies.

Shortly before the present contest began, the Divine counsel and wisdom permitted Great Britain and France to carry on a long and bloody war in this country, whereby the whole was reduced under the power of Great Britain, many of us were trained to arms, and all familiarized to a war at our doors, and taught to view, without dread or dismay, the banners of hostility waving in the air.

Through the course of this war, we gave such incontestible proofs of our loyalty and affection, as drew from Great Britain the most unequivocal acknowledgments of the same, and having performed more than could be reasonably expected of us, she returned large sums which she then thought we had expended beyond our just proportion. In this situation of affairs, we had reason to expect that we should meet with nothing but the warmest return of gratitude for our services. But they, who wasted that time and treasure in folly and dissipation, which ought to have been expended in acts of gratitude and praise for the unmerited favours of Heaven in the success of the war, would scarcely remember what they owed to their fellow-subjects. Accordingly, our limbs were scarcely rested from the toils we endured in her service, until we were called upon to exert ourselves against her oppressions. And for more than twelve years we have laboured by prayers, entreaties, non-importations, and every other peaceable mode of opposition to prevent her enslaving us; but all to no purpose. Our petitions from Assemblies and Congresses, from Towns and Provinces, and from separate and united bodies of men, were all of no avail. The King despised and rejected them; the Parliament treated them with contempt, and the people, disregarding the justice of them, moved not in our behalf. Thus after affectionately assisting Great Britain through a very bloody, dangerous, and expensive war, and after a twelve years' unsuccessful endeavour to remain reconciled to her on principles of right, equity, liberty, and consanguinity, we are at last reduced to the necessity of becoming independent, and entering into a war with her to preserve our privileges.

The American quit-rents can do little as yet, but in a few years they alone would provide the King with a fund sufficient to raise and support any army necessary to enslave us, let us then be united to Britain on what principles we please. We are at present such a numerous, sober, hardy, and industrious people, as in all ages have been the ablest to contend with, and most successful in opposing tyranny and oppression. How long we may remain so, is only known to the Deity. All parties, even the Ministry itself, agrees that we must one day become independent, and to become independent without a struggle for it, is absurd to imagine. We have now gone through the first year of the war, which may forever put a period to the contention. When we seriously consider the foregoing chain of events, and our present happy union, it is impossible to imagine a conjuncture more favourable to the independence of this country. Less than Divine wisdom could scarcely have fixed on a fitter occasion; and I may defy any person to point out one link of the foregoing chain which can well be wanted at the time an independency is to take place. Any one who considers these things attentively, and recollects how many opportunities she has had of setting every thing right at no greater expense than hearkening to our prayers, and repealing a few obnoxious acts, must believe, that the designs of Providence in this affair are not trivial. God, it is generally acknowledged, sends no extraordinary messenger on an ordinary errand. We may, therefore, safely believe, that all this is not for the breaking up of a junto, or gratifying the ambition of a Prince. No, brethren, it cannot be so. You will say it is a judgment of God upon us for our sins. Be it so. It is like all his other judgments sent upon a people which has not yet been incorrigible. It is a judgment in mercy, which will leave us infinitely better than it found us, if we remain not invincibly attached to a people from whom we receive little besides the contagion of vice and folly, not to say slavery and oppression.

The peace, happiness, and prosperity we once enjoyed in connection with her, is as small a proof of any obligation we are under to seek a reconciliation, as an old friendship and correspondence would be, that we ought to seek a cell in Bedlam with an ancient acquaintance. Her own madness and folly have driven us from her, and God has mercifully secured our retreat. It would be rendering ourselves unworthy of His future protection to throw ourselves back upon her. She is not now what she was in those happy days of former connection, nor can we remain the happy people we then were, if we seek a reconciliation. Circumstances are materially altered.

It need not be asked, Are we able to support the measures which will secure independency? The answer is plain and easy. Though all the world may think we are not, yet, God, it appears, thinks otherwise. I say, God thinks otherwise, because every part of his providential proceedings justifies the thought. We may then know what part we ought to take. God does the work, but not without instruments, and they who are employed are denominated his servants; no king nor kingdom was ever destroyed by a miracle which effectually excluded the agency of second causes. Even Herod, himself, was devoured by vermin. We may affect humility in refusing to be made the instruments of Divine vengeance, but the good servant will execute the will of his master. Samuel will slay Agag; Moses, Aaron, and Hur will pray in the mountain; and Joshua will defeat the Canaanites.

A RELIGIOUS POLITICIAN.

GENERAL LEE TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Head-Quarters, New-York, February 7, 1776.

SIR: The late resolve of the Continental Congress, putting every detachment of the Continental Army immediately under the direction of the Provincial Congress or Committee of Safety where such detachment were to act, and of course the uncertainty of my being admitted into this city with the troops under my command, induced me to send Colonel Ward's Regiment to their respective homes, and thereby to save a very considerable immediate expense to your Colony, and ultimately to the whole United Colonies. Contrary to my expectations, we are not only admitted, but it is determined to take strong possession of the city as well as of its most important environs; in short, to put the Province in such a situation as to render any attempts of the enemy to establish themselves in it ineffectual. For this purpose, some additional battalions are ordered to be levied in this Province. But from the great scarcity of men, and greater of arms, I apprehend it will be a considerable time before they can be completed and equipped in such a manner as to form a corps in whom any great reliance can be placed; the enemy may, perhaps, very soon appear, and we ought immediately to be ready to receive them. I could, therefore, sir, wish, that if Colonel Ward's Regiment is not already disbanded, and your Colony can spare them, that they may be immediately detached for this place; but if it is disbanded, that you would, if possible, send to this place a body of volunteers, equal in number to that regiment, completely armed and accoutred. I am sensible, sir, that it must be extremely teasing both to the men and officers, to be thus eternally counter-ordered, marching and counter-marching, but I hope they will do me the justice to attribute it, not to any indecision or uncertainty of mind in me, but to several whimsical circumstances in our situation, which cannot, at present, be explained to them.

I am, sir, with the greatest respect, your Honour's most obedient, and very humble servant,

CHARLES LEE.

To His Honour Governor Trumbull.

P. S. General Clinton arrived almost in the same instant with myself. He has brought no men with him, at least that we can discover, and has given his word of honour that none are intended. Says that it is only a friendly visit to Mr. Tryon. But the fact is, (I suppose,) he came only to reconnoitre whether the coast was clear, and his friends, the Tories, ready for his reception.*

The gentlemen of the Committee of Safety of this city are with me this moment; they entreat you would, without delay, forward and complete those powder mills which are now erecting, and as many others as you can possibly set on foot. I congratulate you on the arrival of sixty tons more of saltpetre. Thirty tons of powder, and thirteen hundred small arms at Philadelphia. Such an important acquisition will, I hope, enable us to face our enemy on more equal terms.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Albany, February 7, 1776.

SIR: Since my last to you, by Colonel Ritzema, Major Ogden is arrived from Quebeck with the enclosed to you from General Arnold. He also delivered me a letter from General Wooster, copy whereof, with copy of a return of the military stores in Canada, I also enclose.

By the return of the military stores, you will see how vastly deficient we are in almost every article, and how necessary it is that a supply should be sent. I have it not in my power to send any thing, for I have nothing.

Mr. Trumbull's Deputy goes to Canada with what little money there is in chest. I have desired him to take all the money he can get in Canada, and draw upon his principal here; a considerable sum I believe will be got in that way, as a number of merchants are gone with vast quantities of West-India goods. I have encouraged them to bring blankets, and such things as our army may stand in need of, and that whatever might be wanted, would be purchased of them.

By Colonel Hazen, I sent General Wooster a plan to officer the two regiments to be raised in Canada, and desired that he would send down recruiting officers.

The Captains of the two Pennsylvania Companies have this moment informed me that their men are without mittens and moccasins. Of the latter, I have only been able to procure about one hundred and twenty pair; of the former I have none. I shall try to supply them somehow or other. I could wish that every Colony, in which troops are raised, supplied the men with all these necessities. It caused a long detention here, and after all, they cannot be equipped as they should be.

The troops in Canada will be in great want of shoes. Major Ogden informs me that none are to be had there,

* New-York, February 7, 1776.—The town is in the greatest confusion. The Congress have recommended for the inhabitants to move out. The Mercury, man-of-war, has demanded three months' provision, which is refused. Lord Stirling came to town this morning with Jersey forces.

The Governour sent for the Mayor, and desired him to assure the publick, that General Clinton was only come to pay him a visit on his way, and that the troops should not land here; nevertheless, it was thought necessary to keep a strict look out, for fear they should land by surprise; in consequence of which, half of our battalion kept guard all night, the other half the next, and the second battalion are doing the same. Nothing hostile has yet commenced, but God knows how soon it may. The ice obliges the ships to warp close to the wharf. This day the ice, in large cakes, were clock from side to side, and many people upon it.

nor can I get any here. I have employed people to purchase what they can get.

Be so good as to send up money, that the Connecticut troops may be paid. I have been under the necessity of allowing the pay from the places where they were discharged until they got home, and for their subsistence on the way; if I had not done this, the recruiting service would have gone on very tardily.

The accounts of moneys advanced to any of the regiments for the Northern Army should be transmitted to the Deputy Paymaster-General as soon as the regiments march, otherwise the same confusion will take place that has distressed us so much last year. I shall take the liberty to make this request to all the different Colonies.

I am, sir, with the most respectful sentiments, your most obedient, and very humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., &c.

STEPHEN MOYLAN TO MATTHEW THORNTON.

Cambridge, February 7, 1776.

SIR: As you presided at the honourable Convention, when a complaint was made against Colonel John Stark, by his Excellency's command, I address myself to you upon that subject. A Court of Inquiry has been held, in the process of which Colonel Stark has seen that he was very blameable, and sent an acknowledgment of his fault in writing, which I have the honour to enclose you. His Excellency wishes that this may prove satisfactory to the members of your honourable Congress, as the Colonel is a good officer, who understands and does his duty; but if you, and the gentlemen who have been ill treated upon this occasion, insist that he should be brought to a trial by Court-Martial, his Excellency will, on receipt of your answer to this, order one to try this affair; though, as I before mentioned, it would give his Excellency great satisfaction that it was made up in an amicable manner.

I have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient servant,

STEPHEN MOYLAN, P. T. S.

To the Hon. Matthew Thornton, Esq., President, &c.

Copy of the Paper, referred to in the above Letter, sent by Colonel Stark.

Whereas, on the 30th day of December last, some persons belonging to my Regiment, without orders or warrant from me, for so doing, proceeded under arms from their barracks on Winter-Hill, to the lodging of Samuel Hobart, Esq., at Medford, and there assaulted and took him prisoner, and brought him to my encampment at Winter-Hill, and I being at that time much perplexed with business, and not knowing the many aggravated circumstances attending said assaults, and not considering at that time the dangerous tendency of such an insult offered to him, while in the execution of his office, as Paymaster of the troops from the Colony of New-Hampshire, neglected to confine and punish those offenders, but being before wearied with their complaints for want of pay, and much perplexed with other business, hastily, and inconsiderately, threw out some warm and illiberal reflections upon some of the members of the Congress, in that Colony, for which I am sincerely sorry, and heartily ask their forgiveness, and beg leave to assure them that those reflections proceeded only from heat and passion, and not from any settled design to slander or defame them.

JOHN STARK.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO DELEGATES IN CONGRESS.

[No. 9.]

Annapolis, February 8, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Immediately on the receipt of Mr. Alexander's, of the 30th January, with the resolution of the Congress, we appointed gentlemen in each County of this Province, to collect all the gold and silver they could in their several Counties, the amount of which you shall be acquainted with as soon as we are informed of it by them.

We have, also, received a letter from Messrs. Paca and Alexander, of the 2d of this month, and are sorry to find we are likely to be disappointed in our prospect of getting cannon from New-York or Philadelphia, as they are now immediately wanted for carrying into execution the resolution of the Convention for fortifying the city of Annapolis and Baltimore Town; and as we are not certain whether Mr. Hughes (though he has already begun casting the nine-pounders with some success) may be able to comply with his contract for the heavy cannon with the Convention in time, those purchased by Mr. Paca we intended for the ship Defence, which is getting ready with all possible expedition.

We are obliged to you for the attention you have given to our request, and the resolution of the Convention, relative to the plates and paper for the new emission of paper currency, and should most readily conform to your advices, and agree to the striking the money at Philadelphia, by the persons you mention, but we think ourselves, in that particular, tied up by the resolve of the Convention, which requires that "the bills be printed and struck under the direction of two freemen of this Province, to be appointed as supervisors, by the Council of Safety, who are to receive twenty shillings per day;" and it would be difficult to get two that would attend at Philadelphia during the time of printing.

We have been long in expectation of receiving the powder from Messrs. Willing and Morris, which they engaged to supply us with, and for which the money was lodged in their hands, but have not, as yet, been favoured by them with any thing on that head. We need not acquaint you that it is an article we stand much in need of, and that the Convention, to relieve our present necessity, had agreed to take five tons of that made at Philadelphia from the saltpetre lately imported, in part of what we were to have had from those gentlemen. We shall be obliged if you will know of them when we may expect the five tons, and what prospect they have of procuring the rest contracted for by them, and favour us with their answer.

While the Convention was sitting, Mr. Samuel Purviance sent down two depositions, to the purpose of what you mention in your last. The subject was considered by the Convention, and it was resolved that no further notice should be taken of the affair, and that the proceeding should be kept secret. We suppose the two depositions sent you by Mr. Purviance are in substance the same, and we cannot but think it extraordinary that he should presume to trouble you with a matter that had been agitated and settled in Convention. If it be not too much trouble, we request you will send us copies of them, and a copy of his letter enclosing them to you. We are, &c.,

To the Deputies of Maryland, in Congress.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO VIRGINIA COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

GENTLEMEN: We are much obliged by your favour of the 27th ultimo, and shall most cheerfully co-operate with you in every measure that may contribute to our mutual defence against the invaders of our reciprocal rights, that may be in our power; and shall also be happy in keeping up a constant, intimate correspondence, which our common cause at this time renders necessary.

Our inexperience in naval preparations prevents us, at present, from either approving or disapproving your plan of row-galleys for the protection of Potomack River. We have a ship, which we call The Defence, that mounts twenty-two six-pounders, besides swivels, and will be ready to proceed to her station by the 1st of March. She will cruise in the Bay, and, as occasion may require, proceed up Potomack; and the Captain shall have orders to contribute every thing in his power to the common defence, on all occasions. The powder necessary for this ship, and for fortifications which we are building, will diminish our stock so much as to prevent us from attempting an increase of our marine, till we receive a supply of that necessary article, more than sufficient for our troops and Militia, on whom we chiefly rely for protection; and when this happens we shall advise you of it.

We have adventured very extensively to procure arms and ammunition, but are fearful, from the advices that we have lately received, our endeavours will not be attended with the success we wished, and had reason to hope for.

We are, &c.

Committee-Chamber, New-York, February 8, 1776.

To the Inhabitants of the neighbouring Counties and Colonies:

In the course of Divine Providence, (to whose righteous dispensations it becomes us at all times to submit,) this city is now become a scene of confusion and distress, occasioned by an apprehension that unmerited hostilities will shortly be commenced by the ships-of-war lying in this harbour. Under the influence of this belief, many of our poor are abandoning their habitations, and flying for protection into the arms of their brethren in the neighbouring Counties and Provinces. This Committee, therefore, earnestly entreat all those among whom such poor may come, to exercise great kindness and lenity towards them, by furnishing them with habitations, and other necessities of life for their present subsistence, on the easiest terms, and accommodating them in any other way which their duty to the poor, as Christians, may direct.

By order of the Committee:

HENRY REMSEN, Chairman.

COLONEL WAYNE TO JOHN MORTON.

Philadelphia, February 8, 1776.

SIR: When I intimated to Congress that quarters could be had for one battalion in the vicinity of Chester, my idea was that empty houses, stores, &c., might be procured by way of barracks for the troops; and as I understand the Congress have resolved that we shall be stationed until further orders, I must request that you would appoint some proper person, or persons, for that purpose, as well as for providing provisions, firing, &c.

Several of the companies are to rendezvous at Chester to-morrow, and the whole in the course of three or four days. Pray let something be immediately done in the premises; otherwise we shall be in the utmost confusion.

Interim, I am, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

ANTHONY WAYNE.

To John Morton, Esq.

P. S. I have summoned the Committee of Chester County to meet on Munday next. If the Congress should be of opinion that we should apply to the inhabitants for blankets, in the manner that the Committee of the city and Liberties have done, this affords a favourable opportunity for the purpose.

A resolve of Congress, requiring the several Committees of Inspection to assist in apprehending deserters, will be of the utmost utility, as the Tories will conceal them.

MAJOR CONNOLLY TO PRESIDENT HANCOCK.

Philadelphia, February 8, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I have for some time past been indulged with the privilege of walking in the jail, for the benefit of the air, and flattered myself that such enlargement would tend to facilitate my recovery; but, unhappily, find myself disappointed. My infirm state of health, and present condition, cannot fail to touch the humanity of every feeling individual; and, in whatever light I may appear as an enemy, yet my distress as a prisoner, aggravated by the cruel addition of pining sickness, must command the attention of every generous heart.

My difference in political opinion, and the causes instigating me to action, however criminal they may appear, I can, with the integrity of a man of honour, assert, arose from a sense of duty and gratitude too powerful to be combated by any contrary arguments.

I have now languished near four months in close confinement, and my physician has even given over his visits, as ineffectual towards my recovery, without exercise in the open air. I shall not presume to dictate to you, gentlemen, but cannot avoid intimating that my treatment appears particularly severe. Conscious of unblemished honour, where the security of my person is demanded, my sensibility is deeply wounded to find you prefer the strength of a jail to effect that purpose. Political reasons may urge this severity; but permit me to assure you that, whatever may be your determination with regard to me hereafter, I shall be equally ready to obey your summons, if enlarged upon parole, as immured within these walls.

If you will be good enough to allow me to attend my brother into the country, for the benefit of health, and prescribe such bounds as you may judge proper, my honour shall inviolably determine me to pursue your directions. However different we are in sentiments, there remains no doubt of the sincerity of his political professions; and, therefore, in the hands of such a person, who will become responsible for my appearance, whenever demanded, my person will be perfectly at your disposal.

Whether I am to be admitted to the chance of recovering my health, or sentenced to drag on a miserable existence (possibly) for a few weeks longer, is what I flatter myself you will be kind enough speedily to determine upon.

I am, gentlemen, respectfully, your most obedient, humble servant,

JOHN CONNOLLY.

To the Honourable President of Congress.

Monday, 9th. I visited Major Connolly yesterday, and found him still so much disordered, that I fear nothing will effectually cure him, but such exercise as cannot easily be had within the enclosure of the jail. Riding on horseback, I believe, is the only remedy that will remove the cause of his disorder, which is occasioned entirely by a relaxation of his nerves.

W. RUSH.

Connolly's Application to Congress, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The low state of my health, added to the most rigorous confinement, urges me to write to the Committee of Safety, requesting an enlargement, on such honourable terms as they might conclude adequate to my circumstances.

A prejudice, universal as it is groundless, seems to have rendered me particularly odious to my countrymen; conceiving that I was to have been the base instrument of instigating the Savages to desolate the frontiers, to sacrifice the defenceless women and children, and to introduce the utmost scene of calamity and distress, appears to render my situation peculiarly severe. But, when I assure you that a design so inhuman never entered my breast, and that no earthly consideration could ever induce me to promote so dishonourable and inglorious a proceeding, I flatter myself I shall gain your credit.

At the same time that justice to myself calls upon me to make this declaration, I am in honour, also, to acquaint you, that in discharge of the trust reposed in me, I should most ardently have exerted every ability consistent with humanity and the law of arms. The peculiarly delicate ground on which I stood at the commencement of this unhappy dispute, the infinite obligations I owed to his Excellency Lord Dunmore, and a perfect conviction of acting with becoming propriety, determined my conduct. I cannot imagine that gentlemen of your education and unconfined ideas would even wish to punish a man whose actions originated from the warmest gratitude and a sense of honour.

Sequestered from the world, and borne down with infirmity of body, I entreat you to alleviate my distress, by an enlargement from this severe confinement, so destructive to health, and my honour shall inevitably bind me to pursue such orders as you may think necessary to direct, until this calamitous contest subsides, or until I may be exchanged by mutual consent.

I am, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant,

JOHN CONNOLLY.

Cameron's Application to Congress.

Philadelphia Jail, February 7, 1776.

Mr. Cameron would be glad to acquaint the gentlemen of the Congress, that he was lately brought before the Committee, who referred him to the Congress for obtaining parole; in the hope that the gentlemen of the Congress will believe he acted from principle, and grant him the same enlargement they have given others of His Majesty's officers, and on such honourable terms, he will engage to be equally bound.

Thursday, February 8, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I have visited Doctor Connolly, by order of the Committee of Safety, and have found that he labours under an obstinate nervous disorder, for which there is no remedy equal to fresh air and gentle exercise. As a citizen of America, I view his conduct with horror, and can foresee many dangerous consequences upon his enlargement upon his parole, but, as a physician, I should be wanting in my duty, if I did not declare that some mitigation of his sentence is absolutely necessary for the recovery of his health; this, I believe, may be effected by granting him the liberty of walking for an hour or two every day through the prison entry or yard.

You may read the above declaration, if it should be necessary, in the Congress.

I am, dear sir, yours, most affectionately,

BENJAMIN RUSH.

To Colonel Wilson, or, in his absence, to Mr. Penn, of Congress.

SAMUEL AVERY TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 8, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The dispute between the mother country (or rather, the Ministry,) and these devoted Colonies, has arisen to such a height of desperation, that I conceive every person is loudly called upon to stand forth and exert themselves in the defence of their country, and the general cause of mankind.

And, having understood that there are four battalions to be immediately raised in this Province, to act as occasion may require, for the general safety and preservation of the United Colonies, and being desirous to join with my friends, brethren, and fellow-countrymen, in the defence of the liberties and privileges of this once happy land, on which I conceive much depends—the fate of our once boasted Constitution and the English empire; therefore, when an arrangement of officers for the aforesaid battalions shall be made by your honourable House, I should be glad to be appointed a Lieutenant-Colonel of one of those battalions, if you shall judge me a fit person for the office. You may be assured I do not want zeal in the cause of the Colonies, and I flatter myself I do not want capacity, but for courage, which is a very material matter, I cannot promise, but am willing to try.

I am, gentlemen, with the greatest respect, your most obedient, and very humble servant,

SAMUEL AVERY.

To the Honourable the Provincial Congress for the Province of New-York.

RECOMMENDATION FOR APPOINTMENTS.

New-York, February 8, 1776.

Messrs. John Wiley, John Van Winkle, John Sanford, and James Barrett, all of the Second Independent Battalion, represent that they are desirous to enter the Continental service, provided they are appointed to one company, which we will engage to raise.

Mr. Wiley is a Lieutenant, the others Sergeants, and in their several stations they have discovered military abilities, zeal for the cause of liberty, and on every occasion such prudent and becoming conduct, as justifies our recommending them according to the above request; and we are of opinion that, if the Congress think proper to employ them, they will render ample satisfaction.

WILLIAM HEYER, Colonel.

CHRISTOPHER BANCKER, Lieut. Colonel.

WILLIAM MALCOM, Major, 2d Battalion.

ISAAC STOUTENBERGH, 2d Major, 2d Batt.

GEORGE LINDSAY, Captain.

JONATHAN BLAKE, } Lieutenants.

JOHN STAGG, }

To the Honourable the Provincial Congress, or whom it may concern.

TO THE ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES.

Cambridge, February 8, 1776.

MY DEAR COUNTRYMEN: When I address myself to so deserving a part of the community as I esteem you to be, who have generously offered yourselves, at your country's call, to defend, at every hazard, her dearest privileges; when I consider that many of you have exchanged comfortable livings and very valuable enjoyments of domestick life, for the hardships of a Winter's campaign, that your brethren at home might dwell safely, and have none to make them afraid. I feel towards you the most grateful sentiments; and I should think myself happy if one, whose purse can do but little to reward you, might contribute in some other way to your encouragement.

Give me leave, in the first place, to congratulate you on the dignity of the cause in which you are acting. Between you and those you contend with, there is, in this respect, an infinite difference. Unhappy troops of Britain! In better days they were a protection to the oppressed; they were employed with honour in resisting the attempts of lawless ambition. The world saw and acknowledged their superior merit, and faithful history recorded their glorious deeds. But modern councils, that have turned all things out of course, have found other employment for a British soldiery; and who does not pity their disgraceful destination? To be the supporters of as unprovoked and as arbitrary a system of domination as has been heard of in any country; to be the executioners of the unmanly rage of a most abandoned Administration; to plunder the property, burn and destroy the dwellings, and attempt the ruin of as deserving a set of Colonists as any nation ever was concerned with; and who, God knows, would have been as peaceable, had they been well treated.

You, my countrymen, have taken a part that is worthy of you, and which Heaven itself must approve. If ever men had just cause for taking up arms, you have. The unjust claims of Britain; the unlimited submission demanded of the Colonists, which would have left them nothing they could call their own; the intemperate and merciless regulations made to bring you to submission; the inefficacy of peaceable measures taken on our part; the long patience of the Colonists when insulted by little handfuls of British troops, stationed among them; and the advantage which has been basely taken of that patience, (of which the strong garrison at Boston, and the sufferings of its worthy inhabitants, are a standing monument.) In fine, the haughty contempt with which the united and respectful petitions of so many respectable States, asking for peace, liberty, and safety, have been treated; and the unrelenting rage with which the sword of Britain, already bathed in the blood of our countrymen, is still braided; leaving us no alternative between the most abject submission, and a resolute resistance. These things being all before you, you could not but judge, that duty to God and to all posterity ought to determine us for resistance at all events; and a review of the just and important reasons for such resistance must give you an inward satisfaction in the part you are acting which your enemies cannot have, and such courage, one would think, as a bad cause never did and never can inspire.

This infinite difference between your cause and that of your enemies, in the grand point, infers most interesting consequences, which I could wish every American Soldier to be often refreshing his mind with; it would alleviate every hardship; it would strengthen you when you are weary, and give vigour to all your exertions. One is, that while on their side the condition of the highest officer is disgraceful, and the more, if he is a volunteer in the service; on your part, the station of a private soldier is a post of honour; the more so, by how much more freely he has offered himself; more still, if he has many a hardship to undergo, and is often destined to the post of danger. For my own part, when I consider the super-eminent dignity of this cause, I almost envy the very least of you his honourable station, and those glorious hardships and perils in which the duty of a different department forbids me to take part with you; and doubt not the day will come when many a gentleman will think himself unhappy that he was not with you, and many a rising youth shall tell, with conscious pride, that his father was in the Continental Army.

In this cause every brave man may appear with advantage; which is another mighty difference in your favour. Those who act in a bad cause, either do it wilfully or ignorantly, or else they act by constraint against the sense of their own minds. In the first case they must be actuated by base passions, which will naturally carry them into a disgraceful conduct. In the second, they must be under the power of prejudices which contract the soul, and render them incapable of appearing like men. In the last case, whatever they are, they must have foolish and dastardly feelings, and those who cannot pity, will laugh at them.

The cause you are engaged in gives full room for the display of the best human qualities, and naturally awakens them into exercise. It inspires a dignity of sentiment, a generous zeal for the rights of mankind, a noble ardour of compassion for the oppressed, and indignation against tyranny. Hence will proceed the best of courage, self-denial, patience, perseverance, indifference to rank, and high pay, and all the virtues that adorn the character of a soldier. One of the best wishes I can form in your favour is, that you may be inspired with sentiments that are answerable to so great and good a service. But what is more than all, in this cause you may, with a clear conscience, look to Heaven to protect and prosper you. Reduced, as this country is, to the hard necessity of either taking up arms, or of surrendering life, liberty, and every valuable privilege into arbitrary hands, the resistance we are now making is not only justifiable, but must be considered as an indispensable duty, to which Heaven itself calls us. It is, therefore, no enthusiasm to hope, that Heaven will be pleased to favour it; whereas, on the other side, it would be even impious to ask the Divine aid. Think of this, and pity your enemies: nor let the dread of them disturb you, though you should be called to attack them in the strongest of their holds. Nor envy them their boasted skill, nor all their apparatus for the war: it is all they have to depend on. But the young warrior, who could say to his boastful foe, "Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield; but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel," 1 Sam. xvii. 45; he, doubtless, had the advantage, though his furniture for the combat was not so showy; and this advantage, ye dear Americans—if ye will but avail yourselves of it—this advantage is yours. X.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Cambridge, February 8, 1776.

SIR: I last night received intelligence of the arrival of some powder in your Colony, by the sloop Macaroni, and the report is that she brought arms too. As my last letters from Philadelphia do not promise me an immediate supply of these necessities, and as the exigency of this Army at this particular crisis calls for much more than what we have, I beg the favour of you to interest yourself that they may be sent to this camp as expeditiously as possible. If they belong to the Colony, I will take them on the Continent's account, and pay for them, or replace the powder if that shall be thought more advisable, as soon as I have an opportunity of doing it, which I hope will not be long. If to private gentlemen, I shall be much obliged by your friendly exertions, that I may have it. I should not have made this application did not the state of our affairs at this time require all that can be collected. Not doubting of your best endeavours that my requisition may be complied with, I am, sir, with much esteem, &c.,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To the Honourable Governour Trumbull.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Cambridge, February 8, 1776.

SIR: I received your favours of the 2d and 5th instant, and agreeable to your request have ordered payment of the balance of the expenses attending the journey of the two French gentlemen to Philadelphia, to be made William Bacon, post-rider, for your use, which I hope will come safe to hand.

I am happy to hear of your having received twelve thousand five hundred dollars from Congress for the troops going upon the Canada expedition, and heartily wish that no other difficulties may occur to impede their march, and prevent their giving early and timely succour to our friends there, which they certainly stand in great need of.

As to replacing the money advanced by your Colony to the regiments which served the last campaign, it is not in my power. It is what I did not expect, and, therefore, have made no provision for it. I should have paid them in the same manner I did others, had I not been prevented by the Colonels, who expressed their inclination to receive the whole at one time, after the expiration of the service, and on their return home. This being the case, I always imagined that the sum advanced by you would be taken in, when Congress came to form a general account against the Colonies, and be applied to your credit, which I presume they will shortly do, as I have wrote to them, and pointed out the necessity of having all the accounts, respecting this Army, adjusted and liquidated at proper periods. Had I conceived that this application for repayment would have been made to me, I should certainly have included the sum advanced by you in my estimates, and taken care to have had a sufficiency of money to discharge it; but as I did not, I am unprovided, and have not more than will answer the claims I was apprized of antecedent to the last day of December. They are large and numerous, and in a few days will drain our Treasury of every shilling now in it. I am exceedingly sorry that matters should be so circumstanced as to give you the least disappointment or trouble, but I doubt not Congress, upon your application, will refund what you have advanced, or settle in such a way as shall be perfectly agreeable to you.

I shall take care to have the three battalions of Militia paid, which are coming here for the defence of our lines, in the same manner that the rest are, when the time of their engagement expires. They certainly might have come thus far without the advance you have been obliged to give.

Having lately examined into the state of our powder, and finding the deficiency to be much greater than what I had any idea of, and hearing that the Militia from your Colony, and I fear from the others too, are coming without any, or with but very little, I cannot but confess my anxiety and concern to be very great. I, therefore, again repeat the request I made this morning, and beg and entreat your most strenuous and friendly exertions to procure what we are told is imported, or such part as you possibly can, and send it to me with the utmost expedition. I am already much alarmed on account of the scarcity, and the Militia coming in without a proper supply, fills me with apprehensions of the most disagreeable nature. This I would mention in confidence, as it might give great uneasiness if it was generally known. And trusting that nothing in your power will be wanting to relieve us at this alarming and important crisis, I am, &c.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Governour Trumbull.

JAMES SULLIVAN TO THE COUNCIL OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Biddeford, February 8, 1776.

SIR: The resolve of Court for reinforcing General Washington's Army with four thousand three hundred and seventy-eight men, was sent me on the 29th ultimo, accompanied by a letter from Colonel Sayer, Chairman of the Committee of the County of York, wherein he gave me notice that he and Major Goodwin had ordered that I should assist in raising and forming those in the towns of Biddeford, Buxton, Arundel, and Pepperelborough. I then thought, as so many were already gone in the service, and as three of these towns were on the sea-shore, the raising them would be impracticable. However, I have accomplished it, and, after giving Colonel Sayer notice, to the intent that Wells might join us, this day called the men together to choose their officers, and march to Head-Quarters; and while waiting for Wells, the people have received advice from Colonel Sayer, that he and Major Goodwin had agreed that the four towns before mentioned should join with York, and make up a company, and that Wells should have one of their own—have four officers and ninety men instead of thirty-five, while five towns in the County should be but equal to Wells in privileges in this matter. Our people living remote from, and being unacquainted with York, and humbly conceiving, notwithstanding the wise determination of the Committee for that County, that four towns might presume to hope for privileges equal to the town of Wells, filled up the company, excepting a few, who will be enlisted to-morrow, and have chosen for their Captain, John Elder, who has been at the head of the Militia in Buxton seven years, Amos Towns, of Arundel, and Samuel Scammon, of Pepperelborough, for their Lieutenants, and Jeremy Cale, of Biddeford, for their Ensign, and they to-morrow lead off a company of brave men, with good fire-arms. These officers are men of repute and estate, and go in reliance of being commissioned by the honourable Board.

Your humble servant, JAMES SULLIVAN.

To Perez Morton, Esq., Deputy-Secretary.—To be communicated to the honourable Board.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO PRESIDENT HANCOCK.

[Read March 4, 1776.]

Exeter, February 8, 1776.

SIR: Before the reception of your letters of the 12th and 20th of January, an account of the unfortunate affair at Quebeck came to hand, with a requisition from his Excellency General Washington, for this Colony to raise a regiment for that service, which was immediately attended to, the Field-Officers appointed, and orders for inlisting the men given out. As so great a proportion of the men in the eastern, and the middle part of the Colony, were engaged at the grand Army, and to guard our sea-coast, it was judged best to endeavour the raising this on the western frontiers, and every thing that was thought expedient had been done to forward the purpose.

We hear some companies have marched, and expect the whole battalion, consisting of the number desired, will follow them in a few days. Before our design of raising this regiment was known in the western parts, upwards of one hundred men from this Colony had enlisted under officers appointed by Colonel Warner, of the Green-Mountain Boys, and marched, and are, we suppose, before this time at Quebeck.

By order of the Committee.

I have the honour to be, sir, your most humble servant,
MESHECH WEARE, Chairman.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

Colony of NEW-HAMPSHIRE to the Honourable Congress of the UNITED COLONIES of NORTH AMERICA.

The Council and Assembly of said Colony of NEW-HAMPSHIRE, humbly shew:

That, by reason of the vicinity of the port of Boston (the general rendezvous of our enemies) to this Colony, and their men-of-war often hovering around our harbour, have been, ever since the destruction of Falmouth, kept in continual alarms, which hath occasioned a prodigious expense in erecting fortifications, and keeping a large body of men in pay to guard our sea-coast and Metropolis, (some part of the time upwards of fourteen hundred;) being sensible our enemies have a particular view in getting possession of our harbour, as it is very commodious for their shipping, and, if once in their possession, will prove of the greatest consequence to them in annoying the Eastern country; and this Colony ever dependant on the more Southern ones for a considerable part of their bread, and in shipping off lumber to raise money to pay therefor, are now very much distressed: Wherefore, as you have been pleased to order several battalions to defend our sister Colonies, we humbly pray you would direct so many men to be raised for our defence as you, in your wisdom, shall see fit. And we shall ever pray, &c.

By order of the Council and Assembly:

MESHECH WEARE, President of the Council.

Exeter, February 8, 1776.

SAILING OF THE FIRST AMERICAN FLEET.

Newbern, North-Carolina, February 9, 1776.

By a gentleman from Philadelphia, we have received the pleasing account of the actual sailing from that place of the first American fleet that ever swelled their sails on the Western Ocean, in defence of the rights and liberties of the people of these Colonies, now suffering under the persecuting rod of the British Ministry, and their more than brutish tyrants in America. This fleet consists of five sail, fitted out from Philadelphia, which are to be joined at the Capes of Virginia by two ships more from Mary- land, and is commanded by Admiral Hopkins, a most experienced and venerable sea-captain. The Admiral's ship is called the Columbus, after Christopher Columbus, the renowned discoverer of this Western world, and mounts thirty-six guns, twelve and nine-pounders, on two decks, forty swivels, and five hundred men. The second ship is called the Cabot, after Sebastian Cabot, who completed the discoveries of America made by Columbus, and mounts thirty-two guns. The others are smaller vessels, from twenty-four to fourteen guns. They sailed from Philadelphia amidst the acclamations of many thousands assembled on the joyful occasion, under the display of a Union Flag, with thirteen stripes in the field, emblematical of the Thirteen United Colonies; but, unhappily for us, the ice in the river Delaware, as yet, obstructs the passage down, but the time will now soon arrive when this fleet must come to action. Their destination is a secret, but generally supposed to be against the Ministerial Governors, those little petty tyrants that have lately spread fire and sword throughout these Southern Colonies. For the happy success of this little fleet, three millions of people offer their most earnest supplications to Heaven.

GENERAL LEE TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

New-York, February 9, 1776.

SIR: A transport is this instant arrived in this harbour with troops, although it is said that General Clinton gave his honour that not a soldier was destined for this place. As we have, sir, a great deal to do, many works to throw up, Long-Island to secure, and a considerable deal of duty necessary for the safety of the city, and as the four battalions ordered to be raised in this Province cannot possibly be prepared for any sort of service in a very short space of time, it is requisite to provide ourselves with an adequate force immediately. It is true, the Committee of Safety (whose zeal and alacrity seem most fervent) have ordered three regiments of Minute-Men into the city; but I apprehend even this addition will not enable us to accomplish the measures resolved upon. If, sir, a battalion of the Philadelphia Associators, or a detachment from the several battalions, amounting to the number of a complete battalion, could be spared us, they would not only be of infinite use to us, but of considerable to themselves, as it will afford them an opportunity of instructing themselves in the construction of field-works, and the method of fortifying and intrenching camps. I confess I am the more solicitous of being immediately put into force, as I am extremely apprehensive that a very large body of the Ministerialists will be here in a very few days, either from Boston or from England. I think, sir, likewise, as probably the number of troops will be increasing here every day, the Congress would do well, without loss of time, to establish an Hospital in this Colony.

I am, sir, with the greatest respect, your most obedient servant,
CHARLES LEE.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., President of the Continental Congress.

LORD STIRLING TO NEW-YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

Broad-Street, New-York, February 9, 1776.

SIR: As I doubt not it will afford some satisfaction to the Committee of Safety of New-York to be informed what steps are taken for regulating the trade of New-Jersey, I now enclose you a letter I last night received from the President of the Congress of that Province, with the resolves therein mentioned, which you will be pleased to communicate to them.

I have the honour to be, sir, your most humble servant,
STIRLING.

To the President of the Committee of Safety, New-York.

In Provincial Congress, New-Jersey, }
February 5, 1776. }

MY LORD: This Congress have before them your Lordship's several letters, relative to vessels exporting produce and lumber from this Colony, and have come to the enclosed resolutions thereon, which are designed to be immediately published.

The Congress and Committee of Safety of this Province have licensed several vessels to carry out produce, on security having been given to return the amount of nett proceeds thereof in military stores, particularly the vessel mentioned as loading in Longfield's Creek; but none of the others you mention have such license. The one at Amboy, being under very singular circumstances, will, with others loading without permits, be particularly attended to by this Congress, as soon as convenience admits.

We cannot help observing, that your Lordship's information came from two of the New-York Delegates, who, by a clause in one of your Lordship's letters, appear to have licensed several vessels in New-York to export produce. The legality of such license it is not necessary for this Congress at present to make any observation upon.

Your Lordship hath the thanks of this Congress for your attention and trouble in the several matters mentioned in your letters.

I am, my Lord, your Lordship's most obedient servant.

By order of the Congress:

SAMUEL TUCKER, President.

To Lord Stirling.

In Provincial Congress, New-Jersey, New-Brunswick, }
February 5, 1776. }

On motion made, Resolved, unanimously, That all County or Town Committees in this Province exert themselves to prevent any vessel within their several Districts taking in any lading, or departing therewith, from any Port in this Province, contrary to the General Association of the Continental Congress, unless the master of such vessel produce a special license therefor, duly authenticated, from said Congress, agreeable to a subsequent Resolve thereof, or from the Congress, or Committee of Safety, of this Province, signed by the President or Vice-President; and also particularly attend to all imports into this Colony, that the Resolutions of the Continental Congress be duly observed; and that the Militia of this Province do give all necessary assistance to said Committee in their exertions above-mentioned, when called upon for that purpose. And it is hereby recommended to the Officers of the Continental Troops, which are or may be in this Colony, also to assist in the above measures, when thereto particularly requested by the Committees aforesaid.

And it is further Resolved, That no County or Town Committee, within this Province, presume to grant any license or permit for the exportation of any produce, provisions, lumber, or merchandise whatsoever, contrary to the aforesaid General Association; and that a copy of the foregoing Resolves be immediately transmitted to the Printers at New-York and Philadelphia, to be inserted in the public papers.

A true copy: WILLIAM PATTERSON, Secretary.

R. YATES TO COLONEL SWARTWOUT.

New-York, February 9, 1776.

SIR: You will see by the enclosed resolution that Major-General Lee, now at New-York, is authorized to call in as many of the Minute-Men of this Colony as he may think necessary.

I am directed by the General to have some regiments of Minute-Men called here immediately. Your regiment is fixed on by the Committee of Safety of this Colony as proper to be called; you are, therefore, on receipt hereof, to march with your regiment to New-York, with all possible despatch. Take care that your men have their knapsacks and blankets with them, and provision for their march. The Quartermaster ought, by all means, to come with the regiment.

It is not doubted but you will give orders that your troops observe the greatest regularity in their march, and if you order the several companies to precede each other a few miles in their march, they will be more easily accommodated. Suffer no delay in bringing in your regiment.

I am, respectfully, yours, &c.,

R. YATES, Chairman.

To Colonel Jacobus Swartwout.

P. S. It is expected that Colonel Drake will leave a sufficient guard of his regiment at the cannon beyond King's Bridge. He will be a proper judge how many will be necessary for that small service.

Goshen, February 9, 1776.

To the Honourable the Provincial Congress, in the City of New-York, convened :

Whereas, the County of Orange have agreed to raise three companies of men upon the late establishment of the honourable the Continental Congress ; and as four battalions are to be raised within this Province, we hope your honourable Body will favour this County with part of the Field-Officers for one of the battalions. If that should be your pleasure, we, the subscribers, take the liberty to recommend for one of the Majors, Mr. Israel Wells, a man of good character and estate in said County, and a hearty friend to the liberties of America. And are, with great esteem, your obedient, humble servants,

SAMUEL JONES, Captain, DANIEL EVERETT,
JAMES SAWYER, JOSEPH WOOD,
JACOB ARNOUT, JOHN DENTON,
GEO. THOMPSON, Captain, WILLIAM THOMPSON,
MOSES HETFIELD, Captain, JOHN WOOD,
JOHN JACKSON, Captain, JACOB DUNNING,
PETER GALE.

To the President of the Provincial Congress, New-York.

THOMAS PALMER TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

Newburgh, in Ulster County, February 9, 1776.

GENTLEMEN : The bearer hereof, Mr. John Burnett, being desirous of raising a company in the standing army, to be raised in this Province for the ensuing season ; and has applied to us for a recommendation to the honourable House, in order that he may obtain a warrant for inlisting his men. Mr. Burnett being a gentleman with whom we are fully acquainted, and knowing him to be well-disposed to the liberties of his country, and otherwise a person under a good character, and having had considerable experience in the service the last war, we, therefore, recommend him for one, as fit a person as we know of, at present, in this County, to have the command of a company ; and make no doubt his interest is very good for inlisting men. We must, therefore, beg you will indulge him with a warrant for that purpose.

We are, very respectfully, gentlemen, your most humble servants,

THOMAS PALMER.
SAMUEL BREWSTER.

To the Honourable the Provincial Congress for the Province of New-York.

And ordered to be drawn for. And done.

Letter prepared and sent to Governour Cooke, (by Captain Clark.) requesting him to send forward our Powder, &c., to General Washington, &c.; and enclosed General Lee's Letter. And copied, &c.

And again took into consideration the affair of fortifying New-London Harbour, &c., according to the orders of the General Assembly, and what number of Men might be raised and employed to carry on said Works, and for their defence, and necessary Tools and Materials, also, to be provided; and judging it of great importance that Forts be erected at the three places hereafter provided, not only for the defence of New-London, but to render said Harbour a place of safety for all friendly shipping of this or any of the United Colonies.

It is considered, Resolved and Ordered, by this Board, That three Companies of men be raised by voluntary enlistments, to consist of ninety men each Company, including officers, for the term, and until the 1st of December next, unless sooner dismissed by the General Assembly or this Board, to be improved and employed as labourers in erecting proper works of defence, under such directions, in such manner as are ordered, or may be ordered and given, at three different places, viz: One at Groton-Hill, facing New-London Harbour, one at a place called Winthrop's Point, or Neck; and the other at a place called Mamacock, or Shaw's Point, both in New-London; and, also, as soldiers for the defence of those places and Works, if need be, or such other as shall be necessary in those parts. And, at proper times, at the discretion of their officers, to be exercised in the use of arms, and of cannon, or any other proper military exercises. And that said three Companies be stationed at said three places, viz: That under the command of at Winthrop's Point; that under the command of (Captain Mott, as p.) at said Groton Hill; and that under the command of (Captain Ely, as p.) at said Mamacock; yet, so as that any party or detachment of either one or more of said Companies, under proper officers, shall be liable, and may be called off from their proper station, to labour, or do any duty, at any or either of said Fortifications and places, as may be judged necessary and expedient, and shall be ordered by the Engineer appointed to direct and superintend all said Works, and to such orders as may be made by this Board and the General Assembly. And that if any of said soldiers shall be deficient in such reasonable labour and duty as shall be required, such deficiency shall be deducted out of his wages.

And it is further provided, That the aforesaid Troops, or three Companies, shall be subject to, and regulated by the rules of an Act of the General Assembly of this Colony, passed in May, 1775, entitled, "An Act for Regulating and Ordering the Troops that are, or may be raised for the defence of this Colony," so far as they are capable of being applied to their circumstances and situation.

And it is further Resolved, That said Officers and Soldiers shall be entitled to, and shall have and receive the same Pay and Wages as the officers and soldiers in the Continental Army near Boston; and shall be furnished and supplied with good and sufficient rations of Provisions for their support, in the same manner, as near as may be, or equivalent thereto. And the Soldiers shall be allowed one gill of Rum per day, when on labour or fatigue, and three Shillings each for the use of their Blankets. And said Companies shall be furnished by the Colony with such Arms as shall be judged necessary.

And it is further provided and Resolved, That all necessary Timber to be used in and about said Forts, be provided as soon as may be.

That one convenient and suitable Barrack for one Company, shall be built at a proper place for such Company, on Groton-Hill. And, on representation by our Committee, that New-London are willing their Pest-House, standing near, shall be removed and properly placed to serve as a Barrack for the Company at said Mamacock, it is ordered, that the same shall be so removed, placed, and fitted for such Barrack by the Company to be stationed there, or other troops in the Colony service, provided the town of New-London make no demand on account of such removal, the property to remain as before.

It is also Resolved and Ordered, That three stone Sledges, and three Hanniers, thirty Shovels, thirty Spades, ten iron Crow-Bars, twenty Pick-Axes, two Draught-Chains, one long Log-Chain, and one Cart, with two pair of Oxen, be purchased and improved for carrying on the Works aforesaid; and that all said Tools, &c., be properly taken care of and secured, by the Commanding-Officer where they shall be used.

And Colonel G. Saltonstall is appointed a Committee to provide necessary timber and materials, according to order, for the Works on Winthrop's Point.

Ebenezer Ledyard, Esq., is appointed a Committee to provide timber and necessary materials, according to order, for the Works on Groton-Hill. (Copy given.)

Mr. Nathaniel Shaw, Jun., is appointed to provide timber and necessary materials, according to order, for the Works at Mamacock.

Adjourned to Friday morning next.

Friday, February 16, A. M., 1776.

Met accordingly. Present:

His Honour the Governour, Eliphalet Dyer, Esquire, Jabez Huntington, William Williams, Nathaniel Wales, Joshua West, Esquires.

Many Letters, &c., &c.

A pressing request from General Washington, by Colonel Gay, at the Governour, yesterday, for more Powder, &c., is laid before us and considered, and the circumstances being represented so urgent, &c.,

Voted and agreed, That two tons, of the four lately imported into New-London by Mr. Shaw, in the Macaroni, be sent to General Washington, to be by him replaced as he engages.

(Said Powder is with Colonel Jabez Huntington.)

On motion, that Captain Lester, builder of a Row-Galley, at Norwich, has bought of Constable Hough a quantity of Provisions to support his workmen, and Hough owing money to the Treasury, &c., and that an order may be given to pay it that way, &c.

(Order given to Colonel H.)

Voted, That an Order be given on the Pay-Table for one hundred Pounds, for said Lester, so as to be allowed and discounted with said Hough by the Treasurer, and accounted for by said Lester, on account of building said Galley for the Colony.

Voted, That an Order be drawn in favour of Mr. David Trumbull, for one hundred and fifty Pounds, towards fixing the Gun-Barrels brought from Crown-Point, &c.

(Order given 17th.)

Voted, That an Order of four hundred and sixty Pounds be drawn on the Pay-Table, out of the Continental Money sent for that purpose, to be improved to pay the advance Wages and Bounty, &c., for Captain Throop's Company, going to Canada; that Mr. David Trumbull receive the same, and pay out according to Proclamation.

On a representation and request from the authority, &c., of Fairfield, by Letters from Colonel Silliman and Mr. Burr, setting forth their exposed situation, and necessity of defence, &c., and the circumstances of their harbour, the second best in the Colony, &c., and requesting Powder, Cannon and Ball, &c., and at least twenty-five Men to be raised, and sundry things; and in part compliance with their request, on consideration of the case, it is

Voted, allowed, and Ordered, That twenty-five able-bodied, effective Men be raised, by voluntary enlistment, at the discretion of the authority and Selectmen of said Town, under the command of a Lieutenant and two Sergeants, to be improved in erecting works of defence, at such place and manner, in said Town, as the said authority shall direct, and for watching, &c., as shall be necessary, to continue until the first day of November next, unless sooner released by the General Assembly or this Board; and to have the same pay and wages as the Army near Boston, and to be allowed eight Pence per day for their provision and support during said term; and

Voted, That on sending to General Washington the two tons of Powder, ordered this day, a Letter be written to him, informing of it, &c., and requesting him that four tons, in the whole, be replaced by him, of what he may have coming from Philadelphia, or otherwise, viz:

one ton to be lodged at Fairfield, one at New-Haven, and two tons at Middletown, in lieu of so much received from us.

Voted, That thirty stand of Arms, fitted out of the barrels received from Crown-Point, be sent to General Washington, having been earnestly requested by him, &c.

Voted, That Mr. Lemuel Bryant, of Middleborough, as a Cannon-Founder, at Salisbury, and David Carver, Zebulon White, and David Oldman, in those parts, as Moulders, and that said Bryant procure four Moulders for Shot, and he to come by 15th March, and the rest by 1st April. (And wrote accordingly.)

And dismissed, (being near night,) to meet again next Friday morning.

— Friday, February 23, 1776.

Met according to adjournment. Present :

His Honour the Governour, Eliphalet Dyer, Jabez Huntington, William Williams, Nathaniel Wales, Joshua West, Esquires.

Letter just received by Captain Clark from General Washington, complaining of the deficiency of Powder.

Major Smith, of Stonington, present, moving that the Stonington Company of forty, for defence of the Harbour and Town, &c., may be augmented, for reasons by him urged, and is considered ; and, on consideration,

Voted and Resolved, That the Company of forty men, now stationed at Stonington, for defence of the Harbour and Works erected and building there, be augmented by voluntary enlistment, to ninety men, including Officers, to be continued until the 1st December next, unless sooner dismissed by the General Assembly or this Board, to be on the same plan, and under the same regulations, as the Companies raising for the defence of New-London Harbour, saving that their station is fixed at or near said Fortification, at Stonington, till further orders from said Assembly or this Board.

Sundry Letters from sundry persons relating to the publick affairs of the times.

Said Stonington Company had been raised by this Board 14th September last, (as p.) to consist of fifty men, and afterwards by the Assembly, in October, 1775, reduced to forty, is now augmented to ninety, as above, and Major Oliver Smith is appointed Captain of said Company, Nathan Palmer, Jun., is appointed First Lieutenant of the same, John Belcher Second Lieutenant of the same, and Clement Miner is appointed Ensign of the same. And said Captain Smith is authorized and empowered, by all proper ways, to raise and enlist said Company with all convenient speed, and make return to his Honour the Governour, whois desired to give said Officers proper warrants or commissions.

And Nathaniel Miner, Esq., is appointed a Commissary, to provide the proper supplies of Provisions for support of the Company now ordered to be raised, under the command of Captain Oliver Smith, to be stationed at Stonington Fort, and the Governour is desired to give said Miner a proper warrant accordingly. The Provisions to be according to the Regulations of the Army near Boston, as mentioned in a Proclamation referred to in the Order for raising said Company.

(Copy given said Major Smith.)

Mr. Simeon Davis is present, commissioned and authorized by Governour Cooke to go to the foreign West-Indies for a cargo of Powder, and liberty of taking a cargo from this Colony if he can obtain leave, &c., and urges the necessity of the article, and the probability of success, &c.; and on being asked, &c., this Committee consent to, and advise his Honour to permit him to purchase and ship two thousand pounds Cheese, two thousand pounds Hogs' Lard, sixty barrels of Pork, and thirty barrels of Beef in this Colony, for the purpose aforesaid.

And on consideration of supplying Officers for the Company to be stationed at Winthrop's Point, in New-London :

Colonel G. Saltonstall is appointed Captain of this Company, to be stationed at Winthrop's Point, and to raise such Company by enlistment, by all proper ways, as soon as may be, and make return to his Honour the Governour.

And Ebenezer Ledyard, Esq., is appointed a Commissary, to make and provide Provisions for the Company to be raised and stationed at Groton-Hill, according to the Proclamation for raising them, &c.

And Captain John Deshon is appointed a Commissary, to provide for the two Companies to be raised and stationed at Winthrop's Point and at Mamacock, in New-London, according to Proclamation. (Copies sent.)

Took into consideration the affair of appointing Captain and other officers for the Brig Defence, now lying at New-Haven, and talked largely upon it, and appointed Seth Harding to be Captain of said Brig Defence, and concluded upon the others almost, but deferred till next day the appointment.

Appointed Jehiel Tinker, Captain of the Row-Galley, now building at East Haddam. And adjourned until tomorrow morning.

— Saturday, February 24, 1776.

Met, &c.—Present: His Honour the Governour, Eliphalet Dyer, Esquire, Jabez Huntington, Esquire, Nathaniel Wales, Esquire.

Esquire West, and S . . . at Windham Court, had agreed to the officers hereafter appointed for the Brig. Appointed Ebenezer Bartram, of Fairfield, to be First Lieutenant ; James Hopkins, of Middletown, Second Lieutenant ; and John McCleave, Master of the Brig Defence, according to the proposal last night. A letter prepared and sent to Captain Harding, informing of his appointment as Captain of said Brig. And, also, to Lieutenants Bartram and Hopkins, as Lieutenants. And, also, to Captain McCleave, informing his appointment as Master of the same.

Captain Ely appeared, and accepted the office of Captain of the Company to be raised and stationed at Mamacock, and proposed Martin Kirtland for First Lieutenant, and Dan Platt for Second Lieutenant of said Company, who were appointed.

Captain Edward Mott appeared, and accepted of his appointment as Captain of the Groton Company. And Oliver Coit is appointed First Lieutenant, and William Latham Second Lieutenant of said Company, and William Whiting Ensign.

Letter sent to Colonel Easton. And dismissed.

Tuesday, February 27, 1776.

At a meeting of the Governour and Council of Safety, Present : His Honour the Governour, Elihu Dyer, Jabez Huntington, Jedediah Elderkin, Joshua West, Nathaniel Wales, Jun., Benjamin Huntington, Esquires.

Voted, That Adriel Ely be, and he is hereby appointed Ensign of the Company under the command of Captain John Ely.

Wednesday, February 28, 1776.

At a meeting of the Governour and Council of Safety, Present : His Honour the Governour, and the rest, as yesterday.

Voted, That Nathaniel Green and Company, of the Colony of Rhode-Island, be permitted to purchase three cargoes of the produce of this Colony, in such proportion (as to particulars) as his Honour the Governour shall direct, in order to be transported to the West-Indies to purchase warlike stores, in pursuance of a contract made between the said Green and Company and the Committee of Secrecy of the Continental Congress, for the benefit of the United Colonies. One of said cargoes to be shipped on board a Brig, in Norwich, belonging to some gentlemen in the Colony of Rhode-Island. And the other two cargoes to be shipped on bottoms, to be taken up in this Colony.

Voted, That Captain Ephraim Bill, be, and he is hereby appointed to repair to Saybrook, and there inspect the building the Colony's Ship-of-War at Captain Hayden's Yard, and to do whatever is needful to promote the work in the best and most speedy manner. And the Builders, Riggers, Blacksmiths, and Sailmakers, &c., are hereby directed to consult him in their several branches of the work as shall be convenient for the service.

Voted, That this Committee will, at a proper time, take up the matter of the taking of Ticonderoga, &c., and come into some measures to represent the same to the Congress, that the persons, to whom reward for their service is due, may be considered; and that the persons who have received money to disburse in that service, shall, in a proper way, be called to account.

N. B. One Thomas Lurk was a Captain at St. John's, and is to be remembered for reward.

Ordered, That Team and Tools, for the use of the Fortifications at New-London and Groton, shall be provided by Colonel Saltonstall, Mr. Nathaniel Shaw, Jun., and Ebenezer Ledyard, Esquire.

His Honour the Governour is desired to write to the northward for as many Gun Barrels as can be obtained, in order for repairs.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO SPRINGFIELD (MASSACHUSETTS) COMMITTEE.

Cambridge, February 9, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I have it in command from his Excellency General Washington, to inform you, that on Tuesday last he received a petition from the Marines, in Springfield Jail, signed by David Scurry and Patrick Clark, suggesting the severity of their confinement, without fire, and the want of necessary clothing, at that inclement season. His Excellency doubts not, but you have paid proper attention to their wants, if you have been apprized thereof, and I have only to add, that it is his earnest desire, that the prisoners in our hands should be treated with humanity and kindness, and have every thing, really necessary, for their support. I am, gentlemen, your very humble servant. To the Committee of Springfield.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO LEVI ALLEN.

Cambridge, February 9, 1776.

SIR: I have it in command from his Excellency, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 27th ultimo. There is little doubt but that Colonel Allen has been sent to England. The General has inquired of General Howe about him, but received for answer, that his command did not extend to Quebeck, and that he knew nothing of your brother. As to your going to England after him, his Excellency cannot give you any opinion thereon; he cannot think there would be even a probability of success in your scheme; it would be running yourself in danger, without a prospect of rendering service to your brother. I am, &c. To Mr. Levi Allen.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO GEORGE GREGORY.

Cambridge, February 9, 1776.

SIR: Your letter to his Excellency, of the 31st ultimo, is come to hand. I have it in command from him to inform you, that he has laid it down as an invariable rule (for the present) not to grant liberty to any prisoners of war, to remove from the place to which they are, by their parole, confined; the many applications to the General were become troublesome, he was, therefore, necessitated to come to this resolution. If the gentlemen, whom the fortune of war has placed in our hands, will compare their situation with that of those of ours who have been made prisoners, they will not think their case very hard; they are not confined in a loathsome prison, nor are they sent in irons to a distant part. His Excellency is sorry that any gentlemen should suffer in his private affairs, but the fortune of war must be submitted to. I am, sir, &c.

To George Gregory, Esq.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 22, 1776.]

Cambridge, February 9, 1776.

SIR: In compliance with the resolves of Congress, I have applied to General Howe for the exchange of Mr. Lovell; a copy of my letter and his answer thereto you have enclosed.

Captain Waters, and Captain Tucker, who command two of the armed schooners, have taken and sent into Gloucester a large brigantine laden with wood, one hundred and fifty butts for water, and forty suits of bedding, bound from La Have, in Nova-Scotia, for Boston. She is one of the transports in the Ministerial service; the Captain says that he was at Halifax the 17th January, and that General Massey was arrived there with two regiments from Ireland.

The different prizes were all libelled immediately on receipt of the resolves of Congress, pointing out the mode, but none of them yet brought to trial, owing to a difference between the law passed in this Province and the resolutions of Congress. The General Court are making an amendment to their law, by which the difficulties that now occur will be removed, as I understand it is to be made conformable to your resolves. The unavoidable delay attending the bringing the captures to trial is grievously complained of by the masters of these vessels, as well as the captors; many of the former have applied for liberty to go away, without waiting the decision, which I have granted to them.

I beg leave to recall the attention of Congress to their appointing a Commissary in these parts, to attend the providing of necessaries for the prisoners who are dispersed in these Provinces. Complaints are made by some of them, that they are in want of bedding, and many other things. As I understand that Mr. Franks has undertaken that business, I wish he was ordered to send a Deputy immediately, to see that the prisoners get what is allowed them by Congress; also, to supply the officers with money, as they may have occasion; it will save me much time, and much trouble. There are yet but few companies of the Militia come in; this delay will, I am much afraid, frustrate the intention of their being called upon, as the season is slipping fast away when they may be of service.

The demands of the Army were so very pressing before your last remittance came to hand, that I was under the necessity of borrowing twenty-five thousand pounds, lawful money, from this Province; they very cheerfully lent it, and passed a vote for as much more, if required. I have not repaid the sum borrowed, as I may stand in need of it before the arrival of another supply, which the demands of the Commissary-General, Quartermaster-General, and paying off the arrearages, will very soon require.

Your esteemed favour of the 29th ultimo, is just come to hand; it makes me very happy to find my conduct hath met the approbation of Congress. I am entirely of your opinion, that should an accommodation take place, the terms will be severe or favourable, in proportion to our ability to resist; and that we ought to be on a respectable footing to receive their armaments in the Spring; but how far we shall be provided with the means, is a matter I profess not to know, under my present unhappy want of arms, ammunition, and I may add, men, as our regiments are very incomplete. The recruiting goes on very slow, and will, I apprehend, be more so, if for other service the men receive a bounty, and none is given here.

I have tried every method I could think of to procure arms for our men; they really are not to be had in these Governments, belonging to the public; and if some method is not fallen upon in the Southern Governments to supply us, we shall be in a distressed situation for want of them. There are near two thousand men now in camp without firelocks. I have wrote to the Committee of New-York this day, requesting them to send me those arms which were taken from the disaffected in that Government. The Congress interesting themselves in this request, will doubtless have a good effect. I have sent officers into the country with money to purchase arms in the different towns; some have returned, and brought in a few, many are still out; what their success will be I cannot determine.

I was in great hopes that the expresses resolved to be established between this place and Philadelphia, would ere now have been fixed; it would in my opinion rather save than increase the expense, as many horses are destroyed by one man coming the whole way. It will certainly be more expeditious, and safer than writing by the post, or private hands, which I am often under the necessity of doing.

I am, with great respect, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

Cambridge, January 30, 1776.

SIR: I have it in command from the honourable Continental Congress, to propose an exchange of Governour Skene for Mr. James Lovell, and family. If the proposition is agreeable, you will please to signify as much to me, and Mr. Lovell, that he may prepare for his removal, whilst I cause Mr. Skene to be brought to this place.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To General Howe.

Boston, February 2, 1776.

SIR: In answer to your letter of the 30th ultimo, which was delivered with the seal broken, I am to acquaint you, that having lately discovered a prohibited correspondence to be carried on by Mr. James Lovell, the liberty, which I fully intended to have given him, cannot take place.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

W. HOWE.

To George Washington, Esq.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Cambridge, February 9, 1776.

SIR: The purport of this letter will be directed to a single object. Through you I mean to lay it before Congress, and at the same time that I beg their serious attention to the subject, to ask pardon for intruding an opinion, not only unasked, but in some measure repugnant to their resolves. The disadvantages attending the limited enlistment of troops is too apparent to those who are eye-witnesses of them, to render any animadversions necessary; but to gentlemen at a distance, whose attention is engrossed by a thousand important objects, the case may be otherwise. That this cause precipitated the fate of the brave and much to be lamented General Montgomery, and brought on the defeat which followed thereupon, I have not the most distant doubt of, for had he not been apprehensive of the troops leaving him at so important a crisis, but continued the blockade of Quebeck, a capitulation, from the best account I have been able to collect, must inevitably have followed; and that we were not obliged at one time to dispute these lines, under disadvantageous circumstances, (proceeding from the same cause, to wit: the troops disbanding of themselves before the Militia could be got in,) is to me a matter of wonder and astonishment, and proves that General Howe was either unacquainted with our situation, or restrained by his instructions from putting any thing to a hazard till his reinforcements should arrive. The instance of General Montgomery, I mention it because it is a striking one—for a number of others might be adduced—proves that instead of having men to take advantage of circumstances, you are in a manner compelled, right or wrong, to make circumstances yield to a secondary consideration.

Since the 1st of December, I have been devising every means in my power to secure these encampments, and though I am sensible that we never have, since that period, been able to act upon the offensive, and at times not in a condition to defend, yet the cost of marching home one set of men, bringing in another, the havoc and waste occasioned by the first, the repairs necessary for the second, with a thousand incidental charges and inconveniences which have arisen, and which it is scarce possible either to recollect or describe, amounts to near as much as the keeping up a respectable body of troops the whole time, ready for any emergency, would have done. To this may be added that you never can have a well disciplined army. To bring men well acquainted with the duties of a soldier, requires time; to bring them under proper discipline and subordination, not only requires time, but is a work of great difficulty, and in this Army, where there is so little distinction between the officers and soldiers, requires an uncommon degree of attention. To expect then, the same service from raw and undisciplined recruits, as from veteran soldiers, is to expect what never did, and perhaps never will happen; men who are familiarized to danger meet it without shrinking; whereas, those who have never seen service often apprehend danger where no danger is. Three things prompt men to a regular discharge of their duty in time of action: natural bravery, hope of reward, and fear of punishment; the two first are common to the untutored and disciplined soldier, but the latter most obviously distinguishes the one from the other. A coward, when taught to believe that if he breaks his ranks, and abandons his colours, will be punished with death by his own party, will take his chance against the enemy; but the man who thinks little of the one, and is fearful of the other, acts from present feelings, regardless of consequences. Again, men of a day's standing will not look forward; and from experience we find, that as the time approaches for their discharge, they grow careless of their arms, ammunition, camp utensils, &c., nay, even the barracks themselves have felt uncommon marks of wanton depredation, and lays us under fresh trouble and additional expense, in providing for every fresh set, when we find it next to impossible to procure such articles as are absolutely necessary in the first instance. To this may be added the seasoning which new recruits must have to a camp, and the loss consequent thereupon. But this is not all; men engaged for a short, limited time only, have the officers too much in their power; for, to obtain a degree of popularity, in order to induce a second enlistment, a kind of familiarity takes place, which brings on a relaxation of discipline, unlicensed furloughs, and other indulgences, incompatible with order and good government, by which means the latter part of the time for which the soldier was engaged is spent in undoing what you were aiming to inculcate in the first.

To go into an enumeration of all the evils we have experienced in this late great change of the Army, and the expense incidental to it, to say nothing of the hazard we have run, and must run, between the discharging of one army and enlistment of another, (unless an enormous expense of Militia is incurred,) would greatly exceed the bounds of a letter.

What I have already taken the liberty of saying, will serve to convey a general idea of the matter, and, therefore, I shall, with all due deference, take the freedom to give it as my opinion, that if the Congress have any reason to believe that there will be occasion for troops another year, and, consequently, of another enlistment, they would save money, and have infinitely better troops if they were, even at a bounty of twenty, thirty, or more dollars, to engage the men already enlisted, (till January next,) and such others as may be wanted to complete to the establishment, for and during the war. I will not undertake to say that the men can be had upon these terms, but I am satisfied that it will never do to let the matter alone as it was last year, till the time of service was near expiring. The hazard is too great in the first place; in the next, the trouble and perplexity of disbanding one army, and raising another at the same instant, and in such a critical situation as the last was, is scarcely in the power of words to describe, and such as no man, who has experienced it once, will ever undergo again. If Congress should differ from me in sentiment upon this point, I have only to beg that they will do me the justice to believe, that I have nothing more in view than what to me appears necessary to advance the publick weal, although, in the first instance, it will be attended with a capital expense, and that I have the honour to be, with all due deference and respect, their and your most obedient and faithful, humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

GENERAL ORDERS.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 1, 1776.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 2, 1776.

(Parole, Winchester.) — (Countersign, Stamford.)

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 3, 1776.

(Parole, Chelsea.) — (Countersign, Cork.)

Lieutenant Dustin, of Captain Farrington's Company, in the Sixteenth Regiment of Foot, tried at a General

Court-Martial, whereof Colonel Patterson was President, for cowardice, on the 7th January last, when on command with a detachment sent towards Bunker's Hill, is unanimously acquitted, with honour, by the Court. The General approves of the proceedings, and orders Lieutenant Dustin to be released from his arrest.

The General Court-Martial, whereof Colonel Patterson was President, is dissolved.

All arms purchased by the Officers sent upon that duty are to be first delivered to Mr. Commissary Cheever, for inspection, who is to report their number and goodness to the General, before they are delivered out of his store.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 4, 1776.

(Parole, Cumberland.)

(Countersign, York.)

The Colonel of each Regiment to make a return on Tuesday, at Orderly time, of the number of arms wanting to complete the men now in his Regiment, and to signify the method which appears to him most likely to procure them.

General Putnam, General Sullivan, and General Greene, with the Colonels of their Brigades, to attend at Head-Quarters to-morrow, in the forenoon, to receive commissions for their Officers.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 5, 1776.

(Parole, Newport.)

(Countersign, Cook.)

The Colonels upon the old establishment will, this day and to-morrow, receive the warrants for their pay abstracts, for the months of November and December, of which all persons concerned are to take notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

For the future, when a warrant is granted, and paid for any sum on account of pay of the Regiments or Corps, to any of the commanding officers thereof, there will be no allowance afterwards for any neglect or supposed mistake. It is the duty of every Colonel and Captain to be exact in their abstracts and returns, and the consequences of being otherwise must fall upon themselves.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 6, 1776.

(Parole, Greenwich.)

(Countersign, Kent.)

The Court of Inquiry, whereof General Greene was President, appointed to inquire into the complaint of Colonel Hobart, Paymaster-General of the New-Hampshire forces, against Colonel Stark: The Court have reported the state of the evidences given in before them, by which it appears that Colonel Hobart's complaints were well-founded. All further proceedings are suspended, Colonel Stark having made such acknowledgments to the injured parties, as will, in all probability, be accepted as satisfactory.

The Colonel, or officer commanding each Regiment, is to examine minutely into the quantity and condition of their ammunition, and make report of the average number of rounds they are possessed of, to their respective Brigadiers, without delay, and immediately thereupon the Brigadiers are to lay this, their report, before the General.

The Armourers are required to be very exact and diligent at their business. If they are known to do work for any others than those of the Army, they will be brought to the severest punishment; or, if they presume to charge a soldier for any repair done to his arms, they will also be called to a strict account.

An exact report to be made of all the cartridges in the different Magazines. Those now employed in making cartridges are to be constant and diligent at their work.

The arms which have been delivered out of the publick stores are not to be put in the hands of commissioned officers. The Colonels of the several Regiments are to be answerable that this order is duly attended to.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 7, 1776.

(Parole, Coventry.)

(Countersign, Beverly.)

The Continental Congress having been pleased to order and direct that there shall be one Chaplain to two Regiments, and that the pay of each Chaplain shall be thirty-three dollars and one-third per calendar month, the Reverend Abiel Leonard is appointed Chaplain to the Regiment of Artillery, under the command of Colonel Knox, and to the Twentieth Regiment, at present commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Durkee.

As there can be but fourteen Chaplains, under this establishment, to the twenty-eight Regiments, (including the Artillery and Rifle Regiments,) and as preference will be given to those Chaplains who served last year, provided their conduct and attendance have been unexceptionable, the Brigadiers are to inquire into this matter, and, with the Colonels and commanding officers of the several Regiments, arrange them agreeable to the above direction, and make report thereof, that orders may issue accordingly.

The commanding officers of the Regiments upon the new establishment are, each of them, to apply to Commissary Cheever, to-morrow morning, for one barrel of powder, with a proportionable quantity of ball and cartridge-paper, which they are to order to be immediately made up in cartridges, and put up in a proper manner, according to the directions Commissary Cheever will give. This ammunition the commanding officers are to keep in a safe place, under their immediate care, to be ready to be delivered when occasion may call for its being distributed.

A General Court-Martial to sit to-morrow morning, in Cambridge, to try such prisoners as shall be brought before them. All evidences, and persons concerned, to attend the Court. The Court to assemble at Mr. Pomeroy's, at ten in the forenoon.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 8, 1776.

(Countersign, Mason.)

ADDRESS OF THE MAGISTRATES, ETC., OF SANQUHAR.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Magistrates, Common Council, Burgesses, and Inhabitants of the Town and Burgh of SANQUHAR.

MOST GRACIOUS SOVEREIGN: We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Magistrates, Common Council, Burgesses, and Inhabitants of the Town and Burgh of Sanquhar, beg leave, on the present critical and important conjuncture, to address the Throne, with hearts deeply sensible of the many invaluable blessings we enjoy as British subjects, and to assure your Majesty of our inviolable attachment to your sacred person and Government.

Convinced that the dignity of the Crown, and the strength and prosperity of the British Empire must depend on the firm and vigorous maintenance of the constitutional authority of Parliament over every part of your Majesty's dominions on the part of Administration, and a respectful and universal subordination on the part of the subject, we cannot behold, without the warmest indignation and regret, that spirit of independence and unjustifiable opposition to the supreme power of the British Legislature, which hath for some time prevailed amongst a considerable number of your Majesty's subjects in America, and which at last hath broke out into open acts of hostility and rebellion; a spirit which, if not timeously and effectually checked, bids fair to unlinger our excellent Constitution, and to prove fatal to the commercial interests of these Kingdoms.

We abhor the seditious principles of the authors and abettors of this unnatural rebellion. We detest their views, and the execrable measures they are pursuing to accomplish them. We are shocked at the shameful prostitution of the sacred names of religion and liberty for purposes evidently subversive of both. We commiserate the unhappy situation of the deluded multitude, whose allegiance and attachment to Government have been industriously debauched by designing and desperate men. We sympathize with our amiable Sovereign, whose paternal heart must bleed over his froward and obstinately disobedient children. We feel for our country, and dread the consequences to our posterity. It is our ardent wish, therefore, that the melancholy breach may be speedily closed, and that publick tranquillity, union, and mutual confidence, in every part of your Majesty's dominions, may be soon established on the lasting foundations of justice and sound policy.

We cheerfully confide in your Royal wisdom, and in the wisdom of Parliament, that every necessary and constitutional measure will be concerted and vigorously executed for effectuating these important ends; and we are proud on this occasion to join the rest of our loyal fellow-subjects in assuring your Majesty that we are heartily disposed to stand by our Sovereign and the Constitution, with our lives and fortunes, in opposition to all the machinations and treasonable practices of rebellious subjects, as well as the attempts of foreign foes.

That Almighty God may long preserve your Majesty's sacred life for a blessing to these lands; and that the descendants of the same Royal family, which at present fills the Throne with so much dignity, may sway the British sceptre over a free, a united, a loyal and virtuous people, to latest posterity, is the ardent prayer of NORTH-CAROLINA, SS.

By His Excellency JOSIAH MARTIN, His Majesty's Captain-General, Governor, and Commander-in-chief, in and over the said Province.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a most daring, horrid, and unnatural Rebellion has been exerted in the Province against His Majesty's Government, by the base and insidious artifice of certain traitorous, wicked, and designing men, and the same is now openly avowed and declared, and actually threatens the sole subversion of the laws and Constitution of the said Province, and the liberties and privileges of His Majesty's subjects, inhabitants thereof, I have thought fit to issue this Proclamation, hereby to signify to all His Majesty's liege subjects within this Province, that I find it necessary, for the safety and preservation of the rights, civil and religious, and for the maintenance of His Majesty's Government against the said desperate, unnatural Rebellion, to erect His Majesty's Royal standard, and to collect and unite the force of His Majesty's people under the same, for the purpose of resisting and subduing, with the assistance of the Almighty, the said impious and unnatural Rebellion, and to restore the just rights of His Majesty's Crown and Government, and the liberties of his people; and I do, hereby, exhort, require, and command, in the King's name, all His Majesty's faithful subjects, on their duty and allegiance, forthwith to repair to the Royal standard, hereby promising and assuring every aid, encouragement, and support to all such as shall come to vindicate and support the violated laws and Constitution of their country; at the same time pronouncing all such Rebels as will not join the Royal banner, Rebels and Traitors; their lives and properties to be forfeited. All such as will join shall be forgiven any past offences, even admitting they had taken up arms, not doubting that every man who knows the value of freedom and the blessings of a British subject, will join his heart and hand to restore to his country that most glorious, free, and happy Constitution and form of Government, which the most desperate and abandoned Traitors only can wish to disturb or alter; or, in times of danger, like the present, forbear to hazard every thing that is dear to support it.

Given under my hand and seal-at-arms, on board His Majesty's Sloop Scorpion, in Cape-Fear River, this 10th day of January, 1776, and in the sixteenth year of His Majesty's reign.

JOSIAH MARTIN.

God save the King.

His Excellency JOSIAH MARTIN, &c., &c., &c.

To Allen McDonald, Donald McDonald, Alexander McLeod, Donald McLeod, Alexander McLean, Allen Stewart, William Campbell, Alexander McDonald, and Neal McArthur, Esquires, of the County of Cumberland and Anson; John Pile, Esquire, of the County of Chatham; William Fields, James Hunter, Robert Fields, Jeremiah Fields, and Saymore York, Esquires, of the County of Guilford; Michael Holt and James Munroe, Esquires, of the County of Orange; Paul Barringer, of the County of Mecklenburgh; William Spurgian, William Bryan, Samuel Bryan, and Matthias Sappingfield, Esquires, of the County of Rowan; Gideon Wright and James Glyn, Esquires, of the County of Surry; and Philemon Hawkins, Sen., and Philemon Hawkins, Jun., Esquires, of the County of Bute, Greeting:

I, reposing especial trust and confidence in your loyalty, courage, prudence, and fidelity, do, by virtue of the powers and authorities in me vested by His Majesty, hereby commissionate, authorize and empower you, whose names are above written, and each and every of you, to erect the King's standard, and to raise, levy, muster, and array in arms, all His Majesty's loyal and faithful subjects within your respective Counties, or in any part or parts of this Province, who are willing and ready to repair to the Royal banner, for the support of the laws and Constitution thereof, against the most horrid and unnatural rebellion that has been excited therein by traitorous, wicked, and designing men, and now threatens the subversion of His Majesty's Government, and the utter destruction of the rights and liberties of His Majesty's people. And I hereby give and grant to you power and authority to form the forces you shall so raise, into companies of fifty men each, and to appoint one Captain, one Lieutenant, and one Ensign, to every company so formed, whose appointment, as well as this commission, shall be good, valid and effectual, during my pleasure; and I do, hereby, give to you, and every of you, full power and authority to seize and take whatsoever may be necessary of arms, ammunition, provisions, horses, and carriages, for the subsistence and accommodation of His Majesty's faithful subjects, whom you shall assemble in arms for the purpose aforesaid, you giving receipts for the same, or keeping account thereof, that satisfaction may be made to the owner or owners, if they are not engaged in rebellion. And I do, hereby, give to each and every of you, all power and authority to resist and oppose all Rebels and Traitors against His Majesty and his Government by force and arms, and to apprehend, seize, and detain them, their accomplices and abettors; and you are hereby required immediately, and with all possible secrecy, to concert a place of general rendezvous for your forces, thence to march in a body, by such route as you shall judge proper, to Brunswick, so ordering your movements that you may reach that town on the 15th of February, next ensuing, making prisoners in your way all such persons as you know to be principals or active in rebellion, taking all possible care that women and children are unmolested; that no cruelty, whatever, be committed to sully the arms and honour of Britons and freemen, employed in the glorious and righteous cause of rescuing and delivering their country from the usurpation of rebellion, and that no violence be done against the laws of humanity but what resistance shall make necessary, to the end that the people who have been deluded into rebellion may be made sensible it is His Majesty's most gracious and Royal intention, and my earnest desire, to reclaim them to a proper sense of their duty and obedience to lawful Government, without involving the country in the horrors of war, if, by timely and dutiful submission, they make such extremities avoidable.

And whereas, there may be many of His Majesty's faithful subjects in this Province, whose merits and influence may qualify them to take part in the execution of this Commission, whom I have omitted for want of knowledge of them, and their principles and their good disposition, I do, hereby, give full power and authority to you who are herein named, to join with you in the execution of the powers granted by this Commission, every such person or persons as you shall deem worthy of such high trust and confidence, hereby declaring that each and every such person as you shall think fit to join with you in the execution of these presents, shall have equal power and authority as if they were herein particularly named, in pursuance of the trust reposed in you.

Given under my hand and seal-at-arms, on board His Majesty's Sloop Scorpion, in Cape-Fear River, this 10th day of January, 1776, and in the sixteenth year of His Majesty's reign.

JOSIAH MARTIN.

Rowan County, ss.

This day came John Reynolds before me, one of His Majesty's Justices assigned to keep the peace for said County, and being duly sworn, made oath, that he, this deponent, heard papers read in the camp of William Fields, to be of the same import, and, to the best of his knowledge, in the same words of the within; and that he heard, from the officers and men, declared free plunder wherever they went.

JOHN REYNOLDS.

Sworn to before me, this 10th day of February, 1776.

JOHN OLIPHANT.

By His Excellency Brigadier-General DONALD McDONALD, Commander of His Majesty's Forces for the time being, in NORTH-CAROLINA:

A MANIFESTO.

Whereas, I have received information that many of His Majesty's faithful subjects have been so far overcome by apprehensions of danger, as to fly before His Majesty's Army as from the most inveterate enemy; to remove which, as far as lies in my power, I have thought it proper to publish this Manifesto, declaring that I shall take the proper steps to prevent any injury being done, either to the person or properties of His Majesty's subjects; and I do further declare it to be my determined resolution, that no violence shall be used to women and children, as viewing such outrages to be inconsistent with humanity, and as tending, in their consequences, to sully the arms of Britons and of soldiers.

I, therefore, in His Majesty's name, generally invite every well-wisher to that form of Government under which they have so happily lived, and which, if justly considered, ought to be esteemed the best birth-right of Britons and Americans, to repair to His Majesty's Royal standard, erected at Cross-Creek, where they will meet with every possible civility, and be ranked in the list of friends and fellow-soldiers, engaged in the best and most glorious of all causes, supporting the rights and Constitution of their country. Those, therefore, who have been under the unhappy necessity of submitting to the mandates of Congress and Committees—those lawless, usurped, and arbitrary tribunals—will have an opportunity, (by joining the King's Army,) to restore peace and tranquillity to this distracted land—to open again the glorious streams of commerce—to partake of the blessings inseparable from a regular administration of justice, and be again reinstated in the favourable opinion of their Sovereign.

DONALD McDONALD.*

By His Excellency's command:

KENN. McDONALD, P. S.

By His Excellency Brigadier-General DONALD McDONALD, of His Majesty's Forces, for the time being, in NORTH-CAROLINA:

A MANIFESTO.

Whereas, powers and authority have been invested in me, to array in arms His Majesty's loyal subjects in this Province, I hereby command all His Majesty's loyal people to repair to the Royal banner, agreeable to the Governor's Royal Proclamation of date the 10th day of January last. I do hereby declare it is my intention, that no violation whatever shall be offered to women, children, or private property, to sully the arms of Britons or freemen, employed in the glorious and righteous cause of rescuing and delivering this country from the usurpation of rebellion, and that no cruelty whatever be offered against the laws of humanity, but what resistance shall make necessary; and that whatever provisions and other necessities be taken for the troops, shall be paid for immediately; and in case any person, or persons, shall offer the least violence to the families of such as will join the Royal standard, such person, or persons, may depend that retaliation will be made; the horrors of such proceedings, it is hoped, will be avoided by all true Christians.

Given under my hand and seal, this fifth day of February, 1776.

DONALD McDONALD.

Rowan County:

This day came John Reynolds before me, one of His Majesty's Justices assigned to keep the peace for said County, and being duly sworn upon the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, made oath, that on Tuesday last, in Field's Camp, at Dillos, he, this deponent, heard William Spurgian read a paper of the same purport, and, to the best of his knowledge, in the same words, of the within written.

JOHN REYNOLDS.

Sworn and signed, this 10th day of February, Anno Domini 1776, before me.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO CAPTAIN NATHANIEL RAMSAY.

[No. 11.]

Annapolis, February 10, 1776.

SIR: We are advised by a letter, which Mr. Chase favoured us with from Charlestown, the 2d instant, that you can procure about the quantity of one hundred and forty yards of country cloth at about eight shillings per yard; and linen, (country made,) from two shillings and four pence to two shillings and eight pence, fit and proper for hunting-shirts, sufficient for your company. The cloth we request you will immediately purchase for the use of the Province, unless, from its narrowness, you should think it dearer than broadcloth of equal quality, at fifteen shillings, currency, per yard; and if the linen should exceed osnaburghs in width, so as to reduce the price nearly to that of two shillings per yard, we would have you buy the linen also, as we presume it is superior to osnaburghs, and as we would give the preference to what is manufactured among ourselves, where we can do it consistently with the relation in which we stand to the publick. The money shall be either transmitted you by the first safe conveyance you may apprise us of, after we are furnished with the amount of those articles, or paid to your order, as shall be most agreeable to you. Colonel Smallwood will direct what shall be done with the cloth and linen, and we think you had better defer making them up for your men, until you hear from him.

* Brigadier-General Donald McDonald was in rebellion in the year 1745, against his lawful sovereign, and headed many of the same clan and name, who are now his followers. These emigrants, from the charity and benevolence of the Assembly of North-Carolina, received large pecuniary contributions, and, to encourage them in making their settlements, were exempted from the payment of taxes for several years. It is a fact, that numbers of that ungrateful people, who have been lately in arms, when they arrived in Carolina, were without the necessities of life—their passage even paid by the charitable contributions of the inhabitants. They have since, under every encouragement that the Province of North-Carolina could afford them, acquired fortunes very rapidly, and thus they requite their benefactors.—Va. Gaz.

We have drawn an order on the Treasurer in favour of Mr. Gassaway, for the sum of thirty pounds currency, as you requested. And are, sir, yours, &c.

To Captain Nathaniel Ramsay.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO ST. MARY'S COUNTY COMMITTEE.

[No. 12.]

Annapolis, February 10, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: We request that you will immediately send to the Council of Safety, at Annapolis, what gunlocks you have in your County belonging to the Province.

We are, &c.

EDMUND PENDLETON TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Williamsburgh, February 10, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: We think it our indispensable duty to inform you, that a fifty gun man-of-war is just arrived, and lying with the Kingfisher, and several tenders, off Old-Port Point, below Hampton. What ship, or from whence she came, we have not yet discovered.

We are, with great regard, gentlemen, your most obedient servants,

By order of the Committee: EDMUND PENDLETON.

To the Honourable Council of Safety.

C. F. WEISENTHAL TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Baltimore-Town, February 10, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: According to your orders, I have examined and received into my care the medicines and shop of Doctor Stenhouse, for the use of the troops, the invoice of which I have thought requisite to enclose for your examination. The medicines are all of good quality, and saleable in case they should not be wanted. The price is less than what medicines at present sell for, and that considerable. I thought it was necessary to take the whole shop, with its furniture, not only because the drugs must be contained in something, but more particular, that they can be kept in a proper order and regularity, since, as they must occasionally be divided, there ought to be a proper repository for the whole. This furniture has increased the sum to more than was at first expected; it is still as saleable as the rest of the medicines. There are but few drugs which are useless for the army, and some are in a greater quantity than what we may, for the present, want, which can serve to exchange for others which we may want in future. I have likewise taken some necessary surgeon's instruments, which likewise enhance the sum. Upon the whole, it is my opinion, that if the war should continue, and, consequently, our troops take the field, we shall find abundant use for these medicines, and not have enough; but, should we be so happy as to conclude a peace, and not want many of the medicines, they will always bring the money laid out; again, another consideration is, that the ship Defence will most certainly want a considerable chest, and as it can be supplied from this shop, will take off a good deal thereof.

I have the honour to be, with due respect, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant,

C. F. WEISENTHAL.

To the Honourable Major Jenifer, President of the Council of Safety.

GEORGE DASHIELL AND WILLIAM HORSEY TO MARYLAND
COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Somerset County, February 10, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The enclosed certificate serves to inform you, that the company to which Mr. George Wailes was appointed Captain, by the Convention, has been displeased at their not having been previously informed of that appointment, that they might have had an opportunity of re-electing their officers, to fill up the vacancy in the company.

We are to inform you that Captain Wailes has declined to act in that station, and the company have chose their officers by ballot, as will appear by the enclosed certificate. As it appears inconsistent to rank those gentlemen in battalion, with the officers who are honoured with commissions by the Convention, before they receive their commissions, (or, in fact, that they cannot, we presume, exercise in battalion before they receive commissions,) it becomes our duty to acquaint you, that we apprehend the granting commissions to the gentlemen mentioned in this certificate would have a good tendency, as it would enable us to exercise them in battalion, and we have reason to believe it will prevent a dissolution of the company.

We have the honour to be, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants,

GEORGE DASHIELL,
WILLIAM HORSEY.

To the Council of Safety.

Certificate.—On the 9th February, 1776, we happened at a Militia company, to which George Wailes was appointed Captain by the Convention, where a discontent appeared among the whole company, upon which Captain Wailes resigned his commission, and the company proceeded to choose, by ballot, their officers; who were, Robert Hitch, Captain; Jacob Beall, First Lieutenant; Thomas Humphreys, Second Lieutenant; and George Tull, Ensign. We being, by the company, appointed to receive the ballots and attend to the election, do certify that the above-mentioned gentlemen were duly appointed officers by the ballots of the people.

URIAH FORREST.
ROBERT DASHIELL.

SAMUEL BARRETT TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Fredericktown, February 10, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I had the honour to receive from the Delegates of the freemen of this Province, a commission as Captain of one of the Independent Companies in the regular service. No one would be more happy than myself in the acceptance of it, had the gentlemen who were appointed Lieutenants been known to the men I would wish to carry into action.

It is twenty years since I first had the honour to command a company in defence of my country. Since that time I have commanded many. And being apprehensive at the beginning of this unhappy, cruel, and unnatural contest between the mother country and her Colonies, that I might be once more called on to stand forth in defence of our liberties, I had frequently conversed with and informed my Militia company, and many others of my neighbourhood and acquaintances, that it was highly probable I might again solicit them to follow me to the field of battle. They, in the general, most cheerfully agreed to march whenever I should call on them; but, as it was possible I might fall if we went into action, they desired that two gentlemen, which they had agreed on, might be appointed Lieutenants; and, as it had been customary with me to nominate the subalterns, I promised that those gentlemen (did I accept of a commission) should be my Lieutenants, and had wrote to Mr. Johnson, while at the Convention, mentioning the names of the gentlemen, and informing him of my promises; but, unfortunately, my letter miscarried.

One of those gentlemen was a Lieutenant of mine in a late expedition against the Indians, who behaved himself much to the satisfaction of my company, as well as to myself.

I have come this far in consequence of a letter from Mr. Johnson, who enclosed my commission, with an intent to accept it, and to return and enlist a company of riflemen, which I flatter myself I could have done, at farthest, in a week, not knowing but my letter had got safe to hand, and the Lieutenants (if appointed at all by the Convention) were the gentlemen I had mentioned. From this disappointment, after my engagements, I am reduced to a disagreeable necessity of betraying the confidence of my company and friends, or to reject the acceptance of my commission. To do either is highly distressing; but, as one must be done, and it is too probable I may be much wanting in our own part of the country, upon a similar occasion, I must beg you will appoint some gentleman to command in my stead.

My resignation, I hope, will by no one be imputed to a thirst after a more honourable appointment than my present. I am ready and willing, whenever my country's cause demands it, to march with my rifle in the ranks, whenever I am commanded. I am actuated solely by the reasons above assigned, nor could any thing but a breach of confidence with my friends prevent my acceptance of the appointment with which I have been honoured.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

SAMUEL BARRETT.

To the Council of Safety of Maryland.

SAMUEL CHASE TO DANIEL OF ST. THOMAS JENIFER.

Philadelphia, February 10, 1776.

DEAR SIR: Enclosed you receive a proposal to furnish our troops with the new invented knapsack and haversack; and of cartouch-boxes, &c.

The blockade of Quebeck is continued. Arnold has seven hundred men with him; daily aids are going. He expects to take the command in six weeks. No news of consequence.

Your obedient servant,

SAMUEL CHASE.

To the Honourable Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, Esq.

CONGRESS OF NEW-JERSEY TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 13.—Referred to Mr. Smith, Mr. Bartlett, and Mr. Adams.]

In Provincial Congress, New-Jersey, Brunswick,
February 10, 1776. }

GENTLEMEN: Sensible of the importance that the battalions raised in this Province should be as speedily as possible furnished with arms, we collected, for the supply of the First and Second Battalions, all the arms fit for service that could be obtained in this Province. We have, therefore, no resource of providing arms for the Third Battalion, but from our own manufactories or importation. How soon they can be manufactured is uncertain, and we have no present prospect of receiving them from abroad; but, being informed that two thousand stand have been lately imported, and that they are within your disposal, we should be glad that part of them may be ordered for the use of the Third Battalion, unless some more immediate publick service calls for them.

We beg leave to propose, whether it would not be advisable to clothe the battalion now raising in uniform, deducting the expense attending it out of the men's wages.

We are informed that considerable quantities of powder are lately arrived, and it being probable that the assistance of the Militia of this Province may be speedily wanted, for the defence of this, or a neighbouring Colony, we request the favour of your assistance in supplying us with ten tons of gunpowder, and twenty tons of lead, or as much as may be spared.

On a requisition from Lord Stirling, the Committee of Elizabethtown have furnished him with six thousand cartridges, Somerset County four quarter-casks of powder, Woodbridge a considerable quantity, and Brunswick one hundred and fifty weight of lead.

Our Militia are very illy supplied with ammunition; those who have given the above supplies to Lord Stirling are, therefore, very desirous that they may be immediately replaced.

By order of Congress:

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

SAMUEL TUCKER, President.

To the Honourable Continental Congress.

ELIZABETHTOWN (NEW-JERSEY) COMMITTEE TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 14, 1776.]

Elizabethtown, February 10, 1776.

SIR: I am ordered by the Committee of Elizabethtown, to acquaint the Congress of the capture and state of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, now lying at Elizabethtown Point, and to desire particular directions from the Congress, what is to be done with the said ship, cargo, officers and seamen.

On Monday, the 22d of January, between eleven and twelve o'clock, Lord Stirling, with about thirty men of his regiment, being near all that were then armed at this place, the rest being at Long-Island, set out for Amboy on a serious enterprise. In the evening of the same day, an express arrived in this town, with a letter directed to Lord Stirling, and, in his absence, to the Chairman of the Committee of this place, informing that an armed vessel, with a detachment of marines and seamen, was sent off from New-York that day from the ships-of-war in New-York, to the transport-ship.

On the Chairman's receipt of this letter, he immediately called the Committee; which met about six o'clock in the evening, and from the letter and express, collected and concluded, that Lord Stirling left this place with an intention to procure a vessel at Amboy, and go in quest of the transport-ship, which he then thought was in a defenceless condition, not knowing of the reinforcement sent from New-York, and that if the intelligence should reach him that night, he would not be able to procure vessels and assistance in season at Amboy to secure success, and might be repulsed with loss. On which the Committee resolved to send a detachment of one hundred volunteers, in three or four boats, by the way of the Narrows, to take, or assist Lord Stirling to take, the armed vessel or transport, of which they immediately notified Lord Stirling by an express; and to encourage volunteers to enter, assured them they should share of the prize, or prizes, according to the regulations that were, or should be made by the Continental Congress. Volunteers were soon procured, and furnished by the Committee with ammunition, provision, and what arms were wanting; of the townsmen, about eighty, and of the Continental troops, about thirty. The Committee also procured three boats, and fitted them in the best manner the night and hurry would admit of. Between twelve and one o'clock at night, the armament was ready to sail, but on account of the tide and ice, they could not proceed by the way of the Narrows; they, therefore, set out with a fair wind by the way of Amboy, where they stopped, and called upon Lord Stirling, who, with a boat by him procured for the purpose, and about forty of his regiment, set out with them in quest of the ship and armed vessel. At sunrise, from the mast-head they descried the ship at sea, stood for, met and boarded her, without opposition, at ten o'clock in the morning; they found her to be a transport from London, with coals, porter, potatoes, hogs, and horse-beans, designed for the Ministerial troops at Boston, commanded by John H. Dempster, brother to George Dempster, member of Parliament for Dundee, &c., in Scotland. But the armed vessel, by great good fortune, saved herself by returning to New-York, not having discovered the ship, to the great disappointment of our people. Lord Stirling gave the command of the ship to Mr. Rogers, a sea-captain, with orders to proceed for this place, but being detained by tide and contrary winds on Wednesday near Amboy, the Committee being apprehensive of an attempt by the man-of-war to retake her, on Wednesday evening sent a reinforcement, of about eighty men, to secure her against any such attempt, and on Friday she arrived in safety at Elizabethtown Point, where she remained under the care of Lord Stirling, guarded by some of the troops under his command until Tuesday last, when he and his troops were ordered to New-York, since which time she hath been, and now is under the care of the Committee. By order of Lord Stirling, and the Committee, the porter and beans are stored, the sails and rigging are taken on shore. The potatoes, which are chiefly rotten, and coal, remain on board the ship. The Captain and seamen remain prisoners at large in this town. The Committee expected Lord Stirling would have, before this time, procured the particular directions of the Congress for the disposition of the ship and cargo, but in this they are disappointed, and every thing respecting the ship is in suspense. The hogs remaining, being only seven, (out of eighty,) and the remaining potatoes, they have concluded to sell. The coal is in great demand for making of arms, and is liable to be destroyed with the ship, by an armed force which may be despatched privately in the night from New-York, which is but about fourteen miles distance. The seamen, who are boarded out by the Committee, are uneasy, and soliciting the Committee for their wages, which, they say, were promised by Lord Stirling. The Captain is anxious to know how long he is to be detained, and the Committee are desirous that he may be soon dismissed, and be at liberty to return home and inform his friends and countrymen of the usage he has received from the Americans. This, sir, is the state of affairs relating to the store-ship called the Blue-Mountain-Valley, taken and brought to this place.

The Committee earnestly request that the Congress will immediately take the same into consideration, and will fully determine in what manner the said ship and cargo shall be disposed of, and that they will very speedily give directions particularly for the same. That if the Congress shall determine that the ship and cargo, or any part thereof, shall be distributed among the captors, that they will order very particularly the manner and proportion of such distribution, for which purpose a list of the officers and men, as near as the Committee can find, is enclosed. The Committee are also desirous, that the Congress will determine what is to be done with the Captain, officers, and seamen, belonging to the said ship, and also, respecting their private property due. A bill of the wages is enclosed. The Committee are informed, and believe, that Lord Stirling, soon after taking the ship, assured the Captain and men, that their property, then on board, should be restored to them, and that they should receive all their wages that were then due. The Captain's adventure amounts to about one hundred and twenty pounds sterling, sixty pounds of which are insured. The Committee do not know whether that sum should be allowed him, or whether he should be referred for the same to the insurers in England. They desire direction from the Congress. Here is also enclosed a copy of the bill of lading of the ship's cargo, which, among other things, proves the ship's destination.

The Committee desire you will be pleased to lay this matter before the Congress immediately, and hasten an answer as soon as possible.

I am, with the greatest esteem, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

ROBERT OGDEN,

Chairman of the Committee of Elizabethtown.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., Chairman of the Congress.

P. S. Since writing the above, the Committee have received from Lord Stirling a copy of the resolves of Congress, of the 29th of January last, relating to the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley; but, as they then did not fully determine the matter, they, therefore, beg the Congress will now resume the consideration, and send their particular determinations on each head, which will be cheerfully submitted to, and give full satisfaction to all concerned.

Elizabethtown, February 9, 1776.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 21.—Referred to Mr. Wythe, Mr. Harrison, and Mr. Adams.]

Albany, February 10, 1776.

I have received no accounts from Canada since I had the honour to write you on the 7th instant. The post came in yesterday, but had no letters for me.

Colonel Burrell, who has the command of the Regiment raising in Connecticut for the Northern service, advises me that no blankets, and very few arms, are to be had there. These articles, I perceive by the resolutions of Congress, are to be furnished by the respective Colonies who sent troops here; but, as they cannot proceed without these articles, and several others that they stand in absolute need of, I shall supply them, as far as I have it in my power, and charge the several companies. I have made such arrangements that there will be no difficulty in making the stoppages; and I hope also to get the army in such order as to prevent that horrid confusion of accounts which prevailed last year, and to introduce a little more subordination and discipline. I hope none of the officers will receive any other commissions than those from Congress.

Half of the arms of what Pennsylvania troops are yet arrived here want repairs. I am very confident we shall want a considerable number. I have, therefore, ordered all to be purchased in the vicinity of this place that can be procured.

The Committee of this County, on my application, have recommended to the inhabitants of the several districts to forward the troops gratis. The lower districts will bring them to this place, and from hence they will be sent on in the same way, by others, as far as Fort-George, and perhaps to Ticonderoga. This will be of considerable advantage to the troops, and a saving to the Continent.

The men from Pennsylvania are greatly infected with the venereal disease. Captain Dorsey has left no less than fourteen in the Hospital. These, with two deserted between Pennsylvania and this, and seven more which, I am informed, left him on his first day's march, have reduced his company to a small body.

All the medicines in the Hospital are nearly expended, and Doctor Stringer cannot procure any. Is it not possible to despatch a small vessel, or two, to Portugal, or the Islands, for a supply?

We are greatly at a loss for steel; not an ounce is to be had here. My armourers have nearly expended theirs, and the blacksmith who goes to the Indians cannot do without it. Could none be sent, by water, from New-Jersey to Constitution-Fort, from whence what may be immediately wanted may be forwarded by land; the remainder when the river shall open?

The Indian goods that were sent up are all expended, and a very few left of one hundred and seventy pounds' worth, which I bought from the Canadian officers at Ticonderoga for the troops, and upwards of one hundred pounds' worth from Mr. Brown, of the Massachusetts. None are to be had here, and I am daily tormented by parties of Indians from all quarters. I am apprehensive that some Tories encourage them to make applications, and they are sufficiently inclined to it without being spurred on. If I can convict any person of this crime, I shall do my endeavours to provide him with a lodging in Simsbury mines.

A considerable number of the Pennsylvania soldiers mutinied. I ordered a Court-Martial, and half-a-dozen of the ringleaders were punished. I hope this will put a stop to it in future. They complain of want of pay. I wish an account of all the moneys paid them, and for what was transmitted to me, that they may be charged with it, and their accounts regularly kept. This is very necessary.

Pray let the Mustermaster be sent up. He may be of much service, as I hope we shall have none but Continental troops.

After the death of the gallant Macpherson, I appointed Captain Henry Livingston my Aid-de-camp. He wishes to belong to some regiment as a Field-Officer.

Enclose a paper that was delivered me by a Mr. Fraser, a Judge of the Common Pleas in Montreal, and who has been sent down a prisoner here.

I fear General Wooster pays too much attention to the advice of Mr. Walker, who has been so ill used by the King's officers that his private resentment will hurt our cause; and I dare confidently venture to prophecy, that unless a respectable Committee of Congress be with all expedition sent to Canada, our affairs will not only greatly suffer, but that, in all probability, we shall lose the affections of the Canadians.

The Committee, if any is sent, should be enabled to live with that splendour which, with Frenchmen, creates respect. I do not know how General Wooster lives; but if he does not, in the country where he is, live at least equal to the utmost of his pay and allowance, he will not do honour to his constituents.

The disorder in my breast and cough was occasioned by an imposthume which had formed, and a few days ago discharged itself. I feel myself greatly relieved from pain, and much better, and I have reason to believe that it is healing. If so, I shall be able to take the field.

I am, sir, most truly, your obedient, humble servant,
PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

Albany, February 4, 1776.

SIR: You will receive herewith copies of letters that passed between Brigadier-General Wooster and me. To explain them, and give at the same time some idea of the treatment I have met with, I must go as far back as the taking of the vessels near the river Sorel, in the river St. Lawrence. I was on board, but being only a passenger, and not belonging either to the King's troops on board, nor to the ship-of-war, I was at liberty, by Brigadier-General Prescott's treaty of surrender, to return to my family in Montreal unmolested. Twenty-four hours, however, after my arrival, I received a letter from Brigadier-General Montgomery, wherein he required I would retire to any village on the other side of the river St. Lawrence; this I might have complained of; however, I had so little desire of remaining in town, that I made no other representation to Brigadier Montgomery, than to acquaint him that I had a farm five miles off, on the same side with the town, where I had a house, and all the necessary conveniences for myself and family. I was, however, in answer thereto, still requested to cross the river, which I immediately did, leaving my family behind. I was not above eight days in my quarters, with my father-in-law, Mr. Dechambaud, at Longueil, when, it seems, some information was given to Brigadier Wooster, who then commanded at Montreal, that some arms and ammunition were concealed in Mr. Dechambaud's house at Longueil, and that some plot was hatching against the Continental troops by the Canadian seigneurs. In consequence of this information, Mr. Dechambaud and I had a visit from an officer, and a great number of armed men, about eleven at night. They took us from our house, with our papers, to a tavern near hand, where we found a Colonel, when he explained to us the cause of our treatment. This gentleman seemed soon convinced of the false alarm. He would not look at our papers; but the house was searched up and down when we got home. Some other gentlemen had been informed against, with as little truth. The party went likewise to examine them that night. The Colonel and party returned next day, told me I was ordered for Chambly, however, that I was to remain where I was till further orders. In about ten days after, without any application from me, I received a letter from the Acting Town-Major in Montreal, in General Wooster's name, that I was at liberty to return to the town, whenever I pleased, which I accordingly did, and even before I saw my family, I called on Brigadier Wooster. At parting he told me he would be glad to see me again about business. I called two days after, and Brigadier Wooster then observed his knowing that several friends of constitutional liberty in Montreal had been ill used from depositions, bonds, &c., and that, therefore, he now demanded these instruments. To this, I replied, that I was sorry he should ask me any thing that I thought I could not grant, that I apprehended the requisition he was now making, was of that nature; and, therefore, that I begged to be excused. Some time was then spent in argument; I at last observed, that I answered the demand in general, perhaps did we come to particulars, we would sooner agree; in short what papers did he want? As for a bond, I only then recollected one that Mr. Haywood had given, but that it was of such a nature as to be now cancelled of itself, therefore, that I would send to him that sort of instrument from this reason only, that I looked on it as of no further use; but upon second thought, after I got home, I apprehended it was not worth while sending, and I then wrote to Brigadier Wooster, what follows:

"Montreal, December 14, 1775.

"SIR: The sort of recognisance that Mr. Haywood entered into with sureties, I have just found, and I am now more convinced than before, that it is of no further use. It is the only instance of the kind that occurred before me. There was no information laid against him, therefore, no charge, and if I took bail for him, it was because he came to offer it himself. From the nature of it, it is now at an end, as his bail could only be bound for him while the Governor's authority was entire, the condition being that he should not depart from hence without the Governor's leave, and that he would behave himself true and faithful to the same cause. For the above reasons I did not scruple to say, that I would send to you the said instrument, but I do not now really think that it is worth while sending, and I hope you will excuse me in withdrawing my promise. If the bail desire it, I will satisfy them at any time that their obligation is at an end. I now recollect that some other papers may be under my care, but they are of a different nature from the aforementioned, and they have been early taken care of. In my opinion, I cannot, and will not on any account deliver them, nor any paper of any transaction prior to the capitulation of Montreal. Since then I will always be ready to account for my conduct, but not for any thing done before. This resolution I have taken from a conviction that I cannot act otherwise with any propriety, which will ever be the rule of my conduct.

"I am, sir, your most obedient and humble servant,
"JOHN FRASER."

This letter a short time after was followed by the next, viz:

"Head-Quarters, Montreal, December 18, 1775.

"SIR: Your breach of promise and insolent letter to me yesterday justly merit a set of iron ornaments, which you and your associates have very lately been so fond of bestowing on the friends of constitutional liberty, but as I disdain to follow your inhuman and infamous example, I shall only order, and I do hereby order and direct you on the receipt hereof to repair to the fort at Chambly, under such an escort as I shall direct, and there to remain in close abode till further orders from, sir, your humble servant,

"DAVID WOOSTER,
"Brigadier-General Commanding at Montreal.
"To John Fraser, Esq."

As soon as this letter was delivered sentries were placed in my house, within doors, till I was sent across the river to the fort of Chambly in close confinement, and in such a hole as not to be able to make use of my own bedstead. There I remained during five weeks, till I was ordered with other gentlemen for this place. These are, upon my honour, literally the facts antecedent, and subsequent to the letters; the letters will speak for themselves; I will make few observations. I cannot, however, help saying, that I have been treated very ill; the most savage have a tender regard and respect for women. Mrs. Fraser was very near lying-in; this General Wooster knew very well; therefore, placing sentries before her so abruptly, must be deemed rather cruel. The papers that Brigadier Wooster wanted are not of the smallest consequence, yet I apprehend that I could not with any propriety deliver them up, and I must be supposed to have acted from principle. Had I considered my own peace only, I might have expected to have better attained that by giving up the papers than by refusing them; but my rule of conduct is to endeavour to distinguish right from wrong, and then to act, be the consequence what it may. Exclusive of the sentries in my house under the circumstances, my being taken from my family, and sent across the river at the worst time, my close confinement in a hole for five weeks, I beg the letter from Brigadier Wooster may be attended to; I think for orthography, diction, and substance, to be a curiosity.

It was with pleasure that I found myself ordered for this place, although it further removed me from my family, as the constant report we had in Canada from the gentlemen who had been sent here, was that the greatest politeness was uniformly kept up towards them. I have, therefore, no doubt about the opinion you will entertain of my treatment, and I beg the favour, sir, you will lay the whole before the Congress. Men of education, and of understanding, I am confident, will consider such usage as it deserves, and will, I am hopeful, apply the proper remedy.

I am really sorry to engage so much of your time, I have endeavoured to be as short as possible, without omitting any material circumstance or fact, and nothing is here set forth but what is exactly true. I will now conclude, and remain, sir, your most obedient, and humble servant,

JOHN FRASER.

To General Schuyler.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO JOSEPH REED.

Cambridge, February 10, 1776.

DEAR SIR: If you conceive that I took any thing wrong, or amiss, that was conveyed in any of your former letters, you are really mistaken. I only meant to convince you, that nothing would give me more real satisfaction than to know the sentiments, which are entertained of me by the publick, whether they be favourable or otherwise; and I urged as a reason, that the man who wished to steer clear of shelves and rocks must know where they lie. I know the integrity of my own heart, but to declare it, unless to a friend, may be an argument of vanity; I know the unhappy predicament I stand in; I know that much is expected of me; I know, that without men, without arms, without ammunition, without any thing fit for the accommodation of a soldier, little is to be done; and, what is mortifying, I know that I cannot stand justified to the world without exposing my own weakness, and injuring the cause, by declaring my wants, which I am determined not to do, further than unavoidable necessity brings every man acquainted with them.

If, under these disadvantages, I am able to keep above water, in the esteem of mankind, I shall feel myself happy; but if, from the unknown peculiarity of my circumstances, I suffer in the opinion of the world, I shall not think you take the freedom of a friend, if you conceal the reflections that may be cast upon my conduct. My own situation is so irksome to me at times, that, if I did not consult the publick good more than my own tranquillity, I should long ere this have put every thing on the cast of a die. So far from my having an army of twenty thousand men, well armed, I have been here with less than one-half of that number, including sick, furloughed, and on command, and those neither armed nor clothed as they should be. In short, my situation has been such that I have been obliged to use art to conceal it from my own officers.

The party sent to Bunker's Hill had some good and some bad men engaged in it. One or two courts have been held on the conduct of part of them. To be plain, these people are not to be depended upon if exposed; and any man will fight well if he thinks himself in no danger. I do not apply this only to these people. I suppose it to be the case with all raw and undisciplined troops.

You may rely upon it, that transports left Boston six weeks ago with troops; where they are gone, unless driven to the West-Indies, I know not. You may, also, rely upon General Clinton's sailing from Boston about three weeks ago, with about four or five hundred men; his destination I am, also, a stranger to. I am sorry to hear of the failures you speak of from France. But why will not Congress forward part of the powder made in your Province? They seem to look upon this as the season for action, but will not furnish the means. I will not blame them. I dare say the demands upon them are greater than they can supply. The cause must be starved till our resources are greater, or more certain within ourselves.

With respect to myself, I have never entertained an idea of an accommodation, since I heard of the measures which were adopted in consequence of the Bunker's Hill fight. The King's speech has confirmed the sentiments I entertained upon the news of that affair; and, if every man was of my mind, the Ministers of Great Britain should know, in a few words, upon what issue the cause should be put. I would not be deceived by artful declarations, nor specious pretences; nor would I be amused by unmeaning propositions; but in open, undisguised, and manly terms; proclaim our wrongs, and our resolution to be redressed. I would tell them, that we had borne much, that we had long and ardently sought for reconciliation upon honourable terms; that it had been denied us; that all our attempts after peace had proved abortive, and had been grossly misrepresented; that we had done every thing which could be expected from the best of subjects; that the spirit of freedom rises too high in us to submit to slavery; and that; if nothing else would satisfy a Tyrant and his diabolical Ministry, we are determined to shake of all connections with a state so unjust and unnatural. This I would tell them, not under covert, but in words as clear as the sun in its meridian brightness.

I observe what you say, in respect to the ardour of the chimney-corner heroes. I am glad their zeal is in some measure abated, because, if circumstances will not permit us to make an attempt upon Boston, or if it should be made and fail, we shall not appear altogether so culpable. I entertain the same opinion of the attempt now, which I have ever done. I believe an assault would be attended with considerable loss, and I believe it would succeed, if the men should behave well. As to an attack upon Bunker's Hill, unless it could be carried by surprise, the loss, I conceive, would be greater in proportion than at Boston; and, if a defeat should follow, it would be discouraging to the men, but highly animating if crowned with success. Great good, or great evil, would consequently result from it.

The Congress have ordered all captures to be tried in the Courts of Admiralty of the different Governments to which they are sent. Some irreconcilable difference arising between the resolves of Congress, and the law of this Colony, respecting the proceedings, or something which always happens to procrastinate business here, has put a total stop to the trials, to the no small injury of the publick, as well as the great grievance of individuals. Whenever a condemnation shall take place, I shall not be unmindful of your advice respecting the hulls. Would to Heaven the plan you speak of for obtaining arms may succeed. The acquisition would be great, and give fresh life and vigour to our measures. Our expectations are kept alive, and if we can keep ourselves so, and our spirits up another Summer, I have no fears of wanting the needful after that.

We have had a most laborious piece of work at Lechmere's Point, on account of the frost. We hope to get it finished on Sunday. It is within as commanding a distance of Boston as Dorchester-Hill, though of a different part. Our vessels now and then pick up a prize or two. Our Commodore, Manly, was very near being caught about eight days ago, but happily escaped with his vessel and crew, after running the former on shore, scuttling, and defending her.

I recollect nothing else worth giving you the trouble of, unless you can be amused by reading a letter and poem addressed to me by Miss Phillis Wheatley. In searching over a parcel of papers the other day, in order to destroy such as were useless, I brought it to light again. At first, with a view of doing justice to her poetical genius, I had a great mind to publish the poem; but not knowing whether it might not be considered rather as a mark of my own vanity, than as a compliment to her, I laid it aside, till I came across it again in the manner just mentioned. I congratulate you upon your election, although I consider it as the coup-de-grace to my expectation of ever seeing you a resident with me this campaign. I have only to regret the want of you, if that should be the case; and I shall do it the more feelingly, as I have experienced the good effects of your aid.

I am, with Mrs. Washington's compliments to Mrs. Reed, and my best respects, dear sir, your most obedient and affectionate servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Joseph Reed, Esq.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO NEW-YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

Cambridge, February 10, 1776.

SIR: Being in the greatest want of arms at this alarming and important crisis, for the Army under my command, without the most distant prospect or hope of getting more from these Governments than what I already have, I beg leave to solicit the favour of your Committee of Safety in this instance, and earnestly request that they will use their exertions to get and send to me, in the most expeditious manner, all that they can possibly procure. I imagine that there are several belonging to the Colony, and have been informed of many Tories being disarmed, and, therefore, expect that it will be in their power to obtain me a considerable supply. Whatever quantity is sent me, I will take on the Continental account, and make payment for, with the expenses incident to their transportation.

This application being founded in necessity, and arising from the exigency of our affairs, I make no doubt will meet your most ready and early attention, and that nothing will be wanting on your part to give me the most speedy relief.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of New-York.

P. S. I wish to have only such arms as are good and serviceable, and shall be glad to have bayonets with them.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO MASSACHUSETTS ASSEMBLY.

Cambridge, February 10, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Notwithstanding I have taken every method my judgment could suggest, to procure a sufficient number of firelocks for the soldiers of this Army, by applications to the Assemblies and Conventions of these Governments, as well as by sending officers out with money to purchase, I am constrained, by necessity, to inform you that the deficiency is amazingly great, and that there are not nigh enough to arm the troops already here. It is true, that all the officers gone upon the business are not yet returned, but, from the small success of those who have made report, I cannot promise myself many more. I must, therefore, beg leave to solicit your kind attention to this interesting and important concern, and would submit it to your consideration whether if your honourable Court were to depute some of their members to make applications to the different towns, they might not procure a considerable quantity. I will most cheerfully furnish them with money for the purpose, or pay for them on their delivery here, as you shall think most advisable.

I shall only add, that I hope the exigency of our affairs, at this critical crisis, will excuse this request, and my confidence of your readiness and zeal to do every thing in your power for promoting the publick good, and am, gentlemen, with great regard and esteem, your most humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To the Honourable General Court, &c.

P. S. I have heard that there are several King's muskets in the country; for every good one, with a bayonet, that has not been abused, I will give twelve dollars, and in proportion for other guns fit for service.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO COLONEL PORTER.

Head-Quarters, February 10, 1776.

SIR: The Continental Congress having confirmed my application to this Government to raise a regiment for the service of the United Colonies, which is now complied with, and you are appointed to the command thereof, I have to desire that you will use the utmost diligence and despatch possible, to complete the said regiment, and march it into Canada by the shortest and best way, that from your own knowledge of the country, and from the best information you can get, you think will be the most expeditious. I have to acquaint you, that if you take your route by Number Four and Onion-River, there will be a supply of provisions ready for you, laid in by order of General Schuyler.

As this regiment is to be upon the Continental establishment, agreeable to the terms and regulations of Congress, transmitted to the Legislative power of this Province, and the necessity of reinforcing our troops posted and forming the blockade of Quebeck is too apparent to need dwelling on, I would have you order each company to march as fast as they are raised, the whole putting themselves under the command of the General, or commanding officer in Canada, as fast as they arrive there.

Such necessaries as you will think really proper, and that you cannot do without, will be provided for you by the Commissary-General and Quartermaster-General, and I shall depend upon you that the strictest economy is used consistent with the despatch necessary upon this occasion.

These, sir, are my instructions to you, and from the character you bear, I doubt not you will pay due attention to them. I must again recommend your making all possible despatch, and that you may share in the glory of expelling the instruments of Ministerial tyranny from that fair Province, is the sincere wish of, sir, your most obedient servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Colonel Elisha Porter.

Camp, Cambridge, February 10, 1776.

SIR: Your repeated letters to General Gates, desiring liberty to go to Ireland on your parole, were laid before his Excellency. I have it in command from him to inform you, that he does not think himself authorized to grant license to any one to depart this Continent; that power is lodged in the hands of the Congress.

I am, also, commanded to tell you, that the General is surprised a gentleman of Major French's good sense and knowledge should make such a request. Let him compare his situation with that of such gentlemen of ours, who, by the fortune of war, have fallen into the hands of their enemy. What has been their treatment? Thrown into a loathsome prison, and afterwards sent in irons to England. I repeat, let the Major compare his treatment with theirs, and then say whether he has cause to repine at his fate.

I am, sir, &c.

To Major French.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO COLONEL MOREY.

In Committee of Safety, February 10, 1776.

We send you, by Colonel Bedel, seven hundred and eighty-five pounds, lawful money, to pay off the troops; likewise, Colonel Bedel's roll. The balance due to each man you are to pay, with the price of the rations as set down to the Lieutenants Palmer and Nelson. You will observe, that the balance due to each man includes his coat money and blanket.

We also transmit the roll of Lieutenant Wheeler's men, the balance of which you will pay to each man. The staff-roll of Colonel Bedel you will, also, pay what is due, viz: the Adjutant, Quartermaster, Surgeon, and Sergeant-Major, their respective balances and price of rations.

In Captain Osgood's roll, you will take notice that against those names where it is wrote "paid," by Captain Osgood, the whole is paid; and those names where it is wrote against, "order on the Treasury for all but the coat-money," you will pay to them their coat money only, they having received their wages; and make return of your payments, together with the rolls, as soon as possible, that the accounts may be forwarded for payment.

By order of the Committee:

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

MESHECH WEARE, Chairman.

To Colonel Israel Morey.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO JOSIAH BARTLETT AND WILLIAM WHIPPLE.

Exeter, January 10, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Enclosed in this packet you will find a representation of the taking up Government, and difficulties that have arisen in the several Counties relating thereto. We desire you would lay them before Congress, and endeavour to obtain their opinion thereon, as we expect uneasiness will remain until the same is obtained, which we hope will settle the dust, and desire you will be assiduous in getting it decided and forwarded as soon as may be.

To the Hon. Josiah Bartlett and William Whipple, Esq.

COLONY OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

To the Honourable Congress of the United Colonies of NORTH AMERICA:

The Committee of Safety of said Colony, pursuant to an order of the Council and Assembly, beg leave to lay before you some difficulties that have arisen among them, and request your determination thereon, being assured that your opinion on the premises will quiet the minds of those dissatisfied, and that all will acquiesce therein. We are very sorry that any misunderstandings among ourselves, should lay us under the necessity of diverting your minds from the important concerns which engross your attention. But no expedient could be found to satisfy many among us, but the laying the whole matter before your Honours. Soon after the commencement of hostilities by the King's troops at Lexington, the people in several of our Counties were so enraged against many of the Executive officers, supposing them inimical to the liberties of the country, that they would not suffer the Courts to sit, so much as to try criminal offenders. And the Congress, in the Summer past, finding the Courts, under the officers in commission, could not be held, and many complaints coming before them, against persons for high crimes, agreed to instruct their Delegates to request some direction from your Honours, relative to the regulating our Civil Police. Before the dissolution of the Congress, and previous to the reception of your recommendation about Government, a general plan of Representation was agreed on, to consist of eighty-nine persons, and precepts issued in consequence thereof; a copy of which we transmit herewith. After the meeting of the new Congress, the members appeared to agree in the necessity of assuming Government, but differed in the mode, after setting fifteen days, viz: On the 5th of January, the Resolve for assuming Government, passed by a majority of near two to one, a copy of which accompanies this, and the next day chose the number proposed for a Council, who took their seat, and proceeded on business according to the plan. A number of the members of the House being dissatisfied with the measures adopted, protested against them, a copy of which we also send herewith. Our brethren in the town of Portsmouth were also much concerned lest the proceedings should hurt the common cause; disaffect our friends in Great Britain—as savouring of independency. They wrote circular letters to a great number of towns, expressing their fears of the consequence of our taking up Government: soon after which, the towns of Portsmouth, Dover, Rochester, Newington, Greenland, Rye, Stratham, Northampton, Kensington, New-Market, with a number of individuals in the town of Brentwood, petitioned the General Court, setting forth, that they were greatly alarmed at the proceedings of the Congress in taking up Government, supposing it looked too much like setting up for independency; were exceeding fearful of the consequence; that we should lose the assistance of our friends abroad, and create a disunion among ourselves, and prayed that the two Houses would reconsider the Resolve for taking up Government, and proceed to business as the late Congress had done. The House of Representatives thinking it absolutely necessary, for the well being of the Colony, to proceed agreeable to the Resolves concluded to let the petitions lay. But, at the request of the Petitioners, it was agreed to have the proceedings laid before your honourable body. And this Committee under real expectation that your determination will settle the difference of opinion among us, humbly request you to transmit the same.

I have the honour to be, gentlemen, your most humble servant,

By order of the Committee:

MESHECH WEARE, Chairman.

COLONY OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

The Congress of said Colony, to the Selectmen of . . . in said Colony—Greeting:

You are hereby required to notify the legal inhabitants paying taxes in the . . . (giving them fifteen days notice) to meet at some convenient place in your town, to elect . . . (having a real estate of the value of two hundred pounds, lawful money) to represent them in General Congress, to be held at Exeter, on the 21st day of De- cember next, at three o'clock in the afternoon; and to empower such Representative for the term of one year from their first meeting, to transact such business, and pursue such measures as they may judge necessary for the publick good.

And in case there should be a recommendation from the Continental Congress, that this Colony assume Government in any particular form, which will require a House of Representatives, that they resolve themselves into such a House as the said Continental Congress shall recommend. And it is resolved, that no person be allowed a seat in Congress who shall, by himself, or any person for him, before said choice, treat with liquor, &c., any electors, with an apparent view of gaining their votes, or afterwards, on that account; and the person . . . who shall be elected. You are to notify that . . . attend at time and place above-mentioned, and make return hereof with your doings thereon. By order of Congress;

MATTHEW THORNTON, President.

A true copy. Attest: E. THOMPSON, Secretary.

Exeter, November 14, 1775.

In Congress, at Exeter, January 5, 1776.

We, the Members of the Congress of the Colony of New-Hampshire, chosen and appointed by the free suffrages of the people of said Colony, and authorized and empowered by them to meet together, and use such means, and pursue such measures, as we should judge best for the publick good; and, in particular, to establish some form of Government, provided that measure should be recommended by the Continental Congress; and a recommendation to that purpose having been transmitted to us, from the said Congress, have taken into our serious consideration the unhappy circumstances into which this Colony is involved, by means of many grievous and oppressive acts of the British Parliament, depriving us of our native and constitutional rights and privileges; to enforce obedience to which acts, a powerful fleet and army have been sent into this country by the Ministry of Great Britain, who have exercised a wanton and cruel abuse of their power, in destroying the lives and properties of the Colonists, in many places with fire and sword, taking the ships and lading from many of the honest and industrious inhabitants of this Colony employed in commerce, agreeable to the laws and customs a long time used here.

The sudden and abrupt departure of his Excellency John Wentworth, Esq., our late Governour, and several of the Council, leaving us destitute of Legislation; and no Executive Courts being open to punish criminal offenders, whereby the lives and properties of the honest people of this Colony, are liable to the machinations and evil designs of wicked men:

Therefore, for the preservation of peace and good order, and for the security of the lives and properties of the inhabitants of this Colony, we conceive ourselves reduced to the necessity of establishing a form of Government, to continue during the present unhappy and unnatural contest with Great Britain; protesting and declaring that we never sought to throw off our dependance upon Great Britain, but felt ourselves happy under her protection, while we could enjoy our constitutional rights and privileges, and that we shall rejoice if such a reconciliation between us and our parent state, can be effected as shall be approved by the Continental Congress, in whose prudence and wisdom we confide.

Accordingly, pursuant to the trust reposed in us, we do Resolve, That this Congress assume the name, power, and authority of a House of Representatives or Assembly, for the Colony of New-Hampshire. And that said House then proceed to choose twelve persons, being reputable freeholders and inhabitants within this Colony, in the following manner, viz: Five in the County of Rockingham; two in the County of Strafford; two in the County of Hillsborough; two in the County of Cheshire; and one in the County of Grafton, to be a distinct and separate branch of the Legislature, by the name of a Council for this Colony, to continue as such until the 3rd Wednesday in December next; any seven of whom to be a quorum to do business.

That such Council appoint their President; and in his absence, that the senior Counsellor preside.

That a Secretary be appointed by both Branches, who may be a Counsellor, or otherwise, as they shall choose.

That no act or resolve be valid, and put into execution, unless agreed to and passed by both branches of the Legislature.

That all public officers for the said Colony, and each County, for the current year, be appointed by the Council and Assembly, except the several Clerks of the Executive Courts, who shall be appointed by the Justices of the respective Courts.

That all Bills, Resolves, or Votes for raising, levying, and collecting Money, originate in the House of Representatives.

That at any sessions of the Council and Assembly, neither Branch shall adjourn for any longer time than from Saturday till the next Monday, without consent of the other.

And it is further Resolved, That if the present unhappy dispute with Great Britain should continue longer than this present year, and the Continental Congress give no instructions or directions to the contrary, the Council be chosen by the people of each respective County, in such manner as the Council and House of Representatives shall order.

That General and Field-Officers of the Militia, on any vacancy, be appointed by the two Houses, and all inferior Officers be chosen by the respective Companies.

That all Officers of the Army be appointed by the two Houses, except they should direct otherwise, in case of any emergency.

That all Civil Officers for the Colony, and for each County, be appointed, and the time of their continuance in office be determined by the two Houses, except Clerks of Courts, and County Treasurers, and Recorders of Deeds.

That a Treasurer, and a Recorder of Deeds, for each County, be annually chosen by the people of each County respectively; the votes for such officers to be returned to the respective Courts of General Sessions of the Peace in the County, there to be ascertained as the Council and Assembly shall hereafter direct.

That Precepts, in the name of the Council and Assembly, signed by the President of the Council, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, shall issue, annually, at or before the first day of November, for the choice of a Council and House of Representatives, to be returned by the third Wednesday in December, then next ensuing, in such manner as the Council and Assembly shall hereafter prescribe.

A true copy. Attest: E. THOMPSON, Secretary.

We, the subscribers, chosen by the people of several Towns in the Colony of New-Hampshire, to represent them in the Congress of said Colony, held at Exeter, on the 21st day of December, 1775, beg leave to enter and dissent to, and protest against the present plan of taking up Government, for the following reasons:

First. That the vote of the Continental Congress countenancing the same, was obtained by the unwearied importunity (both within doors and without) of our Delegates there, as appears by their letter.

Second. That the said vote does not appear to have been unanimous; but, we have reason to think, far otherway.

Third. Because the Colonies of New-York and Virginia, which are in similar circumstances with us, are much larger and more opulent, and we presume much wiser, to whom we would wish to pay all due deference, have not attempted any thing of the kind, nor, as we can learn, ever desired it.

Fourth. Because we have no ground on which to pretend to make a Council, as our neighbours of the Massachusetts, who act by charter, never vacated on any legal trial.

Fifth. Because it appears assuming for so small and inconsiderable a Colony to take the lead in a matter of so great importance.

Sixth. Because our constituents never expected us to make a new form of Government, but only to set the Judicial and Executive wheels in motion.

Seventh. Because the Congress, as such, could have done what was necessary, and their power could not be enlarged by any act of their own.

Eighth. Because the expensé of the Colony is greatly augmented thereby.

Ninth. Because it appears to us to be absolutely setting up an independency on the mother country.

WILLIAM SMITH TO GENERAL HOWE.

New-York, February 11, 1776.

As I have not a doubt of my last letters to Administration, convincing them that this city and Province is the only spot in America for carrying on the war with effect against the Rebels, and that, in consequence, the forces expected this Spring, as well as those now under your command, will be ordered hither; it may be necessary and advisable to send the army through the Sound, between Connecticut and Long-Island. Of the latter, it will be proper to give a description: it is one hundred and thirty miles long, is very fertile, abounding in wheat and every other kind of corn, innumerable black cattle, sheep, hogs, &c.; is very populous, and Suffolk County in particular, as well as the other parts of it, all good and loyal subjects, of which they have lately given proof, and only wait to be assisted by the King's troops. The Island has a plain on it at least twenty-four miles long, which has a fertile country about it, is twenty miles distant from the city of New-York; Connecticut opposite to it; New-Jersey about thirty miles distant; Philadelphia one hundred and ten, Maryland one hundred and thirty, Rhode-Island one hundred and fifty miles; so that, in this fertile Island, the army can subsist without any succour from England or Ireland; and, from their encampment on the above plain, they can, in five or six days, invade and reduce any of the above Colonies at pleasure. Add to these great advantages, that the possession of the Narrows and Nutten-Island, would be the destruction of this city; but of this I think there would be no need, for all the principal inhabitants are, at heart, with the Crown, particularly all my brethren, the members of the Council, and most of the Assembly; but as the mob now commands, prudence forbids them to declare without a military force. You have many persons with you who are well acquainted with the navigation of the Sound. The spot which I advise you to land at is Cow-Bay.

WILLIAM SMITH.

GENERAL LEE TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

New-York, February 11, 1776.

SIR: As the North-River is now entirely clear of ice, I thought it imprudent to suffer the cannon and other stores to remain any longer upon the Battery, and in yards at the very water-edge, from whence the ships-of-war might have conveyed them at their pleasure, as it would have been impossible to have obstructed their manœuvres, almost within the very muzzles of their guns; this day, therefore, I ordered the whole to be removed to the ground before the Upper Barracks; it was effected without the least opposition, or show of opposition from the ships; indeed, I even consider their menaces to fire upon the town as idle gasconades. Enclosed is a list of the pieces and their appurtenances.

The Mercury, frigate, the transport, and brig, are sailed; if your fleet was out, they must certainly fall into your hands.

Colonel Richmore will deliver this. I wish, sir, you would be very particular in questioning him with respect to the state of your army, of your artillery, but, above all, with regard to the reputed abilities and popularity of your principal officers. I am sensible, sir, that it is a delicate subject to put an officer under the necessity of giving his opinion of the capacity of others, but when the safety of the state depends upon a true knowledge of these circumstances, all delicacy must be dispensed with; and it may be asserted that the salvation or perdition of America, in great measure, depends upon the management or mismanagement of Canada. You will find Colonel Richmore a very clear-headed man and intelligent soldier, and capable of giving the fullest necessary lights. He is convinced, that any number of battalions may be raised in Canada to serve out of their own country. I would submit it to the wisdom of the Congress, whether the scheme should not be immediately adopted; it would answer a thousand good purposes, which must occur to every man. Firstly, we want men; secondly, out of their own country, they are capable of being excellent soldiers; but, above all, it will be a pledge of the fidelity of the whole Province; it will engage them so far that they cannot recede.

I beg your pardon, sir, for the length, and, perhaps, incoherence of this letter, for I perceive that, from want of sleep, my head is somewhat distracted. I am in hopes of walking out in a couple of days, and that my head will grow clear as my feet grow strong.

I am, sir, your most obedient servant,

CHARLES LEE.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., &c., &c.

P. S. I have not been able to procure, (as thought and expected,) an exact list of the guns and stores this night, but will send it by the post.

GENERAL WOOSTER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Montreal, February 11, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: This letter will be delivered you by Mr. Walker and Mr. Price, two gentlemen whose friendship and attachment to our cause is well known, and to whom the United Colonies are under many obligations. As they are the best acquainted with this Province of, perhaps, any two gentlemen in it, and as there are many transactions of great importance to be determined concerning it, I have requested them to wait upon the Congress, that you may know from them fully every thing necessary for your information.

I have permitted the merchants in this place, trading to the upper country, to choose a committee to prefer a petition to the honourable the Congress, concerning their Indian trade. You will have from them, and from Messrs. Walker and Price, what can be said for and against it; and your determinations in that, and every other matter, I shall strictly attend to.

Besides the operations of war, there are so many civil and political affairs that require the greatest care, and most delicate management, that I could wish a Committee of Congress might be sent into this Province.

General Arnold has, in a most surprising manner, kept up the blockade of Quebeck, and that with half the number of the enemy. He is now so well reinforced, that I apprehend but little danger from a sortie, should they make one.

I intend to join him as soon as this place can be left with safety, and necessaries properly provided for forwarding the troops as they arrive from the Colonies. I fear we shall meet with difficulty in taking the place, for want of proper artillery, ammunition, &c., but every thing possible will be done. Unless we keep up a greater force in this Province, from the Colonies, than should be brought against us in the Spring, I fear we can place no great dependance upon the Canadians; and, in that case, it might be attended with very unhappy, if not fatal consequences. How great a force the Ministry will send here is uncertain, yet many imagine they will make this Province the seat of war. I hope we shall be able to keep the field against them.

I enclose you copies of several letters to General Schuyler, with a couple of his to me. He writes me that he had observed to Congress that I had wrote him with unbecoming subacity. I think he might have pointed out to me the exceptionable parts of my letters, before he made his observations to Congress. It gives me pain that I am obliged, in my own defence, to trouble you with examining and determining which of us has the greatest reason to complain of ill treatment. I am conscious that my conduct will bear the strictest scrutiny. I have ever studiously avoided entering into any altercation with him, fearing that the publick interest might suffer by it. He began to insult me immediately on my joining the Army, as you will see by his letter of the 23d of October last, though I know of no reason under Heaven why he should treat me thus cavalierly, but merely to indulge his capricious humour, which, in the course of the last year, he has dealt out very liberally upon many of the officers who have served in this Department, complaints of which have frequently been made to me. Happy would it be for him, and for our cause, if he could learn to bridle his passions. The letters between him and me will speak for themselves. I shall send him a copy of this letter, and also enclose with this a copy of my letter to him, of this date. No personal ill treatment will ever prevent my steadily and invariably continuing to pursue those measures which shall appear most conducive to the publick good, and shall think myself happy, if, by doing every thing in my power, I can be in the least instrumental in maintaining and preserving the rights and liberties of my country.

I am, with the greatest respect, gentlemen, your most obedient and very humble servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To the Honourable Continental Congress.

Montreal, January 14, 1776.

SIR: Your letter of the 31st ultimo I received per post, also a number of letters for General Montgomery, all which I opened, not knowing but they might contain something of a publick nature. The private letters I shall enclose with this; you will doubtless send them to his friends.

I am very glad to hear that we may soon expect a Paymaster. We have drained our friends here of all their cash, and, without it, it is exceeding difficult to do any thing. Some of the persons which you sent back have behaved very illy, indeed. One Sears, whom I have now in confinement, immediately upon coming into the country circulated a report that the Colonies had given over the thoughts of keeping this Province; that there were no soldiers at Ticonderoga, nor Fort-George, nor any expected, &c., &c.; a story very illy calculated for us at this time. Some others, I hear, have made themselves very busy with the people. I expect, therefore, to be obliged to return to you some of them, with the other prisoners who are in this country, in a few days.

The four fusils taken by Major Lockwood were put up in a box, according to capitulation, and are now at St. John's, ready to be sent over the Lake. It was a mistake of Colonel Flemming's, or the fusils would have been taken from all the officers. They capitulated upon the same conditions as the garrison of St. John's, and, if you look into that, you will see that the officers were allowed their side-arms, but their fire-arms were to be put up in a box, and delivered to them when these unhappy disputes were ended, unless they chose to dispose of them before.

I have great hopes that we shall, if reinforced in a short time, be able to keep up the blockade at Quebeck. I have sent them a hundred and twenty men, which was all that could with prudence be spared from this place. By the desire of the officers here, and the gentlemen in town who are our friends, the day after Mr. Ansell left this place I despatched an express to Onion-River, in order to get a reinforcement from the Green-Mountain Boys. I wrote to Colonel Warner, in the most pressing manner, to bring a regiment into this Province, and remain here, under the Continental pay, till they can be relieved; a measure which the present exigency, I think, will justify. Whether they will come, or not, is yet uncertain.

I understand that Quebeck is very strongly fortified, and so well stored with provisions, that I fear we cannot starve them out, till they can have supplies in the Spring. The river at Quebeck is not yet taken so as to be passable, but, if this weather holds, it soon will be. It then will be very difficult, if not impracticable, with the few men we have there, to prevent their getting provisions, if they do nothing worse. How, then, will the place be taken? We have at St. John's two brass twenty-four pounders. Will it not be well to send a number of heavy cannon from New-York, if there are none at Ticonderoga, or Fort-George?

I understand they have a number of thirty-two pounders at New-York, and the thirteen-inch, and other mortars, from Ticonderoga, with shells, cannon, shot, carcasses, &c. We have at Quebeck a howitzer, which throws an eight-inch shell. I am informed that one Pelissier, at Three-Rivers, can cast shells and shot of any size, but whether he will be able to do it soon enough, I cannot yet find out.

Will it not be well, in order in some measure to remedy the great difficulty of procuring hard money, to encourage a number of sutlers to bring across the Lakes all kinds of West-India and other liquors, sugar, and other articles, which can be procured in the Colonies, and wanted by the Army, for which they can be paid in paper money? I am confident that rum, wine, sugar, &c., can be well transported from Albany here, and sold at a great profit, and yet be much cheaper than what we now give for it. For the same reason, would it not be well to send forward, as quick as possible, a quantity of rum, which is much wanted.

I am, sir, your most obedient servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To General Schuyler.

Albany, January 26, 1776.

SIR: Your letter of the 14th instant, with the papers enclosed, came to hand on the 24th. Copies of all I have sent to Congress; and on that part of your letter which respects the prisoners that I have given leave to return, I have made the following observations to Congress:

"From General Wooster's letter, one would be led to imagine that I had sent back vast numbers of dangerous persons. He has before wrote to me on the occasion, with an unbecoming subacity. I, therefore, trouble you with the detail: Sears, whom he mentions, was sent to me from Connecticut, with a recommendation to me from the Committee of . . . , to permit him to return to Canada, which I did, ordering him to wait on the commanding officer. Captain Gondwin and Lieutenant Schalk I permitted to remain at Ticonderoga, at the request of General Montgomery, until they should be informed if their wives and children, whom they had left at Quebeck, were gone to England, or had come to Chambly; if to the latter, then he wished they might be permitted to return, and convey them into these Colonies. They (their wives and children) are at Chambly. Mr. McCullough, a Commissary, was another, a widower, who had left four small children in Canada, and whom I likewise permitted to return, on the same account. These, together with the Canadian peasants taken at St. John's, are all that I recollect to have sent back, and not even the least without the approbation of General Montgomery first had. The peasantry were too insignificant to have any influence, and there seemed, at that time, little danger from the others; and yet I had the precaution to take their word of honour not to say any thing on the subject of the controversy. If they have abused my confidence, they are scoundrels, and I will treat them accordingly, without repenting that I gave them the indulgence, for that was an act of humanity. If they are not culpable, they are injured, and I too. I shall sift the matter to the bottom, and my resentment, without any kind of exception, shall be experienced by those that deserve it."

Resolved, sir, to be treated with the respect due to me as a gentleman, and as an officer intrusted with a command by the honourable the Representatives of Thirteen Colonies, it is my positive order that you cause all such persons as have had my permit to return into Canada, to be called before you, and there confronted with their accusers, that they may have an opportunity to exculpate themselves, if they can, from the charges which are made against them, and, if you find them guilty, then to send them here in close confinement, together with the affidavits ascertaining their guilt.

You are hereby ordered immediately to send to this place all prisoners, whether they have my permit, or not, together with such persons as may be dangerous to our cause, if suffered to remain in Canada, and who cannot claim a right to remain by some capitulation.

You will also send me a return of the Army in Canada, with the names of the officers belonging to each corps; and you will cause such orders to be executed as I had given in charge to General Montgomery, and transmit the returns I had requested him to send me.

I enclose you certain resolutions of the honourable Continental Congress, which you will carry into execution, as far as you can.

I enclose you a bill on Mr. Jacob Jordan, for five hundred dollars, which you will please to receive, and credit the publick, advising me of its being accepted.

Colonel Warner has sent some men to your relief. I have ordered him to complete the number to seven hundred and twenty-eight. Colonel Fellows, of the County of Berkshire, in the Massachusetts-Bay, is also raising a regiment, some of which are already marched. Two regiments are on their way from Pennsylvania and New-Jersey, another is raising in Connecticut. Pray let an exact account be kept of the number of men sent by Colonel Warner, their names, and when they arrived at any post where provisions were issued to them.

I take the liberty to enclose you a letter for Mrs. Harner; her husband has gained the esteem of all the gentlemen in the country where he is quartered, by his prudence and politeness. I beg of you to have it safely conveyed to her, and to afford her your assistance in crossing the Lakes if she should incline to come this Winter.

I am, sir, your most obedient servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To General Wooster.

Montreal, January 19, 1776.

SIR: Enclosed with this you will receive the names of a number of prisoners who will accompany Colonel Easton across the Lakes, the most of them prisoners of war, but some few of them, such persons as have, by their base, ungenerous conduct, shown themselves to be our bitterest enemies. I, therefore, think it very improper to suffer them to remain in the country. As a specimen of their practices, I enclose you a copy of the affidavits of very honest, well-disposed soldiers, concerning Mr. De Rouville's conduct. I shall, also, send Sears with them, who, as I wrote you in my last, began to spread stories of a very bad tendency, immediately upon arriving in the country.

And here suffer me to remark, that at this time I must think that Albany is not so proper a place as some others for the prisoners. I have heard that a number of them remain there, where they have an opportunity of seeing whatever is done by our Army, and of giving their friends in this Province the earliest intelligence.

Major Campbell has behaved himself in a very extraordinary manner, and has thrown out most ungenerous and illiberal invectives against my character. He told Captain Benedict, at Chambly, that I was a damned old scoundrel, and had broke my faith with him, for that he was promised, both by General Montgomery and me, that he might remain in this town through the Winter. Truth is, that General Montgomery, just before he left this town, made out an order for Major Campbell and some other prisoners to leave the town immediately, which order he gave to Major Lockwood to see executed; but, as Major Campbell represented to me that he had some business which would suffer if he was not permitted to remain in town a few days, I permitted it. Soon after, it was difficult to pass the river; of consequence he staid till about a fortnight ago, when I sent him and some other gentlemen to Chambly, for which he was pleased to bestow upon me those illiberal invectives.

I have just received intelligence from our Army before Quebeck; they still keep up the blockade with spirit, yet are greatly distressed for want of men, being alarmed almost every night, and having so few men, if not assisted in a little time, good as they are, (and men never behaved better,) they must be worn out. I have sent them a reinforcement of a hundred and twenty, who I suppose will arrive there to-morrow, and another party of seventy will set off to-morrow from this place. What they will do at Quebeck, or what any of us can do for want of money, God only knows. Money we must have, or give up every thing. Our friends are drained already. I hope the Paymaster is on the way. All that can be done will be done to procure it, but it is impossible to exist as an Army much longer without it.

I mentioned, in my last, that cannon and mortars might be wanted. Should be glad of your thoughts upon the subject, and to know what quantity of powder can be forwarded, and what cannon and mortars. I think it of the greatest importance that whatever is sent should be here by the 1st of March, when we expect, if properly assisted, to erect batteries and cannonade the town, which will doubtless be desperately maintained.

Mr. Pelissier, of Three-Rivers, has sent to me to know the size of our mortars and cannon, as he is about casting shells and shot. You will, therefore, be good enough to inform me what size the mortars and cannon are of, which will be sent across the Lake.

I forgot to mention to you, in my last, that we have several prisoners from among the soldiery confined, whose crimes require a General Court-Martial, and, as I have never received your orders for calling one, they cannot be tried.

I am, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To General Schuyler.

Montreal, January 27, 1776.

DEAR SIR: Your favour of the 14th instant, with the money, was delivered to me by Captain Benson and the other gentleman. I was very happy to receive the cash, which was greatly wanted, and more so to hear that a large reinforcement is coming on; a few have already arrived, as volunteers, which adds fresh spirits to our men.

With what assistance I have already supplied Colonel Arnold, and the recruits that I shall soon send him, I have great hopes he will be able to continue the blockade till we are prepared to prosecute vigorously different measures. By what information I have been able to procure, I fear that their provisions will last them till they can be relieved in the Spring. You will, therefore, see the necessity of forwarding heavy cannon, mortars, shells, and shot, with a large supply of powder. Colonel Ritzema, who will hand you this, will inform you how necessary a large supply of those things will be to us in carrying on our operations.

We have in this Province many of the officers of the New-York battalions, who are desirous of continuing in the service, but their regiments are broken to pieces, many are returned home, and some, when their term of enlistments were out, enlisted into other corps. I could wish that those battalions could be speedily filled up, for which purpose I have consented that Colonel Ritzema should proceed to Albany, and there he will receive your directions.

I have called in the most of the commissions which Carleton had given to the officers of Militia in this part of the Province, that is, down as far as Three-Rivers, and given out new ones under the Congress. Those who refuse to give up their commissions under Carleton, (and I expect some will,) I shall consider as enemies to us, and as such shall make prisoners of them. I allow each Parish to choose their own officers, which I find pleases them much. I hope it will be attended with happy consequences, as those who take commissions under the Congress will be afraid to desert our cause, and no principle operates so strongly upon the minds of the Canadians as fear.

I am, also, about establishing a Committee of Safety in this town, which will, also, be a Committee of Correspondence. They will, by settling a thousand trifling disputes, ease me of a very great burden. But I have something further in view: when it is once established in this town, perhaps other places in the country will be inclined to follow the example, and by degrees they may possibly be led to choose a Provincial Congress, and, of course, Delegates for the Continental Congress. I confess, to me there appears at least a plausibility in the scheme. What we wish, we easily believe.

I have already wrote you that I think it of importance to send sutlers into this Province. You are sensible that it will be next to impossible to procure hard money sufficient for maintaining an army here, and I am convinced that many articles may be brought over the Lakes into this Province to great advantage. Will it not, therefore, be well to give every possible encouragement for the bringing of every article wanted in this Province from the Colonies, not only for the use of the Army but for the people of the country. Possibly by that means we may gain a currency for our Continental money.

I expect, in a little time, to get matters in such a way here as to be able to leave this place, when I shall immediately proceed to our camp before Quebeck, and can then be under better advantages to determine what measures to pursue.

Mr. Pelissier, of Three-Rivers, tells me that he shall not be able to cast any shells for us till the 1st of May.

Colonel Arnold has not, as yet, sent me General Montgomery's letters and papers. When they arrive, I shall forward to you all such as are not necessary for the rule of my conduct, and shall certainly take particular care of the baggage of the dear, deceased General, and of your worthy Aid-de-camp.

Major Lockwood and Captain Rensselaer desire me to present their respects to you. I have appointed Captain Rensselaer Deputy Master-General. I found that it was impossible, consistently with the good of the service, to do any longer without one. Hope it will be approved of.

I am, dear sir, most respectfully, your very humble servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To General Schuyler.

P. S. I could wish that the Paymaster may be sent over as quick as possible, as we shall be able to make some little use of Continental money in paying the troops here. As we shall be obliged to make use of a considerable part of the hard cash now received, in paying sums that we have borrowed for a few days only, we shall in a very short time be in need of more.

Colonel Campbell sent in to Governor Carleton, by the flag of truce which came out for the prisoners' baggage, that he would gladly pay the value of General Montgomery's watch, if it could be procured, the consequence of which was, they sent out the watch without requiring pay, and I now send it to you by Colonel Ritzema.

Montreal, January 29, 1776.

DEAR GENERAL: I wrote you the 27th instant, since which I have received the papers and letters of our dear deceased General Montgomery, all which, except some few, which contain instructions for our operations in this country I now forward you by Major Ogden. I am informed that he commonly burnt all confidential letters from friends as he received them, so that there are none left, unless there may be some in the packet to Mr. Livingston.

I shall take particular care of his effects and Captain Macpherson's when I receive them. The Army accounts, receipts, &c., I shall be obliged to keep, for a few days, till I can get them copied, to prevent impositions. I have also received letters from Colonel Arnold, with an estimate of such artillery stores, &c., as he thinks necessary for the reduction of Quebeck, together with an inventory of such artillery, ammunition, stores, &c., as are at St. Foy's and Point-aux-Trembles. As I find the return of stores which has been made from St. John's is an imperfect one, I shall, to-morrow, send Major Lockwood to St. John's, in company with Major Ogden, (who will be on his way to the Colonies,) where he will make out, and enclose to you, an exact inventory of all the artillery, ammunition, stores, &c., which are in this Province in our possession. We have but one piece of cannon larger than a twelve-pounder, and that is a brass twenty-four. If it is possible to send us a few heavy cannon across the Lake, I think they will be highly necessary, as our small ones will make but little impression upon such a strong fortified place as Quebeck; besides, it will hardly answer to strip this garrison and St. John's entirely.

I enclose you a letter from Colonel Arnold to Congress, with his estimate, &c. You will see its contents, and if you think proper, send with it the inventory which Major Lockwood will make out. There is no need of suggesting to you the almost infinite importance of taking possession of that town, before they can obtain a reinforcement in the Spring, and therefore, the most vigorous measures ought to be used, and the greatest expedition in forwarding every thing necessary; more especially, as the Canadians and our friends here assure me, that by the middle of March the roads from this to Quebeck are impassable.

Of the few men who have arrived here, I find several of them have bad arms, and are obliged to wait in this place to have them repaired, and even then they are but bad. I could wish they might be better furnished, if it were possible, before they come into this country. I hope, before this reaches you, that the Rebels of Tryon County will be quelled, and their good arms put to a better use.

Accept of my best wishes for your health, success, and happiness, and believe me, respectfully, your most obedient and very humble servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To General Schuyler.

Montreal, February 11, 1776.

SIR: Your letter of the 26th ultimo I have received, in answer to which, give me leave to observe to you, that I also claim a right to be treated with the respect due to me as a gentleman and an officer intrusted with a command from the honourable the Representatives of Thirteen Colonies. Why, sir, are these positive mandates? Have I ever disputed your orders? Since I have been in the Army I have exerted every faculty to promote a union among the officers, and have carefully avoided every thing that might have the least tendency to cause jealousies; in short, sir, I have steadily and invariably pursued those measures that appeared to me conducive to the true interest of our country. How ungenerous, therefore, is it that an advantage should be taken of my conciliatory disposition. Yet, you will pardon me if I misjudge. I cannot account for your imperious conduct towards me upon any other principle. You will remember your letter to me while I was at St. John's, founded in falsehood, and which you could have no motive for writing but to insult me. I thought it, at that time, not worth answering, and shall, at present, take no further notice of it. I shall, however, send a copy of it to Congress, and of your last letter, together with copies of my own, except the one which you observe was wrote with unbecoming subacity; that is somehow mislaid, and I shall be obliged to you if you will forward it. I can remember nothing in it either disrespectful or subacid, and being confident nothing of that nature was intended, I presume the Congress will find that it is not expressed. As you have already complained to the honourable the Congress, I thought it my duty to show them what has passed between us, and they will judge which of us has the greatest reason to complain of ill treatment. For the present, let the matter rest, they will doubtless do justice. This is no time to altercation; the whole of our time is little enough to attend to the operations absolutely necessary for the defence of our country.

You will give me leave to inform you that the commanding officer who is with the Army is to give out orders, and is the only competent judge of what is proper, and what not, for the internal regulation of the Army, and for the immediate safety of this country.

Since the death of the worthy and brave General Montgomery (with whom I had the happiness to serve in the strictest harmony and friendship, and who ever treated me like a gentleman) the command devolves upon me, and I shall give out such orders as appear to me necessary for the public good, and shall send out of the country all prisoners and such persons as may be thought dangerous to our cause, as soon as it can be done with convenience. The returns of the Army shall be made out and transmitted to you. I shall also take care that your orders to General Montgomery are executed as far as is possible, and shall do every thing in my power to carry into execution every resolve of the Congress.

Mr. Jordan has accepted the bill for five hundred dollars. When it is paid, I shall credit the publick. I mentioned to you, in a former letter, that I thought it very necessary that an Artillery company, as well as artillery stores, &c., should be sent into this country. Should be glad to hear whether they can be spared from the Colonies or not, and what assistance of that nature we may expect.

I shall send a copy of this letter to Congress, and shall also enclose with this a copy of my letter to Congress; if there are any misrepresentations, you will have an opportunity to correct them.

I am, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To General Schuyler.

P. S. I will just observe further, that I think it would have been much more generous in you, to have pointed out to me the exceptionable part of my letters, before you complained to Congress.

Ticonderoga, October 23, 1775.

SIR: Being well informed that you have declared, on your way to this place, that if you were at St. John's, you would march into the Fort, at the head of your regiment; and as it is just that you should have an opportunity of showing your prowess and that of your regiment, I have desired General Montgomery to give you leave to make the attempt, if you choose. I do not wish, however, that you should be too lavish of your men's lives, unless you have a prospect of gaining the Fortress.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To General Wooster.

RUFUS PUTNAM TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Roxbury Camp, February 11, 1776.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY: You have enclosed a chart of some of the most important posts and rising ground in and near Boston, which is as exact as I am able to make from the little leisure I have had to take surveys of them. By this draft, it appears, that the enemy's works on the Neck is nearer the Causeway going to Dorchester-Point than Bunker Hill is to the covered way going on to Lechmere's Point. Therefore, if a covered way was necessary in that case, it will be in this. Should your Excellency think proper to order works thrown up on any part of the Point, how this covered way will be made is a question. To procure upland or marsh turf at this season, is, in my opinion, absolutely impossible, and nothing short of timber, instead of turf, will answer the purpose. The method I have thought of, is to side or hew the timber on two sides only, raising a single tier on the side of the Causeway, raising a parapet of stone and earth next the enemy, the timber to be well spliced together, and, if need be, a post with a brace in about fifty feet to support the timber against the stone and earth. I know stone are bad in a parapet, but as they are easily procured from the walls at Dorchester, and I think cannot be driven through the timber by any shot whatever, I would place them at the bottom, and cover the top with earth, which might be procured by opening a pit for that purpose. About two hundred rods is necessary to be made a covered way, which eighty tons of timber to raise one foot, and so in proportion to every foot the parapet is high.

I have been to the swamp I mentioned to your Excellency the other day, find it between twelve and thirteen miles from the lines of Dorchester; there is near one hundred tons already got out, besides a number of mill-logs; the carting from this place will be twelve shillings per ton. One hundred tons more may be had on these lands, if the swamp does not break, and, no doubt, but timber may be had in other places. What your Excellency may think of so costly a work I cannot tell, it is the only method I know of, but wish a better way may be found out. I hope your Excellency will pardon my officiousness in suggesting, that I think this work may be carried on with safety to the people employed, and to the cause in general, as the enemy cannot take possession of Dorchester-Hill at present. Can we, by any means, raise a covered way in this frozen season, it will be of no small consequence in taking possession of this ground in a favourable hour. The people who have been employed by Mr. Davis in getting the timber out of the swamp, will get no more unless your Excellency gives orders for it.

I remain, your Excellency's most obedient, humble servant,

RUFUS PUTNAM.

To General Washington.

MEMORIAL OF WEST-INDIA PLANTERS AND MERCHANTS, PRESENTED TO LORD GEORGE GERMAINE.

February 12, 1776.

Your memorialists, in consequence of your Lordships' inclination, publicly declared, to assist and relieve the Sugar Colonies, your memorialists held a general meeting on the 22d of December last, and another on the 7th instant, the result whereof has been to lay the following propositions before your Lordships.

That it is the opinion of your memorialists, that during the continuation of this calamitous war, and the interdiction of commerce with the associated Provinces in North America, no adequate consumption can be found but in Great Britain and Ireland for those parts of the produce of the Sugar Colonies which used to be given in exchange for lumber and provisions, and consumed in North America.

That it is the opinion of your memorialists, that stopping the distillation of grain in Great Britain and Ireland, (in like manner as it was stopped in Great Britain by the acts of Parliament passed in the 30th, 32d, and 33d years of the reign of His Majesty King George the Second;) would materially promote such consumption, and thereby enable them to purchase some provisions and lumber wherever they may be found.

That it is the opinion of your memorialists, that reducing the duty of excise payable upon the importation of rum into Great Britain and Ireland, and from spirits drawn from molasses in Great Britain and Ireland, so far as to accommodate its price to the various uses of manufactures and consumption, to which spirituous liquors are commonly applied, would materially promote such consumption.

Your memorialists having thus submitted to your Lordships their sentiments of what may afford some immediate, though inadequate relief to their impending distress, are nevertheless of opinion, that peace only, and only such a peace as will restore the ancient intercourse between the West-India Islands and the Northern Continent of America, to the general harmony and lasting benefit of the whole British empire, can effectually prevent the evils with which they are more than threatened.

That your memorialists have informed your Lordships of their wants and their propositions for relief, are anxious to be forthwith enabled to give such directions to their agents abroad for the future management of their property and concerns as may correspond with the countenance and encouragement they hope to receive from Administration.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO WILLIAM SPEAR.

[No. 13.]

Annapolis, February 12, 1776.

SIR: We are sorry to hear of the seizure of the vessels you mention in yours of the 7th; however, we hope the report about Neill's schooner may not be true. As we may probably think of giving some further instructions to your Captain, we shall take it as a favour if, when he comes down, you will accompany him. We are, &c.

To William Spear, Esq.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO DELEGATES IN CONGRESS.

[No. 14.]

Annapolis, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The Convention in consequence of the desire of the Congress, had ordered three companies of our Minute-Men to march to the assistance of the Counties of Acomack and Northampton, in Virginia; two of them are already, as we hear, at their stations, and you will see by the enclosed, the reason why the other is prevented from complying with the orders of the Convention. We would, were it in our power, with great readiness spare the arms wanted. Since the rising of the Convention till Friday last, we have not heard from the Eastern Shore. The communication having been cut off by the frost, we send you the letters, that you may know the state of the affairs, and, if necessary, apprize the Congress of it.

We are, &c.

To the Deputies for Maryland, in Congress.

STEPHEN WEST TO GABRIEL DUVAL.

Woodyard, Monday, February 12, 1776.

SIR: I received your letter of the 6th, by order of the Council of Safety, respecting my powder and gun-locks. As to the first, a certificate and receipt with the other papers were lodged some days past by my son with the Treasurer, who, as I wanted the money, was so civil as to pay it to my son. If any formality further is necessary, I must pray the favour of the honourable Council of Safety, and grant it, the powder and lead, upon producing my receipt, and their order will be instantly delivered. Mean time, it is under the care and eye of the Committee—the quantity five hundred and seventy-five pounds powder, sixteen hundred pounds of lead and shot. As to gun-locks, I was desired when I was at Annapolis to keep what I had, and what cuttoo knives also. I sent upon account of both, viz: ninety-two gun-locks, price from seven shillings six pence, to sixteen shillings six pence—the average, thirteen shillings three pence, which I believe you will find among the Secret Committee papers. The qualities are various—some plain, some single bridle, some double, but all pretty good as those prices can afford. We have some locks hereabouts that cost eighteen shillings, sterling, at London, and I have seen some at thirty-seven shillings six pence, sterling. Those I have will, I believe, do pretty well. I could have sold them to better advantage to the Virginia agents, but as I supposed sometime or other our people would prepare for defence, and my smith's repairing fire-arms, and wanting locks, I kept them. I am very indifferent about selling them, but if the honourable Council of Safety desire to have them they are at their service. I believe I may have one hundred. I bought most of them in the South Branch of Virginia. As to the cuttoes, I have two hundred and thirty-one, as you will see by the account. My brimstone cost me more than the publick officers. I lost not a moment in communicating the letter directed to T. C., S. W., and W. T. W., and setting engines to work, and I believe we shall succeed, but we want money to exchange. Of this more hereafter. My best respects attend the honourable Council, and am, sir, your very humble servant,

STEPHEN WEST.

To Mr. Gabriel Duval, Clerk of the Council of Safety.

THOMAS CONTEE AND OTHERS TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Upper-Marlborough, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: We received yours of the 2d instant, with the appointment, and have immediately set about the business. We find it may be necessary to have cash in hand to give exchange for specie, as we shall get small sums in many hands, and people will prefer having the money at the time they give up their gold and silver. This mode would save us much trouble, and we presume that it would forward the business. If you was to send us down fifteen hundred pounds, common money, immediately, by some safe hand, and each of us would be accountable for five hundred pounds. We wish it may be in our power to collect a much larger sum in this County. If so, we shall apply for more when we return the former sum in specie.

We are, gentlemen, with great respect, your most obedient servants,

THOMAS CONTEE,
STEPHEN WEST,
WILLIAM T. WOOTTON.

To the Honourable Council of Safety of Maryland.

COLONEL H. HOLLINGSWORTH TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Cecil County, Head of Elk, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: On my return home, I find our commissions for this battalion are not come to hand, which induces me to conclude they are not made out, and in the return, now with you, I apprehend an Adjutant is omitted. I am this day desired (by Colonel Charles Rumsey, who is now called from home) to recommend to your Honours, Mr. James Luker, as a suitable person for Adjutant for this Battalion, and to pray in his behalf, that a commission be made out for said Luker, (as Adjutant), to come up with the other commissions for the battalion, with the bearers Messrs. Ewing and Gilpin, if convenient; as some of the companies are rather ticklish, the forwarding the commissions may be of particular service.

Permit me, in behalf of Colonel Rumsey, to style myself, gentlemen, your most obedient, and most humble servant,
H. HOLLINGSWORTH, Lieutenant-Colonel.

To the Honourable Council of Safety of Maryland.

GEORGE STRICKER TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Fredericktown, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Mr. Thomas Smyth, my First Lieutenant, waits on you, to receive the money necessary to arm and equip my company. The sum you will see by the enclosed estimate. I hope you will not delay sending the money, as we are retarded by nothing but the want of necessaries.

I am, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,
GEORGE STRICKER.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

JOHN HARRISON, JUN., TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.
 Fredericktown, February 12, 1776.

SIR: By direction of the Committee, I transmitted to the last Convention, an account of the expenses of conveying and guarding the powder, &c., sent by order of the Council of Safety to Baltimore, which, I am told, the Convention allowed. The persons employed by the Committee look to them for their money. I am, therefore, desirous to request you will be pleased to send it up by the bearer, Mr. Elia Williams. The amount you have below, exclusive of the wages to the officer of the guard, whose allowance was left to the Convention, which I presume they settled.

I am, gentlemen, your most humble servant,
 JOHN HARRISON, JUN.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

THOMAS EWING TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Baltimore, February 12, 1776.

HONOURABLE SIRS: I now acquaint you, that agreeable to your orders directed to Major Gist and myself, I have proved all the guns made by the gunsmiths in town, as below, in company with Mr. Vanbibber, who has seen them several times tried in England. Mr. Keener, after seeing the rest tried, refused to have his proved; but upon my threatening a good deal, he complied. We charged all the guns with one ounce of powder, and two balls. I have a proof-stamp, with which I stamped all that proved good, which stamp I will not deliver to any, without your orders.

I have the honour to be, your most obedient, humble servant,

THOMAS EWING.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

WILLIAM NEILL TO CHARLES CARROLL.

Baltimore, February 12, 1776.

SIR: Before this, no doubt, you have heard of the ill fate of the schooner Nancy, at St. Eustatia. I have as yet no letters from my Captain or supercargo. I daily expect to hear from them; as soon as I do, shall advise you. As to the vessel's being taken, that account is confirmed different ways, which I am sorry for. I have provided a cargo of flour some time ago, expecting the schooner in, and had no doubt of her bringing ammunition, which would have got me a permission to have loaded her out on my own account. I have a good deal of money due me from St. Croix, a Danish Island, near to St. Eustatia. If your honourable Council would give me liberty to send a schooner I now have here, to that place, where I have a number of correspondents, which I know to be true friends to our cause, and will go any lengths to serve us with such things as we may want, I would load her with three or four thousand red-oak staves, some flour, and Indian meal, and corn, and send her immediately to St. Croix, where my Captain, with the assistance of my friends there, would get all the powder that could be got in that island, and could go over to St. Eustatia; leave my vessel at St. Croix; purchase such goods as I wanted; order powder, &c., if to be got, and take it to St. Croix in a small craft, where it might, with great safety, be put on board my vessel. The money that is due me there, and the cargo I would send out, would, I think, buy near two thousand pounds value of a back cargo. So eligible is this plan to me, that I have laid it before you, that if you give me permission, I will risk it all on my own account, and will give all the arms, ammunition, &c., I may get in, the first offer of all, to the Council of Safety. Should you be afraid, that by granting me this permission, you would be troubled with many other applications, it need not be known to any, but that she goes on account of the Province.

Sir, you will please excuse me troubling you, as you are the only gentleman of the Council I have the honour to be acquainted with.

Pray favour me with an answer by the first opportunity, and you will much oblige, sir, your very humble servant,
 WILLIAM NEILL.

To the Honourable Charles Carroll, a Member of the Council of Safety.

CHESTER COUNTY (PENNSYLVANIA) COMMITTEE.

In Committee, Chester County, February 12, 1776.

Resolved, That Benjamin Brannan, Walter Finney, and John Beaton, be, and they are hereby, appointed to attend the Saltpetre Works in Philadelphia, in order to obtain a competent knowledge of the method of making that article, as practised there, that they may be qualified to exhibit the process to such of the inhabitants of this County, whose publick virtue and patriotism may lead them to enter into the manufacture of that useful and necessary commodity; and Caleb Davis, Doctor Kennedy, and William Montgomery, are appointed to receive all the Saltpetre that shall be made in this County, and also pay for the same agreeable to the Resolve of the Committee of Safety.

Resolved, That each Member of this Committee will go through their respective Townships, to collect good Blankets for the use of Colonel Wayne's Battalion, to be delivered in Chester, to Colonel F. Johnson, who will pay such price for the same, on account of the Congress, as the said Committee have agreed for with the Inhabitants.

Resolved, That the Inhabitants of Chester, Marcus Hook, and the adjacent neighbourhood, be requested immediately to form one Artillery Company, to consist of forty-five Privates, one Captain, a Captain-Lieutenant, and a First and Second Lieutenant, and four Sergeants, who will be supplied with the necessary field-pieces, &c., for accommodating the same.

By order of the Committee:

F. JOHNSON, Secretary.

To the Inhabitants of the Northwest District of the County of CHESTER:

Pursuant to a Resolve of the Committee of Inspection for the County of Chester, the subscriber having attended at the Manufactory, in the city of Philadelphia, and having received all the necessary information and instructions respecting the process of making Saltpetre, hereby gives notice, that he will attend at the house of Mr. Johnson, in East-Whiteland, on the 1st and 2d of March; at the house of Mr. Culbertson, at the Yellow-Springs, on the 4th and 5th; at the house of Mr. McKnight, in West-Nantmeal, on the 7th and 8th; at the house of Mr. Brumback, in Vincent, on the 11th and 12th; at the house of Mr. Gibbons, in West-Nantmeal, on the 14th and 15th of said month, in order to teach and instruct all such persons as may be influenced by patriotism to engage in this laudable undertaking, so peculiarly necessary and interesting in the present critical juncture, at which several times and places the process is intended to be shown to all who may please to attend.

JOHN BEATON.

To the Inhabitants of the County of CHESTER.

Pursuant to the recommendation of the Committee of Safety for the Province of Pennsylvania, to the Committee of Inspection for the County of Chester, Benjamin Brannan, Walter Finney, and John Beaton, were appointed to attend the Saltpetre Manufactory, in the city of Philadelphia, in order to perfect themselves in said art. We having complied therewith, do hereby give notice to all those whose publick virtue and patriotick spirit would excite them to such a valuable and necessary undertaking at this crisis of time, that attendance will be given at the house of Mrs. Withy, in the borough of Chester, on the 1st and 2d of March; at the house of Mr. Hood, in Oxford, on the 4th and 5th; at the house of Mr. Miller, in Birmingham, on the 6th and 7th; at the house of Mr. Powell, in Newtown, on the 8th and 9th; at the house of Mr. Bell, in Kennet, on the 12th and 13th; and at the house of Walter Finney, in New-London, on the 14th and 15th of said month, in order to teach and instruct all persons who may please to apply at the times and places above-mentioned.

BENJAMIN BRANNAN,
WALTER FINNEY.

PRESIDENT HANCOCK TO NEW-JERSEY CONGRESS.

Philadelphia, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The arrival of troops at New-York, the importance of that place to the welfare of America, and the necessity of throwing up a number of works to prevent our enemies from landing and taking post there, render it necessary that a number of troops should immediately join General Lee. I am, therefore, desired to apply to you, and request you would, with all possible expedition, send detachments of your Minute-Men, equal to a battalion, (under proper officers, and well armed and accoutred,) to New-York, there to be under the command of General Lee.

Your approved zeal in the cause of your country gives me the strongest assurance that you will with alacrity embrace this opportunity of giving aid to your neighbours, and that your people will cheerfully engage in a service by which they will not only render a very essential service to their country, but also have an opportunity of acquiring military skill and knowledge in the construction of field-works, and the method of fortifying and intrenching camps, by which they will be the better able, when occasion calls, to defend their rights and liberties.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient humble servant,
JOHN HANCOCK, President.

To the Honourable Convention of New-Jersey.

PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS TO GENERAL LEE.

Philadelphia, February 12, 1776.

SIR: Your letter of the 9th instant I this morning received, and immediately laid before Congress, who, without delay, paying that attention to it which the intelligence therein contained required, despatched an order to the Convention of New-Jersey, and made application to the Committee of Safety of Pennsylvania, requesting them to send immediately to your assistance, from each of their respective Colonies, detachments from the Minute-Men and Associators equal to a battalion, from each Colony. The battalion from New-Jersey, which lies contiguous, will, I hope, be with you in two or three days. A ton of powder is, also, ordered to be sent forward to you, with all possible expedition. The four battalions ordered to be raised in Pennsylvania, are, I understand, in great forwardness. The Congress have given orders to have a return made of those enlisted.

That God may restore you to health, and crown your endeavours in defence of liberty with success, is the sincere and ardent prayer of, sir, your most humble servant,

JOHN HANCOCK, President.

To Major-General Lee, at New-York.

P. S. The Congress will determine, as soon as possible, respecting an Hospital, and you shall know the result.

AN EARNEST APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

Philadelphia, February 12, 1776.

I cannot recall an idea to my mind more amazingly absurd and stupid, than the idea of Lord North's second attempt to gull the Colonists into a belief of his inclination to hold out to them terms of a safe and amicable reconciliation with Great Britain. No one is ignorant that the Americans have offered every thing that can possibly be devised, to bury the injurious and enslaving claim of Administration in perpetual oblivion, and leave matters on the same footing they were before the pretence was held up. Those generous proposals, however often repeated, have as often been rejected with an insolent contempt; and yet, the profound politician tells his opponents in the British House of Commons, that he is heartily inclined to a reconciliation with the Colonies, and willing to put them in the situation they so passionately desire; that is, (says he to a Courtier demanding explanation,) in a state of absolute dependance on the British Parliament in all cases whatsoever; for, says his Lordship, they were unquestionably thus dependant in 1763.

Had his Lordship entirely forgot the success of his former experiments, perhaps a trial of the same wretched trick over again, might have appeared less ridiculous; I may, indeed, say, less insulting to the lowest understanding. I would ask the most credulous votary for making up the dispute, what possible grounds they perceive to found their expectation of a permanent reconciliation upon? Has any thing lately turned up which has indicated a change of disposition in the Prince or his favourites? Can a majority which have been secured from one seven years to another, by pure force of corruption, be depended on to remain firm to a slaughtering, plundering, and desolating Court, and share the detestation of present and future ages for mere nothing? Has the Court resolved to cast Bernard, Hutchinson and daughter, Richardson, the murderer, crazy John Malcolm, and Richardson, the recent volunteer, out on the community? I tell you nay.

You have a fresh instance of the firmness of the Cabinet, in adding another three thousand pound pensioner to the list, in a conjuncture when all mankind will confess there is need of saving. These burdensome pensions must come from some part of the dominions. If Great Britain and Ireland have conceived such a mortal hatred to America that they can hug her most inveterate enemies in their bosom, and vote them such munificent rewards for drawing her into so destructive a civil war, we cannot be safe in the power of such enemies. If they abound in resources as largely as Mr. Wedderburne and others boast they do, let them cease complaining of their poverty, and contentedly discharge their own national debt, rather than go on augmenting it by their efforts to saddle it, with an unlimited pension list, on America.

Does the nation bear the weight of the present unnatural quarrel with America, on other terms than a firm assurance of the Court that millions of leading men's dependants shall be provided for in America, for whom places can by no means be found at home. Is not the very genius of the people of Great Britain and Ireland corrupted, inasmuch that the views of young fellows of education, or any connexion with men of note, are altogether set on public money? Can our peaceable men indulge a gleam of hope that this humour will alter, or that youths, bred in idleness and dissipation, will become industrious and disinterested patriots? If not, they must then be so weak as to conceit that Ministers will become less fond of fingering the public money, and securing themselves in places of power and profit by means of it—indeed, that they will become more honest and saving of the national money than those the Constitution has appointed as a check upon them.

It is no wonder they tell of sending a formidable fleet and army to bring over their terms of reconciliation, when they are in no one article different from the terms they first aimed to impose. Had the Minister, or more properly the obstinate author of all our troubles, had the remotest idea of favouring us with a Government of laws, which had any respect to the security of our lives and properties, he had long since granted, with a good grace, petitions, made and repeated with the most dutiful and persevering affection, which asked for nothing more? Sed aut Caesar aut nullus, seems the unalterable determination of the man, who soothed our already elated expectations, by an inaugural declaration that he gloried in the name of Briton, then a distinctive characteristic of the patrons of universal liberty. If, therefore, the whole body of the governing and influential part of the governed, in Great Britain, be unalterably set upon extorting tribute from the Colonies; and the better to secure the collection of it, claims right to impose laws, and executors of those laws, dependant only on themselves for appointment, continuance, and support, and all these to be extended at their sole pleasure, it may readily be determined in what condition the absolutely passive subjects of such an unnatural usurpation would quickly be. It is evident they have concluded on two things, viz:

to make a bold push for our entire subjection, as their ends would be thereby more readily answered; but that being found impracticable, we are to be tried with negotiation, in which all the craft, duplicity, and punick faith of Administration is to be expected. Pray God, it may be wisely and firmly guarded against! The honourable and worthy John Collins, Esq., of Newport, Rhode-Island, on the arrival of Lorb North's last conciliatory plan, observed, that notwithstanding the exposure of his large estate to whatever depredations the enemy saw fit to make upon it, he was more concerned for the probable success of their arts than arms. Had the Americans in general the wisdom and firmness of that gentleman, matters would never have come to the present melancholy lengths we find them. However, in the great and general plan of Him who putteth down and setteth up States, this is, doubtless, an indispensable part, and, therefore, not to be complained of; but it has amazed me to contemplate the numerous instances of disappointment our enemies have met with in every plot they have laid for our destruction. How did Bernard and Hutchinson flatter themselves with the number of friends they had in several towns of the Massachusetts, and thought that a very trifling force from the other side of the water, added to their minions, dependants, and expectants, would crush a little turbulent faction who disturbed their darling measures? Certainly, men intoxicated with a lust of absolute power, found something in the appearance of things to tole them on to an object so grateful to their fondest wishes; otherwise they would have been contented to augment and confirm their power by such unperceived degrees, that the happy days many tell us we have enjoyed under a continually invading usurpation, would not yet have been so sensibly interrupted. No less has the so often extolled Governor Tryon been disappointed in his benevolent intentions respecting New-York. His band on Long-Island, and on the east side of Hudson's River, with Sir John Johnson among his vassals, and the Indians, gave him great hopes of having matters in a fine train before the invincible Armada arrived in the Spring; instead of which, it is probable the active General Lee will so fortify that place, that all the force they can spend against it will be insufficient to reduce it. Dunmore, with all his wanton ravage, has done little more than exasperate the Virginians, and convinced that brave Colony, that they can be formidable to Savages on the east as well as the west side of their Dominion. Carleton's Canadians make no such figure in the harangues of the pensioner, as they did last year; and in case foreigners are to be procured to be poured in upon us, the greatest opposers of our total separation from Britain acknowledge they would then no longer defer a declaration of independency, and application to other powers for their protection. To this the whole scene appears rapidly advancing, in my view, as hastily as Infinite Wisdom thinks proper to conduct it; and if this be His most gracious design, He will work, and none shall hinder.

SINCERUS.

COLONEL DAYTON TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

(Read February 13.—Referred to Mr. Smith, Mr. Bartlett, Mr. Adams.)
Philadelphia, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Being just honoured with the appointments of two of the Field-Officers of the Third Jersey Battalion, we take the freedom of requesting your attention to a very interesting matter. We are determined to exert ourselves in raising and equipping our regiment in the best and most speedy manner, but are well aware of the difficulty we shall meet with in procuring all the arms within our own Province; certainly it cannot be accomplished without disarming the Militia in such a manner as to leave the Province (a great part of which is a frontier country) in a very defenceless and dangerous situation, almost three regiments having been armed by it already. Being informed that a considerable number of arms have lately arrived, and others daily expected, we earnestly request you to grant us (if possible) such a supply, as to yourselves may seem meet, by which means our battalion will be armed as soon as raised. Should we be confined to the arms now in the Province, we shall strip our Militia, the recruits will long be inactive, and, when called to action, be unacquainted with the firelock. We shall, gentlemen, exert our utmost endeavours to procure what we can within ourselves, and should it please you to render us a small supply, we hope, as soon as our men are raised, to have arms to put into their hands.

We are, gentlemen, with the greatest respect, your very humble servants,

ELIAS DAYTON,
FRANCIS BARBER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

SAMUEL BAYARD TO JOHN McKESSON.

At Mr. Nicholas Bayard's, February 12, 1776.

SIR: Soon after my coming here yesterday afternoon, having occasion to go out of the house, I was a little surprised at finding myself closely attended by a guard, and upon remarking this to the officer commanding, at being told that he looked upon me as a close prisoner. I never have any objections to a person's doing what he esteems his duty; and, therefore, readily submitted. But as this treatment is rather different from what I supposed to be the intention of the Committee, I thought it necessary to acquaint you with it. Their intention, I supposed, was that I should be in custody, with liberty, however, to use my recreation of walking about the house, upon my parole not to quit the records. This engagement I will readily give, and shall esteem it a favour if you will procure these orders to be explained. I shall also be obliged to you if you will send me a certified copy of the first order, by which the records, and my person, were taken into custody and removed hither.

I am, dear sir, your most obedient servant,

SAMUEL BAYARD, JUN.

To John McKesson, Esq.

THOMAS PALMER TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

Newburgh, in Ulster County, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Mr. William Martin, of New-Marlborough Precinct, in Ulster County, has enlisted fifty-seven men towards a company, for the standing troops to be raised for this Province the ensuing season. The enclosed papers will fully show the laudable principles he set out upon, which I recommend to your consideration. I have encouraged him that I did not doubt but they will meet with your approbation. Mr. Martin is a worthy man, much attached to the liberties of his country, and no doubt a good soldier, as he served three campaigns the last war, and was distinguished for a man of courage. You will understand by one of the enclosed papers, he has the recommendation of the Committee of his Precinct, and as he has been at considerable cost and trouble in raising those men for so necessary a purpose, I beg you will favour him with a warrant for filling up his company. People in general, in this County, are very spirited for the cause, and I make no doubt but one-fourth part of our Militia would enlist in the standing forces if wanted.

I am, very respectfully, gentlemen, your most humble servant,

THOMAS PALMER.

To the Chairman of the Provincial Congress for the Province of New-York.

ROBERT R. RANDALL TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 12, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Understanding that there is to be raised, in this Province, some battalions, and being desirous of serving my much injured country in a military capacity, (though totally unacquainted with any of its branches,) induces me to offer myself as a candidate for a company in the First Battalion, in expectation that the Field-Officers will be men of ability, and equal to the important charge of conducting a regiment, in the Cabinet as well as in the field, and doubt not but that such an appointment will be made as will do honour to the Province, as well as effectually serve our just cause.

I am, gentlemen, yours to serve,

ROBERT R. RANDALL.

To the Honourable the Provincial Congress for the Province of New-York.

GENERAL ARNOLD TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Camp before Quebec, February 12, 1776.

DEAR SIR: My last was of the 1st of February, since which nothing has occurred worth notice, except several desertions from the garrison, who are much distressed for fuel, and must soon burn their houses and shipping; they are at short allowance of provisions, and obliged to mount guard every other night, which has made great uneasiness among the seamen, who are the principal part of the garrison.

I have just received the resolves of the honourable Continental Congress as late as 10th of January, and beg leave to present them my respectful compliments and sincere thanks for the honourable mark of esteem they have been pleased to confer on me, which I shall study to deserve.

The multiplicity of accounts which daily arise here, and many which originated in the life of General Montgomery, together with those of the Commissaries and Quartermasters (which, in my opinion, ought often to be adjusted) as well as those of Colonel Livingston's Regiment, and many others, which are intricate, and do not immediately fall under my particular department, renders it impossible for a commanding officer to pay that attention to them which they deserve, and, at the same time, do his duty as a soldier. I have, therefore, to request that the honourable Continental Congress would take into their consideration, the directing the Paymaster to adjust those accounts, or appointing a Committee for that purpose, who, I make no doubt, would find full employment, prevent many frauds, and greatly accelerate the publick business.

We have been reinforced with only one hundred and seventy-five men; our whole force is about eight hundred effective men. We have about two hundred sick and unfit for duty, near fifty of them with the small-pox. The Canadians, in most of the Parishes, mount for their own safety.

I am, with great esteem, dear sir, your most obedient and very humble servant,

B. ARNOLD.

To the Honourable John Hancock.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Lebanon, February 12, 1776.

SIR: I received your two favours of the 8th instant; have also received, per Bacon, the remittance for the expenses of the French gentlemen to Philadelphia. I had no design to have ever called on you for the money paid our troops under your immediate command, but to have accounted with the Congress, had we not been unexpectedly drained of cash and had pressing calls upon us, two or three ways at once. That to the northward could not possibly have been answered, but for the seasonable arrival of the Continental supply, just sufficient for that purpose. Our other demands, for the common service, are many. The men, for the short service with you, could not have marched without some money, which they have, I trust,

NEW-YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

In Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York,
during the recess of the Provincial Congress,
Die Mercurii, A. M., January 3, 1776. }

Several gentlemen of the Committee of Safety have attended daily since the recess of Congress, but have not had Members sufficient to form a Quorum, until this day, when the following gentlemen attended, to wit:

Colonel Pierre Van Cortlandt, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.
The gentlemen present unanimously chose Colonel Pierre Van Cortlandt, Chairman of the Committee of Safety.

Mr. Nicholas Low, attended on the Committee, and offered to them four hundred and sixty-five quarter casks of Gunpowder. The Committee agreed to pay Mr. Low twenty Pounds per hundred, for the said Gunpowder, which is the price Mr. Low requests.

Mr. Low agrees to deliver eighteen quarter casks of the said Gunpowder, to the order of this Committee, in Elizabethtown, and the residue in the City of New-York, to the order of this Committee, in two equal moieties, in two different nights.

The Committee adjourned to three o'clock, P. M. wholly expended for necessary clothing, &c. I, therefore, could have wished it had been in your power to have remitted the sum advanced by our Pay-Table, but shall do every thing in my power that the common interest do not suffer.

I am greatly concerned for the scarcity of powder and arms. We have not half a sufficiency for ourselves, as the circumstances may be, yet anxious to furnish you, for the common good, with every supply in our power, have ordered a quantity of gunpowder, lately arrived at Bedford, in Dartmouth, carted to and now lying at Providence, on account of this Colony, to be sent you with all possible expedition. Three thousand weight of this we conclude to order to Major Thompson, Agent for the Massachusetts Colony, on account of money he supplied to Mr. Shaw, the importer, for that end, and you will consult him or them concerning the use of it. I suppose the whole to be upwards of six thousand weight, the residue, on account of this Colony, for which shall expect payment, or to be replaced, as shall be hereafter chosen by us. I shall send you, this week, twenty or thirty stand of good arms. I have not certain advice from every quarter, but, I believe, our three regiments are all on the march to your camp, except those already arrived there.

I have much more agreeable intelligence from General Lee and the New-York Congress than I expected. I cannot but hope propitious Heaven will smile success on that most timely and judicious exertion of your Excellency to prevent our enemies possessing themselves of that important station. I have the pleasure to enclose you a copy of General Lee's letter. In compliance with his request, we have already sent orders to Colonel Ward to repair again, forthwith, to New-York.

I am, sir, with the greatest esteem and regard, your most obedient, humble servant,

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

To His Excellency General Washington.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO WILLIAM BARTLETT.

Cambridge, February 12, 1776.

SIR: I laid your letter of the 10th instant before his Excellency. He was much surprised at your fresh demand for two thousand dollars; indeed, so was I. There is now upwards of ten thousand dollars advanced upon these armed vessels, and very few accounts yet brought in. It is his Excellency's will, that you send in yours as soon as possible. Let the owners of the schooners make out abstracts for their vessels, from the time of their being engaged in the service to the 31st December, for amount of which, warrants will be given them. Enclosed is a form for their government. By this means you will not want money to pay them, and when you send your account, if money is necessary, it will be given you. I am, sir, yours, &c.

To William Bartlett, Esq., Beverly.

3 ho. P. M., January 3, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.

A draft of a Letter to Jonathan Hampton, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Elizabethtown, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York,
during the recess of the Provincial Congress,
New-York, January 3, 1776. }

SIR: We have obtained a very small supply of powder, which enables us to repay that so kindly lent us by the good people of your Colony, for the use of the Continental Army. We have directed eighteen quarter casks to be delivered to you, or your order, to repay the quantities borrowed of the respective Committees of Elizabethtown, Woodbridge, and New-Brunswick, and request you to take the trouble of delivering to each their proper quantity.

We were only a conveyance of that loan to the Continental Army, and we take this first opportunity in our power to repay it, with our most grateful acknowledgments, which we pray you to communicate.

We are most respectfully, sir, your very humble servants.

To Jonathan Hampton, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Elizabethtown.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Ordered, That so much of the said Gunpowder, now purchased by this Committee, as shall be sold, be sold at the rate of five Shillings per pound, and that no greater quantity than half a pound be sold to any one person.

Colonel McDougall informed the Committee that some days ago he received a Letter from Mr. Lewis Pintard, informing him that a Vessel from Hispaniola, with Gunpowder on board, was on this coast; that he apprehended Delaware-River was so obstructed with ice that the Vessel would not be able to enter there; and that, therefore, there is reason to expect her to attempt coming into this port; and that Mr. Pintard had further informed him that if this Vessel succeeded in her voyage, an Armed Vessel was ready at Hispaniola to follow her with a like cargo.

Colonel McDougall further informed the Committee, that no proper Pilot-Boat could be obtained to go to Sandy-Hook, to look out for the said Vessel, to navigate her to a place of safety, and that by the advice of the other Members of the Committee then present, he had purchased a Whale-Boat, with oars, for twenty-seven Dollars, and had employed Captain William Dobbs, at ten Shillings per day, and four other men at five Shillings per day, each, besides their necessary provisions and expenses, and given to them proper directions, and sent them to Sandy-Hook, to watch and look out for the said Vessel, there to remain eight days, if the said Vessel did not arrive sooner.

The Committee of Safety fully approved of, and ratified the said agreement made by Colonel McDougall, and direct him to return an account of the expense to this Committee, as soon as he can ascertain the same.

Colonel McDougall further informed the Committee, that by advice of the other Members of the Committee then present, he had detained Robert Barber, John Bain, and James Henry, three persons experienced in preparing Artillery Stores, (and who had been determined to go to Philadelphia,) that he had agreed with them at three Shillings per day each, besides some allowance for provisions, and they are now gone to work in the Laboratory at the Upper Barracks.

The Committee fully approve of, and confirm this agreement.

Mr. Bernard Romans, the Engineer, attending at the door, was called in. He produced a Plan of the Fortifications at the Highlands, which, with Mr. Romans's explanations thereof were considered by the Committee. After some time spent therein, the Committee conceived it proper that Mr. Romans be permitted to lay his Plan, with his explanations thereof, before the Continental Congress, that they may have every information that can be offered them relating to the state of, and place of erecting the said Fortifications.

Thereupon a draft of a Letter to the honourable the Continental Congress, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

SIR: As it is an object of great moment with us, as well as the Continental Congress, to have the important pass on Hudson-River properly secured and fortified, we think it our duty to furnish them with all possible information on the subject; for this purpose we send Mr. Romans, the Engineer, employed in that department, who is prepared to lay before Congress his drafts, with the necessary information. We beg leave to mention, that the place at which the works are erected, was fixed before Mr. Romans was employed in the service, and from his ideas of the matter, the place cannot be rendered sufficiently secure for a lodgment of troops, and to answer the end of a fortified pass, without more expense than our Commissioners, appointed to superintend that business, think prudent, besides which, they observe, that his scheme cannot be completely executed with that despatch the service may require. Mr. Palmer, in conjunction with the rest of the Committee appointed by our Congress, to remove the difficulties occasioned by a difference of opinion between the Commissioners and Engineer, has doubtless pointed out to Congress certain places on the river, which would better answer the purposes of a temporary defence, and at much less expense than will necessarily attend the execution of Mr. Romans's scheme. We are fully of opinion, that the places in Mr. Palmer's proposal ought by all means be covered with Fortifications, that will cost but little, and command two considerable reaches of the river. We at the same time submit it to the consideration of Congress how far the completion of the Fortifications already begun, ought to be carried on, either upon Mr. Romans's plan, or that which has doubtless been proposed by Mr. Palmer, as the sense of our Committee, who were sent to view the works. We hope that this application, while Mr. Palmer is attending on the Congress, will not be construed to his disadvantage. Had we been possessed of Mr. Romans's plan in its present complete state, and had he been in town at the time of Mr. Palmer's departure, we should have required his accompanying that gentlemen; and as there is some prospect that Mr. Romans may reach Philadelphia before the plan of Fortification is finally determined by Congress, we should think ourselves inexcusable in withholding from them any means for enabling them to determine so important a matter on the best lights in our power to furnish.

We are, sir, with the greatest respect, your most obedient, humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the Honourable the President of the Continental Congress, Philadelphia.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of this Congress, advance to Mr. Bernard Romans, as Engineer at the Fortifications on the banks of Hudson-River, in the Highlands, the sum of fifty Dollars, on account of his pay, and take Mr. Romans's receipt for the same.

Ordered, That Mr. William Louther be permitted to supply one hoghead of Rum, or Spirits, to the Purser, or Officers of His Majesty's Ship Phoenix, and to have the same conveyed on board of the said Ship.

The Petition of George Coffin, expressing his contrition for his past conduct, asking pardon of his countrymen, and praying to be restored, was read and filed.

The Committee conceive they are not enabled to grant the prayer of the said Petition.

Ordered, That it be deferred for the consideration of the Provincial Congress, and recommended to the Congress by this Committee.

Die Jovis, 10 ho. A. M., January 4, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.

A draft of a Letter to the Chairman of the respective Committees in several Counties, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

New-York, January 2, 1776.

SIR: We are well informed that the late General Assembly of this Colony is dissolved, and that writs are already made out for electing Representatives in the several Counties so early, as that they may meet in General Assembly at New-York, on the 14th of next month, and that they will be summoned to meet on that day. Government for some reasons has thought proper as yet to delay the publication of the dissolution of the late Assembly. We will not take upon us to assign any reasons for this secrecy—you may easily conjecture the cause. We have thought it our indispensable duty to give you the above intelligence, that you and the friends to liberty in your County may not be taken unaware, and surprised into an election, without time to consult and prepare for it. We pray you to speak to the leading friends of liberty in your County, get some of them to meet and determine on men of zeal, spirit, and integrity, and friends to their country, to represent you in this perilous day. When you have fixed on proper men, let no time be lost in taking every necessary care and pains to secure their election.

Ordered, That five several copies thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and that one be directed to Dirck Wynkoop, Esq., at Kingston, another to Abraham Yates, Jun., Esq., at Albany, another to the Chairman of the Committee of Tryon County, another to Jonathan G. Tompkins, Chairman of the Committee of Westchester County, and another to Colonel Joseph Drake, at New-Rochelle; which was done accordingly.

Mr. Thomas McFarran, attending, was called in; the Committee conversed with him on the subject of shipping Flaxseed to Ireland to obtain Gunpowder.

Thereupon a draft of a Letter to the Continental Congress, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York, during } the recess of Congress, January 4, 1776. }

GENTLEMEN: We have engaged two vessels to despatch with produce to Europe, for the purpose of procuring arms and ammunition, but the season of the year has prevented wheat from coming to market to expedite them so early as we could wish, to have a return in proper time. In these difficulties, we are unable to get bills of exchange, or gold and silver, to despatch those vessels, which we fear will totally defeat our design. We have, therefore, been led to cast our attention on flaxseed, as the only commodity in our power which will rid us of our difficulties, but find that the resolution of Congress, permitting the exportation of produce for ammunition, is confined to the foreign Islands. As our safety depends upon the country being well supplied with powder, we submit it to you whether the sense of Congress should not be taken, without delay, on our exporting two cargoes of flaxseed, to purchase powder. The measure recommends itself by several considerations. There is the highest probability of procuring powder in Ireland at a moderate rate. If this should not be the case, the flaxseed will sell at an advance price there, and be a fund upon which we can draw from any quarter of the world; and if the enemy should take the vessels, the supply will not be so prejudicial to us, or beneficial to them, as the loss of provision vessels. We request you to get a speedy answer on this point, and transmit it to us, by express, for our government.

We are, with great truth and regard, gentlemen, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To the President of the Continental Congress, Philadelphia.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

A Letter from Mr. Joseph Hallett to John McKesson, one of the Secretaries, (in answer to a Letter by order of the Members,) excusing his non-attendance, by reason of indisposition, and accompanying his Accounts with the Provincial Congress, was read and filed.

A stitched Book, containing Mr. Hallett's said Accounts with the Provincial Congress, was also delivered to the Secretary.

Die Jovis, 3 ho. P. M., January 4, 1776.

The Committee of Safety met pursuant to adjournment. Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, President, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Dr. Spooner.

The Petition of Thomas Place, of Queen's County, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"To the Honourable Committee of Safety of the Colony of New-York.

"The Petition of THOMAS PLACE, of QUEEN's County, LONG-ISLAND, most humbly sheweth:

"That your petitioner, by the persuasion of those whom he looked upon to be his friends, voted against Provincial Delegates in the last election held in Queen's County, for which he is extremely sorry, and sincerely repents of his conduct.

"That your petitioner, without giving himself time to reflect upon the ill consequences of opposing the choice of Provincial Delegates, (the choosing of which, he is now well convinced, was highly necessary for the preservation of the liberties and properties of the inhabitants of America;) was, by the artful insinuations of designing men, led to oppose the election.

"That your petitioner is a sincere friend to the liberties of America, and would go as far as any man in the defence of those liberties.

"Your petitioner, therefore, most humbly prays that this honourable Committee would be pleased to take his case into consideration, and restore him to the good opinion of those who are friends to the liberties of this Continent, by declaring to the world that your petitioner is extremely contrite for his late conduct, in opposing the choice of Provincial Delegates, which your petitioner candidly acknowledges was occasioned by the artful persuasion of others, and not from a principle of opposition in your petitioner; or do such other things in the premises as to this honourable Committee shall seem meet for the restoration of your petitioner to the favour of his countrymen.

"THOMAS PLACE.

"New-York, January 3, 1776."

A like Petition of Gabriel Van Cott, of Queen's County, was also read and filed.

Upon due consideration of the submission tendered by the said Petitioners, and well knowing that the late Resolves of the Congress against the delinquents of Queen's County were intended to convince them of their demerits, and bring them to a just sense of their duty to the publick, it is hereby Ordered, That the said Petitioners be restored to the state and condition in which they were before the passing of those Resolves, during their respective future good behaviour.

The nomination of the Field-Officers recommended for Cumberland County, by the Committee of the said County, being read and taken into consideration, as also the several Petitions of sundry of the Inhabitants of the Towns of Fulham, Westminster, and Putney, the Inhabitants of which Towns belong to the Lower Regiment of the Militia of the said County, and it appearing that no objections have been offered by the Inhabitants of the said County, who belong to the Upper Regiment of the Militia of the said County, to the nomination in which they are interested, Ordered, That Commissions be immediately made out, and signed by the Chairman of this Committee, to the respective persons following, to wit: To Captain Joseph Marsh, as Colonel, John Barrett, Lieutenant-Colonel, Lieutenant Hilkiah Grout, First Major, Captain Joel Matthews, Second Major, Mr. Timothy Spencer, Adjutant, and Mr. Amos Robinson, Quartermaster.

Ordered, That Commissions be made out, and signed by the Chairman of this Committee, for the following persons, as Field-Officers of the Minute-Men of the said County, to wit: For Joab Hoisington, as Colonel, Mr. Seth Smith, Lieutenant-Colonel, Mr. Joseph Tyler, First Major, Mr. Joel Marsh, Second Major, Mr. Timothy Phelps, Adjutant, and Mr. Elisha Howly, Quartermaster.

Ordered, further, That it be recommended to the Committee of the three Counties of Cumberland, Charlotte, and Gloucester, to join in the nomination of a Brigadier-General of the Brigade of Militia of the said three Counties, and report the same, with all convenient speed, to this Committee, or to the Provincial Congress, to the end, that if they are approved of, their Commissions may be issued.

Ordered, further, That the Committee of the County of Cumberland do return, with all convenient speed, to this Committee, or to the Congress, a list of the Officers of the Militia of the said County, under the rank of Field-Officers, who have been, or shall be, elected pursuant to the Resolves of Congress, to the end that Commissions may be issued to them, respectively.

And, with intent to remove all ground of disquiet in the minds of those Inhabitants of the said County of Cumberland who belong to the Lower Regiment of the said County,

Ordered, That a full meeting be had of the Committee of the said County, after publick and sufficient notification of these several orders, and that, at the said meeting, such a nomination of Field-Officers for the Lower Regiment be made by the said Committee, as may be best qualified for the service of their country, and as agreeable as may be to the general sense of the persons to be under their command, and reported as above-mentioned; this Committee hereby earnestly recommending peace and unanimity to the inhabitants of the said County, and giving assurance that, in default of such nomination, this Committee will, during the recess of Congress, commission such Field-Officers for the said Lower Regiment as they shall think proper. And, to the end that these orders may be made publick, as aforesaid, and serve as a rule of conduct to the Committee of the said County of Cumberland,

Ordered, That a copy of the same be enclosed by the Chairman of this Committee in a Letter directed to the Chairman of the Committee of the said County, and despatched without delay.

A Letter from Colonel Jonathan Hasbrouck, of Ulster County, dated the 18th ultimo, was read and filed. He thereby informs that, in obedience to the order of the Provincial Congress, he has fixed on and appointed the house of Martin Wygond, in Newburgh, as the place of rendezvous of his Regiment, in case of an alarm.— (Postage, one shilling.)

Die Veneris, 10 ho. A. M., January 5, 1776.

The Committee, pursuant to adjournment, met.

Present, Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands. Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Scott, Mr. Spooner, Mr. Tredwell.

A Return from Elihu Marvin, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Orange County, of the Field-Officers of the Regiment of Minute-Men in Orange County, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"At a meeting of the County Committee of the County of Orange, the Committee took into consideration the appointment of the Field-Officers of the Minute-Men, and conceive that the former appointment was not legal, do recommend the following persons as proper men, and request the Provincial Congress to send the Commissions by the bearer, Mr. John Carpenter: Isaac Nicoll, Colonel, of Goshen; Gilbert Cooper, Lieutenant-Colonel, of Haverstraw; Hendrick Vanderlinder Verbryck, First Major, from Toppen; Hezekiah Howell, Jun., Second Major, of Blooming-Grove; Ebenezer Woodhull, Adjutant, of Blooming-Grove; Nehemiah Carpenter, Quartermaster, of Goshen.

"Signed by order of the Committee:

"ELIHU MARVIN, Chairman.

"To the Honourable the President of the Provincial Congress."

Ordered, That the said Commissions be made out and sent by the Messenger of Colonel Isaac Nicoll, and enclosed to Colonel Marvin, Chairman of the County Committee of Orange County.

A Letter from Colonel Isaac Nicoll, of Goshen, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Goshen, January 3, 1776.

"SIR: Enclosed you have the return for Officers in Captain Hetfield's Minute Company; by the date you will undoubtedly perceive, that justice has not been done to Capt. Hetfield, or his return would sooner have been made, so as to have it entered on the Minutes before the 19th of October, nor did Captain Hetfield know the reason of the commissions not coming, until the receipt of your letter to me, and Mr. Clarke's to Colonel Allison. Captain Hetfield is so far from making any disturbance about the affair, that he is quite willing to accept of commissions agreeable to the date you mentioned, and desires you will send them by the bearer, on doing which, you will greatly oblige your humble servant,

"ISAAC NICOLL.

"To John McKesson, Esq., at New-York.

"N. B. You will be pleased to send the enclosed return back by the bearer, and commissions for the Field-Officers of Minute-Men, if they can be made out."

Ordered, That the Commissions for Captain Hetfield and his Officers, be issued and dated the 19th of October last, and enclosed to the Chairman of the Committee, at Goshen.

Similar Letters to those wrote yesterday, to several Committees, were wrote: One directed to Elihu Marvin, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Orange County, and the other, directed to the Chairman of the Committee of Goshen Precinct.

Ordered, That the same Letters be signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Colonel Nicoll's Messenger.

A Letter from Samuel Stevens, of the 18th ultimo, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Charlestown, December 18, 1775

"SIR: I am requested by some of the people of the County of Cumberland, to acquaint you, as Secretary of the Congress of the Colony of New-York, that the major part of the inhabitants of that County are desirous that the Congress do not make out commissions to any person, or persons, in either of the Regiments of Militia in that County, until a candid representation be made of the minds of the people, with respect to the several nominations and appointments made by their County Congress and Committee of Safety, except it be to those persons who were chosen by the people of the several towns, in June last, by order of the County Congress, when upwards of forty members were present; they recommended that the County be formed into two Regiments of Militia, for which purpose, ordered that the inhabitants of the respective towns in each Regiment, meet, and make choice of one Captain, one Lieutenant, and one Ensign in each town, that the said officers should afterwards meet, and make choice of proper persons for Field-Officers of each Regiment, which was accordingly done, and the people, in general, as well satisfied as the nature of such a proceeding will ever admit of. I suppose there may be a few disaffected persons who expected to have been chosen to office. The persons made choice of in the lower Regiment for Field-Officers, were, viz: James Rogers, Colonel; Eleazer Pattison, Lieutenant-Colonel; and one Mr. Lovejoy, Major. Upper Regiment, Simon Stephens, of Springfield, Colonel; Joseph Marsh, of Hartford, Lieutenant-Colonel; and Benjamin Waite, of Windsor, Major. A return of this proceeding was delivered to Major William Williams, and by him, to be delivered to the Congress at New-York, that the commissions might accordingly issue, if the choice was approved of by the Congress.

"I understand that about fourteen or fifteen of the said Congress met some time in September, and made a new choice of Field-Officers, and left out the most of those first chosen, at which time they made choice of a Standing Committee of Safety, and then dissolved themselves as a Congress. I am informed, that at a meeting of the said Committee of Safety, about three weeks ago, consisting of fourteen members, among other things, nominated another set of gentlemen to be Field-Officers of the Militia and Minute Regiments, so that if they are all commissioned, about one-third of the men in the County will be officers. The two last choices, have created a great deal of uneasiness in the County. I intend shortly to pay you a visit.

"I am, sir, in haste, your humble servant,

"SAMUEL STEVENS."

Throe ho. P. M. Die Veneris, January 5, 1776.

The Committee met, pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Colonel Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.

A similar Letter to those wrote this morning to the Committees of Orange County, was wrote to William Smith, Esq., Chairman of the County Committee of Suffolk County.

Ordered, That the said Letter be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

A draft of a Letter to William Smith, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Suffolk County, given him directions about the Gunpowder allotted to that County, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

New-York, January 5, 1776.

SIR: Providence has favoured us with a small supply of powder. As your County is a frontier, and may be sooner called upon than others, we have sent you forty quarter-barrels, containing one-quarter hundred weight each, which you are to put into the hands of a discreet person, to be sold at five shillings a pound, and for the present, no one should have any, but a friend to the cause, and none more than half a pound. You are to be careful, that the person into whose hands you put the powder be a man of substance, to be able to account for the money arising from the sale thereof, otherwise your County will be answerable for it, besides, we shall want the money to send for more of that necessary article.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To William Smith, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Suffolk County.

P. S. The powder is sent to New-Rochelle, and we have ordered the Huntington Committee to send for it.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

A draft of a Letter to Thomas Wickes, Esq., relating to the said Gunpowder, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, }
January 5, 1776. }

SIR: When you have read the enclosed letters, please to seal and despatch them to Mr. Smith, the Chairman, without delay. It is hoped you will make the best use of the intelligence in your power.

The one thousand pounds of powder, mentioned in one of the above letters, is lodged at New-Rochelle, in the hands of Colonel Joseph Drake, and the Committee of Huntington are desired to despatch a vessel with a sufficient guard to transport it to your County. You will readily perceive the necessity of being as secret as possible in this matter. We enclose you an order upon Colonel Drake for the powder.

By order of the Committee.

To Thomas Wickes, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Huntington.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Thereupon an order to Colonel Joseph Drake, to deliver the said Powder, was made and signed by the Chairman, in the words following, to wit:

Ordered, That the Powder sent to Colonel Drake by this Committee, be delivered to the order of the Chairman of the Committee of Huntington, and that Colonel Drake take a receipt for the same.

Ordered, That the Colonels of the different Regiments of the Militia of the City of New-York, be requested to attend this Committee on Thursday next, at eleven o'clock in the morning, to give such information as may be necessary, of the state of their respective Regiments.

Mr. Phoenix and Mr. William Denning, of the City Committee, and two of the sub-Committee of Inspection, attended by request; they went to make inquiry about British goods, supposed to be imported from St. Eustatia; they returned and gave some information on that subject, and went to make further inquiry and report to-morrow.

Die Sabbati, 10 ho. A. M., January 6, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.

Messrs. Phoenix, Denning, and Abraham De Peyster, three of the City Committee, attended and gave some further information relating to the British goods, supposed to be imported from St. Eustatia.

Whereas, Colonel McDougall, one of the members of this Committee, has been informed by Thomas Cushing, Esq., one of the members of the Continental Congress, that the Continental Congress will not make the loan to this Colony for which application was made by this Congress; and whereas, the publick service will greatly suffer for want of Money, and cannot be carried on without a further supply of current cash; whereby it is become necessary to issue the emissions of Paper currency, which was resolved on and ordered by the late and the present Provincial Congress:

Therefore, Ordered, That Mr. Isaac Roosevelt, be requested to get the said emission of Paper Money signed with all possible despatch, that the same may be ready to issue as soon as an answer shall be received from the Continental Congress.

Doctors John Jones and Malachi Treat have, agreeable to an order of the Provincial Congress of the 8th day of December last, returned an estimate of those Instruments and Utensils, which will be more immediately necessary for the Colony in its present alarming state. They also reported an estimate of Medicines for an Hospital, which were respectively read and filed.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to despatch three Vessels for Ammunition, despatch two separate orders or invoices of the said Medicines to different ports, to wit: One to such port, or place, in the foreign West-Indies, as they shall think best, and another to Europe, to obtain the said Medicines, and to prevent a disappointment in obtaining them.

And Ordered, That Doctor John Jones and Doctor Treat be requested to speak to proper persons to make or procure the Instruments and Utensils mentioned in their said estimate, that they direct them to be good of their kind and quality, and that none be purchased or paid for but such as those gentlemen approve of.

The Committee took into consideration the defenceless state of this Colony and the Capital thereof, and that they have not any proper persons to use and manage the Field-Artillery of the Colony, or any other Artillery that may be necessary to be placed in other parts of the Colony. After some time spent thereon,

Resolved and agreed. That it will be useful and necessary for the general defence of the Colony, to raise and employ an Artillery Company, and put them immediately into pay for the defence of this Colony, that the said Company may be acquiring experience in their duty, and be employed in preparing necessary artillery stores.

And whereas, it is the opinion of this Committee, that an Artillery Company is absolutely necessary for the safety and defence of Suffolk County, and for the protection of the Continental Cruisers in the Sound, that some of the Inlets in that County be fortified with Cannon, and to those ends that a regular Company of Artillery be constituted out of the Militia of the said County;

Resolved, therefore, That it be, and it hereby is, most earnestly recommended to the Committee of the said County, without delay, to form such a Company as aforesaid, to consist of one Captain, one Captain-Lieutenant, two Lieutenants, one Lieutenant Fire-worker, and ninety-five non-Commissioned Officers and Privates, and that without delay the said Committee cause to be examined all the Inlets on the Sound, that may be thought necessary to fortify as aforesaid, and that the said Committee, without delay, make report as well of the officers of the said Company, to the end that they may be commissioned, as of the said Inlets, with such sketches of the said Inlets as may enable this Committee to judge of the propriety of fortifying the same, or any of them, this Committee hereby giving assurance that they will supply the Cannon necessary for that purpose, and that the said Artillery Company when formed, shall, to all intents and purposes, be considered as Minute-Men.

3 ho. P. M., January 6, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.

The Committee sent for Mr. Peter T. Curtenius, who attended. He informed that he had employed Jccamiah Allen to furnish him with Lead and Bullets. They directed him to make proper inquiry how far he can complete the last order of the Provincial Congress, and report thereon on Tuesday.

Ordered, That Colonel McDougall apply to Captain Anthony Rutgers concerning the small Cannon which he formerly declared his willingness to spare to the Continental Army; and if it is agreeable to the proprietors of those Guns, and they choose to spare them, Ordered, That Colonel McDougall take proper measures to have those Guns forwarded to General Washington.

Captain Kennedy, attending at the door, was admitted. He informed the Committee that the Ships-of-War in the Harbour had despatched three boats up the East-River or Sound, with both sails and oars.

Thereupon a Letter was wrote to Colonel Joseph Drake, informing him thereof, and that the Committee are anxious for the safety of the Powder for Suffolk County, sent to his care, and requesting him to take means for its preservation, and to forward it, with a boat, to the Chairman of the Committee at Huntington.

Ordered, That the said Letter be sent to Colonel Joseph Drake, by Sampson Dyckman, as a Messenger,

And it was delivered to the said Sampson Dyckman accordingly.

Captain John Hodge, who arrived last night from Lisbon, by request attending this Committee. Notes of his information were taken, and read to him, and filed.*

Die Solis, 9 ho. A. M., January 7, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment, and spent one hour in the Chamber. No business appearing so urgent as to require the attendance of the Committee during this day, they adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Die Lunæ, 10 ho. A. M., January 8, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Spooner.

Colonel McDougall delivered in three receipts for Gunpowder; which were read and filed, the substance of which are as follows, to wit:

A Receipt from Colonel Joseph Drake, dated at New-

* Captain John Hodge, of New-York, arrived in the last night from Lisbon, and left that place seven weeks ago to-morrow.

He says that on the 8th of October last, about southwest from Cape Clear about one hundred and twenty-five leagues, he met two East-India men and a Cat, or North Country Collier, very full of troops. The first division of seven sail, with five full regiments, bound from Cork to Boston, which first division had then been nine days from Cork. That in Bordeaux he afterwards met with sundry masters of vessels, who sailed from Cork with the last division of the said seven sail. That the three transports he met had not a convoy, and that he did not discover that they had any guns. That the said masters of vessels, at Bordeaux, informed him that officers were recruiting in Ireland, and had raised six regiments, all Roman Catholics. That the Protestants would not enlist. That the said masters of vessels informed him that after the said First Division of transports had sailed from Cork, a vessel had been despatched after them, to order them to go to Halifax to winter.

That he was informed by Captain Calder, of this port, and Captain Cassels, of Philadelphia, and by Captain Amory, that two thousand fishermen were gone from Newfoundland to Boston, to cut down the woods before the Army, as was pretended.

That in Lisbon he understood that every English vessel would be seized, as soon as the consent of the King of Portugal could be obtained, who was then absent up the river Otagus. That Captain Sandwich (son of Lord Sandwich) arrived at Lisbon, in an armed ship-rigged yacht, on the day before the examination left Lisbon, that his merchant waited on Mr. Sandwich, who informed him that if he (Sandwich) had met any of the American Rebels at sea, he would have seized them. That, to avoid a seizure, he came out of Lisbon the next morning, in ballast, together with Captain Alexander Guy, of Philadelphia, in a topsail schooner, also with ballast only. That no powder or arms can be obtained in the ports of France or Portugal, and that they cannot be obtained from the ports in the Mediterranean, as he was informed, on account of the English ships-of-war and cruisers.

That he did not hear of any French troops being in the West-Indies, or about to go there, until he arrived in New-York.

That five sail of fishermen were taken in and about the Western-Islands. That three of them, at least, were whalers. That the said five whalers, or fishing-vessels, were taken by Commodore Banks, in a seventy-four gun ship, and with two frigates in company.

That when the Captain of the man-of-war, or yacht, at Lisbon, examined Guy, to whom the vessel belonged, he concealed his register, and said she belonged to Topaz & Bulkeley; and that he, this examination, said his vessel was his own property.

That by a packet-boat from England, which arrived at Lisbon the day before he sailed from thence, he obtained His Majesty's Speech to Parliament, and newspapers of the 28th of October.

That there has been great crops all over Europe. That Lisbon is the best market. Wheat and flour so low in France, that it will not bring the first cost.

That Captain Cassels had a letter, which he received at Newfoundland, from a gentleman there, informing him that he would be seized if he did not depart, upon which he fled from thence in ballast. That he (Hodge) left Captain Jones in Lisbon.

That by masters of vessels, both in France and Lisbon, he was informed that twenty-five thousand men were intended for the American service, but whether besides the troops now in America, or not, he did not understand, and that transports were arrived at Gibraltar, to take the British troops from thence.

A true copy of notes by me taken, of the information given by Captain John Hodge to the Committee of Safety.

JOHN MCKESSON, Secretary.

Rochelle, on the 5th instant, for forty quarter-casks, received of this Committee by the hands of Joseph Crane. Also a receipt of the same date, from Jonathan G. Tompkins, of Searsdale, Chairman of the Committee of Westchester County, for forty quarter-casks of powder, containing one thousand weight, delivered to him by Thomas Ivers; and also a receipt from Robert Ogden, Chairman of the Committee of Elizabethtown, for eighteen quarter-casks of powder, received of this Committee of Safety by the hands of Christopher Duyckinck, to replace the powder due to Elizabethtown, Woodbridge, and New-Brunswick, by them lent to the Congress of this Colony for the use of the Continental Army.

Mr. Sands, with leave, went to the City Committee as a member.

A draft of a Letter to the absent Members of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, and to the Chairman of such Committees as may be thought necessary, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

GENTLEMEN: Although a certain day is fixed for the session of Congress, which we beg leave to remind you is the first of February, and although we have no prospect of a necessity of calling the Congress sooner, yet we have abundant reason to request that the meeting may be as full as possible on that day.

We have already notified you of the dissolution of the late Assembly, and of the issue of writs for an election, returnable the 14th day of February next.

From what you could not but have observed, the design of Government in calling an Assembly must be extremely obvious to you; its evident intention is, to take the sense of the good people of this Colony (in what the Governor calls "a constitutional way") on Lord North's motion, and the Parliamentary resolution thereon of the 20th of February last. You will remember our late resolves on that head. Should they have escaped your memory, we beg leave to remind you, that on the 14th December, 1775, it was resolved, as the opinion of the Congress, that nothing of a salutary nature can be expected from a separate declaration of the sense of this Colony on the aforesaid Parliamentary resolution, and that, as the motion whereon the same was grounded was confessedly framed to disunite the Colonies, it would be highly dangerous to, and totally inconsistent with the glorious plan of American Union, should this Colony express their separate sense on the supposed conciliatory proposal on the part of Great Britain, contained in the above-mentioned motion and resolution in Parliament . . . and that on the same day it was resolved in Congress, that this Colony is fully and effectually represented in the Continental Congress, for the purpose of expressing the sense of its inhabitants on any overtures for a reconciliation, and that the Continental Congress has fully and dispassionately expressed the sense of the inhabitants of this Colony on the above-mentioned resolutions of the 26th February last.

The above resolves we cannot suffer to be rescinded by any body of men in this Colony, without betraying the high trust reposed in us. What members we shall have returned in Assembly we know not, nor, consequently, how successful the machinations of the enemies of American liberty may be in procuring such measures in Assembly as may destroy that Union of the Colonies, on the support of which our common safety entirely depends. That the session of a full Congress will effectually awe a corrupt Assembly (should we be so unfortunate in that representation) from interfering with political subjects, must be extremely evident, and we think it of the utmost importance to the public safety that the Congress should meet punctually on the day to which they are adjourned, to the end that if Government should, by any steps on their part, compel our Assembly into those subjects, the Representatives of the people in that body should take their complexion from the Provincial Congress, so as to go into a similarity of sentiments with those expressed in the above-mentioned resolution of our body. And for this purpose, you must easily perceive that a full session of all the Deputies of every County in Congress, at the meeting of the Assembly, will be absolutely necessary, for these reasons—as you value the inestimable blessings of liberty—as you esteem the perfect Union of the Colonies under the Continental Congress, as the grand Representative of the United Colonies, to be our only security in this dangerous and important crisis, and, as you ardently desire that a sameness of sentiment may prevail throughout the different Representative Bodies in this Colony, we beseech, we obtest, we adjure you, by a just sense of your duty, by your desire to promote the Union of the Colonies to the utmost of your power, and by that ardent love which you have for the liberties of America, that you meet punctually in Congress on the first day of the next month, that we may take such measures as will be necessary to secure the honour of the people of this Colony, and contribute to the firmest support of the common cause, by assisting our Representatives in Assembly to tread the path of Union and Continental Liberty.

Nevertheless, gentlemen, we mean not that you should give so punctual an attendance as to prevent such of you from superintending the business of election, whose presence in the country may be necessary for that purpose, but we beg leave once more to express the sentiment that a full session of Congress, at the meeting of the Assembly, is of the utmost moment.

We are, gentlemen, with the greatest respect, your most obedient servants.

Signed by order and in behalf of the Committee of Safety:

PIERRE VAN CORTLANDT, Chairman.

To the Members of the Provincial Congress of the Colony of New-York.

Ordered, That Colonel McDougall employ a Printer, to print one hundred and ten copies thereof for this Committee, under the strictest guard of secrecy, that when printed they may be signed by the Chairman, and transmitted to the absent Members respectively.

3 o'clock, P. M., Die Lunæ, January 8, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Mr. McDougall, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Spooner, Mr. Scott, Mr. Sands.

Whereas, Mr. Isaac Gouverneur has imported into this Colony four hundred and sixty-five quarter-casks, containing one hundred and sixteen hundred weight and twenty-five pounds of Gunpowder, and by Mr. William Cannon, his consignatory, sold the same to this Committee for public use; and whereas, the honourable the Continental Congress, by their resolve of the 15th day of July last past, that every vessel importing Gunpowder, within nine months from the date thereof, shall be permitted to load and export the produce of those Colonies to the value of such Gunpowder, and it is thereby recommended to the Committees of the several Provinces to inspect the military stores so imported, and to estimate a generous price for the same according to their goodness, and permit the importer of such Powder to export the value thereof, and no more, in produce of any kind. The Committee having by some of their members and other persons inspected the said Gunpowder, do estimate the same at the value of thirty Pounds, New-York money, per ton, and do hereby permit Mr. Isaac Gouverneur, by Mr. William Cannon, his Agent, to export the value thereof at that estimate, to wit: the amount of the sum of three thousand four hundred and eighty-seven pounds ten shillings, New-York money, and no more, in produce of any kind, which he may think proper.

Die Martis, 10 ho. A. M., January 9, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. McDougall, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Spooner, Mr. Sands.

Whereas, full information has been given to this Committee, by Captain Nathaniel Tylee, of this city, and sundry other witnesses, that Lieutenant Edward Tylee, an officer of the Continental Army, now a prisoner on board the ship Asia, had planned a method to escape from thence, and for the purpose of effecting his escape delivered a Letter to Lawrence Hartwick, directed to James Tylee, of New-York, and that the said Lawrence Hartwick, betraying the trust reposed in him, had delivered the said Letter to Captain George Vandeput, whereby the said prisoner was prevented from making his escape; and whereas, this Committee has, also, been informed by the same witnesses, that the said Lawrence Hartwick affirms that he will continue to go on board of the King's ships-of-war, without leave of any Chairman, contrary to the order of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, and made many other declarations highly inimical to the measures pursued by the inhabitants of the American Colonies for the defence of their liberties, thereupon a draft of a warrant to Captain Nathaniel Tylee was read and approved, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York, during the recess of the Provincial Congress, January 9, 1776. }

Whereas, full information has been given to this Committee that Lawrence Hartwick betrayed a trust reposed in him by Lieutenant Edward Tylee, an officer of the Continental Army, now a prisoner on board the ship Asia; and whereas, further information has been given to this Committee of other particular conduct and declarations of the said Lawrence Hartwick, highly inimical to the present measures pursued by the inhabitants of the American Colonies for the defence of their liberties; therefore,

Ordered, That the said Lawrence Hartwick be apprehended by Captain Nathaniel Tylee, or by any other Militia officer of this city, with a sufficient Guard for that purpose, and carried to the Guard-House, at the Upper Barracks, in this city, and there confined until the further orders of this Committee.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and delivered to Captain Tylee.

A Letter to each of the following absent Members of the Provincial Congress, was sealed and forwarded, to wit: To Ezra L'Honnedieu, Esq., at Southold; to David Gelston, Esq., at Bridge-Hampton; to John Sloss Hobart, Esq., Manor of Eaton; to Brigadier-General Nathaniel Woodhull, at South-Haven; to Thomas Wickham, Esq., at Brookhaven; to David Brown, Esq., at Shelter-Island.

An Introduction to the copies of the Petition of the Continental Congress to His Majesty, and the Address of the Lord Mayor and Livery of London, to the Electors of Great Britain, intended to be reprinted in this Colony, was read and approved of, and are in the words following, to wit:

To the Inhabitants of the Colony of NEW-YORK.

To prevent as much as possible the evil consequences which may arise from the assertion that the "Continental Congress have made no approaches towards an accommodation with Great Britain," the Committee of Safety of the Colony of New-York have directed the following Petition of the Continental Congress to His Majesty, and the Address of the Lord Mayor and Livery of London to the Electors of Great Britain, occasioned by that Petition, to be published.

In the present unhappy controversy, we can call for no evidence so unexceptionable to the deluded enemies of America, as the testimony of the inhabitants of the Capital city of Great Britain. Every information on this subject coming from among us might, perhaps, be considered as passing through a suspicious channel, but, when we appeal to those who, if we have engaged without grounds in the present contention, are immediately interested against us, every unprejudiced reader must be convinced that their voluntary testimony in our favour is full proof of the justice of our cause, and it is for this purpose that the above-mentioned Address is recommended to the serious consideration of the inhabitants of the Colony of New-York.

By order of the Committee:

PIERRE VAN CORTLANDT, Chairman.

New-York, January 9, 1776.

3 ho. P. M., January 9, 1776.

The Committee of Safety met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Spooner.

Pursuant to return of an election in the presence of Garret Abeel and Abraham Brinckerhoff, two of the Committee of the City of New-York, commissions were issued for:

the Officers of Beat No. 13, in the said City, to wit: to David Wolf, Captain; Joseph Winter, First Lieutenant; Christian Wolf, Second Lieutenant; and Philip Phenix, Ensign.

A draft of a Letter to the Committee of Cumberland County was read and approved, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York, during the } recess of the Provincial Congress, New-York, January 9, 1776. }

GENTLEMEN: We enclose you a certified copy of sundry resolutions of the Committee of Safety, as to your County; they are so plain they need no comment.

We are extremely sorry to find that jealousies and divisions subsist in your County at this late day, when your whole Militia ought to have been fully organized and regulated, and in the best order and discipline. This gives us the greater chagrin and anxiety, because we expected your County was so firmly attached to the cause of American liberty, that, in proportion to your numbers and strength, you would have been more forward, and in greater readiness than other parts of the Colony, where Ministerial measures might be expected to have spread their baneful influence.

We entreat, we pray, and obtest you, as you tender not only your own welfare and happiness, but, also, the success of the American Colonies in their present struggle for liberty, that you exert yourselves to put an amicable period to all dissensions in your County, and bring about a perfect union among the inhabitants, and for this purpose that you cause a large, respectable County Committee to be elected in your County, if that has not already been done. All the difficulties arising in smaller matters, we would hope your County Committee would easily accommodate, and that their determinations would be cheerfully acquiesced in.

At the same time that we earnestly recommend unanimity and harmony to all the good people of your County, and a proper spirit of prudence, discretion, and direction to your County Committee, and their sub-Committees, if they have any such, give us leave to press on you to distinguish yourselves by setting an example of obedience to your Military Officers, and of care in acquiring military discipline, and that you inculcate the same good conduct on all the people of your County.

Let every Son of Freedom employ his utmost efforts, that our attachment to the Rules of Congress, our military subordination and skill, according to their plan and directions, and our attachment to good order and Government, may distinguish us from our enemies, as much as the glorious cause we are engaged in.

We are, respectfully, gentlemen, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To the Chairman and Members of the County Committee, Cumberland County.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Doctor Spooner.

Mr. Peter T. Curtenius delivered in an account of the Lead which he has, as yet, been able to procure in obedience to the late Order of the Provincial Congress, amounting to eight thousand five hundred and eight pounds. The same was filed.

Die Mercurii, 10 ho. A. M., January 10, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Scott, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.

Mr. Nicholas Low, attending at the door, was admitted. He informed the Committee that he had received information that Lord Stirling had a design to use the Vessel of Mr. Isaac Gouverneur, now at Elizabethtown-Point, to seize Despatches from on board the Ship bound for London, and under the command of Captain Cooper.

Thereupon, a draught of a Letter to Lord Stirling was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York, during the } recess of Provincial Congress, New-York, January 10, 1776 }

MY LORD: While we entertain the highest sense of your zeal in the publick service, permit us to inform you that we have this moment received advice of your design to employ a sloop, now loading at Elizabethtown-Point, under the protection of this Committee, and the direction of Mr. Nicholas Low, of this city, to seize the Despatches now on board Captain Cooper. Though we do not, altogether, rely on this advice, yet, lest it should be well-founded, we beg leave to inform you, that such an expedient will, in our opinion, be prejudicial to the common cause. You doubtless know, my Lord, upon what errand she came to this Continent. Should any steps be taken on our part that may embarrass those of our friends abroad, who are running risks to serve us, we must necessarily lose their assistance in an article of the utmost importance to us. We can divine no reason why that sloop should be preferred to many others in New-Jersey equally fit for the service, unless it is, that the few swivels she has mounted may denominate her an armed vessel. Should this be the reason for preferring her to any other, the purpose may be effectually answered by borrowing those swivels and mounting them in some other vessel. If your design should be such as we have mentioned, we beg that the expedient proposed by us may be adopted in preference to the one which will naturally discourage our friends abroad from continuing their friendship towards us.

We are, with great respect, my Lord, your Lordship's most obedient servants.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To Lord Stirling.

P. S. We beg leave to inform your Lordship that we have understood the ship will be conveyed to sea by a company of Marines, in a pilot-boat.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and delivered to Mr. Low.

(N. B. Mr. Low having discovered that the information he had received was without any foundation, and this Letter unnecessary, returned it to the Committee of Safety on the 11th, and it was ordered to be destroyed.)

Thomas Merritt, who was apprehended and brought before the Committee by some of the Inhabitants, on information of persons from Westchester County that he had declared he had seen people casting great quantities of Bullets to kill the Whigs, and that he knew where great quantities of those Bullets were; was examined. Notes of his examination are filed.

The Witnesses against him were examined, in his presence, and Merritt and the Witnesses withdrew.

Thereupon, Ordered, That the said Thomas Merritt be discharged. And he was charged from the Chair to be more cautious of his declarations and reports for the future.

Pursuant to a return of an Election of Officers in Beat No. 14, of the City of New-York, in the presence of Garret Abeel and Abraham Brinckerhoff, two of the Committee of the said City, Commissions were issued to the following Officers, to wit:

Pardon Burlingham, Captain; Henry York, First Lieutenant; Thomas Van Pelt, Second Lieutenant; Anthony Ford, Ensign.

Die Mercurii, 3 ho. P. M., January 10, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Spooner.

Letters to sundry Members of the Provincial Congress, each Letter being a copy of that drawn and agreed to on the 8th instant, were sealed, directed, and despatched.

Colonel Palmer returned from the Continental Congress, and brought to the Committee Chamber the Money sent from Congress by him and Colonel Brasher. The Deputy Treasurer being this evening from home, with the consent of Mr. Sands, Ordered, That the said Money be deposited in a strong iron-chest at his house, and the key of the said chest given to Colonel Palmer or Colonel Brasher.

A certified copy of Resolutions of Congress, dated the 5th January, instant, respecting the Fortifications in the Highlands, were read and filed, and are in the words following, to wit:

"In Congress, January 5, 1776.

"The Congress resumed the consideration of the Report of the Committee on the state of New-York, and having consulted the gentlemen sent to Congress by the Convention of New-York, the same was agreed to as follows, to wit:

"Resolved, That for the reasons contained in the papers hereunto annexed, this Committee are of opinion that no further Fortifications ought to be erected at Martelaer's Rock, on the Hudson-River, and that a point of land at Pooplopen's Kill, on the said River, ought, without delay, to be effectually fortified.

"Resolved, That it be recommended to the Convention, or in their recess, the Committee of Safety of New-York, to carry into execution the above Resolution.

"Extract from the Minutes:

"CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary."

Colonel Brasher, who is a Member of the Committee of Safety, being returned from Philadelphia, Doctor Spooner renewed his solicitation for leave to return to his County, and which he had, for several days, been encouraged to expect when another Member should arrive.

The Committee being of opinion, unanimously, that it is necessary Doctor Spooner should return to his County to carry up the Writ for an election of Representatives in General Assembly; the Commissions for the Field-Officers of the Militia; and the Letter from this Committee; and to endeavour to restore unanimity and harmony among the inhabitants, it is agreed that he have leave of absence.

And, whereas, it is inconvenient for Doctor Paul Spooner to return to the County of Cumberland, which is very distant, without a small supply of cash for that purpose, and it appears to the Committee that his return there at present may be useful, and he has solicited aid from the Treasury of the Provincial Congress, on the credit of Cumberland County, for his relief, to be repaid in such manner as the Provincial Congress of this Colony shall direct.

Ordered, That Peter Van B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, advance to Doctor Paul Spooner, or his order, the sum of twenty Pounds, on the credit of Cumberland County, and of himself, to be repaid in such manner as the Provincial Congress of this Colony shall direct, and that a copy of this Order be a warrant to the Treasurer for that purpose.

And Ordered further, That until such payment made, Doctor Paul Spooner be, and remain indebted unto the said Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., for the sum of twenty Pounds, for so much cash lent, and, at all events, to be repaid by himself, if not repaid by the County of Cumberland.

* It was suggested to the Committee that a few copies of the Proceedings of the Continental Congress, first published, and, also, of their late Proceedings, would be very useful in the Committees of the respective Towns and Districts in Cumberland County.

Ordered, That John Holt furnish thirty-five copies to Doctor Spooner for that purpose.

Die Jovis, 10 ho. A. M., January 11, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster.

A Letter from the Delegates of this Colony at Congress, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Philadelphia, January 5, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: The Congress has been so much encumbered with business, that it has not, till now, been in our power to write to you decisively on the subject of your several favours, indeed, the appointment of an officer to command in the Highlands still remains undetermined, though we doubt not the recommendation communicated in your letter of the 8th of December, will have its due weight.

"We highly applaud the spirit, and, at the same time, respectful manner, in which you have supported the dignity and independence of our Colony, and demanded reparation on the subject of the Connecticut inroad. An interposition so rash, officious, and violent, gave us great anxiety, as it was not only a high insult to your authority, but had a direct tendency to confirm that fatal spirit of jealousy and distrust of our Eastern brethren, which has done so much injury to our cause, and which every wise and virtuous patriot should study to suppress. The Government of Connecticut, we are persuaded, will not only do you the justice which you have required, but adopt effectual means to restrain their inhabitants from similar attempts in future. In this expectation, we shall take the liberty to defer the application to Congress which you direct, until we are favoured with a copy of Governor Trumbull's answer to your letter.

"The enclosed resolution of Congress respecting the loan of forty-five thousand pounds on the credit of our Colony, will, we hope, be no disappointment. It is, in our opinion, founded on good reasons. The precedent would have justified every other Colony in soliciting the like indulgence, which could not, without gross partiality, have been refused. The faith of all must, in every instance, have been pledged to secure the payment, and, consequently, all exposed to the effects of mismanagement and want of economy in each separate Government. The quantity of paper money would not have been diminished. The sums thus borrowed must, in the course of the present contest, have become enormous. Those objections, among others, operated so strongly against the measure, that if we had thought ourselves at liberty to exercise discretion in the case of a positive instruction, we should have declined an application to which, in our judgment, we could not wish success.

"The deputation from your Convention, respecting the fortifications in the Highlands, was very proper and seasonable. They have conferred with a Committee of Congress, and been heard by the House, and will inform you of every thing which occurred, so that it is needless for us to be explicit.

"A copy of the resolution of Congress will be delivered to you by your Deputies, to which we have nothing to add.

"Mr. Secretary McKesson has furnished us with a copy of your resolutions respecting your Delegates. This arrangement, or something similar, we had much at heart, as the constant attendance of so large a quorum as five, would naturally be precarious, especially when only that number were in town.

"The defection of Queen's and Richmond is much to be lamented. A Committee of Congress has this subject now under consideration, and it will not be long before their resolutions on that head will be communicated to you.

"We have the honour to be, with great respect, gentlemen, your most obedient and humble servants,

"PHILIP LIVINGSTON, JOHN JAY,
"JAMES DUANE, HENRY WISNER,
WILLIAM FLOYD.

"P. S. You have likewise enclosed a resolution of Congress respecting the enlistment of soldiers."

The Resolution of Congress, on the request of a loan to this Colony, was read, filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"In Congress, December 23, 1775.

"The Committee to whom the application from the Convention of New-York, for the loan of forty-five thousand Pounds, was referred, brought in their report, which being read, was agreed to, as follows:

"That notwithstanding it appears to this Committee that the credit of the Colony of New-York is unquestionable, and their application for the loan of forty-five thousand Pounds was suggested by disinterested principles, yet that it would not be advisable in the opinion of this Committee for the Congress to make the loan proposed.

"Extract from the Minutes:

"CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary."

Resolutions of Congress respecting the Enlistment of Soldiers, therein enclosed, was, also, read and filed, and are in the words following, to wit:

"In Congress, December 26, 1775.

"The report of the Committee to whom was referred a paragraph of Lord Stirling's letter to the Congress, complaining that several of his recruits had been arrested and imprisoned for trifling debts, being taken into consideration, was agreed to, as follows:

"This Committee have reason to believe that divers persons, either from inattention to the publick good, or with a design to retard the recruiting service, have arrested and imprisoned, for very trifling debts, many soldiers who had engaged to risk their lives in defence of the rights and liberties of America, and as it has always been found necessary in time of war to regulate and restrain a practice of such pernicious tendency, and in such cases to abate the rigour of law,

"Resolved, therefore, That it be recommended to the several Legislatures in these Colonies, whether Assemblies or Conventions, to pass acts, or ordinances, prohibiting the arrest of Continental soldiers for small debts, and in order that the same rule may pervade all the Colonies, that no such soldier be arrested at the suit of any of his creditors, unless the said creditor make oath that the said soldier is justly indebted to him in the sum of thirty-five dollars, over and above all discount, and that the estate of no such soldier be liable to attachment at the suit, or for the benefit of all his creditors, unless their debts in the whole, on being ascertained by their oaths, shall amount to more than one hundred and fifty dollars.

"Extract from the Minutes:

"CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary."

Colonel Brasher and Colonel Palmer informed the Committee that they had obtained the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars in Continental Bills at Philadelphia. That four of the Delegates of this City, being in want of cash, at Philadelphia, had requested a small sum thereof, in part of their respective demands for their services and disbursements as Delegates, which they had accordingly paid them, and taken their separate receipts. That they had brought with them Bills to the amount of Forty-Eight Thousand Four Hundred Dollars, and four receipts of the Delegates to the Treasurer, amounting together to Sixteen Hundred Dollars.

Ordered, That those gentlemen deliver the said Bills and Receipts of the Delegates, in the whole to the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars, to Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., Treasurer of the Provincial Congress, and take a receipt of the said Treasurer, or his Deputy, for the whole amount thereof.

Colonel Lasher, Colonel Heyer, and Colonel Lott, according to order, respectively attended the Committee, to give information of the states of their respective Regiments.

Colonel Lasher and Colonel Heyer respectively informed the Committee their Regiments were properly Armed, Accoutred, and Equipped.

Colonel Lott informed that a number of the Privates of his Regiment are without Muskets, or Firelocks, and some of them unable to purchase, and that Arms are so scarce, that it is difficult to purchase.

Those gentlemen further informed the Committee in substance, that the Privates of the two first mentioned Regiments in particular had done a great deal of duty, at much expense of time and money, that the whole City Militia, through the multiplicity and largeness of the guards required, have a considerable share of duty. That the least share thereof is borne, or done by the most wealthy. That many of their men are unable to purchase Gunpowder, and that others think they ought not to submit to that expense.

Thereupon, the Committee agreed on two Orders, introduced by a recital, all which are in the words following, to wit:

Whereas, it is the opinion of this Committee, that it will be necessary for the immediate safety of the Colony, that an half pound of Powder be delivered out at the publick expense, to the several effective Officers and Privates of the Militia and Minute-Men of this Colony, who are well affected to the publick cause, to the end that they may not have reason to complain of the want of means to answer the good purpose aforesaid;

It is therefore, Ordered, That such quantities of the publick Powder be delivered out for the purpose aforesaid, under the following regulations, that is to say:

1st. That every Colonel, or in his absence, the next commanding officer of Militia and Minute-Men in this Colony do, without delay, make a return of the effective Officers and Privates in their respective Regiments, to this Committee, distinguishing therein such as are well affected as aforesaid, to the end that such distribution as aforesaid may be made.

Secondly. And to prevent any unnecessary expenditure of Powder, it is hereby declared, that the Militia and Minute-Men are not to depend on any further supplies at the publick expense; and, it is further, Ordered, That at every Regimental, or other Muster, Review, Training, or other Military service, each Militia and Minute-Man, whose duty it will be to attend the same, do attend, furnished with as many Cartridges, filled properly with Powder and Ball, as the quantity of half a pound of Powder will be sufficient to fill in manner aforesaid; and to prevent and punish neglects in those instances, that every Commanding Officer, do at every such Muster, Review, Training, or other Military service, cause strict search to be made, whether every person attending the same be duly provided in manner aforesaid.

A Letter from Tryon County Committee, received by the Albany Post-Rider, was read and filed. This Letter informs of their election of Deputies.

Ordered, That it be reported and read to the Provincial Congress, at their first meeting after the recess.

Sundry large Accounts of Captain John Grenell and Captain John Hulbert, who served in the last Northern campaign, were produced to the Committee, and payment thereof solicited.

The Committee took the said Accounts into examination and consideration, and after some time spent therein, are of opinion, that as to sundry disbursements charged therein, the Committee have not sufficient information to determine thereon. That of other parts of those Accounts they are not proper judges. That Major-General Schuyler only is competent, and this Committee incompetent for the settlement thereof.

That it is the business and duty of a Paymaster to pay those Accounts, and the payment of Military Accounts necessarily renders the accounts of the Congress of this Colony more complex and intricate, and may in the end be attended with loss to the Colony.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Major-General Schuyler, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

"SIR: We are sorry to be obliged to point out to you a defect in the conduct of the Paymaster under your department, which has in your multiplicity of business doubtless escaped your attention; and proves a subject of great inconvenience to us, and delay to the publick service. Our situation subjects us necessarily to the transaction of many matters purely of a Continental nature, in the course of which repeated applications to the Continental Congress for money, are unavoidable; to this, however, we cheerfully submit, but think it a great hardship, that while a Continental Paymaster is handsomely appointed, we should be under a necessity of making expenditures properly within the compass of his duty. By this means our accounts are rendered unnecessarily complex and intricate, which may in the end be attended with loss to this Colony. The disagreeable task of applying for money may be more frequent than we could wish, and the publick service properly within our department is too often delayed by the expenditure of large sums to uses not regularly under our direction. We, therefore, earnestly request you to direct, that the Paymaster do, for the future, attend at this important post, either in person, or by deputy, to the end that we may be rid of a very disagreeable service, which in no wise belongs to us, and by that means be enabled to forward, with more expedition, those matters which properly fall under our directions.

"We beg leave, also, to inform you that no resolutions of Congress for filling up and clothing the troops in your department have hitherto reached us, and to request of you to furnish us with such lights on this head, as may enable us most effectually to advance the publick service.

"We have the honour to be, with the highest respect and esteem, sir, your most obedient, humble servants.

"By order of the Committee of Safety.

"To Major-General Schuyler, Albany."

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Adjourned.

Die Jovis, 3 ho. P. M., January 11, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Sands.

The consideration of the great importance to the Colonies of having Powder-Mills for the manufactory of Gunpowder immediately, and the more especially, as a large quantity of Saltpetre, is confidently said to be arrived at Philadelphia; agreed to recommend to Robert R. Livingston, Esq., the re-erection of the Powder-Mill formerly built by the late Mr. Justice Livingston.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Robert R. Livingston, Esq., on that subject, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York, in the recess } of the Provincial Congress, New-York, January 11, 1776. }

SIR: While we most heartily condole with you on the loss of so significant a publick character, as that of your late worthy father, your known attachment to the publick cause will readily excuse our intermixing a few considerations of publick utility with our sympathetic expressions on that distressing event.

We have full evidence of a large importation of Saltpetre into Philadelphia; our friends in New-England are pushing the manufacture of that article, and we hope our Congress at their next meeting will give all due encouragement to so useful a manufacture in this Colony. In this view, it is probable, that there will be full employ for Powder-Mills, and for this reason we beg leave to recommend the re-erection of the patriotick work of the late Mr. Justice Livingston to your immediate attention.

We are, sir, with great respect, your most obedient servants.

To Robert R. Livingston, Esq., at his seat, Claremont.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

The Committee consisting of only a Quorum, directed a Letter to be wrote to Peter R. Livingston, Esq., and request his attendance.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Peter R. Livingston, Esq., was read and approved, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, during the recess of the Provincial } Congress, New-York, January 11, 1776. }

SIR: The Committee of Safety by the absence of yourself and another member, and the indisposition of some other members, are generally reduced to a bare quorum.

Many things of importance are necessary, and ought to be taken into consideration immediately.

If any of the members present should be indisposed, the Committee may be without even a quorum, and the publick business entirely suffer. The Committee expected your attendance and assistance long before this day.

In case of your indisposition, or inability to attend, Mr. Henry Oothoudt was appointed in your stead.

We pray that you attend, or that you endeavour that Mr. Oothoudt attend without delay.

We are, respectfully, sir, your very humble servants.

A similar Letter, omitting those parts which relate to Mr. Oothoudt, was sent to Mr. Imlay and Mr. Morris Graham.

Sundry Accounts were produced to the Committee, for billeting and pay of Commissioned and non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of the Companies of Minute-Men, who have been stationed near the Fortifications in the Highlands, for payment, and requests were made whether any, and how much, if any thing, is allowed for the billeting of Officers. The billeting money for Officers in the late campaign, having, also, been in part the subject of some late applications, the Committee determined to write to the Delegates of this Colony on these subjects; and to request the resolutions of Congress as to the pay, clothing, and establishment of the new levies ordered to be raised.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to the Delegates of this Colony at Congress, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

recess of the Provincial Congress, New-York January 11, 1776. }

GENTLEMEN: The Winter is wearing away fast, and perhaps the approaching campaign may be an active one. In this view, we conceive that every attention should be paid to promote the publick service.

The commissioned and non-commissioned officers, and privates of the Minute-Men employed for the defence of the fortifications on Hudson's River, are left at an uncertainty with respect to their pay, and for their billeting money, until they are provided for at the post, for which they are now applying to us. How discouraging this uncertainty will be to the service, and how much it is out of our power to remedy the evil, must be obvious. We must, therefore, request the most immediate resolution of the Continental Congress on that head.

The commissioned officers in the late New-York battalions of Continental troops, think it a piece of justice to them to reimburse them for their billeting money, before they were supported upon the publick provisions. You will readily conceive how disheartening it must be to them to be left saddled with a certain loss, to which they must infallibly be subject if publick provision be not made for their reimbursement. Without this, they will engage afresh with great reluctance. They are continually applying to us on this head, but you well know we are incapable of giving them the relief sought for; this must be had from the Continental Congress. We beg you to procure their speedy resolution on this head.

The resolutions of the Continental Congress as to the pay, clothing, and billeting money, for recruiting the four battalions with the utmost despatch, we most ardently request.

We are, with the highest respect and esteem, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To the Delegates for the Colony of New-York, at Congress, Philadelphia.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Die Veneris, 10 ho. A. M., January 12, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Sands.

A Letter from Egbert Benson, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Dutchess County, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

(Letter not entered.)

A Bond of Cornelius Atherton and Brinton Paine, to Colonel Alexander McDougall and Peter T. Curtenius, in the penal sum of seven hundred Pounds, dated the 20th day of December last, and conditioned that the said Cornelius Atherton will fulfil his Contract made with the obligee, on behalf of this Congress, on the 23d day of November last, for the making and delivery of a certain number of Muskets, &c., was read and filed.

A Bond of the said Cornelius Atherton, and of John Chamberlaine, to the said obligees, and of the like tenour, date, sum, and condition of the Bond above recited, was read and filed.

Thereupon, Ordered, That the Secretary deliver to Colonel McDougall and Colonel Curtenius a certified copy of the Order of the Provincial Congress of this Colony on their Treasurer, made and passed on the 15th day of December last, for the sum of three hundred and fifty Pounds, which was to be advanced to the said Cornelius Atherton, when proper security was given to fulfil his Contract; and that the Secretary also give, therewith, a Certificate that the said Bonds are filed with him, that Colonel McDougall and Colonel Curtenius, or their order, may be enabled to receive of the Treasurer, as well the moneys by Comfort Sands, at their request, as the residue of the moneys now to be advanced, amounting, in the whole, to the sum of three hundred and fifty Pounds, agreeable to the said Order of the Provincial Congress.

The Committee of Safety then took into consideration the Report of a sub-Committee of the General Committee of the City of New-York, delivered in parole, some days past, to the following effect, to wit: "That a certain Benjamin James, who had been chosen Captain of one of the Companies of Militia in the City of New-York, had refused to subscribe the Declaration mentioned in his commission as necessary to his entering on the executing that office; that, on a new election being ordered in the said Company for a Captain, the Company re-elected the same person, and refused to elect any other; that there are some other instances of the like kind, and the persons exercising military offices in the predicament."

This Committee are of opinion that the best remedy for inconvenience would be a Resolution of the Continental Congress, or, in their recess, the Committee of Safety for the time being to exercise their discretion in appointing proper Officers, without such election, whenever occasion may require.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to the Delegates of this Colony, on the subject of appointing Officers in such cases, and on the subject of giving aids to Expresses or Messengers who travel without certificates, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, during the recess of the Provincial Congress, New-York, January 12, 1776. }

GENTLEMEN: We apprehend, for reasons too tedious to mention, great danger of the want of a proper arrangement of the Militia in some of our Districts, from making the election of the people necessary for the appointment of officers under the degree of Field-Officers. We, therefore, earnestly request you immediately to procure a resolve of Congress to authorize our Congress, or the Committee of Safety for the time being, to exercise their discretion in appointing, without such election, whenever occasion may require.

We are put to repeated difficulties with applications, by expresses, to and from Congress, on the Continental service, in complying with which, without proper certificates, specifying the aids required of us to be given to such expresses, we apprehend ill consequences. By this means, our prudence in disposing of the Continental money may be exposed to be called in question, and abuses put upon the publick by taking advantage of our readiness to advance the service. For these reasons, we have been obliged to determine to give no such aids for the future to any person applying to us in the character of an express, unless he produce a certificate from Congress, specifying the particular aids required of us. Our late Congress wrote early in the Summer on this subject, but were not favoured with an answer.

We are, gentlemen, with great respect and esteem, your most obedient servants.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To the Delegates for the Colony of New-York at Congress, Philadelphia.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Colonel Brasher produced a Deputation from Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, to Mr. Gerard Bancker, his Deputy, which was read, and is in the words and figures following, to wit:

"Whereas, the Provincial Congress have nominated me their Treasurer, I do hereby appoint my friend, Mr. Gerard Bancker, Jun., my Deputy, hereby promising to confirm every act he shall do in my name in the execution thereof. As witness my hand and seal, this twenty-eighth day of August, 1775.

"P. V. B. LIVINGSTON, [L. S.]

"Sealed and delivered in the presence of,

"STIRLING.

"PHILIP LIVINGSTON."

Ordered, That the said Appointment be returned to the Deputy-Treasurer.

Colonel Brasher and Colonel Palmer produced the Receipt of Gerard Bancker, the Deputy-Treasurer, for the cash, and receipts for cash paid the Delegates of this Colony, by them brought from Philadelphia for the Congress of this Colony, amounting, together, to the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars; which receipt was read and filed, and is hereunto annexed, in the words and figures following, to wit:

"Received, January 12, 1776, from Messrs. Thomas Palmer, Abraham Brasher, and Captain John Grenell, Fifty Thousand Dollars, in Continental Bills, in behalf of Peter Livingston—Bills, $48,400—4 Receipts, $1,600—$50,000. "GERARD BANCKER."

Mr. Christian Jacobson, of Richmond County, attending at the door, was admitted. He alleged that a majority of the Inhabitants of Richmond County were not averse, but friendly to the measures of Congress. He attempted to state their difficulties and fears. Answers were given to him by the Members of this Committee.

Colonel Brasher, a Member of this Committee, informed the Committee that he had lately seen Mr. Richard Lawrence, one of the late Deputies of Richmond County; that Mr. Lawrence told him he expected that the Inhabitants of the said County would very speedily elect Deputies to represent them in Provincial Congress, and requested him to inform this Committee thereof.

Therefore, Resolved, That the late intended Interdiction of the Provincial Congress, against all delinquents in that County, be delayed until Monday, the 22d instant.

Ordered, That the Secretary deliver a certified copy of the information of Colonel Brasher, relating to the Inhabitants of Richmond County, and of the above Resolution thereon, to Mr. Christian Jacobson, one of the Committee of Richmond County.

Adjourned to three o'clock in the Afternoon.

Die Veneris, 3 ho. P. M., January 12, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. McDougall, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands; Colonel Brasher, the latter part of the evening.

Mr. Richard Lawrence, one of the Deputies from Richmond County to the former Provincial Congress, attended; and conversed with the Committee on the state of Richmond County, of his own mere motion, as he said, and without any request from the Committee, or the Inhabitants, to attend for that purpose.

After a full conversation with Mr. Lawrence, the Committee of Safety unanimously came to the following Resolutions, as to the Inhabitants of Richmond County, to wit:

Resolved, That, notwithstanding any thing contained in the Resolution of this day, respecting the County of Richmond, the same was not intended to give them any ground of assurance that their Deputies will be received in Provincial Congress, but only to enable them to put the conduct of the Inhabitants of that County in as favourable a light before the Continental Congress as the nature of their case will admit of, the same having been submitted by the Provincial Congress to the consideration of that respectable body, by whose determination the Inhabitants of that County must be bound.

Resolved, nevertheless, That, whether the Inhabitants of the said County should, or should not, proceed to an election of Deputies, in either case the Committee of the said County do report to this Committee the names of those who do, or shall, either directly or indirectly, oppose such election, as also the names of those who do not attend such election, in case a poll shall be opened for that purpose; and that the said Committee report their proceedings, and those of the County, in the premises, to this Committee, on Monday, the 22d instant.

Ordered, That the Secretary deliver to Mr. Richard Lawrence, or his order, certified copies of the Resolution of this Committee passed this morning, and of the two last preceding Resolutions, as to the Inhabitants of Richmond County.

Copies of three Affidavits, as to the ill conduct and threatenings of Samuel Devine, certified by Captain John Wisner, were read and filed, and are in the words following, to wit:

"ULSTER County:

"Stephen Semour, of full age, being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelist, this 4th day of January, 1776, saith, that on Monday evening, the 1st instant, being at the house of Daniel M. Giden, he heard Samuel Devine repeatedly drink damnation to the Congress, and all the Whigs; that last year was Whig year, but this would be Tory year; and, likewise, that all the Whigs would be hanged in the Spring; and, furthermore, repeatedly called the Whigs a pack of damned Rebels; and further saith, that he would not obey his officers, more than he would a dog, or to that purpose. And further saith not.

"STEPHEN SEMOUR."

"ULSTER County:

"George Lean, of full age, being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelist, this 4th day of January, 1776, saith, that being sent with a warrant from Captain Theerpany to the house of Samuel Devine, to levy on his goods and chattels, for not appearing under arms according to military law, at which time he levied on two ox-chains. Devine then threatened, if he took the chains, he should immediately be a dead man. After going some rods from said Devine's house, was followed by him, who desired to see his warrant, which the deponent's brother had in his hand, and, showing it to him, said Devine snatched it out of his hand, and destroyed it; and further saith, that Devine said, if satisfaction was not made for his chains, he would come up and kill a half dozen of them. And further saith not.

"GEORGE LEAN."

"ULSTER County:

"Henry Lockwood, of full age, being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelist, this 4th day of January, 1776, saith, that on his way from Newburgh homeward, he met with some persons, among which was a certain Samuel Devine, who then asked him if he did not know there was a reward for taking up a Committee-man, and sending him on board the man-of-war?—who then threatened to take said deponent, he being one of the Committee of New-Marlborough Precinct, and that he could have forty pounds in cash, or fifty acres of land, for delivering a Committee-man on board the man-of-war. And further saith not.

"HENRY LOCKWOOD."

"A true copy of the oaths. Given under my hand:
"CAPTAIN JOHN WISNER."

Application was again made to this Committee on the subject of Captain John Hulbert's and Captain John Grenell's Accounts. Hulbert and Grenell, attending at the door, were admitted, with their Accounts. Many articles in their Accounts were pointed out to them, to the settlement whereof this Committee is by no means competent. Captain Grenell and Captain Hulbert withdrew. After some considerable time spent in attention to those Accounts, and sundry debates thereon, to enable those gentlemen fully to pay off and discharge all moneys due to the Privates and non-Commissioned Officers of their Companies, this Committee agreed and resolved to allow them one thousand Pounds on account, and came to a determination, in the words following, to wit:

Whereas, Captain Grenell and Captain Hulbert, of the Third Battalion of the New-York Continental Troops, under the command of Colonel Clinton, now in actual service in Canada, have applied to this Committee with their respective Accounts, that of Captain Grenell exhibiting a balance of six hundred and twenty-four Pounds four Shillings and eleven Pence, and that of Captain Hulbert a balance of eight hundred and twenty-six Pounds two Shillings and eight and one-fourth Pence, the liquidation of which Accounts, this Committee conceive, does not properly fall within their department; and whereas, for reasons unknown to us, no Paymaster attends this Post, to whom they can be referred for their respective balances, and as this Committee has strong apprehensions that any delay of the means to enable them to pay the men of their respective Companies, may prove a great discouragement to persons who would otherwise willingly engage in the service of the United Colonies,

Resolved, That the gross sum of four hundred and fifty Pounds on Captain Grenell's Account, and five hundred and fifty Pounds on Captain Hulbert's, be advanced to them, respectively, by the Treasurer of the Provincial Congress, on the account of the Continental Congress, and be accordingly passed to the debit of their account; and that a copy of this Resolve be transmitted to the Continental Congress, with a request to them to take effectual order that such advances by this Committee, or the Provincial Congress, may not be made necessary in future.

Ordered, That a certified copy of this Entry and Resolve be given Messrs. Hulbert and Grenell.

Mr. Sands, who had informed the Committee that he had been disappointed, as to the Vessels he was about to charter to proceed to the West-Indies, in pursuance to the Order of the Provincial Congress, and was then endeavouring to procure another suitable Vessel, reports that he has engaged a sloop belonging to Stephen Thorne, to go to the Island of St. Eustatia, at seventy shillings per ton, merchant's tonnage. The Congress to take the risk of seizure. Vessel valued at five hundred pounds.

That he could also engage Abraham P. Lott's schooner to go to Martinico, Guadaloupe, or St. Eustatia, at seventy shillings, the Congress to take the risk of seizures. Vessel valued at five hundred pounds.

The Committee approve of Mr. Sands's agreement for the first above-mentioned Vessel, made in pursuance of the directions of the Provincial Congress, and submit it to the care and prudence of Mr. Sands (with such advice as he may, from time to time, request of this Committee) to make the most advantageous agreement for the publick benefit as to the other Vessel.

A case of the Committee of Huntington was stated by Mr. Tredwell to this Committee of Safety, and the letters to Mr. Tredwell on that subject, and all the other certificates and writings relative thereto, produced by Mr. Tredwell, were read and considered, and after full consideration thereof, the Committee of Safety gave a state of the case, and a determination thereon, to be transmitted to the Committee at Huntington, in hæc verba, videlicet:

P. M., January 12, 1776.

The following case was stated on behalf of the Committee of Huntington for the Opinion of this Committee, to wit:

Captain Barnabas Swain, in the sloop Bellona, having taken in part of his lading for Nantucket, at New-York, with leave of the General Committee of the City and County of New-York, proceeded with the same to Huntington, with intent to complete his cargo there; the leave he obtained at New-York was founded on a permit produced by him from under the hands of the Committee of Falmouth, dated 2d of October, 1775; which permit was produced to the Committee of Huntington, to induce them to consent to the completion of his cargo there. This consent was opposed by some of the Committee of Huntington. Afterwards the Committee and Inhabitants became acquainted with the Resolutions in the House of Representatives of Massachusetts-Bay, of November 3d, 1775, and the Committee are still of opinion that, notwithstanding any thing contained in those Resolutions, Captain Swain should be permitted to complete his cargo; with which opinion the aforesaid inhabitants are displeased.

It is the opinion of this Committee that, notwithstanding the date of Captain Swain's Permit precedes that of the aforesaid Resolutions, and will be inconsistent with a just respect to the said House of Representatives and a due regard to the Union of the Colonies, to attempt to unravel the principles upon which the aforesaid Resolutions are founded, and that as by the said Resolutions the inhabitants of the other Colonies are desired to withhold further supplies of provisions, fuel, or other necessities from Nantucket, until the further recommendation of the said Court of Representatives, and contains no saving in behalf of former permits, it is Captain Swain's misfortune that he did not complete his cargo before the receipt of the said Resolutions, and that the Committee of Huntington ought not to permit him to complete his said cargo, but that, nevertheless, he be permitted to depart on his voyage without molestation, with the provisions and other necessities which he was permitted to take on board at New-York.

Ordered, That the Secretary deliver a certified copy of the aforewritten case, and opinion of this Committee thereon, to Mr. Tredwell, to be by him transmitted to the Committee of Huntington.

Die Sabbati, January 13, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Tredwell.

This day is set apart for the hearing and trial of Prisoners. Several prisoners in the Guard-house were ordered to be brought before the Committee to be heard, and a report from the Barrack-Guard delivered in and filed.

William Weyman, who had been confined by the City Committee for going on board the ship Asia, and procuring barrels, and assisting to ship a sloop load of Pork for the Ministerial army and navy. He acknowledged, voluntarily, that he was guilty of the whole charge, appearing contrite and penitent for his ill conduct, the tendency of which was fully represented to him, he was reprimanded, and charged to tarry at home and behave prudently, and give no offence to his fellow-countrymen. Thereupon a Certificate was given to him, in the words following, to wit:

William Weyman, of Westchester County, who has been confined in the Upper Barracks in New-York, was this day brought before the Committee of Safety and heard. He acknowledged, voluntarily, the charges against him, and appeared contrite and penitent for his past ill conduct, the tendency of which was fully represented to him, he was reprimanded, charged to tarry at home, behave prudently, and give no offence to his fellow-countrymen, and not to act against the liberties of his country, all which he has solemnly engaged to do; he is, therefore, hereby discharged and permitted to return to his place of abode, and it is recommended to all friends of liberty and their country, to keep a watchful eye on his future conduct.

Azor Betts was next brought before the Committee, and charged by Christopher Duyckinck with having, in his presence, damned the Congresses and Committees, both Continental and Provincial, and said that they were a set of damned rascals, and acted only to feather their own nests, and not to serve their country; that they had shut up his shop, but that he hoped to see the day when he would shut them up, or overturn them, and mentioned Captain Buchanan and others, as witnesses, to support the charge. The said Azor Betts does not, in general, deny the charge, or desire any other witnesses to be called, but alleges that he did not mean to include all the members of Congresses and Committees, and supposes there are some good men among them, and at same time confesses that Captain Buchanan will give the like testimony as Christopher Duyckinck has done.

Thomas Service, who had been committed for carrying some person on board of one of the ships-of-war without any permit. He was admonished for his bad conduct and informed of the consequences if he should be taken in the like act hereafter, and was discharged.

Robert Simmons, confined by the City Committee, was brought in before the Committee.

Simon Cox, a person recommended to the Committee for his integrity, was produced as a witness. He declares that Simmons, the prisoner, offered him two pair of Silver Buckles, which he said were worth forty Shillings, if he would suffer him to escape. Robert Simmons was recommitted.

Captain John Buchanan says he heard Azor Betts damn the Congresses and Committees, and say they had taken the bread out of his mouth; that his business was inoculation. That the said Azor Betts has taken great pains to prevent Joseph Hunt, an Ensign in Captain Tylee's Company, from taking his commission.

Peteliah Haws gives the like testimony as to Azor Betts.

Lawrence Hartwick, brought before the Committee. Captain John Buchanan says that he has heard that Lawrence Hartwick is very unfriendly to the liberties of America, and that he frequently went on board of the man-of-war, and it is reported that he carried the names of persons in this city on board, who are active for their country. Captain Buchanan says that he has heard Lawrence Hart- wick declare that he had been on board of the man-of-war, would go on board again when he pleased, and would see who would hinder him.

Mr. Scott departed with leave.

Lawrence Hartwick says he wanted a Musket, and went on board to buy a Musket, and bought one of the Armourer and paid the money for it; that the gun was to be sent to him by the Pilot, but was not sent, and he went on board afterwards, at different times, for his money. That when he was on board the ship Asia, Mr. Tylee was there, who asked him if he knew Captain Tylee at the ship-yards, and answered yes, and told him that he wanted to speak to him; that he told him he was not yet going on shore, and he might have an opportunity to speak to him. That after he came on shore he found a letter in his pocket, directed Captain Tylee, which he delivered two days afterwards, but does not know how he received it. That he never showed the letter to Captain Vandeput or any of his Officers.

Captain Nathaniel Tylee says he received a letter from the prisoner on a Sunday morning, in November last; that Hartwick told him Lieutenant Tylee had put it in his pocket in the gun-room; that the letter had been sealed with a wafer and broken open, and re-sealed with a very large seal of wax. That on that evening the ship's decks were cleared, and some person informed him they expected a party and were in readiness. The letter was read; it has evident marks of being opened and re-sealed. That he charged Hartwick with breaking open the letter, and Hartwick denied it.

Captain Tylee gave the same information which was given to the Committee a few days ago, to wit: that Captain Vandeput told Tylee, the prisoner, in the ship Asia, that he had seen his letter, and his friend had betrayed him. That he would not use him ill, but that he set another Sentry over him.

John Rutter says that about the same time, McDonald and Hampton got on board the man-of-war, Hartwick came several times from on board the man-of-war. That one evening when Hartwick and Leonard came from on board, they were told it was very wrong, and they said they would go on board when they pleased, and they would see who would hinder them; that Hartwick, in particular, said so; that he has understood, in general, that Hartwick is very much opposed to the measures of the Congress. Hartwick denies that he told Tylee that the letter was put in his pocket in the gun-room.

John Hunter says, that Hartwick's wife declared that when he found the letter in his coat-pocket, he said he would send it back on board of the man-of-war.

John Kell says that, one day last fall, Lawrence Hartwick told him there was a fine wind, and troops expected; that they would give the Whigs a drubbing presently; that he had advised Hartwick not to go on board of the man-of-war, but he persisted that he would go.

The Committee then took into consideration the case of Azor Betts, and, after some time spent in consideration thereof, the Committee conceive that he is a dangerous person; and to prevent the bad tendency of his wicked practices, ought not to be permitted to go at large; and that, by the Resolutions of the Continental Congress, they are authorized, and that it is their duty to have him confined.

Resolved, therefore, That the said Azor Betts be sent to Ulster County Jail, to be there confined in close jail until the further order of the Continental or Provincial Congress, or of this Committee.

The Committee then took into consideration the case of Robert Simmons, and are of opinion that his many mischievous machinations and wicked practices are so dangerous, that he ought to be kept in safe custody, and that, by the Resolutions of the Continental Congress of the 2d January instant, they are authorized, and that it is their duty to have him confined in closed jail; and that as he has attempted to corrupt the Sentry at the Barrack, where he has been confined, that it will be unsafe to keep him as a prisoner without having him fettered or manacled.

Resolved, therefore, That the said Robert Simmons be conveyed to Ulster County Jail, to be there confined in close jail until the further order of the Continental or Provincial Congress, or of this Committee; and ordered that Colonel McDougall cause the said Robert Simmons to be fettered or manacled, so as to prevent his escape until he can be sent to Ulster County.

Die Solis, 9 ho. A. M., January 14, 1776.

The Committee of Safety met at the City-Hall pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Chairman, and the other Members in the city, except Mr. Scott.

As no business of so much importance appeared immediately necessary, as to require the Committee to continue their attendance this day, the Committee, therefore, adjourned to meet at ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

10 ho. A. M., Die Lune, January 15, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Sands, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Tredwell.

The Committee of Safety are informed by a Member, that a fleet of eighteen sail of Transports, two Men-of-War, and two Bomb-ships, are sailed from Boston. That they sailed from Boston on last Saturday week, and that a Letter from General Washington advising this Committee thereof, is on the way, and may be hourly expected.

Thereupon, the Committee thought it necessary to have a proper person sent to the Narrows, with a glass, to look out for any fleet that may be approaching this port; and Captain Austin Lawrence being sent for, attended the Committee. He agreed to proceed to the Narrows immediately for that purpose; and proper directions were given to him, and signals agreed on, which shall be made at the Ferry, to give notice to the City.

Captain William Dobbs was also sent for, and attended. He was directed to take the Whale-Boat lately purchased by this Committee, with a proper number of men to row her, and proceed to the Light-House, and there observe carefully the approach of any Fleet, and to give immediate notice thereof to this Committee. Mr. Dobbs was directed to tarry one week, if no fleet appears sooner, and to be very frugal in his disbursements, which were particularly enumerated.

Ordered, That none of the Pilots at this Port shall go to Sandy-Hook, or to any other place towards the Hook, without the permission of this Committee, until the further order of this Committee.

And Ordered, That no Pilot do presume to pilot into the Hook, or towards this port, any Transport with troops on board, or any Ship-of-War, or Ministerial Armed Vessel whatever.

And Ordered, That the Pilots be directed to attend this Committee to-morrow forenoon, in order that they may be charged with the matter of this Order, and to keep the same secret.

A Letter from James Duane, William Floyd, and Henry Wisner, Esqs., of the 11th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Philadelphia, January 11, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: We are honoured with your favour of 4th instant, requesting the permission of Congress to export a quantity of flaxseed to Ireland, for the purpose you mention. However important the object, we are perfectly satisfied that it will be in vain to expect an indulgence so repugnant to the non-exportation system, and, particularly, to the motives of this article of our commercial restriction, which were thought to be very cogent. Not relying entirely on our own judgment, we have consulted several of the Members, and find them so averse to the proposition, that we despair of its being seconded by a single Colony. We think it bad policy, and an humiliation of our respectable constituents to ask, in their names, for what we foresee must be rejected. Upon these considerations, we shall take the liberty to defer any application till, informed of our apprehensions, we shall be favoured with your further commands. If you should still incline to hazard the attempt, we shall, most cheerfully, obey your directions.

"We enclose you two resolutions of this Congress which respect our Colony, and a third for the exchange of Lieutenant Tylee, of General Wooster's Regiment, now a prisoner on board the Asia.

"We are, with the highest regard, gentlemen, your most obedient, and very humble servants,

"JAMES DUANE,
"WILLIAM FLOYD,
"HENRY WISNER."

"To the Honourable Committee of Safety, New-York.

"P. S. We also enclose you several resolutions of Congress, which passed the 8th instant, which we are directed to communicate, since we closed the preceding letter."

The Resolves of the Continental Congress of the 8th instant, relating to the construction of Batteaus at Ticonderoga, and sending Salt thither, and relating to the practicability of lessening the depth of water at the Narrows, was read and filed.

The Resolve of the Continental Congress of the same date, on the subject of raising Troops for Canada, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"In Congress, January 8, 1776.

"Resolved, That to make up the Battalions voted for the defence of Canada, one Battalion be immediately raised in New-Hampshire, one in Connecticut, and one in New-York; that two Battalions be formed out of the Troops now in Canada, and that General Montgomery, be desired to recommend proper persons for Officers in said Battalions.

"The other three Battalions to be sent from Pennsylvania and New-Jersey.

"That Colonel Van Schaick, Lieutenant-Colonel Yates, and Major Gansevoort, be continued in the service of the United Colonies, and that they take the command of the above Battalion to be levied in the Colony of New-York.

"Extract from the Minutes:

"CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary."

The Resolve of Congress of the 9th January, relating to the Militia of Orange and Ulster Counties at the New Garrison, was read and filed.

A Resolve of Congress of the 11th instant, recommending to procure the exchange of Lieutenant Tylee, was read and filed.

A Resolve of Congress directing General Schuyler to be furnished with an account of Moneys advanced to the Troops of his Department, was read and filed.

Philip Livingston, Esq., one of the Delegates of this Colony, came into the Committee and conferred with them on sundry matters, and delivered to them certified copies of sundry Resolutions of the Continental Congress, on different days, from 25th November to the 2d instant, which were read and filed, and are in the words following, to wit:

"In Congress, November 25, 1775.

"The Congress resumed the Report of the Committee on General Washington's Letter; and the same being debated by paragraphs, was agreed to as follows:

"The Committee to whom so much of the Letter from General Washington to the President, dated the 8th instant, as relates to the disposal of the Vessels and Cargoes belonging to the enemy, which shall fall into the hands of, or be taken by the inhabitants of the United Colonies, and so much of the Report of the Committee of Congress, which lately went to the Camp at Cambridge, as related to that subject, were referred, have examined the matter thereof, and directed the same, as it appears to them, together with the Resolutions of the Committee thereupon, to be reported as followeth:

"It appears to your Committee, from undoubted information, that many Vessels which had cleared at the respective Custom-Houses in these Colonies, agreeable to the regulations established by acts of the British Parliament, have, in a lawless manner, without even the semblance of just authority, been seized by His Majesty's ships-of-war, and carried into the Harbour of Boston, and other ports, where they have been rifled of their cargoes by order of His Majesty's Naval and Military Officers there commanding, without the said Vessels having been proceeded against by any form of trial, and without the charge of having offended against any law.

"It further appears to your Committee that orders have been issued in His Majesty's name to the commanders of ships-of-war, "to proceed as in the case of actual rebellion against such of the sea-port towns, and places being accessible to the King's ships, in which any troops shall be raised, or military works erected," under colour of which said orders, the commanders of His Majesty's said ships-of-war have already burned and destroyed the flourishing and populous town of Falmouth, and have fired upon, and much injured several other towns within the United Colonies, and dispersed at a late season of the year, hundreds of helpless women and children, with a savage hope, that those may perish under the approaching rigours of the season, who may chance to escape destruction from fire and sword, a mode of warfare long exploded amongst civilized nations.

"It also, appears to your Committee, that the good people of these Colonies, sensibly affected by the destruction of their property, and other unprovoked injuries, have at last determined to prevent, as much as possible, a repetition thereof, and to procure some reparation for the same, by fitting out armed vessels and ships of force. In the execution of which commendable designs, it is possible that those who have not been instrumental in the unwarrantable violences above-mentioned may suffer, unless some laws be made to regulate, and tribunals erected competent to determine the propriety of captures, whereupon, your Committee came to the following Resolutions:

"1st. That all such ships-of-war, frigates, sloops, cutters, and armed vessels, as are, or shall be employed in the present cruel and unjust war against the United Colonies, and shall fall into the hands of, or be taken by the inhabitants thereof, be seized and forfeited to, and for the purposes hereinafter mentioned.

"2d. On motion made, and the question put,

"Resolved, That the second article or resolution be re-committed. The same (as brought in and agreed to the 19th December,) is as follows:

"Resolved, That all transport vessels in the same service, having on board any troops, arms, ammunition, clothing, provisions, or military or naval stores of what kind soever, and all vessels to whomsoever belonging that shall be employed in carrying provisions, or other necessities to the British army, or armies, or navy, that now are, or hereafter shall be within any of the United Colonies, or any goods, wares, or merchandise, for the use of such fleet or armies, shall be liable to seizure, and with their cargoes shall be confiscated.

"3d. That no master, or commander of any vessel shall be entitled to cruise for, or make prize of any vessel or cargo before he shall have obtained a commission from the Congress, or from such person or persons as shall be for that purpose appointed in some one of the United Colonies.

"4th. That it be, and it is hereby recommended to the several Legislatures in the United Colonies, as soon as possible to erect Courts of Justice, or give jurisdiction to the Courts now in being, for the purpose of determining concerning the captures to be made as aforesaid, and to provide that all trials in such case be had by a jury under such qualifications as to the respective Legislatures shall seem expedient.

"5th. That all prosecutions shall be commenced in the Court of that Colony in which the capture shall be made; but if no such Court be at that time erected in the said Colony, or if the capture be made on open sea, then the prosecution shall be in the Court of such Colony as the captor may find most convenient, provided that nothing contained in this resolution shall be construed so as to enable the captor to remove his prize from any Colony competent to determine concerning the seizure, after he shall have carried the vessel so seized within any harbour of the same.

"6th. That in all cases an appeal shall be allowed to the Congress, or such person, or persons, as they shall appoint for the trial of appeals; provided the appeal be demanded within five days after definitive sentence, and such appeal be lodged with the Secretary of Congress within forty days afterwards; and provided the party appealing shall give security to prosecute the said appeal to effect; and in case of the death of the Secretary during the recess of Congress, then the said appeal to be lodged in Congress within twenty days after the meeting thereof.

"7th. That when any vessel or vessels shall be fitted out at the expense of any person, or persons, then the captures made shall be to the use of the owner or owners of the said vessel or vessels; that where the vessels employed in the capture shall be fitted out at the expense of any of the United Colonies, then one-third of the prize taken shall be to the use of the captors, the remaining two-thirds to the use of the said Colony; and where the vessels so employed shall be fitted out at the Continental charge, then one-third shall go to the captors, and the remaining two-thirds to the use of the United Colonies; provided, nevertheless, That if the capture be a vessel of war, then the captors shall be entitled to one-half of the value, and the remainder shall go to the Colonies, or Continent, as the case may be; the necessary charges of condemnation of all prizes being deducted before any distribution is made.

"8th. That the captures heretofore made by vessels fitted out at the Continental charge were justifiable, and that the distribution of the captors' share of the prizes by General Washington be confirmed.

"Resolved, That in case of recaptures, the recaptors ought to have and retain, in lieu of salvage, one-eighth part of the true value of the vessel and cargo, or either of them, if the same hath or have been in the possession of the enemy twenty-four hours; one-fifth part if more than twenty-four and less than forty-eight hours; one-third part if more than forty-eight, and less than ninety-six hours, and one-half if more than ninety-six hours, unless the vessel shall, after the capture, have been legally condemned as a prize by some Court of Admiralty, in which case the recaptor ought to have the whole; in all which cases the share retained, or prizes to be divided between the owners of the vessel making the recapture, the Colony, or the Continent, as the case may be, and the captors, agreeable to a former resolution.

"Resolved, That in the present situation of affairs it will be very dangerous to the liberties and welfare of America, if any Colony should, separately, petition the King or either House of Parliament."

"In Congress, December 11, 1775.

"Resolved, That the Selectmen of the town of Sherborn, in Nantucket, prepare an estimate of the quantity of Fuel and Provisions necessary for the use of the inhabitants of said Island, and lay it before three or more Justices of the Peace for the County of Barnstable, in the Colony of Massachusetts-Bay, attested by the oath or affirmation of the said Selectmen, and that the said Justices be empowered to grant licenses under their hands to any master or owner of vessels in the said Island to import Fuel and Provisions from the Colonies of Massachusetts-Bay, Rhode-Island, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, Lower Counties on Delaware, or Maryland, not exceeding the quantities specified in said estimate."

"December 26, 1775.—Whereas, an estimate hath lately been formed of the publick expense already arisen, and which may accrue in defence of America, to the 10th day of June next, in pursuance whereof, this Congress on the 24th day of November, resolved, that a further sum of three millions of Dollars be emitted in Bills of Credit:

"Resolved, therefore, That the Thirteen United Colonies be pledged for the Bills of Credit so directed to be emitted; that each Colony provide ways and means to sink its proportion of the said bills in such manner as may be most effectual and best adapted to the condition, circumstances, and equal mode of levying taxes in each Colony. That the proportion or quota of each respective Colony be determined according to the number of inhabitants of all ages, including negroes and mulattoes in each Colony.

"That it be recommended to the several Assemblies, Conventions, or Councils, or Committees of Safety of the respective Colonies to ascertain by the most impartial and effectual means in their power, the number of inhabitants in each respective Colony, taking care that the lists be authenticated by the oaths of the several persons who shall be intrusted with this service; and that the said Assemblies, Conventions, Councils, or Committees of Safety do respectively lay before this Congress a return of the number of inhabitants of their respective Colonies as soon as the same shall be procured.

"That each Colony pay its respective quota in four equal payments, the first to be made on or before the last day of November, 1783; the second on or before the last day of November, 1784; the third on or before the last day of November, 1785; and the fourth, or last, on or before the last day of November, 1786. And that for this the several Assemblies or Conventions provide for laying and levying taxes in their respective Colonies towards sinking the Continental bills; that the said bills be received by the collectors in payment of such taxes, and be by the collectors, paid into the hands of the Provincial Treasurers, with all such other moneys as they may receive in lieu of Continental bills; which other moneys the Provincial Treasurers shall endeavour to get exchanged for Continental bills, and where that cannot be done, shall send to the Continental Treasurers the deficiency in silver and gold, with the bills making up the quota to be sunk that year, taking care to cut by a circular punch of an inch diameter a hole in such bills, and to cross the same, thereby to render them impassable, though the sum, or value, is to remain fairly legible; and the Continental Treasurers, as fast as they receive the said quotas, shall, with the assistance of a Committee of five persons to be appointed by the Congress if sitting, or by the Assembly, or Convention of the Province of Pennsylvania, examine and count the Continental bills, and in the presence of the said Committee burn and destroy them; and the silver and gold sent them to make up the deficiencies of quotas they shall retain in their hands until demanded in redemption of Continental bills that may be brought to them for that purpose, which bills so redeemed they shall also burn and destroy in the presence of the said Committee; and the Treasurers whenever they have silver and gold in their hands for the redemption of Continental bills shall advertise the same, signifying that they are ready to give gold or silver for such bills to all persons requiring it in exchange.

“Resolved, That it be recommended to the several Legislatures in these Colonies, whether Assemblies or Conventions, to pass acts or ordinances prohibiting the arrest of Continental soldiers for small debts; and in order that the same rule may pervade all the Colonies, that no such soldier be arrested at the suit of any of his creditors unless the said creditor make oath that the said soldier is justly indebted to him in the sum of thirty-five dollars, over and above all discounts; and that the estate of no such soldier be liable to attachment at the suit, or for the benefit of all his creditors, unless their debts in the whole on being ascertained by their oaths shall amount to more than one hundred and fifty dollars.

“Whereas, this Congress by a resolution passed the 15th day of July last, did direct that every vessel importing into these Colonies, Gunpowder, Saltpetre, Sulphur, and other Military Stores therein specified, within nine months from the date thereof, should be permitted to load and export the produce of these Colonies to the value of such Powder and Stores aforesaid, the Non-Exportation Agreement notwithstanding, by permits from the Committees of the several Colonies; to the end, therefore, that this Congress may be the better informed of the quantity of military stores, which are or shall be so imported, and of the produce exported in consequence of the resolution aforesaid:

“Resolved, That it be recommended to all Committees by whom any permits under the said resolution have been or may be granted, to transmit to this Congress from time to time, a true account of the Military Stores, &c., imported, and of the produce exported, with the price and value of both.”

“December 29, 1775.—Resolved, That as the importation of any universally necessary commodity, and the exportation of our produce to purchase the same, must give a proportionally greater opportunity to our enemies of making depredations on the property of the inhabitants of these Colonies, and of occasionally distressing them by intercepting such commodities, it is earnestly recommended to the several Assemblies or Conventions, immediately to promote by sufficient publick encouragements the making of Salt in their respective Colonies.”

“January 2, 1776.—Resolved, That the Assemblies, Conventions, or Committees or Councils of Safety, be requested forthwith to transmit to this Congress, copies of all the Petitions, Memorials, and Remonstrances, which have been, by the respective Colonies, presented to the Throne or either House of Parliament, since the year 1762, and that they, also, inform the Congress whether any, and what answers were given to them.

“Extracts from the Minutes:

“CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary.”

The Committee then spent a considerable time in examining a draft of the soundings of the most likely place to obstruct the navigation to this City, which had, on their first meeting, this morning, been produced to them by Colonel McDougall, and considering of means to carry that matter into execution.

Die Lunæ, 4 ho. P. M., January 5, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: P. Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke.

It being represented by Colonel McDougall to this Committee, that he has information from undoubted authority, which he also named, that Alexander Lesslie, of this city, peruke-maker, has been carrying on a correspondence, dangerous to the liberties of America, with some person, or persons, in Philadelphia,

It is Ordered, That Colonel McDougall do, without delay, cause the said Alexander Lesslie, and all other persons to be found in his house, to be apprehended and kept in safe custody till further order of this Committee; and, also, at the same time to cause diligent search for and to be secured, all papers that may be found in the said house, in any wise relating to such correspondence, and that Colonel McDougall make report in the premises with all convenient speed.

This Committee being informed that a number of the late Continental Soldiers, who were enlisted in Captain Denton's Company, are returned to Orange County with their muskets, bayonets, and cartouch-boxes, and accoutrements, which belong to the Colony,

Resolved and Ordered, That each Committee in the County of Orange be requested immediately to secure the Arms and Accoutrements of each of the said Soldiers, and from time to time, secure the publick Arms and Accoutrements of every discharged Soldier who shall come within their respective Districts, and place the same in the hands of the respective Chairmen of the said Committees, or such other prudent and trusty persons as by the said Committees, respectively, shall be appointed.

The Committee then heard the Letter from the Delegates of this Colony, now at Continental Congress, and the several Resolves of Congress lately received, read, and spent some time in consideration thereof.

Die Martis, 10 ho. A. M., January 16, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke.

The Petition of Captain Jacob Mott, Jackson Mott, and Jacob Weeks, of Queen's County, acknowledging the imprudence of their past conduct, engaging their future attachment to their country, and giving a certificate of their having signed the Association, thereupon the Committee gave them a certificate in the words following, to wit:

The Petition of Captain Jacob Mott, Jackson Mott, and Seaman Weeks, of Queen's County, was read, setting forth that they, by the persuasion of persons conceived by them to be their friends, voted against the election of Provincial Delegates, in the late election in that County, for which they declare their extreme sorrow and sincere repentance; that they, without reflecting on the ill-consequences of opposing such election, (which they now are convinced was highly necessary to the preservation of American liberty,) were led to such opposition by the artful insinuations of designing men. They, therefore, pray this Committee to consider their case, and restore them to the good opinion of the friends to liberty on this Continent, by declaring to the world that the Petitioners are extremely contrite for their late conduct in opposing the aforesaid election, and to do such other things for restoring them to the favour of their countrymen as to this Committee shall seem meet.

Which Petition was attended with a certificate of Benjamin Sands, Chairman of the Committee of Cow-Neck and Great-Neck, purporting that the Petitioners, since they were advertised by the Provincial Congress, had expressed their sorrow for their past conduct, and that they were led on by wicked and designing men, and that they have signed the General Association and promised obedience to all orders of Congress.

Upon due consideration of the premises, and well knowing that the late Resolves of the Congress against the delinquents of Queen's County, were intended to convince them of their demerits, and bring them to a just sense of their duty to the publick, it is Ordered, That the said Petitioners be restored to the state and condition in which they were before the passing of these Resolves, during their respective future good behaviour.

The Committee then resumed the consideration of the Resolves of Congress relating to the Fortifications at the Highlands, and thereupon agreed upon Instructions to the Commissioners in the words following, to wit:

Instructions to the Commissioners for the Fortifications on Hudson's River.

In consequence of a Resolve of the Continental Congress, of the 5th instant, that no further fortifications ought to be erected at Martelaer's Rock, on Hudson's River, and that a point of land at Poeplopen's Kill, on the said river, ought without delay to be effectually fortified, it is Ordered, 1st. That the timber designed for the additional Barracks at Martelaer's Rock, and not yet erected, be removed by the first opportunity to Poeplopen's Kill, there to be applied to use pursuant to some future order.

2d. That the timber now lying at Martelaer's Rock, destined for the line now under construction, be not removed or applied to any use till further order, and for that purpose.

3d. As this Committee is informed that the line for the intended Battery on Martelaer's Rock, is very near being finished, and as, perhaps, it may be completed with a base of fifteen feet thick, without much additional expense, that the Commissioners do immediately return a very particular and minute state and condition of the said line, describing its length and its thickness at the base, whether it be filled up to the height to which it is now raised, and all the materials of which it consists, with a computation of the extraordinary expense that may attend the extension of its base to the thickness of fifteen feet, and all other circumstances relating to the same that may tend to enable this Committee to judge whether it would be best to recommend to the Continental Congress the completing of the said line.

4th. That Colonel Isaac Nicoll, of the Minute-Men in Orange County, who is nominated to the command of the Fortification on Hudson's River, be received and obeyed in that command till the arrival of a proper Continental officer, or till further order, pursuant to a commission given to him by this Committee for that purpose.

5th. As this Committee is informed that the Powder lately sent to Martelaer's Rock cannot be, as yet, placed in the Magazine, on account of its dampness, that the Commissioners, in conjunction with Colonel Nicoll, take effectual means, by tightening the roof and keeping constant fires, and otherwise, as in their discretion shall seem fit, to fit it, without delay, for the reception of the Powder; and, in the mean time, that the Powder be kept with all due care from waste and damage.

Die Mercurii, January 17, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke. Mr. Sands a very short time.

Mr. Curtenius delivered in a state of his Accounts, and, also, a separate memorandum of moneys due from him on the publick accounts, whereby it appears that a balance of three thousand six hundred and fifty-eight Pounds three Shillings and nine Pence is due to him.

Ordered, That Peter T. Curtenius, as Commissary of this Congress, purchase, on Continental account, three thousand bushels of Salt, and forward the same to Walter Livingston, Esq., or his order, at Albany, with all convenient speed.

Ordered, That the said Commissary examine the Arms now at the gunsmiths, preparing for Lord Stirling's troops, and take care that they are good and properly finished, and that he direct the gunsmiths in this city not to sell any Arms to any person who resides out of this Colony, until the further order of the Provincial Congress or of this Committee.

Ordered, further, That the said Commissary purchase seventy Blankets for Soldiers, on the best terms which he can procure them.

Mr. Curtenius requested, by marks in Day-Book, and by every other proper method, to distinguish between Continental and Provincial charges, so as to keep them in separate accounts.

Ordered, That Peter Van Brugh Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Congress of this Colony, advance to Peter T. Curtenius, as Commissary of the Congress of this Colony, the sum of six thousand Pounds, to enable him to comply with the orders given to him by the Provincial Congress and this Committee; that the said Treasurer pay this Order out of the Provincial Money of this Colony, and take Mr. Curtenius's receipt for the same.

Ordered, That Peter Van Brugh Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Congress of this Colony, advance to Colonel Alexander McDougall the sum of five hundred Pounds, on account, for the subsistence of his Regiment; that the said Treasurer pay this Order out of the Provincial Money of this Colony, and take Colonel McDougall's receipt for the same.

This Committee being fully convinced that it is their indispensable duty to endeavour to encourage and procure the making of Saltpetre in this Colony, in order to supply the means of its defence, and that the manufacture of that article will ultimately tend to the great advantage of the Colony, conceive they cannot better discharge their duty on that matter, at present, than by having a small collection of the most plain and easy experiments for the manufacture of Saltpetre published; and Mr. Tredwell, one of the members, having collected copies of the said experiments, a draft of an Introduction or Preface to the same was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety during the recess of Congress, }
January 17, 1776. }

The wicked practices of a corrupt Administration, and their hostile attempts to compel an obedience to several Acts of the British Parliament, evidently subversive of all the rights and privileges which as God's rational creatures we are entitled to, and have, as Englishmen, inherited by the laws of our country, have constrained the inhabitants of those Colonies to take up arms for the defence of their lives, liberties, and property. The Ministry, flattering themselves that so young a country, unused to manufactures of every kind, will not be able to procure the means of defence within itself, have made, and will undoubtedly continue to make it a principal object of their attention, to preclude us from foreign supplies of military stores. This Committee would, therefore, conceive themselves most culpably deficient in discharge of their important trust as guardians of the publick security, should they not do all in their power to promote the manufacture of those articles. Without these, the greatest unanimity, virtue, and fortitude, can afford us little prospect of success in the present interesting struggle. To that end, this Committee have thought it necessary to publish the following Essays upon the Manufacture of Saltpetre and Gunpowder, not doubting that a due consideration of the danger of resting the liberties and future happiness of this large and growing country upon foreign supplies, which will be extremely precarious, and at all events very expensive, will induce the inhabitants of this Colony to do every thing in their power to supply the Continent with those necessary ar-ties; and the more effectually to urge individuals to attempt those manufactures, this Committee have thought it proper to preface those Essays with the following Resolution of the Continental Congress.

By order of the Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. Tredwell call on one of the Printers in this city, and engage him to print three thousand copies thereof on the account of this Colony, and to send that number of copies to this Committee.

The Committee then resumed the consideration of the many Resolves received from the Continental Congress, and, thereupon, a draft of a Letter to General Schuyler, relating to Shipwrights, Carpenters, Scows, Batteaus, Salt, Provisions, reduction of old Troops and raising of new Levies, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York. January 17, 1776.

SIR: Lest copies of the enclosed have not been forwarded to you, our attention to the publick service points out the necessity of communicating them with such observations as occur to us on their different subjects.

In the resolves respecting the transportation of troops, provisions, and stores, several things are left indeterminate, upon which, perhaps, it may be proper for us to have your particular sentiments, to enable us to execute such part of the business as may be within our department. The number of shipwrights for building batteaus are not mentioned, and we submit it to your consideration whether all, or how many should be shipwrights or house-carpenters. The wages of the latter will be lowest, and, therefore, ought to be preferred if they can sufficiently perform the service, and perhaps many may probably be engaged near you who are acquainted with that kind of work; yet, we would beg leave to mention it as necessary, to employ as many of the carpenters of this city as possible, to prevent them and their families from starving, by means of the stagnation of business, which is more severely felt in this city than in any other part of the Province.

With respect to batteau-men, many may probably be engaged in the upper part of the country. Such as may be necessary to be supplied by us we will endeavour to procure. We, also, beg leave to hint, that in the present declension of trade the seamen of this port ought to be employed upon this article of service, as well as that of building batteaus. We beg you to inform us of the number of hands you would desire us to procure, as, also, to know your sentiments about the pay we are to allow carpenters and batteau-men.

The large quantity of provisions mentioned in one of the resolves is entirely indeterminate. We beg to know what you expect of us on that head. We have given orders for the immediate purchase of three thousand bushels of salt, which we shall send up the river as far as the season will permit.

We would only add, that we beg leave to trouble you with forwarding the resolves relating to the reduction of the old troops to two battalions, and the new levies to General Montgomery, and to assure you that we are, sir, with great respect and esteem, your most obedient servants.

By order of the Committee.

To Major-General Schuyler.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by post, and that the Secretary enclose therein certified copies of the Resolves of the Continental Congress of the 8th instant, therein referred to.

The Committee then took into consideration Lord Stirling's Letter of the 12th instant, and the same being again read, a draft of an answer thereto was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

January 17, 1776. }

MY LORD: We have to acknowledge your favour of the 12th inst., which we should have answered sooner, had the order necessary for despatching our multiplicity of business permitted it.

We shall this day appoint a Barrackmaster, leaving the settlement of his pay to Continental Congress, and shall give immediate orders, that the barracks be prepared for the reception of the troops under your command, and will inform you when they are ready; but we beg leave to hint, that the troops must come provided with the articles of bedding, except straw, as we shall not be able to supply them.

About seventy or eighty of the firelocks are ready, and we have given the necessary orders for their inspection. The rest we will get finished as soon as possible. But your Lordship has forgot to inform us, whether we are to look to the Continental Congress, or your Provincial Congress for their cost. We have already been at great charge in the purchase of arms for our own troops, and at whose expense it is still undetermined. It behooves us, therefore, to be cautious of extensive advances on that head.

With respect to the people of Staten-Island, we have for certain reasons suspended the interdiction against them, till next Monday, the 22d inst. Their cases are now before the Continental Congress, and we beg you to desist from any measures against those people till the expiration of that term, unless you shall have received orders concerning them from the Continental Congress.

We are, my Lord, your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,

By order of the Committee.

To the Right Honourable Earl of Stirling.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted; and that the Secretary enclose therein a copy of his Lordship's Letter, agreeable to his request.

A Letter from *Peter R. Livingston, Esq. of the 2d instant, assigning the ill state of health of Mrs. Livingston, and the particular circumstances of his family, as the reasons of his not attending this Committee.

Die Jovis 10 ho. A. M., January 18, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke. Mr. Sands a very short time.

Mr. Nicholas Low attending the Committee, delivered in an Account, in the words and figures following, to wit:

The Honourable the Provincial Congress of New-York, Bought of William Cannon.
462 quarter casks of Powder (nine loads) twenty-five pounds each, is 115½ cwt., at £20, £2,310 0
Paid cartage nine loads to the lower Magazine, 3 8
£2,313 8

New-York, January 18, 1776.

Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., Treasurer of the Congress of this Colony, pay to Mr. Nicholas Low two thousand three hundred and thirteen Pounds eight Shillings, for the above account, and that he take Mr. Low's receipt for the same.

By advice received by Lord Stirling's Letter, that part of the Troops under his command are to be stationed in the City of New-York, as soon as the Barracks can be ready to receive them, and fire-wood and other necessary materials furnished for their lodgment; it is become necessary to appoint a Barrackmaster for the City and County of New-York, in the stead of Gerard Bancker, Esq., whose services to the publick are necessary in other departments; and Mr. Garret Roorback of the said City being recommended as very active and careful, and a proper person for that purpose,

*MRS. LIVINGSTON, January 2, 1776.—SIR: I received a letter this day from three of the gentlemen, deputies for this County, desiring my attendance immediately at York, being appointed one of the members of the Committee of Safety for this County during the recess of the Convention, and am extremely sorry to inform you, that the situation of Mrs. Livingston is such, that it is impossible for me to leave her; am very sorry it is so. She is all alone here, in a bad state of health, with a large family, and no assistance near her; her situation is such, that I can by no means leave her alone, and she has not strength sufficient to undergo the fatigues of a journey with me. Therefore, must entreat the gentlemen to excuse me, till such time as Mrs. Livingston's health will permit my leaving her, or bringing her down with me.

Am, sir, with great respect, your very humble servant,
PETER R. LIVINGSTON.

To the President of the Committee of Safety for the Province of New-York.

Resolved, That the said Garret Roorback be, and he is hereby appointed, Barrackmaster for the said City and County of New-York, and that he apply to Gerard Bancker, Esq., and request of him an account of the Stores belonging to the said Barracks, and that a Letter be wrote to the Delegates of this Colony, or to the Continental Congress, requesting that the pay of a Barrackmaster may be fixed by that honourable body.

William Allen requested permission to go on board one of His Majesty's Ships, to take directions to make shoes for the crew on board. Thereupon an order was given to him in the words following, to wit:

Liberty is hereby given to William Allen, to go on board the man-of-war on business.

Francis Lewis, Esq., came into the Committee, and informed them, that the shipwrights who were to be applied on the Continental account, had fixed on a place, on the shore, a part of, or adjoining to the land of James Livingston, Esq., whereon to go to work; and that Mr. Livingston said he had not any objection to their using that place, but requested an order of the Provincial Congress or Committee of Safety for that purpose.

The Committee conceive they are not authorized for that purpose, but at Mr. Lewis's request, who urged it as necessary, they conceived they might recommend.

Thereupon a draft of a Letter to Mr. Livingston was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, }
January 18, 1776. }

SIR: We have been applied to by proper authority, to obtain for certain ship-builders, employed by order of the Continental Congress, a convenient spot on your shore for publick service.

We are also informed, that you make some difficulties about complying with the request made to you by the ship-builders. Though neither the Continental nor Provincial Congress would chose to possess themselves of any man's property against his will, yet you will readily see, that your refusal to comply with the request above-mentioned will render you obnoxious to all the friends of liberty.

It is, therefore, recommended to you by this Committee, to permit the ship-builders to occupy the spot they have applied for, and we engage to make you a proper compensation for the same.

We are, sir, your humble servants,

By order of the Committee.

To James Livingston, Esq.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Die Jovis, 3 ho. P. M., January 18, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. McDougall, Mr. Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands.

A Letter from Thomas Wickes, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Huntington, of the 12th instant, to the Chairman of this Committee, and which was received on the 15th instant, requesting Commissions for two Companies of the Militia there, was taken into consideration.

The Committee is of opinion that the return is not made agreeable to the directions of the Militia Law; that, therefore, the Commissions be delayed, and that Mr. Tredwell write a letter to Mr. Wickes, informing him of the irregularity of the return, that the same may be regularly returned.

Mr. Brewster produced a Letter from John Young, Chairman of the Committee of Mamacoting Precinct, requesting Commissions for two Companies of Militia in Ulster County, one of which Companies is the Mamacoting Militia Company of Foot, and alleging that the former Return sent to Congress of the election of Officers of that Company, was a counterfeit.

Ordered, That a Letter be wrote to Mr. Young, informing him of all the Returns on file signed with his name, and that the Commissions applied for by Mr. Young be delayed until Mr. Young's answer is received.

The Committee then ordered Alexander Lesslie to be brought before them, and Colonel Van Cortlandt and Colonel Brasher, by order, having examined James Lesslie, and made report that they had not thereby obtained any information, and the said Alexander Lesslie, in the strongest manner, averring his innocence, in the presence of Philip Livingston, Esq., one of the Continental Delegates, who, on request of the Committee, was attending to hear his examination, the Committee permitted the said Alexander Lesslie to go at liberty, on his parole, to return and appear before this Committee to-morrow, at noon, and prepared to give security for his future appearance, if such security should be required.

Die Veneris, 10 ho. A. M., January 19, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Colonel Brasher, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands.

A Return of Officers of a Company of Militia at the White-Plains and the Manor of Scarsdale, in Westchester County, was read and filed. Anthony Miller, Esq., is returned for Captain, Nicholas Fisher, First Lieutenant, and John Crumpton, Second Lieutenant.

A Return of Officers of a Company of Militia for the North end of Salem, in Westchester County, was also read and filed. The gentlemen returned are, Jesse Trusdell, for Captain, Ezekiel Hawley, First Lieutenant, Solomon Close, Second Lieutenant, and Elijah Deane, Ensign.

Ordered, That Commissions issue for those gentlemen immediately.

Lieutenant David Reynolds, from the Fortifications in the Highlands, brought Returns of Captain Samuel Raymond's and Captain Burns's Companies of Minute-Men, now on duty at the Fortifications in the Highlands.

Lieutenant Reynolds was also charged with mentioning to the Committee the want of bowls and plates, and some other necessities, for the Troops at the Fortifications; and Letters from the Captains of the Minute-Companies to Colonel McDougall were read.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Captain Samuel Raymond was read, and approved, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 19, 1776.

SIR: Your several favours to Colonel McDougall have been communicated to the Committee of Safety, as well as the matters with which Lieutenant Reynolds was charged. The Continental and Provincial Congress having directed, by sundry resolutions, what shall be done with such persons as discover a temper unfriendly to the Colonies, you are to secure the violators of those resolutions, and send them, with the evidences, by a sufficient guard, to the Committee of the County where the delinquent shall reside.

It is the opinion of this Committee that the Minute-Companies now in the Fort do remain there, until they are relieved by the Continental troops, and that no change of Minute-Companies be made, unless any of the Companies now there should decline the service.

As Lieutenant Reynolds informs us you want some wooden platters and bowls for the troops, you are hereby requested to purchase a sufficient number in the neighbourhood, and draw an order on Mr. Peter T. Curtenius, our Commissary, and transmit the account for them, which he will be directed to pay. You may provide cider in the neighbourhood for the troops, and you are to be particularly careful to purchase those articles on reasonable terms. Shoes may be purchased cheaper in the country than in the city, and if the men provide them and their clothes, no stoppages will be made for them.

You have, herewith, copies of the resolutions of Congress above-mentioned. Colonel Nicoll, of the Orange County Minute-Regiment, is appointed by the Committee of Safety to command at the Fort, till a commandant shall be appointed by the Continental Congress, or till he shall be relieved by a Continental officer.

We are, sir, your very humble servants.

Signed by order and in behalf of the Committee of Safety. Captain Samuel Raymond.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Lieutenant Reynolds.

The Committee, taking into consideration the distress this Colony may soon be reduced to for want of Canvass, or some other proper materials to make Tents of, and also the high probability of obtaining Gunpowder at Curacao,

Ordered, That Mr. Sands, with all possible despatch, on behalf of the Congress of this Colony, and by order of this Committee, do employ a proper Vessel, and load her with Flour for Curacao, with proper letters and orders to procure Gunpowder and Raven's Duck.

Alexander Lesslie attended, according to the order of yesterday. Mr. Tobias Stoutenburgh attended with the said Alexander Lesslie, and the said Alexander Lesslie engaged to attend on this Committee at any time when called on; and Mr. Tobias Stoutenburgh, here present in the Committee, engaged that the said Alexander Lesslie will attend this Committee when called on for that purpose, and that he, (the said Tobias Stoutenburgh), on notice for that purpose, will bring the said Alexander Lesslie before the said Committee.

3 ho. P. M., Dio Veneris, January 19, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. McDougall, Mr. Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke.

This Committee being informed by Lieut. Tilghman, of the Light-Infantry in the Third Battalion of the Militia of Philadelphia, of the repulse of the Continental Troops at Quebeck, and of certain disorders in the County of Tryon, in this Colony, which he received from General Schuyler, the Committee thought it necessary to order an half-ton of Gunpowder from the Fortifications at the Highlands to General Schuyler.

General Schuyler informed Colonel McDougall, by letter, that he had sent this Powder into Canada.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to the Commissioners and to the commanding officer at the said Fortifications, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

New-York, January 19, 1776.

SIRS: You are, on sight of this, to procure as many sleighs as will carry an half-ton of powder to General Schuyler, at Albany, and despatch it with the utmost expedition, and with a guard; and the officer of the guard is to call on the Committees on the road for assistance of fresh horses and a guard. Great care should be taken to cover the powder, and no fire or other materials should be suffered to come near it, and the guard should be careful of their arms when they approach it.

We are, sirs, your humble servants.

Signed by order and in behalf of the Committee of Safety.

To Mr. Thomas Grenell, and to Colonel James Nicoll, and, in his absence, to the Commanding Officer at the Fortifications in the Highlands.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Sampson Dyckman, an Express.

A draft of a Letter to the Committee of Albany, to accompany the said half-ton of Gunpowder, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 19, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The account of the unhappy disaster of our Army at Quebeck we fear will give heart to the enemies of America in Tryon County, against whom we understand General Schuyler has marched. Lest there should be a deficiency of ammunition in your quarter to supply his wants, we send you, by express, for his use, half a ton of powder. He may not be on the spot; therefore, either convey it to him, or send him intelligence of its arrival, according to your discretion. We need not recommend despatch.

We are, gentlemen, your most obedient servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the Committee of Albany.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

One Decker, a Boatman, from Staten-Island, applied to the Committee, and informed them that he was coming to market with a boat-load of wood, which had been taken from him by one of the ships-of-war. He and two other persons made oath, before Alderman Filkin, that the said wood was taken without his consent; and thereupon the Committee gave him a certificate, to prevent his being blamed in this instance.

..... Johnson, being recommended as a proper person, and having served as a Lieutenant of Artillery in the Continental Army, Ordered, That he be appointed Second Lieutenant of the Artillery Company to be raised in this Colony, for the defence of the Colony.

Die Sabbati, 10 ho. A. M., January 20, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Scott.

The Committee being well informed that the Cannon beyond King's Bridge, near Williams's, are spiked up, and thereby rendered unfit for use, and as it is absolutely necessary to have those spikes drilled out, that the cannon be ready for use, Ordered, That Colonel McDougall employ proper persons to have the Spikes drilled out of those Cannon, or such of them as are otherwise fit for use, and that Colonel McDougall be, and he is hereby empowered to employ a proper Guard of the Militia to take care of those Cannon, in such manner as he shall direct.

And Ordered, further, That Colonel McDougall be, and he is hereby authorized to have carriages and all other necessities provided for the said Cannon, so as to have them ready for use with all possible despatch.

Colonel Lott came into the Committee, and conferred with them relating to his Vessel, which is to go to the foreign West-Indies for Gunpowder; and the material parts or outlines being fixed, the agreement was left to be completed by Mr. Sands.

Colonel Lott also produced a sample of Biscuit, by him prepared, as fit for a Magazine, agreeable to a former request of this Committee.

Thomas Henderson, Esq., a Major of Minute-Men in Monmouth County, in New-Jersey, attended on the Committee, and informed that he was sent by the Committee of Safety of New-Jersey, with a Guard, to conduct several Prisoners taken in New-Jersey, being inhabitants of this Colony, who had been proceeding in the sloop Polly and Ann, from this port to Boston.

Major Henderson delivered to the Committee the Affidavit of James Webb, which was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"James Webb, of full age, being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelist of Almighty God, deposeeth and saith, that in December last, he, this deponent, with his wife, entered on board a small sloop in New-York harbour, called the Polly and Ann, whereof one Hains was captain, bound (as this deponent was then informed) to Boston, which vessel was laden with provisions; that on or about the 20th of said December, the said vessel sailed from New-York, and that he never heard that said vessel was bound to any other port than Boston, until said vessel soon after met with bad weather, when it was said on board said vessel, that she was bound to the West-Indies; that on the 23d December, the said vessel was stranded on the Jersey shore; that the captain of the said sloop, one Isaac Gidney, master, Bartholomew Hains, a passenger, one Palmer, who owned part of the cargo, all from Mamaroneck, in Westchester County, Moses Mardin, one Graham, this deponent, and his wife, with one Sunford, and two more, were on board said vessel when she stranded; that this deponent verily believes said vessel was bound to Boston; that since the said vessel was on shore, this deponent observed that the labels on the packages, casks, and boxes, were torn off, but that he does not remember to have taken notice of any marks or labels on any of the freight, so as to describe them, before taken off. That most of the persons on board left the said vessel to go by land to New-York, soon after they got on shore, among whom this deponent went to New-York, from whence he lately returned to this.

Province for his wife, and several small effects he had on board; and further this deponent saith not.

"JAMES WEBB.

"Sworn, the 11th January, 1776, before me,

"JOHN DENNIS."

Major Henderson, also, delivered a copy of the Proceedings of the Committee of Safety of New-Jersey, with respect to those Prisoners, which was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Committee of Safety, Princeton, January 11, 1776.

"This Committee received information from the Committee of the County of Monmouth, by Doctor Scudder and Doctor Henderson, and also, by letter from the Chairman of said Committee, that a small sloop called the Polly and Ann, one Hains, captain, was, on the 23d of December last, stranded on Squan-Beach, on board of which was a quantity of beef, pork, and other provisions; which vessel and cargo is now in the care and custody of Colonel Furman, except such articles as were perishable, which the Committee directed to be sold by Doctor Scudder and Doctor Henderson, an inventory of which cargo, as well such as was sold, as such as remain, was laid before this Committee; and one James Webb, a passenger on board said vessel, which is stranded, appeared before this Committee, by whose deposition it appears, that said vessel was bound from New-York to Boston, and from all circumstances, the provisions on board were destined for the Ministerial army. The Committee taking the above matters into consideration, think it proper that the whole of said cargo be immediately sold, and the vessel secured, which vessel, with the amount of the sales, after deducting the necessary expenses, be referred to the disposal of the Congress of this Colony at their next sitting, and that Colonel David Furman, Doctor N. Scudder, and Doctor Thomas Henderson, be, and are hereby authorized and empowered to secure the above said vessel, and complete the sales of the cargo, in some convenient time, and account for their sales, and report their proceedings to the Congress of this Province at their next sitting; and may deliver to the seamen and passengers belonging to said vessel, all such clothing and other effects as belong to them, (exclusive of the cargo,) provided they, in a reasonable time, call for the same; and that the thanks of this Committee be returned to Colonel Furman for his extraordinary care and vigilance in securing the said vessel and cargo.

"And, whereas, it appears that the captain, master, and passengers of the said sloop Polly and Ann, stranded on Squan-Beach, are inhabitants of the Colony of New-York,

"It is, therefore, Ordered, That the said Captain, Master, and Passengers, or such of them as are in this Province, be conveyed under a guard, as Colonel David Furman may think proper, to New-York, and delivered to the Provincial Congress or Committee of Safety, to be dealt with as they may think proper.

"A true copy. By order of the Committee:

"ABRAHAM CLARK, Deputy-Secretary."

James Webb, being personally brought before the Committee, says, that he intended to go to Britain to take care of a relation and her estate, and expected to be enabled to return to this country at some future time and carry on his business with spirit. That he was going to Boston to obtain a passage from thence to Britain; that he went on board the sloop Polly and Ann before she sailed, that he did not then see the captain, but that a person then on board informed him, that the sloop was to go to Boston, and that they could take him and his wife passengers; thereupon, he went on board of the vessel the next day, which was the day before she sailed; that the vessel sailed on Wednesday, and was stranded on Saturday night following. That the captain told him that his cousin, Bartholomew Hains, fled from home, and that in running away he fell down and lost either his gun or bayonet, or both, and could not stay to take it up.

Major Henderson says, that James Webb appeared open and candid in his examination before the Committee of New-Jersey.

James Webb requested a Certificate to protect him while he tarries in this Colony. Thereupon a Certificate was given to him in the words following, to wit:

This Committee have heard and examined the case of James Webb, in his presence, and nothing appearing against him, he is discharged; and this Certificate is given to him as a protection whilst he tarries in this Colony, and demeans himself well and consistent with the liberties of this Colony.

Major Henderson says, that Hains, the captain of the said sloop, broke jail in New-York a few weeks ago, and stole a boat and got on board of a man-of-war, and was there protected until the vessel sailed; and the said Hains confessed this to one of the guard, on the way to New-York. He further says, that the casks and boxes found on board of the said sloop, had had labels nailed to them, but that all the labels were torn off. That among the labels torn off, he found one directed to General Howe, Boston, turnips; another, to Mrs. Ann Wood, Boston; another to General Ruggles, Boston; several to one Willard, at Boston; and a back of a letter directed to General Howe; that the directions to General Ruggles is lost, but that the directions to General Howe and Mrs. Wood, can be sent here.

That he was informed by William Taylor, that several persons who had been passengers in the sloop Polly and Ann, had informed John Morris, of Shrewsbury, that three quarter-casks of Madeira wine, and other things which were on board for General Howe, were shipped by Governor Tryon; and, by a bit of an invoice found, it cost twenty-two pounds ten shillings per quarter-cask.

That John Graham declared he had shipped on board to go to the West-Indies, but that he verily believes the sloop was bound to Boston.

Major Henderson says, that it appears to him, the sloop must have been intended to go only coastwise, for that it is testified by the late master and people on board, that they did not keep any reckoning or heave a log-line.

David Rhea says, that Captain Hains told him he was put in jail because he refused to deliver up his arms, and that his punishment had been determined, that he should not eat or drink until he had delivered them up; that he broke jail by breaking six grates out of a window, and stole a boat about midnight, and got on board of the man-of-war; that the sloop Polly and Ann was purchased for him about three days, or less, before the time of her sailing, and that she was purchased of Isaac Gidney.

Die Sabbati, 3 ho. P. M., January 20, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke. Mr. Sands, a very short time.

One Pettit, of New-Haven, by request, attended on the Committee. He informed, in substance, that General Lee is at New-Haven; that he is raising troops; that it is reported currently that he is to raise one thousand five hundred men, and to come to New-York. That he did not see General Lee, and has not any other information than common report; that General Lee did not bring any troops with him to New-Haven.

Ordered, That Peter Van Brugh Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, advance and pay to Mr. John Holt, one hundred Pounds, on account of the moneys due to him from the Provincial Congress and Committee of Safety of this Colony; and that Mr. Livingston take Mr. Holt's receipt for the same.

Mr. John Foster, of Suffolk County, one of the Members of the late Provincial Congress, applied to the Committee to continue the permit given to him last Summer, to export live stock, in order to purchase gunpowder.

The Committee informed him it was not in their power. Mr. Foster then informed the Committee that he had a vessel, which he intended to offer for sale to the Continental Congress, and requested a letter to introduce him to the Delegates, as well relative to the sale of the said vessel, as to the said permission. And this Committee having occasion to write to the Delegates on other matters,

The following draft of a Letter was read, and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 20, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: This will be delivered to you by Mr. John

Foster, who was a member of our last Provincial Congress, and is a warm friend to American liberty.

In the last Summer during the continuance of our Provincial resolves against the exportation of live-stock, and before the non-exportation, ordered by the Continental Congress, took effect, he obtained from the Provincial Congress license to export live-stock for the purpose of importing powder, the execution of which, he suspended until he could send his vessel out without danger of molestation from the men-of-war, and as the season of the year now gives him security against that danger, he is desirous of pursuing his object, for which end he has put himself to considerable expense. He, therefore, applied to us for a continuance of his permission, conceiving, that as it was originally granted before the non-exportation took effect, this Committee has a power to give such continuance. We informed him that we were clearly of opinion that he had lost his opportunity, and that we could not relieve him. He, thereupon, signified his intention of applying to the Continental Congress on that subject, as well as concerning a large ship, which he is now building, and which he intends to offer for sale to Congress, and requested our recommendation, in hopes it would give his application weight. We, therefore, beg leave to recommend him through you to the Congress, as a gentleman worthy of the notice of that respectable body.

We have it much at heart to prevent, as effectually as possible, the importation of British and Irish goods. To this object our attention has been called by a late importation by the way of St. Eustatia. According to the present regulation, the reshipping of the goods is the only punishment, in point of property, to be inflicted on the offender, and we think it absolutely necessary to substitute confiscation, instead of the reshipping of the goods, as the most effectual means to check offenders of that kind; and in this view we beg leave to recommend the proposed amendment to your attention.

We have thought it necessary to appoint a Barrackmaster for the City and County of New-York, in order that the barracks in this city may constantly be kept in a proper state for the comfortable accommodation of the Continental troops, that may from time to time be posted here, or be marching through this city. We have nominated Garet Roorback to that office; and, therefore, entreat you to procure the settlement of his salary by the Congress.

In the resolves of the Congress of the 8th instant, it is recommended to this Committee to inquire, "whether the depth of water in Hudson-River, below the Battery," may not be easily lessened, "so as to prevent large ships passing." We are at a loss to determine with any certainty what battery is meant, and request an explanation on that head.

We have appointed a person, agreeable to the resolves of Congress of the 2d instant, for collecting copies of all petitions, memorials, and remonstrances, which have been presented to the Throne, or either of the Houses of Parliament, since 1762, and the answers to them.

We agree that the reasons you assign against making application for liberty to export flaxseed, are sufficient; and, therefore, think it best to withhold such application.

The business recommended to us in the former part of the resolve of the 8th instant, for securing the port of New-York, has been some time under our consideration. We have had an accurate sounding of the channel, which, with the plan for securing the port, and a calculation of the expense that will attend it, we shall communicate to you as soon as possible.

On the subject of the resolve of Congress, for an exchange of Lieutenant Tylee, we beg leave to inform the Congress, that a few days before the receipt of that resolve, application was made to Captain Vandeput, under our direction, by a person connected with Lieutenant Tylee, to procure his exchange, Captain Vandeput answered, that it was not in his power to exchange him at present, that he had long since wrote to his Admiral for directions on that subject, the answer to which had miscarried, and that he had not any directions to exchange.

We have appointed a member to request the Mayor of this city to use his influence with Captain Vandeput, or Captain Parker, to make a second application to the Admiral on that matter.

We have received from you, gentlemen, sundry requests about our accounts. We are so few in number, and continually so overpressed with the despatch of publick matters, that it has not yet been in our power to give due attention to that affair. We will endeavour to employ assistance, and have the accounts prepared as soon as possible.

We are, most respectfully, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the Delegates of the Colony of New-York, at Congress.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Mr. John Foster.

Die Solis, 9 ho. A. M., January 21, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Sands, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Scott.

The Committee were informed by some of their members, that many of the inhabitants are removing their families and effects from this city, at great expense. That the inhabitants are alarmed by the confident reports, that General Lee is at New-Haven, or on his way thither, with a considerable body of troops. The Committee are of opinion, that it may occasion great difficulties and inconveniences to the inhabitants of this city, should any body of forces arrive here for active service; and it would tend to the peace and happiness of the inhabitants, for this Committee to obtain some information on that subject.

Thereupon a draft of a Letter to Major-General Lee, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 21, 1776.

SIR: The inhabitants of this city are much alarmed at various confident advices of your destination, with a considerable body of forces for active service here; confident, however, as those advices may appear to the people without doors, we cannot readily credit them, as we conceive it most probable, that were you preparing to execute any plan of that kind, it would be preceded by some intimations to us on the subject, from the Continental Congress, General Washington, or yourself. We, therefore, should not have troubled you with this application, had it not been to procure such information from you, as may enable us, in a prudent use of it, to allay the fears of our inhabitants, who, at this inclement season of the year, will continue, as they have already begun, to remove their women and children, and which, if continued, may occasion hundreds to perish for want of shelter.

This Committee, and the Congress, whose place we fill in their recess, are, we flatter ourselves, as unanimously zealous in the cause of America, as any Representative body on the Continent; so truly zealous, that both the one and the other will cheerfully devote this city to sacrifice, for advancing that great and important cause. But, to acquit ourselves in the judgment of the Continent, which, in point of publick aid, is deeply interested in the preservation of this metropolis, and to our constituents, who expect our prudent care of their lives and properties, we think it our indispensable duty to inform you, that, though we have advices that General Washington has been informed of the arrival of a large quantity of powder among us, we have not a sufficiency to enable you to act hostilely against the ships-of-war now in port. Our whole quantity of publick powder is less than three tons. No works are erected to annoy the enemy in their present situation. Should it be practicable at this juncture to erect hasty works for that purpose, to what shift are we to betake ourselves, after our trifling supply of ammunition shall be expended? The commencement of hostilities, for which we are now so unprepared, will preclude the possibility of a supply, even for our musketry, in the ensuing campaign. The strict guard against the exportation of ammunition from the foreign ports in Europe, we have great reason to fear, will cut off all hopes of supply from that quarter, as well to us, as the Continental Congress. We have sent sundry adventures thither, some of which have failed; for this reason we are daily pushing adventures to the West-Indies, with the article of provisions, as a necessary expedient in the present uncommon scarcity of bullion. The ships-of-war give no interruption to our vessels despatched on those adventures, a favour we cannot expect should hostilities begin. And even should we be fortunate enough to oblige the ships-of-war to quit this port, by expending the little powder we have, (an event which our most sanguine hopes cannot promise us,) the attention of our enemies will effectually prevent our expected importations. For those reasons, we conceive that a just regard to the publick cause, and our duty, to take a prudent care of this city, dictate the impropriety of provoking hostilities at present, and the necessity of saving appearances with the ships-of-war till, at least, the month of March. Though we have been unfortunate in our disappointments, with respect to some of our adventures, yet be assured, sir, we have not been idle. Our intrenching tools are almost completed to a sufficient number; we are forming a magazine of provisions, for five thousand men, for a month, in a place of safety, and at convenient distance from this city. We have provided ourselves with six good brass field-pieces, have directed carriages to be made for our other artillery, and are raising a company of artillery for the defence of the Colony, on the Continental establishment. These things, when accomplished, with other smaller matters, and with the arrival of some gunpowder, the prospect of which is not unpromising, will enable us to face our enemies with some countenance. We, therefore, ardently wish to remain in peace for a little time, and doubt not we have assigned sufficient reasons for avoiding, at present, a dilemma, in which the present entrance of a large body of troops into this city, will, almost certainly, involve us. Should you have such an entrance in design, we beg, at least, that the troops may halt on the western confines of Connecticut, till we shall have been honoured by you with such an explanation on this important subject, as you conceive your duty may permit you to enter into with us, the grounds of which you will easily see ought to be kept an entire secret, and to assure you, that we are, with great respect and esteem, sir, your most obedient servants.

By order of the Committee.

To Major-General Lee.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Garret Vandenberg, as an Express for that purpose.

That particular instructions be given to Vandenberg to inquire on the road at proper stages for Major-General Lee. If he should meet him at any stage, or come near him, to deliver him the Letter with which he is charged. That if Major-General Lee was not at New-Haven, and in Connecticut, he should proceed to him with the Letter. But, that if General Lee had departed the Colony of Connecticut, he should return with the said Letter to this Committee.

Die Solis, 3 ho. P. M., January 21, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Clarke.

Mr. William Leary, the Town-Major, came and informed this Committee of Safety, that part of the City Guard, under his direction, had apprehended a certain Joseph Woolcombe, who was come from on board of a transport ship off Sandy-Hook to go on board of the ships-of-war in port, and that he had, also, apprehended Captain William Dobbs, the Pilot, who had brought him on shore for that purpose, and that he had sent them to the Guard-House. That he caused the said Joseph Woolcombe to be searched, and had found in his custody five Letters, which he had brought to the Committee of Safety for their inspection or direction. The said several Letters being opened and read, appeared to be wrote and directed to the persons for that purpose hereinafter named, and to the following effect, to wit:

1st. A Letter from J. H. Dempster, Captain of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, dated January 22, 1776, and directed to his brother, George Dempster, Esq., Oxford Street, London. He therein informs him, "that he was now preparing to send an officer on shore, to be fully satisfied of the propriety of going into New-York. That he had been three weeks on the coast, without seeing, or speaking with any of the King's ships. That he was greatly amazed at not yet seeing any of the men-of-war, his instructions strictly forbidding him to enter Boston, or any other port or harbour in America, till he had spoke with some of His Majesty's ships—proper orders having been sent out for that purpose. That the ship was in a bad state; he feared that her rudder must be unhung before he could proceed any further, and that they were in want of water."

2d. Letter from the said J. H. Dempster, of the same London. In this letter he says, "they had been three date, directed to Robert Hunter, Esquire, Coleman Street, weeks on the coast, that they had not seen any of the King's vessels, though by the tenour of his instructions from the Board, he had reason to suppose he should, long ere this time, have met some of them."

3d. A Letter from the said J. H. Dempster, of the same date as the others, directed to Richard Cardin, Esquire, Bucklersbury, London, containing advices to the same effect as the letters before mentioned.

4th. A Letter from J. H. Dempster, of the same date, directed to his brother, J. Townshend, London, containing the like advices as the others.

5th. A Letter dated said 22d January, from Joseph Woolcombe, the Mate, (now in the Barrack,) to his father, containing advices of a long passage, very bad weather, loss of sails, ship in bad order, that they had eighty hogs when they sailed, and had now only ten left—that pork would come dear to the soldiers.

Captain William Dobbs, by order of the Committee, was brought before them and examined. He described the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, says she is a transport from England, with porter and coal for the Ministerial army. That Joseph Woolcombe is mate of the said ship, that he did not promise to put said Woolcombe on board of one of the ships-of-war, but only promised to bring him to the city. That Woolcombe did not mention any thing about the going on board of the ships-of-war, or either of them, until he was near the city, and that he, the said William Dobbs, refused to put him on board.

Captain William Dobbs returned, with a Guard, to the Guard-House, at the Upper Barracks.

Die Lunæ, 10 ho. A. M., January 22, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Scott. Mr. Sands, a very little time.

A Letter from Mr. Thomas Grenell, one of the Commissioners at the Fortifications, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Highlands, January 19, 1776.

"SIR: I received yours of the 16th instant, and shall endeavour to comply with the contents. The foundation of the intended Battery was completed on Sunday last, the length of which is one hundred and forty feet, the breadth at bottom twelve feet, and at the top is ten feet, and its height four feet on an average. The materials are chiefly large rocks, from five hundred to one thousand weight, and some much larger, filled in with the largest stones it would take, and the small vacancies filled with coarse gravel instead of mortar, as that could not be used at this season of the year. I had the misfortune to have the first range of timber for the breastwork laid, before I received your order to stop going on with the same. With respect to the extension of the base to fifteen feet, it may be done, if thought necessary, at a very small expense, as the materials are handy, and shall leave you to judge of, from the cost in wages of what has been done already, of which you have in the annexed account, with the first charge of timber and plank for the breastwork and platform. The breastwork was proposed to be three feet thick and well braced, trundled; the height will be suitable to the gun-carriages. As to the Magazine, it still continues very damp, though there has been three fires constantly in it, for three or four weeks; and I doubt whether it will be fit for use this Winter. The powder, I shall take all the care in my power of it, but am obliged to supply the Minute-Men out of our old stock, for they came here without any. I am, sir, your humble servant,

THOMAS GRENNELL.

"P. S. I also mention that the intended Battery is seven hundred and fourteen yards from the West-Point, and from Bunn's Hill to the West-Point is seven hundred and forty yards.

A Letter from Lord Stirling was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Elizabethtown, January 20, 1776.

"SIR: Your letter of the 17th I have received. What you mention with regard to the Barracks, at New-York, I shall communicate to the Continental Congress. The one hundred firelocks which your Congress have been so good as to spare us, will be paid for, by the Congress of this Province, at their next meeting, the 31st of this month, agreeable to an order of the Continental Congress of the 2d instant. Such of them as are finished, you will be pleased to order to be delivered to Major De Hart, of my Regiment, whom I shall desire to call for them in his way back from Long-Island.

"I am, sir, your most humble servant, "STIRLING.

"To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety of New-York."

Colonel McDougall informed the Committee that the Captains of the men-of-war had despatched a Pilot-boat, with mariners and marines, to the relief of the transport-ship at the Hook. The Committee are of opinion that notice thereof should be given to Lord Stirling, by express. Thereupon a draft of a Letter to his Lordship was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

January 22, 1776—12 o'clock. }

MY LORD: This minute the Captains of the men-of-war have taken a pilot-boat, and sent her down towards the Hook, with mariners and marines on board, from twenty to twenty-five in number.

If your party goes to secure the ship, they should secure the pilot-boat first, or, in our opinion, there should be two or more boats with men, to contain at least fifty or more men in the whole, otherwise they may fail of success.

We have the honour to be, most respectfully, your Lordship's most obedient, humble servants.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To the Right Honourable William, Earl of Stirling, and in his absence to the Chairman of the Committee at Elizabethtown.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Sampson Dyckman.

Hart Jacobs, a Jew, attending at the door, requests an exemption from doing military duty, on the City Watch, on Friday nights, which is part of his Sabbath. Thereupon a Certificate was given to him, in the words following, to wit:

Hart Jacobs, of the Jewish religion, having signified to this Committee, that it is inconsistent with his religious profession to perform military duty on Friday nights, being part of the Jewish Sabbath, it is Ordered, That he be exempted from Military duty on that night of the week, to be subject, nevertheless, to the performance of his full tour of duty on other nights.

Colonel McDougall informed the Committee that he had purchased the sloop Sally, to be made an armed vessel, for the sum of three hundred and twenty-five Pounds, and requested an order for that sum.

Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, advance to Colonel McDougall the sum of three hundred and twenty-five Pounds, to enable him to pay for the sloop or vessel called the Sally, which he has purchased in pursuance of an order of Provincial Congress, of the 20th day of December last past.

And Ordered, further, That the said Treasurer advance and pay to Commodore James Smith, on Continental account, the sum of twenty-six Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence, for two months' pay, in part of his pay while in the Continental service at Lake Champlain, and that Mr. Livingston take a receipt, or receipts, for the same.

The Committee took into consideration the necessity and advantage of having sundry small armed Vessels to protect trade in this and the neighbouring Colonies, and also to seize transports with provisions intended for the Ministerial army and navy, and to prevent the same from being exported by persons unfriendly to the measures of the Colonies.

Thereupon a draft of a Letter to the Delegates of this Colony at Congress, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 22, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: With the utmost anxiety we have beheld the supply of provisions, collected last Autumn on board the ship-of-war, by the means of small boats from Queen's and Westchester Counties, for the purpose of supplying the Ministerial army at Boston. Our Congress, impelled by a desire to prevent so great a mischief, authorized Colonel McDougall to equip a small armed vessel to watch those and other dangerous supplies of the like kind.

We are informed by one of our Delegates, that Congress will readily take this vessel into the Continental service; should it be so determined her flag should be described to us, marine articles of war provided, with a roll of pay, and sent to us without delay. An acquaintance with the navigation in our neighbourhood points out the necessity of immediately equipping three other small vessels of easy draft of water, sufficiently manned and provided, both to attack and repulse the barges of the men-of-war with success, and constructed in such manner as to take shelter in coves and inlets, out of the reach of superior force, and under cover of the musketry of the country. Those vessels will effectually scour the navigation of this port and its environs, and, besides procuring offensive advantages, will prevent the above-mentioned mischiefs. One of them should be stationed at Amboy, to watch the navigation from thence to Sandy-Hook; another at Elizabethtown, to attend that between Staten-Island and New-Jersey and the southward-most parts of our Bay; another on Hudson's River; and the fourth, the parts of the Sound to the eastward of this harbour; and they all might be, occasionally, used as express boats. The one already provided is commanded by James Smith, who was Commodore on the Lakes the last Summer, with the rank of Major. He has approved himself a man of worth in the naval service of the Continent, and as he has yet received no pay, we shall advance him some money on that score for his last year's service.

Should the Congress approve of the proposed plan, we will cheerfully engage, under their direction, in the equipment of three more vessels. But, to answer the good ends proposed, their order should be handed to us without delay. The vessels completely equipped, except the artillery and musketry, which we will supply, will cost about six hundred pounds, each.

Egg-Harbour is now known to our enemies as a place of debarkment for certain necessities; we, therefore, think that a small redoubt should be there built, garrisoned always by a proper Captain's guard, with Barracks to contain two hundred men, so situated as to command the entrance of the harbour, and provided with cisterns to take rain-water. Cedar wood is plenty there, which will answer all the purposes of wood-work; and to complete the defence, a galley, to mount a six-pounder in her stem, should, we think, be provided.

We have no grape-shot for our field-pieces, (six-pounders,) nor coals to manufacture them. We beg to be informed if we can be supplied with that article at Philadelphia; if so, be pleased to send two tons to Elizabethtown without delay, to our direction, together with the amount of the cost, which we shall remit without delay.

We are, gentlemen, your most obedient servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the New-York Delegates in Continental Congress, Philadelphia.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Joseph Woolcombe, mate of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, was brought before the Committee and examined. He says he was chief mate of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, that she is laden with hogs, provisions, &c., for Boston; left London thirteen weeks ago; that he was sent up to New-York, by the Captain, to put some letters for England on board of the men-of-war and to return; that the ship was to lie off-and-on fourteen hours for him; that they have had bad weather; that thirty-six sail of transports, with stores and provisions, came out with them; that as many more transports were ready to sail; that they have had such weather that he believes many other transports are gone to the West-Indies; that the Blue-Mountain-Valley is a sharp-built ship, and would make as good weather on a winter coast as any ship; that two troops of Light-Horse came out in transports with their vessel, and were to winter in the West-Indies.

Ordered, That Mr. Woolcombe remain in custody in Captain Ledyard's room for further examination.

The Committee conceiving it too great a burden on the Minute-Men, or detachments from this city, to continue long on the duty of guarding the cannon near King's Bridge, concluded that it would be most convenient to have a guard of Westchester Minute-Men at that place.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter on that subject to Lieutenant-Colonel Graham, of the Minute-Men in Westchester County, was read and approved, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 22, 1776.

SIR: Having received information that some evil-minded persons have spiked up the cannon near King's Bridge, to prevent their being further damaged, or rendered entirely unfit for service, we think it necessary that a continual guard should be kept over them for their immediate security. We have sent out a company from one of the Independent Battalions of this city; but, as they are too much harassed with continual duty upon the large guards, it is necessary to keep up in this city, we desire that you would, as soon as possible, cause them to be relieved by a company of Minute-Men out of your regiment, to be upon constant duty till further orders; their pay and billeting to be the same allowed for the Continental troops now raising.

We are, sir, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Lewis Graham, of the Regiment of Minute-Men in Westchester County.

N. B. This business is committed to you, sir, as your Colonel's remote residence would make it inconvenient to direct it him. You will please to apologize to him for the same.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

3 ho. P. M., Die Lunæ, January 22, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands.

Two Letters from Thomas Grenell, one of the Commissioners at the Fortifications in the Highlands, to Mr. John Berrien, were read, in order to obtain information of the state of the Fortifications in the Highlands, and of the people at work there.

Mr. John Berrien delivered in a Memorandum of Balances of Accounts and Moneys due from the Commissioners for the said Fortifications, as follows, to wit: Balance of Carpenter's Bill, one hundred and seventy-eight Pounds eleven Shillings; balance of Mason's Bill, two hundred and ninety-nine Pounds five Shillings; Draft of Commissioners at the Fort, to pay up Accounts of Provisions, &c., three hundred and fifty Pounds; Cash in advance, by John Berrien, two hundred Pounds. The Blacksmith's Draft in his favour, Coppersmith's Account, Ironmonger's and Nailer's Account not paid. He supposes these amount to seventy Pounds. That the Commissioners have not drawn any pay, and that any commissions are not included.

Ordered, That Peter Van Brugh Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, advance to Mr. John Berrien, as Commissary of the Commissioners for erecting Fortifications at the Highlands, and one of the said Commissioners, the sum of one thousand two hundred and fifty Pounds, on account of the expenses and disbursements of erecting the said Fortifications, and that Mr. Livingston take Mr. Berrien's receipt for the same.

Ordered, That Captain John Grenell, who was recommended by the Provincial Congress of this Colony to the Continental Congress as a Captain of an Artillery Company, be, and he is hereby, appointed accordingly, and that a Warrant issue to the said Captain John Grenell for that purpose.

Die Martis, 10 ho. A. M., January 23, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Scott, Mr. Hallett, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands.

Colonel Van Cortlandt being under a necessity to go to his seat in Westchester County, and the gentlemen present conceiving his attendance there will be of use to the publick tranquillity in that part of the country, consented to his departure, and, thereupon, unanimously chose Mr. Joseph Hallett Chairman pro tempore, in his stead.

Mr. Sands informed the Committee that Monsieur Varras, a French gentleman, came here from Grenada for his health, and requests a permission for himself and his Interpreter to travel to or through the Colony of Connecticut; thereupon, a passport was given to Mr. Sands for him, in the words following, to wit:

The bearer, Monsieur Varras, and his Interpreter, Olivier Besly, are permitted to pass unmolested.

A Bill of Sale from Robert Wosan, Master and part owner of the sloop Sally, and from Isaac Scudder, Hooker St. John, and Sarah Isaac, Executors of the last will and estate of Benjamin Isaac, deceased, the other owners, to Colonel Alexander McDougall and Captain Anthony Rutgers, for the said sloop and her appurtenances, was prepared, and delivered to Captain James Smith to take to Norwalk to have it executed.

John Fowler was taken and brought before the Committee, and charged with having purchased a parcel of old Files, which it is conceived were used for spiking up the Cannon in Westchester County. He readily declared that he purchased thirty old Files; that he was requested by William Lounsbury, of Mamaroneck, to purchase some old Files for him; that he purchased thirty; that they were all flat Files, to the best of his remembrance; that he bought sixteen pounds weight of Michael Ganter, and five pounds weight of a Brass-Founder, in the Broadway, near St. Paul's Church.

Peter Valentine says he was present when John Fowler spoke for the Files, and they were collected together, and that there were some rat-tails among them. John Fowler says that he took out the rat-tails, and did not buy them; that as soon as he heard the Guns were spiked up, he immediately told his wife that he should be blamed, and that Lounsbury had used him ill; that he knows not the use for which the said Files were purchased.

Ordered, That Lieutenant Jecamiah Allen, of the Light-Horse of the City of New-York, take with him a guard of twelve of the said Light-Horse, and proceed immediately to Mamaroneck, and take William Lounsbury and his accomplices, and bring them immediately before this Committee to be heard, and to answer such things as may be charged against them concerning the Cannon that have been spiked up, beyond King's Bridge, in Westchester County; and:

Ordered, That Mr. Allen call on Colonel Joseph Drake, at New-Rockelle, or on any other Officer of the Militia or Minute-Men in Westchester County, for any assistance he may want; and all the Officers of the Militia and Minute-Men of the said County are hereby requested to give all necessary aid of men, or otherwise, to Mr. Allen and his party in the aforesaid service.

And Ordered, further, That the said John Fowler be kept in safe and secure custody, at the Upper Barracks, until the further order of this Committee, and, in the interim, that no person be suffered to speak to him, but in the presence and hearing of the Officer of the Guard; and that no letters, or paper writings, be permitted to pass between the said John Fowler and any person out of the Barracks, and that he be denied the use of pen, ink, and paper, and that Colonel McDougall cause this order to be duly executed, with directions to treat the said John Fowler with as much courtesy as may be consistent with this order.

Mr. John Berrien and Andrew McCormick, by request, attended the Committee, and informed them of the state of ground within, or to the northward of; the line of Fortifications mentioned in Mr. Thomas Grenell's Letter of the 19th instant, and of such other matters relating to the timber and materials there as the Committee requested, and they could inform or explain, in order to enable the Committee to give an answer to the said Letter.

3 ho. P. M., Die Martia, January 23, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher.

Joseph Woolcombe, Mate of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, was brought before the Committee. He says he had not any other Letters than those taken from him when searched; that he was mate of the ship; that twenty-five or twenty-six transports sailed with their vessel, which was the whole number then in the Downs: there were other transports taken up; that their ship was loaded with porter and coals; that two transports, with horse, came out and went to the West-Indies for winter-quarters; that he had no verbal instructions, but to deliver the Letters on board of the man-of-war; that the ship was to stand-in, in the night, for him, which would be about twenty-four hours after he left her, and, if he did not arrive in four hours after, the ship was to put off for Boston.

Joseph Woolcombe says he chooses to go on board of one of the men-of-war. Thereupon, he was discharged, and the Letters found with him were delivered to him, and a permit was given to him, in the words following, to wit:

Ordered, That Joseph Woolcombe be permitted to go on board either of His Majesty's ships-of-war, now lying in the Harbour of New-York, unmolested.

Colonel McDougall informed the Committee that Captain Benjamin Ledyard has unavoidably been at sundry expenses, by reason of his having the care and charge of Prisoners committed to the Guard-House in this city.

Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, pay unto Captain Benjamin Ledyard, of Colonel McDougall's Regiment, the sum of eight Pounds, to reimburse him for sundry expenses he has necessarily been at, by having the charge of several Prisoners confined in the Guard-House in this city.

A Letter from the Committee of Richmond County, of the 19th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Richmond County, January 19, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: Whereas, the Committee for this County have caused, by advertisement, the freeholders to be convened on this day, in order to elect two Members to represent this County in Provincial Congress; accordingly a poll was opened for that purpose, without any opposition, at the close of which it appeared, by a majority, that Messrs. Adrian Bancker and Richard Lawrence were duly elected to represent this County in Provincial Congress, until the second Tuesday in May next, which we hope will be agreeable to the rest of that body.

"We are, gentlemen, your most obedient and most humble servants;

"CHRISTIAN JACOBSON, MOSES DUPUY,
"LAMBERT MERRELL, DAVID LA TOURETTE,
"JOHN TYSON, DANIEL CORSEN,
"PETER MERSERAU, HENRY PERINE,
"GEORGE BARNES, JOSEPH CHRISTOPH.

"To the Committee of Safety, in recess of the Provincial Congress, in New-York."

The Committee took into consideration the case of Godfrey Hains, lately apprehended and sent here by the Committee of Safety of New-Jersey. Are of opinion that his many and mischievous machinations are so dangerous, that he ought to be kept in safe custody and close jail; and that, by the Resolutions of the Continental Congress, of the 2d day of January instant, they are fully authorized, and that it is their duty to the country to have him confined; and as the said Godfrey Hains lately broke the jail of this city, and escaped, when he was there confined as a prisoner, and, continuing his evil practices, set off to navigate a vessel loaded with provisions to supply the Ministerial army and navy at Boston, they conceive it will be very dangerous to keep or convey the said Godfrey Hains to Ulster County Jail, unless he is fettered or manacled.

Therefore, Resolved and Ordered, That the said Godfrey Hains be conveyed to Ulster County Jail, to be there confined in safe and secure custody in close jail, until the further order of the Continental or Provincial Congress, or of this Committee.

And Ordered, That the said Godfrey Hains be sent, manacled or fettered, under guard, to Ulster County Jail, and that Colonel McDougall be requested to procure an Officer, with a proper guard of the Militia, or Minute-Men, of this city, to guard the said prisoner, and the other prisoners heretofore ordered to jail to Kingston, in Ulster County.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to the Committee of Kingston, in Ulster County, which was formerly drawn and read, and approved of, in the Committee, on yesterday, was again read, and is in the words following, to wit:

January 23, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: By a determination of the Provincial Congress, with the consent of the Deputies from your County, then present, the jail of your County, at Kingston, was determined on to be the jail for such prisoners whose wicked practices forbid their being permitted to go at large.

In pursuance thereof, we send you, by this guard, three prisoners, to wit: John Blackler, who was ordered to be there confined by the Provincial Congress, and Azor Betts and Godfrey Hains, sent by us. We pray you to direct that they be kept in safe custody, to prevent their escape, and that very particular directions for this purpose be given as to Hains, as he formerly broke the jail in this city, and made his escape.

Take care to secure such part of the jail as you shall have them confined in, at your absolute command, and secure any person who may attempt to procure their escape. Appoint some person, whom you shall think proper, to supply them with the necessaries of life, at their own expense, if they can pay for them, and, if they cannot, then at the publick expense. If any, or all of them must be supported at the publick expense, let the accounts be laid before your Committee, and when you find them just and reasonable, let the person to whom the money is due make oath to the account, and let a certificate of your Committee, or Chairman, that the account is reasonable and due, be added, and the accounts sent to this Committee, or the Provincial Congress, that they may be ordered to be paid.

We are, respectfully, gentlemen, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the Chairman and Members of the Committee of Kingston, Ulster County.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

The Committee further examined Andrew McCormick, on the subject of the situation of the new Line at the Fortifications in the Highlands. And thereupon an answer to Thomas Grenell's Letter, of the 19th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 23, 1776.

SIR: We are favoured with yours of the 19th instant, by Mr. Andrew McCormick, to which we have paid due attention, and have also examined him, and conversed with Mr. Berrien, on the situation of the ground, to which we are in a great measure strangers. Upon the whole, we are of opinion that, as the foundation of the intended battery, mentioned in your letter, is completed, and the timber and materials so far prepared that the battery may be finished at small expense, it will be best to finish it. At the same time, we are of opinion that a breastwork of wood, of three feet thick, will by no means answer any good purpose. Therefore, we desire you to have the breastwork made about twenty feet thick, in the following manner, to wit: let the timber in front be at least three logs, or pieces, thick, and in the inside at least two pieces thick, and the inside of the parapet perpendicular; the distance between the front and the inside pieces of the parapet will be about fifteen feet, and that intermediate space filled up with fascines and earth.

We wish to expend as little money as possible, and, therefore, you need not employ labourers to get fascines, for, as we expect Continental troops to garrison the fort in a short time, it now is, and will be, the proper duty of the troops there to make the fascines, and fill up the parapet. Please to take care that the upper part of the parapet be made so sloped, or descending, that the guns may, when necessary, be brought to bear on the water nearest to the battery, and the ground there adjoining to the water; and the outer face or front of the parapet should be built battering, or tend inwards, to prevent the weight of the earth from forcing the timber out of its place. A work should also be added at the left of the line, to secure the troops on the line, and the cannon and carriages, from being flanked by an enemy on the left.

We are, respectfully, sir, your very humble servants.

By order.

To Mr. Thomas Grenell, at the Fortifications in the Highlands.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by the said Andrew McCormick.

Die Mercurii, 10 ho. A. M., January 24, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallet, Chairman, Colonel Brasher, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke.

Captain Van Wyck, having by order prepared a Guard, at eight Shillings, each, per man, per day, defraying his own expenses, to proceed with the three Prisoners now in the Barracks, to Ulster County Jail; attended at the Committee to receive copies of the several orders, for the confinement of the respective Prisoners, and the Letter to the Committee of Kingston, which were delivered to him.

Thereupon a draft of a Letter to the Committees, and Militia Officers of this Colony, to be given to Captain Van Wyck, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 24, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Captain Van Wyck, with a guard under his command, is sent to conduct three prisoners to Ulster County Jail. Captain Van Wyck, and his guard, are hereby recommended to the aid of every Committee, and Militia officer in this Colony, for any assistance he may want at any time to strengthen or relieve his guard; and also, for any assistance he may want, to hire sleighs or other carriages.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To every Committee, and to each and every Militia Officer in the Colony of New-York.

It being represented to this Committee, that Mr. John Ramsey, and Colonel Isaac Stoutenburgh, are willing to undertake to be Managers of employing the industrious Poor in this City, in spinning, and making manufactures, and the Committee being unanimously of opinion, that they cannot in any other way, so advantageously employ the sum of one thousand Pounds, which they, by Resolve of the Provincial Congress of the 22d day of December last past, were authorized to expend for the relief of the Poor of the City of New-York,

Therefore Ordered, That the said sum of one thousand Pounds, be paid into the hands of the said John Ramsey and Isaac Stoutenburgh, for the purpose aforesaid, and that a copy of this entry be a sufficient warrant to Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, to pay the said sum of one thousand Pounds, to Messrs. John Ramsey and Isaac Stoutenburgh, and take their receipt for the same.

Donald McLane, of the City of New-York, Druggist, attended with a Letter from Captain Vandeput, of the ship Asia, requesting him to receive the body of the late Purser of the ship, and have him buried in Trinity Church-yard.

Thereupon a permit was given to him, in the words following, to wit:

Mr. Donald McLane, of this city, Druggist, is hereby permitted to go on board of the Asia, ship-of-war, and also, to have the body of Mr. George Claypen, late Purser of the said ship brought on shore, and buried.

By order of the Committee.

Mr. Jecamiah Allen, the officer of the Light-Horse, who was sent out by order of this Committee, of yesterday, returned with William Lounsberry a prisoner; he informed, that the prisoner when taken, appeared struck with guilt; that some short time afterwards, he denied in the presence of sundry of the guard, that he ever employed John Fowler to buy files. That some time afterwards, he confessed, that he had employed John Fowler to buy the files, but had never brought them home. That they afterwards discovered, that the files went up in a boat with himself, and that his son brought them home. That the prisoner afterwards said, that he bought the files to shoe horses, and afterwards, that he bought them to make skeens, for carts. That one Hains, told the prisoner to his face, that on last Wednesday night, he met him with three other persons, with handkerchiefs on their heads, about ten at night, going towards, and near the cannon.

William Lounsberry examined, says he lives at Mamaroneck, is a farmer by occupation; that Mr. John Fowler, bought thirty files for him; that he did not inform Fowler for what use they were purchased; that the files are not at his house, but are all in being; that he was not on the road with a handkerchief on his head on last Wednesday night; that he bought the files to make skeens for carts, and to lay axes; that he has a neighbour, one Joseph Purdy, who is a blacksmith, and poor, and in his debt, and intended to get him to work for him. Being asked at whose house the files are, says they are not at any house; being several times asked where they are, he obstinately sat silent, and refused to answer.

Ordered, That the said William Lounsberry be shackled and manacled, hands and feet, and kept in safe and secure custody at the Upper Barracks, until the further order of this Committee, and in the interim, that no person be suffered to speak to him, but in the presence and hearing of the officer of the guard; and that no letter, or paper-writings be permitted to pass between the said William Lounsberry and any persons out of the Barracks; and that he be denied the use of pen, ink and paper; and that Colonel McDougall cause this order to be duly executed.

And Ordered, That John Fowler be discharged out of custody, and charged to attend this Committee when directed.

And Ordered, That Mr. Allen cause the said William Lounsberry's horse to be taken care of.

Messrs. Low, Bancker, John Reade, and Denning, a sub-Committee from the City Committee attending, were admitted. They informed this Committee, that they were charged with two different matters from the Committee of the city. The one that the Military Night-Watch in this city is very frequently not to be depended on; that it very frequently happens, that the Captains or Officers do not know the greater part of the ground; and that there are some Companies, many of which are not trustworthy; and Mr. Denning said, that when he lately had the care of the guard, he had many persons in his guard to whom he could not think it prudent to communicate the countersign. That the City Committee are of opinion that the most proper method to guard this city is to raise a Regiment in this city, in Continental pay; and Mr. Denning alleges, that there is a great number of men in this city, who would willingly enlist for that purpose, provided they can be ascertained, that they will not be ordered out of the Colony on any Continental duty.

The said sub-Committee mentioned that a great inconvenience arises from vessels loading in this port, by order of the Continental and Provincial Congress, and of this Committee of Safety, by their not having certificates for that purpose. That many of the inhabitants not knowing why any such vessels are lading, apply to the laders, and to the City Committee with complaints. That it is, also, in the power of the laders of such vessels to lade other produce, or greater quantities than they are permitted; and that, therefore, that it is the request of the City Committee, that some proper person be appointed to inspect and superintend the loading of all such vessels, and to report thereon to the Provincial Congress, or Committee of Safety.

The sub-Committee withdrew, and the Committee of Safety requested the Chairman to speak to Captain William Mercier, to know whether he will undertake to manage and inspect the lading of vessels laded at this port; and, also, whether he will inspect the work done, and materials used in making carriages for cannon.

A Letter from the Honourable John Hancock, dated the 12th January, instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

“GENTLEMEN: The discoveries made of the designs of our enraged enemies, fully evince not only the propriety, but the absolute necessity of securing Canada, to prevent our frontiers from desolation and destruction.

“Providence has, hitherto, been pleased to crown our attempts with success. But from the steps taken by Governor Carleton, there is reason to apprehend our enemies, among their first attempts in the Spring, will endeavour to recover the possession of that country, as well to retrieve their honour, as to carry into execution their execrable designs against us. I need not mention the consequences that would ensue should they effect their purpose, and thereby be enabled to turn the force of that Province, as well as the Savages, against our defenceless frontiers.

“To counteract their designs, and prevent this calamity, the Congress have resolved to employ nine battalions, the present year, for the defence of Canada. One of these is to be composed of Canadians, under Colonel J. Livingston, who has so eminently signalized himself in the cause of America. Two are to be composed of the troops now serving there—an honour due to the merit of those brave men, to have an opportunity of defending a country which their valour has rescued from slavery. Three are to be sent from Pennsylvania and New-Jersey, of which, two are now under marching orders. The other three are to be raised to the Eastward, as you will see by the enclosed resolution, viz: one in your Colony under the command of Colonel Van Schaick, Lieutenant-Colonel Yates, and Major Gansevoort, who, as General Schuyler informs Congress, are desirous of continuing in the service; one in Connecticut, and one in New-Hampshire.

“As the arrival of the troops in due time will greatly conduce to the preservation of that country, and baffling the designs of our enemies; and, as the month of February, which is fast approaching, is the best, and, indeed, the only time before Summer, of crossing the Lakes, the Congress rely that you will, according to your usual zeal, exert your utmost endeavours to have the battalion from your Colony raised, and sent forward with all possible despatch.

“I am, gentlemen, your obedient, humble servant,

“To the Convention of New-York, or Committee.”

Another Letter from the Honourable John Hancock, bearing date the 20th day of January, instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

FOURTH SERIES.—VOL. IV.

“GENTLEMEN: I have the honour of enclosing you sundry resolutions passed by Congress, as well for the defence of your Colony, as for repairing the loss lately sustained in Canada, and succouring our friends there.

“The shortness of the time will not permit me to enlarge. I must, therefore, beg leave to refer you to the enclosed extracts, and just inform you, the Congress rely with confidence on your zeal for the cause, that you will exert your utmost endeavours to hasten the march of the troops ordered to Canada, and to raise those destined for the defence of your Colony. Herewith, I send you blank commissions for the officers under the rank of Major, which you will please to fill up. On the recommendation of General Schuyler, the Congress have continued Colonel Van Schaick, Lieutenant-Colonel Yates, and Major Gansevoort, in the service of the United Colonies, and appointed them to the command of the battalion to be raised in your Colony for the defence of Canada; and they have directed me, agreeable to an established rule, to request you would please, as soon as possible, to transmit the names of a number of gentlemen whom you shall judge duly qualified, at least two for each command, out of whom they may elect Field-Officers for the other battalion.

“I am, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

“P. S. I enclose you the commissions for the officers under the rank of Major, for the Canada Battalion; those for your other battalions shall follow, as I am pinched for time.”

A copy of the Resolves of Congress, of the 8th of January, which were before received and read, and forwarded to General Schuyler on the 17th day of January, instant, were read and filed.

A certified copy of sundry Resolves of the Continental Congress, of different dates, from the 8th to the 20th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

“Resolved, That General Schuyler be desired to have the River St. Lawrence, above and below Quebeck, well explored, and to determine upon proper places for opposing, by Armed Boats, or otherwise, any attempts of the enemy to penetrate that country by the River; and that he give orders for constructing, speedily, as many such Boats as he shall judge necessary.

“That two Shipwrights be immediately sent from Philadelphia, to be employed under the direction of the Committee of Inspection at Albany, in constructing Scows for facilitating the passage over Hudson's River.

“That the Convention of New-York be desired to send three thousand bushels of Salt, besides what General Schuyler hath already ordered to be brought to Ticonderoga.

“That this Congress does approve of the raising a Battalion of Canadians, and of the appointment of James Livingston, Esq., Colonel thereof.

“That nine Battalions, including that of Canadians under Colonel Livingston, be kept up and maintained the present year for the defence of Canada.”

“Resolved, That four Battalions be raised in the Colony of New-York, for the defence of that Colony, upon the same pay with those directed to be raised in the Colony of Pennsylvania, and that they be stationed as the Commanding-Officer of the New-York Department shall think best, to garrison the several Forts in that Colony, from Crown-Point to the southward, and to prevent depredations upon Long-Island, and promote the safety of the whole.

“Ordered, That a copy of the foregoing Resolution be transmitted to the Council of Safety of New-York, and that they be requested, with all possible expedition, to transmit to Congress the names of a number of gentlemen, at least two for each command, out of whom the Congress may elect Field-Officers for said Battalions.

“That General Washington be requested to detach from the Camp at Cambridge, one Battalion, if the service there will permit him to spare one, with orders to march, with the greatest expedition possible, to Canada.

"That for the more speedy raising the Battalions ordered, on the 8th of January, to be raised in the Colonies of New-Hampshire, Connecticut, New-York, and Pennsylvania, for the defence of Canada, it be recommended to the General Assemblies, Conventions, or Councils, or Committees of Safety of those Colonies, respectively, to exert their utmost endeavours in raising the said Battalions, upon the same pay and subsistence as the Army at Cambridge, and to furnish them with Provisions, Ammunition, and other necessaries, for expediting their march to Canada; and for further encouraging the men more cheerfully to enter into the service of their country, to give a Bounty of six and two-thirds dollars to every able-bodied, effective man, properly clothed for the service, and having a good Firelock, with a Bayonet and other Accoutrements; and four dollars to every Soldier not having the like Arms and Accoutrements; the Arms to be supplied by the Colony, and the cost to be deducted out of the Soldier's pay; and, also, to provide a Blanket and Haversack for every enlisted Soldier; and, moreover, to advance one month's pay to every Officer and Soldier before their march, that they may be able to purchase necessary clothing.

"That the first two Companies which shall be complete of every Battalion, do march to that country as soon as they shall be ready, and be followed in the same numbers, with like expedition, by the rest of the corps; and that it be recommended to the General Assemblies, Conventions, and Councils, or Committees of Safety, of the Colonies in which Battalions are directed to be raised, that they respectively attend to this business."

A printed copy of sundry Resolves of Congress, bearing date on the 17th instant, relating to the raising of Troops, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"In Congress, January 17, 1776.

"Resolved, That the Colonels of the several Battalions ordered to be raised, do immediately order their Officers on Recruiting Service, to such parts where they are best known, and have the greatest probability of success.

"That the Recruiting Officers ought to be careful to enlist none but healthy, sound, and able-bodied men, not under sixteen years of age.

"That the Colonels of the several Battalions aforesaid, appoint some place, or places, of rendezvous, to which the Recruits may be sent, and where the Battalions may be quartered.

"That the greatest attention ought to be paid to the behaviour of the Troops in Quarters, that they may give no reasonable cause of complaint.

"That the Quarters of the Troops be duly discharged once every week.

"That an allowance of ten Shillings per man be made to the Recruiting-Officers in lieu of their expenses in recruiting, exclusive of the Subsistence-Money allowed them; and that, in case any man be enlisted contrary to the foregoing Regulations, the Pay they may have received, and the Subsistence-Money that may be paid for them, shall be stopped from the pay of such Recruiting-Officers.

"That no bought, indentured Servants be employed on board the Fleet, or in the Army of the United Colonies, without the consent of their Masters.

"Extracts from the Minutes:

"CHARLES THOMPSON, Secretary.

Ordered, That the Letters and Resolutions of the honourable the Continental Congress, be taken into further consideration this afternoon.

A Letter from Major-General Lee, in answer to the one addressed to him by the Committee on the 21st instant, was received and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Stamford, January 23, 1776.

"SIR: Yesterday, on the road, I had the honour of receiving yours, and ought to make a thousand apologies for not having answered it immediately, but the circumstance of being on the road, together with the necessity of finishing some despatches to General Washington, and to the Continental Congress, rendered it almost impossible.

"I should certainly, sir, have apprized you of my march, had I not concluded that you would have learned it time enough from the Congress. The letter I have from the General, directed to the Chairman of the Committee of Safety, I was ordered to deliver with my own hand. With respect, sir, to the alarms of the inhabitants, on the suspicion that my business was to commence active hostilities against the men-of-war in your harbour, I can assure you that they may be perfectly easy—such never was the intention of the General, and, I hope, you will believe that I never entertained a thought of transgressing the letter of my instructions. The motive of the General, for detaching me, was solely to prevent the enemy from taking post in your city, or lodging themselves on Long-Island, which, we have the greatest reason to think, sir, is their design. Some subordinate purposes were likewise to be executed, which are much more proper to communicate by word of mouth, than by writing; but I give you my word, that no active service is proposed, as you seem to apprehend.

"If the ships-of-war are quiet, I shall be quiet, but I declare solemnly, that if they make a pretext of my presence to fire on the town, the first house set in flames by their guns shall be the funeral pile of some of their best friends. But, I believe, sir, the inhabitants may rest in security on this subject. I am convinced, and every man who considers a moment must be convinced, that the destruction of the sea-port towns would, if possible, be a severer stroke to the Ministry, and their instruments, than to the inhabitants themselves. The sea-port towns are the only holds they have in America; they are considered as the pledges of servitude; the menacing destruction to them may, indeed, be of admirable use, but the real destruction of them must extinguish all hopes of success.

"In compliance, sir, with your request, I shall only carry with me into town a force just strong enough to secure it against any designs of the enemy, until it shall please the Continental Congress to take measures for its permanent security. The main body I shall leave on the western frontiers of Connecticut, according to your directions. I hope, sir, and persuade myself, that the Committee and inhabitants can have no objection to this plan. If Mr. Tryon and the Captains of the ships-of-war are to prescribe what numbers are, and what numbers are not to enter the town, they are absolute dictators to all intents and purposes. The condition is too humiliating for freemen to put up with.

"You take pains to assure me, sir, that your Congress and Committee are not less zealous in the cause of American liberty, than any representative body on the Continent. I give you my word, sir, that this assurance was unnecessary. I am not one of those who have entertained a bad opinion of the virtue of New-York, or made it my business to asperse them; on the contrary, I have condemned loudly the illiberal, impolitic, and unjust reflections I have heard frequently thrown out. I should not have taken the liberty of troubling you with the opinion, good or bad, which an unimportant individual like myself may entertain of so respectable a body as your Committee or Congress, had not this particular paragraph of your letter thrown the temptation in my way.

"I am, sir, your most obedient and devoted servant,

"CHARLES LEE.

"To Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Safety."

3 ho. P. M., Die Mercurii, January 24, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Breuster, Mr. Clarke.

A draft of a Letter to Colonel Joseph Drake, requesting him to endeavour to find out the persons concerned in spiking up the Cannon beyond King's Bridge, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 24, 1776.

SIR: William Lounsberry purchased a parcel of files, and had them carried up to your County in a boat; the boatman delivered them to his son. We have good reason to believe they were used to spike up the cannon in your County. Lounsberry declares that they are not in his house, but refuses to tell where they are. And Hains, who met our party of horsemen, told Lounsberry, in their presence, that he met him going towards the cannon, beyond the Bridge, in company with three other persons, last Wednesday night. This Lounsberry denies. We request you to cause the son of Lownsberry to be apprehended, and examined before some Committee, or members of your Committee; and that you cause Purdy, the blacksmith, and all other suspicious persons in that part of your County, to be critically examined, and endeavour to have such discoveries made as to find out and fix on all the persons who were concerned in spiking up the cannon beyond and near King's Bridge; and secure all such persons against whom you shall obtain evidence, and send to us all the information that may be obtained in the premises.

We are, respectfully, sir, your humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To Colonel Joseph Drake, New-Rochelle.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Joseph French, Esq., of Jamaica, attended this Committee, and informed that he had been told that a citation had issued for him to appear before this Committee, and that he had engaged to Colonel Heard to attend; and Mr. French requested to know if there was any charge against him.*

Thereupon, a Certificate was given to Mr. French, in words following, to wit:

Joseph French, Esq., attended on this Committee, and informs that he has engaged to Colonel Heard to attend this Committee. This is to certify, that this Committee hath not issued any citation for Mr. French, and that no evidence has been offered to this Committee, nor to the Provincial Congress, against Mr. French. But as the case of the inhabitants of Queen's County is not before us, but before the Continental Congress, this certificate is not to be understood to interfere with any directions Colonel Heard may have from the Continental Congress, or from any other person under their authority.

Messrs. James Reid, Robert Leonard, Francis Cunningham, John Burns, and Francis Dominick, all of the City of New-York, personally appeared before the Committee, and engaged jointly and severally for Lawrence Hartwick, that the said Lawrence Hartwick will, from time to time, personally appear before the Provincial Congress of this Colony, or this Committee of Safety, when thereunto requested, and in the mean time that the said Lawrence Hartwick will demean himself peaceably, and be of good behaviour towards all the friends of liberty in this city, and not do any act contrary to the measures directed by the Continental Congress, or the Provincial Congress, or the Committee of Safety of this Colony.

Ordered, That the said Lawrence Hartwick be discharged, and it is recommended to all friends of liberty, that the said Lawrence Hartwick be not molested in his person or property, while he complies with the above-mentioned engagements.

The Committee took into consideration the subject of the second matter mentioned to them this morning by the sub-Committee of this city, and after consideration thereof, this Committee do hereby appoint Captain William Mercier to superintend and inspect the lading of all such Vessels, as shall lade in this port; and,

Ordered, That Captain Mercier be empowered, and he is hereby empowered, to inspect all permits to Vessels to lade in this port, and see that all such Vessels lade only agreeable to the resolves of the Continental Congress, and with such matters or produce only as may be agreeable to the said resolves, and their permits from the Provincial Congress, and Committee of Safety of this Colony; and, from time to time, to report to this Committee, or the Provincial Congress of this Colony, what Vessels are lading,

* New-York, January 24, 1776.—GENTLEMEN: I understand, by a citation Mr. Jay produced at Jamaica, that I am to appear before the Provincial Congress, to answer some complaints alleged against me. I now acquaint you that I am ready in waiting, to answer any thing laid to my charge, and should have done it before, had said citation come to my hand. If, gentlemen, you are not ready to hear me, I should be much obliged to you if you would give me a few lines, which I may produce to Colonel Heard, as a proof of my having waited upon you, and that I may return home, as I have, for this month past, been very much indisposed, and am so still. I shall be ready and willing at any time to wait upon you, to answer the charge alleged against me.

I am, gentlemen, your most obliged, humble servant,

JOSEPH FRENCH.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress, New-York.

N. B. I have obligated myself to Colonel Heard to wait upon you.

or shall have laded, and with what particular commodities, and by what authority.

And whereas, this Committee of Safety have authorized Colonel McDougall to have Carriages made for Cannon, in order to prevent any impositions on the publick, by any person employed in making the same,

Ordered, That Captain Mercier be appointed, and he is hereby appointed to superintend the making of those Carriages, so as to see that they are made of good timber, and that the iron work be well made, and to see it weighed, and to take every other necessary caution to prevent any imposition on the publick in that business; and,

Ordered and agreed, That Captain Mercier be allowed twenty Dollars per month, as pay, while continued in this, and the service of inspecting the lading of Vessels in this port.

Ordered, That the Secretaries prepare and certify copies of all the Resolves and Letters this day received from the Continental Congress, and forward the same to Major-General Schuyler, to-morrow morning, by post.

Die Jovis, 10 ho. A. M., January 25, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Scott, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands.

Francis Lewis, Esq., came into the Committee of Safety, and informed them that the schooner Success, Jonathan Bowne, Master, was laded by his order on Continental account, and requested a permit for her to sail; thereupon, a Certificate was given to Colonel McDougall in the words following, to wit:

The schooner Success, whereof Jonathan Bowne is Master, being laded on Continental account, by order and under the direction of some of the Continental Delegates, is hereby permitted to sail to sea.

Philip Livingston, Esq., John Alsop, Esq., and Francis Lewis, Esq., came into the Committee of Safety, and delivered in their respective Accounts of the time they have attended Continental Congress. And Mr. Philip Livingston, also, delivered in the Account of John Jay, Esq. The said Accounts were delivered to Colonel Brasher to be audited.

On reading the Resolve of Congress for payment of the Delegates of this Colony, are of opinion that they are not authorized, nor their Auditors authorized, to audit or order payment to any of the Delegates while at their places of abode, respectively, though then employed in the service of the Continent, and by order of Continental Congress.

A certain Jonathan Booth attended at the door, and complained to some members of the Committee that a drove of cattle, which he was driving to New-York market, was detained by the Committee of Bedford, in pursuance of an order of the Committee of Bedford, Poundridge, and Salem, and the said order of the Committee of Bedford, Poundridge, and Salem, being printed in Holt's newspaper, was read and taken into consideration; thereupon, this Committee came to a Resolution in the words following, to wit:

Whereas, by a publication in Mr. Holt's newspaper, (the New-York Journal), of the 25th of January, 1776, dated at Poundridge, the 10th of the same month, it is purporting that the Committee of Observation for the united Town of Bedford and Precincts of Poundridge and Salem, in Westchester County, conceiving that bad consequences do arise to this distressed County from supplying the markets at New-York, on supposition that the common enemy may by that means be furnished with Provisions, have

Resolved, That from and after the date thereof, the said Committee do thereby strictly forbid any of the Inhabitants of the said Town and Precincts, directly or indirectly to carry, or cause to be carried, by land or water, Provisions of any kind to the said market, and do thereby direct the Minute-Men and all others that are friends to their country, to do their utmost to stop all drovers of Fat Cattle, Sheep, Hogs, Poultry, or any other Provisions whatsoever, and from being drove or carried through either said Town or Precinct for the purpose aforesaid, without leave of the said Committee, on the penalty of being deemed enemies to their country."

And whereas, this Committee not doubting the good intentions of the said Committee met at Poundridge, do, nevertheless, conceive that the said Resolve has a manifest tendency to distress (in the article of Provisions) the inhabitants of this City, and other friends to liberty, whose business may call them hither,

Resolved, therefore, That it is the opinion of this Committee that no Committee of any City, Borough, Town, or Precinct in this Colony, ought to prevent any such supplies of Provisions to this City, as aforesaid, unless they shall have due proof that such supplies are intended to be furnished to persons engaged in service against the liberties of America, nor, in such case, any longer than until such Committees, respectively, shall, in cases where such proof shall have been made, have duly certified this Committee or the Provincial Congress thereof, and until order shall have been made thereon by this Committee or the Provincial Congress.

Ordered, That a certified copy of this Order be delivered to the said Jonathan Booth.

An Orderly-Sergeant of Major De Hart, having called on a member to be informed if the Muskets engaged to Lord Stirling are ready, the Committee conceive that, as the Colony are to raise several Regiments, in pursuance of the orders of Congress received yesterday, that it is their duty to request Lord Stirling to be released from the engagement of this Colony as to those Arms. Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Lord Stirling was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 25, 1776.

MY LORD: Since the last communication between your Lordship and us, concerning the arms we undertook to supply you with for the troops under your command, we have orders from Congress to raise four new battalions, besides one which we before that time were under orders to raise. We are, also, informed that there are still thirty stand of publick arms in the town of Newark, which are not appropriated to the use of your troops, and there may be others in the same situation in other parts of your Colony; and we conceive it a hardship to be obliged to forward a department of service out of our Colony, by supplying those arms which we intended for you, which, wit many more, will be wanted for equipping our own battalions. We can assure you, my Lord, with the greatest truth, that we are totally at a loss how to supply our new levies with arms, without taking them from our Militia, which nothing but the most urgent necessity will justify, as by that means the defence of this important post will be weakened.

We, therefore, earnestly request you to release us from our former engagements to you, and are, my Lord, most respectfully, your Lordship's obedient, humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Stirling.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Major De Hart's Orderly-Sergeant.

Die Jovis, 4to ho. P. M., January 25, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke.

The Committee being of opinion that prudence and care of this Colony, and of the Capital and inhabitants thereof, requires that a proper person be kept at the Hook, to keep a look-out if any fleet, or transports or ships-of-war should be approaching this Colony, and having, on considering that matter yesterday, thought it best to prevent jealousy among the pilots, and to give different persons among them a chance of earning a subsistence in the present times of difficulty, agreed to employ Samuel Isleton (who was recommended for that purpose) in the place of William Dobbs.

Samuel Isleton attending by request, received his instructions. He is directed to take the pilot-boat and oars lately purchased by this Committee, with four men to row her, and proceed to the Hook and stay there, and diligently lookout for one week, if no fleet, or transports, or ships-of-war, appear sooner. If any appear, he is to give the most immediate notice to this Committee.

Samuel Isleton is to have ten Shillings per day, and James Burns, Robert Bennet, John Besly, and William Mullinger, his Oarsmen, are to have eight Shillings per day, each, and they are to find themselves all necessaries and bear their own expenses.

The Committee took into consideration the necessity this Colony will be under of having a quantity of heavy Cannon, and that there is not, at present, any Furnace large enough and fitted to the purpose; that it will be vastly more expensive to have heavy Cannon brought from Philadelphia, than to have a Furnace made for the purpose, besides the advantage of establishing a work of that kind in the Colony, and of supplying the vessels building in this Colony for the Continental service, and the neighbouring Colonies.

After some time spent therein, they are of opinion that, considering the nature of the ore, and the advantages of transportation, such a work may most probably be effected by Robert Livingston, Esq.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Robert Livingston, Esq., was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 25, 1776.

SIR: In all probability this Colony will stand in need of a number of heavy ordnance (from twenty-five to fifty hundred weight) for its defence. On casting about for a place best calculated for erecting a foundry, yours appears to be the most proper.

You will please to take this matter into immediate consideration, and inform us, as soon as possible, whether you can prepare your furnace for casting such cannon and shot, as, also, the terms on which you would undertake to cast them, and when you will be ready for expediting this business.

As we are informed the Continental Congress have under consideration an estimate of the ordnance necessary for the defence of the different Colonies, we are desirous of being prepared with the terms on which they may be manufactured, and of preserving to our Colony the credit and advantage of such a manufactory.

We earnestly request your most speedy answer, and are, most respectfully, sir, your most obedient, humble servants.

By order.

To Colonel Robert Livingston, at Calender House, Manor Livingston.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

The Committee spent the residue of the evening in considering the Resolves and Letters received yesterday from the Continental Congress.

Die Veneris, 10 ho. A. M., January 26, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke.

No other Members appeared, whereby the Committee could not proceed to any active business, and spent the whole morning in considering the Resolves of Continental Congress, and forming an extract of them for Regulations for Recruiting Officers, and considering of proper persons for Officers in the four Battalions ordered to be raised in this Colony.

3 ho. P. M., Die Veneris, January 26, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke. Mr. Sands came in half-past seven o'clock.

The Committee resumed the consideration of the Resolves and Letters received from the Continental Congress on the subject of raising Troops. After some time spent therein, the Committee sent for Colonel Lasher, to know his sentiments on a declaration lately made by him to one of the members, that if any more troops were raised, the Battalion now under his command would, in general, be very desirous to be taken into the publick service and pay.

After a short conference with Colonel Lasher, and delivering to him a copy of the Resolves of Congress for raising four Battalions for the defence of this Colony, he was desired to confer with the officers of his Battalion, and report the result thereof to this Committee.

This Committee conceiving that the speediest method of fixing on proper Officers for the four Regiments to be raised in this Colony, and of being informed of the number of men that may probably be enlisted in each County, is to write to the County Committee of the respective Counties in this Colony,

Thereupon a draft of a Letter for that purpose was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit :

GENTLEMEN : By resolves of the honourable the Continental Congress lately come to hand, this Colony is to raise four regiments, in Continental pay, for the defence of the Colony. We conceive that the troops will be most speedily raised by having proper officers taken from different Counties where there are proper men who will enlist.

We, therefore, request you, with all possible despatch, to inform the Provincial Congress, or this Committee, of the number of men which you have good reason to believe may be speedily raised and armed in your County; and at the same time, that you, with the advice of as many of the Deputies of your County to the Provincial Congress as may conveniently be obtained, recommend several proper persons for Captains, Lieutenants, and Ensigns, who will be most likely to raise the men. We request, in all cases where it can conveniently be done, that you recommend two proper persons for each office, that the Provincial Congress may have an opportunity to choose the one they think best qualified.

We are, respectfully, gentlemen, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

Ordered, That copies thereof be engrossed and signed by the Chairman, and one copy directed to each County Committee.

Instructions for enlisting the Troops directed by the Continental Congress to be raised in this Colony, were read and agreed to, and are in the words following, to wit :

Committee of Safety, New-York, January 27, 1776.

Instructions to the Colonels and other Officers for Enlistment of Four New Battalions in the Continental Service, for the defence of the Colony of New-York.

Whereas, in order to the regular enlistment of the Troops intended to be raised for the Continental service, it was resolved in Continental Congress on the 17th instant, to wit :

"That the Colonels of the several Battalions ordered to be raised, do immediately order their officers on recruiting service to such parts where they are best known, and have the greatest probability of success.

"That the recruiting officers ought to be careful to enlist none but healthy, sound, and able-bodied men, not under sixteen years of age.

"That the Colonels of the several Battalions, aforesaid, appoint some place, or places, of rendezvous to which the recruits may be sent, and where the Battalions may be quartered.

"That the greatest attention ought to be paid to the behaviour of the troops in quarters, that they may give no reasonable cause of complaint.

"That the quarters of the troops be duly discharged once every week.

"That an allowance of ten shillings per man be made to the recruiting officers, in lieu of their expenses in recruiting, exclusive of the subsistence money allowed them, and that in case any men be enlisted contrary to the foregoing regulations, the pay they may have received, and the subsistence money that may be paid for them, shall be stopped from the pay of such recruiting officer.

"That no bought, indented servants be employed on board the Fleet or in the Army of the United Colonies, without the consent of their masters."

And whereas the Continental Congress, on the 19th of January, instant,

"Resolved, That four Battalions be raised in the Colony of New-York, for the defence of that Colony, upon the same pay with those directed to be raised in the Province of Pennsylvania, and that they be stationed as the Commanding Officer of the New-York, Department shall think best, to garrison the several forts in that Province, from Crown-Point to the southward, and to prevent depredations upon Long-Island, and to promote the safety of the whole."

The Pay and other Regulations of which said Pennsylvania Troops, and the said four Battalions, are established by the Continental Congress, as follows, to wit :

"That each battalion consist of eight companies, each company of one Captain, two Lieutenants, one Ensign, four Sergeants, four Corporals, one Drum, one Fife, and seventy-six Privates. The pay as follows: Colonel, 50 dollars per calendar month; Lieutenant-Colonel, 40 dollars; Major, 33½ dollars; Captain, 26½ dollars per calendar month; Lieutenants, 18 dollars; Ensign, 13½ dollars; Sergeant, 8 dollars; Corporal, Drum and Fife, 7½ dollars; Privates 5 dollars.

"Staff of Battalion: One Adjutant, 18½ dollars; one Quartermaster, 18½ dollars; one Chaplain, 20 dollars; one Surgeon, 25 dollars.

"The privates liable to be discharged at any time, on allowing them one month's pay extraordinary.

"That each of the privates be allowed, instead of a bounty, a felt hat, a pair of yarn stockings, and a pair of shoes; they to find their own arms.

"The men also to be furnished with a hunting-shirt, not exceeding in value one and one-third of a dollar, and a blanket, provided it can be procured, but not to be made a part of the terms of enlistment. Every man who furnishes himself with a good new blanket, to be allowed therefor two dollars, and have liberty to take it away at the end of the campaign.

"Each Captain, or other commissioned officer, while in the recruiting service, or on their march to join the battalion, shall be allowed two and two-thirds dollars per week for their subsistence; and the men who enlist while in quarters, before they join their battalion, one dollar per week, and when on their march to join their battalion, one and one-third dollar per week.

"That a ration consist of the following kinds and quantities of Provision, viz :

"One pound of beef, or three-quarters of a pound of pork, or one pound of salt fish per day. One pound of bread or flour per day; three pints of peas or beans, per week, or vegetables equivalent, at one dollar per bushel for peas or beans; one pint of milk per man, per day, or at the rate of 1-72 parts of a dollar; one quart of spruce beer or cider, per man, per day, or nine gallons of molasses per one hundred men, per week; half a pint of rice, or one pint of Indian meal per man, per week; three pounds of candles to one hundred men, per week, for guards; twenty-four pounds soft, or eight pounds hard soap, for one hundred men, per week. Men in barracks to be provided with crocus, and straw for bedding, fire-wood and iron pots.

"For their march or campaign: A camp-kettle for every six men, and a canteen for each man. Arms and accoutrements for the men, viz: each a good gun and bayonet, cartouch-box, tomahawk, knapsack or haversack, and two bills.

"Colours, drums, fifes, and a pitching axe, for every ten men, and intrenching tools, to be provided at the publick expense."

Ordered, That the Secretaries get three hundred copies of the said Instructions printed, with all possible despatch.

David Barclay, at the door, was admitted. He delivered a Letter from Colonel Joseph Drake, by order of some of the members of the Committee of that County, which was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit :

"New-Rochelle, January 26, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN : Agreeable to your directions, which I received twelve o'clock, last night, I went with a number of the members of the Committee of this County and others, in search of the persons named in your letter, but have not had the good fortune to find them. The neighbours inform us that Lownsberry's son and Joseph Purdy are both in town; the first went down by land, the latter by water, in Flood's boat. William Armstrong and William Sutton, both of Mamaroneck, are both suspicious persons, and also in town. We imagine they, with the two former, are there to hear what transpires from Lounsberry, in order to fly on board the man-of-war if suspected. To prevent their having information from this quarter, we send this, with all haste, by Mr. Barclay, that you may take such steps as you may think best.

"We shall use our utmost endeavours to find out the aiders and abettors of so diabolical piece of work, and are, gentlemen, your very humble servants,

"By order:

"JOSEPH DRAKE.

"To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York."

Thereupon an Order was made in the words following, to wit:

Information being received by letter, from Westchester, that Isaac Purdy, William Armstrong, William Sutton, and James Lounsberry, son of William Lounsberry, are all in this city, and are persons suspected of being concerned in spiking up the Cannon beyond King's Bridge, in Westchester County,

Ordered, That the said Isaac Purdy, William Armstrong, William Sutton, and James Lounsberry, son of William Lounsberry, be apprehended and kept in safe custody, until they are, respectively, brought before this Committee, to be examined, or the further order of this Committee; and,

Ordered, That Colonel McDougall cause this order to be duly executed.

Mr. Sands, who is managing the lading of the sloop Sally, requested a permit. Thereupon a permit was given to him, in the words following, to wit:

Mr. Comfort Sands is permitted to load the sloop Sally, Wilkie Dodge, Master, for the West-Indies, with flour, pork, hams, and bread.

Die Sabbati, January 27, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke.

Mr. Joseph Hallett, the Chairman, much indisposed, is unable to attend, and Mr. Sands forwarding the lading of the sloop Sally.

The Members of the Committee present conceive it their duty to pay some attention to the introduction of General Lee into this city, as a Continental General, and they are also of opinion that it will be politick.

It was Ordered, That Captain Leary be requested to cause his Company of Light-Horse to hold themselves in readiness to ride out to meet General Lee, and attend him to this city.

John Flood, the boatman, at request, attended, and being examined, says, that soon after he came to town, Oliver Roosevelt pressed him to go to see Lounsberry; that he went with Roosevelt, and Joseph Purdy went with him; that Lounsberry asked Joseph Purdy to go to Mamaroneck to bring down the files, and insisted on his going. That the examinant was unwilling to spare Purdy, and Purdy did not appear inclined to go. That William Sutton, Lounsberry, Armstrong, and James Vincent, who assisted him as a boatman, went up with him in his boat last trip. That Lounsberry went ashore at Frog's Point. That he, the said examinant, afterwards delivered all the things Lounsberry left on board, to his son, James Lounsberry. That he does not recollect that he knew that Lounsberry had any files on board. That the examinant the other day, told Lounsberry he had used him unkindly to bring him into question, and asked him if he had carried up the files in his boat. That Lounsberry said yes, but that he believed that he (Flood) did not know it. That he, the examinant, left Joseph Purdy at the Barracks when he left Lounsberry. That Joseph Purdy afterwards informed him that Lounsberry told him the files were either at Isaac Gidney's shop, or at Flood's store-house, he did not know which. That his son had taken them from the boat, and he did not know at which of those places he had left them.

Joseph Purdy says that he was down at New-York between three and four weeks ago; that he does not remember who were passengers in the boat at the time; that Lounsberry was not on board; that he went with Flood to see William Lounsberry; that John Flood accused him with having carried up the files in his boat; that Lounsberry said Purdy could go and bring the files back; that Lounsberry whispered to him that the files were either at Flood's store-house or in Isaac Gidney's shop; that if he went up he could find them; that he is a smith by trade; that Nicholas Morrell, reputed a Tory, is intimate with Lounsberry; that he is not in debt a single copper to Lounsberry; that Lounsberry did speak to him to make skeens for a cart, or to do other work; that Isaac Gidney is reputed a Tory; that he has heard that Lounsberry has made himself very busy in publick matters.

William Sutton says, that William Lounsberry is reputed a Tory, and said to be warm on that side; that he does not know who are his most intimate friends now; that when last in town he came down with cattle. Never heard him say any thing about the files; has heard him disapprove of the present measures, and think them wrong; that Isaac Gidney has been very much opposed to the American measures, but, of late, is more quiet; that Gidney lives about a mile from Lounsberry. That he heard from a neighbour that one Strang, who was travelling in disguise, first mentioned the cannon being spiked in his neighbourhood. That Strang is of very indifferent character, and much in debt.

William Armstrong says, that he lives on Rye-Neck, went up with Lounsberry, lately, in Flood's boat; Lounsberry had a handkerchief on board; went on shore with Lounsberry and Sutton, at Frog's Point; left Lounsberry at Captain Brown's; that Lounsberry never took an active part in the present troubles, disapproves of the present American measures, lives a mile and a half from the examinant. That the examinant does not know who is intimate with Lounsberry.

Joseph Purdy, William Sutton, and William Armstrong, were respectively, and separately discharged, as they were examined.

Lieutenant Jacob Wright, of the Company of Minute-Men in Jamaica, on Nassau-Island, came into the Committee. He agreed with them to make two hundred Cartouch-Boxes and Pouches, and belts of the best sort; each of the cartouch-boxes to have holes for twenty-three cartridges, to be made of good leather, equal to the pattern given to him. The belts to have a convenience for carrying a sword. The price of the cartouch-box and belt to be sixteen shillings, each, and he is to have them ready in three weeks.

Die Luns, 10 ho. A. M., January 29, 1776.

The following Members met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Tredwell, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands.

Mr. Sands informed the Committee, that the sloop Sally is ready to sail; and requested a permit for Wilkie Dodge, Master of the said sloop, to go on board of the ships Asia and Phenix.

Thereupon, a Certificate was given to him, in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 29, 1776.

Permit Wilkie Dodge, Master of the sloop Sally, to go on board of both His Majesty's ships in the harbour of New-York.

William Allen, cordwainer, attended, and informed the Committee, that agreeable to their permission, he had been on board of the ship Asia, that the Captain desired him to make twenty or thirty pair of shoes, and bring them on board, and informed him he should want an hundred pair. The said William Allen was told he might make those shoes, and take them on board.

A Letter from a sub-Committee of the Committee of Westchester, dated the 26th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"January 26, 1776.

"A sub-Committee of the Committee of Safety for the County of Westchester, met at the house of James Besloy,

New-Rochelle, to wit: Abraham Guion, Esq., Colonel Joseph Drake, Stephen Ward, Jose Hunt, Henry R. Mire, Theophilus Bartow.

"John Gidney, of New-Rochelle, yeoman, sworn, and examined; saith, that on Wednesday, (one day last week,) William Lounsberry was at his house a little before sunset; went away, and returned again late at night, he supposed about nine or ten o'clock, in company with one Joshua Gidney, son of Isaac Gidney, of Rye, and four others unknown to him, the deponent, and that they went from his house, he knew not where, but returned about a little before daylight the next morning.

"John Hains, of the same place, yeoman, sworn; saith, that on Wednesday, the 17th instant, he saw the said William Lounsberry, at the house of John Gidney, of New-Rochelle, tavern-keeper, a little before sunset; he saw him go away towards Mamaronck; the deponent saith, he afterwards, the same night, about nine or ten o'clock, met the said William Lounsberry, with five other men, all on foot, in New-Rochelle aforesaid, going towards New-York; they all appeared to have handkerchiefs about their heads, and belts round their waists, over their coats.

"Gentlemen, we, also, examined several others, but could not discover any thing from them of any consequence. We, also, despatched a company of men in quest of Joshua Gidney, but could not find him; but we believe we shall be able to give some account of him before many hours. John Hains has promised to appear before your honourable House, if called for.

"We are, gentlemen, your humble servants.

"By order of the sub-Committee:

"JOSEPH DRAKE.

"To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York."

A Letter from the said sub-Committee of Westchester County, dated the 27th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"New-Rochelle, January 27, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: We send you herewith under safe guard, the person of Joshua Gidney, whom we mentioned in our letter to you yesterday, which we doubt not you have received. He has passed through an examination by us, but will not give us the least information about the people that were with him and Lounsberry, at the house of John Gidney, though he acknowledges that he was there with Lounsberry. We think him guilty, from his evasive answers and obstinacy. Though we should be sorry that any person should suffer innocently, through our channel, yet we think he deserves to suffer, at least what he must in being conveyed to you, and probably a great deal more; for he said to us once, that he did not choose to discover his companions; he did not choose to bring trouble on his neighbours. It is needless to recite what has passed in every particular; therefore subscribe ourselves, your very humble servants,

"JOSEPH DRAKE,

"THEOPHILUS BARTOW,

"HENRY R. MYER,

"ABRAHAM GUION.

"To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York."

Ordered, That Joshua Gidney be brought before the Committee in the afternoon, to be examined.

A Letter from Lord Stirling, dated on the 28th instant, relating to one hundred stand of Arms, and other matters, was read, and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Elizabethtown, January 28, 1776.

"SIR: I received your letter of the 25th, respecting the one hundred stand of arms, which you were to have supplied me with. I shall lay the letter before the Continental Congress, and the Convention which meets this week at Brunswick, in hopes that some other means may be taken for providing an equal number. A certain ship is lately arrived here with stores, some of which may, perhaps, be of use to the publick service, under your direction; I, therefore, subjoin a list of her cargo, in order that you may know whether any part of it will be useful for that purpose. The ship is about one hundred feet long on the main deck, and will commodiously carry twenty six and ten three-pounders. W. R. is well worthy of your confidence.

"I have the honour to be, your most humble servant,

"STIRLING.

"To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety at New-York."

"107 chaldrons of Coal; 100 butts Porter, marked Calvert; 225 bags Beans; 156 sacks Potatoes; 10 casks of Sour-Krout; 80 Hogs; 35 empty Puncheons, for water."

Die Lunne, 3 ho. P. M., January 29, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke.

Joshua Gidney, who was ordered to be brought down to be examined, was brought in before the Committee and examined.

Joshua Gidney says that he lives at the hither end of Rye-Neck. Being asked where he was on last Wednesday night a week, says he does not remember; that he was in company with Mr. William Lounsberry, a day or two before he was apprehended; that he neither knows who spiked the cannon, and was not concerned in it. Being asked how he spent last Wednesday night a week, to wit, the night of Wednesday the — instant, and where, he refused to answer or discover; at length answered, that is nothing to cause; he was asked if he was with Lounsberry that night; he was frequently asked, but gave no answer; after a long time answered, he was with him one night, but does not know what night; was then asked at what time of the night, and at what place he was with him; after frequent asking, was silent; being asked if he was at John Gidney's house lately, in the night, with Lounsberry, answered yes, but does not know in what night; being asked who, also, was with him; after frequent asking, was silent, and did not answer; being asked where he was towards day that night, was silent; being asked if he has any estate, says yes, about five hundred pounds; he was repeatedly told not to accuse himself, but to answer as to all other persons; being asked if he was at John Gidney's about day-breaking, was entirely silent; being asked who was with him at John Gidney's, is silent; being asked whether he is under any oath to keep secret, says he is not; was charged not to accuse himself, or any innocent man; on appealing to God for his innocence, was asked if he would appeal to God that he does not know who was at John Gidney's with him, refused to answer. He was frequently assured of the protection of the Committee, and other protection that should be necessary if answered truly and frankly the questions asked of him.

Ordered, That Joshua Gidney be manacled and shackled bands and feet, and kept in safe and secure custody, at the Upper Barracks, until the further order of this Committee, and in the interim that no person be suffered to speak to him, but in the presence of the officer of the guard, and that no letter or paper writings be permitted to pass between the said Joshua Gidney and any other person, or persons, whomsoever, and that he be denied the use of pen, ink and paper; and,

Ordered, That Colonel McDougall see that this order be duly executed.

Colonel Lasher attending, informed the Committee, or Members present, that the greater part of his corps of Officers have agreed that it will not suit them to go into the Continental service on the terms offered.

William Lounsberry examined, says that he and Joshua Gidney, and others, went to disarm the cannon with sledges; that when they came to a house near the cannon, they heard people at work at them; that they waited some time, heard them at work, and turning them, as they judged by the noise; that when he came to the guns, he found them spiked, and the touch-holes turned downwards; that when he and the others went up towards the cannon, the men went off; that he called to them, but they went off down a hill towards the blacksmith's, and then into the road, and towards King's Bridge; that there was light in the smith's kitchen; that the people who went with him had caps on; that Gidney was concerned in the design, and went with him with the design to disarm the cannon with sledges; that he had the files bought with design to spike up the cannon; that he is uncertain whether he, or Joshua Gidney, first concerted the design of disarming the cannon; that he does not know the other persons who went with him; that they were in Mamaroneck, on the road; that they were at John Gidney's about ten o'clock that night, and at daylight, as they returned; that he and Joshua Gidney had spoken and conferred on the subject; that Joshua Gidney spoke to the other persons of the party; that two of those persons were Josiah Burrell and William Hains; that he is not certain, but that he believes the two others were the sons of James Hains; that they had caps on; he had the cape of his coat about his head; that the light was at Valentine's kitchen, and about one or two o'clock in the morning; that he was not put on this scheme by any person; that he and his party had two sledges with them; that they got one sledge out of Flandereau's shop, and the other out of Guion's shop, at New-Rochelle; that some of the company went and got the sledges; that Flandereau's was taken without the consent of the owner; that he dropped the design of spiking the guns, because he found it would be troublesome, and thought the other would do as well; that he spoke to Isaac Gidney to work the files, and make the spikes, but he said it would be a great deal of trouble, and declined it; that there were five or six persons who went off from the guns; that this was on last Wednesday night was a week, a very cold night, so cold that men could not stand longer than half, or three-quarters of an hour in his opinion; that he intended to disarm the guns, that the communication between the country and city might be kept open.

Joshua Gidney, called in again to be examined, and asked how many sledges his party had? At first did not answer, and then said he did not do the fact. After some time, confessed that he went from John Gidney's, with a party, towards the cannon near Valentine's, with a party who designed to render them useless. Came there and found men at work at them; that there were two or three of his party went up towards the cannon, and the party went off to the westward from the cannon; that then he and his party came to the cannon, and found them spiked; that he heard of the scheme of disarming the cannon of Josiah Burrell, who came down to the man-of-war; that the first person he ever heard speak of rendering the cannon useless, was William Lounsberry, and, afterwards, Josiah Burrell spoke to him about it, and other people also. That Josiah Burrell lives at Rye-Neck. That Josiah Burrell went on board of a ship to the Governour, and said he spoke to the Governour, who said it must be done, to render those cannon useless; that Lounsberry, afterwards, told him the same, and, he believed, spoke to the Governour, also; that Isaac Gidney also spoke to him about having the cannon destroyed; that Lounsberry and William Sutton, Esq., spoke about disarming the cannon; that Esquire Sutton seemed to be fond of it; that this is since Sutton went home to appear before the Committee. That William Lounsberry was the first person he ever heard propose the disabling them with sledges; that this was soon after Godfrey Hains came home from on board of the man-of-war; that Burrell told him he had had conversation with the Governour, and that he advised disabling the cannon; that he heard Lounsberry had been on board of the Governour's ship about a week before this affair happened; that Isaac Gidney informed him of this; and that the Governour advised him to destroy the cannon, and said it would save the city and prevent its being burned down; that Burrell and Lounsberry told him, if it was done, they would be well paid for it. That there were six persons in his party to the cannon, to wit: William Lounsberry, himself, Josiah Burrell, William Hains, James Hains, Jun., and Thomas Hains. That one sledge was taken out of a shop at Flandereau's, and John Gidney borrowed the other sledge of Guion, a blacksmith; that they found the cannon near Valentine's spiked up; that he carried spikes a part of the way, which he received of Lounsberry to carry; that it is his opinion that Isaac Gidney made them; that Isaac Gidney and Joseph Purdy had been at work at night, and they gave him a bag with iron, and said, here is something for William Lounsberry; that he gave it to Lounsberry, and he assisted Lounsberry to carry them; that when they came to a parcel of guns on the hill near Valentine's, they found five or six men at work there, and the guns spiked up. That they returned and spiked those at Williams's; that William Hains, and James Hains, Jun., spiked them; that there were upwards of fifty spiked there; that he believes William Lounsberry had the management and direction of their party, and that he was called their General. That when they came to a little house near Valentine's, they heard people at work; that when he and his party came near Valentine's, there was light; that the party at work at the guns left them, and came towards King's Bridge, and passed by him, walking very fast and close together; that he did not before know that any party but his own were engaged to spike up the cannon; that he supposes they live in that neighbourhood. That he believes the bag of spikes he received were made in Isaac Gidney's shop; that Isaac Gidney and Joseph Purdy went in there to work one evening, and the next evening they were brought out of the shop and delivered to him, near Isaac Gidney's shop, a little time before he and his party set off to go to the cannon. That the party who left the cannon near Valentine's, were in dark coloured clothes; that he thinks they were countrymen of their County; and that William Lounsberry said he believed he knew one of them. That he believes it was, and took it to be, the same bag which he received of Isaac Gidney and Joseph Purdy, which they brought with them to the cannon; that he received it a little before they set off to the cannon; that it was a violent, cold night; that Burrell assisted to turn over the cannon; that Lounsberry had a hand-spike; that he assisted to turn over some of them; that they concluded it would make too much noise if they struck on the arms, to disarm them and break off the trunnions, and, therefore, spiked them.

William Lounsberry, being again called in and examined, says, the last time he saw Governour Tryon, was after new-year; that the first time he saw Governour Tryon, was on board of Sutton's sloop; that he went to see Sutton, and the Governour came there; that in January, when he came down with cattle, he went on board of the Governour's ship; went to see how things were; saw the Attorney-General there; that he had not any conversation about spiking up the cannon; that he does not remember that he told any person that he had had a conversation with the Governour about the cannon; that he was not concerned in spiking up any cannon. Being asked how many cannon his party spiked up, he was silent. At length, said, the guns at Williams's were spiked up; that Joshua Gidney and Josiah Burrell went down to spike up the cannon, and, as he understood, they found so many cannon they had not spikes enough; that Joshua Gidney told him so; that he had no hand in getting the spikes made, and does not know who made them; that he does not know who brought the spikes; that on the day before the spiking the cannon, Burrell spoke to him about, and said he had mind to have it done, and that he, the examiner, told him, that he did not think any smith in the County would make the spikes; that when he received the spikes, he did not know who made them; that he understood then, that all the guns at Williams's were spiked; that Gidney and the Hains's spiked the cannon at Williams's, and that he assisted in turning them. That he had not any business on board of the Governour's ship; did not go to sell beef, and went alone.

Ordered, That the said Prisoners be recommitted to the Barracks. That the order as to the confinement of Joshua Gidney, be mitigated as to his being manacled and fettered in the day.

The Committee are of opinion, unanimously, that Josiah Burrell, William Hains, James Hains, Jun., and Thomas Hains, the persons who assisted to spike the Cannon at Williams's, and Isaac Gidney and Joseph Purdy, the smiths who made the Spikes, ought to be apprehended and brought before the Committee. And that Valentine, and all the men in his family, should be examined, in order, if possible, to discover the persons concerned in spiking the Cannon at Valentine's.

Thereupon a draft of a Letter to Colonel Joseph Drake, requesting him to apprehend the first party above-named, and a draft of a Letter to the Officer of the Guard, at the Bridge, were respectively read and approved, and are, respectively, in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 29, 1776.

SIR: We have obtained evidence against Josiah Burrell, William Hains, James Hains, Jun., Thomas Hains, (sons of James Hains), Isaac Gidney, the blacksmith, and Joseph Purdy, that they have been concerned in spiking up the cannon near Williams's.

We request you to have all those persons apprehended, and sent here under a proper guard. We send you this by express, to prevent delay, or any of them having a longer opportunity to escape.

We are, respectfully, sir, your most obedient servants.

By order of the Committee.

To Colonel Joseph Drake.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Sampson Dyckman, as an express.

A draft of a Letter to the Officer of the Guard at the Cannon, at King's Bridge, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

SIR: You are hereby requested to apprehend Isaac Valentine, the blacksmith, with his servant or journeyman, and all the men which belong to his family, and send them down to this Committee to be examined. Endeavour to have them prevented from having any conversation with each other after they are apprehended, or on the way to New-York.

We are, respectfully, sir, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the Officer commanding the Guard at the Cannon, near King's Bridge.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by Sampson Dyckman.

Dio Martis, 10 ho. A. M., January 30, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Sands, Mr. Clarke.

George Shannon was brought before the Committee with a number of Proclamations, and Papers, and Pamphlets, which, he says, he received of Governor Tryon. He says he lives at Dover, in Dutchess County; that a horse was stolen from one Ross, in Dutchess County; that they came to look for the horse; that the Governor gave him the Pamphlets, and King's Speech and Proclamation, to take to the country.

..... Ross. That they were in pursuit of a thief who stole a horse; that they supposed the thief was on board of the men-of-war; that the thief stole oxen and sold them, and went off to New-York; that a horse of his brother is since stole, they suppose by the same thief; that they came to search after the horse and thief; supposed that the thief was on board the King's ships; that they asked if there was any harm to go on board, and was informed there was not; that they went on board, and waited till they had an opportunity to see the Governor and inquire if he knew any person who had come on board of his or the other ships, who had stole a horse; that he did not receive any papers of the Governor; that Governor Tryon inquired how the people stood affected in the County where he lived. That he is to bear the expense of Shannon.

John Buchanan and Nicholas Carmer were examined. Thereupon, the said George Shannon and Ross were discharged, and their papers redelivered to them.

Captain John Sands, from Cow-Neck, informed the Committee that Jacob Mott, who had made his submission to this Committee of Safety, and been restored, was taken into custody and detained by Colonel Heard, and is now under bonds of five hundred Pounds, and his arms demanded. The Committee are of opinion that it is not good policy to use those severities to Jacob Mott, unless he has misbehaved since his restoration.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Colonel Heard was read, and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 30, 1776.

SIR: Jacob Mott, of Queen's County, who, by the resolves of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, was advertised, and put out of protection, made his submission to this Committee, acknowledged his contrition for his past conduct, and engaged to behave amicably to the cause of his country. Whereupon, he was publicly restored to his former standing, during his good behaviour.

We have not the least information that the said Jacob Mott has, by any means, forfeited the protection of his country, or swerved from his engagements, since his restoration. In our opinion, sound policy dictates the most tender treatment of a reformed penitent.

We are informed that the said Jacob Mott has been in custody, and is under bonds to you. We request, sir, that the said Jacob Mott may be released, and permitted to retain his arms, unless you should find that he has forfeited his late engagements, and that the said Jacob Mott may be treated with as much lenity as you, in your prudence, may conceive to be consistent with your duty and instructions, with which we would by no means be thought to interfere, in any article whatever.

We are, respectfully, sir, your most obedient servants.

To Colonel Heard.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and carried to the Chairman, to be read and signed, and transmitted by Captain John Sands.

3 ho. P. M., January 30, 1776.

Present: Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands.

A Letter from Jonathan Blake, commanding the Cannon Guard beyond King's Bridge, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"The Guard at the Liberty-Pole, January 29, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: According to your desire, I have sent down Mr. Valentine and son, and journeyman, under guard of seven men, and should be glad of a small reinforcement, as the duty of the men is very hard, on account of their numbers.

"I am, with the greatest respect, your humble servant,
"JONATHAN BLAKE.

"To Joseph Hallett, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Safety, New-York."

Ordered, That all the said persons be brought before this Committee for examination.

Isaac Valentine, being brought before the Committee to be examined, says, that he lives in Westchester County; that the guns lie about four hundred or five hundred yards from his house, in a field; that he does not know whether his son, or servant, was at home on last Wednesday night a week; that, on a Sunday, his brother, who lives near the guns, informed him that, if he had been at his house last night, he would have heard musick, and informed him that he heard the guns every now and then ring, sometimes at one end of the parcel of guns, and sometimes at the other; that he knows William Lounsberry; did not see him, or Joshua Gidney, at his house that night; does not know who spiked the guns; that John Williams came down to his house, and informed him that the guns at Williams's were spiked up; that, at his request, they went to the guns in his field, and found them spiked.

William Dickin: Says he is an Englishman; lives with Isaac Valentine; was at home on last Wednesday night a week; had not a light at one or two o'clock, that night; that he sleeps in the old house, now called the kitchen; that he thinks Mr. Valentine's son was at home that night; did not see any persons come in there late; that his young master says a drover came to their house, and first told him the guns at Williams's were spiked up.

Isaac Valentine, Jun.: That he has not signed the Association, but is hearty in the cause of his country; does not know William Lounsberry; has seen Joshua Gidney but once, to his knowledge; was at home last Wednesday night a week; does not know what light was in the house; knows nothing about spiking up the guns; that the guns are two hundred and fifty yards from his father's house; that a drover, from New-England, first told him, in an evening, that the guns were spiked; that, next morning, John Williams came down, and informed his father that the guns near his house were spiked; that they went and found them spiked.

Die Mercurii, 10 ho. A. M., January 31, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Scatt, Mr. Clarke.

A Letter from Colonel James McClaghry, of Little-Britain, Ulster County, dated 23d instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Little-Britain, January 23, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: I received a letter from the honourable the Provincial Congress, bearing date the 16th October last, relative to fixing a place of rendezvous for the regiment under my command, in case of an alarm; in consequence of which, I called together all the officers of my regiment, and have fixed the place of our rendezvous at New-Windsor, but find, on examination, that it is impossible the men can appear properly equipped, for want of ammunition; therefore, request that a small magazine be formed at the place of rendezvous, under the direction of such persons as you shall judge proper.

"I am, gentlemen, with much esteem, your most obedient and very humble servant,

"JAMES MCCLAUGHRY.

"To the Committee of Safety for the Province of New-York, in New-York.

"P. S. Should have answered the honourable Congress sooner of this matter, but did not receive their favour until the 24th ultimo."

A Letter from Judah Harlow, of the 26th instant, covering a Receipt or Certificate from Captain Daniel Denton, late Captain in the Third Regiment of the New-York Troops, and also the said Receipt or Certificate, certifying that the late Company of the said Daniel Denton had eaten three hundred and fifteen meals of victuals at the said Judah Harlow's, for which he had not been paid, were read.

A Letter from Moses Gale, of the 27th instant, covering a Certificate of Daniel Denton, late Captain of the Third Regiment, dated 26th of August last, and also the said Certificate, certifying that the late Company of the said Daniel Denton had eaten one hundred and sixty-four meals of victuals at the house of the said Moses Gale, for which he had not been paid, were read.

The Committee are of opinion that, consistent with their late Resolution, and Letter to their Delegates, they ought not now to take up their time with, or interfere in, Accounts. The Committee further conceive that they are not authorized by any Resolve of Continental or Provincial Congress to pay for billeting, at one shilling per meal, and therefore ordered that the said Letters and Certificates be returned to the owners by Mr. Brewster.

Mr. Nicholas Low applied for a Permit to lade the Brigantine New-York, on account of Mr. Isaac Gouverneur. Thereupon, a Permit was delivered to him, in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 31, 1776.

The Brigantine New-York, Captain John Walker, Master, is hereby permitted to lade at this port with Provisions and Lumber.

A Letter from the Delegates of this Colony at the Continental Congress was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Philadelphia, January 27, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: The Congress this day received a letter from General Lee, apprising us of his intended march into New-York, in obedience to orders from General Washington, favouring us, at the same time, with a copy of your letter to him on this subject.

"As we perceived it was General Lee's intention immediately to proceed to your city, and that you thought such a measure dangerous to the lives of the inhabitants, and in other respects unseasonable, we thought it our duty to apply for a Committee of Congress to examine into the expediency of the expedition, and to give such directions as, upon consulting you and the General, might appear most prudent and advisable.

"Colonel Harrison, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. Allen, are intrusted with this important business, a choice which we approve, having the highest sentiments of their humanity, patriotism, and judgment. We are well satisfied that every mark of respect will be shown to them by your body, as well as by individuals, not only on account of their great merit, but because the employment in which they are now engaged immediately regards the safety and preservation of the Capital of our own Colony.

"We acknowledge the receipt of your favour, this day, respecting the scheme of protecting the navigation by cruisers, at the Continental expense. When you are made acquainted that this and other Colonies have engaged in a similar plan, at their own Provincial charge, you will perceive the proposition to be attended with difficulty as proceeding from us. The deputation from Congress will, however, give you an opportunity of representing the propriety of such a measure, as calculated to prevent the supply of provisions to the fleet and army employed for the enslaving these Colonies, and the necessity of stationing some of the Continental cruisers in the places you may suggest. This will bring on the inquiry where such vessels can most conveniently be had, and your purposes may be answered very effectually, as we are confident that every thing which they recommend will have the greatest weight with the Congress.

"The several matters communicated in your letter by Mr. Foster will be answered by that gentleman, when he returns, which will not be till the beginning of next week.

"We have the honour to be, with great respect, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants,

"JAMES DUANE,

"WILLIAM FLOYD,

"HENRY WISNER.

"To the Honourable Committee of Safety, New-York."

A Letter from William Floyd and Henry Wisner, Esq., two of the Delegates at Congress, was also read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Philadelphia, January 27, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: We send you by favour of the Committee who are going to New-York, twelve thousand five hundred dollars, for the raising a regiment destined for Canada; the other is for Mr. Lewis, from the Marine Committee; which be pleased to deliver to him, and you will oblige your very humble servants,

"WILLIAM FLOYD,

"HENRY WISNER.

"To Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Safety, New-York.

"P. S. Also, one hundred and twenty-nine and four-tenths dollars, to be disposed of by Mr. Lewis."

Ordered, That Mr. Scott and Colonel McDougall be a Committee to wait on the honourable Committee of the Continental Congress, and inform them that this Committee is ready to wait on them, to confer with them at such time and place as they may please to appoint.

Messrs. Scott and McDougall returned, and informed this Committee, that the gentlemen from the Continental Congress request a copy of General Lee's Letter, as soon as possible; and that as soon as they shall have heard from General Lee, they will inform this Committee of the time and place to confer with them. Messrs. Scott and McDougall further informed the Committee, that Philip Livingston, Esq., is ready to take care of the money brought for Francis Lewis, Esq., and has directions from Mr. Lewis for that purpose.

Thereupon, Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, or his Deputy, wait on Colonel Harrison, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. Allen, the Committee from the honourable Continental Congress, and receive from them twelve thousand five hundred dollars, sent from Continental Congress, for the Regiment to be raised for the service in Canada, and give those gentlemen a receipt for the same.

And Ordered, further, That the said Treasurer, or his Deputy, receive of those gentlemen the further sum of one hundred and twenty-nine and four-tenths dollars, and pay the same to Philip Livingston, Esq., on account of Francis Lewis, Esq., and take Mr. Livingston's receipt for the same.

And Ordered, That the Secretaries furnish a copy of General Lee's Letter to the Committee of Congress, with all possible despatch.

Ordered, That Jecamiah Allen get the Cannon near the house of John Williams, and also those near King's Bridge, removed to the larger parcel at Valentine's, so as to have them all brought together, for the greater convenience of guarding them, and drilling out the spikes. The Committee agrees with Mr. Allen, to allow him twenty shillings a piece for clearing, and unspiking the Cannon beyond King's Bridge, and removing the Cannon from John Williams's to the larger parcel, and Mr. Allen agreed to remove those Guns, and clear and unspike the whole, at twenty shillings each. Mr. Allen is also requested to remove the Guns, at or near King's Bridge, to the larger parcel, at as little expense as possible, for which he is to be paid the expense. And Mr. Allen is further directed, not to clear or unspike any Gun but such as, when cleared, will be fit for use.

Colonel Lasher delivered in a Memorandum of such Officers in his Regiment as are willing to go into the Continental service, which was read and filed.

Colonel Lasher was informed that a Committee of the honourable the Continental Congress are come to this city, on a service relating to this city and Colony only; that it would be a requisite honour to them to station a guard, of at least two sentinels, at their door in the day, and a sergeant's guard to attend there, as a guard, every night.

A Memorial of Frederick Hartell, setting forth his former rank and services in the Army; offering his services, and requesting a commission of not inferior rank to that in which he had formerly served, was read and filed.

A Memorial of John Willey, offering his service as a Captain in the Continental service, was read and filed.

Ordered, That the Memorandum delivered in by Colonel Lasher, and the Memorials of Frederick Hartell and John Willey, remain on file, to be taken up again when an arrangement of Officers may be forming, for Officers of the Regiments to be raised in this Colony for the Continental service.

3 ho. P. M., January 31, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands.

A Return of an election of the Officers of a Company of Militia, signed by Arthur Parks, Chairman of a Committee in Hanover Precinct, was read and filed. The Officers thereby returned are James Milligan, Captain; John Hunter, First Lieutenant; Matthew Hunter, Second Lieutenant; and Robert Burns, Ensign.

Ordered, That Commissions issue for those gentlemen, according to the Return.

James Lattin, a Lieutenant in one of the Minute-Companies in Ulster County, who delivered in the above-mentioned Return, informed the Committee that William Goodgion, the Ensign of the Minute-Company, of which he is Lieutenant, had unfortunately lost his Commission, and earnestly requested that another Commission might be given to him.

Ordered, That the Secretaries make out another Commission for Ensign William Goodgion, of the same date and tenor as his former Commission.

Whereas, the Provincial Congress of this Colony appointed Messrs. Jacobus Van Zandt, John Vanderbilt, and Comfort Sands, to load certain Vessels on Provincial account, and despatch them in order to obtain articles necessary for the defence of the Colonies; and Mr. John Vanderbilt having undertaken, and nearly completed, the loading of one of the said Vessels, so that she will be speedily ready to sail, informs the Committee that he has advanced a large sum of money, and stands in need of cash, as well to reimburse the cash he has already advanced, as to complete the lading of the said Vessel, and requests an order on the Treasurer for one thousand eight hundred Pounds on account.

Thereupon, Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, advance to Mr. John Vanderbilt the sum of one thousand eight hundred Pounds, on account, and take Mr. Vanderbilt's receipt for the same.

A draft of a Letter to the Delegates of this Colony at Continental Congress, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 31, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: We have to acknowledge the receipt of your favour, by the Committee of the Continental Congress, who are arrived in this city. You may be assured of our readiness to pay them that attention which is due to them, both in office and person. We have ordered our Treasurer to receive of them the money which they had in charge to deliver to us; that part of it which is destined for raising the battalion intended for the Canada service, we shall despatch, under proper care, and without delay, to General Schuyler. The battalion must, for the most evident reasons, be raised in the northern quarter; and for the same reasons, the money must be there lodged. Lest General Schuyler should not have been furnished with the resolves of Congress on the subject of that battalion, we have long since transmitted copies to him. The other small sum we shall take care to have handed to the Marine Department.

The people of Richmond have been, so far, compliant, as will be seen by the enclosed papers. We mean not, nor do we suppose our Congress will determine on their case, which is now before the Continental Congress. We intend only to state to that respectable body the case as it now stands, and, on this head, would only add, that the interdict now operates against them, and that probably their Duties will not be received by our Congress, till the sense of the Continental Congress can be had on the subject, which we beg to be furnished with as soon as possible.

We beg leave to renew your attention to the want of a Paymaster at this post, about which we wrote to you at least three weeks ago. We find inconveniences increase upon us daily, from our being obliged to go into that department of service, which gives us more pain from a consideration that we may, for want of due information, err, than from an unwillingness to do business that does not properly fall to our lot.

We are gentlemen, respectfully, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the New-York Delegates in Continental Congress.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by post.

A draft of a Letter to General Schuyler was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, January 31, 1776.

SIR: We had the honour, sometime since, of transmitting to you a resolve of Congress, for reducing the battalions now in Canada to two, and for raising a new battalion for the Canada service, under the command of Colonel Van Schaick. This regiment must, for the most evident reasons, be raised in the northern quarter; and we flatter ourselves you will look to the appointment of the officers, for whom we shall, without delay, make out the necessary commissions, (for which we are possessed of blanks,) as soon as you will favour us with a roll for that purpose.

We have received from Congress twelve thousand five hundred dollars, to be employed in recruiting Mr. Van Schaick's Regiment. The same reasons which show the necessity of raising it in your country, points out to us the propriety of sending to you the money allotted for that service. We accordingly send it to you by Messrs. Joseph Jadwin and Gilbert Giles. We beg you will take the necessary receipt in duplicate, and transmit one to us.

We must beg leave to remind you of the inconvenience arising from the want of a Paymaster at this post. We cannot, as well from a regard to our own ease, as an attention to the safety and despatch of publick business, any longer engage in the discharge of a duty in which, for want of proper information, we may err, and which is totally without our department.

We are, sir, respectfully, your most obedient and very humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To Major-General Schuyler.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Die Jovis, 10 ho. A. M., February 1, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Col. Brasher, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell.

A Letter from Jonathan Blake, an officer of the guard at the Cannon beyond King's Bridge, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Head-Quarters, in Westchester, January 31, 1776.

"SIR: Colonel Drake having delivered Joseph Purdy into our custody, I take this early opportunity of sending him to New-York, under a proper guard, which I hope will meet with your approbation. I remain, sir, your humble servant,
JONATHAN BLAKE."

Ordered, That the said Joseph Purdy be brought immediately before this Committee, to be examined.

Joseph Purdy examined; says he was going to Mamaroneck; that Isaac Gidney asked him to stop; that he stopped about two hours; that he was in the shop; that Isaac Gidney was making something of steel, which he said was hatchel-teeth; that they were as large as pipe-stales, or larger, like those now shown to him; that he assisted to make some; that it was in the latter part of the afternoon; that he does not know who they were for; that he does not know that he was not there next day, or next evening; that Gidney did not tell him who the spikes were for; that he drew the teeth out sharp; that he thought they were finished; that Isaac Gidney put the teeth in a bag, in the shop, and they went down together to Mamaroneck; that he does not know Isaac Gidney's business to Mamaroneck; that a cordwainer from Westchester was at Flood's, one that runaway on account of Weyman's boat; and Joseph Todd was there; that he did not ever hear any conversation about the cannon, until he heard they were spiked; that the spikes were in a two-bushel bag, and he supposes there were eight or nine pounds weight in it; that he did not then suspect what the spikes were designed for, but did afterwards suspect that they were designed to spike up the cannon.

Ordered, That the said Joseph Purdy be sent to the Guard-House, at the Upper Barracks, and that he be prevented from speaking to any person, or receiving, or giving out any paper writings whatever, or having the use of pen, ink or paper.

Colonel Waterbury, of Connecticut, being at the door, was introduced. He delivered a Letter from his Excellency General Washington; and Colonel Waterbury informed the Committee, that the gentlemen who are a Committee of the honourable Continental Congress, request that Mr. Scott and Colonel McDougall do wait on them immediately. Colonel Waterbury withdrew.

The Letter from General Washington was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Cambridge, January 8, 1776.

"SIR: Having undoubted intelligence of the fitting out of a fleet at Boston, and the embarkation of troops from thence, which, from the season of the year and other circumstances, must be destined for some expedition south of this, and having such information as I can rely on, that the inhabitants of Long-Island, in your Government, (or a greater part of them,) are not only inimical to the rights and liberties of America, but, by their conduct and public professions, have discovered an apparent inclination to lend an helping hand to subjugate their fellow-citizens to Ministerial tyranny, there is the greatest reason to believe that this armament, if not designed immediately against the city of New-York, is, nevertheless, intended for Long-Island.

"I have, therefore, thought it expedient to despatch Major-General Lee, with such volunteers as he can quickly assemble on his march, (for I have not troops to spare from hence, if the distance and time would admit of it,) in order to put the city of New-York in the best posture of defence the season and circumstances will admit of.

"To his instructions, which I have desired him to lay before you, I shall beg leave to refer, firmly persuaded that your honourable body will give every assistance in their power to facilitate the end of his coming, as there needs no other argument than a retrospective view of the conduct of the Ministerial troops in Boston, and the consequences resulting from it, to prove what a fatal stab it would give to the interests of America, to suffer the city of New-York to fall into the hands of our enemy.

"I have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

"GEORGE WASHINGTON.

"To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety of New-York."

Colonel McDougall and Mr. Scott went to wait on and confer with the Committee of the Continental Congress.* After some time those gentlemen returned, and reported that the said Committee informed them that they were sent here by Congress, and that General Lee, with his troops, were coming here to take measures, and consult with this Committee, for the defence of this city and Colony, and not to commence any actual hostilities; that seven hundred men, of General Lee's troops, are on their march to this city; that part of those troops will be in town this evening, and the others to-morrow; and those gentlemen request to know whether this Committee will provide for the reception of those troops, and receive them into the Barracks.

Debates ensued on the said Report and Request, and thereupon,

Mr. Sands moved, that the Troops now on their march from Connecticut to this City, shall be stopped in their march, until this Committee shall confer with the Committee of the Continental Congress on that matter, and consider thereof.

Debates ensued on the said motion, and the question being put thereon, it was determined in the negative, in manner following, to wit:

For the Negative.

Mr. Scott,
Mr. Brewster,
Mr. Clarke,
Mr. Tredwell—4.

For the Affirmative.

Colonel Brasher,
Colonel McDougall,
Mr. Sands—3.

Mr. Scott then moved, and was seconded, that General Lee's Troops be admitted to come into the City of New-York, and be lodged in the Barracks, as they cannot be otherwise provided for; but, that they come into this City upon condition that they be under the direction of this Committee or the Provincial Congress, until a full conference of this Committee or the Provincial Congress with the Committee from the Continental Congress, and Major-General Lee, and until further order to be taken thereon, with the consent of this Committee or the Provincial Congress, or further direction of the Continental Congress.

Debates arose on the said motion, and the question being put thereon, it was carried in the affirmative in manner following, to wit:

For the Affirmative.

Mr. Scott,
Mr. Tredwell,
Mr. Brewster,
Colonel McDougall,
Mr. Clarke—5.

For the Negative.

Colonel Brasher,
Mr. Sands—2.

Ordered, therefore, That General Lee's Troops be admitted to come into the City of New-York, and be lodged in the Barracks, as they cannot otherwise be provided for; but that they come into the City expressly upon condition that they be under the direction of this Committee or the Provincial Congress, until a full conference of this Committee or the Provincial Congress, with the Committee from the Continental Congress, and Major-General Lee, and until further order to be taken thereon, with the consent of this Committee or the Provincial Congress, or further direction of the Continental Congress.

Chairman.—That their answer to the order of the Committee occasioned this conference. We think it inconvenient that the troops should come in without consent, unless under their direction.

Answer.—That they were sent by Congress to consult with General Lee, and the Committee in pursuance of having received from General Lee a copy of the letter of this Committee; that Congress were before unacquainted with the matter; that they were sent at the request of the Deputies of this Colony; that the troops coming into town to night, and something about stores were the reasons for sending them.

Scott.—We will always obey the orders of Congress.

1st. But the duty and dignity due to our constituents forbid the introduction of troops without our consent.

2d. It is our duty to guard against trouble and inconveniences.

We are surprised that troops should come in contrary to General Lee's promises.

We apprehend great difficulties, General Lee indisposed.

We cannot trust every man at the head of troops.

Tyranny from every quarter is equal.

The Committee produced their credentials, which give them the command.

A Letter from Colonel Thomas Palmer, dated 25th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Newburgh, January 25, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: The Convention for this County, at their last session, passed a resolve that no person shall enlist under a Minute-Captain in any other town or precinct within this County, except that in which he resides. What views the Convention had in passing this resolve, I know not; but the consequences resulting from it is already too conspicuous to our damage, as it is the only means whereby two Minute-Companies, now recruiting, (the one in New-Windsor, and the other in Newburgh Precinct,) cannot be filled up, as their former mode having been to fill up their companies out of the different precincts, in such manner as to be nearest their officers, and most compact and handy for exercising their men, which, in my opinion, is the most eligible; and, in that way, the companies which are already raised, and whose time wont expire until Spring, were filled up, and a considerable part of those companies made up out of the precincts of New-Windsor and Newburgh, so that the two companies now recruiting, being under the restriction of the said County resolve, cannot obtain a competent number of men. And, even suppose we were just now setting out to raise Minute-Men under the limits of such a resolution, it would be most absurd in its nature, as the number of the Militia are more or less according to the extent and popularity of the town and precincts, and the fourth of the Militia, in some, may not amount to a company, and, in others, more, and, perhaps, not quite two companies; so that it is absolutely necessary that the Minute-Captains may raise their companies any where, (at least,) within one Militia-Regiment, in which he may reside.

This affair is likely to make much uneasiness; and had this not happened, the companies would easily been made out, without the disagreeable necessity for balloting, agreeable to your late resolve, which will be a step that many begin to grumble at, for, some say, by that means there is a compulsion on men who are disaffected to the cause, as well as to such other persons as the circumstances of their families, &c., may render it disagreeable to be obliged to turn out; and acts of constraint ought, if possible, to be avoided. I must, therefore, beg you will take the premises into your immediate consideration; and, should you be of opinion with me, that the said resolve is attended with the consequences aforesaid, that you will be pleased, by a resolution of your House, to counteract the same by a line to the Chairman of the said Convention, or by some such other ways and means as, in your wisdom, you may judge best. I need not remind you that the resolves of the County Conventions and Sub-Committees within this Province, are ever subject to your approbation or disapprobation.

"I beg leave to observe, with the utmost concern, that no measures are yet going on for expediting our fortifications at Poaplopen's Point. The river being now frozen, so that the timber for the barrack, which now chiefly lies at New-Windsor, may be carried in sleds down to Poaplopen's Point, which is most necessary, in order for a house for labourers, and no better time than the present for collecting other necessities back in the woods, and bringing them on the spot, in order for the fortification.

"I am, gentlemen, with due respect, your most obedient, and most humble servant,

"THOMAS PALMER.

"To the Honourable Committee of Safety, New-York."

Die Jovis, 3 ho. P. M., February 1, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands, Mr. Brewster.

A Letter from the Delegates of this Colony at Continental Congress, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Philadelphia, January 30, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: We had the honour of writing to you yesterday by Mr. Lynch. We now set down to say a word or two respecting the case of Mr. Foster. Sorry as we are that the privilege granted by our Convention to that gentleman has led him into inconveniences, yet the restraint upon exporting live stock is grounded upon such solid reasons, and appeared so essential to Congress, that we are persuaded it will be in vain to ask for a relaxation in this or any instance. We have consulted some of our Congress friends, who are of the same opinion, and have satisfied Mr. Foster that it will be to no purpose to make the proposition.

"We hope, however, you may think of some method of putting it in his power, in another way, to make up his losses, which will give us particular pleasure.

"The other matters contained in that despatch, we shall consider and act upon with all diligence.

"We have the honour to be, with the greatest respect, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants,

"JAMES DUANE,

"HENRY WISNER,

"WILLIAM FLOYD.

"To the Honourable Committee, New-York."

A Letter from the Committee of Kingston, in Ulster County, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Kingston, January 27, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: We have received the prisoners sent to us by Captain Van Wyck. After perusing your letter and orders relative to the prisoners, we ordered a guard of our Grenadiers to take them, and sent them, pursuant to your orders, to our jail, where they will be safe, we think.

"In any respect, where we can be of service to the cause of American liberty, we cheerfully and willingly will do, to guard against the machinations, schemes, and stratagems, of the common foes of the American liberty.

"We respectfully remain, gentlemen, your most obedient. By order of the Committee present:

"WILLIAM ELSWORTH, Chairman.

"To the Honourable Committee of Safety, New-York."

A Letter from Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, in answer to the order of this Committee, relating to the introduction of General Lee's Troops, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"New-York, February 1, 1776.

"Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, present their compliments to the Committee of Safety of this Colony. They have received the order of their Board, but are under a necessity of informing them that they cannot undertake that the troops commanded by General Lee shall be under the entire direction of the Committee or Provincial Congress, as that would be to exceed any powers lodged in them by the Continental Congress. They cannot see the propriety of this order, after the conference had by them with Colonel McDougall and Mr. Scott, and the assurances given those gentlemen this morning."

A Letter from Colonel Waterbury, on the same subject, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"February 1, A. D. 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: I have received your orders respecting the admission of the troops under General Lee into the Barracks of this city, and, in reply, must inform you that I have no authority to give up the entire direction of them to the Committee, without orders from the General. In the mean time, the troops are hourly expected, and, as the weather requires that they should be put immediately under cover, I shall, on their arrival, march them into the Barracks. Every care shall be taken to preserve good order and exact discipline among them, until the General comes, when I shall submit this affair to his determination.

"This, by yours to serve,

"DAVID WATERBURY, JUN., Colonel.

"To the Honourable Committee of Safety, New-York."

On reading the Letter of Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, a Committee of the honourable Continental Congress, and the Letter of Colonel Waterbury, now received, this Committee requests the favour of an immediate conference with Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, and hereby inform them that they are now met in Committee, at the Assembly Chamber in the City-Hall, and are ready to attend such conference, at any place those gentlemen may please to appoint.

Ordered, That one of the Secretaries wait on Messrs.

Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, with a copy of the above request.

Mr. Benson, one of the Secretaries, returned, and informed this Committee that Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, will wait on this Committee, in the Assembly Chamber.

Mr. Sands, one of the sub-Committee appointed by the Provincial Congress to freight a Vessel to the West-Indies, with provisions, &c., to purchase arms and ammunition, reports, that, in pursuance of said appointment, he has freighted the Sloop James Richard, Pooler, Master, for St. Eustatia, belonging to Stephen Thorne, and loaded her with provisions, as per invoice, amounting to seven hundred and seventy-seven pounds seven shillings and nine pence, consigned to Mr. Samuel Curson, merchant, there; that the freight of said sloop is, as per agreement, three pounds ten shillings per ton, merchant's tonnage; and in case said sloop is seized by the Ministerial army or navy, in consequence of carrying provisions to said Island, the Congress are to pay to Stephen Thorne, for said sloop, the sum of five hundred pounds, as per agreement annexed. He further reports that, by order of the Committee of Safety, he has loaded the Schooner Polly, Matthew Van Alstyne, Master, whereof Abraham P. Lott and Matthew Van Alstyne are owners, for Martinico, Guadaloupe, and St. Eustatia, with provisions, as per invoice, amounting to one thousand two hundred and seventy-eight pounds two shillings and ten pence, consigned to said master, to purchase arms and ammunition; that the freight agreed for is three pounds ten shillings per ton, merchant's tonnage; and in case said schooner is seized in consequence of carrying provisions to said Islands, the Congress are to pay to Abraham P. Lott and M. Van Alstyne the sum of five hundred pounds, as per agreement, also annexed. As, also, has loaded the Sloop Sally, Wilkie Dodge, Master, whereof himself is owner, for Curacao, with provisions, as per invoice, amounting to one thousand one hundred and thirty-two pounds eight shillings and eleven pence, consigned to Mr. Isaac Gouverneur, merchant, there, to purchase duck, flints, and ammunition; that the freight of said sloop is as the former, at three pounds ten shillings per ton, merchant's tonnage; and in case said sloop is seized in consequence of carrying provisions to said Island, the Congress are to pay for said vessel to said Comfort Sands the sum of six hundred and fifty pounds.

He further reports, that in order to get said vessels out of this port, he has been obliged to give bonds to the Custom-House to land said cargoes in some of the English Islands in the West-Indies, and requests the Committee of Safety will indemnify him from said bonds.

Mr. Sands delivered in the agreements made by him for the respective vessels above-mentioned, and the invoices and bills of lading, and papers relating to the said several vessels and cargoes, which are now filed.

The above Report being read, and fully approved of, the Committee agrees that the said Report, and the several agreements therein mentioned, stand confirmed, and be considered as the agreements of the Committee of Safety, made for and on behalf of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, and on their account and risk.

And Resolved, That the said Comfort Sands shall be, and hereby is, fully indemnified by this Committee of Safety, and the Provincial Congress of this Colony for the time being, against any bonds which he has entered into at the Custom-House for the said vessels and cargoes, or on account of lading and sending them to sea, or either of them; and that, in case any costs or damages shall accrue or be suffered by the said Comfort Sands, or his representatives, by means of entering into such bonds, or either of them, all such costs and damages as may arise, happen, or accrue by means thereof shall be borne by this Colony; and the said Comfort Sands having now delivered in the accounts of the cargoes or loadings of the said several vessels, amounting, in the whole, to the sum of three thousand one hundred and eighty-seven pounds eighteen shillings and eleven pence, and therein credited the sum of two thousand five hundred pounds, received by virtue of an order of the Provincial Congress, of the 19th December last, whereby a balance of six hundred and eighty-seven pounds eighteen shillings and eleven pence is stated as due the said Comfort Sands, the Committee not having hitherto had time to examine and audit the said account, that Mr. Sands may not continue so large a sum in advance for the publick service,

Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, pay to Comfort Sands, on account of the Moneys he has advanced for the publick service, by order of the Provincial Congress and of this Committee of Safety, in purchasing the Cargoes for sundry Vessels, the sum of six hundred Pounds on account, and that Mr. Livingston take Mr. Sands's receipt for the same.

Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, the Committee of the Continental Congress, attended the Committee, and were introduced. The Committee of Safety informed those gentlemen that their answer to the order of this Committee occasioned this conference. The Committee of Safety, on their part, suggested that, as General Lee, by his letter, had informed them that he would delay the main body of his troops on the frontiers of Connecticut until after his arrival; that as those troops are introducing into the Colony, without any particular order of the Continental Congress known to this Committee, and Major-General Lee, who was to have preceded those troops, and had the command of them, detained by indisposition, the Committee of Safety conceive that those troops ought not to be introduced into the city on any other condition than under their direction; that the dignity of this Colony in the Continental Union, and their duty to their constituents to preserve their liberties, and prevent any manoeuvre or accident that may endanger the safety of the city, or cause the removal of the inhabitants at this inclement season of the year, in their opinion, forbids the introduction of those troops on any other condition, for the present.

The gentlemen of the Committee of Continental Congress then informed this Committee that Congress, in consequence of having received a copy of the letter of the Committee of Safety to General Lee, had appointed them a Committee to confer with General Lee and this Committee; that no service or matter whatever should be undertaken by those troops, until such conference had. They then produced their credentials from Congress, whereby the directions of those troops are given to the gentlemen of that Committee. They further assured the Committee that General Lee, knowing that they were here, by his instructions to Colonel Waterbury, had directed those troops to be under their command; that they would, as far as in their power, take care that the troops should be kept under good government and discipline until General Lee's arrival, and for that purpose they had given particular directions to Colonel Waterbury.

The Committee thereupon were satisfied, and declared they were contented, as those troops are under the command of the Committee of Continental Congress.

Die Veneris, 10 ho. A. M., February 2, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke.

Colonel Curtenius attended by request. He informed the Committee that he had examined the one hundred Muskets at Mr. Jecamiah Allen's, which were directed for Lord Sterling, and that they are good and in order. The Committee being further informed that Jecamiah Allen has fifty other Muskets ready, and that he requests an order for one hundred Pounds on account,

Thereupon, Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, advance to Mr. Jecamiah Allen the sum of one hundred Pounds, on account of moneys due to him from the Provincial Congress for Muskets, and that Mr. Livingston take Mr. Jecamiah Allen's receipt for the same.

Ordered, That Colonel Curtenius, as Commissary of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, purchase all the good Muskets and Firelocks, fit for use, that he can procure, and that he direct the Gunsmiths not to sell any Muskets out of this Colony.

3 ho. P. M., February 2, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Clarke, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Sands.

A Letter from Colonel Joseph Drake, dated the 31st January, and received yesterday, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"January 31, 1776.

"SIR: I received yours, per express, yesterday. Last night, sent and apprehended Josiah Burrell, Thomas Hains, and Isaac Gidney, whom I have sent forward to you, under guard. The others have not been apprehended yet, but shall endeavour to have them secured, if possible.

"I am, sir, your very humble servant,

"JOSEPH DRAKE.

"To Joseph Hallett, Chairman of the Committee of Safety, New-York."

Ordered, That the said Josiah Burrell, Thomas Hains, and Isaac Gidney, be brought down to this Committee for examination.

Josiah Burrell: Says he lives on Rye-Neck; that he knows William Lownsbury. Being asked, who was with him when he spiked up the guns, answered, that he does not know who was with him; that he knows nothing about spiking up the guns. On Wednesday, the 17th ultimo, in the night, William Lownsbury, Joshua Gidney, Thomas Hains, James Hains, Jun., William Hains, and himself, were at John Gidney's; that he did not carry any sledge or sledges; does not know whether any were carried; does not know who spiked up the guns. Being asked, if the company had any sledges, answered, that it could not be worth while to carry sledges.

Isaac Gidney: Says he lives on Rye-Neck; is a smith; never worked up any files for William Lownsbury; does not know of any person who did work them; that William Lownsbury and Josiah Burrell employed him to make hatchel-teeth; that he made them of steel; that he made about two hundred; made them of bar-steel; that he did part of the work in the day and part in the evening; that he worked only one evening; that Joseph Purdy assisted him that evening; that he had not any intimation from Lownsbury what those hatchel-teeth were for, or that they were for spiking the cannon. That he never delivered them in a bag; that he never declared to any person that they were in a bag; that Joshua Gidney came to his shop and took the bag; that after the hatchel-teeth were made, he had a mistrust what they were for; that Lownsbury asked him to work files to make hatchel-teeth; that he told them they were unhandy to work; that this was before Lownsbury brought him the steel; that he made about two hundred spikes; that he did not think they looked like hatchel-teeth, but that Lownsbury gave him a sample to make them by; that he never saw any hatchel-teeth so large; that people call him a Tory; that no other person, to his remembrance, was present when Joshua Gidney took the bag; that Joshua Gidney took the bag; that he is uncertain, but thinks he asked for Lownsbury's bag; that he, this examinant, answered it was there, he could take it; that Joseph Purdy assisted to make them.

Thomas Hains: That he lives at Rye-Neck; is a son of James Hains; that he did not go with William Lownsbury and others to spike up the guns; was not with them at John Gidney's; that he knows nothing about the matter; never was at the cannon.

Josiah Burrell being again examined, says, he never saw any cannon spiked, and does not know who spiked them; after some time, acknowledged that he did meet with William Lownsbury, Joshua Gidney, Thomas Hains, Isaac Hains, Jun., and William Hains, at Joshua Gidney's; that they came as far as Valentine's, and in return, some of their party went to the guns; that he did employ Isaac Gidney to make hatchel-teeth, very large; that he had about sixty made; that he afterwards threw them away, and does not know where they are. Being frequently asked, acknowledged that their party did set out with a design to spike up the guns; that he came to New-York when the vessel laid up in the North-River; that he went on board of a vessel there; that a person there spoke to him about spiking the guns; that he does not know the man; that he went on board of a sloop to see Hains; that he went on board of the Governour's ship, to deliver a letter for Avery, the Minister at Rye; that James Hains told that he afterwards went on board of the said sloop, and heard the same matter about spiking the guns spoke of by some person.

Thomas Hains called in, and confronted with Josiah Burrell. Thomas Hains says he knows Josiah Burrell. Josiah Burrell says he is the Thomas Hains who went with them to the guns, and was along with them.

Josiah Burrell says he never was promised any reward for spiking the guns; that he has signed the Association, soon after its first appearance for that purpose; that he does not know who got the spikes; they all assisted to carry them; that he does not know who got the sledge; that he never saw the guns spiked, and does not know who did it; that there were six of the party, and does not know which of them spiked them; that, after going from Valentine's, he threw the hatchel-teeth which he got made into Bronx-River.

Thomas Hains called in again and examined, acknowledges that he was at Joshua Gidney's, in the evening, about a month ago; that James Hains came in there; that they said they were going to take a walk; asked him to go, and did not know what they were going about; that they walked twelve miles from where they set out, and so far back; that he came to Gidney's about evening; that William Lownsbury, Joshua Gidney, Josiah Burrell, William Hains, and James Hains, were with him; that he does not know who spiked up the guns; that they had caps on; that he had a Dutch Kilnarnock cap on; wore it to keep his head warm; did not know that his party spiked up the guns.

Ordered, That the prisoners, Josiah Burrell, Thomas Hains, and Isaac Gidney, be remanded prisoners to the Barracks, and kept in safe and secure custody; and Ordered, That the said Josiah Burrell and Thomas Hains be severally manacled and shackled, hands and feet, and strictly guarded until the further order of this Committee; and, in the interim, that no person be suffered to speak to them, or either of them, or to the said Isaac Gidney, but in the presence and hearing of the officer of the guard, and that no letter or paper writings be permitted to pass between either of the said prisoners and any other person, or persons, whomsoever, and that each of them be denied the use of pen, ink and paper.

Ordered, That Colonel McDougall see that this order be duly executed.

Die Sabbati, 10 ho. A. M., February 3, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sands, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. Scott.

Colonel McDougall informed the Committee, that the Continental Congress have two pair of brass Field-Pieces here, but not entirely finished; that one pair of those Cannon are wanted, immediately, at the Camp, at Cambridge; that the Continental Guns are at least as good as those of this Colony; that it will forward the service to send off two of the brass Field-Pieces of this Colony, with their carriages, immediately, to be replaced by those now finishing for the Continent, if that should be agreeable to this Committee.

Thereupon this Committee freely consents that one pair of the brass Field-Pieces, with their carriages, be immediately forwarded to General Washington, in such manner as Philip Livingston, Esquire, shall think proper to direct.

A Letter from Arondt Van Hook, setting forth his merits, offering his service as a Captain in the Troops to be raised in this Colony, and a Letter from Henry G. Livingston and William Smith Livingston, recommending the said Aaron Van Hook, for his mental qualifications, were read and filed.

Messrs. Garret Abeel, Patrick Dennis, and Abraham Brinkerhoff, a sub-Committee of the City Committee, attended, and came into this Committee, and informed that a motion was yesterday evening made and seconded in their Committee, to delay the exportation of Flax-Seed, by Smith Ramadge, who has purchased from Nicholas Low a privilege to export that article for Ireland, as part of the exports allowed for the Powder imported in a vessel of Isaac Gouverneur's, until the sense of the Continental Congress is known; that finally the City Committee had directed their sub-Committee to make inquiry on that subject, of all the Continental Delegates now in this city, and of this Committee of Safety. They, also, further inform, that Mr. Harrison, one of the Continental Delegates, had informed them that the Committee of Philadelphia had laid that matter before Congress very lately, but that no determination was given thereon when he left Congress.

The said sub-Committee further mentioned, as given to them in charge to inform this Committee, that their Committee have a sub-Committee to examine and inspect all exports; that sundry vessels are lading, and have been laded; that when called on by their Committee, the shippers only answer that they have leave of the Committee of Safety; by means whereof the Association may be eluded, and that attempts of that kind have been made.

Thereupon this Committee informed the sub-Committee that they would write to the Delegates of this Colony on the subject of the Flax-Seed, and Ordered, That one of the Secretaries give a certificate to Messrs. Bancker and Ray, the sub-Committee of this City, for exports of the amount, in value, to which Isaac Gouverneur's consignatory is allowed to export produce, and that the like certificates be given by the Secretaries in any future cases of this kind.

Two Prisoners were brought to the door by several of the inhabitants, and were ordered to be brought in.

Thomas Vernon, one of the prisoners brought in.

Stephen Steel examined as witness, says, that last Summer, as he was returning at different times from training, this Thomas Vernon told him he hoped to see Light-Horse raised here, and that, as he had been formerly of such a corps, Governour Tryon would put him into the Light-Horse, and they would drive the Americans; that he has heard him often say he would take up arms against the Americans whenever he had an opportunity, and spoke of spilling their blood; that Vernon frequently goes on board of the ships-of-war; that since he was taken up and carried before the City Committee, he heard him, near Doctor Jones's, threaten the Americans, and very often speak against the Americans.

Thomas Vernon says, he went on board of the men-of-war by Governour Tryon's order, and was on board of them yesterday, and delivered two thousand oysters on board of each ship. Vernon says he will fight for either King or country, wherever he can get pay.

Stephen Steel further says, that Vernon was with his boat, at the off-side of the man-of-war, and laid alongside some time; that the man-of-war did not bring his boat to that evening, as she was returning to the city, though she brought the other boats to; that when he came on shore, Vernon acknowledged he had been on board, and said it was to carry his bedding on board. Stephen Steel further says, he saw sixty shot in his yard, and a boy told him afterwards that they were carried on board of the man-of-war, and that they were then gone out of his yard.

Lawrence Brasher, another witness, declares he has frequently, at different times, heard Stephen Steel declare the same facts about Vernon which he has now testified.

Guerney Ten Eyck: Says he was hired by Thomas Vernon, has been three days in the boat; that he assisted the said Thomas Vernon, and, by his order, to put two thousand oysters on board of the Dutchess, and two thousand on board of the Asia, and two thousand on board of the Phenix; that this was yesterday; that the night before last they lay with their boat alongside of the Dutchess-of-Gordon, and the ships' boats from the man-of-war came, and they delivered four thousand oysters on board of their boats; that yesterday Vernon with his boat went alongside of the different men-of-war; that he, the said Guerney Ten Eyck, went by order of Vernon, and hopes he is not culpable. Ten Eyck further says, that he did not know that the boat was to go on board of, or to the man-of-war, when he left the shore in the boat.

The prisoners were taken out.

Guerney Ten Eyck called in, was told from the Chair that if he is found going on board again he will be punished according to his demerits, as it is against a Resolution of Congress; that he be very careful, for the future, of his conduct.

He was, thereupon, discharged.

Ordered, That Thomas Vernon be conveyed to the Guard-House, at the Barracks, and that he be there confined in safe custody, and that he provide himself with provisions at his own expense, until the further order of this Committee.

Die Sabbati, 3 ho. P M., February 3, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. Brewster, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Oothoudt.

Samuel Ileton, the pilot, returned from the Hook, and informs that he is just landed from the Hook; that about eleven o'clock, the day before yesterday, viz, on Thursday last, he saw a large ship off, about east-southeast from the light-house, twelve or fourteen leagues from the Hook; appeared so large that he took her for a man-of-war; that yesterday morning she lay at anchor without the outward middle; that yesterday afternoon about three or four o'clock, Francis James's pilot-boat came near said ship, and beat round under her lee, and, as he supposes, put a pilot on board; that the said pilot-boat beat round her several times, and about four o'clock the ship got under way, and came up within the middle, and came to an anchor about eight o'clock last night within the middle; that they saw a second large ship this morning, off about eight or nine leagues from the Hook, as he imagined; that the ship he left at anchor has bright sides and quarter-pieces, no head; has a mizen-topgallant yard across; does not appear deep loaded; that James's boat took the pilot out of the Pennsylvania-Farmer and proceeded to the ship; that James's boat came up yesterday and went down to-day; that the schooner Tender went down this morning with a pennant hoisted, and jack at bowsprit end; when the schooner came within a mile of the ship he hove her ensign out, and the ship hove her ensign out; that the schooner proceeded and anchored near the ship, and was there when he came away; that he met James's boat near the buoy, at the west bank, this day, as she was going down; that they heard one gun fired on their way up; Killigrove, or one of his company, carried out the Farmer; Jack Squillion was, also, taken out of Mr. Lowther's sloop by James's boat.

A draft of a Letter (at the request of Philip Livingston, Esq.,) to the Committee of Stamford, in Connecticut, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit:

GENTLEMEN: By the bearers, whose names are under-written, we send you two pieces of brass ordnance, with their carriages and harness, for the Continental service at Cambridge. Please to give a particular receipt for them to the bearers, and forward them with all possible expedition to General Washington, directing the persons by whom you forward them to take receipts for them as they deliver them.

We have been directed to forward them in carts or wagons, to prevent jarring the fellows of the wheels or injuring the carriages, and to forward them by land. It will be necessary to forward them by every means that will be most expeditious, and to take great care that the trunnions of the field-pieces are not broken or injured, nor the carriages defaced.

We are, respectfully, gentlemen, your very humble servants.

To the Committee for the Town of Stamford, Connecticut.

Mr. Comfort Sands informed the Committee that Mr. John Ramsay is willing to devote his whole time to manage and direct the manufacturing Linen and Tow-Cloth, and the employing the poor with the money put into his hands for that purpose, for five per cent. as a compensation for his trouble in the premises. The Committee are of opinion Mr. Ramsay is a very proper person for that business, and agrees to allow to him five per cent. for his trouble in the premises.

Ordered, That Comfort Sands purchase Wood in small parcels, as he may have opportunity, not to exceed, in the whole, the sum of fifty cords, and distribute the same among the very necessitous poor, and that he bring in the account to this Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. John Foster purchase all the good Tow-Cloth which he can procure, on account of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, not to exceed two shillings per yard in price, and that Mr. Foster send the same in small quantities, as fast as he can procure it, by safe conveyances, to Mr. Peter T. Curtenius, at New-York; and Ordered, That Peter Van Brugh Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, advance to Mr. John Foster, for the purchase of such Tow-Cloth, the sum of fifty pounds, upon account, and take Mr. Foster's receipt for the same.

Die Solis, 3 ho. P. M., February 4, 1776.

The Committee met on summons for that purpose.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Sands, Mr. Othoudt, Colonel McDougall. Mr. Scott came past four o'clock. Mr. Clarke, in ill health, came past six o'clock.

The Committee met on the account of the transport that came up into the harbour, and the report that the Mercury and two other transports are below.

A request in the words following was sent to the Honourable Hugh Wallace:

3 ho. P. M., February 4, 1776.

SIR: The Committee of Safety now met in the Assembly Chamber, at the City-Hall, present their compliments to the Honourable Hugh Wallace, and request the favour of him to call on the Committee as soon as possible.

A like request, mutatis mutandis, was sent to his Worship Mr. Mayor.

Ordered, That John Atherton, the pilot who was taken up by some of the inhabitants this morning, and sent to the Guard-House, be brought down for examination.

John Atherton being examined, says, in substance, that he went on board his boat to lodge; that some persons came on board of his boat, and took him on board of Governor Tryon's ship, and from thence on board of the armed schooner Tender; that he could not avoid piloting her down, and up again; that he did not pilot the ship Sally, or the transport Brigantine.

William Frundau, of the City of New-York, Branch Pilot: Says that two or three days he desired John Atherton and Nicholas James to draw their boat to the shore, and haul her up, and that he also desired William Marriner and Robert Cocks to speak to them, and give them the same advice; that they said the man-of-war had her in possession, and they could not do any thing with her; that he has very frequently seen the said John Atherton and Nicholas James going on board of the Phenix, and that they keep passing and repassing from the boat to the Phenix every day; that this morning he charged John Atherton that he went down with the schooner Tender; that Atherton at first denied it; that he, the examinant, said to Atherton, that he could prove it; that after some time, Atherton acknowledged that he had gone down with the schooner, and asked him what could he do, he would starve in the city without employ, and attempted to justify his conduct. That Francis James came, and took his clothes off the wharf, and has got his boat off, and told his sons there were two hundred men on board the brig, but that he, Frundau, thinks there are no troops on board; that the other day, after Atherton was sent to this Committee, after he returned, Frundau asked him, how he had settled with the Committee, and Atherton said he had clubbed with the Committee, and settled the account.

Mr. Jacobus Van Zandt came to visit the Committee; he then informed them that Atherton goes frequently on board of the Phenix; that he told him the other day he would not loose business, for any Committee, &c., &c. The substance of further particulars of Mr. Van Zandt's testimony could not be reduced to writing.

Ordered, That Atherton be sent back to the Guard-House.

The Honourable Hugh Wallace attended: Says he has not heard any thing but what he has heard on shore, as to any transports being below. That a Midshipman, who came with Captain Parker on board of the Governor's ship, told him the Mercury is below, and from Boston, in about a fortnight, and had letters on board for him. That a gentleman came on board of the Dutchess, with Captain Parker; the Governor was called out into Harvey's dining room; and that he, Mr. Wallace, was informed, that when that gentleman's cloak opened, he had red lapels; that he believes this brig is from Boston, and a transport; that he heard the address of the House of Commons read; that it re-echoes the King's speech; that he intends to go on board of the Governor's ship this afternoon; and has promised some gentlemen on the bridge that if he hears any thing of importance to the city, will inform of it.

Mr. Mayor: Says that he has not heard any thing but what he heard on the bridge; that he should have waited on the Governor, but that the Governor has sent him a card, requesting him to wait on him to-morrow; that if he hears of any thing necessary for the safety of the city, he will make the best use of it.

William Frundau is directed to proceed immediately to the Narrows, and to take a trusty person with him, who can ride, and with a good spy-glass; that he stay at Cortelyou's, and that, on sight of any fleet, he immediately despatch his rider, with information, to this Committee; and a proper signal to be made in the day, and, also, a proper signal to be made in the night, in case the weather should not permit to cross the ferry immediately, were fixed on with the said Frundau.

Samuel Isleton, the pilot, was, also, called in, and directed to proceed immediately, with the whale-boat, and his oarsmen to the Hook, and to keep the best look-out if any fleet is approaching; and to examine, if any fleet appears, whether there are any troops on board, and to give the most immediate notice of his discoveries to this Committee. Samuel Isleton is to tarry one week, if no fleet appears sooner; is to have the same pay as before, to wit, ten shillings a day for himself, and eight shillings a day for each of his men. They are to find their own provisions, and bear their own expense.

Colonel McDougall went to wait on General Lee, and to form an arrangement of duty for the night.

Mr. Jacobus Van Zandt came into the Committee, and informed them that he has good information, and to be relied on, that General Clinton is come; but, whither it was General Clinton, or his Aid-de-camp, who came on board of the Governor's ship, he has not yet discovered.

Philip Livingston returned to the Committee, with Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, the Committee of the Continental Congress. After a short conversation on the present state of the city, and the intelligence received, Ordered, That the Letter from General Washington, of the 8th of January last, be read.

And the same was read accordingly.

Thereupon, the Committee from the Continental Congress, together with Philip Livingston, Esq., from Continental Congress, and John M. Scott, Esq., from this Committee, and Mr. Hobart, of the Provincial Congress, departed to wait on Major-General Lee, and confer with him on the present situation of affairs, and an arrangement for the evening.

Mr. Mayor came into the Committee, and informed that the Governor had sent for him; that he waited on the Governor, and saw General Clinton there; that he is authorized by the Governor to assure the inhabitants that no troops are coming here; General Clinton declared the same; that the Governor said General Clinton called to pay him a short visit; that if any transports with troops should, by accident, or stress of weather, put in here, they are not intended to remain here.

Colonel Brasher was despatched to inform General Lee, and the gentlemen there assembled, of the information received from his Worship the Mayor.

Messrs. Scott and McDougall returned, separately, from General Lee; Colonel McDougall informed the Committee, that the arrangement of the duty and guard for the night is settled by General Lee, and that he has delivered the same to the Town-Major.

The Committee conceive it necessary to inform the Continental Congress, through the New-York Delegates, of General Lee's arrival, and of the arrival of the transports, and General Clinton, of the Ministerial troops.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to the Delegates of the Colony of New-York, was read and approved, and is in the words following, to wit:

GENTLEMEN: We think it our duty to inform the Continental Congress, through you, that General Clinton, of the Ministerial troops, and one transport, are this day arrived here, but we do not know that she contains any troops; that the Mercury, ship-of-war, is near Nutten-Island, coming into port. We are well informed that those vessels left Boston not more than fourteen days ago.

The Mayor has, this evening, declared to us, that he was then come from Governor Tryon, and is authorized by the Governor to assure the inhabitants that no troops are coming here; that General Clinton was present, and said that no troops are coming here; that Governor Tryon further told him, that General Clinton had only called to pay him a short visit; that if any transport, with troops, should, by accident, or stress of weather, put in here, they are not intended to remain here. We do not rely on this information, but if it be true, we conceive that the most natural conclusion is that he is going to the southward.

Major-General Lee is arrived here this day, ill with the gout. He has about seven hundred men now here, and has sent over for Lord Stirling's Regiment.

We are, most respectfully, gentlemen, your obedient, humble servants. By order.

The Colonels and Lieutenant-Colonels of three Regiments, of the city, being assembled, near the Hall, were requested to come into the Committee. After some conversation on the state of their respective regiments, they were requested and directed to call out their respective regiments to-morrow, to know the state and number of their arms, and of the men, in their respective regiments, fit for duty, and to enable them to make proper returns to this Committee.

Thereupon, Ordered further, That Colonel Curtenius be directed, and he is hereby directed, to deliver to the Colonels of the regiments of the Militia of this city, respectively, so many Flints as will enable them to provide each man in their respective regiments with three Flints.

And Ordered, That the Colonels, respectively, do, at their discretion, distribute three Flints to each such man, in their respective regiments, as they may think ought to be supplied therewith.

The Committee of Safety being informed that the First Battalion of the city of New-York is on duty this night, and considering that they cannot want the assistance of Lieutenant-Colonel Brasher to-morrow, and that he must attend the Committee sooner than usual, and having entire confidence in the other Field-Officers of that battalion, as equal to any emergency, the Committee enjoin Lieutenant-Colonel Brasher that he do not attend duty with his regiment this night.

10 ho. A. M., February 5, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Tredwell, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Mr. Oothoudt.

The Committee sent Mr. McKesson, one of their Secretaries, to inform Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, the Committee of Congress, that they conceive, that as General Lee is to remove this morning, that it may be most agreeable to his situation to wait on him at three o'clock, or after, but that the Committee are ready to attend the General, and those gentlemen, at any hour.

The Secretary returned, and informed the Committee of Safety that the Committee of Congress would prefer the morning to wait on General Lee, and requests the Committee of Safety to send to General Lee, to know when he can receive them. The Committee of Congress request an express to be furnished to them to proceed immediately to Philadelphia.

Ordered, That the Doorkeeper go immediately and procure an Express; and.

Ordered, That Mr. Benson, one of the Secretaries, wait on General Lee, and know when it will be convenient for him to receive the Committee of Congress and this Committee.

Mr. Benson returned, and informed that he found General Lee in bed, and not yet removed; but that he said he would be taken out of bed, and be ready to receive both Committees in an hour.

Ordered, That Mr. Benson inform the Committee of Congress thereof.

John Lamb, the cartman, being here, ready to go express to Philadelphia, at the request of the Committee of Congress, was sent to the gentlemen of that Committee, (with Mr. Benson,) to receive their despatches. He returned with the despatches, and the Committee of Safety having nothing to transmit, he was ordered to proceed with all possible despatch.

The Committee being informed that Messrs. Joseph Jadwin and Gilbert Giles are going to Albany, and several of the Members being well acquainted with those gentlemen, believe them prudent and trusty, and very proper persons to take the care of and convey the money, designed for the use of the Canadian Regiment, to General Schuyler.

Therefore, Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esquire, as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, or his Deputy, deliver to Messrs. Joseph Jadwin and Gilbert Giles the sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars, and take their receipt for the same, to be conveyed to General Schuyler, for the use of the Canadian Regiment, and that they convey the same, with the greatest watchfulness, care and attention, and deliver the same to General Schuyler.

The Committee of the Continental Congress having called on the Committee of Safety, they proceeded to wait on General Lee. After some considerable time spent with General Lee in conference, General Lee informed the other gentlemen that Mr. Smith, the Engineer, had been out to view the ground about Horn's Hook, and that he is now gone to Long-Island for the same purpose. General Lee, also, proposed to go, to-morrow, to view Hellgate; and, thereupon, the conference was adjourned, till to-morrow evening.

5 ho. P. M., Die Lamm, February 5, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. Sands.

A Letter from William Smith, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Suffolk County, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Suffolk County, January 24, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: In pursuance to your order, we have appointed the Field-Officers for the Minute-Men in this County, and, also, the officers for the Artillery company; which companies, we trust, will be some security to this County, at the same time this Committee beg leave to mention, that the Militia of this County but little exceeds two thousand. The great exposedness of the east end, and the extensiveness of the County, induces us to desire such number of Continental troops may be stationed here as the Congress in their wisdom shall judge necessary; we make no doubt the Continent proposes to protect and defend this Island, and hope you will use your endeavours that a sufficient force may be posted here for that purpose.

"We have a number of poor men in this County, who are good soldiers, and friends to the cause, and would be glad to enlist as Minute-Men, but have no guns; we should be glad to know if a number can be procured at the publick expense, for such persons as are unable to purchase them.

"The situation of this County in many parts makes it extremely difficult to raise and train the Minute-Men; they complain they are not sufficiently paid, considering the great distance they have to travel, many eight, ten, and twelve miles, and that on foot, to exercise. The officers, also, on the same account, are at considerable expense, besides the expense raising their companies, and pray they may be considered. By order of the Committee:

"WILLIAM SMITH, Chairman.

"To the Honourable Provincial Congress, New-York."

"A list of the Officers of the Minute-Men approved and chosen by the County Committee :

"Josiah Smith, Colonel; John Hulbert, Second Colonel; Isaac Reeve, First Major; Jonathan Baker, Second Major; Isaac Overton, Adjutant; Ebenezer Dayton, Quartermaster.

"Officers of the Artillery: William Rogers, Captain; John Franks, Captain-Lieutenant; Jeremiah Rogers, First Lieutenant; Thomas Baker, Second Lieutenant; John Tuthill, Lieutenant Fire-Worker.

"By order of the Committee :

"WILLIAM SMITH, Chairman."

Ordered, That Commissions issue for the gentlemen therein named, and that the residue of that Letter remain for the consideration of the Provincial Congress.

[Commissions issued, dated February 20, 1776.]

Die Martis, 10 ho. A. M., February 6, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Joseph Hallett, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Sands, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Oothoudt, Colonel Pierre Van Cortlandt.

A Letter from Lord Stirling, sent by a Corporal of his Troops, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit :

"Elizabethtown, February 5, 1776.

"SIR: By the powder ordered for us by the Continental Congress not being yet arrived at this place, I am under the necessity of asking the favour of the New-York Committee of Safety to send five thousand cartridges, (of the size of the New-Jersey Provincial arms,) to Påulus-Hook, to be there by ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

"I am, sir, your most humble servant, "STIRLING.

"To the Chairman of the Committee of Safety, New-York."

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to Lord Stirling, in answer to his Letter, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit :

MY LORD: We are favoured with your letter of yesterday. We have examined the bearer, and cannot discover the bore of the arms of your troops, or the size of the cartridges that would be useful for them. We are informed that your troops are at present supplied with six rounds each.

If, sir, you will direct a cartridge of the size necessary for your troops to be sent over to us as a sample, we will send you the number desired, if so many of that size we have, or can procure.

We have the honour to be, with the highest respect and esteem, my Lord, your Lordship's most humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

Two of the Members being necessarily obliged to go out with Major-General Lee, on business of importance, for want of a sufficient number of Members to form a quorum, no material business could be done, and the Committee adjourned.

As soon as the Committee could form a quorum in the afternoon, they were requested to attend a conference at Major-General Lee's.

At a Conference held at Major-General Lee's, in New-York, February 6, 1776:

Present: Colonel Harrison, Mr. Lynch, Mr. Allen, a Committee of the honourable Continental Congress.

Major-General Lee, of the Continental Army.

Mr. Hallett, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Oothoudt, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Colonel Pierre Van Cortlandt, of the Committee of Safety of New-York.

It is the opinion of the gentlemen present—

First. That a secure, fortified lodgment, for the troops that now are, or may hereafter be at the city of New-York, should be made at such place or places as Major-General Lee, or such other Continental officer as may command here, shall think most proper for preventing the Ministerial troops from taking possession of this city.

That to the same end, as well as for the protection of Nassau-Island:

Second. Such intrenched Encampment, and such other works should be made on Nassau-Island, and at such place, or places, on that Island, as Major-General Lee, or such other Continental officer as may command at New-York, shall think necessary.

And that for the purposes aforesaid :

Third. Such works should be erected near Hellgate as will entirely secure that pass.

Memorandum.—The Committee of Safety at New-York are informed by Colonel Pierre Van Cortlandt, one of their members, that the Powder-Mill of the late Judge Livingston is now re-erected in the completest order for manufacturing Gunpowder, and that a proper manufacturer and workmen are there attending. But that the manufacturer proposes to depart soon unless Saltpetre can be procured.

The Committee of Safety conceive, that if there is Saltpetre at Philadelphia it might safely be conveyed through New-Jersey to New-Windsor, Kingston, or any part on Hudson's River, and are humbly of opinion that, at this critical juncture, every opportunity of manufacturing Gunpowder should be embraced.

By order of the Committee of Safety:

JOHN MCKESSON, Secretary.

N. B. There is a large quantity of Sulphur deposited near the said Powder-Mill.

Ordered, That Mr. John McKesson deliver a certified copy of the matters of this conference to the Committee of the honourable Continental Congress, and receive from those gentlemen a copy of the Resolutions of Congress, which those gentlemen have as credentials, and which they have proposed to deliver.

The Committee of Safety returned to the Assembly Chamber in the City-Hall, and, afterwards, adjourned.

Die Mercurii, 10 ho. A. M., February 7, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Joseph Hallett, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Scott, Colonel Cortlandt, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Oothoudt, and many Members of the Provincial Congress, but not Members sufficient to make a Congress.

Mr. Samuel Franklin informed the Committee and the Members of Congress present, that his ship Sally, loaded with salt, and in the custody of Captain Parker, or his order, is in great danger from the ice. That Captain Parker is willing that he should cause the said ship Sally to be brought to Lupton's wharf, on his giving security to have her kept safe and returned to Captain Parker on his request; and Mr. Franklin requested the advice and direction of the Committee of Safety in that matter. Mr. Franklin withdrew.

After some time spent thereon, the Committee of Safety and the Members of Congress are of opinion that they ought not to give any directions therein to Mr. Franklin, for which they assigned to him their reasons.

The Committee of Safety adjourned to Simmons's, without separating.

A Message was sent to Samuel Bayard, Jun., Esq., and Augustus Van Cortlandt, Esq., respectfully requesting them respectively to attend this Committee.

Samuel Bayard, Jun., Esq., attended the Committee. He was informed that this Committee, and the inhabitants in general, are of opinion that the Records of the Colony under his care are in danger in their present situation, and that they ought to be removed to a place of safety under the care and direction of Mr. Bayard. That there is not any intention to take the Records out of his care and protection.

Mr. Bayard was asked if he had any place for that purpose in view, and was informed that he would consider of this matter till to-morrow noon, and advise with his friends, and request the direction of his Excellency the Governor and the Council, if he thought it necessary, and inform the result to this Committee, to-morrow at noon.

A Letter of this morning, from Henry Remsen, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of the City, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Wednesday Morning.

"SIR: I have, this morning, had an application for a permit to send on board the Asia two hogheads of spirits, two dozen of coffee, and one dozen of chocolate. I beg leave, by your means, to receive the sense of the Committee of Safety on this matter, to serve as a guide in future applications of the same nature.

"A Mr. Serle applied last evening to the City Committee for a pass to go on board the Dutchess of Gordon, under pretence of procuring a patent for lands, but on examining him, he discovered an intimate knowledge of Colonel Warner's proceedings in raising men to march into Canada, and the proceedings of the townships in the northern parts of this and Boston Governments. He is to call for an answer this day, and many of our Committee were of opinion that it was not advisable to grant him a permit without leave from our superiors.

"I am, respectfully, sir, your most obedient servant,

"HENRY REMSEN.

"To Joseph Hallett, Esq.

"P. S. I cannot wait on you in person, being detained by several people."

A draft of an answer to Henry Remsen, Esq., was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

SIR: We are, this morning, favoured with your letter. We are much at a loss to conjecture by whose means an application was made to you for supplying the ship Asia with the stores mentioned in your letter, as all supplies for the ships stationed here have hitherto been made by order of the Provincial Congress, or the Committee of Safety in pursuance of their order, and through Abram Lott, Esq.

We could more readily form a judgment on this matter if we knew by whom the application was made. We, therefore, delay giving our sentiments on this subject until we hear further from you.

We highly approve of your having refused permission to Mr. Serle to go on board of the Dutchess, and we wish the City Committee would give such effectual directions as that he might be prevented from going on board.

We are, most respectfully, sir, your most obedient, humble servants. By order of the Committee.

To John Remsen, Esq., present.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

Mr. John Cozine, Deputy to Augustus Van Cortlandt, Esq., the Town Clerk, on behalf of Mr. Van Cortlandt, waited on the Committee of Safety. He informed the Committee that all the Records of the Town Clerk's office, are, for the present, removed to a proper place for that purpose, at the Yonkers, in Westchester County; which is satisfactory to the Committee of Safety.

4 ho. P. M., February 7, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Joseph Hallett, Esquire, Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Van Cortlandt, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. Sands. Mr. Scott, a little before the Committee adjourned.*

Ordered, That Colonel Curtenius, as Commissary of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, procure three Medicine-Chests for the Regiments to be raised in this Colony, and that Doctor John Jones and Doctor Treat be requested to give an inventory of the Medicines and Instru-

*The Petition of JOHN PELL to the Provincial Congress for the City and Province of New-York, sheweth:

That your petitioner has been under the necessity of removing his family (of which he has a large one) out of this city at this critical juncture; that his wife is in a poor state of health, and cannot dispense with his presence, as she is incapable to provide for herself and family among strangers, without your petitioner. This is, therefore, to beg of this honourable Board, that they will permit his petitioner to take with him a small parcel of salt, which he has on hand, about three or four hundred bushels, as it will be attended with great inconvenience and expense to your petitioner, to attend the sale of so inconsiderable a quantity of salt, your petitioner having no other business in this city at present.

JOHN PELL.

New-York, February 7, 1776.

To the Honourable the Committee of Safety for the City of New-York, the humble Petition of MARGARET GRAHAM, of the said City, humbly sheweth:

That your petitioner's husband now lies a prisoner in the Barracks of this city, afflicted with a most inveterate indisposition of body; add to this, his being surrounded with a part of His Honour General Lee's troops. Your Honours well know his situation renders him obnoxious to severe and sharp invectives from them. What from his company, and from his weakly and disordered habit of body, he is now brought to a truly deplorable state—to a state of the most striking and poignant ments necessary for each of the said Medicine-Chests, and that those gentlemen be further requested to give proper directions that the said Instruments be good, and such as they shall approve of, and to see that the said Instruments and Medicines, respectively, be good of their kinds and qualities.

A Return of Gilbert Potter, Chairman of the Committee of Huntington, was read and filed.

It is thereby certified that Stephen Kelly and Ebenezer Platt, two of the Committee, had inspected the election of Officers, at Cow-Harbour, the Fifth Company of Huntington. That Platt Veal was chosen Captain; Michael Heart was chosen First Lieutenant; Isaac Dennis, Second Lieutenant, and Jacob Concklin, Ensign.

Another Return, of Thomas Weeks and Jesse Brush, two of the Committee of Huntington, was read and filed.

They thereby certify that, upon due notification, the following gentlemen were duly elected, according to the Resolves of Congress, to wit: John Buffett, Captain; Isaac Thompson, First Lieutenant; Zebulon Ketchum, Second Lieutenant, and Joseph Ketchum, Ensign.

Commissions issued accordingly.

A. M., February 8, 1776.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. M. Graham.

Samuel Bayard, Jun., Esq., agreeable to the proposal of yesterday, that he should consider of removing the Records, consult his friends, and the Governour and Council, if he thought necessary, and report the result this day at noon, called on the Committee. Mr. Bayard informed the Committee that he had waited on Governour Tryon yesterday, and informed him that the Committee were of opinion that the Records of the Colony were unsafe in their present situation, and ought to be removed to a place of safety, and were willing that his Excellency should give order therein for their removal to a place of safety. That his Excellency replied, that he did not conceive the Records were in any danger, unless there was an intention to annoy His Majesty's ships in the harbour, or remove the artillery, but that if either of these matters were in contemplation, his Excellency was willing to charter any ship in the harbour, and deposit the records therein, and that they should be kept there in safety for the publick, and should not receive any injury from the King's ships; but that he would not assent to their removal from their present situation, to any place on shore, as he did not conceive there was any other place of greater security.

4 ho. P. M., Die Jovis, February 8, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. M. Graham.

The Committee were informed by a Member that Major-General Lee stands in present need of some cash for the Continental Troops, and requests the Committee of Safety to advance him some money on Continental account.

Thereupon, Ordered, That Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., as Treasurer of the Provincial Congress of this despondency! His indisposition of body can be evinced to your Honours by Doctor William Brownjohn, if necessary. Indeed, his case is truly affecting! His life is now almost insupportable to him. I daily convey provisions to him, but am prohibited from any conference with him; however, I sometimes break through bounds, impelled by conjugal affection, and endeavour to sooth his affliction. But, alas! it is all in vain! He raises his head, views me with wild anxiety—with horror and despair imprinted on his face. I am ordered away, severely reprimanded, my heart rent with anguish, to see the partner of my life reduced to—good God, I cannot describe to what—I want words—sorrow drowns me. Your Honours, in alleviating the distress which now envelopes my poor emaciated husband, and myself, by either ordering him to be removed to the common jail of this city, or admitting him to bail, will ever have the prayers of a distressed woman, the plaudits of all the great and good, the admiration of the humane, and the approbation of the just God, who delighteth in mercy. I can assure your Honours, that if my poor husband is not soon relieved from his complicated calamities, he cannot, in my opinion, survive many days. In such case, your petitioner would be miserable beyond description.

Your Honours, in taking the premises into consideration, and granting the prayer of your petitioner, will lay your petitioner, and her poor husband, under the greatest of obligations possible. And your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall forever pray.

MARGARET GRAHAM.

New-York, February 7, 1776.

Colony, advance one thousand dollars to Major-General Lee, on account of the Continental Congress, and that Mr. Livingston take Major-General Lee's receipt for the same.

A Letter from Major-General Schuyler, of 25th January, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Albany, January 25, 1776.

"SIR: I am honoured with your letters of the 11th and 17th instant. Your observations in the first, respecting the Paymaster, appear to me to be founded in error. The Paymaster-General's duty is to receive money from the Treasury, and to issue that money upon my warrant. He has it not in his power to issue a single farthing without such a warrant; so that, if he was with you, you would be under the necessity of an equal trouble in the applications, and I could only grant money for expenditures immediately connected with the Army. Hence, you see that the attendance of such a Paymaster at New-York would avail you little.

"The resolutions of Congress, copy of which you enclosed in yours of the 17th, I had already before received from Mr. Hancock. By the resolution respecting the provisions and stores to be sent to Fort-George, I cannot believe Congress intended any thing more than that you should supply me with what I might want, on application. The almost impossibility of sending a large quantity from New-York to Fort-George, at this season, will countenance this construction.

"The resolutions for sending up shipwrights to build batteaus appears to me to have proceeded from a want of information. I have requested Congress to countermand this order, and have given the following reasons: that one Albany shipwright will do nearly as much at that kind of work as two that are not accustomed to it; and I can also make them work early and late, which the others will not: besides, there will be a great saving in the travelling charges. You will, therefore, please not to send me any until I apply for them. I can easily conceive that it is very difficult at New-York for artificers to procure a subsistence for their families; the like difficulty prevails here.

"I shall write to Congress, by this post, respecting the batteauxmen. Before your letter came to hand, I conceived that I was to have issued orders for engaging them.

"I expect soon to hear from Congress on the subject of the Naval Department, and shall then, unless I am otherwise ordered, apply to you for seamen.

"Be assured, sir, that I shall at all times, with the greatest alacrity, consent to any requisition you may be pleased to make, provided I can do it consistent with my duty. Beyond that I know you will never wish me to go.

"I am, sir, with the most respectful sentiments, yours and the Committee's most obedient, humble servant,

"PHILIP SCHUYLER.

"To Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Safety, New-York."

A Letter from Colonel Ritzema, dated at Montreal, the 3d of January, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Montreal, January 3, 1776.

"DEAR SIR: This morning we experienced a sad reverse of fortune. Mr. Antill arrived here, express from Quebec, with the following intelligence: That General Montgomery, on the 31st ultimo, between the hours of five and seven in the morning, after a previous disposition of his small army, made two attacks upon the lower town, under a feigned one upon the upper. The first was conducted by one Captain Browne, with ninety-four men, one of the real attacks by the General himself, at or below Cape-Diamond, with four hundred and sixty-six men, and the other by Colonel Arnold, with the men he brought with him by the way of Kennebeck, and Lamb's Artillery company, amounting to five hundred and sixty men, through St. Roque's, at the other end of the town. The General forced his way through the first picket or barrier, without receiving a shot. At the next, which, if he had also forced, would have given him a free passage into the town, he was received with a heavy fire of musketry and two field-pieces, which caused his troops to fall back in disorder. The General, while he was endeavouring to rally these dastardly scoundrels, received his coup-de-grave, as did also his Aids-de-camp, Macpherson and Captain Cheeseman, of my regiment. Thus fell one worthy and brave General. Weep, America, for thou hast lost one of thy most virtuous and bravest sons! When the General was missing, though the surviving officers exerted themselves to the utmost, they found it in vain to attempt bringing the men to a charge, which induced Colonel Campbell to bring them off. Colonel Arnold, with his party, passed the St. Roque's, and approached near a two-gun battery, well picketed in, without being discovered. His men forced the pickets, and carried the battery, after an hour's resistance. In the attack, the Colonel was shot through the leg, and was obliged to be carried off, after gaining the battery. His detachment pushed on to a second barrier, running from Limeburner's Wharf, in the lower town, which they possessed themselves of, where they now maintain themselves in the houses, without any possibility of being supported; so that they must either carry the lower town, be made prisoners, or be cut to pieces.

"This, sir, is all the account we have hitherto received of this disastrous event. We are momentarily under the utmost anxiety of mind, expecting to hear the fate of those brave men. God grant it may be happy.

"Our misfortune is, in a great measure, owing to the anxiety some of the troops were under of returning home, they having declared (Arnold's men) that they would remain no longer than to the 1st of this month, for which time they were engaged, which obliged the General to precipitate matters, and to change his intended mode of attack, which was to have attacked the upper and lower towns at the same time: the main attack to be upon the upper, which it was impossible for him to effect at that juncture, from the notice the enemy had of his intention, by deserters from us. This, I trust, will be a warning to America not to enlist men for any limited time, but for so long a time as they shall be wanted. No man, but one, in the service, can be sensible how fatal this limitation of time is to all military operations. Before the soldiers can be in any wise disciplined, their time of service is expired, and as that approaches they become mutinous and disobedient. I will venture to say that, unless a change takes place in this respect, America must fall a sacrifice to her enemies. Without discipline, no obedience; without obedience, no duty. In short, discipline gives confidence, and is the very soul of an army.

"Two months have now elapsed since we have had the least intelligence from the southward. General Montgomery, before he set out for Quebec, acquainted the Continental Congress and his friends in New-York with our then miserable situation. The troops in general going home, those who remained naked and without clothing, and not a farthing to pay them with, I myself, at the General's instance, acquainted Colonel McDougall with our weak state, and pressed him, with all the rhetoric I was master of, to exert himself to the utmost that we not only had money sent us to pay the troops, but men to reinforce our different garrisons, and augment the army. Our few English friends have been stripped of their money and goods, to clothe the men, and pay them their wages, in part. French friends, to assist us, we have none. The peasantry are, in general, at present, for us, but I believe from no other motive than that we are the strongest side. Some few may be attached to us from principle; sure I am the majority are not, and would, on the least reverse, as soon take arms against us for us. We are now in a wretched plight: our excellent General dead and defeated; a great probability that the flower of his army is cut to pieces; our garrisons weak and feeble, not able to spare a man for the assistance of our friends; the soldiers mutinous, and with little discipline; not a sous to pay them with, which makes them so, and (shall I say it?) no one capable to command them. For God's sake, sir, exert yourself. I have exaggerated nothing. Let us have men and money; otherwise, by Heavens, Canada is lost. Cast about for a General to command us. He must be a military man, of sound intellects, and an affable deportment. General Lee, in my opinion, is the man. I speak my sentiments freely. I mean to give no offence, nor to attack the character of any gentleman; but what I say proceeds from a real regard for the welfare of my country.

"I have more to write, but, as the express is going off,

I am obliged to stop. Pray be so kind as to remember me to my father, and acquaint him that I continue in health. Desire him, if there is no probability of a peace, that he gives up my house.

"I am, sir, with esteem, your humble servant,
"RUDOLPHUS RITZEMA.

"P. S. Though I have taken the liberty of addressing these lines to you, I shall be glad you would communicate it to our friends in Congress."

A Letter from Colonel Ritzema, dated at Montreal, on the 5th of January, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Montreal, January 5, 1776.

"DEAR SIR: I acquainted you the 3d instant, with the disastrous event at Quebeck; the fate of Arnold's detachment is determined: it was obliged to surrender at discretion—thus, the madness of one man has nearly ruined our cause in this country, to which our worthy General has fallen a sacrifice. For God's sake let us have men and money, and, above all, a General, that we may take the town before the enemy can come to its relief, and relieve our worthy brethren in it.

"Pray be so kind as to inform Judge Livingston of the death of General Montgomery: he was shot through the head and both his thighs. General Carleton buried him with military honours, as, also, Macpherson and Cheeseman. The enemy has taken all the artillery we had before Quebeck, and I am very apprehensive, if they make a sortie, that they will either cut to pieces, or take prisoners the rest of the Army there, it being impossible for us to send them any assistance from hence: if we should do it, we hazard all we have done the last Summer. The most that can be expected from us, is to maintain our ground here, and keep a watchful eye towards the Canadians; this we are bent upon doing, till succour arrives, be the consequence what it may to ourselves. Our garrison does not exceed four hundred effective men—a small number to awe such a country as this.

"I am, sir, with respect, your very humble servant,
"RUDOLPHUS RITZEMA.

"To Peter V. B. Livingston, Esq., or, in his absence, to the President of the Provincial Congress, New-York."

A Letter from John R. Livingston, dated January 27th, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Clare-Mont, January 27, 1776.

"SIR: Some time since, I received a letter from Mr. Van Cortlandt, President of the Committee of Safety, during the recess of Congress, desiring that the powder-mill might again be built, as it was, in some measure, of public utility. I have, accordingly, pushed the building of it, and am now happy to inform you that it is finished; but are, notwithstanding, still obliged to be idle, for want of saltpetre. As there is a large quantity of that article arrived at Philadelphia, should think myself under obligations, if you would procure a part of it, to be sent across the country to the mill, which may easily be effected, as great part of the way they will have snow.

"I remain, sir, your most obedient servant,
"JOHN R. LIVINGSTON.

"The President of the Honourable the Provincial Congress, sitting at New-York."

Ordered, That the Secretaries prepare a copy of the Letter from John R. Livingston, relating to his Powder-Mill, and transmit the same to the Delegates of this Colony at Congress.

A Letter from William Floyd, Esq., one of the Delegates of this Colony at Congress, dated the 5th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Philadelphia, February 5, 1776.

"SIR: I forwarded, by Mr. Lynch and Mr. Allen, a sum of money to the honourable Committee of Safety, with a few lines, advising what that money was intended for; and by your letter to us, wherein you mention you would forward it to General Schuyler, and the small sum to the Marine Committee, I fear our letter must have been misunderstood; therefore, I trouble you with this. The forty thousand dollars was for Mr. Lewis, from the Marine Committee; the twelve thousand five hundred dollars, for the raising the Battalion for Canada, and the small sum of one hundred and some odd dollars, were sent to Mr. Lewis, to pay off some accounts charged against the Rifle companies, in passing through our Province. I hope it is not yet otherwise disposed of; if it is, it may impede Mr. Lewis's proceeding agreeable to his directions.

"I am, with the greatest respect, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,
"WILLIAM FLOYD.

"To the Honourable Congress, or Committee of Safety, New-York."

"P. S. If it is not sent off, please deliver it to Mr. Lewis's son."

A Letter from Thomas Thomas, Esq., Chairman of a Committee at the White-Plains, dated January 25th, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Committee Chamber, White Plains, }
January 25, 1776.

"SIR: We received your favour of the 8th instant, respecting the powder sent for the use of the County, and observed its contents. Are sensible of the propriety of our County's being furnished with that article, and beg that you, in your wisdom, would order that it be a Provincial charge; for we conceive it to be extremely hard, as we are a frontier County, that we should purchase ammunition, and expend it to the advantage of the Province in general. As to disposing of it to individuals, many, that will take an active part, are not able to purchase it; and we will see that it be deposited into discreet hands, to be distributed, when necessary, to be used in the defence of the liberties of the country.

"I am, respectfully, sir, your most obedient servant,
"Signed by order of the Committee.

"THOMAS THOMAS, Chairman."

Die Veneris, 10 ho. A. M., February 9, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Tredwell, Mr. M. Graham, Mr. Oothoudt, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Colonel Brasher.

Colonel McDougall informed the Committee, that General Lee is of opinion, that the two Connecticut Regiments, and Lord Stirling's, will not be sufficient for the services he will have to perform; and had desired to know whether it would be agreeable to the Committee, that he should send to Pennsylvania for a regiment from thence.

After some time spent in consideration thereof, Resolved, That if General Lee shall think it necessary to call in the aid of any other Troops than the two Connecticut Regiments, and Lord Stirling's Regiment, that he be authorized, and in such case is hereby authorized, to call in as many of the Minute-Men, of this Colony, as he shall at any time think necessary.

Mr. Sands brought in an account of Wood and other necessities of various kinds, supplied to the poor by himself and Petrus Byvanck, Abraham P. Lott, and others, under his direction, by order of this Committee of Safety, agreeable to a resolution of the Provincial Congress. The said Account being examined and approved of, amounts to one hundred and thirty Pounds and three Pence.

Ordered, That Mr. John Ramsay pay to Comfort Sands, one hundred and thirty Pounds and three Pence, out of the Moneys put into his hands, for employing the necessitous poor of this city, and that Mr. Ramsay take Mr. Sands's receipt for the same.

Ordered, That Peter T. Curtenius, as Commissary of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, purchase such a number of Saws, and of such sizes and qualities as Colonel McDougall shall direct; and that he have the same collected at his store for the use of General Lee's Troops, as soon as possible.

A Return of Robert Graham and John Thomas, Jun., two of the Committee of Westchester County, was read and filed. They thereby certify, that at an election for Militia Officers, in Harrison's Precinct, in Westchester County, under their inspection, John Thomas, minor, was chosen Captain; Gilbert Dusenbury, First Lieutenant; William Woodward, Second Lieutenant; and James Miller, Jun., Ensign.

Ordered, That Commissions issue to those gentlemen, immediately. And they were issued accordingly.

A Return of Michael Hays, Elijah Miller, and Andrew Sniffen, three of the Committee for North-Castle, in Westchester County, bearing date the 25th January, was read and filed. They thereby certify that they superintended an election for Officers in the Third Company of North-Castle; that upon such election Joseph Green was chosen Captain, and Henry Peers, First Lieutenant; and they thereby requested that two blank commissions might be sent for the Second Lieutenant and Ensign, as the Second Lieutenant, since the choice, declines serving.

Ordered, That the said two Commissions be issued, and that two blank Commissions be given to the said Committee of North-Castle for the Second Lieutenant and Ensign of the Third Company of North-Castle.

A Letter from Lord Stirling, dated this day, was read and filed. He therein mentions "that it serves to cover a letter from Samuel Tucker, Esquire, President of the Provincial Congress of New-Jersey, relating to the trade of that Colony." The said letter, from Samuel Tucker, Esquire, was also read and filed.

A copy of sundry Resolutions of the Provincial Congress of New-Jersey, therein enclosed, regulating the trade of the Colony of New-Jersey agreeable to the Resolutions of the Continental Congress, were also read and filed.

Die Sabbati, 10 ho. A. M., February 10, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esquire, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. M. Graham, Colonel Brasher. Colonel McDougall a part of the morning.

Present, also, several Members of Congress, viz: General Woodhull, Colonel G. Drake, Colonel Rensselaer, Gilbert Livingston, Captain Rutgers.

A Letter from Colonel Robert Livingston, of Manor of Livingston, dated the 5th instant, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Manor Livingston, February 5, 1776.

"SIR: Your letter, of the 25th ultimo, did not come to hand before this morning, and I am now set down to answer it.

"I intend, please God, my furnace shall begin her blast early in April, (sooner it will be inconvenient for want of pasture, as I have but a month's stock now on the spot to work upon,) and cannot cart ore or coal before the middle of May, for want of grass, so that, should I begin sooner, it would be almost impossible to continue the blast, consequently very detrimental to my interest. We have cast great quantities of shot for the Army, last war, but no great guns; this we can do. But whether we can cast great guns, I dare not take upon myself to determine. The hearth of my furnace lies low; fear there is not sufficient depth of earth between the surface and the bottom of the creek, if the guns are to be cast on one end. As I am entirely a stranger to the casting of ordnance, and desirous of assisting my country in any thing in my power, wish the gentlemen of the Committee of Safety, if they think it the interest of the community, to send up proper and skilful men, who are acquainted and had experience in casting and moulding of guns, for I have none such to examine my conveniences. If approved of, my furnace and stock shall be at their service on reasonable terms, for I know not how to fix a price. My metal is good, perhaps the best in America.

"I cannot be more particular at present, and am, respectfully, sir, your and the Committee's most humble servant,

"ROBERT LIVINGSTON.

"To Mr. Joseph Hallett."

A Letter from Egbert Benson, Esquire, Chairman of the Committee of Dutchess County, was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Rhinebeck Precinct, Dutchess County, }
"January 29, 1776. }

"SIR: The Committee of this Precinct having been informed that Timothy Doughty, notwithstanding his promise to the Congress, upon his dismission, on the 20th October

last, that he would demean himself in a peaceable and orderly manner, has since declared his intentions to join the Ministerial troops, in the Spring, and in other respects testified a disposition still inimical to the cause of liberty, have ordered him to be apprehended and confined till the pleasure of the Congress shall be known.

"Not only from the disaffection of the County, but as there will be an election at Poughkeepsie, on Tuesday next, and a vast number of people necessarily assemble, we thought it prudent to commit him to the jail in Kingston.

"I am directed to inform you of this matter, with a request that you will please to lay it before the Congress, and acquaint them that we can furnish them with the most ample proofs against Mr. Doughty.

"I remain, by order of the Committee, your most obedient servant,

"EGBERT BENSON, Chairman."

Benjamin Walker informed the Committee that Mr. Yates was informed that his ship was below; that he, Mr. Walker, went down in a pilot-boat, expecting it was Mr. Yates's ship; that when the pilot-boat came within a mile of the ship, they sent out a boat, and pressed John Carleton to pilot the ship up; that he, Benjamin Walker, was present, and knows that they did press him as a pilot; that an officer on board informed him that they had two hundred men on board, and were part of seven thousand men from England, and had been nine weeks at sea.

John Carleton examined: Says he frequently told the Captain that there was not any person on board of his boat who could pilot the ship up, but that they insisted on it, and obliged him to go on board. That Captain Kennedy told him he was under the necessity to press him, and did press him to carry up the ship, and charged him, on pain of death, not to run her aground; that between the banks they saw a wood boat; that a jolly-boat put off from her, and rowed towards the ship, and came within twenty yards; that they then ordered men into the main-tops and on deck; that thereupon a pilot on board of the jolly-boat, who said he had served his time with Fundraw, was taken on board; that near Staten-Island he got on board of his own boat; that the ship Kitty is from Boston; that they said there were two hundred men on board; that he saw between forty and fifty men, as he thinks; that there were eight or nine officers on board; that he told them General Lee was in New-York, and that he supposed there were six thousand forces there; that he understood that ships, in the whole, had sailed with them; that Captain Kennedy told him that the night before he got down, they had forty men on deck, and some men in the main-tops.

Carleton had a Certificate in the words following, to wit:

"I, Captain Kennedy, of the Forty-Fourth Regiment, commanding His Majesty's troops on board of the Kitty, transport, do certify, that I pressed by force, and obliged the bearer, John Carleton, to pilot the above-mentioned ship from Sandy-Hook to New-York.

"Given under my hand, on board the Kitty, February 9, 1776,

"KENNEDY, Captain 44th Reg."

"We certify the above,

"Lieut. BENSON,

"Lieut. JOHN CAMPBELL, } 44th Reg."

Thereupon, a Certificate was given to the said John Carleton, in the words following, to wit:

In Committee of Safety, New-York, February 10, 1776.

The case of John Carleton, as to his having piloted up the transport-ship, Kitty, has, at his own request, been heard by this Committee; and Benjamin Walker, of the city of New-York, merchant, who went down with him in his boat, was examined as a witness.

The Committee of Safety are of opinion that the said John Carleton was innocently brought into such a situation as to be necessarily obliged to pilot the transport-ship Kitty, with troops, and from any evidence that has appeared to us, the said John Carleton ought not to be injured, or considered in a worse light or esteem by the publick on that account.

Colonel Heard attended the Committee of Safety, and produced the several obligations of Samuel Clowes and George Weeks, with their securities, and of Charles Mc-

Evers, for Gabriel G. Ludlow, Esq., inhabitants of Queen's County, whose conduct has been conceived to be inimical to the liberties of the American Colonies, which were read and filed.

Colonel Heard, also, delivered in a certified extract from the Minutes of Continental Congress, relating to sundry persons, inhabitants of Queen's County, in the aforesaid predicament, which was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit :

"In Congress, February 6, 1776.

"Resolved, That Captain Benjamin Whitehead, Joseph French, Esq., John Polhemus, Nathaniel Moor, Samuel Hallett, William Weyman, John Shoals, John Willett, Gilbert Van Wyck, Esq., Daniel Kissam, Esq., Jacob Mott, Charles Hicks, Gabriel G. Ludlow, Samuel Martin, Samuel Clowes, Esq., Thomas Smith, Esq., George Weeks, David Brooks, and John Townsend, be sent to New-York, and delivered to the order of the Convention of that Colony, who are requested to confine or secure the said persons until an inquiry be had, by the Convention, into their conduct, and report thereof made to this Congress.

"Extract from the Minutes.

"CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary."

Colonel Heard earnestly requests the Committee of Safety, as the Provincial Congress is not convened, to give order as to the prisoners in his charge, so as that he may be discharged of the care of those prisoners.

And whereas, Mr. Jacob Mott, one of those persons in custody of Colonel Heard, having, some time ago, by his Petition to this Committee, testified his contrition for his past conduct, and signed the General Association of the inhabitants of this Colony, and engaged to demean himself consistent thereto during the present struggles for the liberties of his country, and was, thereupon, restored to this Committee to his former standing in the community; and whereas, it does not appear that the said Jacob Mott has, at any time, since his restoration, acted or done any thing inconsistent with his engagements; therefore,

Ordered, That the said Jacob Mott be discharged by Colonel Heard, on his first giving his promise parole to this Committee, to appear before the Provincial Congress of this Colony, or this Committee, when thereunto required; and Ordered further, That the other prisoners, above-named, except Gabriel G. Ludlow, Samuel Clowes, and George Weeks, who are not in custody, be placed in any one house or place in this city, altogether, at their own expense, which they shall choose, and that they be there confined under a guard, at their own expense, until the order of the Provincial Congress in the premises, and that Colonel Lasher be requested to furnish a sufficient guard to receive the said prisoners from Colonel Heard, and to guard them until further order.

And this Committee of Safety do hereby signify their high sense of the care and prudence of Colonel Heard, in the execution of his duty as an officer.

4 ho. P. M., February 10, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Pierre Van Cortlandt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Scott, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. M. Graham, Mr. Sands, Colonel McDougall.

Present, also, General Woodhull, Mr. Hobart, Colonel Gilbert Drake.

Colonel Gilbert Drake informed the Committee that sundry persons from Connecticut are purchasing up the barrelled Beef and Pork in Westchester.

Thereupon, the Committee came to the following Resolutions, to wit :

Whereas, the Continental Congress, by their Resolution of the first day of November last, have resolved that no produce of the United Colonies be exported, except from Colony to Colony, under the directions of the Committees of Inspection and Observation, and except from one part to the other of the same Colony, before the first day of March next, without the permission or order of the Continental Congress; and whereas, this Committee of Safety for the Colony of New-York conceives that it is necessary to prevent the sale of all the barrelled Beef and Pork in the County of Westchester, and retain the same for the Continental service in this Colony, as such provisions may be necessary for the Continental Army in this Colony,

Resolved, That the Committee of the County of Westchester be requested to take effectual means to prevent the sale and transportation of any barrelled Beef or Pork out of Westchester County, to any person or persons residing out of this Colony, or for the use of any person or persons residing out of this Colony, until the further order of the Provincial Congress, or of the Committee of Safety of this Colony.

A draft of a Letter to the Committee of Westchester County was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit :

GENTLEMEN: We have been informed by a gentleman from your County, that some of the inhabitants of your County are disposing of their barrelled beef and pork to persons out of the Colony. We apprehend that such provisions will be wanted for the use of the Continental Army in this Colony, and that the service may probably suffer, if all the barrelled provisions are taken out of the Colony; we, therefore, request you to take the most effectual measures to carry the enclosed resolution into execution.

We are, respectfully, gentlemen, your very humble servants.

By order of the Committee of Safety.

To the Committee of the County of Westchester.

John Bridgwater, James Holdin, and Thomas Hyat, all of the city of New-York, Innkeepers, personally came and appeared before the Committee of Safety, and jointly and severally engaged for John Graham, now a prisoner at the Upper Barracks, in manner following:

That the said John Graham will demean himself peaceably, and be of good behaviour towards all the friends of liberty in America, and not do any act, matter, or thing, contrary to any measure directed by the Continental Congress, or the Provincial Congress, or Committee of Safety of this Colony, or any Committee of any City, Town, Precinct, or District, in this or any other of the United Colonies.

And on failure of the said John Graham having complied with this engagement, in any instance, that they, the said John Bridgwater, James Holden, and Thomas Hyat, will surrender the said John Graham a prisoner, to any guard directed by the Provincial Congress, or Committee of Safety of this Colony, or commander of the Continental Army in this Colony, or, in default thereof, severally, bear, pay, sustain, and suffer, such pains and penalties as the said John Graham shall, in such case, be adjudged to bear, pay, sustain, or suffer.

Ordered, That the said John Graham, now a prisoner in the Guard-House, at the Upper Barracks, be discharged.

The Committee of Safety took into consideration the state of Staten-Island, and the danger of the stock being taken off by the Ministerial army and navy. After some time spent therein, General Woodhull and Mr. Hobart, who were present, were requested to confer with General Lee on that matter.

General Woodhull and Mr. Hobart returned from General Lee, and reported that General Lee is of opinion that the stock on Staten-Island ought to be protected, but whether by driving them off, or placing a guard there, he cannot determine; but that he is ready to give any aid in his power, to carry into execution any measure thought necessary by this Committee.

After considering further of the state of Staten-Island, and the report of Brigadier-General Woodhull and Mr. Hobart, they are of opinion that the most prudent step is, to request the Provincial Congress of New-Jersey to send Colonel Heard's Regiment of Minute-Men to Staten-Island, to prevent depredations on the stock.

Thereupon, a draft of a Letter to the Provincial Congress of New-Jersey was read and approved of, and is in the words following, to wit :

In Committee of Safety, New-York, February 10, 1776.

SIR: Upon communication with Major-General Lee, we are fully convinced that the live-stock on Staten-Island should be immediately taken care of.

The entrance of General Clinton into our port, on pretence of merely paying a visit to Governour Tryon, though he has been followed by a transport with troops, which we have good reason to believe are only a part of six hundred that embarked with him at Boston, renders it highly probable that some lodgment of troops was intended to be made in or near this city. The precautions that have been taken to prevent the execution of such intentions will, it is hoped, render it ineffectual; and it is now given out that the General intends to depart from us without loss of time. However, it must be most obviously improper to strip this city, at present, of any part of its defence.

Colonel Heard and his regiment are near at hand, to secure Staten-Island from depredations. We think his regiment will readily undertake that service, and General Lee thinks nothing less than a regiment will suffice. We, therefore, most earnestly request you to furnish, without delay, the assistance of that regiment, to secure the live-stock of that Island from a depredation that may be attempted on General Clinton's departure from this port, by guarding it on the Island till we have opportunity to determine on the expediency of removing it, hereby declaring our readiness to be answerable in the first instance for the expense of that service.

We are, respectfully, sir, your most obedient and very humble servants.

By order of the Committee.

To the Honourable Samuel Tucker, Esq., President of the Provincial Congress, New-Jersey.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted.

It was suggested to the Committee, that General Lee will have occasion for the Intrenching Tools of this Colony for the use of his Troops while employed here; that it will be necessary for their preservation and the convenience of the Army, to have a person appointed to take care of the said Intrenching Tools, and the other Military Stores of the Colony. And Richard Norwood being recommended for that purpose, Ordered, That Richard Norwood be, and he is hereby appointed, a Commissary, to take the care and delivery out, of all such Military Stores and implements of war, except Cannon, in this City and County of New-York, as shall be from time to time committed to his care, by order of this Committee, or the Provincial Congress; to make no issues without order of the said Congress, or this Committee, or the commanding officer for the time being, of the Continental Troops in this Colony; to take receipts for every issue, to keep exact accounts of every receipt and issue, and to attend, when and where necessary, to receive back any stores that may be, from time to time, issued, and be returnable after service to the said Commissary, for the use of this Colony; and that he be paid for his services, in his said office, as long as he shall be continued in the same, at and after the rate of eighteen and one-third dollars per month.

And it is further Ordered, That he receive all such Military Stores and implements of war as aforesaid, into his care, as are now in the hands of Mr. Curtenius, exchanging proper vouchers with him in that case, and with all others, in all other future cases of receipts and issues.

Colonel McDougall informed this Committee that Major-General Lee, on consulting his Engineer, was of opinion that the Intrenching Tools lately made in this Colony are not sufficiently numerous for the service; and that General Lee has requested him to inform the Committee that an addition of the following articles will be necessary, to wit: Six hundred Pick-Axes, three hundred Hatchets, five hundred Handbarrows, three hundred Wheelbarrows, two hundred Crowbars, (in such form as Captain Smith, the Engineer, shall direct,) five hundred Iron-shod Shovels, or others equally useful.

Ordered, That Colonel Peter T. Curtenius, as Commissary of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, do, with all possible despatch, procure the said Intrenching Tools and Barrows, for the use of the Continental Army in this Colony.

Whereas, the Poor of this City are in great distress, and many of them unable to procure subsistence at this inclement season:

Ordered, That the sum of two hundred Pounds be deposited in the hands of Mr. William Vanderwater and Captain George Janeway, to be applied by them in purchasing barrelled Beef and ship Bread, to be delivered in bags; Turnips and Potatoes, Indian Corn-meal and Oakwood, for and towards the support of such poor inhabitants of this city as may stand in need of assistance for their immediate subsistence. That when the said articles are purchased, Mr. Vanderwater and Captain Janeway do convene the Vestrymen of the several Wards in this city, to the end that they, together, may proportion the quantity of the said articles so purchased, which the Poor of each Ward, from their circumstances, may require; and the said Vestrymen, in their respective Wards, are requested to assist Mr. Vanderwater and Captain Janeway to dispose of the said articles to the poor inhabitants, in such proportion as to them shall appear to be necessary; and that a copy of this order, certified by one of the Secretaries, be a sufficient order to Mr. Vanderwater and Captain Janeway, on Mr. John Ramsey, for the sum of two hundred Pounds, out of the moneys put into his hands by this Committee, for the employment and support of the industrious Poor of this city; and that Mr. Ramsey take the receipt of Mr. Vanderwater and Captain Janeway for that sum.

Die Solis, 10 ho. A. M., February 11, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Colonel McDougall, Mr. Sands, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Scott, Mr. Oothoudt, Mr. M. Graham.

Mr. Henry Oothoudt was unanimously chosen Chairman pro tempore.

This Committee observing that the Cannon and Military Stores, on and near the Battery, are now under removal to other parts of the city, and knowing that this transaction, both in its design and execution, is without the consent of this Committee, and even without their knowledge, otherwise than as discovered from the transaction itself, and as, perhaps, such removal may bring on a firing upon the city, from the ships-of-war in this port, which may greatly endanger the publick Records of this Colony, this Committee is fully of opinion, that the publick Records ought to be immediately removed to a place of greater safety than that in which they now are.

Therefore, Ordered, That the said publick Records of this Colony, together with Samuel Bayard, Jun., Esq., the Deputy-Secretary of this Colony, be forthwith conveyed, under a proper guard of the Militia of the city of New-York, to the dwelling-house of Nicholas Bayard, Esq., Alderman of the Out-Ward of the said city, and be there securely kept under such guard until the further order of the Provincial Congress of this Colony, or of this Committee of Safety; and the said guard are hereby expressly required to permit the said Samuel Bayard, Jun., Esq., to have continual access to, and the direction of the said Records, except that he, and every other person, be prevented from removing them, or any of them, from the place where they are hereby ordered to be deposited, until the further order of the Provincial Congress or of this Committee.

And Ordered, That Colonel Lasher be requested to furnish a proper guard, and see this order executed.

And Ordered, further, That Colonel Lasher fix on such Officers and Company of his Regiment, for this, and any other duty, that may be directed, as he shall think proper, and report the same to this Committee; the Committee hereby giving assurance that provision will be made for the pay and subsistence of such Company, equal to the Continental establishment, while continued in service.

3 ho. P. M., February 11, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Mr. Henry Oothoudt, Chairman, Mr. Scott, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. M. Graham, Mr. Sands, Colonel Brasher, Colonel McDougall.

A Member of the Committee mentioned that Major-General Lee had informed him that Troops were expected to town very speedily, and requested that Barracks or rooms should be provided for them.

The Committee are of opinion, that the placing of the Troops in empty Houses will be less inconvenience to the inhabitants than any other method.

Thereupon, Ordered, That the following gentlemen, to wit: Victor Bicker, Francis Bassett, Nicholas Carmer, Isaac Marschalk, Anthony Abrams, Henry Roome, Jacobus Bogert, Francis Bassett, Petrus Byvanck, Evert Byvanck, and John Elliot, be requested to pass through the several streets of the city, and make a list of the empty Houses in this city, and report the same to this Committee, as soon as possible.

Sundry of those gentlemen being sent for, attended, and on request, engaged to undertake that service. They agreed to meet for that purpose, to-morrow, at nine o'clock; and they are desired to take to their assistance any other prudent citizens whom they may think necessary, and find willing to assist them.

Colonel Ritzema, from Montreal, came to the Committee, and gave information of the present state of Canada, and the troops there.

Colonel Lott came to the Committee, and informed that the Mercury sloop-of-war, and the two transports, which sailed with her, are anchored near Staten-Island. That he met several suspicious persons passing from Paulus-Hook towards Killwaukull Ferry; that he was informed by a person near Killwaukull, that he apprehended that the ship-of-war and transports will commit depredations on the stock there. The Committee are of opinion that the most effectual measure to prevent such depredations is to request the Committee of Elizabethtown to send a parcel of men to protect the stock on Staten-Island from depredations.

In Committee of Safety, New-York, February 11, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The Mercury ship-of-war, with two transports under her convoy, are departed from this city, this afternoon, and we are well informed that they are anchored near Staten-Island.

We are apprehensive that they intend to commit depredations on the stock on Staten-Island. We applied to the Provincial Congress of your Colony yesterday, requesting that Colonel Heard, with some of his troops, should be sent to the Island for a few days, and sent that letter by Colonel Heard. We are apprehensive that Colonel Heard will come too late to prevent any attempt that may be made to take off the stock; we, therefore, earnestly request you, on receipt hereof, to despatch a part of your Militia to such parts of the Island where it is most likely any attempts of that kind may be made, to guard the Island until the said vessels are gone off, or Colonel Heard can arrive to their relief. If their design should be such as we suspect, they may, perhaps, be able to land about two hundred men. Please to inform Colonel Heard of this intelligence, and your proceedings in the premises.

We are, respectfully, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servants. By order of the Committee.

To the Chairman and Members of the Committee Elizabethtown.

Ordered, That a copy thereof be engrossed, and signed by the Chairman, and transmitted by express.

Die Lunæ, 10 ho. A. M., February 12, 1776.

The Committee met pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Henry Oothoudt, Esq., Chairman, Colonel McDougall, Mr. Scott, Colonel Brasher, Mr. Tredwell, Mr. Sands, Mr. M. Graham.

An order from Major-General Lee was read and filed, and is in the words following, to wit:

"Head-Quarters, February 12, 1776.

"SIR: You will give orders to the sentinels on the wharf to suffer those who produce a pass from the Committee of Safety to go on board the Governour's ship.

"CHARLES LEE, Major-General.

"To the Officer commanding the Port Guard."

Mr. Nicholas Low came into the Committee, and informed the Committee that he desires to go on in lading the Brig New-York. The Committee informed him, that they think he may proceed to lade the said Brigantine. Mr. Low, also, requested a permit to lade the Schooner Polly, William Montanye, Master, on account of Mr. Nicholas Gouverneur, with Flaxseed and Lumber.

Thereupon, a permit was given to him, in words following, to wit:

Mr. Nicholas Low is hereby permitted to lade the Schooner Polly, William Montanye, Master, with Flaxseed and Lumber, on account of Mr. Isaac Gouverneur.

Colonel Curtenius, by request, attended the Committee. He was directed, and is hereby requested and directed, to have an exact inventory made of all the Shirts, Blankets, Osnaburghs, Bedding, Linen, and other stores, which now are, or were lately in a room at the Lower Barracks; that he have those goods put in a secure store, under his care, and that he return an inventory thereof to this Committee.

Colonel Curtenius informed the Committee that Major-General Lee had informed him that he has not any Commissary for his Guard, and has applied to him to supply the said Guard with Provisions.

Ordered, That Colonel Curtenius apply to Major-General Lee for his order or directions, what Rations he will order for his Guard, and that Colonel Curtenius supply the General's Guard with Provisions, according to his order, and charge the same to Continental account.

ARTHUR LEE TO BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

London, February 13, 1776.

The enclosed will easily explain itself. The intelligence you should observe, and take measures accordingly. A fund for necessary expenses should be fixed here in such hands as can be confided in. You know who is to be trusted. From experience, I can say, (though without any connection, or commerce with them,) the New-England men are fittest to be trusted in any dangerous or important enterprise. Show this only to R. H. Lee, of Virginia, and he will guess from whence it comes.

The intelligence, if it gets to hand in time, should be communicated as soon as possible to every part of America, that she may be prepared.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 30th of November, 1775, announcing the appointment of a Secret Committee, reached me a few days since. Miscarriages will be manifold, indeed, if you have not frequently heard from me. All my solicitude has been about my letters reaching you; every disguise was necessary to effect that. I am, however, much obliged to the General for the step taken to secure me; yet, I cannot tell to what fatality it is owing, that of the five, two are men of whom I have more diffidence than of any others, I had almost said, through the whole Continent. That I may be explicit, the second and last are men whom I cannot trust. If I am to commit myself into an unreserved correspondence, they must be left out, and L's, or the A's, put in their places. This letter, therefore, is to you, sir, and not to the Committee. I cannot imagine that what I desire can be deemed impertinent, when it is considered that the very purpose of its appointment is, so far as it relates to me, disappointed by these members. The selection of them, instead of inspiring confidence, gives me an apprehension, which I did not feel while they were in the general mass.

You will be curious to know what are the Ministerial intentions, and their force for the next campaign. The following is their army upon paper: Hessians, twelve thousand; Brunswickers, Woelfenbutlers, and Waldeckers, five thousand; six Regiments under Lord Cornwallis, three thousand; eight more, to sail in the Spring, four thousand; Highlanders, two thousand; now in America, eight thousand.

The sailing, and destination of this armament, is thus: Those under General Lord Cornwallis, are now embarked at Cork, and wait for sailing orders; their destination, Virginia. By the treaty, just now signed, the Germans are to be ready on the 27th of this month, to march to the sea-coast and embark, but for what part of America is not exactly known; the march by land is near six weeks, so that they cannot sail before April. The second embarkation from Cork will be about the same time; and, it seems probable, that their destination will be against Canada, under General Burgoyne, who is soliciting that command. In the mean time the Twenty-Ninth Regiment, with General Carleton's brother, is to sail from hence immediately, to reinforce Quebeck, supposing that they can get high enough up the river, as far as the Isle of Orleans, to make good their march by land. The regiments under Lord Cornwallis are the Thirty-Seventh, Thirty-Third, Fifty-Fourth, Fifteenth, Twenty-Eighth, and Forty-Sixth. Those for the Spring, are the Thirty-Fourth, Fifty-Third, Sixty-Second, Third, Ninth, Eleventh, Twentieth, and Twenty-Fourth. Lord Howe is appointed to the command at sea, but the commander on land is not known; certain, however, it is, that there are two Lieutenant-Generals, and one of them old, that go with the Germans, so that it must be some one of great reputation, and old in the service, to command over them. It is therefore conjectured, Count de Lippe will be the man. He commanded the army in Portugal during the last war. They are taking up East-Indiamen for the transport service, supposing they will be able to beat off the cruizers. A great number of artillery and wagon-horses are to be sent, and a train of large battering cannon is preparing, which, it would seem, can only be intended against Quebeck, should it be taken by General Montgomery.

The English and Irish troops go with infinite reluctance, and strong guards are obliged to be kept upon the transports to keep them from deserting by wholesale. The Germans, too, I am well informed, are almost mutinous; but the Landgrave of Hesse is an absolute tyrant, and must be obeyed. It is, therefore, conceived, that if the Congress have proposals prepared in English and German, to distribute among them when they land, which no precautions can prevent, multitudes will desert.

Upon the whole, the Ministry, if every thing favours them, may have about thirty thousand men in America by the latter end of June. They will have no horse but two regiments of Light Dragoons, now there, and Burgoyne's, which is to go. If the Americans have horse well trained to the woods, it will harass such an army infinitely; and, if they act upon the defensive, intrench well, harass them continually, cut off their convoys, and if ever they hazard an engagement, make their push upon one wing; it is imagined here that no General on earth can make the campaign decisive, and it is hardly possible this country can stand another. They have found it impossible to recruit in England, Ireland, or Scotland, though the leading people of the last, are, to a man, violently against America. They have, therefore, been obliged to draft from the other regiments to complete those which are going, so that when the whole are embarked, there will be scarce two thousand men remaining in Ireland, and as many in England, besides the Foot Guards and Cavalry.

I am well assured that the French Government will wink at the exportation of arms and ammunition. A General of the first abilities and experience, would go over, if he could have any assurance from the Congress of keeping his rank; but, that being very high, he would not submit to have any one but an American his superior, and that only in consideration of the confidence due to an American, in a question so peculiarly American.

Let me have your opinion of all these things. The opposition gains ground, and the nation begins to feel; but, America must trust to her own arm, and Heaven for protection. The Resolutions of January 2d do you infinite honour, and will undoubtedly serve the cause. Your conduct, I trust, will be noble, as that is great and good. I know your attachment to the country you have adopted. Prince Ferdinand's recommendation of the General mentioned above, is in these words: "Si l'on veut un officier approuvé intelligent, et brave; je ne sçai si non peut trouver un autre qui le vaille." ["As to experience, intelligence, and valour, I do not know whether another can be found to equal him."]

Your letter of the 30th of November, 1775, cost nineteen shillings and six-pence postage, there was so much superfluous paper; would not a packet sent to some of the Canary Islands, and committed to proper care, reach us safest and soonest? If there is any friend there to be trusted, the opportunities from thence, hither, are frequent. Cover mine, and address it to John Horsfall, Esq., Treasurer, Middle-Temple.

Lieutenant-Governour Colden, New-York.

February 13, 1776,

DEAR SIR: I received, a few days since, yours of the 30th of November, 1775, informing me of the appointment of a Secret Committee. I am sorry, however, to say that, second and last upon the list, are men in whom I cannot confide; and I am not a little surprised that it should so happen that these two men are upon such a Committee, while others are omitted with whom I am known to be in habits of communication and confidence. I therefore trust this with you, and not with the Committee, in whom I cannot repose any confidence, till these two men are removed. I have written to you repeatedly, and by some conveyance which, I think, cannot possibly miscarry.

The enclosed list is the Ministerial army upon paper. In effect, it will amount to about fifteen thousand Germans, and eighteen thousand British; their destination I can now give you with some certainty; four thousand Brunswickers and Waldeckers, with five hundred Hessians from Hanau, are now at Stade, a port in Hanover, ready for immediate embarkation, and destined for Canada, to be joined by the Twenty-Ninth Regiment, and one thousand draughted from the Foot Guards under Colonel Mathews. There is to be another embarkation in the Spring, from Ireland for Canada, and the whole is to be commanded by General Burgoyne, and Carleton I believe recalled.

The second body, being Hessians, are to march this day for Stade, and the third on 14th of next month; these are for Boston. Lord Cornwallis, with six regiments, to sail immediately from Cork for Virginia, where General Clinton is to take the command. They have certain assurances of being joined by the Scotch in Virginia, and those on the borders of North-Carolina, under the command of one McDonald. In the mean time, they have been directed to protect themselves under a treaty of neutrality. Besides this land force, Lord Howe is to have a fleet of seventy-two sail, to block up the coast. For this purpose, large ships are to be stationed at the mouths of the great rivers, and the rest are to cruise at some distance from the coast three deep, but not in file, so as to render it more difficult to cross them—as thus: —. They are to get possession of New-York and Hudson's River, so as to cut off all south and north communication; and they have some idea of attacking Canada too, by Montreal. Halifax is to be their naval magazine.

The Germans are commanded by two Lieutenant-Generals, of whom the eldest is named De Heister, and has some military character. This is the favourable view of their plan. On the contrary, the whole army, native and foreign, is averse to the service, so that it is much apprehended, that if the Provincials are dexterous in throwing among them advantageous propositions, and faithful in performing them, the desertion will be immense. The British troops have not one in five that is a soldier, the rest are boys and debilitated manufacturers, just recruited, at the reduced standard of five feet four inches. A vast number of the best subaltern officers have quitted the service. It is thought they will make Howe Commander-in-chief, which must disgust the German Generals, who are much older. The expense will be immense; the difficulty of providing magazines immense; and another campaign hardly possible. Lord George Sackville is the Minister, with absolute and hated authority, even in the Cabinet. He is a rash, imperious, and unprincipled man, with moderate abilities, and much plausibility, but wholly under the counsels of your countrymen, who push this matter on with blind violence.

Great expectations, too, are entertained from treachery in the Provincials. Dr. Church was in league with others, particularly Fleming, the printer. This I have from Ministerial authority, which may be depended on. They will, also, endeavour to depreciate the Congress paper, by throwing in forged notes. A General of the first rank and abilities, would come over if the Congress would authorize any one to promise him a proper reception. This I had from Mr. Lee, Agent for Massachusetts; but it must be secret with you, as I was not to mention it. Adieu.

[* Governour Colden was a Scotchman.]

Lieutenant-Governour Colden.

GOV. WRIGHT TO HIS MAJESTY'S COUNCIL AT SAVANNAH.

On board His Majesty's Ship Scarborough, at Cockspur, }
February 13, 1776. }

HONOURABLE GENTLEMEN: After using my best endeavours, for upwards of three weeks, to prevail on those in whose hands the present ruling powers are, that the commanders of His Majesty's ships here might obtain assurances that they might come to town, and have a free intercourse with me, without receiving any insult from the people assembled in and about town; also, that the King's ships might be supplied with provisions, on paying the full price or value of it; and finding that the last message relative to these measures, which I desired the Representatives of the town of Savannah to deliver to the persons exercising those powers, was so lightly treated, and so little regarded, as that, although delivered on Tuesday morning, the 6th instant, yet I received no kind of answer to it for five days, nor did I understand whether it was meant to give me any answer, or not; and well knowing that it was essential to His Majesty's service, and the welfare of this Province, that I should have an interview with the King's officers here—for these reasons, and many others which you were made acquainted with, and approved of, I determined, at all events, to attempt coming down here, where I arrived safe at three o'clock yesterday morning;* and, after having examined and duly weighed and considered my several letters from England, and General Howe, at Boston, and after having had a full conversation with His Majesty's officers here, I have the great satisfaction to be able to affirm, from the best authority, that the forces now here will not commit any hostilities against this Province, although full sufficient to reduce and overcome every opposition that could be attempted to be made, and that nothing is meant or wanted, but a friendly intercourse, and a supply of fresh provisions. This may be entirely relied upon. This His Majesty's officers have an undoubted right to expect, and what they insist upon; and this I not only now solemnly require, in His Majesty's name, but, also, as (probably) the best friend the people in Georgia have, advise them, without the least hesitation, to comply with, or it may not be in my power to insure them the continuance of the peace and quietude they now have, if it may be called so.

His Majesty has been graciously pleased to grant me leave to return to England, and (whatever may be thought) my regard for the Province and people is such that I cannot avoid (and possibly for the last time) exhorting the people to save themselves and posterity from that total ruin and destruction which (although they may not yet) I most clearly see is at the threshold of their doors; and I cannot leave them without again warning them, in the most earnest and friendly manner, to desist from their present plans and resolutions. It is still in their power, and, if they will enable me to do it, I will, as far as I can, engage to give, and endeavour to obtain for them, full pardon and forgiveness for all past crimes and offences; and this I conjure them to consider well and most seriously of, before it is too late. But, let things happen as they may, be it remembered that I, this day, in the King's name, offer the people of Georgia the olive-branch, that most

* SAVANNAH, in GEORGIA, February 14, 1776.—His Excellency the Governour, with his family, left this place last Sunday night, and went on board His Majesty's ship Scarborough, lying at Tybee.

Last Thursday, Captain Wright arrived at Tybee, in a schooner, from Grenada, and, next day, a large transport-ship arrived with soldiers from Boston. Lord William Campbell is on board His Majesty's ship Syren.

February 21.—A transport-ship arrived at Cockspur, on the 12th instant, from Boston, with more soldiers.

His Majesty's ship Raven sailed from Tybee on Saturday morning, on a cruise. His Majesty's ship Cherokee, the two transport-ships which lately arrived from Boston, a sloop, and three small vessels, are now lying at anchor, within three miles of this town.

desirable object and inestimable blessing, the return of peace and happiness to them and their posterity.

Captain Barclay has desired me to notify that he is willing and ready to give every assistance in his power to the captains of all such merchant ships as may be legally cleared out, to enable them to proceed on their respective voyages. I am also to acquaint you that the detention of the schooner, on Friday or Saturday last, proceeded entirely from a mistake by the officer who commanded the armed sloop, and that, if the owner will send down, the schooner will not only be delivered up, but any reasonable price paid for the damaged rice that was on board, (part of which has been used to feed hogs and poultry,) or they may take it away again. I am also to mention that the same armed sloop will be sent up to-morrow to Four-Mile-Point, in order to get fresh water, and for no other purpose.

This letter, which I consider of the utmost consequence and importance to the whole people of Georgia, I must desire you will be pleased to communicate to the Congress, if sitting, and, if not, to those who are called the Council of Safety, and especially to the inhabitants of the town and Province, in general, and acquaint them that I shall expect their full and clear answer to every part of it, in a reasonable time.

I am, with perfect esteem, gentlemen, your most obedient and faithful servant,

JAMES WRIGHT.

To the Honourable James Mackay, Esq., and the rest of the Members of His Majesty's Council, at Savannah.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM NEWBERN, NORTH-CAROLINA, DATED FEBRUARY 13, 1776.

An express arrived here yesterday from the back country, informing us that the Regulators and Tories were making head there, and intended marching to Cross-Creek, and from thence to Cape-Fear. I am of opinion they will get well flogged before they reach Cape-Fear, provided they will fight. Our Minute-Men, and part of the Militia, march to-morrow, and will join Colonel Caswell in Dobbs County, from which place he will march in two or three days, with near a thousand men under his command. Colonel John Rutherford informed me, this day, that Colonel Ashe, in New-Hanover County, was on his march, two days ago, against the Regulators, &c., with near two thousand men. If three or four more of our Colonels in this Province raise as many, which I expect will soon be the case, they will be able to attack ten thousand Regulars, and beat them, too, as I think our men will fight with great resolution.

MANIFESTO FROM THOMAS RUTHERFORD, COLONEL OF THE CUMBERLAND (NORTH-CAROLINA) MILITIA.

To the lovers of order and good government:

Whereas, I thought it expedient, for the support of our excellent Constitution, which the rebellious and disaffected have of late endeavoured to overturn, to call a general muster of the County of Cumberland, at Cross-Creek, on Monday, the 12th of this instant; and as, from the idle and false reports spread by wicked and ignorant men, great numbers of His Majesty's liege subjects have failed to attend, and others, who did give their attendance, have shown themselves influenced by those unjust apprehensions of danger:

This, is, therefore, to command, enjoin, beseech, and require all His Majesty's faithful subjects within the County of Cumberland to repair to the King's Royal standard, at Cross-Creek, on or before the 16th present, in order to join the King's army; otherwise, they must expect to fall under the melancholy consequences of a declared rebellion, and expose themselves to the just resentment of an injured, though gracious Sovereign.

THOMAS RUTHERFORD, Colonel.

Cross-Creek, February 13, 1776.

DISTRICT COMMITTEE OF CAROLINE, ETC., VIRGINIA.

At a meeting of the District Committee for the Counties of Caroline, Spottsylvania, King George, and Staff- ford, at the Town-house in Fredericksburgh, February 13, 1776. Present: James Taylor, George Taylor, Walker Taliaferro, Fielding Lewis, Mann Page, Sen., Joseph Brock, William Fitzhugh, Samuel Selden, William Garrett, and George Waugh, Gentlemen.

The said Committee unanimously appointed Fielding Lewis, Gentleman, Chairman, and John Chew, Jun., their Clerk, and then proceeded to the choice of Field-Officers to fill up the several vacancies in the Minute service in the said District; whereupon the following gentlemen were chosen, viz: Richard Johnston, Esq., Colonel, Lewis Willis, Esq., Lieutenant-Colonel, and Andrew Buchanan, Esq., Major.

FIELDING LEWIS, Chairman.

WILLIAM LUX TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Baltimore, February 13, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Captain Charles Wells, of the pilot-boat Chatham, has applied to me to be excused from taking on board the flour which he has engaged to take in on account of the Province, as the gentlemen, who are concerned in the adventure, are afraid it might subject the vessel to a seizure, in case a tender should happen to meet her, either here, or going into Statia. The flour is purchased by us, and has been ever since you were here, and we have been waiting every day for his order to send it down. We cannot undertake to grant the indulgence, without your directions, and he now waits on you for that purpose. If you can allow us to load the sloop I mentioned, this flour may be a part of her cargo in case you permit Captain Wells to leave it out, and I shall be glad to have your answer by him.

I am, most respectfully, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

WILLIAM LUX.

To the Honourable Council of Safety of Maryland.

To the Honourable the Deputies of the Provincial Congress assembled in and for the Province of NEW-YORK.

The humble Petition of WILLIAM DUSENBERRY, Doctor of Physick and Surgery, sheweth:

That your petitioner hath regularly served under Doctor Peter Hufeford, of Westchester County, to acquire a perfect knowledge in that science, and hath long practised in that department, to the general satisfaction of his patients, and hopes, by his experience and the recommendation of his friends, hereunto subscribed, to be heard before the honourable Convention, that, if need be, he may be appointed Doctor, to serve in any one of the battalions, to be now raised within your Province, and the favour shall be gratefully acknowledged by his assiduity to his business.

Your petitioner therefore prays that his petition may be heard, and, as in duty bound, he shall ever pray, &c.

GILBERT COOPER, JOHN COE,
JAMES CHRISTIE, JONAH HALSTED, per order.
JOHN COLEMAN, JOHN SUFRIN, per order.

Orange County, New-York, February 13, 1776.

ABRAHAM GODWIN TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 13, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The love of my country, since my mind has been capable of judging, ever held the predominancy in my breast. I have, therefore, at all times, stepped forward in its defence, when need required it; and now, at this trying crisis, again desire to be employed in my country's cause. For that purpose did I offer my service in the battalion raised in New-Jersey, and my appointment to a company in that Province was agreed upon; but, when the arrangement was nearly concluded, one of the members of the honourable New-Jersey Congress, being desirous of entering the service, I was set aside. I have, therefore, with all despatch, laid my intention before the honourable New-York Congress, and should be glad to have the command of a company bestowed on me in the service, if there is a vacancy. For that purpose I have enlisted the best part of my company already, provided I have a commission granted me, and make no scruple, but shall, in a fortnight, have my full complement of men. And if the honourable Congress shall be compliant to my entreaty, my country shall find me a strenuous supporter of its privileges.

ABRAHAM GODWIN.

To the Honourable New-York Congress.

EGBERT DUMOND TO JOHN MCKESSON.

Kingston, February 13, 1776.

SIR: I am sorry to hear of the alarm at present in your city, which, beyond all doubt, must be the ruin of the place, occasioned by those rascally Tories amongst us, and make no doubt but they will receive their just reward. You remember when I was in Congress last Summer, Colonel Clinton insisted on me to accept of being Lieutenant-Colonel in his regiment; my business, of being Sheriff, would not admit of my going. As I am determined, if any offers of that kind are now offered, I shall have no objections to go and defend the liberties of my country, wherever they please to order me, I need not send any recommendations to the gentlemen of the Congress, as most part of them are well acquainted with my abilities, and my attachment to the cause of liberty, which we are now contending for. This winter, being in Philadelphia, was asked by some of the Delegates there, and told them, I had no objections. Please to mention it to Mr. Jay, and the rest of the gentlemen of your acquaintance, and especially those of Albany, Schenectady, and Tryon, and Col. Ten Broeck, of Dutchess, and shall be obliged to you for your aid in this affair, provided it is consistent with your duty. Beg a few lines from you. Excuse haste. I am, dear sir, yours, &c.,

EGBERT DUMOND.

To John McKesson, Esq., at New-York.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 21, 1776.]

Albany, February 13, 1776.

SIR: Mr. Macarty, who is just arrived from Canada, delivered me the enclosed. He is capable of giving information to Congress which has confirmed me in my opinion of the necessity of sending, immediately, a Committee into Canada.

The New-York Congress have sent me twelve thousand five hundred dollars, to raise a regiment in this quarter, for the Canada service. I have already too much business on my hands, without this addition; but as the General Committee of this County meet on Thursday, I will lay the request before them, and if they think it can be complied with, I will do my endeavours.

I have an infinity of trouble with those people to whom I promised a bounty to march into Canada. Enclose a copy of a letter which I yesterday delivered Colonel Warner. I hope what I have there recommended will meet with the approbation of Congress. If he should be able to form a regiment out of the people mentioned, the number of troops in Canada will, notwithstanding, be less than what Congress intended, as two regiments cannot, by any means, be raised out of the other troops now in Canada. It will, besides, save a very considerable expense, which must necessarily accrue by his men coming away, and others being sent in lieu.

Yesterday, near thirty Oneidas and Mohawks called upon and delivered me a speech; part of it relates to Butler, who is holding a Council at Niagara. They pretend that he may do mischief there, and asked my leave to go and bring him home. I suspect he has failed in his attempts upon the Indians, and that he and his friends have fallen on this method, that he may return with safety to his family in the Mohawk's country. I am not yet determined what answer to give them; at any rate, if he is permitted to come home, we must have some better security than his own word.

I am, sir, most respectfully, your obedient, humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., &c.

P. S. I am informed that the merchants from this place, who are gone to Canada, will certainly bring a considerable quantity of nails from there. I had thoughts of sending for a supply from thence; but, reflecting that hard cash was so difficult to be got, I think it best, upon the whole, to purchase them from the merchants, when they arrive here, although they will come higher. I shall, however, take care that I may not be disappointed in getting them, by immediately writing to General Wooster on the subject.

Yours, &c. &c.,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

Point-aux-Fer, February 7, 1776.

DEAR SIR: As so much depends upon immediate relief in Canada, and a proper arrangement in Canada to carry those intentions into execution, I cannot help being greatly alarmed and much shocked, to hear of the great confusion and irregularity now at Montreal. For particulars, refer you to Mr. Macarty, the bearer, who is a friend to the cause, and may be depended on. Unless those things are put upon a better footing, men's reputations in the service, as well as the service itself, will greatly suffer, and the Canadians will form an indifferent opinion of us.

Colonel Hazen requests me to mention this matter, and am, with respect, your most obedient, humble servant,

EDWARD ANTILL.

To General Schuyler.

Albany, February 12, 1776.

SIR: As many of the men that you raised, in consequence of my orders of the 14th January last, were not marched by the 1st February, and as I informed you, in my letter of the 25th ultimo, that I would not allow any bounty except to such as were marched by that day, and as you now inform me, that many more are marched than what you have received the bounty for, I will supply you with a further sum, on condition that such as were not marched by the first February, but are since marched, do engage to remain in the service, in Canada, or procure others in their stead, for the ensuing campaign, unless sooner discharged. You are, therefore, to make me a return of the names of all such men as were marched before the first day of February, and, also, another return of all such men as are since marched.

As soon as you arrive in Canada, you will try what number of men you can get to remain in Canada, out of those you have sent, and send me their names. All such as will remain for the campaign, you will form into companies, agreeable to the Continental regulations. If any of the men that are gone under Major Cady, will remain, you are also to send me a separate list of them. Perhaps there may be a sufficient number out of both corps to form a regiment. These returns should be sent me immediately, that I may not be at a loss to arrange the Army. I am, &c.

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Warner.

GENERAL WOOSTER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read March 4, 1776.]

Montreal, February 13, 1776.

SIR: Since writing the letter to Congress enclosed with this, I have been considering of the force intended by Congress to be sent into this country. Perhaps I may be mistaken, but I cannot but be of opinion that the Ministry will send a great force into this Province in the Spring, and our every thing depends upon our having a force upon the spot superior to them. In that case we shall keep the Canadians in our interest, otherwise we may depend upon their being our enemies. They will think it necessary to exert themselves against us, in order to make their peace with their former masters. I need not mention to you the almost infinite importance of keeping this Province. Mr. Walker and Mr. Price will tell you what dependance is to be placed in the Canadians. I could wish that ten thousand men might be pushed into this country, by the first of May, which will be a respectable army. Much depends upon the good or ill success of the first encounter, should there be any. I hope, sir, that vigorous exertions for keeping this Province will be properly represented to Congress. Quebeck must be taken before May; yet we have neither proper artillery nor ammunition; however, a sufficient number of men of resolution, I hope, will effect it.

I am, sir, with the greatest respect and esteem, your most obedient and very humble servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., President, &c.

EDWARD MOTT TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

February 13, 1776.

HONoured SIR: The method that General Schuyler hath paid the northern troops off by is (counting the number of days they have been in the service, and then to count every thirty days for a month, which makes better than twenty pounds, lawful money, wages,) more to each company than the rolls made up by our Pay-Table; and, likewise, the billet-rolls he allows one dollar per week, which is one hundred dollars more to each company than is recovered by the rolls sent up from our Pay-Table; and, also, the money advanced to deserters, hath not been properly stated on the rolls that hath been sent up from said Pay-Table; all which makes about sixty pounds, lawful money, loss, to each company from this Colony, which is allowed to the troops from the other Colonies of the Northern Army; all which might be allowed, if properly applied for. Even on the rolls that have been settled, I dare say the General would allow the balance, if some proper person should be sent to represent the case and request the balance.

The whole of the difference, in the manner of making up the rolls, will, in my opinion, make two thousand pounds difference to this Colony.

The expense my subalterns were at when sent down with the sick, and the money stopped on account of what I received more than the Pay-Table mean to allow, I hope your Honour will not forget.

I am your Honour's most obedient and humble servant,

EDWARD MOTT.

To Governour Trumbull.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO JAMES WARREN.

Cambridge, February 13, 1776.

SIR: I take the liberty to enclose you a letter which I received, a few days ago, from Captain William Wood, upon the subject of his parole and confinement to the County of Gloucester. As some of the captains, who have been taken by the Continental armed vessels, have been, and are, allowed a greater indulgence than what he is, he seems to be uneasy, and hopes that your honourable Court will permit the Committee to enlarge his parole. I have been long and intimately acquainted with Captain Wood, and in justice to him, beg leave to inform you, that I think him exceedingly worthy of any favours that you can do him, consistent with the good of the great cause we are embarked in, and that any further indulgences you may incline to grant him, he will gratefully acknowledge and not abuse. He would wish to have the liberty of going to some of the other towns, where some of his acquaintances are. If, sir, it shall not be incompatible with any determination of your honourable body, I could wish his request to be complied with. I shall be much obliged by a line from you, that I may give him an answer, and pray, as this application is founded in principles of humanity, that you will excuse it.

I am, sir, with much esteem and regard, your most obedient servant,

ROBERT H. HARRISON.

To the Honourable James Warren, Esq.

Gloucester, February 1, 1776.

DEAR SIR: Your kind treatment to me, in this unhappy situation, makes me more free to trouble you again for your kind assistance. When I saw you last, on my way down to this place, I did not know but the Court had given orders that I was to have my parole, as the rest of the captains; but to my great surprise, I am bound to the borders of this town, and not to go out of it, on any pretence whatever. This, I think, is very hard upon me, as I can assure you, had I my liberty to go even into Boston, I would not accept of it; as I would see the determination of the vessel, if it is in your power, by representing me to the Court, to get me my enlargement farther, such as going to Cambridge. As I want to see you, letting you know my case, which is in a very bad situation, the Committee, in this town, has used me, in every respect, like a gentleman, and desired me to write to you on this occasion. I am sorry to trouble you, but depend on it, your kindness at this time to me shall be paid with honour and never to be forgot. I make no doubt but you will do your endeavour for me, and shall be glad to hear from you by Captain Nellis, and believe me, in the interim, your obliged friend and very humble servant,

WILLIAM WOOD.

To Mr. Harrison.

IN COUNCIL, February 17, 1776.—Read, and Ordered, That the said William Wood be permitted, on his parole, to pass and repass, at pleasure, from and to Cambridge and Newburyport.

PEREZ MORTON, Dep'y Sec'y.

MONSIEUR BEGOZZAT TO NEW-HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

St. Pierre, Martinico, February 14, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: As I never considered the American affairs otherwise but the endeavours of tyranny against the liberties of mankind, and looking upon the North of America as the sacred asylum contrived in this age by the Divine Providence against the despotick power, who has filled the three parts of this world with misery and poverty, I think I am honoured in being employed in so noble a cause. It is on this principle, gentlemen, I take the liberty to write you by the opportunity of Robert Parker, to offer my service to your Committee; you may be certain that nobody will serve your interest with so much zeal as I.

I gave Robert Parker a very short expedition. I intend every day to send away Captain Peverly. These two vessels will carry ten thousand pounds of gunpowder. I am loading now two other vessels, which I hope will depart very soon. We are expecting, every day, a vessel departed from France with about twenty thousand pounds of gunpowder; and I am in hopes that what we will receive from France this month will amount to sixty thousand pounds. I will advise you every month of the quantity expected.

Warlike provisions are not so common as they ought to be, on the account they have reported in Europe the American affair would be settled this Winter. Some vessels bring no ammunition, but by letters departed the 20th of January last, advising that the war will continue this year in America, there will be plenty in America in the months of May and June.

Ammunition is not the only article wanting by the Americans, viz: woollen and linen clothes, dress, pins and needles, a great quantity of goods the most necessary in private use of life, are wanting greatly, and you may be provided with those articles here. The purpose of this letter is to desire you to send the patterns of every thing wanting. I will send them to Old France, and our market will be provided with them in four or five months' time. I sent a memorial to the French Ministry concerning the trade we can settle here with New-England, but as your articles we usually consume here, viz: fish, lamp oil, spermaceti candles, pork, beef, hair, boards, and hoops, cannot amount to a great sum of money, I asked, in my memorial to the Ministry, to ship from hence to Old France, potashes, beaver, lamp oil in casks of sixty gallons, well hooped, to go to Old France. These articles, added to those, will produce a sufficient sum of money to maintain your exchange here.

For the Southern Colonies, I asked that Virginia tobacco, of which we consume thirty or forty millions pounds every year, be introduced to France by the way of Martinico. This article is very valuable, and will pay here a large quantity of goods wanted in America. Carolina indigo will find, likewise, great advantage in the French trade.

You may be certain, gentlemen, that Continental vessels will find always good protection in our ports. You will see, by the report I send you, of the frigate Argus attempting to search a Continental vessel loading, by me, with gunpowder. Any Continental vessel coming here will be safe.

If you have any particular or secret demands to our Government, send them to me, and I promise to return you a positive answer.

I think proper to advise you that the sloop Molly, Captain Conway, master, loaded with flour, coming from Maryland, on the account he was pursued by an English man-of-war, not only obtained permission to anchor here, but to sell his cargo of flour. Give to your vessels a letter for me, and I will procure you all that they will want, or to be introduced, or to sell or to purchase those goods.

You may assure your countrymen they have good friends in this country, who think that the sacred fire of liberty stands no where else now, but in the North of America, and that the brave people to which the Divine Providence has trusted it, will continue it a fire for future generations.

I am, honourable gentlemen, your most humble servant, and a devoted friend to your country. P. BEGOZZAT.

To the Honourable Committee of Safety, Province of New-Hampshire.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO TALBOT COUNTY COMMITTEE.

[No. 15.] Annapolis, February 14, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Having information that there were one or two barrels of bullets, and a quantity of gun-flints, belonging to this Province, at Mr. John Leeds's, in your County, which were lodged there about thirty years ago, we request your inquiry into the matter; and if you find it true, that you will take them under your care, and send them to the Council of Safety in this city by the first safe conveyance. We are, &c.

To the Committee of Observation for Talbot County.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO CAPTAINS KENT AND HENRY.

[No. 16.] Annapolis, February 14, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The regard and zeal which you and the companies under your command have manifested in the publick cause, in so readily complying with the resolve of the Convention, and expeditiously marching to the assistance of our friends and neighbours of Virginia, give us real satisfaction, and convince us, that as the nature of the service requires it, the same spirit will induce you and your companies to continue in it for the time mentioned by the Convention, although by the terms of the enlistment they were obliged only to serve till the first of March; this, we assure you, we sincerely wish, and it is likewise our desire and opinion that you continue to keep your men in a body till they return to, and reach their respective Counties, to which time they are to continue in pay.

As it may be convenient and necessary for you, after your men have been one month in service, to draw for their pay, we hereby authorize you to do it, on the Treasurer of the Eastern-Shore, to whom we shall send directions to pay your orders.

We are persuaded you will think, with us, that as you go as auxiliaries, it will be proper and necessary that you act under the directions and orders of the officer of the Colony of Virginia, having the command in the places where you shall be stationed; but, in case there should not be an officer appointed for that purpose, and there should be a necessity for the two companies acting together, it is then our opinion that Captain Kent should take the command of both companies, and, also, of that of Dorchester County, if that company should, as we are not without hopes it will, march down as directed.

Should any thing occur to you that may be further necessary for your companies, on the service in which they are engaged, you will be pleased to acquaint us with it as soon as you can, and all proper attention shall be given to what you may desire. We are, &c.

To Captains Kent and Henry, of the Minute Companies, in Virginia.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO WILLIAM HINDMAN.

[No. 17.] Annapolis, February 14, 1776.

SIR: We have given a power to the Captains Kent and Henry, now in Virginia, as soon as the companies under their command have been one month in the service, to draw for their pay. We desire you will, on their orders being delivered to you, immediately comply with them.

As it may be necessary for the publick service to have the enclosed letter to them delivered with all possible despatch, we request you will send off some trusty person with it, as soon as you can, and charge the publick with the expense of the messenger. We are, &c.

To William Hindman, Esq., Treasurer of the Eastern-Shore.

COLONEL SMALLWOOD TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Woodyard, February 14, 1776.

DEAR SIR: In my way down, called on Mr. West and viewed his gun-locks, some of which are tolerable good, but not equal to the English musket-locks; those at seven shillings and six pence are good at the price, and might answer the Militia. At this critical time, I think it would be well to engage the whole, as they are a very scarce article.

Knives will be much wanting in the purchased out of their pay, or allowed by Council, &c. He has two hundred and thirty-one cutters, which you will judge of the expediency of taking.

I am, with much regard, sir, your very obedient, humble servant,

W. SMALLWOOD.

To the Honourable Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, President of the Council of Safety.

THOUGHTS ON GOVERNMENT, IN A LETTER FROM A GENTLEMAN TO HIS FRIEND.*

MY DEAR SIR: If I was equal to the task of forming a plan for the government of a Colony, I should be flattered with your request, and very happy to comply with it; because, as the divine science of politics is the science of social happiness, and the blessings of society depend entirely on the constitutions of Government, which are generally institutions that last for many generations, there can be no employment more agreeable to a benevolent mind than a research after the best.

Pope flattered tyrants too much when he said,

"For forms of Government let fools contest,
That which is best administered is best."

Nothing can be more fallacious than this. But poets read history to collect flowers, not fruits; they attend to fanciful images, not the effects of social institutions. Nothing is more certain from the history of nations, and nature of man, than that some forms of Government are better fitted for being well administered than others.

We ought to consider what is the end of Government, before we determine which is the best form. Upon this point all speculative politicians will agree, that the happiness of society is the end of Government, as all divines and moral philosophers will agree that the happiness of the individual is the end of man. From this principle it will follow, that the form of Government which communicates ease, comfort, security, or, in one word, happiness, to the greatest number of persons, and in the greatest degree, is the best.

All sober inquirers after truth, ancient and modern, Pagan and Christian, have declared that the happiness of man, as well as his dignity, consists in virtue. Confucius, Zoroaster, Socrates, Mahomet, not to mention authorities really sacred, have agreed in this.

If there is a form of Government, then, whose principle

* Quincy, July 21, 1811.—In the Winter of 1776, there was much discussion in Congress, concerning the necessity of independence, and advising the several States to institute Governments for themselves, under the immediate authority and original power of the people. Great difficulties occurred to many gentlemen, in making a transition from the old Governments to new; i. e. from the Royal to Republican Governments.

In January, 1776, Mr. George Wythe, of Virginia, passing an evening with me, asked what plan I would advise a Colony to pursue, in order to get out of the old Government and into a new one. I sketched in words a scheme, which he requested me to give in writing. Accordingly, the next day I delivered to him the following letter. He lent it to his colleague, Richard Henry Lee, who asked me to let him print it, to which I consented, provided he would suppress my name; for, if that should appear, it would excite a Continental clamour among the Tories, that I was erecting a battering ram to demolish the Royal Government and render independence indispensable.—[John Adams.]

and foundation is virtue, will not every sober man acknowledge it better calculated to promote the general happiness than any other form?

Fear is the foundation of most Governments; but it is so sordid and brutal a passion, and renders men in whose breasts it predominates so stupid and miserable, that Americans will not be likely to approve of any political institution which is founded on it.

Honour is truly sacred, but holds a lower rank in the scale of moral excellence than virtue. Indeed, the former is but a part of the latter, and consequently has not equal pretensions to support a frame of Government productive of human happiness.

The foundation of every Government is some principle or passion in the minds of the people. The noblest principles and most generous affections in our nature, then, have the fairest chance to support the noblest and most generous models of Government.

A man must be indifferent to the sneers of modern Englishmen to mention in their company the names of Sidney, Harrington, Locke, Milton, Nedham, Neville, Burnet, and Hoadley. No small fortitude is necessary to confess that one has read them. The wretched condition of this country, however, for ten or fifteen years past, has frequently reminded me of their principles and reasonings. They will convince any candid mind that there is no good Government but what is Republican; that the only valuable part of the British Constitution is so; because the very definition of a Republick is, "an empire of laws, and not of men." That, as a Republick is the best of Governments, so that particular arrangement of the powers of society, or, in other words, that form of Government which is best contrived to secure an impartial and exact execution of the laws, is the best of Republicks.

Of Republicks there is an inexhaustible variety, because the possible combinations of the powers of society are capable of innumerable variations.

As good Government is an empire of laws, how shall your laws be made? In a large society, inhabiting an extensive country, it is impossible that the whole should assemble to make laws. The first necessary step then is, to depute power from the many, to a few of the most wise and good. But by what rules shall you choose your Representatives? Agree upon the number and qualifications of persons, who shall have the benefit of choosing, or annex this privilege to the inhabitants of a certain extent of ground.

The principal difficulty lies, and the greatest care should be employed in constituting this Representative Assembly. It should be in miniature an exact portrait of the people at large. It should think, feel, reason, and act like them. That it may be the interest of this assembly to do strict justice at all times, it should be an equal representation, or in other words, equal interest among the people should have equal interest in it. Great care should be taken to effect this, and to prevent unfair, partial, and corrupt elections. Such regulations, however, may be better made in times of greater tranquillity than the present, and they will spring up themselves naturally, when all the powers of Government come to be in the hands of the people's friends. At present, it will be safest to proceed in all established modes, to which the people have been familiarized by habit.

A representation of the people in one Assembly being obtained, a question arises whether all the powers of Government, legislative, executive, and judicial, shall be left in this body? I think a people cannot be long free, nor ever happy, whose Government is in one Assembly. My reasons for this opinion are as follow:

1. A single Assembly is liable to all the vices, follies, and frailties of an individual; subject to fits of humour, starts of passion, flights of enthusiasm, partialities or prejudice, and, consequently, productive of hasty results, and absurd judgments. And all these errors ought to be corrected and defects supplied by some controlling power.

2. A single Assembly is apt to be avaricious, and in time will not scruple to exempt itself from burdens, which it will lay, without compunction, on its constituents.

3. A single Assembly is apt to grow ambitious, and after a time will not hesitate to vote itself perpetual. This was one fault of the long Parliament, but more remarkably of Holland, whose Assembly first voted themselves from annual to septennial, then for life, and after a course of years, that all vacancies happening by death or otherwise should be filled by themselves, without any application to constituents at all.

4. A Representative Assembly, although extremely well qualified, and absolutely necessary as a branch of the legislative, is unfit to exercise the executive power, for want of two essential properties—secrecy and despatch.

5. A Representative Assembly is still less qualified for the judicial power; because it is too numerous, too slow, and too little skilled in the laws.

6. Because a single Assembly, possessed of all the powers of Government, would make arbitrary laws for their own interest, execute all laws arbitrarily for their own interest, and adjudge all controversies in their own favour.

But, shall the whole power of legislation rest in one Assembly? Most of the foregoing reasons apply equally to prove that the legislative power ought to be more complex; to which we may add, that if the legislative power is wholly in one Assembly, and the executive in another, or in a single person, these two powers will oppose and encroach upon each other, until the contest shall end in war, and the whole power, legislative and executive, be usurped by the strongest.

The judicial power, in such case, could not mediate, or hold the balance between the two contending powers, because the legislative would undermine it. And this shows the necessity, too, of giving the executive power a negative upon the legislative, otherwise this will be continually encroaching upon that.

To avoid these dangers let a distinct Assembly be constituted, as a mediator between the two extreme branches of the Legislature—that which represents the people and that which is vested with the executive power. Let the Representative Assembly then elect by ballot, from among themselves or their constituents, or both, a distinct Assembly, which, for the sake of perspicuity, we will call a Council. It may consist of any number you please, say twenty or thirty, and should have a free and independent exercise of its judgment, and consequently a negative voice in the Legislature.

These two bodies thus constituted, and made integral parts of the Legislature, let them unite, and by joint ballot choose a Governor, who, after being stripped of most of those badges of domination called prerogatives, should have a free and independent exercise of his judgment, and be made, also, an integral part of the Legislature. This I know is liable to objections, and if you please you may make him only President of the Council, as in Connecticut; but, as the Governor is to be invested with the executive power, with consent of Council, I think he ought to have a negative upon the legislative. If he is annually elective, as he ought to be, he will always have so much reverence and affection for the People, their Representatives and Counsellors, that although you give him an independent exercise of his judgment, he will seldom use it in opposition to the two Houses, except in cases the publick utility of which would be conspicuous; and some such cases would happen.

In the present exigency of American affairs, when by an act of Parliament we are put out of the Royal protection, and consequently discharged from our allegiance, and it has become necessary to assume Government for our immediate security, the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, Commissary, and Attorney-General, should be chosen by joint ballot of both Houses. And these and all other elections, especially of Representatives and Counsellors, should be annual, there not being in the whole circle of the sciences a maxim more infallible than this, "Where annual elections end, there slavery begins."

These great men, in this respect, should be, once a year,

"Like bubbles on the sea of matter borne,
They rise, they break, and to that sea return."

This will teach them the great political virtues of humility, patience, and moderation, without which every man in power becomes a ravenous beast of prey.

This mode of constituting the great offices of state will answer very well for the present, but if, by experiment, it should be found inconvenient, the Legislature may, at its leisure, devise other methods of creating them, by elections of the people at large, as in Connecticut, or it may enlarge the term for which they shall be chosen to seven years, or three years, or for life, or make any other alterations which the society shall find productive of its ease, its safety, its freedom, or, in one word, its happiness.

A rotation of all offices, as well of Representatives and Counsellors, has many advocates, and is contended for with many plausible arguments. It would be attended, no doubt, with many advantages, and if the society has a sufficient number of suitable characters to supply the great number of vacancies which would be made by such a rotation, I can see no objection to it. These persons may be allowed to serve for three years, and then be excluded three years, or for any longer or shorter term.

Any seven or nine of the Legislative Council may be made a quorum, for doing business as a privy council, to advise the Governor in the exercise of the executive branch of power, and in all acts of state.

The Governor should have the command of the Militia, and of all your armies. The power of pardons should be with the Governor and Council. Judges, justices, and all other officers, civil and military, should be nominated and appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of Council, unless you choose to have a Government more popular; if you do, all officers, civil and military, may be chosen by joint ballot of both Houses, or, in order to preserve the independence and importance of each House, by ballot of one House, concurred in by the other. Sheriffs should be chosen by the freeholders of Counties; so should Registers of Deeds and Clerks of Counties. All officers should have commissions, under the hand of the Governor and seal of the Colony.

The dignity and stability of Government, in all its branches, the morals of the people, and every blessing of society, depend so much upon an upright and skillful administration of justice, that the judicial power ought to be distinct from both the legislative and executive, and independent upon both, that so it may be a check upon both, as both should be checks upon that. The judges, therefore, should always be men of learning and experience in the laws, of exemplary morals, great patience, calmness, coolness, and attention. Their minds should not be distracted with jarring interests; they should not be dependant upon any man, or body of men. To these ends they should hold estates for life in their offices, or, in other words, their commissions should be during good behaviour, and their salaries ascertained and established by law. For misbehaviour, the grand inquest of the Colony, the House of Representatives, should impeach them before the Governor and Council, where they should have time and opportunity to make their defence, but, if convicted, should be removed from their offices, and subjected to such other punishment as shall be thought proper.

A Militia law, requiring all men, or, with very few exceptions besides cases of conscience, to be provided with arms and ammunition, to be trained at certain seasons, and requiring Counties, Towns, or other small Districts, to be provided with publick stocks of ammunition and intrenching utensils, and with some settled plans for transporting provisions after the Militia, when marched to defend their country against sudden invasions, and requiring certain Districts to be provided with field-pieces, companies of Matrosses, and perhaps some regiments of Light-Horse, is always a wise institution, and in the present circumstances of our country indispensable.

Laws for the liberal education of youth, especially of the lower class of people, are so extremely wise and useful, that to a humane and generous mind, no expense for this purpose would be thought extravagant.

The very mention of sumptuary laws will excite a smile. Whether our countrymen have wisdom and virtue enough to submit to them, I know not. But the happiness of the people might be greatly promoted by them, and a revenue saved sufficient to carry on this war forever. Frugality is a great revenue, besides curing us of vanities, levities, and fopperies, which are real antidotes to all great, manly and warlike virtues.

But must not all commissions run in the name of a King? No. Why may they not as well run thus, "The Colony of . . . to A. B., greeting," and be tested by the Governor?

Why may not writs, instead of running in the name of the King, run thus, "The Colony of . . . to the Sheriff," &c., and be tested by the Chief Justice?

Why may not indictments conclude, "against the peace of the Colony of . . . and the dignity of the same?"

A Constitution founded on these principles, introduces knowledge among the people, and inspires them with a conscious dignity, becoming freemen. A general emulation takes place, which causes good humour, sociability, good manners, and good morals to be general. That elevation of sentiment inspired by such a Government, makes the common people brave and enterprising. That ambition which is inspired by it makes them sober, industrious, and frugal. You will find among them some elegance, perhaps, but more solidity; a little pleasure, but a great deal of business; some politeness, but more civility. If you compare such a country with the regions of domination, whether monarchical or aristocratical, you will fancy yourself in Arcadia or Elisium.

If the Colonies should assume Governments separately, they should be left entirely to their own choice of the forms, and if a Continental Constitution should be formed, it should be a Congress, containing a fair and adequate representation of the Colonies, and its authority should sacredly be confined to these cases, viz: war, trade, disputes between Colony and Colony, the post-office, and the unappropriated lands of the Crown, as they used to be called.

These Colonies, under such forms of Government, and in such a union, would be unconquerable by all the Monarchies of Europe.

You and I, my dear friend, have been sent into life at a time when the greatest lawgivers of antiquity would have wished to live. How few of the human race have ever enjoyed an opportunity of making an election of Government more than of air, soil, or climate, for themselves or their children! When, before the present epocha, had three millions of people full power and a fair opportunity to form and establish the wisest and happiest Government that human wisdom can contrive? I hope you will avail yourself and your country of that extensive learning and indefatigable industry which you possess, to assist her in the formation of the happiest Governments, and the best character of a great people. For myself, I must beg you to keep my name out of sight, for this feeble attempt, if it should be known to be mine, would oblige me to apply to myself those lines of the immortal John Milton, in one of his sonnets,

"I did but prompt the age to quit their cloge
By the known rules of ancient liberty,
When straight a barbarous noise environs me,
Of owls and cuckoos, asses, apes, and dogs."

JOHN ADAMS TO JAMES WARREN.

Philadelphia, February 14, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I shall enclose to a lady of my acquaintance all the newspapers which have been printed in this city since my arrival, by which you will see to what point the tide of political sentiment sets. Scarcely a paper comes out without a speculation or two in open vindication of opinions, which, five months ago, were said to be unpopular. A vast majority of the people, indeed, I very well knew, secretly entertained the same persuasions then, but injudiciously avoided speaking out. The restraint, however, is now taken off. I expect to see the New-England papers very soon chinning in with the concert.

I have written to Mr. Sever the Congress have ordered ten tons of saltpetre to the Council, to be made into powder, and requested him to communicate it to the Court. I hope every nerve will be exerted, with the utmost vigor, to set up powder-mills, complete them, and procure persons skilled in the manufacture of powder. I am not without apprehensions that such persons will be wanted. I apprehend, however, that there are persons who are possessed of the necessary knowledge of the composition and proportions of ingredients. Even Mr. Reed, of Weymouth, I conjecture, would be able to instruct others. The same rule which has made a small quantity in a family mortar, applied to a large mill, will make a larger quantity. No expense, no industry, ought to be spared. Don't fail, my dear friend, to inform me of every step in the progress of the manufacture of saltpetre and gunpowder.

Measures are taking to make cannon, both of brass and iron. Some experiments have been made in Maryland, Philadelphia and New-York, with success. I will acquaint you with particulars, as fast as I can.

Shall we be able to get seamen to man our navy when our trade shall be opened? Will they not be all better employed?

I am, your friend.

To the Honourable James Warren, Esq., Speaker of the House, Watertown.

DECLARATION OF THOMAS AUSTIN.

Philadelphia, February 14, 1776.

As the Committee of Safety for this Province have adjudged my late conduct to be inimical to the cause of American freedom, I am sincerely sorry that I have given any displeasure to my countrymen, and do solemnly declare, that I never intended, by any thing I have said or done, to obstruct the measures carried on for the maintaining the liberty of these Colonies. I do further, in the like solemn manner, declare and promise, that I will not for the future throw any reflections on the publick measures aforesaid, or the advisers or promoters of them, nor, in any manner whatever, endeavour to obstruct or discredit such measures.

I do, also, resign my seat as a member of the Committee of Inspection and Observation for this County.

THOMAS AUSTIN.

TO THE FREEMEN OF THE PROVINCE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Some men talk of peace and reconciliation in a way that does little credit to their understandings, and less to their political principles. If honest, they are cowards; if knaves, they are fools. The excellence of the English Constitution, and happiness we enjoyed in a state of dependance on Great Britain, are spoken of with such warmth, eagerness, and seeming devotion, that I am turned out of the path I had prescribed to myself, to set the matter in its true light.

My signature is Salus Populi, and my professed design is to throw out such hints to your consideration as may tend to the advantage of the great North-American community, without regard to sect or party, or to this or that man's sentiments or interest, where the welfare of the whole could be injured thereby. He, therefore, who would sacrifice the publick to private interest, and whose views extend not to the general good of his country, will find little to please him in what I advance. I give this cautionary admonition however, to every one, that as he regards his future welfare and happiness, and wishes to merit the Divine favour, let him now conduct himself. We are not brought into our present critical circumstances for nothing. And if we neglect to make the best of them we will scarcely obtain the approbation of the Almighty.

Though much might be said not very advantageous to the British Constitution, yet I will waive it for the present. She most assuredly has not yet found out any effectual method of securing the rights of the people from encroachments of the Crown; i. e. from tyranny. But be her Constitution ever so good, it is little to us. That Constitution is certainly not very extraordinary, which has not vigour sufficient to support itself against the slightest attack; and this is the Constitution of the Colonies. In all your endeavours to preserve your privileges did it ever enter into your heads to apply to the powers of your Constitution for protection? No! and if it had, what would it have done for you? Nothing. Mercantile combinations have done more in a few months for the preservation of the liberties of America, than all your constitutional powers would have effected in ten thousand years. It is for this reason that the Tories, and an Administration which is doing all in its power to enslave you, wish to see every thing pass through what they affect to call a constitutional channel. I say, mercantile combinations have done more, in a few months, than all our constitutional powers could have effected in ten thousand years, and yet every one who reflects how reluctantly that measure was lately complied with, will leave little to the hazard of such future combinations. On this precarious tenure have we held every privilege which should be dear to man for these twelve years past: And on this tenure we must yet hold them, if some people can have their way.

The happiness we enjoyed in a state of dependance on Great Britain before the year 1763, is the cry with which they hope to lull us to rest on the lap of an abandoned Government, which knows no right but the pleasure of an obstinate and blood-thirsty Prince and his Courtly sycophants. That we occasionally enjoyed a state of much happiness, both before and since the year 1763, cannot be denied; but the portion of that happiness which arose from our dependance on Great Britain is not quite so evident as some people may imagine. Let us examine this matter with candour and honesty; and here it must strike us at first view, that we enjoyed more happiness when they let us alone, than when they exercised any degree of that authority over us, which, as long as we are dependant we must acknowledge they possess. This, I apprehend, is not saying much for the happiness of a state of dependance on Great Britain. Whence sprung our happiness then, will some people inquire? I will unfold to you the source of that happiness you so pant after, and which, if you pursue the path pointed out to you by Providence, will shortly return and remain with you for ages, in all probability until the curtain which divides time from eternity is withdrawn, and the scenery of this world brought to a period.

It sprung from the fertility of the soil, and the sobriety, industry, and equality of the inhabitants alone—source; from whence happiness always has, and ever will spring to the people who are so favoured of Heaven as to be possessed of them. Take away any one of these sources, and you take away a proportionable part of the happiness you enjoyed. Take them all away, and were your dependance on Great Britain ten times what it is at present, you will not be happy. Our dependance on Great Britain never did, nor never could add the ten thousandth part of a grain to that happiness which flowed so abundantly to us from the forementioned sources. It is not in the nature of dependance to confer happiness, but the reverse. Every dependance presupposes a kind of mastery, and there is but one only can bestow happiness, viz: a dependance upon God. We enjoyed happiness in a state of dependance, but not from that state. He who is a dependant, has a master, and he who has a master is a servant, if not a slave.

The state of equality, which, as yet, subsists among us, and ought for ever to be preserved, is a principal source both in our happiness, and of the preservation of our liberties. Any one who will read the Ministerial pamphlet intitled, "A Letter from the People of Great Britain to the People of America," will there find how eagerly they wish to form distinctions amongst us, that they may create a few more tools of oppression. They wish to see us aspire to nobility, and are ready to gratify us whenever we do. They can now depend only on the Crown officers and their dependants, with a few of the heads of some sects in religion, who prefer basking in the sunshine of British royalty and Court favour, to the simple practice of the pure religion of their forefathers. Only be reconciled for a few years longer, until they have raised a number of our Selectmen to the different ranks of nobility, and then preserve your liberties if you can.

Some think they say every thing against a state of independence by crying out, that in a state of dependance we enjoyed the protection of Great Britain. Ay, and we enjoyed something else, which sounds not so agreeable; we enjoyed a large share in her wars, with these favourable circumstances, that every war between Great Britain and France is principally carried on in America, and that we assist her through these wars only to give her an opportunity of quarrelling with us afterwards.

But do not we pay dearly for this protection? The restriction of our trade alone is worth ten times the protection, besides the sums we pay in customs and other duties, to the amount of more than a million annually. The customs of the port of London alone are worth two millions sterling per annum. How many Londons America may contain a century hence, if she now becomes independent, God only knows. Our present dependance costs us as much in twenty years now, as would enable us, with the Divine assistance, to finish the present war with success, and protect our trade in a state of independency for five hundred years to come.

Let us for once suppose an independency, that we may observe the consequence. We should then trade with every nation that would trade with us; i. e. with every nation in Europe at least. Suppose we were attacked by some foreign Power in this state of independency, (for this is the bugbear,) what then? The nation that would be fool enough to do it would raise a hornet's nest about its ears; for what nation would stand by, and without a murmur see itself cut off from the source of trade it enjoys with America, which would be the case were we once subdued. No. Every nation which enjoyed a share of our trade would be guarantee for the peaceable behaviour and good conduct of its neighbours; and Great Britain herself would twenty years hence become a firm friend and ally, if her friendship could then be worth the acceptance, for the twentieth part of that trade she now affects to despise. But it could never be the interest of any other nation to make war upon us after we had obliged Great Britain to let us alone. Can it ever be the interest of America to make war upon Europe? No more can it be the interest of any Power in Europe to make war upon America after she has fought herself into a state of independency. To ask what should we do for fleets to protect our trade, it is as absurd as to ask if timber grows in America. During the present war we need fleets, and it may be owing to the weakness of human counsels, that we entered so late into any measure for that purpose. Had we fitted out sixty or seventy of our best sailing vessels, and the moment the King's ships seized the first of our vessels legally cleared out, sent them off to the West-Indies, with orders to seize every English vessel that came in their way, we would not now be insulted by fleets on our coasts, nor our towns be daily in danger of being reduced to ashes. They would have had something else to busy themselves with. But the war once over, fleets to protect our trade will be nearly unnecessary. Our trade will protect itself. It never will be the interest of any nation to disturb our trade, while we trade freely with it; and it will ever be our interest to trade freely with all nations. As long as the wide Atlantic Ocean lies between us and Europe, so long will we be free from foreign subjection were we once clear of Great Britain; and as long as we remain free from foreign subjection, so long will our trade protect itself.

Our situation, in this respect, is peculiar to ourselves; we have no haughty neighbouring tyrant to disturb our internal repose, and the fleets of no nation will disturb us on the high seas, while a commercial intercourse subsists between us. The consequence of independency to America, if she makes a right use of the present occasion, will be a perfect state of political liberty, a good, sound, wholesome Constitution, a free and enlarged trade, and peace to the end of time, unless our sins should bring down the Divine vengeance upon us. That of a connection with Great Britain on the principles of our former dependency is a weak, feeble, unwholesome Constitution, unable to stand against the slightest shock, a very restricted losing trade, and the prospect of being made the seat of every war between Great Britain and France as long as that connection shall last.

Every prospect of the future strongly invites us to embrace independency; and what is of the greatest weight with me, every Providential occurrence, for more than twenty years past, seems preparatory to it. The last war trained many of us to the use of arms, and taught us to look steadfastly into the face of an enemy, the conqueror of Canada, with the Canada Bill, a twelve years struggle against oppression to wean our affections, our present happy and unexampled union, and a successful end of the first campaign of a most righteous war against the oppressions of the state we depended on, have fixed the time for that independency, which even the present Administration acknowledges must one day take place. The voice of God, therefore, to America appears at present to be, "If you will remain free and happy, if you wish not to entail a civil war or slavery on your offspring, if you spill not your blood at present in vain, and despise not what I have been doing for you these twenty years past, though you know it not; fix a Constitution which will give perfect liberty to all my people now in, or that hereafter shall fly to America for shelter from tyranny and oppression, and declare for independency immediately, and put your trust in me alone for success."

SALUS POPULI.

P. S. In another irregular number I propose to show you that the notion of the Colonies quarrelling among themselves is absurd, and that this can never take place, except in one case, which it is our present duty and business effectually to guard against.

A GENTLEMAN OF PUBLIC CHARACTER, TO HIS FRIEND IN MASSACHUSETTS.

February 14, 1776.

MY DEAR SIR: I was favoured about a week ago with your letter, and shall be much obliged at any time when you are at leisure, to let me know how matters are going on. I shall be very happy to hear that the Provincial Army gets possession of Boston; but I heartily wish that no attempt may be made without the utmost probability of success. I have given great attention to history, to the strength and policy of States, and the conduct of their contentions one with another; and I find many more misfortunes that may be attributed to the want of prudence, than the want of courage. It is never, in any instance, the interest of both parties to fight; and, in the present case, I think our security and glory lies in acting on the defensive. Our enemies are on hostile ground; time eats them up almost as fast as Great Britain sends them. The past campaign has been so reproachful to them, that you see mention made of it in the Protest of the House of Peers, almost in the same terms that I have done in many of my letters.

I placed great confidence in the prudence and firmness of General Washington on his first election, and his conduct has fully justified my expectations. The Army has been kept in excellent order; the country has been fully satisfied; human blood has been spared; and yet, our enemies have been, and are now, in the most disgraceful situation. The true knowledge of defensive war is the attainment of modern times. If the Romans had understood this art, as well as they did bravery in the field, do you think that Hannibal would have gained the victory at Cannæ? And, after that expensive lesson, Fabius defeated him entirely, by only taking the advantage that nature had given him. I do not think that advantage was ever more on the side of any people than it is on that of America just now. We are sure to beat England, if we only take care that they do not beat us. It is the circumstances of our distance and unanimity that constitute our chief strength, together with their great ignorance of America, and uniform wrong judgment in every particular. The present Parliament seems not to be a whit wiser, for all that has happened. They have voted twenty-five thousand men, which, I affirm not to be at all sufficient for the conquest of Connecticut alone, provided that neither men nor provisions are sent from the other Colonies. They talk very much of the power of Great Britain, and it is a powerful state; but there are limits to every human power; and, if Britain attempts any project against the nature of things, I know well enough who will get the better.

In this country, we begin to apprehend that New-York will be the scene of action. Not much has yet passed worth relating; the best thing I can say to you is, that the spirit and unanimity of the country is as great, or greater, than ever.

I am, dear sir, your most obedient, humble servant.

GENERAL LEE TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

New-York, February 14, 1776.

DEAR GENERAL: I should have written to you more constantly, but really had no means of conveying my letter. A Mr. Buchanan and Tolby, bound for Head-Quarters, will deliver you this. You will excuse the conciseness, as my time is short.

The Governour and Captain of man-of-war had threatened perdition to the town, if the cannon was removed from the batteries and wharves; but, I ever considered their threats as a brutum fulmen, and even persuaded the town to be of the same way of thinking. We, accordingly, conveyed them to a place of safety in the middle of the day, and no cannonade ensued.

Captain Parker publishes a pleasant reason for his passive conduct. He says that it was manifestly my intention, and that of the New-Englandmen under my command, to bring down destruction on this town, so hated for their loyal principles; but that he was determined not to indulge us, so remained quiet out of spite. The people here laugh at his nonsense, and begin to despise the menaces which formerly used to throw them into convulsions. To do them justice, the whole show a wonderful alacrity; and, in removing the cannon, men and boys, of all ages, worked with the greatest zeal and pleasure. I really believe that the generality are as well affected as any on the Continent.

The Provincial Congress have ordered in fifteen hundred Minute-Men; a number equal to two battalions, are coming from Pennsylvania and the Jerseys. Lord Stirling's Regiment is already here, but not complete: when the major part, or a sufficient number arrive, we shall begin our works. My intention is, to pull down that part of the fort on the town side, to prevent its being converted into a citadel for the enemy, and to erect a battery on a traverse in the street, to prevent their making a lodgment in it. A redoubt and battery at the pass of Hellegate will prevent their ships and tenders passing and repassing, to and from the Sound. We have fixed on a spot in Long-Island for a retrenched camp, which, I hope, will render it impossible for them to get footing on that important Island. As this camp can always be reinforced, it is our intention to make it so capacious as to contain four thousand men. The batteries on the pass of Hudson's River will be secured as soon as possible; some of the heavy cannon from hence, must be sent up for the purpose. It is, really, a fine train we are in possession of. You shall have a return of the guns, as well as stores, by the post.

Captain Smyth is an excellent, intelligent, active officer; and I take the liberty of recommending him to your protection. Captain Badlam, of the Artillery, is likewise a man of great merit in his way.

You must pardon me, dear General, for a liberty I have taken. You know that Sears was to collect our volunteers in Connecticut; but he thought he could not succeed, unless he had some nominal office and rank; I accordingly, most impudently, by the virtue of the power deputed by you to me, (which power you never deputed,) appointed him assistant Adjutant-General, with rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, for the expedition. It can have no bad consequences; the man was much tickled, and it added spurs to his head. He is a creature of much spirit and publick virtue, and ought to have his back clapped.

With respect to the Canada expedition, which you indirectly propose to me, I have only one answer to make: Wherever I can be of most service, there I should choose to be. I have, indeed, just at this instant, one objection, which is, I am not without apprehensions that facing the cold may throw me into a relapse, so as not only to render me unfit for service there, but every where else. I am, indeed, much better, but extremely tender; I begin to walk; it has been a damned attack, a constant, violent fever attending it; I neither eat nor slept for eight days; but my fever is passed, and I begin to eat. A week, I hope, will set me up. Several members of Congress have indicated a desire I should go to Canada; I have explained to them my apprehensions, but assured them most honestly of my willingness; but, in fact, unless they expedite an army, and some heavy artillery, it will be in vain to trouble their heads about a General.

Colonel Richmore, who lately left Montreal, tells us, that what few troops are now there, will infallibly return home early in April. He is gone to the Congress, and I hope will give them (as he is capable) the necessary lights; but, whatever steps they take, be assured, dear General, that I am, with the greatest readiness, prepared to receive and execute yours and their commands.

Canada is, I confess, if I am only tolerably accounted, a glorious field, which must flatter the ambition of yours, most sincerely,

CHARLES LEE.

To General Washington.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Albany, February 14, 1776.

DEAR SIR: A few days ago I was honoured with your letter of the 27th ultimo, by Bennet. I was so greatly indisposed then that it was with difficulty I could do that business, which was indispensable: I am, since, much better. A copious discharge from an internal imposthume in my breast has given me great relief; and I have reason to think it is healing, as my cough is greatly abated, and I gain strength so fast that I hope soon to be able to go to Canada, where all is in confusion.

Mr. Walker, I fear, has too much attention paid to his advice, which is, from what I can learn, generally founded on his private resentments for the many hardships he has suffered; indeed, he has suffered so much, that he must be more than man to divest himself of all resentment; but this, I fear, has already proved very detrimental to our cause. I have written fully and freely on this subject to Congress.

Five companies of Colonel De Haas's, and one of Colonel Maxwell's, are marched from hence. They are much thinned by sickness and desertion, and came very ill provided; the better half of their arms required repairs, and the whole were to be furnished with shoes, socks, mittens, &c., which causes a considerable detention, and distresses me much, as hardly any thing is to be bought in this place.

It is extremely difficult to determine what should be done, in what you mention, respecting the offer made by the Caughnawaga Indians; but, if we can get decently rid of their offer, I would prefer it to employing them. The expense we are at, in the Indian department, is now amazing; it will be more so when they consider themselves as in our service; nor would their intervention be of much consequence, unless we could procure that of the other nations. The hauteur of the Indians is much diminished since the taking of Montreal; they evidently see that they cannot get any supplies but through us.

I have not a mortar to send into Canada, and no heavy artillery, as your Excellency will perceive from the enclosed return, many of which, mentioned there, are unfit for service. I have sent on half a ton of powder, which came from Philadelphia, and we have none left here.

If even the regiment from the Massachusetts, which you ordered to be raised, goes into Canada, the number of troops there will be still short of eight complete regiments, as many are very deficient, and two cannot be raised out of the troops that remained in Canada, numbers of whom are daily coming away.

General Arnold still continues the blockade of Quebeck; the garrison appear to be in want of fuel, as they have attempted to break up some vessels near the town, but were prevented by our people, who made a few prisoners on the occasion.

I am, dear sir, with the most respectful sentiments, and best wishes, your Excellency's most obedient, humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

His Excellency General Washington, &c.

SAMUEL MOTT TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Norwich, February 14, 1776.

HONOURED SIR: As your Honour, with your Council of Safety, have been pleased to direct me, to view the works, &c., for the defence of the harbour of New-London, Stonington, &c., and report my opinion in the premises; and, since, by order, have attended with Colonel Dyer and Mr. Wales, when it seemed to be their prevailing opinion, to raise three Companies of men for New-London and Groton, it was then my opinion, that such a small number of men to be raised, was not acting with such spirit and taking such effectual measures as the nature of the case, the importance of the object, the necessity of expedition, and the danger of the times required. I have, since, conversed with people of all ranks among us and find it the universal opinion and expectation of the people, that at least one regiment of men be raised to guard the coast, and perform the work necessary to be done at New-London and Groton, including the detachments that might be necessary at Stonington, Lyme, and so from the mouth of Connecticut to that of Pawcatuck Rivers.

The forming them into one entire regiment would bring the returns and accounts, &c., into a smaller compass, and be more easy and ready for settlement. Less than that number will, by all that I can learn, not give content, as they might be able on any sudden attack to defend against the enemy; and this country would, in that case, come nearer towards having an equal share of employment in this defensive war.

The Judges of our Court, last evening, called me in on the subject, and as they had no other ready opportunity, that they might, through me, make known their opinion, and were all anxiously of opinion, that no less number than a regiment would, by any means, be adequate—as it is an adopted custom in all the Colonies, to keep up a considerable body of troops for defence; they think, that, in case any disaster should happen, or the enemy get any considerable advantage of us, by reason of our neglect, either in expedition, or not having a considerable body of troops ready raised and disciplined on the spot, we should have reason to blame ourselves for it. To have an alarm in the country, and the people taken from their business at every time, on the approach of two or three ships, would be in danger of frustrating the raising a sufficiency of provisions, and leave our lands in a great measure unoccupied, which might be fatal to our success. Such a regiment might be raised during their pleasure, and under the direction of your Honour and Council, or the General Assembly, and might be under such regulations that any number of them might march elsewhere on any emergency.

These, may it please your Honour, among many others to the same purpose, are the arguments among the people generally, as far as I have been able to find their sentiments, and I thought it my duty to make them known to your Honour, as matter of information.

I am, sir, your Honour's most humble, and obedient servant,

SAMUEL MOTT.

Governour Trumbull.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO GENERAL SCHUYLER.

Lebanon, February 14, 1776.

SIR: Sunday, 11th instant, at ten o'clock, received two letters, of the 8th, from General Washington. Nothing new in the camp before Boston. At one o'clock, Mr. Bennet delivered me yours of the 5th, and at sunset an express arrived with the letter from General Lee, of the 7th, a copy of which I give myself the pleasure to enclose. The intelligence it contains is both pleasing and interesting. I did not think fit to disband Colonel Ward's Regiment, until I was made acquainted with the reception met by General Lee, on his going into the city of New-York; so that, immediately, I was able to order the same forward to his assistance, agreeable to his requisition. The variety of business, for these two days past, occasioned my detaining Mr. Bennet till this time.

On my receiving the resolutions of Congress to raise a battalion to go to the assistance of our friends in Canada, I recalled my first Proclamation, gone out for that purpose, and issued a second, corresponding with the intentions of Congress. I conceive, its being done so early, it will prove no detriment to the service. Your care and prudence in the settlement of the rolls, and the rate of fifteen miles a day, from where the soldiers were dismissed to their respective Captain's place of abode, will meet the approbation of Congress. The encouragement given by Congress will incline all who are able to furnish themselves with arms. I shall give directions, so that no more will be expected from you than the number mentioned in your last, most probably not so many. I shall attend to the mode adopted by you for the payment, according to an appraisalment of the arms that were delivered into the Continental stores by soldiers from this Colony. Colonel Burrell's Regiment will much easiest march through Albany. Have appointed Mr. Adonijah Strong to make provision for their march to that city, there to be supplied out of the Continental stores; and, to prevent confusion or multiplicity of accounts, have appointed a trusty person, Mr. William Lawrence, or some trusty person our Treasurer shall employ, to attend and pay the men, according to the Continental allowances, and keep clear accounts and vouchers. Whether the sleds or sleighs from hence will incline to go farther than Albany, is uncertain. By one of them, shall send about eight hundred pounds powder. Mr. Bennet will bring the rolls that are at Pay-Table. Major Douglass intended to have brought his to you, but, being Major of Colonel Ward's Battalion, have desired him to send it to Hartford, for Bennet to carry forward. Truly, our Treasurer's chest needs replenishing. I was much pleased with Colonel Mott's frank and generous conduct in resigning his appointment. Depend that he may be remembered when an opportunity presents.

It gives me great pleasure to hear our little corps before Quebec continue closely to blockade that city. This is true bravery. It must convince Lord North that Americans are not all poltroons. Your sentiments are extremely just. The conduct of Divine Providence towards the United Colonies, in this unhappy contest, hitherto, is very marvellous, and affords abundant matter for our rejoicing, with thankfulness to Him who is the Supreme Director of all events, for his salvation, and in hope of that which is future. I wish you better health, and the opening of the Spring may restore.

I am, with great truth and regard, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO CHRISTOPHER LEFFINGWELL.

Cambridge, February 14, 1776.

SIR: I have it in command from his Excellency to acknowledge receipt of your favour of the 11th instant, and to tell you that the half of each sort of the shells be immediately sent to this place, and the other half to Roxbury. You will receive, herewith, four hundred pounds, lawful money, to pay the cost of the transportation, &c.

His Excellency returns you thanks for your attention, and desires you will forward these shells with all possible expedition. I am, &c.,

ROBERT H. HARRISON.

To Christopher Leffingwell, Esq., Norwich.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 29, 1776.—Referred to Mr. Chase, Mr. J. Adams, Mr. Penn, Mr. Wythe, and Mr. Rutledge.]

Cambridge, February 14, 1776.

SIR: Through you, I beg leave to lay before Congress the enclosed letter from Lord Drummond to General Robertson, which came to my hands a few days ago, in order to be sent into Boston. As I never heard of his Lordship being vested with power to treat with Congress upon the subject of our grievances, nor of his having laid any propositions before them for an accommodation, I confess it surprised me much, and led me to form various conjectures of his motives, and intended application to General Howe and Admiral Shulldham for a passport for the safe conduct of such Deputies as Congress might appoint for negotiating terms of reconciliation between Great Britain and us. Whatever his intentions are, however benevolent his designs may be, I confess that his letter has embarrassed me much, and I am not without suspicion of its meaning more than the generous purposes it professes. I should suppose that, if the mode for negotiation which he points out should be adopted, which I hope will never be thought of, it ought to have been fixed and settled previous to any application of this sort, and, at best, that his conduct in this instance is premature and officious, and leading to consequences of a fatal and injurious nature to the rights of this country. His zeal and desire, perhaps, of an amicable and constitutional adjustment taking place, may have suggested and precipitated the measure. Be that as it may, I thought it of too much importance to suffer it to go in, without having the express direction of Congress for that purpose, and that it was my indispensable duty to transmit them the original, to make such interpretations and inferences as they may think right.

Messrs. Willard and Child, who were sent to Nova-Scotia, in pursuance of the resolve of Congress, have just returned, and made their report, which I do myself the honour to enclose you. They have not answered the purposes of their commission, by any means, as they only went but a little way into that country, and found their intelligence upon the information of others. You will see: the reasons they assign in excuse or justification of their conduct, in the report itself.

Last night, a party of Regulars, said to be about five hundred, landed on Dorchester-Neck, and burned some of the houses there, which were of no value to us, nor would they have been, unless we take post there. They then might have been of some service. A detachment went after them, as soon as the fire was discovered, but, before it could arrive, they had executed their plan, and made their retreat.

Enclosed, is a letter for David Franks, Esq., from Mr. Chamier, in Boston, upon the subject of victualling such of the King's troops as may be prisoners within the limits of his contract, which I beg the favour of you to deliver him, and that proper agents may be appointed by him to see that it is done. I could wish, too, that Congress would fall upon some mode for supplying the officers with such money as they may really stand in need of, and depute proper persons for that purpose, and furnishing the privates with such clothing as may be absolutely necessary. I am applied to, and wearied by their repeated requests. In some instances, I have desired the Committees to give the prisoners within their appointments what they should judge absolutely necessary for their support, as the only means in my power of relieving their distress. But I can imagine that, if there were persons to superintend this business, their wants would be better attended to, and many exorbitant charges prevented and saved to the Continent, and the whole would then be brought into a proper account.

I am, sir, with great esteem and regard, your most obedient, humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

P. S. I send a return of the strength of the Regiments.

New-York, February 5, 1776.

MY DEAR SIR: Just as I was sitting down to write to you, I received yours, by General Clinton, but have not, as yet, had an opportunity of seeing him. During the very few moments I was with you at Boston, I expressed my wish of being able to make known at Philadelphia the disposition in England towards an accommodation, upon liberal terms, and such as were founded in equity and candour. You then concurred with me in thinking that, however much those gentlemen whose province it now is to think for the publick might be held up as aiming at a total separation, they had as their sole object such a reconciliation as would give a constitutional security to their children. In this opinion I think we were not deceived. From all the conversation I had at Philadelphia with those gentlemen, (who allow me, I hope, to rank myself among the number of their friends,) I have every reason to think them most seriously disposed towards reconciliation. From a conviction of this, I have pressed the setting on foot a negotiation; nor am I without hopes of success. Should such an event take place, it is not impossible but a deputation from hence may be found expedient, and, in that case, a passport requisite for a security against English cruisers. Such a passport must be left blank, for filling up names, and sent by the same conveyance that this passes through. It will be needless to caution you against delay. My slight acquaintance with General Howe and Admiral Shuldham will furnish you with an apology for not making a more direct application.

I continue, my dear friend, yours, &c.,
BRIGADIER-GENERAL ROBERTSON, Boston.

P. S. Let me guard you against letting this go to the publick, till you see how far my hopes are well-grounded.

REPORT OF MESSRS. WILLARD AND CHILD.

We, the subscribers, being appointed by his Excellency General Washington, agreeable to an order of the Continental Congress, to repair to the Province of Nova-Scotia, for the following purposes, viz: To inquire into the disposition of the inhabitants of said Province towards the common cause of America, the condition of their fortifications, quantity of warlike stores, the number of soldiers and sailors, and ships-of-war: We beg leave to report as follows, that, agreeable to the above order, we did repair to a place called Campo-Bello, about twenty or thirty miles into the Province aforesaid, but could not cross the Bay-of-

Fundy, for no vessel could be hired or procured, except we purchased one, as every vessel, even to a boat, that crossed the Bay, was seized as soon as they came into port, except cleared from Halifax; and we could not travel any farther into the country, by reason of Governour Legg's establishing martial-law in said Province, and issuing several Proclamations, one bearing date July 5, 1775, which is as follows: "I do, therefore, with the advice and consent of His Majesty's Council, publish this Proclamation, hereby notifying and warning all persons that they do not, in any manner, directly or indirectly, aid or assist, with any supplies whatever, any Rebel or Rebels, nor hold intelligence or correspondence with them, nor conceal, harbour, or protect any such offenders, as they would avoid being deemed Rebels and Traitors, and be proceeded against accordingly;" also, a Proclamation, dated December 8, 1775, forbidding any stranger to be in Halifax more than two hours, without making his business known to a Justice of the Peace, upon the pain and peril of being treated as a Spy; also, forbidding any person entertaining any such stranger for more than two hours, without giving information, on the penalty aforesaid. From our own knowledge, and the best information from others, about eight parts out of ten of the inhabitants of Nova-Scotia would engage in the common cause of America, could they be protected. There are no fortifications in the Province, only at Halifax, and those much out of repair; but they are at work on them. They have picketed the town in, and have about one hundred and fifty pieces of cannon, not mounted, and about twenty or thirty pieces mounted in the town. There were at Halifax about two hundred soldiers, the beginning of January, 1776, which were all that there were in the Province at that time; but we are credibly informed that there are two regiments arrived there since that time. There was only one ship-of-war, of sixty guns, at Halifax, and one, of fourteen, at Annapolis, at the time aforesaid.

AARON WILLARD,
MOSES CHILD.

GENERAL ORDERS.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 9, 1776.

(Parole, Stirling.) (Countersign, Jersey.)

The Colonel of a Regiment is, on no pretence, to license more than one Suttler within the limits of the camp, as the Quartermaster-General has his Excellency's positive orders to punish with severity any person who is unlicensed, or licensed contrary to the above order.

If any of the Militia who are ordered into camp should incline to enter into the Continental Army, they are immediately to join the Regiment they enlist into, and are, from that day, to be struck off the Militia rolls, that their pay may from thenceforward commence in the Regiment they engage in, and cease in the Militia. It is expected that proper attention be paid to this order, as no plea of ignorance will be admitted.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 10, 1776.

(Parole, Staffolk.) (Countersign, Albany.)

General Green's Brigade to furnish one Field-Officer, two Captains, four Subalterns, four Sergeants, four Corporals, two Drums, and one hundred and twenty Privates, to relieve the Guard, to-morrow morning, upon Cobble-Hill. General Sullivan's Brigade to furnish the same number of officers and men to relieve that Guard on Monday morning; and so, alternately, by each Brigade, until further orders.

Robert McKnight, of Captain Gleason's Company, in Colonel Nixon's Regiment, tried at a General Court-Martial, whereof Colonel Hutchinson was President, for desertion, and instilling in different Regiments, is found guilty by the Court, and adjudged to receive thirty-nine lashes upon the bare back, and be stopped five pounds four shillings out of his pay, to repay those officers whom the prisoner has defrauded.

The General approves the sentence, and orders it to be put in execution, at such time and place as the commanding officer of the Regiment shall appoint.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 11, 1776.

(Parole, Bristol.) (Countersign, Radley.)

Benjamin Woodman, of Captain Darby's Company, in

Colonel Prescott's Regiment, tried at a late General Court-Martial, whereof Colonel Hutchinson was President, for desertion, is found guilty by the Court, and sentenced to receive twenty lashes upon his bare back. The General approves the sentence, and orders it to be executed, at such time and place as Colonel Prescott shall think proper.

James McCormick, of Captain Farrington's Company, in Colonel Sargent's Regiment, tried at the above Court-Martial, for assaulting, beating, and robbing Samuel Marston, Sergeant in Colonel Poor's Regiment, is found guilty by the Court, and sentenced to receive thirty-nine lashes, and orders four pounds to be stopped out of his pay, to reimburse Sergeant Marston, what the prisoner robbed him of.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 12, 1776.

(Parole, Plymouth.)

(Countersign, Portsmouth.)

The General, being informed that several of the Militia are coming in without arms, orders that the Brigadiers, to those Brigades they are joined, do examine into this matter, and discharge every man who has not arms, as they come in, keeping an account thereof, to deliver when called for.

It is with no small degree of astonishment that the General observes, by the returns of last week, that seventeen men have been dismissed the service, out of which number Colonel Whitcomb alone has discharged seven. He is, therefore, called upon to be at Head-Quarters to-morrow morning, at ten o'clock, to account for his conduct in this instance. At the same time, it is declared, and particular attention will be paid to it, that, if any Colonel or commanding officer of a Regiment presume, in future, to discharge a man, without proper authority for so doing, he will be put in arrest, and tried for disobedience of orders. To have men enlisted one day, and discharged, as it were, the next, without any action or apparent cause to disqualify men for service, must have a bad appearance in the returns sent to Congress, especially when the list of deserters comes to be added to it.

To remedy these evils as far as possible, it is directed, in cases where discharges are really necessary, that the commanding officer of the Regiment do produce the man soliciting the discharge, to the Brigadier-General of his Brigade, who is to examine accurately into the matter, and not to give a discharge for sickness of a temporary duration.

In case of desertion, the commanding officer of the regiment or corps is immediately to report the deserter or deserters to his Brigadier-General, giving an exact description of the man, the town he comes from, &c., who is to cause proper steps to be taken for apprehending him. A reward of five dollars will be paid to any person, or persons, who shall apprehend and bring a deserter into the camp, upon obtaining a certificate from the Brigadier of the service performed.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 13, 1776.

(Countersign, Coventry.)

The Regiments of Militia lately arrived at Roxbury and Cambridge, are immediately to be furnished with fifteen rounds of powder and ball per man. The Adjutant-General will, upon application, give orders upon the Commissary-General for that quantity. The Regiments now at Roxbury may apply to Major-General Ward, who will give orders accordingly.

Captain Peleg Wadsworth is appointed Aid-de-camp to Major-General Ward during the absence of Samuel Osgood, Esq.

Head-Quarters, Cambridge, February 14, 1776.

(Countersign, Lincoln.)

The General Court-Martial, of which Colonel Hutchinson is President, is dissolved.

Benjamin Mumford, in Colonel Bond's Regiment, tried at the above Court-Martial for theft, is acquitted by the Court. The General orders the prisoner to be released. The Provost-Martial is, by his instructions, ordered to suppress all riots, to be particularly attentive to the behaviour of all the Suters in and about Cambridge, and see that they shut up their houses at tattoo-beating, and do not offer, upon any account, to sell a drop of liquor after that hour. All officers are strictly enjoined to be aiding and assisting to the Provost, in the due execution of his office, which the late shocking proceeding of some of the Suters makes absolutely necessary.

JOHN LANGDON TO MESHECH WEARE.

Portsmouth, February 13, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I have just received a letter from Philadelphia, informing me of one of the vessels belonging to the Continental service having arrived with sixty tons of salt-petre, thirteen tons of powder, one thousand three hundred stand of good arms; on which important news I have the honour to congratulate you. My letter is dated the 3d inst.; the vessel arrived the day before.

I am, with all respect, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

JOHN LANGDON.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO COLONEL JOHN VEAZY.

[No. 18.]

Annapolis, February 15, 1776.

SIR: In consequence of a letter received this day from Mr. John Thompson, dated 1st February, the Council of Safety have determined to purchase the whole of the gun-powder imported by Nathaniel Rumsey in partnership with a gentleman of Philadelphia; or, if that cannot be done, then so much as you can agree for; and request you would make the contract for the use of the Province. They have sent by Captain Craigg, five hundred pounds, currency, to pay for the ton already engaged, but do not intend the whole ton for the separate use of your County. They will take care you shall be plentifully supplied, in proportion to other Counties. You will purchase upon the most reasonable terms. The price, we expect, will not exceed twenty-five pounds, currency, per hundred weight, unless the Committee of Philadelphia should give more. The balance of cash shall be immediately paid to your order, as soon as the powder is landed, and put into your custody or power. We are, &c.

To Colonel John Veazy.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO BALTIMORE COMMITTEE.

[No. 16.]

Annapolis, February 15, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: By a resolve of the Convention, the Committee of Observation were directed to purchase all the sulphur they could meet with in their several Counties, at a price not exceeding six pence per pound, and to have the same lodged in the store of Messrs. Lux and Bowley, in Baltimore Town. We desire you will let us know what has been done in your County, in consequence of that resolve. We are, &c.

To the Committee of Observation for Baltimore County.

GUSTAVUS SCOTT TO DANIEL OF ST. THOMAS JENIFER.

Princess-Anne, February 15, 1776.

SIR: I am directed by the Committee of Observation of this County, to inform you, that the Independent company raised for this County, and commanded by Captain Gunby, will be collected at this place on Tuesday next; and they are desirous some way should be pointed out for supplying them with provisions and other necessities. If I remember right, the mode of victualling the troops is left entirely in the breast of the Council of Safety; and I presume you have taken some order in it before this time.

There is certainly a necessity that provisions and firewood should be immediately procured by some person or other for the several companies, or the probable event will be, that they will, or at least many of them, leave their place of station. If a particular person in each County should be appointed, either by the Council of Safety, or the Contractor-General, I would beg leave to mention to you Mr. James Geoghegan, a merchant of this town, both willing and capable of executing the business. I beg some immediate order may be taken in this matter; and am, for the Committee, sir, your most obedient servant,

GUSTAVUS SCOTT.

To Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, Esq.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER RECEIVED IN LONDON (BY WAY OF NEW-YORK) DATED PHILADELPHIA, FEBRUARY 15, 1776.

The saints of this place are, many of them, turned sinners. The Friends, who have money, are as averse to drawing their purse-strings, as to drawing a trigger. Paper currency is become plenty here, yet every one wishes for the ready, though no one dare speak, for fear of the displeasure of the Congress, which is as arbitrary as the Inquisition in Spain. Soldiers are raising, and the river fortifying below this city, though you know vessels of any burden, even a large frigate, could not come up here. Two hulks are moored, in order to be sunk, should an attempt be made, and thereby the channel blocked. Believe me, many people here are heartily tired of our great men's knight errantry; for I am afraid, on a formidable appearance of the King's troops, the Congress will not find so many friends here as they imagine.

In Provincial Congress, New-Jersey, Brunswick, }
February 15, 1776. }

The Letter from the honourable Continental Congress, of the 12th instant, was read the second time, and is in the words following:

"Philadelphia, February 12, 1776.

"GENTLEMEN: The arrival of troops at New-York, the importance of that place to the welfare of America, and the necessity of throwing up a number of works to prevent our enemies from landing and taking post there, render it necessary that a number of troops should immediately join Major-General Lee. I am, therefore, desired to apply to you, and request you would, with all possible expedition, send detachments of your Minute-Men, equal to a battalion, under proper officers, and well armed and accounted, to New-York, there to be under the command of General Lee.

"Your approved zeal, in the cause of your country, gives me the strongest assurances that you will, with alacrity, embrace this opportunity of giving aid to your neighbours, and that your people will cheerfully engage in a service by which they will not only render essential service to their country, but also have an opportunity of acquiring military skill and knowledge in the construction of field-works, and the method of fortifying and intrenching camps, by which they will be the better able, when occasion calls, to defend their rights and liberties.

"I am, gentlemen, your obedient, humble servant,

"JOHN HANCOCK, President.

"To the Honourable Convention of New-Jersey."

The Congress taking the above Letter into consideration, and desirous of doing every thing in their power to promote the common cause, do Resolve, unanimously, That the above requisition be complied with; and that detachments of Minute-Men, properly accounted, equal to a battalion in the Continental service, be immediately made, and marched to New-York, under the command of Charles Stewart, Esq., Colonel; Mark Thompson, Esq., Lieutenant-Colonel; Fredrick Frelinghuysen and Thomas Henderson, Esquires, Majors; and that said Battalion, when joined with the Continental forces, be under the command of Major-General Lee.

Ordered, That Colonel Stewart wait on the honourable Continental Congress, and take their orders respecting the supplying of said Battalion.

A true copy.

WILLIAM PATTERSON, Secretary.

New-York, February 15, 1776.

Yesterday, being the day appointed for the General Assembly of this Province to meet, a few of the Members met accordingly. The Governor was pleased to prorogue their next meeting, to the 14th day of March next.

The alarm and confusion in this city, for some days past, was truly distressing, occasioned chiefly by the unexpected arrival of General Clinton, in the Mercury frigate, and two other vessels, a ship with troops, and a brig from Boston. They sailed from hence three days ago, it is said for North-Carolina, since which we have enjoyed some small degree of quiet, but, how long it will continue, is hard to tell. Last Lord's day we were in much confusion; people in almost every street were loading carts with their goods; our churches were nearly empty, and those who went could scarcely hear the preacher's voice; in short, all was trepidation and confusion. The greatest part of the inhabitants, with their moveables, have taken refuge in the country, particularly the women and children. What aggravated the distressing scene was, the poor were flying with their children and little all, to the country, many of whom could scarcely pay their ferriage, and did not know where to get shelter. It is worthy of observation, that though many were taking advantages of the distresses of their brethren, by charging exorbitant prices for cartage, freight, &c., there were some who acted a worthy part, and came from a considerable distance in the country, to carry the goods of poor people gratis; an example worthy of imitation.

COLONEL WATERBURY TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

New-York, February 13, 1776.

PRESIDENT HANCOCK: I received orders from the Continental Congress, in January last, to raise five or six hundred men to go on an expedition against the Tories on Long-Island. In consequence of which orders, I immediately appointed my officers, and raised the number of men that I was directed to raise, and provided provisions for them; and the men were on their march, and a number of people employed in cutting the vessels out of the harbours, (as at that time the vessels were all frozen in,) when I received counter-orders. The expense of raising, and the time that they were employed, amounted to a considerable sum. I desire to know, sir, whether I can receive the money to pay off the expense without coming to Philadelphia, as it would be very difficult for me to leave my regiment at present, and the people are daily demanding their pay from me. I would beg the favour of you, sir, to direct me in what way I shall apply.

In the mean time, I am, sir, with the greatest truth and respect, your Honour's most obedient, humble servant,

DAVID WATERBURY, JUN.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., President of the Continental Congress at Philadelphia.

PETER T. CURTENIUS TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 15, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The Quartermaster of Colonel Drake's Regiment has applied to me for provision. I have no provision in store; and, if I had, it is impossible for me to go through all the business I have on hand. Should, therefore, be glad that the honourable Congress would appoint a Commissary pro tempore, in the regiment, to provide for them, until you write to Walter Livingston, Esq., to appoint one of his Deputies to reside here, which will be a saving to the publick, because he gets paid by the month, and I get a commission.

I am, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

PETER T. CURTENIUS.

To the Provincial Congress of New-York.

JOSEPH BLANCHARD TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 15, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I have occasion to wait on his Excellency Governor Tryon, to get the Province seal affixed to a small patent, which myself and some others are concerned in. I, therefore, beg the favour to have liberty to go on board the ship in which the Governor now is, for the purpose aforesaid. It will greatly oblige those interested, and, also, your most obedient, and very humble servant,

JOSEPH BLANCHARD.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress, now assembled at the City of New-York.

R. THURMAN TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 15, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: In my application to you, gentlemen, yesterday, I made no mention of any particular rank I would be glad to hold, humbly submitting that matter to your Honours' judgment, which I did not doubt was the case with the other gentlemen; but I find that companies and first lieutenantcies have been particularly solicited for, and, as my silence, on that head, may be construed into an indifference in me what rank I obtained, I take this opportunity of declaring my wish for as high a rank in the army as your Honours' may judge my poor abilities capable of filling with propriety, and to your satisfaction.

I am, gentlemen, your most humble servant,

R. THURMAN.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress of New-York.

SAMUEL THOMPSON TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

Brookhaven, February 15, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Whereas, by the Convention of this Province, the Committee of Suffolk County were directed to make a return of a draft of the several harbours in said County, to the said Convention, as soon as might conveniently be. Pursuant thereto, the County Committee ordered me to send in a draft of the East and West harbours of Brookhaven, commonly known by the names of Setauket and Stony-Brook harbours; and, although I know myself a bad draftsman, yet I have undertaken the task, unequal to it as I was, and have endeavoured to make something like a plan, not only of the harbours and channels, but, also, of the beaches and lands between them, and have, also, endeavoured to tell something of their length and distances, and, also, of the depth of the water in some places.

By my card, I have made the distance from Mount-Misery-Clift, or Point, by Setauket-Harbour, eight miles and an half; but, I believe, as the shore runs, it is more than ten miles to Rasepeige-Clift, at the west end of Long-Beach, in Smithtown, a long and very defenceless shore; but, although some people think it a matter of small importance whether Setauket-Harbour be fortified or not, I profess I cannot be of their opinion, as there is not one harbour, from the Oysterpond's Point to Setauket-Harbour, that a vessel of any considerable burden can get into, and the distance is more than fifty miles. I think Setauket-Harbour must be secured by a small fort built on the beach that runs off from Mount-Misery-Point, as no vessel of burden can get in without coming within forty rods of said fort. And, if our cruisers should happen to be chased at low water, I think they may run in within an hundred rods of said fort. If it should be done only with a small battery, and the enemy should land to the east of them, and come upon the back of them, as they may do at low water, our soldiers will have no shelter. I think there should be, at this place, not less than six or eight guns, some of which should be nine or twelve-pounders; on the Sound side, small guns would answer; on the back side, Stony-Brook-Harbour would need but two six or nine-pounders, placed on the high clift. Some have thought it would be best to place the battery on George's Neck, four hundred rods from the harbour, but I cannot join with them, (at Setauket-Harbour.) Justice Strong, by whom you will receive these few lines, can, I think, explain the matter more fully to you.

We are very much in want of a gunsmith here to fix our guns and make us bayonets; but gunsmiths are very extortionate in their asking, which I think ought to be looked to, as their work is not worth more now than it used to be, when they would do their work better, and for a much less price. There are several blacksmiths in this town that say they would take in a good workman, and assist him, and, unless we can have a workman, we cannot possibly be fixed as we ought to be, to defend our country. There are numbers amongst us that have no guns, nor could they buy if they had money.

Gentlemen, from your very humble servant,

SAMUEL THOMPSON.

To the Congress at New-York.

WILLIAM BEDLOW TO JOHN BERRIEN.

Fort Constitution, February, 15, 1776.

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 13th instant, by the carpenters, I this day received, and most truly deplore the situation New-York is in. The Lord reigns king, whom, I trust, will soon restore America to peace and liberty.

A paragraph of your letter, where you say, "two or three of the members of the Congress say no time ought to be lost in contracting for and getting the timber and other necessities to the place for erecting the new Fortress," on which I know not how to act; having no directions what kind of fortress is intended, I cannot tell what timber and necessities will be wanted. The barrack frame we have had brought down from New-Windsor to Moore's Landing, till a convenient opportunity to get it to Pooploop's Kill. Captain Lawrence went, this day, to Poughkeepsie, to procure a place for his family. I have sent down the bearer of this—an honest, good man—express, to obtain some directions respecting the intended work at Pooploop's Kill, which, request you will endeavour to procure, and despatch him back with all speed. I shall give directions to Mr. White, at New-Windsor, to procure timber and frame a store of the dimensions of the one here, with all despatch, as it will be one of the first things, with the barrack, wanted. I beg you will notice that money is wanting now, and will be, continually, to pay contingencies; for the persons we employ to procure the necessities up here, will have a commission for advancing their cash and doing the business, which will be prevented if we are in cash to pay as things are delivered, and will necessarily forward the work.

I am, dear sir, for self and brother Commissioners, your humble servant,

WILLIAM BEDLOW.

To John Berrien.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read March 4, 1776.]

Albany, February 15, 1776.

SIR: I was, last evening, honoured with your favour of the 6th instant, covering sundry resolutions of Congress. I feel, with an irradicable gratitude, the approbation which Congress has been pleased to express of my conduct, in Tryon County.

Agreeable to the former resolutions of Congress, of the 9th November, I had given out, in orders, that all officers who chose to continue in the service, should return their names. This was not complied with by many; but lest they might, hereafter, plead ignorance of the order, I, some days ago, directed Colonel Van Schaick to make me a complete return, on that head, of all such of his officers as are on this side of Canada, which I momentarily expect.

Captain Curtis, late of Hinman's, and Captain Mills, late of Holmes's, to whom I had given recruiting orders before I left Ticonderoga, have completed their companies. Captain McCrackin, of Van Schaick's, has a considerable number enlisted; all these to serve next campaign; and as Congress has ordered four regiments to be levied in this Colony, for the defence thereof, and for garrisoning Crown-Point, &c., and as the three companies above-mentioned were not designated for any particular regiment, I shall incorporate them into Van Schaick's. Hence, I hope this regiment, with the assistance of the Committee of this city and County, will be speedily completed.

As Canada does not afford any pork, and very little beef until the Fall of the year, I could wish that I had more pork here to send up. There will, however, be a sufficiency at the upper posts to supply the troops in Canada, until the roads are well settled in the Spring.

Enclose you the Oneidas' and Mohawk's speech, with my answer to it.

I have wrote to a friend at Niagara, who has resided there some time, to procure and send me a state of that garrison. If Butler has a conference with the Indians at that place, they will, I hope, destroy so much of the garrison's provision as to oblige them to abandon it; but should that not be the case, as it is of great importance that it should be in our possession in order to secure all the Indians, I could wish that an attempt was made to get the Indians to consent that we should invest it; perhaps an offer to pay the Indians the value of all the King's stores that may be found in it, cannot excepted, might induce them to consent that we should try to possess ourselves of it. Two regiments, under an active officer, would be sufficient for the business, as I apprehend nothing more is necessary than to cut off the supplies from Detroit. One of these regiments, I have reason to believe, from the temper of the Whigs in Tryon County, might be raised there.

The Paymaster-General informs me, that many of the pay-rolls of General Wooster's and Colonel Waterbury's Regiment cannot be completed, as no return is made of the men belonging to those regiments, which were discharged by the General. I shall, therefore, in order to prevent the clamour of the soldiers, be under the necessity to give a warrant in favour of the Pay-Table of Connecticut, for what may be estimated still due, that they may pay off such soldiers as can produce their discharges. Perhaps General Wooster may send me the return before the money arrives from Philadelphia, if he has kept an account of them. If so, the necessity of this measure will be superseded.

I am so crowded with business that I have not leisure to send the speech above-mentioned.

I am, sir, with every sentiment of respect, your most obedient, humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., &c.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Cambridge, February 15, 1776.

SIR: Your favour, of the 12th instant, I received, and beg leave to inform you, that I should have most certainly contrived to have spared you some money, for the troops going to Canada, pressing as the demands against me were, had I not been advised of a supply sent you by Congress, for that purpose.

I shall be glad to know whether, when I pay the Militia from your Government, I am to give warrants only for the balance, after deducting the three dollars per man, advanced by your Committee of Pay-Table, and whether I am to refund what they paid, after the Militia have served the time they are engaged for. The whole of them are not yet come in, but I imagine it will not be long first.

I am much obliged, and return you my sincere thanks, for ordering the powder from Providence to this camp, in this time of necessity, and will most cheerfully pay for it, or replace it, when in my power, as shall be most agreeable to you; and, also, for the arms you are good enough to promise to send me, as they are exceedingly wanted. I wish you could have added a cypher or two to the number.

I had received almost a similar letter from General Lee, to the one you have favoured me with, before yours came to hand, and also heard of the arrival of powder, saltpetre, and arms, at Philadelphia. My accounts only make the powder fifteen tons. Be that as it may, it is an event of much importance to us, and, I hope, will be soon followed by more.

I am, &c.,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Governour Trumbull.

COLONEL HUNTINGTON TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Roxbury Camp, February 15, 1776.

HONoured SIR: Since I wrote you last there has been much talk of attacking the strong fortress of our enemies. It has, all along been said, by the Army and others, that when the season should make a good bridge of ice, then would be the time to rout our enemies: we have had such an opportunity, but were not prepared to improve it. Many, however, would have been glad to have engaged in the enterprise, as circumstances were. A cannonade and bombardment will now be attempted, but I fear with little effect, and that, finally, we must be content to remain in our present state; but all is for the best.

The defeat at Quebeck may, eventually, be to the advantage of our cause. The time the news of it got into Boston was opportune; it happened to be published in their paper just as Admiral Graves was sailing for England, that General Carleton was twelve hundred strong in the city, and our Army only twelve hundred! This will probably make the Ministry easy as to an early reinforcement, which might otherwise be expected. However, I judge that object will not be, in the least, neglected by us. I wish a part of this army might be spared to strengthen our posts at the northward. Some sensible, experienced officers in the Army, are of opinion that a brisk cannonade, with carcasses and shells, will render the town so disagreeable as to oblige the enemy to abandon it. How happy would such an event be. In that case, and Quebeck in our hands, this Army only might, properly disposed, be sufficient to defend our whole extensive coast, backed as it is by a good Militia. Much blame has been thrown on our guard, at Dorchester, on occasion of the late excursion of the enemy there, and burning a few desolate houses, but I hear General Ward approved their conduct.

I understand the General has, importunately, asked for what powder you can supply him, which, I hope, will be granted.

JEDEDIAH HUNTINGTON.

To Governour Trumbull.

JAMES OTIS TO MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL.

Barnstable, February 15, 1776.

GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL: It seems, on Saturday last, a French vessel ran on shore, on the south side of the Cape, with a hundred and odd hogsheads of molasses, and some other small articles, and one hogshhead of sugar. She had a French master, and one Pinkum, of Nantucket, the English master. Their papers are all in French, so I can say but little about them. There was on board said vessel one Mons. Le Baron, a gentleman who took passage on board with a design to go to Philadelphia. He appears much of a gentleman; says he was in the King of Prussia's service more than twenty years. I have wrote by him to General Washington, who, no doubt, will examine into his business. He says the French and English masters talked of going into Boston, but they deny it. On the whole, I thought it best to acquaint your Honours as to this matter, and as the goods are taken into custody by Major Hallett and others, they will want the direction of the Court, in this delicate point.

I am your Honours' most humble servant,

JAMES OTIS.

To the Honourable the Council of Massachusetts-Bay.

STEPHEN MOYLAN TO MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL.

Cambridge, February 15, 1776.

SIR: It gives pain to his Excellency that you, and the gentlemen of the honourable Board, should have so much trouble in searching for the copy of a Council of War he has inadvertently sent out of his hands. I am commanded by him to inform you, that it was not the Council of the 18th that he was in want of; it is that of the 16th January, which, if you can furnish him with, he will be very thankful.

His Excellency received a letter this day, from Governour Trumbull, of which the following is an extract:

"Three thousand weight of powder we conclude to order to Major Thompson, Agent for the Massachusetts Colony, on account of money he supplied to Mr. Shaw, the importer for that end, and will consult him or them concerning the use of it."

You well know, sir, the want there is of that article in camp; his Excellency, therefore requests, that you will endeavour to get that powder sent hither. If it belongs to Major Thompson, as private property, he requests you will use your influence with him to sell it; if to the Colony, that it be lent or sold, for the use of the United Colonies.

I have the honour to be, sir, your most humble servant,
STEPHEN MOYLAN, P. T. S.

To the Honourable Walter Spooner.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER TO A GENTLEMAN IN LONDON, DATED BARBADOES, FEBRUARY 16, 1776.

General Howe having been greatly distressed for provisions, and expecting to be more so upon the loss of several transports, despatched Captain Payne, of the Eighth, with two transports, in search of provisions. He arrived here about ten days ago. An act of the Island having passed, since the present troubles, prohibiting the exportation of provisions without a license from the Governour and Council, his Excellency called a Council, and leave was given to Captain Payne to purchase what provisions he pleased for Government use. He could get from the Island about forty barrels of beef, and as many tierces of rice, with few peas, oatmeal, &c. But a vessel which was lying off and on was stopped, and proved a serviceable supply to Captain Payne, for he got from her two hundred barrels of provisions, of one sort or another, although at a great price. He sailed yesterday for Antigua, where the Admiral is to supply him. The men-of-war have kept seizing every American vessel they met with; the orders were to carry them into an English harbour, though some were sold at St. Kitts. We want some kinds of provisions at present; but the people are in great dread of what they are to suffer three months hence, especially on account of the Negroes.

No doubt but Administration has received the best information from France relative to their armaments; but, if my intelligence is true, and I believe it is, there are now upwards of five thousand troops at Martinique, and four thousand five hundred at Guadaloupe, and twelve hundred more expected, besides a superior force at St. Domingo. They give out, that this additional force is only meant to preserve peace in their own Colonies, as the American infection may be catching.

COLONEL MINTOSH TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Savannah, in Georgia, February 16, 1776.

SIR: My country having honoured me with the command of the Continental Battalion, ordered to be raised by the General Congress, for the protection and defence of this Colony, (though I fear too partial to my poor abilities,) it becomes my duty to inform your Excellency of the state of our Province, as far as it concerns the service, as well as of the troops to be immediately under my command.

Our Province has a front along the sea-coast of above one hundred miles, covered by a range of islands, divided from each other by eight rivers from the main land, which makes as many good inlets and harbours, most of them capable of receiving any frigate, and, as some say, much larger ships. Our settlements extend back to the north-west above two hundred miles, in other parts to the south-west not above ten, and very thinly inhabited; indeed, this large space of land, altogether, has not more than three thousand men, chiefly in the back country, and many disaffected and doubtful in our cause, especially the men of the greatest property among us. Our slaves will be above fifteen thousand souls, mostly within twenty miles of the sea-coast, and make above thirty-five thousand tierces of rice, annually, besides many other articles of provision, which, with our fine harbours, make the security of this Colony, though weak in itself, of the utmost consequence to the whole Continent of America; and we have every reason to think our enemies intend to make it a place of general rendezvous and supplies.

We are bounded south by the garrisoned Province of East-Florida, who have now, as I am well informed, five hundred Regulars in St. Augustine, and one thousand more expected there daily from Europe. On the west of us, is the Province of West-Florida, the numerous nations of the Creek, Choctaw, and Cherokee Indians, besides lesser tribes, supposed to have at least ten thousand gun-men, brave, intrepid, and eager for war, whom we will have the utmost difficulty to keep at peace with us, as we want every article of their usual supply, and now furnished them in great plenty from the two Floridas. Our metropolis is situated in the north corner of the Province, upon a bluff, or sand-hill, thirty feet high, or more, above the water, and fifteen miles up the river Savannah, from the Inlet of Tybee, where five ships of war, the Syren, the Scarborough, the Raven, the Tamar, and Cherokee, besides tenders, are now lying, and two large transports, having, it is said, above three hundred men on board, and expecting more in daily, with what design, whether for this Colony only, or Carolina, or both together, we are not yet informed. Our Province has declared itself in a state of alarm, and resolved not to supply the men-of-war with provision, and ordered a draft of half the Militia to the town of Savannah to oppose the landing of any troops.

Our Provincial Congress having accepted the battalion ordered for their protection and defence, chose the officers the 29th and 30th ultimo, (a return of whom shall accompany this,) and made them sign the enclosed test, before their commissions were delivered; and I have this day issued general orders for recruiting, which has been hitherto prevented by many obstacles in providing money for that and other necessary services, and I fear will yet be attended with some difficulty. We expect very few in our own Province; that of South-Carolina, is said, to be already drained of such people as will enlist, by their Provincial regiments, besides, their bounty, subsistence, &c., is so much better than ours. Therefore, I expect we must have recourse, distant at it is, to North-Carolina, with this additional disadvantage, that our currency passes in no other Colony but our own, and we have received very little Continental money yet.

I have received no kind of orders or instructions from the General Congress, or your Excellency; nor have I yet been able to obtain even a copy of the American Articles of War, which makes me at a loss how to act in many cases; therefore, I shall wish any orders or directions your Excellency will please to send me, to be as full and frequent as possible; also, to be informed how far we are under the control of the Provincial Congress, &c., of this or any other Province where we are upon duty, and what rank we hold when acting with Militia or Provincial troops.

I shall take the liberty of appointing Surgeons to the battalion, which are so indispensably necessary, that I suppose the neglect of not naming any must be owing to our Delegates; and, also, to make Captain Colson's a rifle company, when raised, which, I think, will be useful, and hope will meet with your Excellency's approbation, and I doubt not but we will be obliged to arm more with such guns, for want of others, which are very scarce.

I have the honour to be, your Excellency's most obedient and most humble servant, LACHLAN MCINTOSH.

To His Excellency George Washington, Esq., Commander-in-Chief of the American Forces.

In Provincial Congress, Savannah, February 10, 1776.

PROVINCE OF GEORGIA:

Whereas a Battalion upon the Continental establishment is now raising in this Province; and whereas doubts may arise, how far the same is subject to the control of the Provincial civil power: Now, therefore, be it known, and we the several subscribers, Officers bearing commissions in the said Battalion, do hereby declare, that we hold ourselves, and the non-commissioned officers and privates, and all others belonging to the said Battalion, subject and subordinate to such supreme civil powers of this Province as are, or shall be erected for the purpose of defending our rights and liberties. And further, we bind ourselves, upon the words of soldiers and men of honour, at all times to obey and carry into effect, as far as in us lies, the orders and commands of the present, or any future Congress or Council of Safety of this Province, as the same shall from time to time be issued to us. Provided nevertheless, That the same do not contradict or interfere with the orders or directions of the General Congress, or a Committee thereof, or any General, or other officer, by them appointed over us.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our names, together with the rank and date of our commissions opposite thereto.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO PHILADELPHIA COMMITTEE.

[No. 18.]

Annapolis, February 16, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: By order of the last Convention, a sum of money was appropriated for the erecting of a manufactory of saltpetre, in every County of this Province, and Supervisors in each County were appointed to carry the same into execution.

It was, also, earnestly recommended to the people to manufacture crude nitre in their private families, and an ample price was directed to be paid them for what they should make and deliver to each Supervisor.

We are not insensible of the natural advantages we possess for manufacturing that necessary article, and have some men skilful in promoting it, residing among us, but are nevertheless greatly indebted to you for your kind and obliging offer of instructing such persons of our Province, as may be thought necessary, at your publick works, an offer that may be of great service to our Supervisors living distant from the residence of our men of skill, to whom we shall communicate the same, and press them to accept it.

We are, &c.

To the Committee of Safety, Philadelphia.

ANDREW BEALL TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

February 16, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: As there are not muskets provided for the Militia, and their guns being of different sizes, and as I think it necessary we should be put in readiness to make the best defence we possibly can, I pray your Honours would order, that out of the stock at Bladensburg, there may be one hundred and seventy-two pounds powder, and three cwt. lead, lodged in my hands for each of the companies, which I will see forthcoming when called for.

I am, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant,
ANDREW BEALL.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

C. BEATTY AND B. JOHNSON TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Fredericktown, February 16, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: By a resolve of the late Convention, there is to be sums of money transmitted to the Committees of Observation in the respective Counties, to defray the expenses of the several Minute Companies. Captain Stricker's demands, by a special order of the Convention, are discharged. Captain Young's and Captain Good's remain otherwise. Some of the men in those companies are anxious to have what is due, and we believe the Captains have an uneasy time of it. If business will admit you to attend to this matter, and you will have the money sent up soon, we think it will be productive of good consequences. Captain Good has been here several times, expecting you had ordered the money to be transmitted.

We are, gentlemen, your obedient servants,

C. BEATTY,
B. JOHNSON.

To the Council of Safety of Maryland.

ROBERT ALEXANDER TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Philadelphia, February 16, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I send you, enclosed, copies of the instructions and private signals of the several men-of-war and transports on the American station. As these may be of essential service to the different armed vessels now fitting cut in America, copies, by order of Congress, have been transmitted to the different Colonies; and I am ordered by Congress to acquaint you, that they have bound themselves to secrecy; so it is expected that you will consider yourselves under a like tie, and the copy you deliver to the Captain, of your armed vessels, be under seal enclosed, to be opened after his sailing.

The publick papers will communicate all the intelligence, we have, except the arrival of twenty tons of powder, and three thousand stand of small-arms, in Connecticut. We shall send forward some powder and arms to your Province, but I am sorry to say, if we rely on foreign arms, and they are not better than the sample we have, our dependance will be like a broken reed, as I think, if used, they will kill more of our troops than the enemy. What those imported for our Province cost, I know not; a parcel imported here, on a private adventure, have been purchased by Congress, at three pounds two shillings and five pence. Every thing of this kind is exceedingly high; powder seventeen pounds ten shillings per hundred weight. Much of this business passes through a Committee of which I am a member. Patriotism sinks before private interest, and I find many men here, who rank themselves in that class, generally exacting the most from the necessity of their country, hence the publick is plundered.

We have sent off ten six-pounders for the ship, and shall purchase two more. Congress have appointed a delegation to Canada. The persons are Doctor Franklin, S. Chase, and Mr. Charles Carroll, of Carrollton. I wish you would erect a powder-mill in your Province; I could procure you saltpetre. Your letters of the 1st, 8th, 9th, and 10th instant, are come to hand, and the contents shall be observed.

I am, with respect, gentlemen, your humble servant,

ROBERT ALEXANDER.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

COLONEL HEARD TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

Staten-Island, February 16, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Agreeable to your requisition to the Provincial Congress of New-Jersey, I am now on Staten-Island, with a battalion of seven hundred men, waiting your further orders and instructions, which I should be glad to have as soon as is convenient, and am, in the mean time, gentlemen, yours, &c.

NATHANIEL HEARD.

To the Provincial Congress, at New-York.

P. S. Since I have been on the Island, there have been sundry complaints made, of many of the principal men here threatening they would kill any of the troops that should come on the Island to disarm them, and others that have supplied the barges with live stock.

PHILIP BROOKS TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 16, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: Having had an opportunity of feeling the oppression exercised by the Ministry over Ireland, the place of my nativity, and as I have tasted the sweets of American liberty before this unhappy contest, common sense directs in the choice I should make for myself and posterity. Therefore, as a young, unmarried man, I can neither think myself excusable, nor a useful member of society, while content with indifferently examining the publick prints at home.

To act as I could wish, among the Independents, would not answer the frugality with which I am obliged to manage my time. To enter among the private Provincials would be agreeable, could the generality of my companions be formed to the agreement of religious, or even genteel behaviour; but the contrary, which is often the case, would be very disagreeable to a person of any sensibility.

These considerations have urged me to apply for any commission in the service beneath a Captain, as I do not imagine myself capable of conducting that important rank.

Your complying with this request shall be gratefully acknowledged, and I hope suitably improved, by, gentlemen, your respectful, humble servant,

PHILIP BROOKS.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress.

GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Lebanon, February 16, 1776.

SIR: In consequence of your pressing request, by Lieutenant-Colonel Gay, I have ordered, in addition to about three tons of powder a few days ago directed to you from Providence, two tons more, from Norwich, which is all that can possibly be spared from this Colony at present. I have, also, sent you thirty arms, and believe in good order. The powder, to the amount of four tons, we must beg to have replaced by the Continent, as soon as you can advise the Congress thereof, to be sent and lodged, one ton at Fairfield, one ton at New-Haven, and two tons at Middletown, and trust you will be so good as to advise the Congress of your being supplied with the above quantity from this Colony, at your request, and the full expectation of its being replaced in the manner above-mentioned, as this is but a small part we have furnished the Army with since last Spring.

The arms I have sent you, are of barrels taken at Ticonderoga, which have been fitted up here with stocks, locks, iron ramrods, bayonets, &c., beside having the barrels to straighten, and many bruises to take out, the cost of which will be upwards of fifty shillings, each, an account of which shall soon transmit to you.

May the God of armies direct you in all your plans of operation, and succeed you therein to the salvation of this oppressed country, is the most sincere desire of your obedient, humble servant,

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

To His Excellency General Washington.

COSMOPOLITAN, NO. VIII.

To the Inhabitants of the American Colonies.

FRIENDS AND FELLOW-CITIZENS: Without a repetition I shall, in this paper, stick in part to the text preached from in my last, relying upon the reader's recollection. In proof of the then allegations against the prime procurer of our present distresses, I produced in evidence letters wrote when he was second in Provincial authority, but first in the chair of mischief; I shall now consider him where we have occasionally placed him twice before, as first in command, and in villany second to none under Heaven.

It gives me no pleasure, but the reverse, to collect those arrows which so mortally wound the character of one of my countrymen, which stab humanity itself, and degrade one of the species into a rank of beings that wants a name. Happier for me, more pleasing to the reader, could materials be found to decorate his temples with the laurels of merited praise. Much rather had I bear his crimes in the arms of silent oblivion to the pit of forgetfulness, than, in the blaze of day, to impute such treacherous designs as are scarce to be met with in the story of the world, and as would blacken the memoirs of a perfidious savage. But injured innocence and aspersed communities call for justice.

Scarcely warm in his prostituted chair, he hurls the full bolts of his collected malice against the people he governed, against their chartered rights, and the charter itself. In order to complete its ruin, in spite of opposition, he declares a variety of plans had engrossed his thoughts. Instead of seeing the beneficent hand of an affectionate father stretched out for the support and protection of the rights of the people, we see them plotted against, and torn away by the claws of a devouring harpy. Great Britain and America, Provinces and Counties, Towns and Parishes, the leaders and the led, fall equally under the lash of his malignant pen.

It was not enough at home, by virtue of illegal warrants, to seize those who dare to oppose the torrent of oppression, and to haul them to jails and to dungeons, if they were suffered to come out, with shouts and with bonfires. It was difficult to restrain the licentiousness of the child, until the disorders of the parent were rectified. Government must act with vigour, and assume in Britain its most rigorous tone.

Not contented with the destruction of one Province, he aims his blows and strikes at the being of all. Being formed into a threefold division, with a nobleman at their head, upon the servile plan of a Spanish origin, they were to be practised into obedience by a quick succession of those little despots. Each Colony was to receive from every session of Parliament acts peculiar to itself, and others in common to all. Measures, says he, respecting America, must be extended to every Colony. Every Assembly was to be totally under the control and direction of the sovereign power of Parliament; and if they refused this servile subjection, all their proceedings were to be null and void: that is, if they did not govern themselves as the subjects of Great Britain or a Minister of State might direct, they were to be deprived of the governing power. What state more abject? What bondage more complete?

As an emblem of gratitude, he is more liberal in his provisions for his own Province, as a requital for received favours. Not satiated with annually mangling and murdering a new elected Council; not satisfied with an absolute negative upon all the proceedings of both branches; not easy with substituting the opinion of a noble Lord in the stead of his own judgment, and superseding the designs of the Constitution by a mandate from a Minister, he importunes with the perseverance of a beggar, either that the Crown might be empowered to appoint a Council instead of the then present one, and to determine it at pleasure, or the Governour to select twelve from the twenty-eight, or the body at large, as he pleased, with whom he might perform every office of Government, and accomplish every oppressive measure; the others to remain merely for the advantage of a check upon the House, and a plague to the community; that he might dispense with calling the Assembly yearly, and that limits might be fixed to the number of its members, as the former would make them more obsequious to his nod and subservient to his purposes, and the latter open wide the doors of bribery and corruption.

From an innate aversion to every thing that is ill, he was determined to leave no stone unturned, no means untried, to hasten the golden period when tyranny and oppression should reign supremely triumphant, and liberty and happiness be banished out of being. He, therefore, because County officers (some justices and one sheriff) had behaved extremely ill, that is, had nobly disdained a concurrence in his open exertions or more private machinations, represents the indispensable necessity of holding their commissions for one or two years only, or of having their appointment and removal entirely in the power of himself or his Royal master.

It was not enough, originally, to appoint, in general, those who were allied to his schemes, but the moment they deserted his glorious cause they must be dismissed from their office, and yield to an obsequious successor. Not only officers, but processes must be stamped with the characters of servitude. A writ of error was to lay from the County to the Courts of the King's Bench, in England, by a statute for the purpose, in order, says he, among other acts, to keep up a sense of the authority of Parliament; imagining that we should not dispute it, as it would affect the titles to our lands and estates.

Let the man of property, the reader of the landed interest, pause here. Let him paint to himself some one in power, or a high Court favourite, trumping up a claim to his possessions; or some Crown officer prosecuting for a pretended forfeiture, upon an old British Star-Chamber statute that he had never heard of, and which possibly never existed; or filing an information upon some new penal edict, or perhaps Royal proclamation, which ought never to be complied with. Let him suppose himself dragged before a Provincial judicature upon the Ministerial model, and there, in a tedious, expensive attendance in defending, stripped of his money, but with a favourable issue. Then let him consider himself as carried to Great Britain upon a writ of error, an appeal, or some other process, and depending there from court to court, until he is dodged out of his right, or ruined by defending it. Or reverse the scene, and let him suppose himself plaintiff, prosecuting for a reparation in damages, a compensation for injuries, or for the recovery of his just rights, with a similar issue. In this situation does not property lose its value? Is not iniquity established by law, and courts a mockery upon justice? Detestable as it is, this would have been the unavoidable effects of Government success.

Already the Jacobitish law sages at home have determined, not only that processes lie from the West-India Colonies to the King's Bench, but from thence a mandamus is issuable to those Colony Courts—an oppressive dependance too galling for an Englishman to bear, for any American to brook.

The destructive qualities of the worst of beings, are, in Holy Writ, compared to a roaring lion roaming for prey. The famous Randolph, for his restless exertions against his country, is, in Mr. Hutchinson's history, compared to the same ferocious animal seeking to devour; exertions which, although treasonable in themselves, in competition with the bloody efforts of the above historian, dwindle into misdemeanours, and hardly deserve the name of crimes. I will not, therefore, injure the one or the other of the above characters, by comparing our hero with either. If we may trace him by his letters, he went from Kingdoms to Continents, from Colonies to Counties, and from Counties to Towns, breathing destruction, and lurking for prey! His epilogue to every scene is a prayer for the concealment of the part he was acting. He may, therefore, fitly be compared to the crocodile, an inhabitant of the torrid zone. This animal is said to frequent rivers and marshes, where it lies concealed among the reeds and rushes, till it finds an opportunity to seize men or creatures, which it drags into the water, always taking this method of drowning them first, that it may afterwards swallow them without resistance.

Our amphibious destroyer imagined that he could first suffocate, by an inundation of British laws, and then riot unmolested on American spoils, its wealth and its happiness. Hence his unremitting clamours against assembled towns, in consultation on matters of their nearest concernment. Pressing are his solicitations, repeated his demands that the subjects of Great Britain would prohibit the subjects of America holding any town-meetings, and subject all concerned in them, except for certain purposes, to incapacities, and the dreadful punishments of a preminure; not only are their thoughts and debates to be circumscribed and restrained to a few licensed subjects, but even an eccentric slip of the tongue was to be corrected by penalties of the severest kind. In vain may you search the records of a Spanish Divan, in vain the alcoves of an Ottoman Court for similar oppression.

It is painful, it is astonishing, it is grievous to reflect, that this country, late the peaceful abode of tranquil freedom, the favourite seat of virtue, the place where was the greatest effulgence of genuine liberty, where a difference of religion, competition of interest, variety of sentiments, subordination of politic bodies, and a multitude of constitutional privileges playing in consort, danced in unjarring harmony in a pleasing round, mutually producing the offices of friendship, hospitality, and social happiness, should, by the treason and villany of one, with his co-operators, be interrupted, overthrown, and yield to the unavoidable calamities of war. That by him public justice should be assassinated, public chastity polluted, public faith prostituted, and the laudable endeavours of the wise and honest suppressed. That the wretch who had caused every branch of our Constitution to droop and hang its head; had paved the way, and opened wide the avenues to servitude; had given bleeding wounds to his country, beat down her most graceful ornaments and firmest bulwarks; that he who had furnished bones for the clashing of discord and the combustion of arms, should, in the storm of war, escape with impunity.

"More yet the methods you, Oh chief! ordained,
To sink your country, and its loyal name.
The shameful efforts 'gainst your native town,
May force from George the Third the British crown."

ANDREW SYMMER TO GOVERNOUR PENN.

Turk's Island, February 17, 1776.

SIR: I have the honour to transmit you a petition, which hath been given to me by a very useful and industrious body of his Majesty's subjects, residing on an island destitute of every necessary of life, salt alone excepted.

Captain Budden hath engaged to the people, to supply them in case he meets with no obstructions; I am certain, sir, he will meet with none from you; and, I flatter myself, the inhabitants of North-America, being well convinced of the importance our salt trade is to their commerce, no hindrance will arise from them.

I have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

ANDREW SYMMER.

To Governour Penn.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER TO A GENTLEMAN IN SCOTLAND,
DATED NORFOLK, VIRGINIA, FEBRUARY 17, 1776.

All the well-affected to Government betook themselves to the shipping, where they are in great safety, and well provided. Lord Dunmore, having foreseen the event, had laid plentifully in of all sorts of provisions. He has given orders to fortify Tucker's Point, where bake-houses and mills are fast erecting. Several vessels are taken from the Rebels, loaded, from the northward, with salt, flour, and grain. The Roebuck, with General Clinton, and a tender, are arrived safe. The tender is to proceed for Cape-Fear, in North-Carolina, in order to raise volunteers, thousands of whom are ready to join the King's troops on being properly accoutred, and provided with arms and ammunition. The Rebels are in the deepest distress, being divested of clothes, ammunition, and lodgings; and, from their not keeping themselves clean, they are overrun with vermin, which, in the Summer season, must breed much sickness. Great numbers of them are already in their hospitals; and, at the least calculation, seven hundred of them are killed, wounded, sick, and taken prisoners. They are, however, desperate to the last degree, and intrenching themselves backward to secure their retreats. The back settlers would, willingly, supply Lord Dunmore with fresh provisions, but have no means of conveying them, except what the negroes forage in the night time. All the Highland emigrants are most friendly to Government.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO GUSTAVUS SCOTT.

[No. 19.]

Annapolis, February 17, 1776.

SIR: The Council of Safety have stipulated and agreed with a contractor, for supplying the regular forces of this Province with provisions; but, as some time must be given to provide the several articles which compose a ration, and it cannot reasonably be expected he will be able to furnish them earlier than the tenth of next month, the troops must be subsisted on the seven shillings and six-pence per week, allowed for that purpose, in the instructions for in-listing men.

The Captains of Independent companies, agreeable to a resolve of the last Convention, are to provide houses for their respective companies, and such sums of money are to be advanced out of the Treasury of that Shore where their company may be stationed, by permission of the Council of Safety, as may be necessary for the purpose. Captain Gunby will, therefore, provide houses for his men upon the best terms he can, and advise us thereof, that we may give him an order for the money on the Eastern-Shore Treasurer, if it should be necessary to advance any; but, as it will be expedient, the station of that company should be first ascertained, and, as we are not so well acquainted with your County as to determine satisfactorily to ourselves, and most advantageously to you, upon a particular place where it might reasonably be expected their troops would render the greatest service, so we should be glad if the Committee of Observation would take the matter into consideration, and give us their sentiments upon it; and as, in all probability, we shall approve of the station recommended by them, we would have the Captain engage proper and necessary houses there immediately, as bedding is an extreme scarce article. Where we have had an opportunity, we have desired the Captains of the several companies, to endeavour to furnish their men with new blankets; but, where they were not to be had, with such as could be got in the neighborhood, though a little worn, upon reasonable terms; they were not to exceed fifteen shillings, or the others twelve shillings and six pence. If Captain Gunby's men are yet unprovided, we would have him adopt that method, as the best, under our circumstances, and will answer his drafts for them.

It is very ambiguous from any thing that appears in the proceedings of the Convention, who are to find fuel for the troops; and, as we conceive, the Captains, respectively, can most advantageously provide that necessary article, so we request Captain Gunby will take the direction of that matter for his company, and occasionally advise us of the expense, that it may be properly defrayed.

We have confidence in your recommendation of Mr. James Geoghagen, and, therefore, shall be obliged to him to supply the company with provision, until the contractor (to whose notice we will recommend him) can do it.

We are, &c.

To Gustavus Scott.

SAMUEL PURVIANCE, JR. TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Baltimore, February 17, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: In pursuance of your orders, to mount the cannon, fit for use, at this place, we have engaged a number of workmen in making wheels and carriages for the purpose, it being the general opinion of all who have a knowledge of such matters, that it is best to mount them as field-pieces, which purpose the guns now here will be very suitable for us; they are all light, say two, three and four-pounders, to the amount of twenty pieces, besides six of nine-pounders, and two of twelve-pounders, belonging to Captain Stone. We had the whole of the guns examined by Mr. George Mathews, who has pronounced them good. The Committee have directed me to apply to you for orders, to provide a parcel of shot, suitable to the guns.

Mr. Daniel Hughes is very anxious to have some person appointed, to go to Antietam, to prove the guns which his brother has cast. I apprehend Captain Fulford is the best qualified to do it, of any person here; it may be of consequence how soon it is done, as those, if they stand proof, might be speedily got down here.

We have about fifty hands at work, on a battery, since Tuesday, at Whetstone, and near two hundred more employed in providing timber, logs, smiths' work, &c., for the boom. I hope we shall have part of our battery ready to mount some guns before the end of next week.

Mr. Alexander writes me that Mr. Morris had promised our Delegates part of some powder, which was arrived at Philadelphia, and which they would immediately forward to this town.

I am, with much respect, gentlemen, your most humble servant,

SAMUEL PURVIANCE, JR.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety, of Maryland.

JAMES LLOYD CHAMBERLINE TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Talbot County, February 17, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I am requested to enclose you the commission granted to Mr. William Goldsborough, who, to gratify his parents, has declined the acceptance thereof.

We made an appointment, in Convention, of Perry Benson, to be Ensign in the Heart-of-Oak Company, to supply the place of their officer, who had been promoted, on a supposition that he stood next in the line for preferment; in this we were mistaken, and find that the commission should have been made out to Henry Colston, their first Sergeant, whose appointment will give general satisfaction to the company, and enclose you that commission, in hopes they may be indulged in the alteration.

I am, respectfully, gentlemen, your very obedient, humble servant,

JAMES LLOYD CHAMBERLINE.

To the Honourable the President of the Council of Safety, of Maryland.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Philadelphia, February 17, 1776.

Is the stoppage of our exports to Great Britain and its Dependencies a political measure?

They who assert that the measures are impolitic, argue thus: It is the interest of every country to export its produce, and to import as little as possible of the luxuries and manufactures of other countries; the former enriches, the latter impoverishes the inhabitants of a country thus exporting and importing; abstain, say they, from the vanities and luxuries with which England used to supply us, and draw the cash of England, by continuing to carry out the product of our labour and industry.

This is specious, not solid reasoning. The exports from this Continent to Great Britain consist chiefly of rough materials, or of such luxuries, which, by being reshipped from the ports of Great Britain, enable its merchants to traffick with foreign nations to great advantage, and to pay a balance, by an exchange of commodities, that must otherwise be discharged in bullion. A stoppage of our exports must, therefore, very sensibly affect the trade of Great Britain to the rest of Europe; and we have reason to conclude, that if such stoppage should subsist for any length of time, the European trade, which England now drives on, would be so much impaired, as to put the balance against her with every European nation. It is, therefore, good policy to withhold our exports from Great Britain, Ireland, and the British West-India Islands.

But, under a total stoppage of our trade, is it possible to support this civil war for any length of time, for three or four years for instance?

It is very difficult to determine what enthusiasm, indignation, and the love of one's country, may not accomplish. We have read of nations stimulated by those passions, though destitute of foreign and internal resources, having made incredible efforts to preserve their freedom; witness the Saguntines and the Carthaginians in the last Punic war. It may be doubted whether these Colonies, if thus reduced, would imitate so glorious an example. Carthage and Saguntum were single cities; their destruction was irrevocably fixed, and death or slavery, the only choice of citizens resolved to die or remain free; an implacable and hated enemy surrounded their walls; one common fate, mutual sufferings, and indignation, inspired them with a courage, heightened by despair, which the perseverance and conduct of Hannibal, and Roman valour could scarce surmount. The instances are not similar, why then expect similar efforts? Without trade, there seem to be but two ways to support the war: emitting paper money, and borrowing, on interest, part of that money so emitted; for, once destroy the credit of your currency, and you render it mere waste paper. Its value depends on its credit, and its credit on the opinion which people at large entertain of our ability to exchange it hereafter for gold and silver. Suppose, for instance, the Continent should emit one hundred millions, who could seriously imagine such a sum would ever be paid off in gold and silver? It follows then, of course, that we are limited in our emissions, because our faculties to redeem those emissions are limited.

To what amount may we emit?

No man, perhaps, can solve this question; the person who should even presume to guess, must have a thorough knowledge of these Colonies; he must be well acquainted with the number of their people, their inclinations, arts, and industry, the product of our soil, its capability of improvement, the fisheries, trade, and manufactories which may be established and successfully carried on. The extent of these emissions will depend, too, in a great degree, on the events of the war. A merchant who prospers in trade, may obtain credit to almost any amount; his credit may exceed, by several hundred thousands, his real capital.

Suppose six millions currency emitted; what part of this emission might be borrowed on interest, and on what interest?

Where the risk is great, the interest must be high; where the circumstances of the borrower are conceived to be desperate, he will not be able to borrow, or must give an extravagant premium. The possibility, then, of borrowing, and the rate of interest, will depend on our good or bad success. If six millions were to be emitted, and our affairs should prosper, perhaps two millions five hundred thousand might be borrowed by the Congress at six per cent. interest. That sum would but barely answer the charge of one campaign; of future expenses, however, a good judgment may be formed from the past. It certainly will not be good policy to rely altogether on the above ways and means of raising money to carry on the war; they will only be found to answer in case of success. If we should have no other resources, the knowledge of this very circumstance may encourage our enemy to protract the war. The quit-rents, heretofore paid to the Crown, may be applied to the publick use; but, besides the inability of the people to pay these quit-rents, when deprived of the means of payment, they will go but a little way towards the support of the war.

How long is it expected that these Colonies can sit easy under a total stagnation of external commerce, and the almost entire stoppage of the courts of justice?

This situation is surely too constrained to admit of any considerable duration; the feelings of our people and our exigencies point out the necessity of opening a trade to foreign nations. To protect our trade, a marine is wanting. To form one during this war, adequate to the purpose, seems impracticable. We must make it the interest of foreigners to take this burden on themselves; a declaration of independence might, possibly, tempt France and Spain to run the risk of a war with England, provided those powers could be assured of our remaining independent; they would, no doubt, be willing to guarantee our independence, but they may apprehend, and not without good grounds, that their taking a too early part with us in the war would induce Great Britain to make peace with the Colonies. It may, therefore, be the policy of France and Spain not to appear forward and desirous of intermeddling; to suffer the war to continue, that the contending parties, exasperated by mutual injuries, may not again coalesce; secretly to countenance their subjects' commerce with these Colonies, and, perhaps, to assist them with money, arms, and ammunition. Should the British Government direct the war to be prosecuted in the manner it has been, and should every Colony, in turn, experience such horrid ravages, the resentment and indignation occasioned thereby may totally alienate the minds of the Colonists, and wean them from that affection which heretofore bound them to Great Britain; the force of habit will wear off; the remembrance of past benefits will be obliterated by recent wrongs, and the sweets of independence once enjoyed, will effectually preclude a subsequent dependence on Great Britain.

Will not the mischiefs of independence overbalance the benefits?

To determine this question, both must be stated, and dispassionately considered, to form a true judgment. The evils apprehended from independence may be reduced to these three: civil dissensions; the establishment of tyranny, as a certain consequence; and the great expense of fleets and armies to maintain that independence. As a Federal Union of these Colonies will probably ensue, should they separate from Great Britain, it may be presumed, that the utmost precaution will be used in drawing the articles of the Union; and, in the formation and settlement of this new Government, every security which human foresight can suggest will be taken for the preservation of the liberties, privileges, and independency of each Colony, and the protection of all. Dissensions can spring only from the ambition of the more powerful Colonies, or from a contrariety of interests. What probability is there that two or three Colonies will unite to subdue the rest? Is it not more probable, should any Colony or Colonies break the Union, and from the ambitious project of conquering the others, that these will immediately unite against the infringers of the publick faith? Foreign assistance would not be wanting to support the weaker confederacy, and this consideration alone would deter the stronger from the attempt.

If ambition should not occasion a civil war, a difference of interests and religion may; the interests of these Colonies are as different as their religious tenets.

This hath often been said, but remains to be proved. Some disputes may arise concerning trade, duties, customs, and impositions on merchandise, or about the limits and boundaries of contiguous Provinces; these disputes must be adjusted and finally settled by the Great Council, or States-General of the United Colonies. Such partial controversies will, for many years at least, give way to the publick safety, which would be endangered by suffering them to grow to too great a pitch; the common enemy might take advantage of such civil discord, and reduce all the Colonies under one yoke. In this tolerating age we have no great cause to apprehend a religious war; the spirit of religious persecution is wearing off in all the civilized nations of Europe, and will still decrease as they become more enlightened and refined. Can we, then, rationally suppose that these Colonies, hitherto eminently distinguished for toleration, and whose Union will be founded on that humane and politick principle, will, from a frantick zeal for religion, plunge themselves into the complicated miseries of a civil and religious war? If neither the ambition of some Colonies, nor a difference of interests, nor religious rancour, are likely to produce a civil war, it follows of course, that the establishment of tyranny (the second evil) is extremely improbable and remote.

But, to preserve our independence, will not a strong fleet and army be necessary? Neither can be supported without a great expense, and standing armies are dangerous to liberty, besides being burdensome to those who pay them.

When these Colonies enjoy an unfettered trade, the profits of it will enable them to equip and maintain a naval force sufficient to guard their coasts and commerce, and this fleet will render a standing Army unnecessary; a well regulated Militia will answer all the purposes of self-defence, and of a wise and just Government. The expense, therefore, of a regular standing Army may be saved without exposing ourselves to danger from a foreign enemy, and the Militia will be able to suppress any internal commotions, excited by factious and discontented men.

What will be the probable benefits of independence?

A free and unlimited trade; a great accession of wealth, and a proportionable rise in the value of land; the establishment, gradual improvement, and perfection of manufactures and science; a vast influx of foreigners, encouraged by the mildness of a free, equal, and tolerating Government to leave their native countries, and settle in these Colonies; an astonishing increase of our people from the present stock. Where encouragement is given to industry; where liberty and property are well secured; where the poor may easily find subsistence, and the middling rank comfortably support their families by labour, there the inhabitants must increase rapidly. To some of these causes we owe the doubling of our numbers in somewhat more than twenty-five years. If such hath been the progress of population under the former restraints on our trade and manufactures, a population still more rapid may be reasonably expected when these restraints come to be taken off.

Should France and Spain, either from inability to contend with Great Britain, or governed by weak, irresolute, or corrupted counsels, or influenced by the dangerous precedent of countenancing subjects in arms against their Sovereign, refuse to enter into any treaty or alliance with these Colonies, and prohibit their subjects from trading with them, could the Colonies, by their own strength and internal resources, maintain the war for five or six years?

It is not at all probable that this war can last so long. If the first efforts of the British Government should prove unsuccessful, the decay of trade, and the consequent distress and ruin brought on the manufacturers and merchants of Great Britain, will occasion great divisions in the nation, perhaps a revolution; such factions and tumults would certainly prevent a full exertion of the British nation's strength. Should the war be protracted to three years, even after that space of time, its operations will become languid and feeble; a smaller force may then be opposed to the enemy, and as we diminish our land army, we may augment our navy; in the Winter we may force, at least a clandestine trade with foreigners, in spite of the British marine; during the war manufactures may be set on foot, and promoted by the respective Legislatures of the several Colonies; we shall be able in eighteen or twenty months to make within ourselves gunpowder, cannon, fire-arms, and all the implements of war; the establishment of such manufactories will find employment for the poor, and be a prodigious saving to the country; a strict economy may lessen our expenses in other particulars; the pay of the Army may, perhaps, hereafter be reduced, and a well disciplined Militia, under proper regulations, might put us in a condition to disband a considerable part of our regular forces. Should the Colonists conduct the war with prudence and success, loans of money may, perhaps, be negotiated among foreigners, and even in England, on easy terms; a contraband trade will enrich some of our merchants, and bring in gold and silver; the procurement of those precious metals is an object of the utmost consequence: a certain proportion will be requisite to give credit to our paper currency. Our country abounds with all the necessities of life; we have iron, copper, and lead mines, and we already make iron in quantities equal to our consumption, and the increasing demand. Men, convinced of the justice of their cause, animated with the love of liberty and fighting in defence of it, are capable of incredible efforts; conduct, valour, virtue, and perseverance combined, are irresistible; necessity may require the full exertion of all these, but the skillful politician would not wish to see the patriotism of his countrymen put to a severe trial.

Suppose the war to continue six years, and that it will cost us three millions per annum. If victory, at the end of that period, should effect and secure our independence, eighteen millions will not, perhaps, on reflection, be thought any such mighty encumbrance. An unconfined trade will open new sources of treasure; domestick will supply the place of foreign manufactures, and prevent a very great drain of our wealth; foreign luxuries may be subject to high duties; the burden too, as it will be divided among a greater number, will fall the lighter on the rising generation; six millions of people will probably discharge the debt contracted by three; the vacant and ungranted land may be made a fund for paying off part of this debt, by appropriating the purchase money and the reserved quit-rents to that purpose. The pernicious consequences of a heavy national debt, so fatal to Great Britain, should teach the Colonies wisdom, and induce them to get rid of the load as quickly as possible. It is not the interest of states, more than of individuals, to be indebted; but as individuals, on some occasions, may contract debts with a view to future gain, so states may prudently, in particular emergencies, anticipate their revenues by borrowing present capitals on the credit of future interests, that the abilities of several years may be cast into one. We cannot pay too great a price for liberty, and posterity will think independence a cheap purchase at eighteen millions.

COLONEL WAYNE TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

Chester, February 17, 1776.

SIR: In obedience to the resolve of Congress, of the 12th instant, I have caused a return of my battalion to be made, which is herein enclosed, amounting in the whole to five hundred and sixty, officers included, now in Chester and Marcus Hook; ten commissioned officers are absent with their recruits, what number, I cannot determine, but apprehend the battalion must be complete.

I must beg leave to mention that they are in want of almost every necessary, and I am doubtful there is not that industry used, which is essentially necessary for procuring the same. I beg that the gentlemen appointed for that purpose may be urged to take the most speedy means to supply our people with their proper uniforms, &c., &c.

Interim, I am, with true regard, your most obedient, humble servant,

ANTHONY WAYNE.

To Colonel John Hancock, President of Congress.

A Return of the Fourth Battalion of PENNSYLVANIA Regulars, whereof ANTHONY WAYNE, Esq., is Colonel, CHESTER, FEBRUARY 17, 1776.

Wanted to complete the establishment, one Chaplain, and one Surgeon's Mate.

N. B. Captain Taylor not yet arrived with his company, included in the above. All the officers marked on recruiting, are not yet arrived, nor any return made of the number of the recruits by them enlisted. As to their appointment, it is like that of most all new-raised troops, in want of every article, except about twelve rifles and twenty muskets, without bayonets.

MICHAEL RYAN, Adjutant.

MEMORIAL OF JOHN FRASER TO THE CONGRESS.

[Read February, 1776.]

On my arrival at Albany, from Canada, I waited on General Schuyler, to know whether any, or what charge, was sent against me. On General Schuyler's informing me that Brigadier Wooster had mentioned no particular charge, I then exposed to him the treatment I had met with, the reasons, and the letters that had passed between me and Brigadier Wooster. General Schuyler desired a written account, which, he said, he would send to the Congress, and, in compliance with his desire, he received what follows:

"Albany, February 4, 1776.

"SIR: You will receive, herewith, copies of letters that passed between Brigadier Wooster and me. To explain them, and to give, at the same time, some idea of the treatment I have met with, I must go as far back as the taking of the vessels near the river Sorrel; in the river St. Lawrence. I was on board, but, being only a passenger, and not belonging either to the troops on board or to the King's ship, I was at liberty, (likewise several other passengers,) by an express article in Brigadier-General Prescott's treaty of surrender, to return to my family in Montreal, unmolested. Twenty-four hours, however, after my arrival, I received from Brigadier-General Montgomery the letter that follows:

"Montreal, November 23.

"SIR: The very great uneasiness expressed by the friends of the United Colonies at your residence in this town, lays me under the necessity of requiring you to remove to some village on the other side of St. Lawrence-River. The choice I shall leave to yourself, requesting only that you will not remove from it without acquainting me, and that you will be so circumspect in your conduct as not to excite suspicion.

"I am exceedingly concerned that the peculiar delicacy of my situation obliges me to lay you under this restraint; but your having been under arms in Colonel Allen's affair, and your great influence among those who are esteemed inimical to the measures of Congress, together with the jealousy entertained of you by our friends, make this step indispensably necessary.

"I hope you will not distress me by any application not in my power to comply with at present. It is with regret I give you this uneasiness.

"I am, sir, your most obedient servant,

"RICHARD MONTGOMERY.

"To the Honourable John Fraser, Esq."

This I might have complained of, being in direct opposition to a positive article of the capitulation. However, I had so little desire of remaining in town, that I only acquainted General Montgomery that I had a farm, five miles from town, where I had all the necessary conveniences for myself and family; on which he sent the next lines:

"Montreal, November 23.

"SIR: I must request the favour of you to remove to the other side of the river. I did imagine you would not have had any objections to your father-in-law's house, at Longueil, and have made that your place of residence. I hope, sir, you will be as expeditious as is compatible with your convenience.

"I have the honour to be your most obedient servant,

"RICHARD MONTGOMERY.

"To the Honourable John Fraser, Esq."

I immediately crossed the river, leaving my family behind. I had not been above eight days in my new quarters, with Mr. Dechambault, my father-in-law, when we had a visit from an officer and a great number of armed men, about eleven at night. He took us from our house, with our papers, to a tavern at some distance, where we found Colonel Ritzema, who informed us that Brigadier Wooster, who then commanded at Montreal, had received some information that some plot was hatching against the Continental troops, and that some powder, arms, &c., lay concealed at Mr. Dechambault's house. The house, therefore, was searched, up and down; nothing was found; indeed, Colonel Ritzema and the other officers seemed soon convinced that they had had a false alarm, and had been in too great a hurry. We were allowed to return home. Some other gentlemen had a visit from the same party, between one and two of the morning, with as little cause. Colonel Ritzema, on viewing his orders next day, told me that he found they were positive to send me to Chambly, but that he would take it on himself to leave me where I was, till further orders. In about ten days after, without any application from me, I received a letter from the acting Town-Major of Montreal, in Brigadier Wooster's name, that I was at liberty to return to the town, whenever I pleased. I returned, and, before I saw my family, I called on Brigadier Wooster. At parting, he told me he would be glad to see me again, on business. I called two days after. Brigadier Wooster then observed, among many other things, that he knew that many friends of constitutional liberty in Montreal had been ill used, from depositions, bonds, &c., and that, therefore, he now demanded these instruments. I replied, I was sorry to hear him make a requisition that, in my opinion, I could not comply with. Some time was then spent in altercation. I at last observed that I answered the proposition in general; perhaps, would he come to particulars, we would sooner agree; in short, what papers did he want? That I only then recollected a sort of bond, that a Mr. Haywood had given, but that it was of such a nature as to be now cancelled of itself; therefore, that I would send to him that sort of instrument, from this reason only, that I looked on it as of no further use. However, on second thought, after I got home, I thought it was not worth while sending, especially as it might be a sort of precedent for further demands; and I then wrote the following letter:

"Montreal, December 14, 1775.

"SIR: The sort of recognisance that Mr. Haywood entered into, with sureties, I have just found, and I am now more convinced than before that it is of no further use. It is the only instance of the kind that occurred before me. There was no information laid against him; therefore, no charge; and, if I took bail for him, it was because he came to offer it himself. From the nature of it, it is now at an end, as his bail could only be bound for him while the Governor's authority continued here entire; the condition being that he should not depart from hence without the Governor's leave, and that he would behave himself true and faithful to the same cause. For the above reasons, I did not scruple to say that I would send to you the said instrument, but I do not now really think that it is worth sending, and I hope you will excuse me in withdrawing my promise. If the bail desire it, I will satisfy them, at any time, that their obligations are at an end. I now recollect that some other papers may be under my care, but they are of a different nature from the aforementioned, and they have been early taken care of. In my opinion, I cannot, and I will not, on any account, deliver them, nor any paper of any transaction prior to the capitulation of Montreal. Since then, I will always be ready to account for my conduct, but not for any thing done before. This resolution I have taken, from a conviction that I cannot act otherwise with any propriety, which will ever be the rule of my conduct.

"I am, sir, your most obedient and humble servant,

"JOHN FRASER.

"To Brigadier-General Wooster."

This letter produced, next evening, the following answer:

"Head-Quarters, Montreal, December 18, 1775.

"SIR: Your breach of promise, and insolent letter to me yesterday, justly merit a set of iron ornaments, which you and your associates have very lately been so fond of bestowing on the friends of constitutional liberty; but, as I disdain to follow your inhuman and infamous example, I shall only order, and I do hereby order and direct you, on the receipt hereof, to repair to the fort at Chambly, under such an escort as I shall direct, and there to remain, in close abode, till further orders from, sir, your humble servant,

"DAVID WOOSTER,

"Brigadier-General, Commanding at Montreal.

"To John Fraser, Esq."

Mr. Nicolson, as Town-Major, had scarcely delivered to me the above letter, when Mr. Fleming appeared at the door, with a party from the guard, and had sentries placed in my house, at front and back doors, with orders to let nobody in our out, servants excepted. Next day, I was taken across the river St. Lawrence, to the Fort of Chambly, confined to the fort, where I got such a hole for my apartment as not to be able to make use of my own bedstead. There I remained during five weeks, till I was ordered, with other gentlemen, for this place. These are the facts antecedent and subsequent to the letters. The letters will speak for themselves. I will make no observations. I cannot, however, help saying that the most savage have a tender regard and respect for women. Mrs. Fraser was very near lying in, which Brigadier Wooster well knew; therefore, placing sentries within my house so abruptly must be deemed rather cruel.

The papers that Brigadier Wooster wanted are of no consequence, yet they were a trust in me reposed, long before the capitulation. He had no right to demand them, and I could not with propriety give them. At any rate, I must be supposed to have acted from principle. Had I considered my own peace only, I might have expected to have better attained that by giving up the papers; but my rule of conduct is to endeavour to distinguish right from wrong, and to do what is right, be the consequence what it may. Exclusive of sentries in my house, under the circumstances, my being taken from my family, and sent across the river, at the worst time, my close confinement in the fort for five weeks, I beg the letter from Brigadier Wooster may be attended to, and let then the cause of such treatment be weighed.

Although it removed me further from my family, yet it was with pleasure that I found myself ordered for this place, as the constant report we had in Canada from the gentlemen who had been sent here was that the greatest politeness was uniformly kept up towards them. I have no doubt about the opinion you will entertain of my usage, and I have only to beg the favour you will lay the whole before the Congress. I am confident they will consider such treatment as it deserves, and will apply the proper remedy. I am really sorry to encroach so much on your time. I have endeavoured to be as short as possible, without omitting any thing material. I will now conclude, and I remain, sir, yours, &c.,

JOHN FRASER.

To Major-General Schuyler, Continental Forces.

ARREST OF MR. WALKER, OF MONTREAL.

Province of QUEBEC, ss:

Declaration, upon oath, made before DAVID WOOSTER, Esq., Brigadier-General, and Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army in CANADA, &c., &c., by BAPTIST BELAIR, Captain of Militia in the Parish of ASSUMPTION, viz:

That, being at Montreal, with the Assumption Militia, Monsieur Lanaudiere, Jun., proposed to me to go with the Militia to Assumption, to take Mr. Walker prisoner, at his country-house, by order of General Carleton. This was at Monsieur St. Ours's house, where he sent for me; and, in consequence, I required a written order, and he sent me immediately away to the Barracks, it being then about half-past eight in the evening. Brigadier-General Prescott came to the Barracks, and there delivered me an order, in writing, from General Carleton, and, at the same time, delivered me a sack, in which was pitch and oakum, saying, in case there is any resistance, and it should be obstinate, you must set fire to the house; it is Mr. Carleton's orders. We set off immediately, by water, to St. Sulpice, and, leaving our batteau there, we took the road to Assumption, where we arrived about two o'clock in the morning, with about twenty of the King's soldiers, and twelve Canadians; and that the deponent staid on the other side the river, having never passed the bridge.

BRUYERE DE BELAIR.

Head-Quarters at Montreal.—Sworn before me, this 17th day of February, 1776.

DAVID WOOSTER, Brigadier-General.

GUY CARLETON, Governor of the Province of QUEBEC, &c.:

The Sieur Belair, Captain of Militia in the Parish of Assumption, is hereby commanded to go from this city, with the military that shall be ordered with him, in my name, under the command of Lieutenant McDonnell, of the Royal Regiment of Emigrants, to take, at Assumption, and seize upon, the person of Thomas Walker, accused of high-treason, and him safely convey into this city, under a good and safe guard.

I order and command all the King's good subjects to aid and assist the said Sieur Belair in the execution of the present order, upon pain of disobedience.

Given at Montreal, the 4th day of October, 1775.

GUY CARLETON.

MR. WALKER'S STATEMENT.

Thomas Walker, of Montreal, in the Province of Quebec, merchant, upon oath, testifieth and saith: That, being at his own house, in the Parish of Assumption, on the 5th of October last past, it was surrounded, about two or three o'clock in the morning, by a party of armed men, viz: a detachment of about twenty soldiers, commanded by Lieutenant John McDonnell, of the Royal Emigrants, together with seven Captains of Militia, and several other Canadians, who began the attack by firing a musket-shot, and then, without calling to this deponent, immediately proceeded to break open his doors with axes, &c., which they effected so suddenly that he had but just time to slip on his coat and waistcoat, and put his pistols in his pockets, in order to retreat, with a short rifle-gun in his hand, into the garret, where his wife had fled, in her shift, but a moment before, this deponent being determined to defend the stair-head to the last extremity. As soon as the soldiers entered the house, they lighted a candle, and instantly searched the bed-chamber, which this deponent and his wife had just quitted, and then, in order to have light in the other apartments, they set fire at the foot of the stairs to some oakum, mixed with pitch or rosin, and immediately a number of them, armed with muskets and fixed bayonets, rushed into the room which was overlooked by this deponent from the top of the stairs, setting up the Indian yell. The deponent, hearing this, and observing their actions, made not the least doubt that it was Colonel Johnson's party of Mohawk Indians, sent down to murder him and his family, as had been oftentimes threatened; whereupon, he fired his rifle-gun among the thickest of them, and in a moment afterwards made another shot from a double-pistol, but, before he could discharge the other, they had all quitted the room, with great precipitation and dismay. An officer and Grenadier having been dangerously wounded by those different shots, the rest retired for some time, to bind up their wounds, and to plunder the other part of the house. They then returned, and began a general fire of muskets all around the house, which they kept up briskly for a long time, calling out to this deponent to come out and surrender himself; but, finding that they could make no impression, and not daring to enter the same room again, whence they had been driven, they proposed to uncover the roof of the house, in order to get at the deponent, but dropped the design, it is presumed for the same reason. Therefore, the commanding officer called out to his party to set fire to the four corners of the house, which orders were repeated several times by Sergeant David McFall, and which they executed soon after. This the deponent perceiving at the window, and being terrified therewith, and imagining that a torch, lifted up at the end of a pole, had been a man upon a ladder setting fire to the roof, discharged a pistol from the window, which, it is said, shot a Captain of Militia through the chin with a buckshot. Thereupon, they began a second attack, firing all around the house for a considerable time, till they had expended three or four hundred musket-shots.

When the flames had increased to a great head they left off firing and fell to plundering the house; which being from the ground-floor, built of wood, burnt now with great violence: and this deponent finding no succour come from the neighbours, who, by this time, were all on foot at the village, and for many miles round the country, remaining at a distance quiet spectators of the dismal scene, as he has since learned, and Mrs. Walker crying aloud several times, "we shall both be burnt to death!" the terror of which made her, in despair, beg this deponent would shoot her; and she, having been almost suffocated in an attempt to go down the stairs, he laid down his arms and carried her to the garret window farthest from the fire, where she called out for quarters, and begged for mercy to the soldiers below, at the same time getting out of the window, with her face to the wall, she hung by her hands, supported by the deponent, under both her arms, till a soldier, named Cox, brought a ladder, by which she got down, being much scratched and bruised. The soldiers at the same time seeing this deponent, called out to him, and promised him good usage if he would surrender. He seeing the floor burning under his feet, and no further defence to be made, or possibility of escape, after a resistance of more than three hours, surrendered himself, and was instantly seized by six men, some of whom handled him very roughly. Lieutenant McDonnell came up to him, with his arm in a sling, and at first offered to strike him with his fist, and then attempted to draw a pistol out of his belt to shoot him, but was prevented from doing him any hurt by Sergeant McFall, to whom he had at first surrendered himself; then the pockets of the deponent were searched and rifled, and a loaded pistol, among other things, taken out of them.

In the mean while the deponent's cellars (being an out-building) were broke open and pillaged, and the heads of several hogsheads were staved in, and others had forced open the pot-ash works, and brought out three negroes, with divers kinds of plunder; during all which the deponent and his wife were kept standing in the mud, with naked feet, to behold their house and goods burned and plundered, trunks opened, and pieces of goods from the store divided among them, whilst neither himself nor his wife were allowed any clothes to cover or defend them from the cold. At length Sergeant David McFall took off his blanket-coat and put it upon Mrs. Walker, whilst the deponent wrapped himself round with a coverlid which he had hastily snatched up. Thus equipped, they were marched to the end of the road leading to St. Sulpice, where a cart was pressed, and they were carried therein to a bateau lying in the river St. Lawrence, a league from his house, being guarded all along the road by this party of twenty soldiers, and flanked in the woods by the Canadians, with his three negroes on foot, part of the plunder and the wounded Grenadiers in one of the deponent's carriages. Several armed bateaus were sent down from Montreal to give us the meeting, commanded by Lieutenant Leslie; and when we arrived at the landing, opposite the barracks, General Prescott, in great wrath, came down upon the beach, and commanded the prisoners to be brought forth; all the troops were marched out of the gate, and formed in two divisions, and the deponent enclosed in the centre, where he ordered him to be pinioned, and then, marching into the barrack square, he spoke these words: "You are a traitor and a villain, you scoundrel, to betray your country; but the laws of your country have overtaken you at last; you shall have the justice of this country; for, to you, you villain, is owing the loss of all the blood of those brave men that has been, or shall be spilled at St. John's, or in other parts of Canada." To which this deponent replied: "I perceive that you know very little of my real character; but pray, who are you, sir, that treats me thus unworthily, for I have not the honour to know you?" not having seen him before. "What do you think of last night's work," continued he; "and of that brave man in the boat, which you have so desperately wounded?" "I think, sir, that it was a very poor exploit, to send fifty men on purpose to murder one, and burn his house, whilst he and his family were asleep in their beds." He replied, by calling to the Provost-Marshal and the smith, to put the deponent in irons, which were much heavier than ordinary, being made by the particular orders of Major Hughes, who, also, gave the dimensions, as the smith has since informed this deponent; and whilst he was putting them on, General Prescott called out to him, to rivet them well, (in doing which, he jarred the bones of the deponent's legs, so as to give him inexpressible pain,) and then, with a loud voice, cried out, "Your crime is high treason and rebellion; and," added he, "give that poor unhappy man a stray bed and a blanket in Number four, in the barracks, and keep sentries over him, that nobody speaks to him but the Town-Major, (Mr. Hughes), unless before the Sergeant of the Guard."

There this deponent lay, confined and alone, in irons, for thirty-three days and nights, without fire or candle for a long while, or the consolation of a friend at any time, Mrs. Walker being absolutely forbid to see him, and, for many days, made a prisoner in her own house, with six sentries round about it, and the persons who came and went to and from the barracks, with victuals, were searched for letters, &c.

At length, St. John's being taken, this deponent was carried by soldiers, in a weak and low condition, and in presence of Captain Anstruther and Mr. Hughes, under pretence of going to General Prescott's room, in a very rainy day, to a boat, which conveyed him on board an armed schooner in the service of Government, commanded by Captain Lisote, who had the humanity to order his irons to be knocked off, placing a sentry at the cabin-door with a drawn sword, and orders not to let the prisoner receive or send any letters, papers, or messages, without examination and leave of the Lieutenant. It seems, notwithstanding these precautions, that the Generals were offended at Captain Lisote for having freed from fetters this deponent, without positive orders from them; and told him that he must answer for his prisoner, corps pour corps.

Two days afterwards, the deponent was hurried from on board Captain Lisote, to another armed schooner, commanded by Captain Bouchet, where he remained, under the same kind of confinement, for twelve days, nine of which were spent in the attempt the vessel made to escape to Quebeck, which began with precipitation immediately upon the appearance of General Montgomery's vanguard at St. Paul's Island. However, they durst not venture to pass the point of Sorel River, there being Continental troops, cannon, and an armed gondola, which drove the ships back again to La Vellerie, having killed one man on board the Gaspee, where the capitulation was signed by Gen. Prescott, on Sunday evening, to surrender eleven sail of vessels, in which were, viz: three Majors, five Captains, and several subalterns, conductors, and inferior officers, together with one hundred and seventeen regular soldiers, rank and file, with their arms and accoutrements, besides St. Luke La Corne, one of the Legislative Council of Quebeck, Captain John Fraser, Judge of the Common Pleas and Counsellor, and several Canadian volunteers. Governor Carleton having quitted the Gaspee, with Messrs. Niverville and Lanoudiere, at midnight, on Thursday, was conducted in a whale-boat, with muffled paddles, by Captain Bouchet, a secret way to Three-Rivers, and arrived at Quebeck on Sunday following.

The deponent was set free on Monday morning, by his friend Major Brown, who delivered him from the cruel hands of tyranny and oppression, and from the tools of military and arbitrary power.†

Over and above the indignity and sufferings imposed upon this deponent and his wife, who was denied the liberty of seeing him by General Prescott, and taking his last adieu at the instant of his departure, when it was exultingly given out that he was to be sent home in irons, there to be He had his apprentice imprisoned for about sixty-seven days, and his other servants and slaves put under confinement, to his very great damage in his interest, and ruin of his health, besides the loss sustained by burning, destroying, and plundering his house, manufactory, store, household goods, cash, plate, books, notes, furniture, clothes,

* Brigadier-General Prescott, Major John Campbell, Major Dunbar, Major Hughes, Captain Anstruther, Captain Crawford, Captain Swan, Captain Brice, in the Seventh Regiment, Captain Gamble, Lieutenant Cleveland, Lieutenant Leslie, Lieutenant Duncan Campbell, Lieutenant alias John McDonnell, Royal Emigrants, Doctor Beaumont, Mr. Cooper, Conductor of Artillery Stores, Mr. William Jones, Provost-Marshal, Canadian Volunteers, Messrs. Launier, Magnan, Cugnet, Jun., prisoners.

We are well assured that the whole force of the Continental troops, then at Sorel, did not exceed one hundred and thirty-five men. The vessels given up were, viz: His Majesty's Brigantine Gaspee, commanded by Lieutenant Royal; Also, Captain Lisote, a large schooner, two nine-pounders in the waist, besides quarter-deck guns and swivels, twenty-four seamen, each armed with a musket, bayonet, and broadsword. Captain Bouchet, another large schooner, armed like the other before-mentioned, complement twenty sailors, besides several other large schooners, fitted with swivels, &c. All the vessels towed after them a bateau, with one or more canoes or small boats, in order to make a descent, or escape by flight, as occasion should offer.

† PHILADELPHIA, April 26, 1776.—From the above affidavits may be gathered the outlines of the character of the famed General Prescott, who, to the loading Colonel Allen and thirty more defendants of American liberty with irons, and sending them over seas, instead of keeping them to be exchanged for prisoners of the other side, has added this barbarous usage of a citizen and a Magistrate, whose inflexible adherence of his known duty has long since rendered him a distinguished character.

Justice Walker, hearing that General Prescott was in Philadelphia, undertook a journey, in the depth of winter, to that city, to complain of the treatment he had suffered from him, and obtain some satisfaction for such inhuman violence; but, to his great surprise, found Mr. Prescott lodged in the best tavern of the place, walking or riding at large through Philadelphia and Bucks Counties, (in the latter of which he will doubtless find many with whom he may take sweet counsel), feasting with gentlemen of the first rank in the Province, and keeping a levee for the reception of the grandees, who, probably, are cultivating this honourable acquaintance, as a natural and easy means of introduction to the notice of their excellencies the ambassadors.

In consequence of all which unaccountable phenomena, and the little prospect there appears of his obtaining any adequate redress in the present unsettled state of public affairs, Mr. Walker has returned to Montreal, leaving this modern testimony for the perusal of all martyrs to American freedom.

Philadelphia, sworn the 24th of April, 1776, before
SAMUEL MIFFLIN.

ORDERS GIVEN THE SEVERAL CAPTAINS IN THE FLEET, AT SAILING FROM THE CAPE OF DELAWARE, FEBRUARY 17, 1776.

SIR: You are hereby ordered to keep company with me, if possible, and truly observe the signals given by the ship I am in, but in case you should be separated in a gale of wind or otherwise, you then are to use all possible means to join the fleet as soon as possible; but if you cannot, in four days after you leave the fleet, you are to make the best of your way to the southern part of Abacco, (one of the Bahama Islands,) and there wait for the fleet fourteen days. But if the fleet does not join you in that time, you are to cruise in such places as you think will most annoy the enemy. And you are to send into port, for trial, all British vessels, or property, or other vessels, with any supplies for the Ministerial forces, who you may make yourself master of, to such places as you may think best within the United Colonies.

In case you are in any very great danger of being taken, you are to destroy these orders and your signals.*

ESECK HOPKINS, Commandant-in-Chief.

GENERAL LEE TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 20, 1776.]

New-York, February 17, 1776.

SIR: I think it my duty to inform you, that the Phoenix and Governor Tryon's ship are already out of the harbour, and that the Asia is under sail. They, most probably, have had intelligence of the danger which threatens their comrade, the Mercury, and General Clinton, from your fleet, and are sailed with an intention of attacking it. As it may be thought prudent to apprize your fleet of the circumstance, I must repeat, that I thought it my duty to

*Signals for the AMERICAN Fleet by day.

For sailing: Loose the foretop-sail, and shoot it home.

For weighing and coming to sail: Loose all the top-sails, and shoot them home.

For the fleet to anchor: Clew up the maintop-sail, and hoist a weft in the ensign.

For seeing a strange vessel: Hoist the ensign, and lower and hoist it as many times as you see vessels, allowing two minutes between each time.

For chasing: For the whole fleet to chase, a red pendant at the foretopmast head.

To give over the chase: A white pendant at the foretopmast head.

For the Columbus to chase: Strike the broad pendant half-mast, to be answered by a weft in the ensign and making sail. To chase to windward—hoist the ensign, lowering the pendant at the same time; if to leeward, not. To give over the chase: a white pendant at the foretopmast head; and if at a great distance, fire a gun at the same time. This may serve for any of the vessels to give over the chase and return into the fleet.

For the Andrew Doria to chase: A Dutch flag at the foretopmast head. To chase to windward: hoist the ensign, lowering the pendant at the same time; if to leeward, not. To give over the chase: a white pendant at the foretopmast head; and if at a great distance, fire a gun at the same time.

For the Cabot to chase: A white flag at the foretopmast head. To chase to windward, &c., as above.

For the Providence to chase: A St. George's ensign, with stripes at the mizen peak. To chase to windward, &c., as above.

For the Fly to chase: A Dutch flag at the maintopmast head. To chase to windward, &c., as above.

For the Hornet to chase: A red pendant at the mizen-topmast head. To chase to windward, &c., as above.

For the Waap to chase: A Dutch flag at the mizen peak. To chase to windward, &c., as above.

For a general attack, or the whole fleet to engage: The standard at the maintopmast head, with the striped jack and ensign at their proper places.

To disengage and form into a squadron: A white flag at the ensign staff, and the same into a weft for every vessel to make the best of their way off from the enemy for their own preservation.

For all the Captains to come on board the Commodore: A red pendant at the ensign staff.

To speak with the Columbus: A white pendant at the mizen-topmast head.

To speak with the Andrew Doria: A Dutch flag at the mizen-topmast head.

To speak with the Cabot: A weft in a jack, at the mizen-topmast head.

To speak with the Providence: A white flag at the mizen-topmast head.

To speak with the Fly: A Dutch flag at the ensign staff.

For any vessel in the fleet that wants to speak with the Commodore:

send an express on the subject. The Asia ran aground opposite the Exchange; as the tides are low, we were in hopes she would not have been able to have got off this flood. In these hopes we were preparing cartridges for some pieces of cannon, (which is not here from want of method, a very short operation,) and flattered ourselves that we should have been able to have destroyed or much damaged her, but she is now, unfortunately, afloat.

I am, sir, with the greatest respect, your most obedient, humble servant,

CHARLES LEE.

To the Honourable John Hancock, President of the Continental Congress.

TRYON COUNTY COMMITTEE TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

Tryon County Committee-Chamber, February 17, 1776.

HONOURABLE GENTLEMEN: Your favour we received this week, and immediately called our members to a meeting, in order to consult for raising troops to contribute to the defence of our Colony, as desired.

We resolved to insist, for such purpose, under Continental pay, at least two full companies, with despatch; and we will endeavour to afford three companies, if possible, but it is no sure dependance upon three, before trial.

We recommend the following persons, as well qualified, to be commissioned as officers for the two companies, in the following rank: Jacob W. Seeber, Captain; Yoost House, as Lieutenant; Jacob Ja. Clock, Ensign; Abner French, Captain; Jacob Simons, Lieutenant; John Newkerk, Ensign.

In regard to your request for recommending two persons for each office, that you may make the choice, we would have done accordingly, but to prevent confusion in inlisting, and affronts, likewise, to the one or the other, to the hurt of the same, we concluded to recommend but one for each office, which so chosen, we judge capable and of influence among the people. We leave the expedition of their commissions, and other regulations, to your further directions. Concerning the clothing and accoutrements wanting for those new recruited men, we must annex, that it would be a needful encouragement, at least in our County, to furnish

A weft in the ensign; and if in distress, accompanied with two guns.

To fall into a line abreast: A red pendant at the mizen peak.

To fall into a line ahead: A white pendant at the mizen peak.

For meeting, after a separation: A weft in an ensign, at the maintopmast head, to be answered with the same, and clew up the maintopmast sail, if they have any set.

For the ship Providence to chase: A red pendant at the mizen-topmast head. To chase to windward, &c., as before.

To speak with the ship Providence: A weft in the ensign at the ensign staff.

Signals in a fog, or thick weather.

When it comes on foggy, and the Commodore will continue the same sail and course: Fire a gun every half hour.

To bring too on the larboard tack: Fire two guns.

To bring too on the starboard tack: Fire three guns.

Any vessel in the fleet discovering an enemy of superior force, shall fire four guns, and shall be answered by every vessel in the fleet, with two guns, and then endeavour to speak with the Commodore, and upon hearing one of the fleet engage, an attack must be made by the whole, in the best manner possible.

For the whole fleet to anchor: Fire five guns.

To haul upon the wind upon the starboard tack: Fire six guns.

To haul upon the wind upon the larboard tack: Fire seven guns.

To bear up, or go before the wind: Fire eight guns.

Any vessels in the fleet discovering land or danger: Fire minute-guns until the danger is over.

Signals by night.

To weigh and come to sail: Three lights in the mizen shrouds abreast of each other, to be answered by each ship with one light in the main shrouds.

To put about and stand upon the other tack: Two lights upon the ensign staff, to be answered by the other vessels with one.

To ware and stand upon the other tack: Three lights upon the ensign staff, to be answered by the other vessels with two.

To ware and stand before the wind: Two lights at the mizen peak, to be answered by three lights at the ensign staff.

For the fleet to heave too with their starboard tacks on board: A light in the starboard main shrouds, with one gun.

To heave too with their larboard tacks on board: Two lights in the larboard main shrouds, with two guns.

For discovering strange vessels: A light upon the ensign staff, with a false fire, and as many false fires as vessels discovered.

For discovering land or danger: Show a great number of lights, and fire guns, which is to be continued until every vessel in the fleet answer it by firing a gun each.

For the fleet to attack or engage the enemy: Fire a gun, and as many false fires as there are ships in the fleet.

For meeting, after a separation: Two false fires, to be answered by the same.

For the fleet to anchor: A light at the maintopmast head, to be answered by a light at the same place when safe at anchor.

them with such necessaries; and if so to be, where, and in what manner it shall be procured. Please, therefore, to consider this point without delay, and inform us with your opinion or resolve.

We must further lay before you the situation of our exposed frontier place at Fort Stanwix, where good caution, against dangerous enterprises, desires a number of men to be posted, tending really for the preservation of the country; and besides, we must hear of the Oneida Indians, close neighbours to said fort, the necessity of such a guard in that frontier place.

We beg, therefore, that you will consult upon this matter in particular, and favour us alike with your resolve undelayed. If our promised two companies, as above mentioned, would be wanting in any other places of the Province, we may almost assure, that to guard this frontier aforesaid, we shall be able to enlist another and third company, under Continental pay and the same provisions, as allowed to the other companies.

We remain, with respects, honourable gentlemen, your obedient, humble servants,

By order:

WILLIAM SEEBER, Chairman.

To the Honourable Congress, or Committee of Safety,
New-York.

JOSEPH FRENCH TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, (in close confinement,) February 17, 1776.

SIR: I make free to trouble you with a few lines, in order to acquaint you with my situation. I have been in confinement four and thirty days; three days at my own house, with twelve men and an officer to guard me when sick in bed.

I gave security to Colonel Heard for my appearance before your honourable House, or him, to answer any complaint alleged against me. I accordingly waited on the Committee of Safety, who gave me a certificate, which I enclose to your care, and which certificate I showed to Colonel Heard, who gave no attention to it, and ordered me to follow him. I accordingly followed him to Philadelphia, and was informed by several of the members of the honourable Continental Congress, that no complaint lay before them concerning me.

Colonel Heard then lay me under an obligation to go back to New-York, which I strictly complied with, and since my arrival here I have been closely confined, and do not know, in the least, what I have done to merit such treatment. As I have had the honour of being a member of your honourable House, I think I can say, with a clear conscience, that I have neither directly, nor indirectly, to the best of my knowledge, transgressed against the Association since I have signed it.

I, therefore, would take it as a particular favour if you would state this, my case, before the honourable House, and release me from confinement. I shall always be ready, and willing, to answer before the honourable House any charge that can be alleged against me.

After my compliments, I remain, with the greatest esteem, sir, your most obedient and very humble servant,

JOSEPH FRENCH.

To Nathaniel Woodhull, President of the Honourable Provincial Congress, New-York.

N. B. The time you called at my house, I acted agreeable to your request, but it had not the desired effect. The other gentlemen confined with me pray, also, that some indulgence might be given them on their petitions to the honourable House.

ADRIAN DE RONDE TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 17, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I having been informed that there are four battalions of Provincial troops to be raised within this Province for the defence of the same, and being willing to take an active part in the cause of my country, I take this method of offering my services to your consideration; and, that it may be evident to you that my object is not rank, but a desire of securing the liberties of my country from meditated destruction, I would accept of either a Majority or a Captaincy, as you in your discretion shall think fit.

From, gentlemen, your most obedient and very humble servant,

ADRIAN DE RONDE.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress of New-York.

COLONEL EASTON TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Pittsfield, February, 1776.

DEAR SIR: It is with the utmost regret that I give your Excellency the trouble of this, knowing your great multiplicity of business. But faithfulness to the dear, deceased General Montgomery and his commands, a love of liberty and my country, obliges me to do it.

You will, sir, by the letters and orders enclosed, see the minds of the Generals who wrote them; and, agreeable thereto, I called on General Schuyler, in my march from Montreal, showed him my orders, but he did not give me any particular orders. I have since sent to him, as the bearer can inform, but have got no answer.

Should I be ordered to the Northward again with a regiment, I am sure no time is to be lost in raising it, and I beg your Excellency's direction in the premises, and am, with great esteem, your humble servant,

JAMES EASTON, Colonel.

To General Washington.

P. S. Pray your Excellency to send back General Montgomery's letter by the bearer, Captain Noble.

J. E.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO COLONEL EASTON.

Cambridge, February 17, 1776.

SIR: I have it in command from his Excellency to acknowledge the receipt of your favour of— instant, and to inform you that, as the Northern Department is more immediately under the care of Major-General Schuyler, his Excellency does not know upon what footing it was that you were ordered upon the recruiting your regiment. If any part of your regiment remains in Canada, the General takes it for granted that you are counted upon in the arrangements made for Canada. If it is to raise a new regiment, he does not think himself authorized to encourage you therein, without the approbation of Congress. The services you have done your country last campaign, mentioned in the letters to you from the late gallant General Montgomery, merit the acknowledgment of the publick. It will give the General pleasure to see you in a capacity to render future service, and acquire more honour. Therefore, if you find yourself excluded in the new arrangement for the Northern Department, it may possibly be through inadvertence, or for reasons which the General cannot be a proper judge of. If this should be the case, will it not be a proper step for you to take, to repair to Philadelphia, and produce these honourable testimonials of your merit? Lay them before the Congress, and I dare say you will not be neglected. This is only the private opinion of, sir, yours, &c.

To Colonel James Easton.

ROBERT H. HARRISON TO REVEREND JAMES LYON.

Cambridge, February 17, 1776.

SIR: I have it in command from his Excellency to acknowledge the receipt of your favour of the 25th December. He is much pleased with the zeal you exhibit for the promotion of American liberty, by endeavouring to add Nova-Scotia, as a link to that great chain which does, and I hope always will bind the United Colonies together. There have other applications of the same nature been laid before the General, which are now under the consideration of Congress.

Your remark is very just, that secrecy is absolutely necessary for conducting this affair with effect; and when it is undertaken, it must probably be on such a plan as you have pointed out. At present, his Excellency does not think it would succeed, as we have intelligence that may be depended on, that Brigadier-General Massey is arrived at Halifax, with the chief part of two battalions, so that the numbers you propose would, in all probability, be too few for the purpose; and, if they were thought sufficient, his Excellency does not think himself authorized to add two regiments to our forces, without the approbation of Congress.

I mentioned before, that a plan for the reduction of that Province was under consideration of Congress, which, if they think proper to adopt, his Excellency has no doubt but that a gentleman who interests himself so much in the cause of America as you do, will give every assistance and advice for the accomplishment of this important business that is in your power. I am, &c.
To the Reverend James Lyon.

HERBERT COURTENAY TO CHARLES CARROLL, BARRISTER.
Baltimore, February 18, 1776.

SIR: Mr. Spear showed me a note which Mr. Purvisance brought him from the Council of Safety, whereby it is probable you may have occasion to see Captain Martin; therefore, have given him orders to wait on the Council of Safety, with Mr. Spear's captain.

Should you have occasion to employ the brig Friendship, Captain Martin, back here, with such returns as you may have ordered, I shall have no sort of objection, provided you insure her at one thousand pounds, this money, and allow a sufficient freight for such goods as she may bring back; though Captain Stone intended she should bring some property of his, lying in the West-Indies, invested in salt, rum, &c., with her freight money out. The vessel is a prime sailer, and has a Bermuda register, and manned with Negroes, save the Captain and Mate, which may probably be a cloak for her against the late resolution of the Parliament to seize all American vessels.

I am satisfied you cannot employ a vessel more fitting than the Friendship, and should you determine on this, Captain Martin will take your orders respecting the homeward voyage, and I shall be glad, in such case, that you will please write me a few lines, in conformity to the above proposal, as I am acting only as an agent for Captain Stone, and am, with all respect, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

HERBERT COURTENAY.

To Charles Carroll, Esq., Barrister.

JOSEPH SIMS TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Prince George's County, February 18, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: During the sitting of the last Convention, the officers of the several companies belonging to the Eleventh Battalion, of this Province, were appointed, except the Nottingham Company, which could not then be done for want of a choice being made by the people. Since that, and very lately, the people have had a meeting for that purpose, and have made choice of the following gentlemen, viz: Fiedler Bowie, Esq., Captain; Messrs. Robert Bowie, First Lieutenant, William Newman Dorsett, Second Lieutenant, and George Gant, Ensign. As it is necessary their commissions should immediately issue, I am desired by the company to apply for them, and a messenger is sent on purpose.

I must, therefore, request you will direct your Clerk to fill up the commissions with the names of the above gentlemen, and enclose them to me by the return of this express, who will wait for that purpose.

I am, gentlemen, with great regard, your most obedient, humble servant,

JOSEPH SIMS.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM JOHN ADAMS TO A FRIEND,
DATED PHILADELPHIA, FEBRUARY 18, 1776.

I sent you, from New-York, a pamphlet entitled "Common Sense," written in vindication of doctrines which there is reason to expect that the further encroachments of tyranny, and depredations of oppression, will soon make the common faith, unless the cunning Ministry, by proposing negotiations and terms of reconciliation, should divert the present current from its channel.

Reconciliation, if practicable, and peace, if attainable, you very well know, would be as agreeable to my inclinations, and as advantageous to my interest as to any man's; but I see no prospect, no probability, no possibility. And I cannot but despise the understanding which sincerely expects an honourable peace, for its credulity, and detest the hypocritical heart which pretends to expect it, when in truth it does not.

The newspapers here are full of free speculations, the tendency of which you will easily discover. The writers reason from topics which have been long in contemplation, and fully understood by the people at large in New-England, but have been attended to in the Southern Colonies only by gentlemen of free spirits and liberal minds, who are very few. I shall endeavour to enclose to you as many of the papers and pamphlets as I can, as long as I stay here. Some will go by this conveyance.

Doctor Franklin, Mr. Chase, and Mr. Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, in Maryland, are chosen a Committee to go into Canada. The characters of the two first you know. The last is not a member of Congress, but a gentleman of independent fortune, perhaps the largest in America—a hundred and fifty or two hundred thousand pounds sterling; educated in some University in France, though a native of America, of great abilities and learning, complete master of the French language, and a professor of the Roman Catholick religion, yet a warm, a firm, a zealous supporter of the rights of America, in whose cause he has hazarded his all. Mr. John Carroll, of Maryland, a Roman Catholick Priest, and a Jesuit, is to go with the Committee, the Priests in Canada having refused baptism and absolution to our friends there. General Lee is to command in that country, whose address, experience, and abilities, added to his fluency in the French language, will give him great advantages.

The events of war are uncertain. We cannot insure success, but we can deserve it. I am happy in this provision for that important department, because I think it the best that could be made in our circumstances. Your prudence will direct you to communicate the circumstances of the Priest, the Jesuit, and the Romish religion, only to such persons as can judge of the measure upon large and generous principles, and will not indiscreetly divulge it. The step was necessary, for the anathemas of the Church are very terrible to our friends in Canada.

ALBANY (NEW-YORK) COMMITTEE.

Albany Committee-Chamber, February 18, 1776.

The Committee of the Township of Schenectady, reported this day to the General Committee of the City and County of Albany, that on the 15th day of January, instant, a Letter was laid before them under the signature of Benjamin Hilton, and directed to Alexander White, Esq., Sheriff of the County of Tryon, an extract whereof is in the following words:

"Schenectady, December 22, 1775.

"DEAR SIR: Lieutenant McDonald, who is in town, just now informed me, that Arnold, immediately on his arrival before Quebeck, sent a flag to demand from Colonel Maclean, an immediate surrender of the town. The messenger was conducted hoodwinked to Maclean, who told him, he would give Arnold a final answer in a few hours; in the mean time, Colonel Maclean lined the houses of the town, past which Arnold was to pass, to take possession of the town. Colonel Maclean, at the expiration of the time, sent a messenger to Arnold to inform him, that he was extremely sorry he had it not in his power sufficiently to defend the town, therefore, was willing to surrender it to him without the effusion of blood, and might take possession of it as soon as he pleased. Arnold himself, with the greatest part of the troops, immediately went to take possession of the town, and after they had entered the gates, they were closed, and the troops that Maclean had placed in ambush, in the houses, immediately fired upon them, killed three hundred, and took the rest prisoners, among which Arnold is said to be. Maclean immediately sallied out of the town, pursued the remainder of Arnold's men over the Plains of Abraham, and killed a great many of them; a fine stratagem, worthy of immortalizing Maclean's name, and handing it down to the latest posterity in letters of gold. This seems very probable to me, and Mr. McDonald says it may be depended upon. Arnold, before his arrival at Quebeck, was obliged, in order to keep his men from starving, to kill all the horses and dogs he had with him, and, after all, fell short four days, in such fine fare; however, no better than they deserved.

"I should say more, but am in haste; you will therefore excuse me, and believe me yours, sincerely,

"BENJAMIN HILTON."

That the said Committee had, therefore, sent for the said Benjamin Hilton, who avowed himself the author of the said Letter, and declared that he had wrote it to please the said White, whose sentiments he knew; that he had wrote it, however wrong, in expectation that the contents thereof would never be discovered.

The said Committee did further report, that the said Benjamin Hilton, on the 14th day of July last, had voluntarily, and without any solicitation, made before Cornelius Cuyler, Esq., the following Affidavit, to wit:

"Benjamin Hilton, Jr., Esq., of this place, Attorney at Law, being duly sworn, deposeth and saith: That he has never entertained or harboured an opinion inimical or unfriendly to the just constitutional rights or liberties of America; that he looks upon the claim which the British Parliament has set up in the present reign, by statute, to bind the Colonies in all cases whatsoever, as unconstitutional, and subversive of American liberty; that the measures taken by Administration for the enforcement of the several statutes passed against America in general, and some of the Colonies in particular, in his opinion, will justify opposition; that he is a friend to his country, and the invaded rights and liberties thereof, (though he believes, by many, without foundation, taken to be an enemy thereto,) and wishes it all the success in this unhappy and unnatural conflict, that any real friend to the common cause can; that he never was really induced or prevailed upon, by any person, to resign his Lieutenancy; and further saith not.

"B. HILTON, JUN.

"Schenectady, July 14, 1775.—Sworn before me,

"CORNELIUS CUYLER, Justice."

The said Committee of Schenectady further reported, that they had thereupon

"Resolved, That the said Benjamin Hilton either should cause his said Letter, together with the said Declaration, to be published in the newspapers by the fifth of February then next, or that they would publish the same, together with the above-mentioned Affidavit."

Which said Report, the said General Committee of the City and County of Albany, have maturely considered, and, thereupon, resolve to approve the same.

But, the said Benjamin Hilton, instead of abiding by the determination of the said Committee of Schenectady, on the eighteenth day of January last, without acquainting this Board of the steps taken by them, by letter, addressed to this Board, expressed his sorrow to give this Board the trouble of an application on a very disagreeable subject. That he had, on the 22d day of December last, wrote a letter to Alexander White, Esq., relative to the then report, that Colonel Arnold, with his forces, was defeated at Quebeck by Colonel Maclean, and which report, he found to be groundless; that he had, in that letter, also, applauded the said Maclean for his conduct, and wrote disrespectful of Colonel Arnold's forces; for all which he was extremely sorry; that he confessed his error, and desired the forgiveness of his injured countrymen, and professed himself a friend to the constitutional liberties of the Colonies; and promised, for the future, neither to write nor do any thing prejudicial to the cause of liberty; that he was well convinced that the Parliament of Great Britain has no right to tax the Colonies, and conceived the tyrannical measures pursued by the Ministry, to enforce such unconstitutional acts, will justify opposition; that he did confess that he had some doubts of the expediency of the expedition against Canada, which doubts are, however, now removed; that, as this Board is the General Committee of protection, &c., for the whole County, he, therefore, begged their final decision of this matter, and their resolution thereupon.

In consequence of which said application and request, this Committee do declare it as their opinion, in addition to the Resolution of the Committee of Schenectady, that the said Benjamin Hilton has evinced, by the said Letter, an unwarrantable exaltation in the distress and defeat which he supposed a part of the Continental Army had sustained; that, therefore, this Committee, notwithstanding his prior and subsequent declarations, preceding and following the said Letter, are further of opinion, that his sentiments are inimical to the liberties of this country; yet this Committee, disdaining the impotent attempts of the said Benjamin Hilton to traduce the proceeding of the Northern Army, do, therefore, dismiss him from further prosecution.

Extracts from the Minutes:

MATTHEW VISSCHER, Secretary.

COLONEL HAZEN TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Referred to Mr. Wythe, Mr. Sherman, Mr. Ward, and Mr. S. Adams, who are directed to examine the accounts.]

Montreal, February 18, 1776.

SIR: Agreeable to the order of the honourable Continental Congress, you have, enclosed, the report of the Commissioners appointed by General Wooster, and their proceedings thereon at large.

The inventory of the stock, the first article of losses and damages, amounting to fourteen thousand two hundred and thirty-four livres, was chiefly and really for the use and service of General Montgomery's Army, and taken away by his order for that purpose, for all which he promised I should be paid.

The second article, amounting to three thousand three hundred and thirty livres, was partly destroyed by the Ministerial troops, and partly by the Continental Army, under General Montgomery's command.

The third article, one thousand three hundred livres, was totally lost in consequence of a mistake made by Major Brown, of the Continental Army, by his retaining me a prisoner on the 18th of September last, at a time when I had General Schuyler's leave, obtained on the 6th of the same month, to remain at my dwelling-house, or to pass or repass on my lawful business undisturbed or unmolested by his troops. This unfortunate accident was the source of all my misfortunes in the present instance, both as to losses and imprisonment.

The fourth article, seven thousand and seventy-nine livres, occurred, in part, from burning and destroying fences, &c., for the use of the Hospital, and lodging other troops in my dwelling-house, and other houses, occupied for that purpose. Therefore, it is not a total loss to the United Colonies.

The fifth article is, for damages done by the Continental Army, as fully appears; and, as it may be presumed, would not have been prevented.

The sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, and eleventh articles was, I believed, taken chiefly by the Canadians; and it was the price of their labour or services; and I am sorry that I have too much reason to believe, that they were encouraged in it by their officers, at a time when I was suffering in prison, on suspicion of favouring the cause of America. The plundering, in this instance, was cruel; I, therefore, hope a recompense will be thought just and reasonable.

The twelfth article, was a large stone house on the Fort of St. John's, taken from my tenants, and into possession of the Ministerial troops. An indemnification I was promised by General Carleton, as well as some other damages done by them, in the second article, all which I have now forfeited, as every other protection from the Government of England; I therefore hope this charge may appear reasonable.

The thirteenth and fourteenth articles, are losses occurred in consequence of the foregoing, and, consequently, are thought as reasonable a charge as any other.

Thus I have gone through, and endeavoured to explain the nature and justness of the several charges, as far as in haste my poor capacity will admit; and I hope the honourable Congress will meet with no difficulty in ordering me to be paid the amount, which is now clearly ascertained by credible evidences, on oath. You will please to remember, sir, that it was a condition in the memorandum state of my affairs, which I gave in to you in writing, when at Philadelphia, which, if I remember, was nearly in these words, viz: If I should be employed in the Continental service, I must be indemnified for the losses which I had sustained, on which I was willing to sacrifice my half-pay in defence of my country's cause; which I still adhere to, and would not wish to have any provision made by Congress for the security of my half-pay. I say I am willing to take the risk of it to myself; but the damages will only put my interest on the same and a proper footing, without which, I am ruined; it is my whole dependence for a future subsistence, should I live through the present troubles; or, if I should not survive, to pay off some debts, and leave a small provision for my little family. Whatever the honourable Congress are pleased to allow, I beg you will order it to be paid to the bearer of this, Mr. Joseph Torny, who has agreed to refund me, in hard specie, whatever he may receive from you in paper money, which is an advantage I would not willingly lose.

I have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient, and most devoted, humble servant,

MOSES HAZEN.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

P. S. Lieutenant-Colonel Antill set out yesterday for Quebeck, and I shall leave this to-morrow, on a journey I intend to take through the country, in order to facilitate and complete the regiment which I have the honour to command. We have made a good beginning, and I hope, in a few days, to have it in my power to acquaint you of the desired success, as well in recruiting, as a friendly disposition of the Canadians. But you must send a Committee of Congress without delay. It is but a party of pleasure to come to Canada at this season of the year.

JAMES JEFFRY.

Montreal, February 17, 1776.

We, the subscribers, being appointed Commissioners by the Honourable David Wooster, Esq., commanding the Continental Army in Canada, to inquire into the losses which Moses Hazen, Esq., has sustained in and about St. John's, and to ascertain the same, met in the city of Montreal, on the 14th February, 1776, for that purpose, and then proceeded to swear and examine evidences relative to the losses sustained by the said Moses Hazen, Esq.

No. 1. To damage sustained by loss of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, geese, fowls, &c., as per inventory, 14,243 livres.

No. 1. John Jump, being sworn, says, that he lived with Moses Hazen, Esq., from June 13, 1775, to 25th September following, the day said Hazen was taken prisoner, and he was overseer of said Hazen's farms at and near St. John's. He is well acquainted with his concerns there; and, producing to them the annexed inventory, he says every article is just and true. He likewise says there was a barrel of tar in the cellar, and some other trifles; and further saith, that hay is sold at St. John's at one livre per bundle.

No. 1. Nicholas Manner, being sworn, declares that, as to the stock on Moses Hazen, Esq.'s, farm, and at his dwelling-house, opposite St. John's, agreeable to an inventory now delivered to the Commissioners, is just and true, as is, also, the account of potatoes, turnips, Indian corn, &c., contained in the same inventory with the cattle.

No. 2. To loss of a large field of grain and several of grass, an estimation, 3,330 livres.

No. 2. Said Manner further saith, that he, with Francois Benoit, and L. Bund, made an estimate of the damage done to Moses Hazen, Esq.'s, field of corn and grass, in and about St. John's, and that it amounted to at least three thousand three hundred and thirty livres, which estimation and declaration were made the 12th December, 1775, before a Notary Publick.

No. 5. To damage done to a farm where Colonel Bedel's detachment was encamped, 528 livres.

No. 5. The deponent further saith, that there was damage done to another farm north of St. John's, belonging to said Hazen, where Colonel Bedel's detachment was encamped, to the amount of, by estimate, five hundred and twenty eight livres

No. 3. To the loss of a field of peas, 1,300 livres.

No. 3. The deponent further saith, that said Hazen was taken prisoner by Major Brown, on the 18th September, 1775, at about eight o'clock in the morning, and, in a few hours after, a sortie from the fort occasioned a skirmish, in which said Hazen was taken by the regular troops; and adds, that said Hazen was going with provisions to the savanna for the people who were at work there taking up peas for him, and, in consequence of his being detained, they left the work, and the peas were lost.

Simon Morrise, being sworn, declareth, that he was with Moses Hazen, Esquire, going with provisions for the people at work in the savanna at a field of peas, and that he, with said Hazen, were taken prisoners by Major Brown, and that, in consequence of their being taken, the field of peas was lost.

Francis Morriss, being sworn, declares, the day after Moses Hazen, Esquire, was taken, he went to the savanna to work in the field of peas belonging to said Hazen, but finding that he was a prisoner, and that there was not provisions for the workmen, said deponent, with several others, left the work, and the peas were lost.

John Baptiste Ganie, being sworn, declares, that he, with Francis Brosseau and Joseph Brosseau, who lived near Moses Hazen, Esq's, field of peas at the savanna, were called on, and estimated the damage by the loss of said field of peas, to be at least thirteen hundred livres, as, by their declaration before a Notary, dated 12th December, 1775.

No. 4. To damage done the dwelling-house, saw-mills, barns, potash-house, and smith's shop, opposite St. John's, 7,079 livres.

No. 4. James Bell, being sworn, declares, that there was a number of upwards of thirty-six paneled doors, made and ready to be put up, laying in the large stone-house at St. John's, and that they were worth at least twenty-four livres each. Said Bell further saith that there was a quantity of hewn-stone laying at and about St. John's, and he values the same at three hundred livres. And, further saith, that there was a large quantity of planks and boards, which was worth seven thousand livres, and that the whole of them are either made use of or destroyed.

Said Bell further declares, that the damage done to the dwelling-house, saw-mills, barn, potash-house, and smith's shop, belonging to Moses Hazen, Esquire, situate opposite St. John's, amounts to four thousand five hundred and sixty-four livres, and that he, with Antoine Beuque and Pierre Seneal, estimated said damages, as appears by a certificate dated November 17, 1775. Said Bell saith, further, that other damages were done to said house, barns, &c., not mentioned in the above certificate, amounting to three hundred and sixty-seven dollars, as by an estimate made by said deponent and Captain Pratt, dated December 14, 1775. Said Bell further declares, that there was destroyed fifteen leaden spouts, valued at two dollars each, and nine brass-knobbed locks, at fifteen livres each, which were not included in either of the above calculations.

No. 6. To household furniture, 7,200 livres.

No. 6. James Glermy, being sworn, declareth, that he was well acquainted at the house of Moses Hazen, Esq., and made it a place of residence for eighteen months, at least, and that he verily believes that said Hazen's household furniture, in his house opposite St. John's, was worth at least three hundred pounds, Halifax currency.

No. 7. To wearing apparel, 2,500 livres.

No. 7. He further saith that the wearing apparel was very considerable.

No. 8. To farming tools and utensils, 1,500 livres.

No. 8. Said Glenry further declares, and saith, that he knew said Hazen's farm was well furnished with farming utensils and tools, which he thinks is, at least, worth one thousand five hundred livres.

No. 9. To smiths' tools and potash tools, 1,000 livres.

No. 9. Said deponent further saith, that he knew said Hazen had a good set of smiths' tools and potash tools, and that he really believes they were worth at least one thousand livres.

No. 10. To carpenters' and joiners' tools, 900 livres.

No. 10. He further saith, that Hazen had a complete set of carpenters' and joiners' tools, which he estimates at nine hundred livres.

No. 11. To a large assortment of coopers' and stave-makers' tools, with anchors, &c., two thousand four hundred livres.

No. 11. He further saith, said Hazen had a large assortment of coopers' and stave-makers' tools, with cables, anchors, &c., the whole amount of which, he verily believes, to be two thousand four hundred livres.

No. 12. To the damage done to one-half the large stone-house at St. John's, 19,200 livres.

No. 12. Thomas Donahue, being sworn, declares that he, as a carpenter, assisted in the building the large house at St. John's; that he has lived there seven years; and says the value of the house, before it was damaged, was two thousand pounds sterling or upwards, that it is now so damaged that all the walls must be taken down before it can be repaired.

No. 12. James Bell and James Glenry, being asked as to the damage done the large house at St. John's, after making a calculation together, estimated the damages on the whole of the house to be sixteen hundred pounds, Halifax currency, or thirty-eight thousand four hundred livres.

No. 13. To the loss of one year's work of the saw-mills, 6,000 livres.

No. 13. Said deponent, after making a calculation of the loss which must be sustained by the stoppage of the saw-mills for one year, declares it to be at least six thousand livres.

No. 14. To the loss of one year's use of the house, potash-house, smiths' forge, and other out-houses, 1,000 livr.s.

No. 14. Said deponent estimates, for the use of the house, out-houses, &c., for one year, at one thousand livres.

Sixty-eight thousand one hundred and eighty livres, is equal to eleven thousand three hundred and sixty-three dollars and one-third of a dollar.

The above account we do certify to be just and true agreeable to the best intelligence we can obtain from the above-mentioned witnesses.

MARINUS WILLETT, Capt. First York Reg't.

JAMES JEFFRY.

Montreal, February 17, 1776.

I do hereby certify that I was at the siege of St. John's, stationed under Colonel Bedel's command, at the post north of the Fort. That Colonel Bedel sent Major Gansevoort with a detachment to bring off the live stock from Colonel Hazen's farm on the opposite side of the river near that post, which was accordingly done, and which order, I suppose, came from General Montgomery. That some part of the said live stock was killed for the use of the Hospital; that also, potatoes, turnips, and other garden roots, was brought from said Hazen's farm to camp, and made use of by the soldiers and Canadians; that, also, hay was brought from his barn for the use of the service, but cannot say what the particular quantity of these articles were.

SAMUEL ELMER,

Lieutenant-Colonel, General Wooster's Regiment.

Montreal, February 17, 1776.

I certify that, at the time of the siege of St. John's, the camp at the South end of the Fort had large supplies of vegetables from the farm of Captain Hazen, opposite St. John's. That, to my knowledge, there were great damages done to the house, barn, out-houses, fences, &c., and that, after the surrender of the Fort, the house was made use of as an Hospital, as well for the quartering of troops. I likewise remember to have seen, in the time of the siege, beef and mutton brought over the river to the above camp, for the use of the troops, some of which, I understood, was taken from Captain Hazen's farm.

MARINUS WILLETT, Capt. First York Reg't.

MAJOR HAWLEY TO ELBRIDGE GERRY.

Watertown, February 18, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I hope you will forgive me if I herein appear indelicate, by attempting to inculcate some things which I hinted to you in the minutes which you was pleased to accept of me, as you was setting out on your journey to Congress. But, if you knew the infinite weight they are on my mind, you would not blame me, whether they impressed your mind in like manner or not. One was, that the most seasonable and effectual care should be taken that a sufficient number of the best of troops should be seasonably marched into Canada, and thorough provision made for their subsistence, pay, and clothing, full supplies of artillery, arms, and ammunition, that they be sure to repel and overcome all the efforts of the enemy in that quarter the approaching season. Depend on it, that the efforts of the enemy there and at New-York the next season will be the greatest and the earliest which they can possibly make. In the year 1760 I am certain that ships arrived at Quebeck from England some time in April, and I think as early as the middle of April, if not earlier. If they have any judgment or policy in England, their land forces for the reduction of America will be chiefly employed by the way of Quebeck and New-York; diversions may be given in other parts, but their main strength will be destined thither. I have no doubt but you are, by this time, fully sensible that the sharpest eye must be unremittedly kept on the people of New-York; their manœuvres and tergiversations exceed the depths of Satan. But I will not school you any longer on this head.

I beg leave to let you know that I have read the pamphlet, entitled, "Common Sense, addressed to the Inhabitants of America," and that every sentiment has sunk into my well-prepared heart; in short, you knew that my heart before was like good ground well prepared for good seed; and without an American independent Supreme Government and Constitution, wisely devised and designed, well established and settled, we shall always be but a rope of sand; but that well done, invincible. I need not repeat what I said to you of the worthlessness and futility of all paper currency, without such a general, well established, and independent Government.

Your field of business is immense, and absolutely boundless; but industry, courage, application, and perseverance, will surmount every thing; some relaxation and exercise is absolutely necessary to maintain health and spirit; but sloth and dissipation, and turning off business to others, and procrastination, if they gain any admission, will be our infallible ruin. I know you will not indulge to them, and I hope none others of your number. Solomon never uttered a truer maxim than when he said "Confidence in an unfaithful man, in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth, and a foot out of joint."

Two things I beg leave to hint: the one is, that it seems to us here that when Congress, by their late resolve, ordered an appeal from our Admiralty Courts to their honourable body, they did not well consider how dissonant such a mode of trial is from the genius of the times, to wit, by Jury; nor how much it is open to the exception which was made to the Stamp Act, of its exposing and making one of the parties liable to be carried for a trial to any remote quarter or part of the Continent, at the will of a Crown officer. Would it not have been more expedient and constitutional to have ordered the appeal to have been to the Superior Court of the Colony in which the first trial was had? Besides, it seems to bear hard on the maxim, "That the Legislative and Executive ought always to be distinct and diverse."

Secondly, I hope, sir, you will by no means forget to endeavour that there be the most peremptory and absolute order and injunction on all the Generals and officers of the American Army, that quarters for the army, or any part of them, shall, in no case, be impressed, but by the intervention of a civil magistrate, or direction of the Legislature of the Colony. They have again (I suppose through the resentment and pique of Parke, the Assistant Quartermaster) quartered a company on Major Thompson, against his will. Our Assembly is so much on the wing, and the active members so generally gone, that it is impossible to make any proper remonstrance thereof to the General.

It is not easy to imagine what a handle such conduct as this gives to the Tories, and how much they rejoice to be able to take such exceptions; besides, it is downright and intolerably wrong. It is much more necessary that Congress should make some express order and regulation for their forces in every part, touching their behaviour in this particular; because, you know that the Colonies in general, and this in particular, are in the hands and power of the Army, by reason of the Militia being, in a great degree, stripped of their arms and ammunition, for the sake of furnishing the Army.

I suggest one thing more, and I have done, to wit: I hope that the next period or term for which the Continental troops will be enlisted will be three, or at least two years; the disadvantages and risk of their being engaged and held for short terms, even for but one whole year, are many; at the same time they never will, nor can I say that I desire that they should engage for an indefinite time; but I believe they will, after a little while, be willing to engage for two or three years.

My letter is unconnected. I enter matters as they occur, without studying coherence; if you think them of any value you have full leave to communicate to your brethren of this Colony.

I am, sir, with great and most sincere respect, your obedient, humble servant,

JOSEPH HAWLEY.

To Mr. Gerry.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read March 6, 1776.]

Cambridge, February 18, 1776.

SIR: The late freezing weather having formed some pretty strong ice from Dorchester-Point to Boston-Neck, and from Roxbury to the Common, thereby affording a more expanded, and, consequently, a less dangerous approach to the town, I could not help thinking, notwithstanding the Militia were not all come in, and we had little or no powder to begin our operation by a regular cannonade and bombardment, that a bold and resolute assault upon the troops in Boston, with such men as we had, (for it could not take many men to guard our own lines, at a time when the enemy were attacked in all quarters,) might be crowned with success; and, therefore, seeing no certain prospect of a supply of powder on the one hand, and a certain dissolution of the ice on the other, I called the General Officers together for their opinion, agreeably to the resolve of Congress, of the 22d December. The result will appear in the enclosed Council of War; and, being almost unanimous, I must suppose to be right, although, from a thorough conviction of the necessity of attempting something against the Ministerial troops, before a reinforcement should arrive, and while we were favoured with the ice, I was not only ready, but willing and desirous of making the assault, under a firm hope, if the men would have stood by me, of a favourable issue, notwithstanding the enemy's advantage of ground, artillery, &c. Perhaps the irksomeness of my situation may have given different ideas to me, than those which influenced the gentlemen I consulted, and might have inclined me to put more to the hazard than was consistent with prudence. If it had, I am not sensible of it, as I endeavoured to give it all the consideration that a matter of such importance required.

True it is, and I cannot help acknowledging, that I have many disagreeable sensations on account of my situation; for, to have the eyes of the whole Continent fixed, with anxious expectation of hearing of some great event, and to be restrained in every military operation for want of the necessary means of carrying it on, is not very pleasing, especially as the means used to conceal my weakness, from the enemy, conceals it also from our friends, and adds to their wonder. I do not utter this by way of complaint. I am sensible that all that the Congress could do, they have done; and I should feel most powerfully the weight of conscious ingratitude, were I not to acknowledge this; but as we have accounts of the arrival of powder in Captain Mason, I would beg to have it sent on in the most expeditious manner, otherwise we not only lose all chance of the benefits resulting from the season, but of the Militia, which are brought in at a most enormous expense, upon a presumption that we should, long ere this, have been amply supplied with powder under the contracts entered into with the Committee of Congress. The Militia, contrary to an express requisition, are come, and coming in, without ammunition; to supply them alone with twenty-four rounds, which is less by three-fifths than the Regulars are served with, will take between fifty and sixty barrels of powder; and to complete the other troops, to the like quantity, will take near as much more, and leave in store not more than about sixty barrels, besides a few rounds of cannon-cartridges, ready filled, for use. This, sir, Congress may be assured is a true state of powder, and will, I hope, bear some testimony of my incapacity for action in such a way as may do any essential service.

February 21.—When I began this letter, I proposed to have sent it by express, but recollecting that all my late letters have been as expressive of my want of powder and arms as I could paint them, and that Mr. Hooper was to set off in a day or two, I thought it unnecessary to run the Continent to the expense of an express, merely to repeat what I had so often done before, when I am certain that Congress, knowing our necessities, will delay no time, that can possibly be avoided, in supplying them. My duty is offered to Congress, and, with great respect and esteem, I have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

P. S. Hearing of the arrival of a small parcel of powder in Connecticut, I have been able to obtain three thousand weight of it, which is in addition to the sixty barrels before mentioned.

G. W.

At a Council of General Officers, held at Head-Quarters, in Cambridge, February 16, 1776. Present: His Excellency General Washington; Major-Generals: Ward, Putnam; Brigadier-Generals: Thomas, Heath, Spencer, Sullivan, Gates.

His Excellency, the Commander-in-chief, informed the Council, that in consequence of the Resolutions of two Councils of War, held at this place, on the 16th and 18th ultimo, he had applied to this Government, Connecticut, and New-Hampshire, for the Regiments then voted. That those Regiments were come, and coming in, and if complete, would amount, (officers included,) to seven thousand two hundred and eighty men. That the Regiments of the United Colonies, at these encampments, by Saturday's return, amounted to eight thousand seven hundred and ninety-seven men fit for duty, besides officers, and one thousand four hundred and five men on command, which might be ordered to join their respective Regiments immediately. That our stock of powder was so small as to afford but little aid from cannon and mortars; and, therefore, that small-arms must be our principal reliance in any event, till a supply could be obtained. That in the state Boston harbour has been all this year, and now is, a bombardment might probably destroy the town, without doing much damage to the Ministerial troops within it, as there were transports, wooded and watered, with a view, more than probable, to take them in upon any sudden emergency, consequently, that might not produce the desired effect, if those transports were sufficient for the embarkation of the Army. That from the best intelligence which had been procured, the strength of the Army in Boston did not much exceed five thousand men, fit for duty. That considerable reinforcements were expected, and, when arrived, they would undoubtedly endeavour to penetrate into the country, if their strength should be sufficient, or remove to some other part of the Continent, if not; and, thereby, greatly harass and fatigue our troops, by constant marching and counter-marching, for which, in the present situation of affairs, they neither were, nor could be provided. Therefore, that a stroke, well aimed, at this critical juncture, might put a final end to the war, and restore peace and tranquillity, so much to be wished for.

For these reasons, and under these circumstances, and as part of Cambridge and Roxbury Bays were so frozen as to admit an easier entry into the town of Boston than could be obtained, either by water or through the lines on the Neck, the General desired to know the sentiments of the General Officers respecting a general assault upon the town.

The question being put, and their opinion demanded,

Resolved, That an assault on the town of Boston, in the present circumstances of the Continental Army, is, for the following reasons, judged improper: Because, it is the opinion of this Council, that the King's forces in Boston, comprehending new-raised corps, and armed Tories, amount to a much larger number than five thousand, furnished with artillery, assisted by a fleet, and possessed of every advantage the situation of the place affords. The officers, in proportion to the number of men, are so many, that the troops there may be said, with propriety, to be doubly officered. Because our Army is at present very defective in the numbers this Council declared to be sufficient for the purposes of offensive war; and, also, deficient in arms to the amount of two thousand stand. The Militia ordered and expected to be here, by the first of the month, are not more than half arrived, so that to assault the town of Boston, guard the works and stores, there remain only twelve thousand six hundred men, Militia, commissioned and non-commissioned officers included, a force not more than sufficient to defend the lines and maintain the blockade. Because, it appears to the Council, by the report of a majority of the General's commanding Brigades, that upon discoursing with the Field-Officers of their respective Regiments upon the subject of an assault, they, in general, declared a disapprobation of the measure, as exceedingly doubtful. Because, if an assault should be found practicable and expedient at any time, it was declared highly necessary, that it should, for some days, be preceded by a cannonade and bombardment.

His Excellency the Commander-in-chief, then required the opinion of the Council, whether it would be advisable to begin a cannonade and bombardment, with the present stock of powder?

Resolved, That a cannonade and bombardment will be expedient and advisable, as soon as there shall be a proper supply of powder, and not before; and that, in the mean time, preparations should be made to take possession of Dorchester-Hill, with a view of drawing out the enemy, and of Noddle's Island, if the situation of the water, and other circumstances will admit of it.

SURRY COUNTY (VIRGINIA) COMMITTEE.

At a Committee held for Surry County, at Mr. Francis Moreland's, on Monday, the 19th February, 1776.

Ordered, That no person, or persons, remove from any landing in this County any commodity, of any kind whatsoever, without first obtaining a permit, signed by three of the members of this Committee, for removing the same; and that the Clerk of this Committee do transmit a copy of this Order to Mr. Purdie, to be published in his paper.

JOHN WESSON, Clerk.

CHARLES CARROLL TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Mount-Clare, February 19, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I had this morning some conversation with Doctor Weesenthall, and enclosed I send you what he wrote me in consequence of it. I do not recollect that we have any power, on removal of the troops, to increase his salary.

The drugs are, he tells me, valued at one hundred and fifty pounds, currency, on the first cost.

I mentioned to him that, as he might have occasion for some assistants, and there were many young gentlemen that offered themselves, we expected he would examine them, and pitch on such as he thought best qualified, which he agreed to do. I think, therefore, that it may not be improper to send him the names of such as stand on the list. As we have some men in Annapolis that were taken by Colonel Smallwood and Captain Thomas, for the Annapolis Artillery Company, I thought it would be necessary they should have some officer of that company to overlook them, and spoke to Captain Fullford to go to Annapolis, as soon as he possibly could, or to send his Second Lieutenant, Mr. Massenbaugh. As it was not convenient for Captain Fullford to go immediately, he told me he would send that gentleman.

Mr. Harrison has since been with me, and from him I understand that the gentlemen of the Committee of Baltimore town find that gentleman very necessary to them in erecting their fortification, and would be extremely glad his attendance at Annapolis could be for some time dispensed with. I know of no expedient we can fall upon to spare him to them for any time, but by directly appointing the Third Lieutenant for the Annapolis Company, as some officer will certainly be wanting to take care of the men now in the city. Pray let me know your determination on this head, and I will immediately acquaint the gentlemen with it. I have consented that Mr. Massenbaugh should stay at Baltimore town till I hear from you.

I am, most respectfully, gentlemen, your obedient, humble servant,

CHARLES CARROLL.

To the Honourable Council of Safety.

QUEEN ANNE'S COUNTY COMMITTEE TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

In Committee of Correspondence, Queen Anne's County, }
February 19, 1776. }

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS: The Minute-Company of this County, consisting of eighty men, marched the 3d instant; and by letters from Captain Kent, the commander, dated Snow-Hill, February 9, 1776, is the following: I was always flattered that our orders and ammunition were lodged here, but find there is neither. The Convention have so managed matters as to distress me exceedingly. We find there is no provision made for camp equipage, such as cooking utensils, &c.; that no person is authorized to pay the men their wages, nor any provision made for getting back when relieved, which the Convention recommended to be at the end of eight weeks after our encampment, not considering that these men enrolled only till the first day of March. I believe a request or recommendation from the Convention, to stay eight weeks, would be agreeable, provided proper accommodations were procured; but when ordered to stay six weeks longer than they enrolled for, is looked upon as a stretch of power, and taking from us what we are contending for—liberty. It is reckoned to be from one hundred to one hundred and ten miles from Hanson's to this place; and, we are told, it is about eighty miles farther to Northampton Court-House, near which, it is imagined, we shall encamp. I have seen Mr. Probat, our Commissary, who has nothing to do for us, only to procure the provisions agreeable to a bill of fare made out for the troops by the Congress or Convention; utensils for cooking, &c., we must send, or go without. This expense will be too heavy for me, as I expect one hundred pounds will not carry us down; many of the poor young men are barefooted, and I am obliged to advance the money, or leave them behind. I have, also, paid five or six pounds for repairs to our fire-locks, such as were absolutely necessary.

We hope the necessary steps will be taken to relieve our brave countrymen from their difficulties, and as speedily, too, as it can possibly be done.

We are, your obedient, humble servants,

THOMAS WRIGHT,
TURBUTT WRIGHT,
SOLOMON WRIGHT.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS TO GENERAL LEE.

Philadelphia, February 19, 1776.

SIR: I have the honour to enclose you sundry resolutions of Congress, by which you will perceive it is the desire of Congress that you should repair to Canada and take upon you the command of the Army of the United Colonies in that Province.

I need not mention the importance of the trust reposed in you, and the happy effects it will have in securing the liberty of America. If you should be so fortunate as to drive our enemies—the enemies of liberty and the rights of mankind, out of it, I heartily pray that the Disposer of events may grant you success equal to your merits and zeal.

As you will want battering cannon, which are not to be had in that Province, you are to apply to the Convention, or Committee of Safety of New-York, to whom, by this opportunity, I send the recommendation of Congress to supply you with twelve, such as you shall judge most suitable, and some mortars, if they have or can procure them, with balls, shells and other necessities, and also to assist you in forwarding them.

Eight tons of powder are now on the way to Albany for the forces in Canada; and as a very considerable quantity of saltpetre is sent to the mills of Mr. Wiser and Mr. Livingston, should there be occasion for more, you will be supplied from thence.

You will readily perceive the necessity of conferring with General Schuyler, and with him, consulting on the best method of having necessities conveyed to you across the Lakes. The Congress have a full confidence that you will co-operate in securing the possession of the Lakes, and mutually assisting each other, as occasion may require, and, as far as in your power, give mutual aid in supporting the cause of freedom and liberty.

I expect the Deputies will, in a short time, be ready to proceed to Canada.

I am, with every sentiment of esteem, sir, your most obedient, humble servant, JOHN HANCOCK, President.

To the Honourable Major-General Lee.

P. S. Your favour respecting the departure of the ships from New-York, and your conjectures as to their designs, is just come to hand, and shall be laid before Congress.

In Congress, February 15, 1776.

Resolved, That a Committee of three, two of whom to be Members of Congress, be appointed to proceed to Canada, there to pursue such instructions as shall be given them by Congress.

The Members chosen, Doctor Franklin, Mr. S. Chase, and Mr. C. Carroll, of Carrollton.

That eight tons of Powder be immediately sent to Canada, for the use of the forces there.

February 17, 1776.

Resolved, That Major-General Lee be directed immediately to repair to Canada and take upon him the command of the Army of the United Colonies in that Province.

That Major-General Schuyler be directed to repair, as soon as his health will permit, to New-York, and take the command of the forces, and conduct the military operations there, and that the President inform him, by express, of this arrangement, and the reasons that led to it.

That it be recommended to the Convention or Committee of Safety, at New-York, to supply General Lee with a quantity of suitable cannon, not exceeding twelve, and one or more mortars, if to be had, with balls, shells and other necessities, for the siege or assault of Quebeck, and that they assist him in forwarding the same, with all possible expedition.

That the Regiment of Canadians, the raising of which is mentioned in Brigadier-General Arnold's letter of the 12th January last, to have been set on foot by him, receive the same pay and be subject to the same regulations as the other forces employed in Canada, and be accounted part of the number designed to be raised for that service.

That the appointment of Captain Rensselaer, to be Deputy Mustermaster-General of the forces in Canada, be confirmed.

That the appointment of John Halsted, to be Commissary of the Army before Quebeck, be confirmed.

That the officers in the Continental armies be enjoined to use their utmost diligence in preventing every kind of plunder, and that all who shall offend herein, be punished according to the strictest discipline.

That the resolves of Congress, for encouraging Sutlers to attend the Army in Canada, be published, with the information that hosiery, shoes, coarse linens, soap, rum, sugar and wine, are much wanted there.

That a few artificers, such as armourers, smiths, carpenters, harness-makers, and wheelwrights, with proper persons to superintend them, be forthwith sent to Canada.

Extracts from the Minutes:

CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary.

By order of Congress:

JOHN HANCOCK, President.

GENERAL LEE TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

New-York, February 19, 1776.

DEAR GENERAL: I am extremely happy that there is any opening for a more comfortable establishment for poor Palfrey than his present. He is a valuable and capable man, and the pittance of a simple Aid-de-camp is wretched for a man who has a family to support. On this principle and in obedience to your commands, I shall send him to Head-Quarters without delay. I must, at the same time, confess, that the loss will be irreparable to me, particularly if I am detached to Canada, of which there is the greatest probability, as I have received letters from divers members of the Congress, expressing their wishes that I should be employed in that department. Messrs. Griffin and Byrd are very good young men, but pretty much in the predicament of your Bayler. They can ride, understand, and deliver verbal orders; but you might as well set them to the task of translating an Arabick or Irish manuscript, as expect that they should, in half a day, copy a half sheet of orders. However, I must bustle through the difficulties and not keep Palfrey out of the channel of a better provision. If I go to Canada, I suppose I shall be allowed Secretaries, one French and one English. I do not see how it is possible to manage matters with less. Appropos: my dear General, if this is to be my province, shall you take it ill if I apply for one, of my two Brigadiers, either Greene or Sullivan? It is a pleasure to have some officer about us in whom we can place confidence.

The ships-of-war which were here have been frightened away. The Asia lies between Nutter's and Bedloe's Island; the Dutchess of Gordon, with his Excellency Governor Tryon, is under her stern; the Phenix is stationed a league below the Narrows; the Mercury and General Clinton must inevitably fall into the hands of our fleet, unless they are fast asleep. We have taken strong hold of Hell-gate, so that the passage betwixt Long-Island and the continent is absolutely blocked up to the enemy.

I wait for some more force, to prepare a post or retrenched encampment on Long-Island, opposite to the city, for three thousand men. This is, I think, a capital object; for should the enemy take possession of New-York when Long-Island is in our hands, they will find it almost impossible to subsist. The Jerseys are too well manned, and Connecticut, we know, will not furnish them with anything. What to do with the city, I own, puzzles me; it is so encircled with deep, navigable water, that whoever commands the sea must command the town. To-morrow I shall begin to dismantle that part of the fort next the town, to prevent its being converted into a citadel. I shall barrier the principal streets, and at least if I cannot make it a Continental garrison, it shall be a disputable field of battle.

Enclosed I send you a return of the good and indifferent pieces of cannon. The number of the bad, (those I mean totally unfit for service,) are, I believe, about sixty. As no Commissary of Stores has been appointed until this instant, it is impossible to give you a return of the other stores by this post, but you shall have it by the next. Lord Stirling is a great acquisition. He is a most zealous, active and accurate officer.

A captain of a ship from Cadiz, who is a very intelligent person, tells us that Lord Howe and Captain Barrington, or Admiral Barrington are appointed Commissioners to propose terms to the Congress: this he had from the Consul Hardy. What damn'd fools the Ministers are?

How does your recruiting go on for the standing Army? Be so good as to tell Gates, to whom I shall write by the next post, that Mr. Nourse enclosed no letters for him.

If little Eustace is not provided for in your Army, and I should go to Canada, I think he had better be sent to me, and I will consign him to his uncle.

I am got quit of my gout and fever, but remain extremely weak and tender. God preserve you, my dear General, from all disorders, at least until we have trampled Satan under our feet.

My love to Mrs. Washington and all the ladies.

Adieu. Yours, most faithfully, CHARLES LEE.

LORD STIRLING TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 22, 1776.]

New-York, February 19, 1776.

SIR: On the 4th instant I informed you of my having received General Lee's orders to march with my regiment to this place. I accordingly marched the next morning, with four companies, from Elizabethtown, and arrived here the next day, as soon as the ice permitted us to cross Hudson's River; the other four companies followed the next day, from Amboy and Brunswick.

Your most agreeable letter, of the 2d instant, I received on the 9th instant, enclosing the resolve of Congress of the 29th of January, which gives me more real pleasure and satisfaction than any incident I ever met with.

I now send you enclosed copies of the measures I immediately took to carry into execution the orders of Congress relative to the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, and of Mr. Blanchard's letter to me, in answer to the one I wrote him, by which the Congress will see the present situation of that ship. I wish they would give full instructions to John De Hart, Esq., and Mr. John Blanchard, what to do with her and her cargo, as my situation here will prevent my paying any attention to her.

When I arrived at this place, I expected to have found a Continental Commissary of Provisions, who would have provided my regiment with provisions, but there being no such officer here, with General Lee's approbation, I directed my Quartermaster to furnish the regiment with provisions, as nearly as possible agreeable to the ration fixed by Congress, and to do it with all the economy possible; he has hitherto purchased provisions with his own money, and such as he could borrow; but as that resource must soon fail, I must beg the Congress will, as soon as possible, give the necessary directions relative to this point. I have wrote Colonel Lowrey on this head, and have informed him of our situation, that he may take the necessary steps to relieve us, in case he is empowered by Congress.

I have the honour to be, your most humble servant,

STIRLING.

To the Honourable John Hancock.

Monday Evening.—The Asia remains in the Bay, about two miles below the town, with the Dutchess, &c. The Phoenix, it is said, lies between the Narrows and Sandy Hook; the wind east.

New-York, February 9, 1776.

SIR: It gives me great pleasure and satisfaction to have it in my power to transmit to you a resolve of the Continental Congress, which does so much justice to the gentlemen of Elizabethtown, who assisted me in taking the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, and, consequently, to the Committee of that town, who encouraged and directed that reinforcement; the resolve, of which the enclosed is a copy, I received this evening.

I now send orders to Mr. Blanchard, conformable to the directions I have received from the Congress, which, I have not the least doubt, will be faithfully carried into execution. I now, also, send to Brigadier-General Livingston a copy of some further directions I have received from the Congress, which he will communicate to you, which, I doubt not, your Committee will give him their best assistance, if necessary, to carry punctually into execution.

I take this opportunity of requesting of you, sir, to give my best thanks to the Committee of Elizabethtown, for their readiness, at all times, to assist me in carrying on the service under my direction, while I was at that place, and to the inhabitants in general, for the many instances of confidence and friendship I have received from them.

I have the honour to be, sir, your most humble servant.

Robert Ogden, Esq.

STIRLING.

New-York, February 9, 1776.

MY DEAR SIR: I now send you, enclosed, a copy of a letter I this morning received from Mr. Hancock, and, also, a copy of the resolves therein mentioned. I herewith send directions to Mr. John Blanchard, to make sale of the perishable commodities on board of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, for the use of the Congress, until further orders from them. I have directed Mr. Blanchard to consult with yourself and Mr. John De Hart, in carrying both the resolves and letters strictly into execution. I must beg the favour of you and Mr. De Hart to give him your best advice and assistance for that purpose. Be pleased to communicate to Captain Dempster that part of the letter which relates to him. And as the crowd of business here prevents my sending Mr. Blanchard copies of the resolves and letter, I must beg the favour of you to furnish him with copies of them.

General Lee recovers his health fast. I have been abroad some hours with him this day. His vigilance and judgment, I hope, will put all right here.

I am, with great affection and esteem, yours, &c.

STIRLING.

To Brigadier-General Livingston.

New-York, February 9, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I now send to Brigadier-General Livingston the orders of Congress relative to the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, which he will communicate to you, and furnish copies of. I must desire you will take the whole matters of that ship and cargo, stores and adventures, into your management, and carry the orders and directions of Congress relative to them, strictly into execution; and in so doing, I must desire you will consult with, and take the advice of General Livingston and John De Hart, Esquire. Be pleased to order the enclosed letters to be delivered.

I am, your friend and most humble servant,

STIRLING.

To John Blanchard, Esq.

Elizabethtown, February 15, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I received your favour of the 9th, and should have answered it before this, but have been the most of my time from home. I have acquainted you I cannot possibly undertake the charge of the whole matters of the ship Blue-Mountain-Valley, as there is a number of our militia think themselves concerned in the prize, and some of them are very clamorous, and some others, (who do not choose to show themselves,) to set them on, will make it too disagreeable for me; but, whenever any thing is sold, I will, if in my power, attend and take an account, which I will acquaint your Lordship of from time to time, and will give you an account of every thing that has come out of the ship, which has come to my knowledge. The potatoes are all rotten, and will not turn out any thing at all. We are now raising men to go to Staten-Island, as we hear there is two or three vessels off the Hook.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

JOHN BLANCHARD.

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Stirling.

New-York, February 19, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I informed you some days ago of my being here with my regiment, by orders I received from General Lee; and that I found neither Commissary nor Paymaster at this place, and that I had, therefore, ordered my Quartermaster to provide provisions for my regiment, as nearly as possible agreeable to the ration allowed by Congress. The Quartermaster has accordingly hitherto provided the regiment, by purchasing provisions with his own money; but as that is all expended, I am afraid we shall be soon thrown into very great confusion on that account, and must, therefore, desire you will immediately furnish Mr. Halsted with a sum of money sufficient to pay off what he has already expended; and, also, sufficient to lay in a stock of provision for the future use of the regiment while it can be had in plenty, for the supply of this place is not as it used to be, and, therefore, if you can send a supply of both beef and pork, barrelled, it would be very proper. Mr. Halsted should, also, be supplied with money to pay for the haversacks, knapsacks, canteens, camp-kettles, cross-belts, tomahawks, and axes, ordered by Congress. As all these matters are now at a stand for want of the money, as osnaburghs is to be got, I have ordered the Quartermaster to provide beds for the whole regiment, in order to return those we have borrowed and brought away from the barracks in New-Jersey. I wish the Congress may continue the providing of my regiment, in your hands, both with provisions and pay, and all the small articles allowed, or I much fear there will be confusion. I hope you will take care to have the money ready here for the next month's pay by the first of March, as the men are still in great want of necessities, and are in a place that is very expensive, and, consequently, they will be clamorous for it.

I am, your most humble servant,
To Colonel Lourey.
STIRLING.

MAJOR ROGERS TO NEW-YORK CONGRESS.

New-York, February 19, 1776.

SIR: Business of a private nature, and such only as respects myself and creditors, renders my attendance on board the Dutchess of Gordon indispensably necessary. As I am soliciting grants for several tracts of land, within this Province, I shall be obliged, frequently, to attend the Governour and Council, to facilitate those grants. I shall be greatly obliged to you, if you will be so obliging as to mention these matters to the gentlemen of the Congress, in order that I may obtain a permit to go on board the Governour's ship, at any time when my business may require my attendance.

I am, sir, your very humble servant,
ROBERT ROGERS.
To Colonel Woodward, President of the Honourable Provincial Congress for the Province of New-York.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress of New-York.
The Petition of WILLIAM and THOMAS COCK, of OYSTER-BAY, in QUEEN'S County, humbly sheweth:

That we, your petitioners, are inhabitants of said County; and that at the last election of Deputies, for the Provincial Congress, we opposed the electing of Deputies for said County, since which we are convinced of our error, and think it was absolutely necessary that there should be a representation of said County in Provincial Congress, and that your petitioners did not oppose the choice of said Deputies, from any desire or inclination of injuring this country, but was owing entirely to error in judgment; and that your petitioners are ready to obey all orders and recommendations of the Continental and Provincial Congress. Your petitioners, therefore, desire, that your honourable body will take our case into consideration, and grant us such relief, in the present case, as to you shall seem meet.

WILLIAM COCK,
THOMAS COCK.

New-York, February 19, 1776.

New-York, February 19, 1776.

Wednesday last, February 14th, his Excellency, our Governour, was pleased to appoint Whitehead Hicks, Esq., one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of this Province.

Mr. Hicks having, at the same time, surrendered the office of Mayor of this city, his Excellency was pleased to appoint David Matthews, Esq., to that office; and last Friday they were both qualified to act in their respective stations.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Albany, February 19, 1776.

SIR: I am honoured with your favour of 14th instant, enclosing the copy of General Lee's letter of the 17th. I am exceedingly happy at the measures adopted in the city of New-York since General Lee's arrival. The defenceless state of that place, which left Hudson's River for a considerable way up much exposed to insults from the enemy, had given me great pain, especially as the city of New-York contains so many Malignants.

FOURTH SERIES.—VOL. IV.

The measure of appointing a Regimental Paymaster, which you have adopted, will be attended with vast benefit to the service. I mentioned it to Lieutenant-Colonel Buel when here, and I intend that every regiment in this quarter shall have one.

The Jersey and Pennsylvania troops, that are on their way to Canada, were so vastly deficient in arms and accoutrements, that they have already deprived me of many intended for Colonel Burrell's corps; I hope, nevertheless, to be able to furnish those I promised, as I have persons employed in purchasing others.

Captain Baldwin has just arrived from Canada; all was well there eight days ago.

The Paymaster-General informs me he cannot complete the rolls of some of the troops raised in Connecticut, as no account has been given of the men discharged by General Wooster. To remedy this, I have requested him to make an estimate of what is still due, and that I would give him directions to pay it to the gentlemen of your table, to pay off the men, and to render the accounts and pay-rolls to him, that I may give warrants on them for his vouchers. Colonel Mott and Captain Starr, were, by mistake, paid a dollar a week for billeting, which was the allowance this Colony made. Congress has not made any allowance for that service; but, as it was reasonable it should be paid, I determined to pay the Colonial allowance, and leave it to the Colonies to charge or give credit for the difference, as the case may be, when Congress shall have determined the allowance. You will be pleased to signify this to the Pay-Table, that they may govern themselves accordingly, and call upon Colonel Mott for the difference.

I am, with great respect and esteem, your Honour's most obedient, humble servant,
PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable Governour Trumbull.

P. MOREAU TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Providence, February 19, 1776.

MY GENERAL: I take the liberty to write to you, to acquaint you that I am charged with a letter for you from Mr. De Santerre, Captain of Grenadiers, now at Cape François, in the Island of San-Domingo, by which you will see his intention concerning these Colonies. I have sent this letter to Governour Cooke, who promised to send it to you immediately. I am much afraid that he has not explained his sense in these letters. I have determined to remark in mine, that he has made no mention of the quantity of powder which he makes account to send; but here is what he told me on this subject:

If in case you accept of his offer of service to come here, and that you will have the complaisance to write to him, before receipt of your letter, he intended writing to France, to have twenty thousand weight of powder: eight days before my departure, he had sent for ten thousand pounds, which will probably arrive within a month or six weeks from this time.

You cannot, sir, be acquainted with this gentleman, who must be very useful in this country, from his knowledge in war. He has served, with great credit, twenty-four years, in France; he has acquired the Cross of St. Louis; he does not wish to come to this country to make a fortune, for he enjoys an ample one in France, of one hundred and fifty thousand livres, close to the water: his intention is to gain honour. This, sir, is his aim, which will probably fix him for the rest of his days in the rank of one of your citizens, if his life is not sacrificed in your service.

I have the honour to be, &c.,

P. MOLEAU.

To General Washington.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO GENERAL SULLIVAN.

Cambridge, February 19, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I am a little surprised and concerned, to hear of your moving to Colonel Royal's house. I thought you knew that I had made a point of bringing General Lee from thence, on account of the distance from his line of command; at least, that he should not sleep there. The same reasons holding good with respect to yourself, I should be glad if you could get some place nearer, as I think it too hazardous to trust the left wing of our Army without a General Officer upon the spot, in cases of emergency. I do not wish you to return to your old house; any other tolerably convenient will satisfy me, and I am sure be pleasing to yourself, as I know you would not easily forgive yourself if any thing wrong should happen for want of your presence on any sudden call.

I am, with great esteem, dear sir, your most obedient servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Brigadier-General Sullivan.

GENERAL WASHINGTON TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Cambridge, February 19, 1776.

SIR: I am grieved to find that, instead of six or eight thousand weight of powder, which I fondly expected to receive from Providence, payable to your letter, I am likely to get only four thousand two hundred and seventeen pounds, including the three thousand weight belonging to this Province, (if to be had.) My situation in respect to this article is really distressing; and, while common prudence obliges me to keep my want of it concealed, to avoid a discovery thereof to the enemy, I feel the bad effect of that concealment from our friends; for, not believing our distress equal to what it really is, they withhold such small supplies as are in their power to give. I am so restrained in all my military movements, for want of these necessary supplies, that it is impossible to undertake any thing effectual; and whilst I am fretting at my own disagreeable situation, the world, I suppose, is not behind-hand in censuring my inactivity. A golden opportunity has been lost, perhaps not to be regained again this year.

The late freezing weather had formed some pretty strong ice from Dorchester to Boston-Neck, and from Roxbury to the Common, which would have afforded a less dangerous approach to the town than through the lines, or by water. The advantages of this, added to a thorough conviction of the importance of destroying the Ministerial troops in Boston, before they can be reinforced, and to a belief that a bold and resolute assault, aided, in some small degree, by artillery and mortars, might be crowned with success, I proposed the attempt, a day or two ago, to the General Officers, but they thought, and perhaps rightly, that such an enterprise, in our present weak state of men, (for the Militia are not yet half arrived,) and deficiency of powder, would be attended with too much hazard, and, therefore, that we had better wait the arrival of the last, and then to begin a bombardment in earnest.

This matter is mentioned to you in confidence. Your zeal, activity, and attachment to the cause, renders it unnecessary to conceal it from you. Our real stock of powder, which, after furnishing the Militia, (unfortunately coming in without, and will require upwards of fifty barrels,) and completing our other troops to twenty-four rounds a man, (which are less, by one-half, than the Regulars have,) and having a few rounds of cannon-cartridges fitted for immediate use, will leave us not more than one hundred barrels in store for the greatest emergency, inclusive of the four thousand two hundred and seventeen pounds from Providence, (if we get it.)

This, my dear sir, is melancholy, but it is a truth; and, at the same time that it may serve to convey some idea of my disagreeable feelings under a knowledge of it, will evince the necessity of vigorous exertions to throw, without delay, every ounce that can be procured into this camp; otherwise, the great expense of sending in the Militia will be entirely sunk, without any possible good resulting from it, but much evil, as they will contribute not a little to the consumption of our ammunition, &c., &c.

For want, perhaps, of better information, I cannot help giving it as my opinion, that, at a time when our military operations are entirely at a stand, for want of powder, principally, and arms, it is inconsistent with good policy to hoard up town stocks of either. Better it is to fight an enemy at a distance than at our door. Prudence, indeed, points out the expediency of providing for private, as well as public exigencies; but, if both are not to be done, I should think there can be no hesitation in the choice, as the Army now raised, and supported at a considerable expense, can be of little use if it is not sufficient to prevent an enemy from disturbing the quiet of the interior towns of these Governments. I am, &c.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To Governour Trumbull.

JOSIAH QUINCY TO GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Braintree, February 19, 1776.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY: Since the sudden and unexpected burning of the houses upon Dorchester-Neck, I have been repeatedly and earnestly solicited, by my distressed friends and neighbours, to make an humble representation to your Excellency, that our habitations are equally exposed to be destroyed by our enemies, whenever their malice shall stimulate them to make us feel the effects of the unrelenting vengeance of the "Royal Brute of England." Could your Excellency have spared time to make us happy in a visit, and taken a view of this part of our harbour, you would have been immediately sensible of the ease with which an excursion may be made from the Castle, either upon Squantum-Neck or the Main, where, before a sufficient force could be collected to repel them, our enemies might rob us of our provision, burn our houses, murder or captivate the inhabitants who could not escape, and retreat again to the Castle, in less than an hour, as it is not distant more than a league. Your Excellency would also have seen two line-of-battle-ships, one frigate, and about fifteen large transports, which have been above six weeks past in Nantasket-Road, besides ten or a dozen armed cruisers which are constantly going out in pursuit of our privateers, or coming in with their captures, or expected transports, under their convoy.

If our Army should take post upon Dorchester-Neck, have we not reason to apprehend the shores will be attacked, from a spirit of revenge? Certainly, such a fleet can easily spare, and have boats enough to transport, four or five hundred men, who may (and when the irresistible impulses of hunger, or thirst for blood, inspires them with sufficient courage, I fear will) land and ravage along shore for miles, any force we have, at present, to oppose them, notwithstanding. Our circumstances are peculiarly unhappy, and in a very striking manner resemble the deplorable condition of those miserable wretches who, in the last war, inhabited our frontier settlements, where they were every moment exposed to the incursions of a savage and barbarous enemy; with this difference in their favour, that, from early life, they were familiar with want, and inured to hardships: whereas, if we should be reduced to the dreadful necessity of abandoning our habitations, our lands must lie uncultivated, our stocks of cattle and sheep must perish, for want of food and care, and, what will be an aggravation of our misery, we must fly for an asylum to our fellow-citizens, whose houses are already crowded with inhabitants who have fled to them for refuge, and, having charitably supported their suffering brethren, are themselves become poor. Suffer not, therefore, such a misfortune to befall us, if it is in your Excellency's power to prevent it.

I am not only earnestly entreated, but the prayers and tears of my most tender connexions constrain me, to implore your Excellency's immediate protection. Where shall we (indeed, where can we) go for relief, but to you, sir? The whole force of the Continent is under your command, and at your disposal. Let us not, therefore, plead in vain for that help which is no where else to be found. We beseech you to grant us protection before it is too late, which we fear it will be, if not speedily granted.

We are informed that some of the new-raised troops are destitute of barracks. There are barracks at Squantum sufficient for four or five hundred men. Such a guard, we hope, would securely defend us, especially if a number of boats were allowed them to parade in the Bay, when the weather will permit, as such a manoeuvre would probably intimidate the enemy from landing, lest their retreat should be cut off; besides, the same boats would be ready, upon any sudden emergency, to transport them elsewhere.

As your Excellency can have no reason to doubt the truth of the foregoing representation of our distressed circumstances, we rest assured the benevolence of your disposition will cause them to be duly attended to.

That your Excellency's success may be equal to the importance of the trust reposed in you, and your future fame in the annals of America equal to both, is the ardent and unalterable wish of your Excellency's faithful servant,
 JOSIAH QUINCY.

COLONEL HUNTINGTON TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Roxbury Camp, February 19, 1776.

HONOURED SIR: If a fair occasion should present itself, in the course of your correspondence with our worthy Commander-in-chief, and you should think proper to mention Major Chester as a fit person to fill any suitable place that may be vacant in the Army, I think it will serve our cause, and oblige the General, who is very desirous that persons of character and military spirit should be nominated for officers. Many of a very different spirit have, by some means or other, got into the Army.

The sickness which, for three weeks' past, has much prevailed in our camp, and been very mortal, is now abating. Every now and then, some one breaks out with the small-pox, but this has not been mortal.

Three of our sentries, who were taken by the enemy, in their late excursion to Dorchester-Point, were brought out by a flag of truce, and delivered up to us, this day. The others who were made prisoners at the same time, the officers on the lines say, do not choose to come out; but why they have permitted any to return to us, is a matter of speculation.

A vessel, from the West-Indies to this Continent, has been lately cast away on Cape-Cod; cargo and people saved. Among them is a gentleman, who says he is a Prussian officer, and is lately from France; appears to be well acquainted with the history of our times; says the French papers are full of the American affairs, and that every success of ours gives them joy.

The bearer, whom I should have mentioned in the beginning of my letter, is Mr. Hooper, of North-Carolina, one of the Delegates of Congress, an old and particular acquaintance of brother Jonathan's.

JEDEDIAH HUNTINGTON.

To Governour Trumbull.

SALEM COMMITTEE TO MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL.

Committee of Safety and Correspondence, }
 Salem, February 19, 1776. }

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS: The Committee of Safety and Correspondence of this town beg leave to represent to your Honours, that about the 24th day of January last, the sloop Rainbow, Lemuel Perkins, master, loaded with wood, was taken by one of our privateers, commanded by Captain Tucker, upon a suspicion that she was bound to Boston, and carried into Cape-Ann. Upon her arrival there, the master produced a certificate in his favour from the Committee of Safety of Newcastle, upon which, and his solemn declaration that he was bound for Salem, he and his vessel were released and suffered to proceed on his voyage. That soon after his departure from Cape-Ann, he was taken, as he says, by a British man-of-war and carried into Boston, where his cargo of wood was sold, which done, he was proceeding with his vessel to the Eastern-Shore, but, meeting with contrary winds, he put into this harbour, and came to anchor under cover of the guns of the Fort.

Upon the Committee having information thereof, they apprehended it to be their duty to make inquiry into the affair, in the course of which they found Captain Perkins's conduct to have been attended with such circumstances as to make them think it necessary to detain his vessel, and to send him to the Committee of the honourable Board, to be proceeded with as they shall in their wisdom think proper.

The Committee have, likewise, directed Captain Benjamin Ward to wait upon your Honours, who is one of their members, and who is fully acquainted with all the circumstances relative to this matter that have come to the knowledge of this Committee. To him, therefore, the Committee beg leave to refer your Honours for a more particular account of this affair.

By order of the Committee:

JOHN PICKERING, JUN., Chairman pro tem.

To the Honourable the Committee of Council.

At a meeting of the Committee, &c., it appeared that the sloop Mermad, commanded by Lemuel Perkins, sailed from Damascotta on the — day of January last, having a certificate from the Committee at that place, which expressed his being bound to Newburyport or Salem; that his lading consisted of about forty-five cords of wood, about ten bushels of potatoes, two bushels of turnips, and a quantity of spruce for beer; he had on board, also, a piece of venison, a quarter of veal, and a goose. That in his passage from Damascotta he touched at Falmouth; that on the 29th January, in the morning, he was seen by one of our privateers, about half-way from Cape-Ann to Boston light-house, and nearly in that direction, the wind being north, or nearly so; that the privateer put hands on board his sloop, and sent her to Cape-Ann; that Perkins was examined by one of the Committee of that place, and supposed to be bound to Salem, and it does not appear that any person there thought to the contrary at that time; that he tarried at Cape-Ann — days, waiting for a wind suitable to carry him to Salem; that on — instant, in the evening, a vessel bound to Salem, Benjamin Gale, commander, sailed from Cape-Ann for Salem, and that before he sailed he told Captain Perkins he would go through the most northern passage, with which he (Gale) was acquainted; that Perkins might follow him, and by these means avoid the man-of-war which lay off Marblehead; that Captain Perkins left Cape-Ann about half an hour after Captain Gale, the wind being then about northwest by north; that Captain Gale, after having sailed about one — of his distance, found the wind to head him, put about and returned to Cape-Ann; that he (Gale) spoke with Perkins, and told him the wind was too much ahead to proceed; (Perkins says he could not understand what Gale said;) that Gale went back to Cape-Ann, and that Perkins kept on westward, and his vessel was next morning seen by or near the man-of-war off Marblehead, and soon after to proceed to Boston; that on Saturday last said vessel came into this harbour and there anchored, after having stood as far to the eastward as Cape-Ann; that as the vessel passed the fort at the entrance of the harbour, she was hailed by the guards, and proper steps taken to prevent her going out again till examined; that soon after her being at anchor, she was boarded by a boat from this place and taken possession of; that this Committee have desired the commanding officer of the guards stationed here to take charge of said vessel, &c., which he has done; that the above boat was commanded by the Captain of a privateer, which is now at Cape-Ann.

The account said Perkins and his men (being three in all) give of their going to Boston, is as follows:

That on their passage from Cape-Ann to Salem, they were boarded by a boat from the aforesaid man-of-war and carried to her, and that the next day an officer and five hands were put on board, who carried them to Boston; that their wood, &c., was taken out of their vessel and disposed of by the man-of-war's men; and the master, Perkins, says, that on his promising to go to the eastward and get a load of wood, and to bring the same to Boston, his vessel was given him, and three dollars a cord for his wood, to enable him to procure another load, and a promise to Perkins that he should have the whole of what that load should sell for; that passes from General Howe and Admiral Skulldham were given him, to enable him to pass the ships-of-war; that he left Boston thereupon, and arrived in this harbour, as is before-mentioned.

DANIEL GOULD.

When Tucker chased Perkins he was standing for Boston. When he brought him to, he said he was bound to Plymouth; then said he was thinking about putting about for Salem.

By MOLYNEUX SHULDHAM, Esq., Rear-Admiral of the White, and Commander-in-chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels employed, and to be employed in NORTH-AMERICA, &c. &c.

Permit the sloop Rainbow, Lemuel Perkins, Master, with his crew, consisting of two hands, to pass from the harbour of Boston to Damascotta, in ballast.

Given under my hand, on board His Majesty's ship Chatham, off Boston, 15th February, 1776.

M. SHULDHAM.

To the respective Captains and Commanders of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels in North-America.

By command of the Admiral :

EDWARD BRAGGE.

Boston, April 25, 1776.

SIR: Enclosed is a letter and a deposition which General Ward received last evening; but, as the General thinks it is a matter most properly cognizable by the civil authority, he refers it to the honourable Council.

I am, sir, with great respect, your most obedient, humble servant,

JOSEPH WARD, Aid-de-camp.

To the Honourable Moses Gill, Esq.

In Council, May 1, 1776: Read and sent down.

Portsmouth, April 20, 1776.

SIR: I think it my duty to enclose the deposition of John Cochran, boatswain's mate of the Continental armed schooner the Lynch, under my command, to you, as Captain Perkins is now in Salem.

Your most obedient, humble servant, JOHN AYRES.

To General Ward.

I, John Cochran, now boatswain's mate of the Continental armed schooner called the Lynch, commanded by Captain John Ayres, testify that I was a seaman on board the Fowey, man-of-war, four months, immediately preceding the departure of the troops from Boston; and while the Fowey lay at her station by Cat-Island, the last Winter, two men came in a row-boat alongside the Fowey, and brought with them a quarter of beef, weighing about one hundred and eighty pounds, which was received on board the Fowey, the Captain of which paid them therefor.

About a fortnight after this, and while the Fowey lay at her station off Baker's Island, the same two men came again in a row-boat to the Fowey, and brought with them three quarters of beef and several quarters of mutton, which the Captain of the Fowey bought of them.

It was now said, on board, that one of the said two men was Captain, and the other Mate of a sloop or schooner belonging to Salem, and that the Captain's name was Perkins. I saw him each time of his bringing the beef, and I judge he was about twenty-seven years of age. He wore a brown surtout, and appeared to be about five feet nine or ten inches high. Each time the beef was brought in the night. The first time they brought a compass with them, which I saw. I think, also, that they brought a compass the second time with them in the boat.

About three weeks after bringing the last beef, a sloop came in the night up towards the Fowey, as she lay off Baker's Island. All hands were ordered to their quarters, but, before a gun was fired, the Captain hailed the sloop and ordered her to bring to. The sloop answered that she was coming with design to bring to, and then dropped anchor alongside the Fowey. By daybreak a midshipman and four hands were put on board the sloop, and proceeded with her to Boston.

When Captain Perkins brought the last beef, he told the Captain of the Fowey, as I heard the midshipman say, that he (said Perkins) was going to the eastward for wood to carry to Boston; that he would come up towards the Fowey with it, and upon the firing a gun from the Fowey he would bring to. When Perkins came with his sloop alongside the Fowey it was about midnight. He came on board the Fowey, and afterwards the midshipman said, in my hearing, that the sloop had on board her fifty cords of wood, and I saw one goose, and about fifty pounds of beef, which were the same night brought on board the Fowey. The sloop was almost new, and I heard the midshipman say, that Perkins said he went into Cape-Ann harbour with the privateers which the Fowey chased into Cape-Ann near about a week before, and would then have followed the Fowey, but that Captain Manly ordered him into Cape-Ann.

JOHN COCHRAN.

Then John Cochran, above-named, made oath to the truth of the foregoing deposition by him subscribed, before

TIMOTHY PICKERING, JUN.,
Justice of the Peace.

Williamsburgh, February 20, 1776.

DEAR SIR: I have just received yours of the 15th instant, and have snatched a moment to write a few lines in answer to it. I approve much of your plan of publishing the hand-bill, and would, before this, have executed it if my indisposition and Mrs. Page's illness, added to an incessant round of business, had not prevented me.

The method you mention for removing the spikes from cannon, is certainly good; but it is said the cannon at Norfolk is rendered useless by being broken at their trunnions and butts. I will endeavour, sir, to prevail on our Committee to send you, regularly, authentick accounts of every material occurrence here, and of the state of the enemy's strength. I wrote you yesterday an account of the arrival of another man-of-war, and a transport or two; this report has not been contradicted, nor have we yet heard from whence or what these ships are. Captain Hammond, of the Roeback, we are well assured, has behaved with great politeness and humanity to several of our people. Lord Dunmore had written a letter to Colonel Corbin, in which he offers to go to England to negotiate peace; he professes the warmest attachment to this country, and says that he lays hold on the last sentence in the King's speech to offer his services to procure a lasting, speedy, and honourable accommodation. No one, but Lord Dunmore, could have applied that sentence in the manner he has. I will send you a copy of the letter by the post. Colonel Corbin laid the letter before the Committee of Safety, and received a letter from the Committee, which I will also send you. In it we told the Colonel, that we were neither empowered nor inclined to intermeddle with the mode of negotiation; that we looked to the Congress for the management of this important matter; but added, we would lay his letter before the Assembly, which is to meet on their adjournment, and that Lord Dunmore might manifest his good intentions by suspending hostilities. Colonel Corbin set out this morning to Hampton, with orders to Colonel Grayson to send him with a flag of truce to Lord Dunmore. We gave him to understand, that his Lordship should deliver up the slaves now with him immediately. The old gentleman went off in great hopes of procuring a month's truce at least, and seemed determined to give Captain Hammond a true statement of Lord Dunmore's conduct. Since writing my letter of yesterday, the Committee have ordered down the saltpetre which had been sent to Petersburgh, to be worked up by Buckstrout. I hope, from this, that they will at length encourage him, and enable him to carry on the manufacturing of gunpowder to a considerable extent. The report of the burning of Portsmouth was entirely without foundation.

I am, dear sir, your affectionate, humble servant,

JOHN PAGE.

To Richard Henry Lee, Esq., of Chantilly.

P. S. I think you had better attend the Assembly. You will be more wanted here than at the Congress. J. P.

COLONEL CORBIN'S MISSION TO LORD DUNMORE.

Williamsburgh, March 1, 1776.

On Monday, the 19th February, the Honourable Richard Corbin, Esq., laid before the Committee of Safety a Letter he received from Lord Dunmore, in the words following:

"Ship Dunmore, Elizabeth River, January 22, 1776.

"SIR: Notwithstanding the many cruel and false invectives thrown out against me, as an enemy to this Colony; conscious to myself, however, of my firm attachment to this country, in general, and this Colony in particular, I am well convinced, (though the present rulers may have thought it requisite, in support of their late adopted measures,) to represent me in the very opposite light to what they were pleased to do but a few months before; yet there is not one amongst them that ever viewed my conduct with an impartial eye, but is sensible that every transaction of my administration proceeded from a heart that never yet entertained a thought which was not meant for the real happiness and well-being of this Colony. This ever having been my first object, the very moment I received my despatches, last year, I called the Assembly, to lay before them the resolves of the House of Parliament, not doubting then but they would have been received, by every well-wisher to his country, with transports of joy. Now, having received His Majesty's most gracious speech, I catch at it with the greatest pleasure. The last sentence it contains, wherein he says: 'It may be also proper to authorize persons so commissioned to restore such Province or Colony, so returning to its allegiance, to the free exercise of its trade and commerce, and to the same protection and security as if such Province or Colony had never revolted,'—I say, I catch, with the greatest avidity, at this generous, this humane, this truly noble sentiment, again to offer every exertion of my poor abilities to procure, by any means that shall be thought most advisable and honourable, permanent, speedy, and happy reconciliation between this Colony and its parent state. I wish to God they may reflect before they draw upon them the wrath of that powerful though merciful people, and by that means involve this once most happy land in all the horrors of a most destructive civil war; wherein, were they as successful as the most sanguine amongst them could wish, could only end in their inevitable destruction. What, then, have they to hope for, and what have they not to fear, by a perseverance in this most ruinous and unnatural contest? Should the rulers of the people prove as well disposed to return to their duty, as I know the bulk of the Colony are, they will embrace the favourable opportunity that now offers. But should they be so infatuated as to mean totally to throw off all allegiance to the best of sovereigns, and connections with the state that has fostered them with the most paternal care, their memories will be handed down to the latest posterities as most undutiful and ungrateful.

"Sir, a thorough conviction of your warm attachment to this your native land, and your admiration of that truly excellent Constitution and Government under which you have so long and happily lived, as well as your love for our most benign Sovereign, induces me to trouble you with the above tender of my services to this Colony. And I beg you will assure whomsoever you shall think proper to lay this before, of my willingness to undergo any fatigue or difficulty for the accomplishment of its happiness.

"I have now only to entreat, that my sincere endeavours to effect a reconciliation between this and the parent state may be enforced by every exertion of your best advice and assistance; and that both may succeed, is the ardent wish of, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

"DUNMORE."

On consideration whereof, the Committee ordered the following Letter to be written to Colonel Corbin, which was delivered to him, viz:

"February 19, 1776.

"SIR: The Committee of Safety have considered the letter to you from Lord Dunmore, which you referred to them. You, sir, who are so well acquainted with the sentiments of the country we at present act for, must be satisfied they would be made exceedingly happy by a just and honourable reconciliation with Great Britain, without the further effusion of blood; but we are not authorized or inclined to intermeddle in the mode of negotiation to effect this desirable purpose. The Continental Congress have, in their last petition to the Throne, besought His Majesty to point out some mode for such negotiation; and if Administration are disposed to heal this unnatural wound in the empire, they will embrace that occasion (which, probably, will be the last) of accomplishing it. At all events, any other steps to be taken must proceed from the Representatives of the Continent, and not from us. We shall, however, communicate the contents of this letter to the House of Burgesses, who meet by adjournment the first of March, and submit the matter to them, in case there should then be members enough to proceed to business, or as soon after as such a number can be convened. In the mean time, if his Lordship has it in his inclination and power to serve the Colony, and avoid making the breach still wider, it may be manifested by his suspending hostilities against the inhabitants, until the ultimate intentions of His Majesty are known respecting any negotiation.

"We have the greatest confidence, sir, in your attachment to the real interests of America, and are satisfied your having communicated the contents of this letter to us proceeds from the best motives; and are, with great regard, sir, your most obedient, humble servant, for self and Committee.

EDMUND PENDLETON, President."

After which Colonel Corbin, with the entire approbation of the Committee of Safety, proceeded with a flag of truce on board the Dunmore, to hear what his Lordship had to propose on the subject-matter of his Letter. Colonel Corbin, on his return, informed the Committee he had read their Letter to him before Lord Dunmore, and in the presence of General Clinton; who said he believed there was nothing America could ask, in a constitutional way, that would not be granted, but if they relied on the General Congress, they had nothing to expect from Parliament. Upon this Colonel Corbin proposed to Lord Dunmore to grant a commission to the President for meeting the Assembly, at the time they had adjourned to, which his Lordship refused; so that his Letter cannot, as was proposed, be laid before the House of Burgesses, they having no right, by their Constitution, to proceed to any business without a representative of the Crown, nor did Lord Dunmore suggest any other mode in which a negotiation could be set on foot, in what he might call a constitutional way.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM A MEMBER OF THE VIRGINIA CONVENTION, TO HIS FRIEND IN PHILADELPHIA, DATED FEBRUARY 20, 1776.

Some people amongst us seen alarmed at the name of Independence, while they support measures, and propose plans, that comprehend all the spirit of it. Have we not made laws, erected courts of judicature, established magistrates, made money, levied war, and regulated commerce, not only without His Majesty's intervention, but absolutely against his will? Are we not as criminal in the eye of Britain for what we have done, as for what we can yet do? If we institute any Government at all, for God's sake, let it be the best we can; we shall as certainly be hanged for a bad as a good one; for they will allow nothing for the waverings of filial tenderness, it will be all placed to the account of blundering ignorance. If, therefore, we incur the danger, let us not decline the reward. In every other instance, independence raises an idea in the mind that the heart grasps at with avidity, and a feeling soul never fails to be stricken and depressed with the very sound of dependence. If in a private family, the children, instead of being so educated as to take upon them the function of good citizens, should be brought to years of maturity, under the apparel, food, and discipline of infancy, what laws, natural or civil, would acquit the parent or the child of infamy and criminality? A set of great lounging infants, tied to mamma's apron, with long bibs and pap-spoons, at two-and-twenty, would put the Sabarite to the blush. Now, as every moral virtue or vice, almost, is vastly enhanced, when considered in its relation to the community as well as individuals, I insist upon it, that he who would keep a community in a state of infantile dependence, when it became a fit member of the great Republic of the world, would be vastly more criminal and infamous, than the imaginary family I mentioned before. Whenever I have been an advocate for dependence, I have felt a conscious want of public virtue; I own it arose from laziness in me; I was willing to brush through life as I began it, and to leave the rooting out the thorns and thistles, as well as the harvest of the laurels, to posterity; and this, I think, was the case of most of us; but now, that we have gone through the rough work, to desert the glorious prospect it opens to us, would be heretical, damnable, and abominable, even to a sensible Pope. No, my friend, it is a duty of much moment to us as men, and of the last degree of magnitude as citizens, to maintain, at every risk, a perfect independence of every thing, but good sense, good morals, good laws, good Government, and our good Creator.

MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY TO COLONEL JOSEPH SIM.
[No. 20.] Annapolis, February 20, 1776.

SIR: Upon inspecting the return made by the Prince George's County Committee, of the Nottingham Company, we find that Mr. Fielder Bowie hath been elected First Lieutenant, Mr. William Newman Dorsett, Second Lieutenant, and Mr. Thomas Hoyer, Ensign, thereof.

In the line of preferment generally adopted in the military department, on the promotion of the Captain, the First Lieutenant succeeds him, and the other commissioned officers in like manner, by which means the nomination of a new Ensign alone will become necessary.

The Council have thought it most expedient to follow this mode, but look upon themselves at full liberty to deviate therefrom, on special and good reasons. It does not appear to them from your letter or otherwise, that the gentlemen the company wish not to be promoted, have done any act to forfeit the good opinion of their country, or that they are in any manner disqualified. We have sent Captain Bowie's commission, but keep back the commissions for the other officers till we have your reasons, or that of the company, for departing from the line of preferment.

We are, &c.

To Colonel Joseph Sim.

BENJAMIN MACKALL AND OTHERS TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Calvert County, February 20, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: We have received yours of the 2d instant, enclosing a resolve of Congress, and an order by the Council of Safety appointing us to collect all the gold and silver in the County. We have received and engaged seven hundred pounds currency, and expect, in the course of another week, to procure about two or three hundred pounds more. Much more might have been collected had the paper currency been sent down to give in exchange. We hope you will inform us when you would have the gold and silver brought to Annapolis. Continental money is asked in exchange for most of the cash we have collected or engaged.

We are, gentlemen, your most humble servants,

BENJAMIN MACKALL, 4th.
ALEXANDER SOMERVILLE,
PATRICK S. SMITH.

To the Honourable the Council of Safety of Maryland.

RICHARD BARNES TO MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY.

Leonardtown, February 20, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: I received yours by post, appointing Colonel Plater, Mr. Briscoe, and myself, to collect all the gold and silver coin that can be found in the County. On consideration, find it impracticable to be done, unless we had money in hand to exchange, as it must be collected in small quantities, and, even in that case, it is probable no great sum can be obtained; however, my endeavours shall not be wanting to procure it.

I remain, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

RICHARD BARNES.

To the Council of Safety of Maryland.

PHILADELPHIA COMMITTEE.

In Committee of Inspection and Observation, }
February 20, 1776. }

Whereas, the Continental Congress did lately resolve, "That if any person should be so lost to all virtue and regard for this country as to refuse to receive the Bills of Credit emitted by the authority of Congress, or should obstruct or discourage the currency thereof, and be convicted by the Committee of the City, County, or District, where he should reside, such person should be deemed, published, and treated as an enemy of his country, and be precluded from all trade or intercourse with the inhabitants of these Colonies." And whereas, Thomas Rogers and Joseph Sermon, both of this city, having been charged with a breach of this resolve, in refusing to receive the above Bills of Credit in payment, appeared before the Committee for the City and Liberties, acknowledged the truth of the charge, and alleged, in their defence, scruples of conscience thereupon, as being money emitted for the purpose of war.

The Committee, pursuant to the trust reposed in them, proceeded to consider the charge and defence, and were of opinion, that if such allegation was true, yet, as the Congress have made no exception, and as such conduct tends to subvert the most essential rights and liberties of their fellow-citizens, and, by destroying the means of defence, to expose their lives and properties to unavoidable ruin, it ought not to be admitted. But it appears by their own acknowledgments, that the above persons have heretofore received; and do continue to receive, Bills of Credit emitted in this and the neighbouring Provinces, though frequently issued for the purposes of war, therefore, such objection is not well founded, or the present pretence consistent with their former conduct. This Committee, therefore, (the parties having declared they did not mean to appeal to any other Board,) do unanimously hold up to the world the said Thomas Rogers and Joseph Sermon as enemies to their country, and preclude them from all trade or intercourse with the inhabitants of these Colonies.

Ordered, That the above be published.

Extract from the Minutes:

J. B. SMITH, Secretary.

To the Honourable Provincial Congress now convened in NEW-YORK:

Permit us, gentlemen, to recommend to your consideration a worthy person for an officer in the ensuing campaign in the Continental service, by name, Moses Youmans, a person well known to us. He served the last campaign in Colonel Clinton's Regiment, and did officiate in the office of Sergeant-Major, and, also, served as Adjutant, and we found him exceeding well qualified for any duty that can be required to execute the office of Adjutant; and, by means of his conduct and behaviour, he was exceeding well beloved both by officers and privates in general, in the said Regiment, and, after the surrender of Montreal, he had the refusal of a Second Lieutenant's commission. His circumstances at that time were such relating to his family, that, to his heart's grief, he could not accept; but then declared, that if Providence would spare his life and health, he would engage the next campaign; and, gentlemen, we, consistent with our duty, and the particular regard we have for the said Youmans, beg to be excused making free to recommend the said Youmans for Adjutant, if you, in your great wisdom, should think proper to appoint him, and you will oblige your humble servants, who subscribe their names as friends to the American cause.

CORNELIUS WYNKOOP, Lieut. Col.
ELIAS HASBROUCK, Captain.
P. ROGGEN, Lieutenant.

To the Chairman of the Provincial Congress, now convened at New-York.

COLONEL DRAKE TO JOHN MCKESSON.

Horne's Hook, February 20, 1776.

SIR: Be pleased to give the commissions for Lieutenant Micajah Fuller, and Ensign Deliverance Brown, in Captain Steenrod's company of my regiment, to Captain Steenrod.

Captain Grey has joined my regiment, with forty-nine men, including officers; he has some more, who have not yet arrived. Would be glad the commissions could be immediately made out for his company. He will deliver you a certificate from the Committee of Bedford, of the election of himself and officers. From your most humble servant,

SAMUEL DRAKE, Colonel.

To John McKesson, Esq.

N. B. Captain Grey and his officers having neglected to sign the test in the presence of the Chairman of Westchester County, have, this day, signed it in my presence.

To the Gentlemen of the Provincial Congress.

The Petition of Azor Betts, humbly sheweth:

That your petitioner, fully sensible of his former indiscretions, begs leave to return to a proper sense of his duty to his country. And your petitioner further most solemnly assures the Congress, that it shall be his future most earnest study, to convince every individual of his most steady adherence, to the utmost of his abilities, in promoting the liberties of America.

That your petitioner still flatters himself his crime is not of so atrocious a nature but that his pardon may be announced on a due submission; as such, he most humbly leaves his case to their tender consideration, and should he be so happy as to experience their forgiveness and protection, it will, by him, with a most thankful heart, ever be acknowledged; and your petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Esopus Jail, February 20, 1776.

GENTLEMEN: The above petition was this day delivered to our Committee of Kingston, by Azor Betts, now prisoner in our Jail, and desired our favour to recommend a favour for him to get relief; but, gentlemen, as we are entire strangers to his former conduct, we must refer the matter entirely to your superior judgment. As to his behaviour since, in our jail, he has made offers to sign a recantation, and make oath for his future behaviour, but as his conduct is best known to you, we shall entirely rest with your judgment. By order of the Committee:

WILLIAM ELLSWORTH, Chairman.

PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS TO GENERAL SCHUYLER.

Philadelphia, February 20, 1776.

SIR: I have the honour of enclosing you sundry resolutions of Congress, to which I refer you.

I must beg leave to inform you that the Congress hear, with great regret, the precarious state of your health, and the return of your disorder. They are fully apprized and sensible of your services and abilities, and should have been very happy to have made use of them in Canada; but knowing the importance of your abilities, the influence and weight you have among the Indian tribes, the service you are capable of doing to the common cause, even in the present infirm state of your health, and, at the same time being apprehensive should you be sent on so fatiguing a service as that of Canada must be, especially at this inclement season, your country might be deprived of the advantage of your services, which are so much wanted at this critical conjuncture, they have thought it best to send General Lee to Canada, reserving to you the command of the forces and the conduct of military operations in the Colony of New-York.

Your known zeal and warm attachment to the cause of liberty, assure me that you will concert with General Lee the best means of securing the communication of the Lakes, and of facilitating the transportation of necessaries for the use of the Army in Canada, and give him all the aid and assistance in your power, for accomplishing the great ends we all have in view.

Your several letters are now under the consideration of a Committee of Congress. So soon as report is made, and a determination had in Congress, I will do myself the honour of transmitting you their result.

I send by this express a number of the Articles of War, translated into French, which you will please to forward, for the use of the Canadian Regiments.

I most sincerely wish to hear the agreeable tidings of your perfect restoration to health, and am, with the utmost esteem, sir, your most obedient servant,

JOHN HANCOCK, President.

To Major-General Schuyler, Albany.

PENNSYLVANIA COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read February 21, and referred to Mr. S. Adams, Mr. E. M'Kean, Mr. Smith, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Wolcott.]

Philadelphia, February 20, 1776.

SIR: The Committee of Safety for this Province, reflecting that amidst the great and arduous duties which may well be supposed to engross the attention of the honourable Congress, many things of smaller consequence may escape their notice, beg leave to suggest the propriety, and even necessity, of making some alteration in the condition of the prisoners at Lancaster.

From the information given to this Committee, we learn that the kind treatment given them meets with very improper and indecent return; that they often express themselves in most disrespectful and offensive terms, and openly threaten revenge whenever opportunity shall present.

The Committee further beg leave to add, that Lancaster being but a day's march from navigable water, and their prisoners stout and numerous, there may be danger that should the enemy effect a landing on the upper part of Chesapeake-Bay, a daring spirit might lead them off, and should they march at night, their journey would be half over before their absence would be known. Many other reasons concur in making it much the wish and desire, not only of this Committee, but of the friends of the publick cause in that part of the country, not only to have the officers separated from the men, but, as much as possible, from one another; and either dispersed of in different towns, or dispersed among the farmers in the country, where their opportunities of doing mischief will less correspond with their inclinations. The Committee, on this as well as all other occasions, beg leave to offer their best services to the honourable Congress, and if the alteration they have taken the liberty to suggest, opposes any regulation already made, unknown to them, or should otherwise appear improper, they hope it will be excused, and imputed to their zeal in the publick cause.

I have the honour to be, with much respect, sir, your most obedient, humble servant.

By order of the Committee:

JOHN NIXON, Chairman.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq.

JOHN BROOME TO SILAS DEANE.

New-York, February 20, 1776.

SIR: Pursuant to your request, and the other gentlemen, whose names I do not recollect, my papers being in the country, I here enclose authentick accounts relative to the damage done by the Ministerial Pirates at the east end of Long-Island, which I wish safe to hand, and am, your humble servant,

JOHN BROOME.

To Silas Deane, Esq., or, in his absence, to George Wythe, Esq., Philadelphia.

GENERAL SCHUYLER TO PRESIDENT OF CONGRESS.

[Read March 4, 1776.]

Albany, February 20, 1776.

SIR: Yesterday, Mr. Price delivered me two letters from General Wooster, enclosing copy of his letter to Congress, and a return of stores. Copies of his two letters to me, and copy of the return of stores, I do myself the honour to transmit you.

Congress will perceive by General Wooster's letter of the 11th instant, to them, and that of the same date to me, that matters are got to such a height between us, that either he or I must immediately quit this department, for I cannot, consistent with my honour or my feelings, serve with an officer, who, very early in the campaign, witnessed a contempt for my orders, and proceeded so far as to offer insults of the grossest kinds, which, as I have not the least doubt but my informants will support, I must, therefore, request that Congress will order an inquiry to be immediately made; and in confidence this will be granted, and one or the other removed, I shall not now engross that time which is so precious to Congress, with the perusal of the several letters that have passed between us, the orders I have given him, nor with any remarks on his last to me, of the 11th instant, except one, which, as it respects the publick, I cannot dispense with making.

A respect for my country, sir, obliged me to suppress that just resentment which I felt rising in me at his conduct at Fort-George, &c.; but wounded in my honour, although willing to be spent in the glorious cause my country is engaged in, and to continue to serve her under all the disagreeable incidents attendant on a ruined constitution, yet, she cannot expect, in addition, a sacrifice of my reputation, by calmly bearing indignities. Indeed, this would render me unable to serve her.

The only remark, I observed, that I would make, is on that part of his letter to me in which he says, "That the commanding officer in Canada is the only competent judge of what is proper and what not, for the internal regulation of the army, and for the immediate safety of the country." If so, Congress has been mistaken in sundry resolves, which clearly signify that I had something to do with the regulation of the army in Canada. A bare retrospect to these is sufficient to evince this. General Montgomery was then, also, mistaken, for he did not conceive himself entitled to call a General Court-Martial, or make a single promotion when a vacancy happened in Canada, until he had asked for and received my permission, which I gave without hesitation. I shall, however, go on and give such orders as I think will best promote the service, and leave the determination of this assertion of General Wooster's to such gentlemen as may be appointed to inquire into his conduct.

I was apprehensive that the Canadians would suffer in the article of salt, and wrote to General Wooster, to know what quantity was in Canada. I am happy to find there is so much; the scarcity here is incredible, and I fear will be general throughout this and the neighbouring Colonies.

It never entered into my thoughts to build gondolas on Lake Champlain, as I well knew that they could not, without great danger, if at all, be got into the St. Lawrence; although we have very good ship-carpenters here, yet none acquainted with the construction of galleys, it will, therefore, be proper to send a few good hands from Pennsylvania, as none are to be had in Canada; these ought to be sent immediately, although no pitch, tar, or oakum, can be sent on until Hudson's River opens; for these articles I shall apply to the New-York Convention.

Enclose you a copy of the arrangements I sent General Wooster, for the two regiments in Canada. I foresaw that it would be attended with difficulties, and so will that which he proposes; as Field-Officers and Captains must be left out, if the New-York Battalions were to officer one regiment, as there will be more than to complete it. Before I left Ticonderoga I wrote for a return of the troops in Canada, and begged to know what arrangement had been made; but General Montgomery had it not in his power to send it me, occasioned by the multiplicity of his business.

Mr. Frobisher delivered me a letter, signed by himself and several others, containing the substance of the memorial which he will present, and requested the mediation of my good offices with Congress. I am very apprehensive, sir, that if these people shall be permitted to go into the Indian country, they might, if unfriendly to our cause, be very prejudicial to it, and the sending such a quantity of provisions will strengthen the enemy at Detroit and Niagara, for, by whatever route they go, it will be seized by some one of the garrisons and appropriated to their use. Mr. Frobisher's letters urge the danger of their traders starving, if a supply of provisions was not sent up. That may be the case, if they should remain there another year; but the same letter observes, that what is sent away in the month of May, seldom arrives in the trading country before winter sets in; if this be a fact, then they have now near a twelve month's provision, and by sending up two or three canoes express, (navigated by persons we can depend upon,) their traders may be brought away, and their provision will suffice, at least until they reach Detroit, where they can be in no danger of starving.

Enclose you the Paymaster-General's estimate of pay still due to the Connecticut troops; his chest is empty, and I have little left, as I gave him thirty thousand dollars, part of fifty thousand sent into Canada.

I find that Mr. Phister, whom I mentioned as an Engineer, cannot be procured. What shall we do for proper persons to fill that branch? I expect, momentarily, to hear from Schenectady what wages the batteausmen will take.

Every effort I have made to procure forage has proved ineffectual. The procuring timber for repairing Ticonderoga must, therefore, of necessity, be deferred until Spring. I even fear that I shall not be able to get a sufficiency of hay for the spring work at Ticonderoga, although we offer seven pounds per ton.

Lieutenant Hamer, of the Seventh Regiment, who was made prisoner at Chamblly, has a wife in Canada; she is daily expected, and has begged me to procure leave for her husband to meet her here. Of all the officers that have been made prisoners, I believe he is the least unfriendly to us; in fact, I believe him almost a Whig in principle. I wish, if it can be consistently done, that he may have leave to repair to this place.

It is almost needless to observe to Congress, that no alteration which I may have with any officer, whilst I command, will ever draw off my attention from my duty; I trust my conduct in publick life, both before and since I have had a command, have sufficiently evinced my principles on the present unhappy contest; and I assure you, sir, that except the ambition of serving my country, and that which every honest man ought to be influenced by, I have none; I shall, therefore, never court the favour of either officers or men, unless they are deserving; such as are not, I shall always freely and indiscriminately censure. If this gives umbrage, it can never be remedied whilst I am in command, because I cannot hesitate a moment between giving offence and doing my duty. Had I consulted merely my own inclination, I should not have ventured on the storms of publick life, well knowing my want of abilities would expose me to a thousand difficulties, and deprive me of the inestimable comforts of domestic life, and that I should be envied by those weak minds who are dazzled with power, but have not elevation of sentiment enough to conceive that to some men it has no charms.

I am, sir, with unfeigned esteem and respect, your most obedient, humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., &c.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE TWO REGIMENTS IN CANADA.

List of Field-Officers supposed to be in Canada: Colonel James Clinton, Lieutenant-Colonel Rodolphus Ritzenma, Lieutenant-Colonel Samuel Elmore, Lieutenant-Colonel John Nicholson, Major Herman Zedtwitz, Major John Brown, Major Lewis Dubois.

Albany, February 2, 1776.

SIR: I understand that the above are the Field-Officers now remaining in Canada, except those of the Canadian Corps, and that they stand in the list as they rank; and as Congress has directed that two regiments should be raised out of the troops now in Canada, and as I have no predilection for any one gentleman more than another, and that they are all, as far as I know, good officers, and men of unexceptionable characters, you will, therefore, make the offers of the regiments to the two first in rank of the Field-Officers, the two Lieutenant-Colonels to the two next in rank, and the two Majorities to the two next. Should there not be a sufficient number of Field-Officers willing to remain in the service, to complete the two regiments, they must be filled up out of the eldest Captains in Canada, in the following manner: The eldest New-Hampshire Captain, the first offer; the eldest Massachusetts Captain, second offer; the eldest Connecticut Captain, third offer; the eldest New-York Captain, fourth offer. The Field-Officers being completed, you are to cause four lists to be made, one containing the names of all the New-Hampshire Captains and Subalterns, according to their rank in the regiments; another, those of the Massachusetts; a third, those of Connecticut; and a fourth, those of New-York—in the following manner:

New-Hampshire.	Massachusetts.	Connecticut.	New-York.
Captain, A	Captain, L	Captain, S	Captain, a
B	M	T	b
C	1st Lieut. N	1st Lieut. U	c

F	Q	X	f
2d Lieut. G	Ensign, R	Ensign, Y	2d Lieut. g
H			h
Ensigns, I			Ensigns, i
K			k

The list being made out as above, you will proceed to take out the officers for the first and second, of the regiments to be raised, in the following manner: The eldest New-Hampshire Captain, for the first Captaincy in the First Regiment; the eldest Massachusetts-Bay Captain, for the first Captaincy in the Second Regiment; the eldest Connecticut Captain, for the second Captain in the First Regiment; and the eldest New-York Captain, for the second Captaincy in the Second Regiment; and so on as in the annexed scheme. When all the Captains are thus provided for, and if there should be still some wanting to complete the regiments, they must be taken in the same manner, from the First Lieutenants, and so go on to complete the whole of both regiments; and if there is not a sufficiency of officers, the best and most alert of the Sergeants must be promoted, until the whole is complete. It may happen by this arrangement, as it often does in the regular service, that an elder Captain in the Army will be commanded by a younger Captain; but that is only on regimental duty, upon detachment of different corps, the command will go with the rank in the Army. I have known Lieutenant-Colonels in the Army commanded by Captains, when they did regimental duty; but when detached with parties of different corps, they acted as Lieutenant-Colonels.

I hope the mode of making the arrangement will be easily apprehended, and prevent those jealousies which are so dangerous in an Army, and so prejudicial to the common cause of America. Uninfluenced by any motives but those which ought to inspire every friend of his country, I shall most readily acquiesce in any other mode that may be demonstrated more eligible.

I am, sir, your most humble servant,

PHILIP SCHUYLER.

To General Wooster.

Montreal, February 11, 1776.

SIR: Your letter of the 26th ultimo, I have received; in answer to which, give me leave to observe to you, that I, also, claim a right to be treated with the respect due to me as a gentleman and an officer intrusted with a command from the honourable the Representatives of thirteen Colonies. Why, sir, are these positive mandates? Have I ever disputed your orders? Since I have been in the Army, I have exerted every faculty to promote a union among the officers, and have carefully avoided every thing that might have the least tendency to cause jealousies; in short, sir, I have steadily and invariably pursued those measures that appeared to me conducive to the true interest of our country. How ungenerous therefore, is it, that an advantage should be taken of my conciliating disposition; yet, you will pardon me if I misjudge, I cannot account for your imperious conduct towards me upon any other principle. You will remember your letter to me while I was at St. John's, founded in falsehood, and which you could have no other motive for writing but to insult me. I thought it, at that time, not worth answering, and shall, at present, take no further notice of it. I shall, however, send a copy of it to Congress, and of your last letter, together with copies of my own, except the one you observe was wrote with unbecoming subacity, that is, somehow, mislaid, and I shall be obliged to you if you will forward it. I can remember nothing in it either disrespectful or subacid, and, being confident nothing of that nature was intended, I presume that the Congress will find that it is not expressed. As you have already complained to the honourable Congress, I have thought it my duty to show them what passed between us, and they will judge which of us has the greatest reason to complain of ill treatment. For the present, let the matter rest. They will doubtless do justice. This is no time to alternate, the whole of our time is little enough to attend to the operations absolutely necessary for the defence of our country.

You will give me leave to inform you, that the commanding officer who is with this Army is to give out orders, and is the only competent judge of what is proper, and what not, for the internal regulation of the Army, and for the immediate safety of the country. Since the death of the worthy and brave General Montgomery, (with whom I had the happiness to serve in the strictest harmony and friendship, and who ever treated me like a gentleman,) the command devolves upon me, and I shall give out such orders as appear to me necessary for the publick good, and shall send out of the country all prisoners and such persons as may be thought dangerous to our cause. As soon as it can be done with convenience, the returns of the Army shall be made out and transmitted to you. I shall, also, take care that your orders to General Montgomery are executed as far as is possible. I shall do every thing in my power to carry into execution every resolve of the Congress.

Mr. Jordan has accepted the bill for five hundred dollars; when it is paid, I shall credit the publick.

I mentioned to you, in a former letter, that I thought it very necessary that an artillery company, as well as the artillery, stores, &c., should be sent into this country. Should be glad to hear whether they can be spared from the Colonies or not, and what assistance of that nature we may expect.

I shall send a copy of this letter to Congress, and shall also enclose with this a copy of my letter to Congress. If there are any misrepresentations you will have an opportunity to correct them. I am, sir, your most obedient servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To Major-General Schuyler.

P. S. I will just observe, further, that I think it would have been much more generous in you to have pointed out to me the exceptionable part of my letters, before you complained to Congress.

Montreal, February 13, 1776.

SIR: I received your letter of the 2d instant, with the enclosed resolves of Congress, and observe the contents, and shall attend to the instructions.

Mr. Hare shall be used with every civility. A return of the names of Commissaries in Canada shall be sent you when I can get a return from General Arnold.

I am informed there is great plenty of salt in this part of Canada; more than sufficient for a twelve month.

I will inquire and find out what quantity of cloth, fit for tents, can be procured in this country, but do not expect to find much. I enclose you a return of tents and nails, &c., that are in the stores in this place. As a number of gondolas will be greatly wanted in the river St. Lawrence, and as we have a quantity of seasoned timber and plank, and, you will see by the enclosed return, a quantity of spikes and nails, and as it will be difficult to get such as are built on the lake, and, perhaps, dangerous, if they are anyways large, down the Rapids of Chamby, will it not be well to build them here? yet the articles of pitch, tar, turpentine, and oakum, must, in that case, be sent from the Colonies, as there is none of either in the Province. Some master carpenters would, also, be much wanted—good workmen, poor ones are to be had here.

A proper person shall be appointed to frank the Army letters.

A return of ordnance in this Province is already sent you. The addresses are and shall be published.

I shall send you, by this conveyance, General Montgomery's papers, except the accounts of disbursements, which must be first copied. Captain Van Rensselaer is at present gone to Quebeck to muster the troops there; when he returns, I shall direct him to proceed on to Albany.

With regard to the two regiments to be formed out of the broken corps now in this Province, I hardly know what to say. I rather imagine it would be very difficult, if not impossible, to persuade but very few of them to engage for a longer time than their present enlistments; yet I should be sorry that those officers who are willing to continue in the service should not have an opportunity. The plan you propose, though calculated to prevent jealousies between Provinces, I fear will be impracticable; besides the difficulty of placing younger officers before older ones, they will never consent to serve together in companies, as that arrangement will place them. Suppose, sir, that the troops from Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Connecticut, should form one regiment, and the different New-York battalions another, and the officers be ranked according to seniority? From some conversation I have had with several of the officers, I am persuaded the other plan cannot be effectuated. I shall, therefore, be obliged to you for your thoughts upon this, and am, in haste, your most obedient and very humble servant,

DAVID WOOSTER.

To General Schuyler.

A Return of a number of articles which are in the Stores at MONTREAL. (Return of all the articles not yet made.)

JONATHAN TRUMBULL, Jr.

Paymaster-General, Northern Department.

Albany, February 17, 1776.

MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL.

Wednesday, November 29, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Benjamin Lincoln, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Colonel Bowers came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the House had now a quorum of Members, and were proceeding to business.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration the Letter of his Excellency General Washington, dated November 29th, 1775, to the General Court, report, as their opinion, that a Committee be immediately appointed to wait on him, and with the General Officers, to

JOHN BIGELOW TO GOVERNOUR TRUMBULL.

Hartford, February 20, 1776.

SIR: I have been down as far as Haddam, but cannot enlist any men. There are upwards of three hundred gone from Weathersfield, Rocky-Hill, &c. Middletown and Haddam are likewise drained. The men are mostly gone from the West Division and East-Hartford. There is a number left on this side the river, but they cannot be persuaded to enter into the service. I have spared no pains in endeavouring to raise a company, but have enlisted but four men. The matter seems new to the people, and they want to be informed what wages a Sergeant, Corporal, &c., are to have.

I have received a letter from Mr. Strong, in which he gives but little encouragement, as their people are already engaged. I shall try to-day at Windsor.

I am your Honour's most humble servant,

JOHN BIGELOW.

To the Honourable Jonathan Trumbull, Esq.

MAJOR HAWLEY TO ELBRIDGE GERRY.

February 20, 1776.

Pray, Sir, will it not be extremely difficult for us to hold on with our defence, and support all our inhabitants without trade? Will people who have been bred and accustomed to trade till they have arrived at men's and women's estate ever get into any other business? Be sure they never will be dexterous at any other, nor contented; nay, they will be a weight on the community, and a very heavy one, too. But, if we resolve on independence, what will hinder but that we may instantly commence a trade, not only with Holland, France, and Spain, but with all the world, as the Government of the new independent state shall permit? Then we shall have done with the unmanageable plans and chimeras of non-importation agreements, which, with non-consumption agreements, never were and never will be kept, and tend inexpressibly to debauch and wickedize a people, by means of the irresistible temptation which trading people will always be under to violate the general agreements, not only for the sake of profits, but really for any reputable subsistence; whereas, the instant you resolve on independence, and give leave to trade, your trading people will immediately fly to it, whatever risks and hazards there may be of losing; and, indeed, the greatest part will escape.

Pray consider this matter, with regard to Canada, and the Dutch of New-York. Will they ever join with us heartily, who, in order to it, must sacrifice their trade, to which they are so much addicted, and whereby they have always made good profits, and expose themselves to want and beggary? Whereas, the moment that we resolve on independence, trade will be free for them—for the one to France and the other to Holland; to which they always inclined, and would heretofore go at almost as great risks as they will then at first run; then we shall have done with our impracticable associations for non-consumption, the source of infinite feuds and animosity.

Independence, in short, is the only way to union and harmony, to vigour and despatch in business; our eye will be single, and our whole body full of light; any thing short of it will, as appears to me, be our destruction, infallible destruction, and that speedily. Amen.

JOSEPH HAWLEY.

To Mr. Gerry.

devise some method whereby the deficiency in the Army, which may be caused by the Connecticut Forces leaving the service, and the furloughs granted to the part of the Forces enlisted for the next year, can be supplied, and make report.

And whereas, his Excellency, in the last paragraph of the same letter, mentions that he cannot help observing, as his opinion, that our paying our men by the lunar, and not by the calendar months, will throw the rest of the Army into disorder; we also report, that a Committee be appointed to draft a letter to his Excellency, in answer to the said paragraph of his letter, showing the reasons of our conduct in thus paying our men; that it is not an innovation; and that we hear it with concern, that while we are doing justice to our men, by complying with our contract with them, that it should produce disorders in the Army.

In Council: Read, and accepted; and thereupon

Resolved, That Joseph Palmer, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait upon his Excellency General Washington, and, with the other General Officers, to devise some method whereby the deficiency in the Army, which may be caused by the Connecticut Forces leaving the service, and the furloughs granted to part of the Forces enlisted for the next year, can be supplied, and make report. Also, that Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to draft a Letter to his Excellency General Washington, in answer to the last paragraph in his said Letter, showing the reasons of this Colony's paying their men by the lunar months. And the Speaker and Colonel Bowers are joined on the Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, with the other General Officers; and Colonel Orne and Mr. Gerry are joined on the Committee to report a Letter to his Excellency the General, in answer to the last paragraph in his Letter.

Adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, John Winthrop, Esquires.

Resolve of the House, appointing a Committee of both Houses, to take into consideration several Resolutions of the Continental Congress, transmitted to the Speaker of the House, from the President of the Continental Congress, read, and concurred; and Walter Spooner and John Winthrop, Esquires, are joined.

Adjourned to to-morrow morning, nine o'clock.

Friday, December 1, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Report of the Committee of both Houses, appointed to confer with the General Officers, respecting reinforcing the Army, until the new Army is complete. Read, and accepted. Sent down for concurrence. Came up; concurred by the House; and Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Mr. Plympton, and Captain Carpenter, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to proportion three thousand and eight men among the Regiments, in the Counties therein mentioned.

Read, and concurred, and John Whetcomb and Benjamin Lincoln, Esquires, are joined.

Order of the House, to appoint a Committee of both Houses, to confer with his Excellency General Washington, relative to depriving the enemy of the advantages they receive from Cape-Cod Harbour. Read, and concurred, and Walter Spooner, Esq., is joined.

Order of the House, to appoint a Committee of both Houses, to take into consideration a Letter from the Honourable James Otis, Esq., relative to the enemy's being supplied from Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard.

Read, and concurred, and Benjamin Lincoln and Samuel Holten, Esquires, are joined.

A Letter from General Frye, relative to the Military Forces in the County of Cumberland, under his command. Read, and sent down. Came up with an order of the House thereon, appointing Mr. Gerry, Colonel Sayer, Colonel Barret, with such as the honourable Board shall

* TO THE HONOURABLE PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL.

SIR: I must pray your Honour to acquaint the Council that, though I would gladly continue to officiate as Chaplain, yet, considering the difficulties that the winter season will lay me under, and the additional service necessarily falling upon me through the destitute condition of the late Reverend Mr. Adams's people. I find myself incapable of entertaining the hope of performing the duty; and must, therefore, humbly pray the honourable Council to excuse my continuing Chaplain.

Your Honour's humble servant,

WILLIAM GORDON.

Read, and concurred, and Joseph Gerrish and John Whetcomb, Esquires, are joined.

Ordered, That Walter Spooner and Benjamin Lincoln, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration the state and circumstances of the Sea-Coast, and report whether, in their opinion, the whole, or any part of the men stationed for the defence thereof, can, with safety, be discharged; if any can be, in what part of the Colony.

Saturday, December 2, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Adjourned to nine o'clock, Monday morning.

Monday, December 4, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables Joseph Gerrish, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Jabez Fisher, Esquires.

A Letter from Robert H. Harrison, Esq., Aid-de-camp to his Excellency General Washington, giving information that a number of persons were to be sent out of Boston by the enemy this day, infected with the small-pox. Read, and sent down.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it is necessary that a number of men should be immediately raised, agreeable to a Resolve of this Court, of yesterday, and as it appears to this Court, that the men stationed upon the Sea-Coast in the Towns of Newbury, Ipswich, Dartmouth, Rochester, and Wareham, may, without inconveniency, be spared from any further service in guarding the Sea-Coasts in those towns,

Therefore, Resolved, That the men stationed on the Sea-Coasts in the Towns of Newbury, Ipswich, Dartmouth, Rochester, and Wareham, be, and they hereby are, dismissed from the service aforesaid, from and after the 5th day of December instant, and that no further pay or allowance be made them for the service after that time.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, by a resolve of this Court, passed on the 1st of December instant, the Commanding Officer in the Town of Lincoln was directed forthwith to assemble the Militia of that town, and cause the number of thirteen men to be enlisted to join the American Army;

And whereas, by a late resolve, the Inhabitants of the said town are directed to supply a certain quantity of wood for the use of said Army, which renders it inconvenient that any men should be taken from said town at this time,

Resolved, That the Commanding Officer of the Town of Lincoln be, and hereby is excused, from assembling the Militia, and enlisting any men to join the American Army as aforesaid, the aforesaid resolve notwithstanding.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, December 5, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Ordered, That John Winthrop and Benjamin Lincoln, Esqrs., be a Committee to draft the Letter to the Continental Congress, representing to them the reasons of this Colony's paying their Soldiers by lunar, and not by calendar months.

Their Report read and accepted, and ordered to be signed by the President, in the name, and by order of the General Court, and forwarded to the Delegates of this Colony in American Congress, to be by them communicated.

Sent down for concurrence. Came up concurred, and forwarded.

In Council: Ordered, That Walter Spooner, Charles Chauncy, and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration the circumstances of the Sea-Ports of this Colony, and where it will be necessary to keep Forces during the winter season ; and to wait on his Excellency General Washington, and represent to him the exposed situation of such place or places as they may judge necessary to be guarded, and to request his protection of them ; and make report.

Sent down for concurrence. Came up concurred, and Mr. Sullivan, Colonel Orne, Colonel Lovell, and Captain Tobey, are joined on the part of the House.

Adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Wednesday, December 6, 1775.

Present in Council : Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, John Whetcomb, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

A Letter from his Honour Jonathan Trumbull, Esq., Governour of Connecticut, relative to the fraud of persons supplying the enemy with Provisions, by way of Nantucket.

Read, and Ordered, That John Winthrop and Charles Chauncy, Esqrs., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take the said Letter, and Papers enclosed, under consideration, and report.

Sent down for concurrence.

Two Letters from his Excellency General Washington, on the critical situation of the Army.

Read, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner, John Winthrop, and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, immediately, to confer with him on the subject-matter of the foregoing Letters, and devise some ways and means of easing the difficulties therein suggested.

Sent down for concurrence. Came up concurred, and Mr. Sullivan, Captain Batchelder, Mr. Cushing, and Colonel Orne, Esquires, are joined on the part of the House.

In Council : Ordered, That Benjamin Lincoln, Esquire, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider what may be necessary to be done relative to the expense arising by the Prisoners taken by private adventurers, and report.

Sent down for concurrence.

Petition of the Selectmen of Boxford, humbly sheweth : " In consequence of a request from the Committee of Safety of the Town of Gloucester, to the Selectmen and Committee of Safety of this town, in which they desired a number of men might be sent to their assistance, with provisions and other necessities, for a short time, as they were apprehensive of an immediate attack by sea from our inveterate enemies :

"Accordingly we have raised and sent to their assistance sixteen men, including suitable officers, with provision, &c., suitable for fourteen days, and at the end of the said fourteen days we received another request from the Selectmen and Committee of Safety of said town, desiring us to continue the said men with them some time longer, or send others in their stead ; we have, therefore, raised ten other men, including a suitable officer, and sent them, with provision, &c., for fourteen days more, which terms they have respectively served out at said Gloucester.

"The charge we have been at in sending and providing provision for the above-mentioned twenty-six men, for fourteen days, amounts to fifteen pounds twelve shillings, which charge, together with such wages as the honourable Court shall think adequate to their services, as we in duty bound shall ever pray."

In the House of Representatives : Resolved, That the Receiver-General be, and he is hereby directed to pay to Aaron Wood, Esq., thirty-nine Pounds seven Shillings, to be by him applied for the payment of one Sergeant and twenty-five Privates, for their service as soldiers at Gloucester, viz: the Sergeant one month, and the men half month each ; and, also, for the billeting, &c., of the said soldiers.

In Council : Read, and concurred.

In Council : Ordered, That Walter Spooner, Charles Chauncy, and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, and represent to him the circumstances of the four Companies now doing duty at Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham, as to when they were enlisted, and by whose order, from whom they have received their orders from time to time, and in what service they have been employed. That they were considered by this Colony, when raised, as part of the thirteen thousand six hundred men voted by us, and have always been so considered ; and desire that his Excellency would order them to be paid by the Continent, as they were not enlisted, neither have they been employed for the special purpose of defending the sea-costs, as a number since have been.

Sent down for concurrence. Came up concurred, and Mr. Pitts, Mr. Jewett, Mr. Hobart, and Mr. Story, are joined on the part of the House.

Petition of Thomas Livermore, Sergeant of the Sixty-Third Regiment, setting forth, "that he, with seven soldiers and nine sailors, being prisoners, and confined in jail in Ipswich, would acquaint your Honours, that five of our number have been very sick, one of which men remains very ill, and has nothing to cover him in this inclement season but the clothes which he has now on his back, and these have remained on for three months. We are all in a bad situation for clothing, and our necessity obliges us to petition your Honours to grant us such relief as your Honours shall think proper ; and, as in duty bound, shall ever pray."

In the House of Representatives : Resolved, That the Selectmen of the Town of Ipswich be, and they hereby are required and empowered, as soon as may be, to furnish each of the seven Soldiers mentioned in said petition, with two Shirts, one Blanket, and a Cap ; that they furnish each of the nine Sailors in said jail, with one Coat, Jacket, and a pair of Breeches, two Shirts, two pair of Stockings, a pair of Shoes, one Cap, and one Blanket ; and that the said Selectmen provide light Sacks, for the said sixteen prisoners, and lay an account of their expenses before this Court for allowance and payment.

In Council : Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, December 7, 1775.

Present in Council : Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Petition of Joseph Greenleaf, late of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, humbly shows, "that your petitioner, with Doctor Jonathan King and Captain Phineas Upham, both of Brookfield, in the County of Worcester, with considerable expense, and close application and labour, have happily discovered the method of manufacturing coppers and alum, which they have the fullest assurance they can obtain, in sufficient quantities, to supply this whole Colony at least ; and they humbly apprehend they can also manufacture oils of vitriol and sulphur, spirits and balsam of sulphur, and sundry other chemical matters of great importance to their country in this critical day. And, inasmuch as the foregoing articles cannot be produced without great expense for a proper apparatus, and whereas there will be no clear profits for a considerable time, your petitioner humbly prays, that an exclusive privilege of manufacturing in this Colony, the above-mentioned articles, for the term of ten years, may be granted him in conjunction with the above named Jonathan King and Phineas Upham, and that they may have their action against any person or persons who shall venture to manufacture said articles during said term ; and that your Honours would afford your petitioners and company such further encouragement as your Honours, in your wisdom and goodness, may think proper, and your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall ever pray."

In the House of Representatives : Read, and Ordered, That Colonel Orne and Mr. Cushing, at Captain Stearns's, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider the within Petition, and report thereon.

In Council : Read, and concurred, and William Sever and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, are joined.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to wait on General Washington, to hold a conference with him, on the subject-matter of his Letter of the 6th instant, have waited on his Excellency, and held the proposed conference, and beg leave to report the draft of a Letter to the General, to be signed by the President of the Board, enclosing an attested copy of the Resolve of this Court, made on the 1st December, instant, to call a reinforcement of the Militia to his Excellency General Washington; and the Committee beg leave to sit again.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Alexander Parrau, setting forth, "that he was a Sergeant in Captain Nathaniel Warner's company, in the Seventeenth Regiment of Foot, in the service of the United Colonies of North-America, commanded by Colonel Moses Little, and humbly sheweth, that your petitioner received a wound in his right shoulder, in the late battle on Bunker-Hill, by which he has lost the use of his right arm; and having no way to support himself and family, but by his labour, and being rendered incapable of serving his country any longer as a soldier, or supporting his family by labour, that he now stands in need of immediate relief; your petitioner, therefore, prays your Honours would take his distressed circumstances under consideration, and afford him such relief as in your wisdom you shall see meet; and your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall ever pray."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Alexander Parrau, the sum of ten Pounds four Shillings, in full, for the loss of his Gun, and for boarding and nursing twelve weeks, and carrying him to Gloucester.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Nathaniel Farmer, of Lexington, in the County of Middlesex, Cordwainer, humbly sheweth, "that on the morning of the 19th of April last, (he being one of the Minute-Men,) was fired upon by the Ministerial troops at Lexington, and was wounded in his right arm, which fractured the bone to that degree that sundry pieces of the same have been taken out, by means of which your petitioner hath suffered much pain as well as loss of time, and charge to the doctors, whose bills are herewith presented, and, in fine, is totally disabled from carrying on his business, by which he chiefly supported himself and family; wherefore he prays your Honours would take his distressed case under your wise consideration, and grant him such relief as in your wisdom shall seem meet; and your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall ever pray."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Deacon Stone, for the use of Nathaniel Farmer, the sum of thirteen Pounds fifteen Shillings, in full, for his doctoring, nursing, and loss of time, while confined with his wounds.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of George Reed, of Woburn, humbly sheweth, "that he was in the skirmish at Concord, between the Ministerial troops and the Provincials, on the 19th of April last, in which skirmish your petitioner received a ball in his side, and was under the doctor's care for near three months, unable to administer any thing to the support of his family by labour; wherefore your petitioner earnestly prays your Honours would take his case under your wise consideration, and grant him such relief as your wisdom and justice shall dictate."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to George Reed, the sum of eight Pounds nine Shillings, in full, for his nursing, doctoring, and loss of time while confined with his wounds.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, December 8, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Captain Stone, of Framingham, came up with a message from the House, informing the Board, that the House had assigned next Wednesday, three o'clock, afternoon, to come to the choice of five Delegates to represent this Colony in American Congress, for the ensuing year, by joint ballot, if agreeable to the honourable Board.

Samuel Holten, Esq., went down with a verbal message to the House, informing them that the Board had agreed to the foregoing proposal of the honourable House.

In Council: Resolved, That the Secretary be, and he hereby is directed forthwith to take, or procure to be taken, copies of all such Vouchers as the Committee, appointed by this Court, to prepare the accounts of charges and expenses incurred by this Colony, in defence of American liberty, may think needful to transmit to the honourable the Continental Congress; and that he carefully compare such copies with the originals, and attest the same, in order to their being lodged in the Secretary's office; which copies, so attested, shall have all the validity and effect that the originals might or ought to have; and the Secretary is directed to consult with the said Committee, and be directed by them with regard to the mode of taking said copies.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Joshua Davis, setting forth "that your Honours were pleased to allow him the pay of Lieutenant-Colonel for the time he had, or should be in the service of this Colony. Having been in said service since the 1st day of May last, and have not received as yet any pay, your petitioner begs your Honours would allow him such a part of his wages as your Honours think proper."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Colonel Joshua Davis, the sum of thirty-one Pounds four Shillings, it being the pay of a Lieutenant-Colonel in the service of this Colony, from the 1st day of May up to the 1st day of August, which pay said Davis was allowed by a resolve of this Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Joseph Cornee, setting forth "that on the 19th of April last, at the battle of Lexington, was by the enemy wounded in the left arm, having the cords and arteries cut in such a manner as to render his arm entirely useless for more than three months, and has been at great charge in surgery, nursing, and board; and therefore prays your Honours may grant him such relief as you may think proper."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury, to Joseph Cornee, the sum of twelve Pounds seven Shillings, in full, for his nursing, boarding, and doctoring, and time lost.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Saturday, December 9, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, John Winthrop, Caleb Cushing, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Esquires.

Petition of Francis Brown, of Lexington, setting forth, "that he was a Sergeant in Captain Parker's Company, of said town, who was fired upon by the Ministerial Army, on the 19th of April last, who, unfortunately, received a wound in his cheek, by a musket ball, which passed nearly through his neck, and afterwards extracted from the back of the same, by which means he endured much pain, and lost about three months of his time. He hopes your Honours will order the payment of his doctor's bill, which is three pounds two shillings, and such allowance for his time, nursing, &c., as your Honours may think proper."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Francis Brown, the sum of twelve Pounds two Shillings, in full, for his nursing, boarding, and doctoring.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, by information to this Court, there is great reason to apprehend that Edward Raud, Pewterer, of Newburyport, and brother of Doctor Isaac Raud, of Boston, has carried on a criminal correspondence with his brother aforesaid, who is unfriendly to the cause of America; therefore,

Resolved, That Captain Epes forthwith repair to Mr. Winthrop Gray, at Malden, or Point-Shirley, and inquire into the facts aforesaid in confidence; and provided the said Gray shall confirm the same, that then the said Captain Epes forthwith repair to the Committee of Safety and Correspondence of Newburyport, with this resolve, who are hereby directed and empowered to cause the said Edward Raud, Pewterer, to be immediately put under a sufficient guard, and his papers secured, until the further order of this Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration and report on the Letter of Governor Trumbull relative to the Inhabitants of Nantucket, have attended that service, and beg leave to report by way of resolve.

Whereas, representation has been made to this Court, that supplies of Provision, more than are necessary for internal consumption, and for such voyages as may be prosecuted consistent with the Resolves of Congress and the General Assembly of this Colony, have been lately shipped from this and the neighbouring Colonies for the Island of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard, and there is great reason to suspect that the Inhabitants of the said Island of Nantucket have abused the indulgence of this Court, by supplying our enemies with such Provisions, &c., as were admitted to be transported to them for their internal consumption only.

Resolved, That the Committee of Correspondence for the Town of Falmouth, in the County of Barnstable, be, and they hereby are directed forthwith to return to this Court a true copy, upon oath, of all permits which they have granted to the Inhabitants of Nantucket, or any other person, or persons, in their behalf, for obtaining Provisions from the Inhabitants of this and the neighbouring Colonies to supply said Inhabitants of Nantucket, and to suspend granting any permits in future to the said Inhabitants, or any person on their behalf, till the further order of this Court; and the Selectmen of the Town of Sherburne, in the Island of Nantucket, as, also, of each Town on Martha's Vineyard, are directed forthwith to make strict inquiry into the importation of Provisions into their respective towns since the 28th September last, and of all Provisions now in said town, and to make returns thereof, on oath, to this Court, as soon as may be; and the Inhabitants of this Colony, and of the other United Colonies, are desired to withhold further supplies of Provision, Fuel, or other necessities, from said Island, until the further recommendation of this Court.

And the Printers of the Colonies aforesaid, are respectively desired to cause this Resolve to be inserted in their Newspaper.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, Monday morning.*

* WATERTOWN, December 9, 1775.—MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS: I was the last evening, notified by the Secretary that your Honours had appointed me to the office of a maritime Judge, for the Counties of Suffolk, Middlesex, and Essex, and the information was received with gratitude and respect, more especially as this is a repeated instance of your Honours' benevolence towards me.

The qualifications necessary for this department are such, that I can by no means presume to claim them, and the appointment is considered as altogether arising from the candour of your Honours, rather than from the least degree of merit in myself, notwithstanding which, I should think it an incumbent duty to obey the call of your most honourable body in this Colony, elected at a time when real merit could only raise them to their elevated stations, did it not militate with public concerns that appear to be of equally an important nature. As this is the case, and upon mature deliberation, I find it impracticable to fill the place consistent with such public engagements, I must beg leave to be excused from accepting the appointment, and flatter myself with the hopes of your Honours' approbation in this measure.

I shall at all times take pleasure in contending for the honour of the Council of this Colony, as well as in exerting myself to execute their measures, and, am, with the greatest respect, your Honours' most obedient and very humble servant,

ELBRIDGE GERRY.

To the Honourable the Council of the Colony of Massachusetts-Bay.

IN COUNCIL, December 9, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That the foregoing letter be entered on the files of Council.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

HEAD-QUARTERS, December 9, 1775.—SIR: General Washington desires you will please to order all the Militia companies, as they arrive at Watertown, to march forthwith to Roxbury, where they are to receive and obey the orders and directions of Major-General Ward.

I am, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

HORATIO GATES, Adjutant-General.

To the Honourable the President of the Council.

IN COUNCIL, December 9, 1775: Read, and at the desire of his Excellency General Washington, the Militia companies which were directed to repair to Head-Quarters, on the 10th instant, and shall pass through Watertown, are hereby further directed to march forthwith to Roxbury, where they are to receive and obey the orders and directions of Major-General Ward. And that Jonathan Brown, Esq., of Watertown, be desired to notify the several companies, as they shall arrive at Watertown, of this order.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

Monday, December 11, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Petition of a number of the Inhabitants of the Town of Pownalborough, setting forth, "that there is a difference subsisting between the Committee of Inspection for the East Parish and the Committee of Correspondence of this Town, arising from the conduct of Abiel Wood, who the Committee of Inspection have, as we think, justly published as an enemy to this country, and the Committee of Correspondence have endeavoured to make the world believe he is a friend, by publishing him as such; and as we have no reason to think the Committee of Inspection have done wrong, and the dispute, if continued, may be of dangerous consequences, not only to the town, but to the County, we humbly pray that your Honours would take the matter into consideration, and order the said Wood to appear before the Court for trial, and the Committee of Inspection to produce their evidence against him, that he may be either acquitted or condemned, and thereby this town may be restored to peace."

In the House of Representatives: Read, and thereupon Ordered, That Mr. Wood, Mr. Cushing, and Mr. Gardner, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider the same, and report.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and John Taylor and Benjamin White, Esquires, are joined.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider the Petition of the Committee of Inspection for the East part of the Town of Pownalborough, praying the Committee of Correspondence of said town might be called on to answer for their conduct relative to Abiel Wood and Jonathan Williamson, and that they, the said Wood and Williamson, may be removed from that place to prevent their deceiving the people; and the Petition of Roger Smith, and sixteen others, Inhabitants of said town, praying that said Wood and Williamson may be brought before this Court, and that the Committee of Inspection, the petitioners, be called upon to produce their evidences, that justice may be done, and the town thereby restored to peace: Your Committee, on the strictest examination, find this unhappy dispute run very high between the parties, and that many other persons in the County of Lincoln, and, particularly in the Town of Pownalborough, are interested in the event. Said Wood also desires the liberty of producing some evidence to vindicate his character and conduct, which he, at this time, is not possessed of. Therefore, that no unjust method may be taken, and that strict and equal justice may be done, your Committee beg leave to report unanimously, by way of Resolve, viz: that three Justices from the County of Cumberland, viz: David Mitchell, John Lewis, and Nathaniel Purrington, Esquires, or any two of them, be directed to repair to the Town of Pownalborough, first notifying the Committee of Inspection, on the East side of the Town of Pownalborough, Abiel Wood, Jonathan Williamson, and the Committee of Correspondence for said town, at least seven days beforehand, of the time, place, and intention of said meeting, by posting up a copy of said Petitions and this Order of Court thereon, at the Court-House, in said Pownalborough; and the said Justices, or either of them, summons all persons to appear before them, who shall be named to them, or either of them, by either of the parties concerned, as evidences in this unhappy dispute, and that the said Justices take the several testimonies, seal them up, transmit them to, and lodge them in the Secretary's Office by the first Tuesday in February next, and that the parties attend this Court, if they see cause, on the second Tuesday of the next session, for the determination of this Court thereon; and the cost of taking said testimonies shall be paid as the General Court shall hereafter order; and that the Secretary be directed to furnish said Justices with an attested copy of said Petitions and this Order, forthwith.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and non-concurred, and ordered to be recommitted.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and ordered to be recommitted.

A Letter from John Hancock, Esquire, President of the American Congress, with enclosed Resolutions of Congress, pertaining to this Colony.

In Council : Read, and sent down.

In the House of Representatives : Read, and Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Mr. Pitts, and Colonel Orne, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration the enclosed Resolves, and report.

In Council : Read, and concurred, and William Sever and Walter Spooner, Esquires, are joined.

In the House of Representatives : Ordered, That Mr. Cooper, Mr. Pitts, and Colonel Lovell, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration a Letter from Thomas Crafts, Jun.,* concerning the people lately brought from the Town of Boston, of December 10, 1775.

In Council : Read, and concurred, and Mr. Chauncy and Mr. Fisher are joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.†

* MALDEN, December 10, 1775.—SIR : The small-pox has broke out in two families that came out of Boston in the first vessels. Two persons have it at Point Shirley, and one at Malden. I thought it my duty to acquaint you of it, as soon as possible. Beg you would lay it before the General Court, that they may take the best measures to prevent the spreading of this distemper at this alarming crisis of our public affairs. As it is impossible to get wood carried to Point Shirley, the meeting-house there being of no service and rotten, if we might not have orders to pull that down for their immediate supply of firs.

I am, with great respect, your most obedient, humble servant,

THOMAS CRAFTS, JR.

To the Honourable William Cooper, Esq.

CAMBRIDGE, December 10, 1775.—SIR : I this moment received from Mr. Thomas Crafts the letter which you have enclosed, from which it will appear that some of the people who came out of Boston were infected with the small-pox. As this disorder, should it spread, may prove very disastrous and fatal to our Army and the country around it, I should hope that you will have such necessary steps taken as will prevent the infection being further communicated.

I am, sir, your most obedient servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To the Honourable James Otis, Esq., President of the Council of Massachusetts-Bay.

MALDEN, December 10, 1775.—SIR : The small-pox has broke out in two families that came out of Boston in the first vessels. Two persons have it at Point Shirley, and one at Malden. I think it my duty to acquaint you thereof, as soon as possible. Beg your Excellency would confer with the General Court what measures are best to be taken to prevent the spreading of this distemper at this alarming crisis of our public affairs.

I am, with great respect, your Excellency's most obedient, humble servant,

THOMAS CRAFTS, JR.

To His Excellency General Washington.

IN COUNCIL, December 11, 1775 : Read, and Ordered, That the Secretary be directed to write to his Excellency General Washington, to inform him of the order taken by the General Court on the 7th instant, on the matter suggested in the foregoing letter, enclosing an attested copy thereof.

PEZZE MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

COUNCIL CHAMBER, December 11, 1775.—SIR : At the request of the Board, I am to acquaint your Excellency, that in consequence of a letter received, the 4th instant, from your Excellency's Aid-de-camp, Robert H. Harrison, Esq., giving information of a number of persons out of Boston, who were apprehended to be infected with the small-pox, the whole Court immediately took order thereon, an attested copy whereof is enclosed. This, the Board apprehend, precludes the necessity of taking any further order on your Excellency's letter of this day. If your Excellency should think otherwise, and that this order will not completely remove the evil, on your Excellency's suggesting the deficiency, the earliest remedy will be applied.

In the name and behalf of the Board, I am your Excellency's most obedient and very humble servant,

W. SEVEN.

To His Excellency General Washington.

† NEWBURYPORT, December 8, 1775.—HONOURABLE SIR : We are engaged in fixing out Captain Peter Roberts, the bearer, in a small sloop, for a privateer, and have to ask the favour of you to assist him in procuring a commission for that purpose, as we are all pretty much engaged in privateers, powder vessels, recruits, &c., and cannot, with any convenience, come down. If you will stand in with Captain Roberts, as a bondsman, we hereby engage to stand between you and harm, as though our names were down instead of yours, in the bond.

We are, sir, respectfully, your very obedient servants,
JONATHAN TITCOMB, MOSES LITTLE,
TRISTRAM DALTON, STEPHEN & RALPH CROSS,
JACKSON, TRACY, & TRACY.

To B. Greenleaf.

P. S. The sloop Game Cock, burden about twenty tons.

IN COUNCIL, December 11, 1775 : Read, and Ordered, That the within named Peter Roberts, be commissioned for the purposes within mentioned, on his giving bond, with one sufficient surety, to the Colony Treasurer, for the faithful performance of his duty therein, agreeable to the act prescribing the same.

PEZZE MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

NEWBURYPORT, December 8, 1775.—SIR : The needful of this is to beg the favour you will assist the bearer, Captain Offin Boardman, in getting a commission for the schooner Washington, as we have fitted her for a privateer. In case you would be bondsman for Captain Board.

Tuesday, December 12, 1775.

Present in Council : Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Charles Chauncy, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration a Letter from Captain Thomas Crafts, beg leave to report the following Resolve :

Whereas, it appears that the Inhabitants lately come out of Boston to Point Shirley, are under difficult circumstances for want of Fuel, and that two of said Inhabitants are now broke out with the Small-Pox :

Resolved, That the Committee at said Point Shirley be, and they hereby are, directed to make use of any old decayed stores, barns, or fish-houses, as fuel for the relief of the sick and distressed, and if necessary, to take down any publick building there for the purpose aforesaid ; said Committee to render an account of their proceedings to this Court. And they are further directed to use their utmost endeavours to prevent the spreading of the small-pox, and make proper representation of the state of such persons as are put under their care, to this Court, whenever they find there is occasion therefor ; and that Captain Foster and Captain Searl be a Committee to repair immediately to Point Shirley, and cause such buildings, as may be thought necessary to be taken down for fuel, to be appraised, and take any measures, and give any directions that shall appear to them necessary to aid the Committee now there in procuring wood and in preventing the spreading of the small-pox.

In the House of Representatives : Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives : Resolved, That it be, and it is hereby, strongly recommended to the Committees of Correspondence and Safety of the Town of and in case of a deficiency of both said Committees, to the Selectmen of said Town, that they cause to be made to this Court, a true return of the number of men in said Town who are desirous of inlisting, and fit for Marines or Seamen on board of armed vessels, either in the pay of the Continent, or of this Colony, or of private adventurers, who shall fit out said vessels ; also, the names of the persons as are desirous of entering the service aforesaid, and are qualified for Commanders or other officers ; likewise, the Ships, Brigantines, Schooners or Sloops, in said Town, suitable for armed vessels, which are to be sold or hired out ; to whom they respectively belong, what their tonnage, the depth of water they draw, their breadth, their decks, and what their age ; and that said return be made agreeable to the schedule herewith sent them, and without delay lodged in the Secretary's Office.

Resolved, That the foregoing Resolve be printed, and sent to the several maritime Towns in this Colony, with a special direction to each of said Towns, by filling up the blank in the same, with the name of each Town to which it shall be sent.

Resolved, That Colonel Thompson be a Committee to cause the foregoing Resolves and the Schedule annexed, to be printed and sent to the Towns mentioned therein.

In Council : Read, and concurred.

Memorial of the Committees of Safety and Correspondence of the Town of Gloucester, "acknowledge, with gratitude, the favour of a Committee from the honourable Court, agreeable to our request ; also, the receipt of two four-pound cannon from Worcester. We beg leave further to request, that if you think this harbour worthy of defence, you would be pleased to grant us further assistance ; as we have a number of redoubts without cannon, we pray you would order us four nine-pounders and two eighteens, with their implements, and a proper number of rounds for each. We pray, also, that Captains Bradbury, Saunders, and William Pearson, of this town, may be man, we will, at all events, indemnify you. Your compliance with this request will lay us under the strongest obligations to you.

We are, with respect, your most humble servants,

THOMAS JONES, NATHAN BLODGET,
JOHN STICKNEY, ABNER GREENLEAF,
JOSEPH MARGAUD.

To the Honourable Benjamin Greenleaf, Esq.

IN COUNCIL, December 11, 1775 : Read, and Ordered, That the said Offin Boardman be commissioned for the purposes aforesaid, on his giving bond, agreeable to the act of this Colony prescribing the same.

PEZZE MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

commissioned to enlist a suitable number of men, as artillerymen, to manage said cannon; that may be appointed a Field-Officer, to command the troops stationed here, and the Militia, when necessary; and, honourable sirs, we are humbly of opinion, could we have one hundred men sent, in addition to those already stationed here, exclusive of artillerymen, or have liberty to enlist them where we can find them, on the same terms of the sea-coast men, might be sufficient to make a good defence, otherwise we fear what our fate may be. But we leave the matter to the great wisdom of the honourable Court, to act as they think fit, referring for particulars and the great importance of this port to the general cause we are now engaged in, to the honourable Committee sent by the Court to view our situation, and should only add, that our necessity for some speedy relief must apologize for troubling the honourable Court so often. But last night was brought into this harbour, a brigantine, loaded with ordnance stores, from Great Britain, by Capt. Manly, of a privateer, of great value and consequence. We therefore, now, stand in need of instant assistance to defend so valuable a cargo, as the enemy will endeavour to regain it."

In the House of Representatives: Considering the importance of the Harbour of Gloucester to this Colony, the exposedness of the same to the enemy, it appears necessary that, in addition to the provision already made, that more men should be stationed there to complete and defend the fortifications already erected and erecting: Therefore,

Resolved, That there be two Companies immediately raised, consisting of fifty men each, including officers, upon the same establishment as the forces raised for the defence of the sea-coasts; one Company of which to be employed to manage the artillery; and that suitable officers be commissioned to raise and command the same. The above Companies to continue in said service till the first day of April next, unless discharged before that time by order of this Court.

And it is further Resolved, That a General Officer be appointed to take the command of the forces stationed at Gloucester, who shall be empowered to call in the neighbouring Militia, upon any emergency, as he shall judge necessary, and discharge them again, as soon as the service will admit of the same, and that the above officers be chosen, by joint ballot, of the honourable Board and this House.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

Wednesday, December 13, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Babaz Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In consequence of a Resolve passed the General Court, December the 9th, 1775, respecting Edward Raud, of this town, the Committee directed that he should be put under guard, which was done immediately and his person secured; the Committee then examined his papers, opening each singly, and find none that have any reference to his political conduct, or that have the most distant relation to the charge in said Resolve. At the desire of Mr. Raud, he is sent to Watertown, and submitted to the direction of this Court.

J. LOWELL, Chairman, P. T.

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Samuel Holten, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to examine into the character and conduct of the said Edward Raud, touching the charge alleged against him, and make report.

* Tuesday Morning.—MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS: The Secretary has just now informed me that your Honour have thought fit to appoint me Judge of a Court, to try the justice of the capture of vessels infesting the sea-coast of America, which shall be brought into the Counties of Suffolk, Middlesex, and Essex, and that my answer is requested this morning. Your Honours will please accept my thanks for the appointment, with an assurance that I have no disposition to refuse an office, however hazardous or difficult, that is judged necessary for the public good, and which the judicious, in whose power it is to make or advise an appointment, and to whom I am personally well known, think me qualified to discharge.

I am, may it please your Honours, your Honours' most obedient servant,
TIMOTHY PICKERING, JR.
To the Honourable the Council of the Colony of Massachusetts-Bay.

In Council, December 12, 1775: Read, and ordered to be entered on the files of Council.
PEREZ MORTON, Secretary.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Caldwell and Mr. Hopkins are joined.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the honourable House, informing the Board that the coming to the choice of Delegates for the American Congress, which was assigned to this afternoon, is postponed to Friday next, ten o'clock, A. M.

Samuel Holten, Esq., went down with a message to the honourable House, to inform them that the Board had agreed to the foregoing proposal.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, there are a number of persons in the several Towns in this Colony that have left Estates, both real and personal, and have left no person to occupy the same, have taken refuge in Boston and elsewhere, and joined themselves to our inveterate and unnatural enemies, and thereby rendered themselves justly odious to all true friends of this country; Therefore,

Resolved, That the Selectmen and Committee of Correspondence in the several towns where such Estates may be found, be, and they hereby are, empowered to take into their care all such personal estate, and suffer no waste to be made thereon, and to sell or dispose of all such stock as cannot be kept on such Estates, by reason of the scarcity of fodder; and to take care of all the produce, and dispose of the same to the best advantage, wherever it may be found, on such Farms or Estates, except such as are improved for the immediate use of this Colony or Continent, and that the said Selectmen and Committees take care of all such personal estate and produce as they shall not dispose of, and keep an account of their doings therein, until the further orders of this Court, and lay their accounts, on oath, before them, when required, that justice may hereafter be done to the publick, as, also, to those individuals, when due inquiry can be made into their conduct; and that Mr. Watson procure this to be printed in the several newspapers of this Colony.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Mr. Putnam, Captain Parker, and Mr. Singletary, be, and they hereby are, appointed a Committee to purchase so much land, and such a part of the stream of water in the Town of Sutton, as may be fully sufficient for the erecting a Mill in the said Town of Sutton, for the manufacturing Gunpowder.

And it is further Resolved, That the Committee aforesaid are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase the remains of a Gunpowder-Mill, in the Town of Sutton, with so much of the land and stream adjoining the same as may be sufficient to prepare said Mill for the manufacturing Gunpowder; and the said Committee are hereby empowered to employ such skillful persons as manufacturers, as may be sufficient for that purpose, and to lay the bills of the expenses thereof before this Court; and that the said Committee contract for a sum not exceeding six hundred Pounds.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned till ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

* COUNCIL-CHAMBER, December 13, 1775: SIR: It appears to the Board, that in a recommendation to your Excellency, dated the 31st day of October last, in favour of several officers in Colonel Doolittle's Regiment, Mr. Jacob Miller was recommended to be commissioned as an Ensign, which appears to have been a clerical error, who was ordered to have been recommended as Major of said regiment. Also, in the same letter, Mr. Nathaniel Causers was recommended to receive an Ensign's commission, which was also a clerical mistake, and should have been Nathaniel Cousens. Another person was recommended as a Captain, by the name of Abern Capron, which should have been Oliver Capron. The Council have thought fit to mention to your Excellency the above mistakes, and desire they may not operate to the disadvantage of the persons interested.

In the name and by order of the Council.

W. SEVER.

To His Excellency General Washington.

NORTON, December 4, 1775.—MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS: I gratefully acknowledge the honour you have done me, by appointing me to several offices within the County of Bristol, shall endeavour, by my conduct, to deserve both your and the publick approbation, and do assure you of my hearty attachment to the rights and interest of my country.

I desire your Honours would excuse me from acting as one of the Justices of the Inferior Court within the same County.

That the God of wisdom may direct you in the difficult day, and that your endeavours for the publick good may be crowned with success, is the sincere desire and prayer of your most obedient and humble servant,

GEORGE LEONARD, JR.

To the Honourable Council.

In GENERAL COUNCIL, December 13, 1775: Read, and ordered to be entered on the files of Council.
PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secy.

Thursday, December 14, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Seyer, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Wheelcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee appointed by both Houses to prepare and bring in a Bill for raising and regulating a Militia in this Colony, beg leave to suggest the following heads of said Bill, to be considered by the Court:

That there shall be, over the whole Militia of the Colony, three Major-Generals, to be chosen by ballot of both Houses, and to be commissioned by the Council, or the major part of them.

There shall be one Brigadier-General over the Militia of each County, where there are more than one regiment, in which case said regiment is to be annexed to some other regiment, chosen and commissioned as is above provided, for the choosing and commissioning the Major-Generals.

The Militia of each County shall be divided into regiments, and altered, from time to time, as may be necessary, by the Council, or the major part of them.

Two Colonels and two Majors shall be chosen and commissioned over each regiment, in manner as is provided for the General Officers.

The Field-Officers, or the major part of them, shall divide their regiment into companies, to consist, as near as conveniently can be, of sixty-eight privates. No soldier to be carried into the company of another town without his consent. When there shall be an equal division in the votes of the four Field-Officers, the First Colonel shall give the casting vote.

The Militia to be composed of males, from sixteen years old to fifty, with exceptions.

Each company to choose one Captain and two Lieutenants, by ballot, in the presence of one of the Field-Officers, who shall preside as Moderator; and the Council, or the major part of them, to commission those so chosen, on said Field-Officers certifying such choice to the Secretary.

The major part of the Field-Officers of each regiment to appoint an Adjutant, who shall be commissioned by the Council, or the major part of them, on his being recommended by the major part of said Field-Officers.

The major part of the Council may stay the commission of any General or Field-Officer, for the space of seven days, until they may lay any objections which may arise in their minds against making out such commission, before both Houses, for their consideration. And where there shall be a petition to the Court, signed by a number of the Militia, against any Captain or Subaltern that may be chosen, the major part of the Council may stay the commissions of such persons, until the said petition is acted upon and determined.

The non-Commissioned Officers to be chosen by their respective companies.

Each officer and private who is able, in the judgment of the Selectmen where they live, shall provide themselves with one good musket, to the satisfaction of the commissioned officers of the company, with a steel ramrod, priming-wire, and brush fitted thereto, a bayonet, cutting-sword, tomahawk, or hatchet, a cartouch-box that will contain twenty-three rounds of cartridges, six flints, with powder sufficient for sixty rounds of cartridges, thirty of which to be made up, and sixty balls, and one knapsack and blanket.

The Selectmen of each town shall provide, at their town's expense, one sixteenth part so many narrow axes, one-eighth part so many iron spades or shovels, and one sixteenth part so many pickaxes, as there are rateable polls in their town, and deposit the same with the commanding officers of their respective towns.

The Clerk of each company shall, twice every year, take an exact list thereof, and present the same to his Captain, a copy whereof the Captain shall present to his Colonel, and the Colonel shall deliver a return of the numbers therein contained twice a year to the Brigadier-General, and the Brigadier-General shall return the same once a year to the Major-General, and the Major-General to the Council. Each regiment shall be reviewed twice a year by their Brigadier-General, and each company shall be mustered eight times a year, including regimental musters.

The Militia, when drawn out to encampment or battle, to be under the same laws and regulations as are provided by the Continental Congress for the Army, except in capital cases.

When the Militia of any town, or any part of them, are drawn out to encampment or battle, the Selectmen of their town shall cause carts to follow them with one month's provisions; and if a camp shall be formed and a Commissary appointed, the remainder of said provisions shall be delivered to such Commissary on the account of the Colony.

The Colonel of each regiment shall give his Captains, under his hand, in writing, the limits of their respective companies, the method of mustering, on all occasions, and their alarm posts.

All fines, forfeitures, or disobedience on training days, to be recovered by common law.

All fines, forfeitures, and punishments, for breach of duty in an alarm, to be settled by Court-Martial.

Officers to be obliged to learn the exercise recommended in 'Sixty-four, by the first day of March next, and to instruct their men therein on muster days.

No officer shall treat any of his men on muster-days, nor on the day of choosing officers.

The Selectmen of each town to furnish those persons who are unable to furnish themselves therewith, with such arms and accoutrements as is directed by this act.

In Council: Read, and sent down.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Ordered, That the Secretary be directed to take copies of all such Papers as were to be transmitted to Continental Congress.

Sent down for concurrence. Came up concurred.

Petition of a number of the Inhabitants of the westwardly part of the Town of Newton, setting forth:

"That your petitioners, and many others in said westwardly part, live at a great distance from the Old Meeting-House, (so called,) in said town, who, with their predecessors, had for many years past been put to extraordinary difficulty in attending the publick worship of God in said house, especially in winter season, and they, with their families, often detained therefrom by storms and bad travelling; and in order that they might oftener, and with more convenience, attend publick worship, they built a Meeting-House, at their own cost, more than eleven years ago, and supported preaching there in every winter since, and in private houses many of the winters, for about thirty years before, which has been very burdensome; and what has added to their burden is, their being obliged to pay their proportionable part of the Ministerial taxes, which a number of families at the southerly part of the town have been exempted from more than forty years past, who did not live so remote from said Old Meeting-House as a great number of your petitioners, which is conceived to be a cruel hardship and deprivation of a privilege which they have been compelled to allow to others.

"Your petitioners, desirous that peace and unanimity might continue in the town, have repeatedly applied to the other inhabitants for relief, humbly requesting that they would bear a part of said burden; but the majority of them being so attached to their own interest, and regardless of the interest and welfare of your petitioners, that no help can be obtained, notwithstanding their enjoyment of greater privileges to enable them, and their superior abilities, in general, to bear publick charges.

"As there now remains no other means to obtain justice, but by applying to this honourable Court, your petitioners, therefore, most humbly pray, that your Honours would be pleased to encourage their enjoying that invaluable privilege of having the Gospel dispensed to them at all seasons of the year, for the future, by ordering the said town of Newton to grant a tax, yearly, for defraying the charges of preaching in the Meeting-House built by your petitioners, as aforesaid, in the months of December, January, February, and March, annually, or otherwise, as in your wisdom shall be thought most expedient."

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That the Petitioners, as soon as may be, serve the Inhabitants of the Town of Newton with an attested copy of this Petition and Order, by leaving it with the Town-Clerk of the said town, that they may show cause, if any they have, on Tuesday, the 26th current, why the prayer of said Petition should not be granted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and non-concurred and the consideration thereof referred to the next May session.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and ordered to be referred accordingly.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to examine into the character and conduct of Eduard Raud, touching the charge alleged against him, have attended that service, and fully heard and examined Mr. Raud touching the same; and have, also, heard Captain Epes, who was appointed by the Court to make inquiry into the affair; and, also, one of the Committee of Newburyport, who has given us an account of Mr. Raud's character, in general.

Therefore, your Committee beg leave to report, as their opinion, that there is no evidence sufficient to support the charge alleged against said Raud, and that, in general, his character stands fair, and that he be discharged without further inquiry.

In Council: Read, and accepted; and Ordered, That the said Raud be discharged without further inquiry.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Ebenezer Beal, setting forth: "that he being on board of a vessel fitted out at Machias, for the purpose of taking one of His Majesty's armed Cutters, which they engaged and took on the 12th day of June last, in Machias-River, in which engagement your petitioner was wounded by a ball entering his hip, where it is now lodged, and renders your petitioner incapable of getting a livelihood. He, therefore, prays your Honours to take his case into your consideration, and grant him such relief as your Honours may think proper."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid, out of the Colony Treasury, to Ebenezer Beal, of Machias, the sum of sixteen Pounds, in full, for his loss of time (six months) and his boarding.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Ebenezer Munroe, setting forth: "that he belonged to Captain John Parker's Company, of Lexington; was, on the 19th day of April last, wounded by the King's troops through the right arm, which rendered him unable to labour for more than six weeks, besides being at the charge of board and of the Surgeon. Therefore, prays your Honours would take his case into your consideration, and afford him such relief as your Honours may think proper."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Ebenezer Munroe, the sum of four Pounds, in full, for boarding, nursing, and doctoring.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned till ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, December 15, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, John Whetcomb, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Mr. Hopkins came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the House were ready to come to the choice of five Delegates, by joint ballot, to represent this Colony in American Congress.

Agreeable to assignment, Mr. Palmer went down with a message to the House, to inform them that the Board are now ready to proceed to the choice of five Delegates, by joint ballot, agreeable to the proposal of the honourable House.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to sort the votes for five Delegates, to represent this Colony in American Congress, reported that the number of votes were:

On the part of the Board, - - - - - 17

On the part of the House, - - - - - 112

Total, - - - - - 129

Sixty-five makes a vote.

The Hon. John Hancock, Esq., had - - 129

" Hon. Samuel Adams, Esq., - - - 124

" Hon. John Adams, Esq., - - - 126

" Hon. Robert Treat Paine, Esq., - 65

And were accordingly chosen.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the Delegates now chosen were to remain in that office till December next, if agreeable to the Board.

Mr. Spooner went down with a message to the House, to inform them that the Board agreed to the time limited by the House for commission of the Delegates in American Congress.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the House proposed to come to the choice of Officers to command at Gloucester, by joint ballot, at ten o'clock, to-morrow, if agreeable to the honourable Board.

Jedediah Foster, Esq., went down with a message to the House, to inform them that the Board had agreed to the foregoing proposal of the honourable House.

Adjourned till ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

Saturday, December 16, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Charles Chauncy, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee of both Houses appointed to take into consideration sundry Resolves of the Continental Congress, and report, have attended that service; and report on the Resolve of said Congress, dated October the 26th, 1775, as their opinion, that a Committee of both Houses be appointed to engage and fix out, with all possible despatch, on the account and risk of this Colony, ten vessels, to be laden with as much provision, horses, or any other produce of this Colony, except horned cattle, sheep, hogs, and poultry, as they may deem necessary; for the importation of ammunition, sulphur, and saltpetre, arms, and German steel, for manufacturing gun-locks, &c.; and that the said Committee be empowered to give orders to the commander of such vessel, to export the said cargo to the foreign West-Indies, for the purposes aforesaid. All which is humbly submitted.

In Council: Read, and sent down.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and accepted.

In Council: Read, and concurred; and, thereupon

Resolved, That William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, and Moses Gill, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee for the purposes mentioned in the above Report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred; and the Speaker, Colonel Orne, Captain Foster, and Major Cross, are joined to the Committee of the honourable Board.

Mr. Batchelder came up with a message from the House,

* Haverhill, December 7, 1775.—Sir: I am informed by the Deputy Secretary's letter, that I have lately been appointed by the honourable Council for this Colony a Justice of the Superior Court.

I think I am truly sensible of the great and unexpected honour conferred on, and the great trust reposed in me by that appointment. To continue in a private station would be much more agreeable to my natural bashfulness, yet, when my country calls, it is my duty, and I think I am heartily willing to exert myself for its service. But considering the abilities requisite for, and the duties incumbent on one who sustains that office, and the difficulties attending a due discharge of those duties at all times, and more especially at this season, when the people have for a long time been, in a great measure, loose from Government, I confess I feel such a diffidence that I do not know whether I could support myself under such a burden. Did my capacity set me foremost in the list of my countrymen, for the discharge of that necessary and important office, I ought not to hesitate about undertaking it. But, while I am certain there are many whose abilities are so much superior, I should, at such a juncture as this, rather be an enemy to my country than a friend, if I accepted it.

I have great reason to respect the honourable Council, who have thought me in any measure qualified for that station; and, was I capable of filling it with that dignity at this time requisite, I should not, as I now do, decline it. Would pray you, sir, to communicate this in such way and manner as you think would be most agreeable.

Remain, sir, your very respectful, humble servant,

NATHANIEL PEASLEE, Sergeant.

To the Honourable President of the Council.

In Council, December 15, 1775: Read, and ordered to be entered on the files of Council. Perez Morton, Deputy Secretary.

to inform the Board, that the House proposed to postpone the choice of a General Officer, for the Town of Gloucester, till Tuesday, ten o'clock.

A Letter from the Honourable James Otis, Esq., with papers accompanying it.

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner and Moses Gill, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take the same into consideration, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Pitts, Mr. Story, and Colonel Freeman, are joined.

A Letter from his Excellency General Washington, inclosing four resolves of Congress.

In Council: Read, and committed to the Committee already appointed, to take the former part of said resolves of Congress under consideration.

A Letter from the Committee of Inspection of the Town of Dartmouth, representing a clandestine conduct of Doctor Gelston, &c., supplying the enemy with Provisions from Nantucket.

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner and Moses Gill, Esqs., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the same, and report.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, Monday morning.

Monday, December 18, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Jedediah Foster, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Samuel Holten, Joseph Palmer, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee appointed by both Houses, to consider of sundry Depositions relative to the conduct of some of the inhabitants of the Island of Nantucket, and make report thereon, have attended that business, and find there is great reason to suspect that some of said inhabitants have had undue connection with some of the officers and sailors belonging to our enemy's fleet; and, it having been made to appear to this Committee, by the depositions aforesaid, that a certain Doctor Samuel Gelston, of said Island, has been guilty of many infamous practices, in supplying our said enemies with provision, &c., contrary to the resolution of the Continental Congress, the authority of this Court, and the known sense of the whole Continent; therefore, beg leave to report by way of Resolve:

Resolved, That Major Joseph Dimock, of Falmouth, in the County of Barnstable, be, and he is hereby empowered and directed to repair to said Island of Nantucket, with such assistance as he shall think sufficient, and apprehend said Samuel Gelston, and bring him before this Court, as soon as may be, that he be dealt with according to the nature of his high-handed offence; and that he be, and is hereby empowered and directed to command such aid and assistance as he may need, in order to apprehend said Gelston; and the Committee ask leave to sit again.

In Council: Read, and accepted; and the Committee are ordered to sit again.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred. Consented to by fifteen of the Council.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the House, to propose to the Board, that as the House have some matters of great importance coming before them to-morrow morning, the choice of Officers, to command at Gloucester, be further postponed till Wednesday, ten o'clock.

Joseph Palmer, Esq., went down to the House, to inform them, that the Board had agreed to the foregoing proposal of the House.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, December 19, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That there be a Committee of both Houses appointed to draft a Proclamation, to be read at the opening of the Court of Sessions, to inculcate obedience to the commands of the civil magistrate.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and William Sever and John Winthrop, Esquires, are joined.

Whereas, the business assigned the Committee of both Houses, appointed to examine all the Muster-Rolls that shall be returned into the Secretary's Office is found to be inconvenient and too extensive for the attention of one Committee; therefore,

Resolved, That the commission of the said Committee be confined to the Muster-Rolls of the Army; and that Michael Farley, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to examine the several Muster-Rolls of the Sea-Coast Forces and Militia; and as they shall pass them, to exhibit the same to the honourable Board in order for payment.

Sent down for concurrence. Came up concurred by the honourable House with a Committee of three, joined on the part of the House.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Samuel Holten, Esq., is added to the above Committee.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Wednesday, December 20, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Caleb Cushing, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Order of the House, discharging the Committee appointed to consider what part of the Sea-Coast ought to be garrisoned from that part of their duty, which directs them to confer with his Excellency General Washington thereon.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Charles Chauncy, in behalf of Neal McIntyer, of Portsmouth, setting forth "that the said Neal McIntyer's father, of Boston, put on board the Sloop Advance, one Nehemiah Eastman, of George's, master, (and there bound when in Boston about two months' since,) certain valuable articles of house furniture, and some other necessities, as per schedule may appear. His said father intended to come out of Boston, as soon as he might obtain a permit for that purpose, having applied for leave a number of times without success. Now, may it please your Honours, the said Eastman being suspected of supplying our enemies at Boston, with wood, was stopped at George's by the Committee there; but, before they could come to any determination in regard to what was best to be done, a number of persons, who, it is said, are of the Committee of Frenchman's Bay, came and carried her down there, by means of which, my two sisters, who also came out of Boston, in said sloop, are deprived of every necessary, so that they are not able so much as to shift their linen; am apprehensive they will not deliver them without orders from authority. Pray your Honours to grant such orders as may be necessary for the recovery of our goods.

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Jabez Fisher, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the foregoing Petition, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Thompson and Mr. Hopkins are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Captain William Johnson, of the Schooner Brittania, be and he hereby is directed, forthwith to deliver Richard Devans, Esq., Commissary of the Colony, the nett proceeds of a cargo consigned him by order of the late Committee of Supplies, being, per his account, three hundred and sixty-four fire-arms, five hundred and twenty-nine and-a-half pounds of powder, (Leward weight), two thousand flints, seventy-five pounds of ball, and twelve cutlasses, excepting so many of said articles, as per receipts, shall appear to have been delivered agreeable to the order of this Court. And he is further directed to adjust his accounts as soon as may be, with Colonel Orne and Mr. Gerry, a Committee appointed for that purpose. Also, that he deliver twelve swivel-guns to the Committee of Safety of Newburyport, to be improved by them in the defence of said town, until the further order of this Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

A Petition of Abiel Wood, of Pownallborough, humbly sheweth, "that your petitioner is accused of many things as inimical to his country, and the cause of liberty, by the Committee of Pownallborough; and, the honourable Court's Committee have ordered that depositions respecting the matter may be taken, and a Committee appointed to hear your petitioner's defence, to which report the honourable House have non-concurred; and prayed that your petitioner may be secured for further trial. Your petitioner prays, that the honourable Court would appoint a Committee to hear your petitioner's defence, to do with him as in their great wisdom may see fit, on whose clemency and mercy he desires wholly to rely, and make all the satisfaction in his power, they shall require for every offence he may be guilty of. And as your petitioner is sensible, notwithstanding any imprudences he hath been guilty of, through inadvertency or peculiar circumstances, yet, your petitioner hath the good and interest of his country, and the cause of liberty, truly at heart, and wishes he may make it manifest to his country, by his future conduct. Your petitioner further declares, he will not leave or depart the place without orders from the honourable Court, and prays no further orders may issue until he hath an opportunity to make his defence.

In Council: Read, and ordered to be committed to the Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider anew the Petition of the Committee of Inspection for the East part of the Town of Pownalborough.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That that part of the Resolution of this Court of the 2d December, instant, providing that a General Officer be appointed to take the command of the Forces stationed at Gloucester, who shall be empowered to call in the neighbouring Militia upon any emergency, as he shall judge necessary, and discharge them again as soon as the service will admit of the same, be and it hereby is rendered null and void.

Resolved, That a Field-Officer, of the rank of Colonel, be appointed to take the command of the Forces stationed at Gloucester, and of the Militia that shall at any time be raised for defence of the same, unless some General Officer of this Colony shall be present; and he is hereby empowered to order the commanding officer of the neighbouring Regiment of Militia, upon any emergency, to repair with his regiment to the Town of Gloucester aforesaid, and co-operate with him in defending the same, so long as he, the said commanding officer of the Sea-Coast Forces, shall judge it necessary; and, the Militia officers and soldiers, who shall be raised as aforesaid, are hereby directed to obey the said commanding officer of the Sea-Coast Forces, accordingly.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration the expediency of making compensation to the several Officers and Soldiers who were sufferers by loss of arms, accoutrements, or clothing, in the engagements on the 19th of April and 17th of June last, and what shall be sufficient evidence to certify the same.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That full compensation be made to such Captains, Subalterns, non-Commissioned Officers, and Privates, who sustained loss of Arms, Accoutrements, or Clothing, on the 19th of April and 17th June last, and that each Captain and Subaltern produce a certificate from the Colonel, or commanding officer of such Regiment, and that each non-commissioned officer and private produce a certificate from the Captain, or commanding officer of the company to which such commissioned officer, or private, did, or doth respectively belong; and that such certificate, with other circumstances concurring therewith, shall be admitted as plenary evidence; and, it is further provided, that any other legal, or satisfactory evidence may be admitted, as time, place, or circumstances may require, to the satisfaction of the Committee appointed by this Court, to consider such losses, and compensation shall be made accordingly. This Resolve to be printed in the Watertown Newspaper.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, December 21, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Wheteomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Putner, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Memorial of Jacob Boardman, of Newburyport, setting forth, that he, with several others, are fitting out a vessel to some part of Europe, for the purpose of procuring gunpowder, and other military stores; and they have so far prepared for a voyage of this sort, as to have raised upwards of two thousand pounds, lawful money, to be laid out for articles of that sort, besides a sum sufficient to purchase a vessel to bring it in. If your Honours think fit to give them suitable encouragement, they will proceed with alacrity to accomplish their proposed plan.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Vessel mentioned in the Memorial of Jacob Boardman, belonging to Newburyport, be permitted to proceed on a voyage to any part of Europe, the Dominions of Great Britain excepted, for the purpose of procuring Gunpowder, and other Military Stores, for the service of this Colony, provided the owners of the Vessel enter into bonds, with sufficient sureties, in the sum of two thousand pounds, to be taken by the Committee of Safety of Newburyport, in the name of the Treasury of this Colony, that the said Vessel shall proceed upon said voyage, with all possible despatch, and bring nothing back, except Gunpowder and other Military Stores, and to land the same in some port of this Colony, Boston and Nantucket excepted; and that the said Vessel shall proceed in ballast, without any other loading; and this Colony engages to take all the Powder brought in said Vessel, giving for the same at the rate of five shillings per pound, the same being delivered to the Commissary of this Colony.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Whereas, it hath been represented to this Court, that his Excellency General Washington does not consider himself at liberty to furnish Guards for any of the sea-coasts in this Colony, saving what relates to the general defence; and it appearing to this Court necessary, that certain posts should be guarded, for the security of the inhabitants,

Therefore, Resolved, That Benjamin Lincoln, Esquire, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency, and desire him that he would inform this Court to what limits he will extend his Guards.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Cushing and Mr. Speaker are joined to the Committee of the honourable Board.

Petition of Samuel Brewer, setting forth, "that on the 5th day of May last, he was appointed by the Honourable John Thomas, Esquire, Commander-in-chief, then at Roxbury, the Adjutant-General of the Army, under his command, and afterwards commissioned by the honourable Assembly of Congress as an Adjutant-General of said Army, and did continue to do duty till the 1st of August last; your memorialist, therefore, prays this honourable Court, to take his case into consideration, and make an establishment for him."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Treasurer of this Colony pay to Samuel Brewer, the sum of twenty-four Pounds seventeen Shillings one-and-a-half Pence, in full, for his services mentioned in his Petition.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Petition of the Delegates of the County of Cumberland, be committed to the Committee appointed to consider a Letter from General Frye on the same subject.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Friday, December 22, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Joseph Gerrish, John Wheteomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Memorial of Hannah Sewall, of Brookline, setting forth; "that a very considerable landed estate hath accrued to her, and her brother Samuel Sewall, heirs-at-law to their late brother Henry Sewall, deceased, intestate, which estate remains wholly unsettled and undivided; and whereas, by virtue of a vote of this honourable Court, liberty hath been granted to cut wood from off the estates of such persons as have fled into Boston for refuge, and thereby rendered themselves obnoxious to their country, and a Committee appointed for the purpose of supplying the Army with wood; and whereas, in consequence of said vote, a number of persons have entered the wood lots of your memorialist, owned as aforesaid, and situated in Newton, in the County of Middlesex, and cut from thence very considerable quantities of wood, to the great detriment of said wood lot; and, whereas, your memorialist hath already freely supplied the Army with a great quantity of wood, and is, and has been always ready to supply her full proportion of wood for the supporting said Army; your memorialist, therefore, prays a Committee from both Houses may be appointed to make full inquiry into the truth of this memorial, and afford your memorialist relief adequate to her peculiar situation, and further prays, that orders be immediately given to the said Court's Committee, to desist from cutting any more wood from said lots until the honourable Committee, that may be appointed for said inquiry, shall make report to this honourable Court.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Committee appointed by this Court to provide Wood for the Continental Army, in this Colony, be immediately ordered to desist from cutting any more Wood on the land of the memorialist, till the further order of this Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

An engrossed Bill, entitled, "An Act for assessing a Tax of seventy-five thousand Pounds, to defray the charges of this Colony," having passed the House of Representatives, to be enacted.

In Council: Read a second time, and passed a concurrence, to be enacted.*

Mr. Story came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the House proposed to postpone the choice of Military Officers, till to-morrow, ten o'clock, if agreeable to the honourable Board.

Mr. Fisher went down with a message to the House, to inform them that the Board had agreed to the foregoing proposal of the House.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Committee appointed to procure Hay for the Army, be directed to proceed immediately to execute their commission, and procure as much Hay as they can, (over and above what is specified in the resolve of this Court,) agreeable to said resolve.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Saturday, December 23, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Benjamin Chadbourn, Joseph Gerrish, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, John Whetcomb, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That a Resolution of this Court, that passed the House on the 12th instant, directing Mr. Putnam and others to erect a Powder-Mill at Sutton, and repair another at Stoughton, be reconsidered, and that Captain Goodman attend Mr. Thomas Harling to Andover and Stoughton, to take a view of a place in each of those towns, proposed for erecting a Powder-Mill, and report to this Court at which place said Mill may be erected with the greatest convenience and despatch.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Memorial of William Hunt, (Blank.)

In Council: Resolved, That the former Committee of Inspection on the East part of the Town of Pownalborough, had sufficient evidence to justify them for publishing Abiel Wood as a violator of the Continental Association, and that in many other instances he (the said Wood) appeared by his conduct to be an enemy to the liberties of this country, and the said Committee deserve to be highly commended for so doing; and the Committee of Correspondence of said town, who counteracted the doings of said Committee of Inspection, is very unjustifiable, as it encouraged the said Abiel Wood in his principles and practices, so inimical to the rights and liberties of America.

Further Resolved, That Abiel Wood shall be confined until he shall give bonds, with two good and sufficient sureties, to the Treasurer of this Colony, in the sum of one thousand Pounds, the condition whereof shall be, that he, the said Abiel, will not, in any way, assist or correspond with any of the enemies of this country, and that he will be of good behaviour, and peaceable towards all, and more especially towards the persons of the former Committee of Inspection for the east part of the Town of Pownalborough; and that he will at any time appear, and answer to any complaint which may hereafter be made against him, when he shall be thereunto required by order of this Court, and that he will abide their order thereon.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned till ten o'clock, Monday morning.

Monday, December 25, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourn, Joseph Gerrish, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, by a Resolve passed in the House of Representatives on the 3d day of November last, and concurred by the Board on the 4th day of the said month, it is ordered that Mr. Devans, Captain Thatcher, Mr. Cheever, Colonel Thayer, Mr. Walker, Mr. Dicks, and Mr. Ellis, should be a Committee, who were directed to afford their utmost assistance and aid to the Quartermaster-General, that the Continental Army might be provided with a full supply of wood, until the further order of the Court; and, for the purpose of more effectually procuring the same, they were empowered to enter the wood lots of such of our enemies as had fled into Boston, and, after having the wood thereon growing appraised, to cause the same to be cut down and drawn to the camp; which Resolve, with one since passed for the same purpose, has proved ineffectual, and it being of absolute necessity for the preservation of the lives and property of the people of all America, that the said Army be supplied with necessary wood, it is, therefore,

Resolved, That Captain Vose, Mr. Guild, Mr. Stone, of Lexington, and Mr. Withington, be added to the said Committee, and that either three, or more, of said Committee be, and they hereby are empowered, if Wood sufficient for said Army cannot be procured at a reasonable price without it, to enter the woodlands of any person, or persons, within this Colony, and, after appraising the Wood thereon standing and growing, to cause the same to be cut down and carried to the camp, to supply said Army. And if any person, owner, or proprietor, of such woodland, shall molest or hinder the said Committee, or any three of them, from acting in pursuance to this Resolve, the said Committee, or the major part present, being not less than three, are hereby empowered to cause such person to be arrested and sent to this Court, to be dealt with according to the demerits of his contempt. And the said Committee is hereby directed to pay each person, whose Wood they shall cause to be cut down and carried away, the price the same shall be by them appraised at, and also, to pay all axemen which they shall employ reasonable wages, and the owner of any team that they may employ reasonable wages for his team.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Secretary, by order of the House, laid on the Speaker's table the Resolve to raise two Companies for the defence of Gloucester.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, December 26, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Benjamin Chadbourn, Joseph Gerrish, James Prescott, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Joseph Palmer, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the several Post-Riders (excepting Peter Mumford, already agreed with, at ten Pounds per quarter,) be paid for their service at the rate of twenty Shillings per annum, on every mile of their route, for those taken into the Continental service, beginning the first of June, and ending the 5th of October last. The four that are dismissed from the service, excepting Isaac Colton, at the rate of twenty-five Shillings per annum, for every mile of their route, beginning the first of June, and ending the 5th instant. And that Joseph Greenleaf, Esq., be, and he hereby is, directed to pay to the Treasurer of this Colony all the moneys he has received, or may receive, from the several Post-Offices in this Colony.

And, as it appears that the incomes of the several Offices are inadequate to the expense incurred by riding, therefore, further

Resolved, That the Receiver-General be, and hereby is, directed to pay the several Post-Riders as followeth, in full, for services, viz:

John Noble, from Cambridge to Portsmouth, sixty-five miles, twenty-one Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence.

Josiah Barnard, from Portsmouth to Falmouth, fifty-three miles, seventeen Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence.

Adams & Hide, from Cambridge to Springfield, eighty-seven miles, twenty-nine Pounds.

Peter Mumford, from Cambridge to Providence, forty-six miles, thirteen Pounds six Shillings and eight Pence.

The above persons began to ride the first of June, and ended the 5th of October last, when they entered the Continental service.

Benjamin Epes, from Falmouth to Georgetown, forty-six miles, twenty-eight Pounds fifteen Shillings.

Cadwalader Ford, Jun., from Cambridge to Exeter, forty-eight miles, thirty Pounds.

Isaac Colton, from Springfield to Great-Barrington, forty-three miles, twenty-one Pounds ten Shillings.

Houland & Goodwin, from Cambridge to Falmouth, eighty-one miles, fifty Pounds twelve Shillings and six Pence.

And these four last are dismissed from the service.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of the Selectmen of Rowley, (Blank.)

In Council: Ordered, That there be a Committee of both Houses appointed, to consider and bring in a Resolve, directing how the present emission of Bills of Credit shall be signed and numbered, and what allowance the signers and numberers shall have for their services.

Sent down for concurrence.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and non-concurred.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to wait on and represent to his Excellency General Washington the circumstances of four Companies now doing duty in the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham, setting forth by whose order they were raised, that they were then considered as part of the thirteen thousand six hundred men agreed to be enlisted by this Colony, where they have done duty, &c., and to request that his Excellency would order them to be paid by the United Colonies, beg leave to represent, that, as the propriety of such an order depends upon various circumstances, and as many important matters are constantly soliciting his Excellency's attention, the Committee report the following state of facts, to be laid before him, so that he may be better enabled to answer the request of this Court.

Upon application from the towns aforesaid, as, also, from those of Chelsea and Malden, on or about the 1st of May last, to the Committee of Safety of this Colony, who then had the direction of raising and stationing the forces within the same, praying that they would (from a consideration of the situation of said towns, and that the enemy could land in any of them from Boston harbour within an hour after they enter their boats, and in some parts in less than half an hour, and, also, that they could from thence easily penetrate into the country,) order a detachment from the camp as a guard, to be stationed in those towns.

The said Committee of Safety, with the Council of War, after full inquiry and deliberation, determined that it was necessary that a party should be constantly stationed on the sea-coasts of these towns, to watch the motions of the enemy and prevent their landing. But, as no troops could well be spared at that time, from either of the camps of Cambridge or Roxbury, they directed that there should immediately be raised one company in Hingham, one in Weymouth, and two in Braintree, (also, two in Chelsea and Malden;) and that these companies should be joined to such regiments, in future, as should be directed.

The men were raised as ordered, and were then, and ever have been, considered as part of the thirteen thousand six hundred men to be raised by this Colony. They were so considered by the General Officers, and have been employed in such services, place, and places, as the commanding officer at Roxbury hath, from time to time, directed, as will appear by his orders to the several Captains of said companies, some copies of which accompany this representation.

A company from Roxbury was, as soon as the state of that camp would admit of it, detached to the assistance of these four companies, and upon their being ordered back, in August last, two other companies also, part of the Continental Army, were sent to supply their place, and the place of a company drawn from Cohasset, a town adjoining to Hingham.

When these four companies were raised, the Colony had it not in contemplation to raise men for the general defence of the sea-coasts, and they have never been considered by us in any other point of view, than as part of our quota for the common defence; and being stationed far within the narrow limits of the harbour of Boston, his Excellency will, undoubtedly, from all these considerations, grant the reasonable request of this Court, and order these forces to be paid by the United Colonies.

In Council: Read, and accepted, and, thereupon,

Resolved, That the Committee who were appointed to wait on his Excellency General Washington, with a representation of the state of the said Companies, be excused that part of their service, and that the Committee appointed to wait on his Excellency, to request his informing this Court how far he will extend his Guards, and present him, with the foregoing Report and Representation, with the papers accompanying the same, and request his ordering payment to said Companies.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, John Winthrop, Benjamin Chadbourn, Joseph Gerrish, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Joseph Palmer, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Petition of Deborah Cushing, wife of Thomas Cushing, Esq., one of the members of the Continental Congress, setting forth: "that your petitioner formerly living in Boston, and having at the time of the Ministerial Troops commencing hostilities with this Colony, had Mr. Cushing necessarily called to public business out of town; it prevented his getting any of his household furniture out, excepting one or two beds. That your petitioner is informed the furniture which belongs to the late infamous traitor to America, Hutchinson, is now in disuse, and in the hands of the Committee of Correspondence for Milton; she, therefore, prays that your Honours, and the honourable House, may be pleased to grant a warrant or order for such articles as she may necessarily want, being willing to become accountable for them, or to be under such restrictions as your Honours may think proper."

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Moses Gill, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the within Petition, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Pitts and Deacon Nicols are joined.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration a Petition of Mrs. Deborah Cushing, wife of the Honourable Thomas Cushing, Esq., now at the American Congress, beg leave to report, by way of Resolve:

Resolved, That the prayer of said Petition be granted, and that the Committee of Correspondence of the Town of Milton be, and hereby are, directed to deliver to said Deborah Cushing, such and so much of the Household Furniture, now in their hands, belonging to the late Governor Hutchinson, as, in the judgment of said Committee, she may need, and take her receipt therefor, the said Thomas Cushing, Esq., to be accountable to this or some future General Assembly of this Colony for the same; and the aforesaid Committee are directed to get such articles (as said Deborah may receive) appraised by three indifferent persons, under oath, and lodge a copy of said appraisement in the Secretary's Office.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Petition of the Town of Harvard, setting forth: "that from an ardent concern for the good of our country, in every prudent and necessary way, we are ready to consecrate our all in such an important cause as we are embarked in, by reason of the intolerable calamities occasioned by British invasions, under which America now groans; which is sufficient to alarm us to an exertion of our last might to defend our precious liberties, and to evade abject slavery, which depends much upon the unanimity of America; and it is with pain that we behold any thing to the contrary thereto; therefore, we beg leave to mention our dissatisfaction with the large stipends granted to officers, and some others, (except soldiers) in the American service, which stipends, at the lowest, were so high, that the knowledge thereof, much chilled the spirits of the commonalty, much more when large additions were made thereto, which has been a bar against the Army's filling up. We acknowledge that a generous reward is their due; this, in our judgment, they would have had, if their wages had been far less. That the distresses of America should prove a harvest to some, and famine to others, this we deprecate; therefore, we humbly pray that this honourable Court would exert their power and use their influence with the great and General Continental Congress that such large stipends may be abridged. This we conceive a necessary means to support unanimity in America, which, otherwise, we fear, will be soon interrupted. We, therefore, beg a candid attention to this our petition."

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to Mr. Speaker, Mr. Gerry, and Colonel Thurston, with such as the honourable Board shall join.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Walter Spooner and John Adams, Esquires, are joined.

In Council: Ordered, That the Secretary be directed to apprise the Delegates of this Colony, in American Congress, of their appointment.

Sent down for concurrence.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, December 28, 1775.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Benjamin Chadbourn, John Adams, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In Council: Resolved, That it be, and it hereby is, recommended to the Selectmen of the several towns in this Colony, as soon as may be, to call their towns together, and to insert in the warrants to be by them issued for calling said town-meetings, a clause or article for devising ways and means for introducing the art of manufacturing Saltpetre into private families in such towns; and it is hereby recommended to said towns to appoint Committees, and grant all such encouragement as they shall judge proper to this necessary business; and it is recommended to the Selectmen to lay before their towns, for their consideration, the several methods for collecting materials and making Saltpetre, which have been published by the honourable the Continental Congress, and by this Court. And it is further recommended to all private families, to exert themselves in collecting earth from the foundations of houses, barns, stables, dove-houses, and all other buildings, and from cellars and other places, and in learning the art of extracting Saltpetre from the same; and the same price shall be allowed for any quantity under fifty pounds as is allowed by this Court, for any quantity above fifty pounds weight.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Committee of both Houses, lately appointed to examine the Muster-Rolls ordered by this Court, to be made up to the 1st of August last, be directed not only carefully to see to it, that all such stoppages be made on the said Rolls, as are directed to be made by the resolve passed in the House on the 3d of November last, and concurred by the Council on the 6th of the same month; but that they diligently inquire, and endeavour fully to find out whether any officer, or officers, borne on such Rolls, are indebted to the Government for any moneys received to pay their regiments, or companies their advance pay, which they have not accounted for to either of the Paymasters of the Colony; and also, whether any non-commissioned officers or privates have received their advance pay more than once; and in all instances where the said Committees shall find that any officers or privates are indebted to the Government on such accounts, that they stay the payment of so much of the wages of the particular person so indebted, whether officers or soldiers borne on the said Rolls, as may indemnify the Government. And in order more effectually to do the same, the said Committee is hereby directed and empowered, to call upon such of the Commissaries, Paymasters, and Committees of Supplies, as have been in the service of this Colony, for all accounts and certificates necessary to enable them to make the stoppage; and that an addition may be immediately made to the said Committee of two, on the part of the House, and one on the part of the Board, and that any five of such increased Committee be a quorum; and that the said Committee be hereby directed and required, constantly to attend the business of examining, and correcting the said Rolls, until they shall be finished, and, from time to time, as soon as they shall have passed on such Rolls, that they present the same to the honourable Board for their concurrence, and that the Board, as soon as they shall have passed thereon, make their warrant on the Treasury for the payment of what shall appear to be due to each man borne on the said Rolls.

Ordered, That Major Gooding and Colonel Porter be added to the Committee above-mentioned, on the part of the House.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Jabez Fisher, Esq., is joined to the Committee of the House; and Ordered, That Benjamin White, Esquire, be of said Committee, in the room of Moses Gill, Esquire, who is excused.

Sent down to by fifteen of the Council.

The Committee appointed to draw a Proclamation, to be read at the opening of the several Courts of Justice through this Colony, and at Town-Meetings, &c., reported a draft, which was read, and ordered to be recommitted; and that John Adams, Esq., be of the above Committee on the part of the Board, in the room of William Sever, Esq., who is occasionally absent.

Sent down for concurrence.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, January 2, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourn, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Petition of the Selectmen of Dorchester, setting forth: "that your petitioners, agreeable to the directions of the honourable Board, have applied to his Honour General Ward, and, also, to his Excellency General Washington, in order to consult upon a mode of conveying Jane Jackson, and her two children, into the town of Boston, but they have declined doing any thing about the matter. They pray your Honours to give such further directions respecting said woman and her children as your Honours may think proper."

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Charles Chauncy, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the foregoing Petition, and report what is proper to be done thereon.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Knowles and Mr. Hall are joined.

Petition of Daniel Pierce, praying allowance for Medicines supplied the Continental Army.

Read, and committed to Samuel Knowlton and John Taylor, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, to consider thereof, and report thereon.

Sent down for concurrence. Came up non-concurred.

In Council: Whereas, an order hath passed this Court, directing the Commanding Officers of the several companies of Minute-Men and Militia, and, also, the Commanding Officers of the men stationed on the Sea-Coasts to lodge their respective Rolls, in the Secretary's Office, in order to their being examined and passed on, and no provision is made in said order, that a copy of such Roll shall be lodged with the Treasurer of this Colony.

Therefore, Resolved, That Charles Chauncy, Esquire, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider of, and report what is further necessary for this Court to do touching the premises.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Mills and Mr. Stickney are joined.

Letter from the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., President of Congress, relative to the Congress allowing the Accounts of this Colony.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and sent up.

In Council: Read, and Ordered, To be entered on the files of the General Assembly.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That there be a Committee of both Houses appointed to inquire into the conduct of the Officers of the Company stationed at Falmouth, and to stop the payment of the Rolls in the mean while.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Benjamin Chadbourn and Joseph Gerrish, Esquires, are joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Wednesday, January 3, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourn, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be a Committee appointed to wait on his Excellency General Washington, and recommend it to him to pay the donation, received from Virginia for the Poor of Boston, to the Committee appointed by the Town of Boston to receive the same, who are now out.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee appointed by both Houses to consider of what is further necessary to be done, before the Minute, Militia and Sea-Coast Rolls are paid off, beg leave to report the following Resolve:

Whereas, no direction is given to the Commanding Officers of the several companies of Minute, Militia, and, also, the Sea-Coast men, for lodging their respective Rolls in the Treasurer's Office, great damage may arise to this Colony thereby; and whereas, some Companies are stationed at a very considerable distance, which will occasion much charge and difficulty, for want of a duplicate of said Roll, therefore,

Resolved, That some person be immediately employed, to take Copies of such Rolls as have been or may be examined and passed upon, and no duplicate left; said Copies to be examined and certified by the Committee on said Rolls, and lodged in the Secretary's Office.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, January 4, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourne, Joseph Gerrish, John Whetcomb, John Adams, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In Council: Whereas, a Committee of both Houses have been appointed for signing and numbering the Bills of Credit for the seventy-five thousand Pounds emission; and as the publick affairs of the Colony press hard upon the Board, they cannot, (without injuring the publick,) spare any of their Members in the hours they usually sit upon business, therefore,

Resolved, That Colonel Cushing, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration the matter of signing and numbering said Bills, and report some effectual mode of raising a Committee for that purpose, so that the Treasury may be seasonably supplied.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Thompson and Mr. Crane are joined.

Petition of William Brown, and others, setting forth, "that your petitioners did, early after the engagement at Concord, enter into the service of the Army from no other motive but that of being instrumental of serving the glorious cause of liberty, expecting only such a reward as their services merited, calculated only for the time of their employment. The certificate given by the late Commissary, Mr. Pigeon, on each of their accounts, which accounts your petitioners now present with this Petition, will fully testify that no service was thought too hard, no time tedious, when the cause of the country required extraordinary services. Your petitioners beg leave, also, to observe, that it has been their constant endeavour to serve the interest of the Colony. The provisions allowed to the Army, while in the pay of the Colony, were so ample, that oftentimes the men, with little persuasion, were prevailed upon to take less than the quantity stipulated; and your petitioners, knowing the Colony would be served and the men not injured, repeatedly (with their consent) served out to them their allowance with a little deduction, which deduction, though small from each individual, amounted, in the whole, to very large quantities, saved entirely for the benefit of the Colony. For the truth of the above representation your petitioners would only refer you to the Commissary's books, where the amount of provisions received in and delivered out is recorded, and to the attestation of a number of the gentlemen Quartermasters, which accompanies this Petition. For these services your petitioners have charged the Colony four shillings per diem, which, they trust, will be found reasonable, and granted them, when all circumstances are duly weighed and considered by the honourable Court.

"Your petitioners would not have troubled your Honours with their small concerns, had not your Committee informed them that they were not at liberty to allow more than two shillings and four pence per diem, which sum your petitioners think so inadequate to their exertions for the publick good, that they choose rather to rely on the generosity of your Honours, not doubting of receiving an ample reward."

The Committee, upon the Petition of William Brown and others, Clerks and Assistants to Mr. Pigeon, late Commissary-General, praying for an allowance for services, &c., having heard the petitioners and evidences they had to produce in support of their Petition, beg leave to report as their opinion: that the petitioners have acted, whilst in the said service, with integrity and honesty, and have shown a proper regard to the publick interest, and have been instrumental of considerable savings to the Colony, as represented in their Petition, and are of opinion that they be allowed the sum of three shillings and two pence each, per day, for their services.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and accepted.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Secretary went down with the following Message to the House, from the major part of the Council, viz:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

The danger that a correspondence would be carried on between a few disaffected inhabitants of this Colony, and the enemies of America, through the town of Hull, to the men-of-war, lying in and near Nantasket Road, and that our enemies might be supplied in that channel, induced the General, in July last, to cause the inhabitants of said town to be removed, and to place and constantly keep up a guard at the entrance of the beach leading into that town. The guards continued until the 1st of December past, at which time their enlistments expired, and they returned to their several homes in Connecticut; upon this, and Colonel Lincoln being told that several persons had been seen to go to Hull, but none being observed to return, he directed a small guard from the Militia, in the vicinity, to be placed at the entrance of said town, and to continue there until they should receive further orders; he immediately laid the whole matter before the Council; they sent a message to his Excellency General Washington, requesting that he would place a guard there, and relieve the Militia. He gave encouragement to our messenger that he would give orders for that purpose; but it hath been delayed, and now the Council are acquainted that the lines at Cambridge and Roxbury are so thin, that no men can be spared for the purpose aforesaid; the Council, therefore, thought it their duty to make this representation to the honourable House, and recommend to them that provision be immediately made, not only for guarding the passage into said town, but, also, that suitable guards be placed in the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham.

(Signed by fifteen of the Council.)

Mr. Gerry came up with a verbal message from the House, to desire the major part of the Council to hold Doctor Samuel Gelston under arrest, till an order of both Houses be taken thereon.

In Council: Ordered, That John Adams and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to examine into the character and conduct of Doctor Samuel Gelston, lately apprehended by the order of the General Court, and now before them ready for examination, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Freeman, Mr. Brown, of Boston, and Colonel Grout, are joined.

In Council: Ordered, That Walter Spooner, John Adams, Joseph Palmer, James Prescott, Benjamin Lincoln, John Taylor, and Jabez Fisher, Esquires, be a Committee of the Board, with such Committee of the honourable House, as shall be thought proper for that purpose, upon the subject-matter of the Militia Bill, and the manner in which the officers shall be appointed.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and are joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, January 5, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourne, John Adams, John Whitecomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Petition of Silas Ball, setting forth: "that he acted in the capacity of a Surgeon, in Colonel Benjamin Ruggles Woodbridge's, Esq., Regiment, by an invitation from Mr. Richard Montague, who was then Major of said regiment, which offer he heartily accepted of, and did the duty of a Surgeon, &c., from the 19th of April, to the 9th of July last, which is eleven weeks and three days. For certain reasons was not examined, so not appointed as a Surgeon in the regiment aforementioned, which regiment he supplied with medicines, &c., to the amount of three pounds; your petitioner prays your Honours would make him a proper recompense therefor."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Doctor Silas Ball, the sum of fourteen Pounds eight Shillings, in full of his services as Surgeon's Mate, from the 19th of April to the 9th of July; and in full for Medicines used at his own cost, for the use of the Army.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

Saturday, January 6, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourne, John Adams, John Whitecomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration the matter of signing and numbering the Bills of Credit for the seventy-five thousand Pounds emission, and report some effectual mode of raising a Committee for that purpose, beg leave to report, that, for the reasons assigned by the Board, on the 4th instant, there be two persons appointed by this Court to sign and number said Bills, in the room of James Prescott and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, who are excused.

In Council: Read, and accepted, and thereupon,

Resolved, That two persons, such as the honourable Court shall choose, be appointed to sign and number the Bills of Credit of the last emission, in the room of James Prescott and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, who are hereby excused.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Doctor Rice and Major Ely are appointed to sign and number the Bills accordingly, and the Committee are directed to sit forthwith.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the * HEAD-QUARTERS, January 4, 1776.—SIR: I send, by order of the Commander-in-chief, the prisoners under-named, which the General desires you will order to be secured in some inland jail. Worcester, we are told, has no prisoners of war, and there is a secure jail, if you approve of their being sent to it. Soldiers: John Guilderoy, William Collins, John Smith, Benjamin Ward, George Morrison, Alexander Gardner. Seamen: Francis Beard, George Mitchell, James Richard-son, Francis Ossey, Anthony Simmins, Jacob Wilson, Joseph Mason.

By the enclosed from Colonel Glover, I dare say you will think with me, that John Thomey, William Clark, William Wallis, and Thomas Gorthorp, seamen of the ship Jenny, Captain Forster, ought also to be confined.

The men named upon this . . . * were seamen, belonging to a ship, brigantine . . . * and sloop, taken by the Continental armed vessels . . . * you see no material objection to their being discharged they may be dismissed upon their arrival at Worcester, and be at liberty to work for their living in the country, or seek their fortunes as they like.

I am, sir, your most obedient, humble servant,

HORATIO GATES, Adjutant-General.

P. S. William Beord appears to be an impressed man, on board of a man-of-war at Hampton, in Virginia. He may, also, have his liberty at Worcester. There are reasons why the General does not think proper to discharge him here. Seamen belonging to the brig Hannah: John Gallard, William Middelditch, John Jenkins, James Groy, Thomas Rile-ly. Belonging to the ship Jenny: John Morgan, Francis Spamin, Henry Baldwin, John Waterstone, and James Donaldson. William Clark, Thomas Gorthorp, William Wallace, and John Thornhill, attempted to get on board the man-of-war off Cape Ann. Belonging to the sloop Betsy: George Bennet, Robert Younger, Daniel Maloney, and William Harris.

In Council, January 5, 1776: Read, and Ordered, That the Prisoners be disposed of in the same manner as hinted in the foregoing letter, and that a mittimus go to the keeper of the jail . . . * and that a letter be wrote to the Selectmen of . . . * directing them to dispose of those prisoners there to be confined in the manner herein set forth.

PEREZ MOWBRAY, Deputy Secretary.

(* Original torn.)

Doorkeeper be directed forthwith to take in custody Doctor Samuel Gelston, and put him under a proper guard, until the further order of Court, that the present guard may be released.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, Monday morning.

Monday, January 8, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourne, John Whitecomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That there be a Committee of both Houses appointed to inquire of his Excellency General Washington, whether he will want the Militia any longer than the time for which they are enlisted.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and John Taylor, Esquire, is joined.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, at the present important crisis of our publick affairs, the intention of this Court for causing to be erected Mills for manufacturing Gunpowder, hath not hitherto been so far executed as the exigency of the times most evidently requires, and the attention of the Court to each step to be taken in this measure must further retard it, and unnecessarily interrupt the urgent business of the Court:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That Mr. Putnam, Mr. Crane, and Mr. Vose, be, and they hereby are appointed a Committee for purchasing the remains of a Powder-Mill at Stoughton, and land and privileges convenient to improve the same, and to repair a Powder-Mill, or purchase a privilege for, and erect one at Sutton, as they, after having consulted the master-workman who shall undertake the same, shall judge expedient; and the said Committee are directed to give their diligent and constant attendance to this business, until it shall be perfected; and the Council are empowered to draw on the Treasury for a sum not exceeding three hundred Pounds, in favour of said Committee, to enable them to pay the charges of purchasing and repairing, or erecting a Mill as aforesaid, they to be accountable to the Court for the same.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Joseph Pearce Palmer, setting forth: "that he served in the New-England Army, as Quartermaster-General, from the 1st day of May last to the 14th day of August next following, when he was superseded by the appointment of Thomas Mifflin, Esquire; and no establishment having been made for said office, your memorialist prays the honourable Court to make him a grant adequate to the services and rank of the same."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Treasurer of this Colony be, and he hereby is directed to pay unto Joseph Pearce Palmer the sum of forty-five Pounds eight Shillings and seven and a-half Pence, in full consideration for his services as Quartermaster-General, at twelve Pounds per month, in the Army under the command of General Artemas Ward.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, January 9, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourne, John Whitecomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Jedediah Foster, Charles Chauncy, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Receiver-General of this Colony be, and he hereby is directed to pay into the hands of the Honourable Benjamin Greenleaf, Esquire, Captain Jonathan Greenleaf, and Major Stephen Cross, a Committee appointed by this Court to purchase Sulphur, the sum of three hundred Pounds, to enable them to make payment for the quantities of Sulphur they have, or shall engage to receive, they to be accountable to the General Court for the same.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of the Selectmen of the town of Topsfield, setting forth: "that, on the 28th day of October last, a Committee of the town of Gloucester came to us, with a letter from the Committee of Safety, desiring some assistance from this town, by men to guard and defend that town, for a short time, as by their letter, herewith exhibited, may more fully appear. Your petitioners laid said letter before the town. The town thought it absolutely necessary that the Town of Gloucester should be well guarded, and agreed that, notwithstanding we had a large number of men already in the Army, if fifteen more would enlist themselves, to guard the Town of Gloucester for the term of fifteen days, they should be paid at the same rate per month as the soldiers had in the Army, (not doubting but it would be made a general charge,) and also six shillings per week to each man for his support while there; on which encouragement, thirteen privates, one drummer, and Lieutenant Samuel Cummings, an officer in the Militia, under whose command they enlisted for that service, making fifteen in the whole, marched to Gloucester, on the 31st of said October, and returned home again at the expiration of fifteen days. Your petitioners, therefore, pray that your Honours would order such allowance to pay the said soldiers for their service and support, as is allowed and paid to the soldiers in the Army for the like term of time, and in the same stations."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the Treasury of this Colony unto Deacon Gold, Representative for the town of Topsfield, the following sums, viz:

	£	s.	d.
To one Lieutenant, for 15 days, at £3 per month, at 28 days to a month, - - - -	1	16	6
To 14 Men, for 15 days, at 36 shillings per month, at 28 days to a month, - - - -	13	8	6
To Billeting the abovesaid 15 Men two weeks and one day each, at five shillings per week, -	8	0	0
	£23	5	0

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of John Bunker, of Mount Desert, in the County of Lincoln, Mariner, setting forth: "that your petitioner, on the 24th of November last, by his own device, took and secured a schooner, between fifty and sixty tons, from Fort Cumberland, in Nova-Scotia, Isaac Danks, master, bound for Boston, laden with cattle, butter, cheese, roots, &c., which vessel your petitioner carried into Goldsborough, and left her in the care of one Mr. William Nichols; your petitioner prays your Honours that he may be ordered the possession of the said schooner, to remove her to some secure place for the benefit of himself and his country, or where your Honours shall see fit."

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, Mr. John Bunker and others did, on the 24th day of November last, at Mount-Desert, take a schooner, called the Falmouth Packet, Isaac Danks, master, laden with live stock, butter, cheese, sauce, &c., and in our enemy's service, bound to Boston; and said Bunker not knowing any provisions made in such cases, delivered said schooner and cargo into the hands of the Committee of Goldsborough, till he should have the order of this Court thereon;

Therefore, Resolved, That the Committee of Goldsborough aforesaid, be, and they hereby are directed to deliver said schooner with her cargo, or the proceeds thereof, if the same or any part thereof has been disposed of by said Committee, as also, the papers and appurtenances to her belonging, unto the said John Bunker, that said vessel may be brought to trial at some court of justice, erected by the General Court of this Colony, to try the capture of vessels.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee of both Houses, who were appointed a Committee to inquire into the conduct of the Officers stationed at Falmouth, have attended that service, and, upon the best inquiry, cannot find that any of said Officers have been guilty of breaking their orders at the time of the late fire in that town; and as there is no evidence against them in that respect, the Committee are of opinion their Muster-Rolls pass for payment according to the establishment.

In Council: Read, and accepted, and Thereupon, Resolved, That the Committee on Muster-Rolls be directed to pass on the Rolls of the Officers stationed at Falmouth, in common with others, without preference or distinction.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, Mr. Samuel Philips, Jun., has proposed to build a Mill, with all expedition, at Andover, for manufacturing Gunpowder, and this Court is willing to give all reasonable encouragement to so important and necessary an undertaking;

It is therefore, Resolved, If the said Mill shall be erected within a reasonable time, in the judgment of the General Court, that during the term of one year next, after the said Mill shall be erected and fitted to go, there shall be delivered to the said Philips by this Colony, from time to time, so much Saltpetre as shall be sufficient to keep the said Mill constantly employed, provided the same can be manufactured and purchased within this Colony, at the rate and bounty which is already, or that hereafter may be established by the General Court for the same; and, also, that the Committee of this Court appointed to purchase Saltpetre, be not obliged to reserve by them at any one time a larger quantity than will be sufficient to keep the said Mill in employ for more than the term of one week. In case said Mill shall be obliged to stand still any part of said year for want of Saltpetre, and the same be made to appear to the satisfaction of this Court, said Philips shall be allowed to receive a sufficient quantity of Saltpetre to employ said Mill the same length of time it was obliged to stand still, and to manufacture it into powder, on the same terms, as during the aforesaid year. And in case said Philips requires it, there shall be delivered to him so much Sulphur as is necessary to manufacture the Saltpetre into Gunpowder, he, the said Philips, paying this Colony the first cost of the Sulphur, and he, the said Philips, shall, at his own expense not only provide a sufficient quantity of good charcoal for all the Gunpowder he shall manufacture for the Colony, but also provide, and keep at his own cost, a good and sufficient guard at his Powder-Mill at all times, to prevent any wicked and designing persons from destroying the same, and to be at all other necessary expenses in manufacturing said Powder. The said Philips shall enter into bonds, as the Council shall order, that he will well and truly deliver the Commissary-General of this Colony so many pounds of good merchantable Gunpowder, as he shall be able to manufacture of the Saltpetre which he shall receive of the Colony, or any Committee appointed by the General Court to manufacture or procure the same; and also, be at the expense of transporting said Powder to the Colony Store, and of transporting to his said Mill, such Sulphur and Saltpetre as the Colony or the Committee of said Colony shall deliver him; and also, that he will cause to be published, all the discoveries which he shall make relative to the construction of said Mill and the manufacturing Powder, as aforesaid.

And it is also, Resolved, That the said Philips shall be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, eight Pence per pound, for as many pounds of good merchantable Gunpowder as he shall manufacture of the Saltpetre, which he shall receive of the Colony as aforesaid, on his delivering such Gunpowder to the Commissary of the Colony.

And it is also, Resolved, That the several Committees that are, or may be appointed by the General Court, to procure Saltpetre or Sulphur, are hereby directed to deliver said Philips, from time to time, so much Saltpetre and Sulphur as shall be sufficient to keep the said Mill constantly employed as aforesaid, and to take duplicate receipts thereof, specifying the quantity of each, and also the price of the Sulphur, one whereof shall be lodged with the Commissary aforesaid, and the other said Committee are directed to keep.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That there be a Committee of both Houses to consider the Resolves passed the 9th ultimo, relative to withholding Supplies from Nantucket, and to consider some relief for the Inhabitants of Martha's Vineyard.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Jedediah Foster, Esq., is joined.

In Council: Ordered, That Charles Chauncy, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to examine the Accounts of the Committee of Council appointed to concur and pay Accounts.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Davis and Mr. White are joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

— Wednesday, January 10, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourn, John Whetcomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Jedediah Foster, Charles Chauncy, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holtin, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White Esquires.

Petition of a number of the Inhabitants of Majabigwaduce, setting forth: "that they have duly considered the great oppression of our mother country upon these our Colonies in North America, and so sensibly feel the smart thereof in this remote District, have, therefore, made choice of, and appointed Captain Joseph Young, of this District, (as we are all fully satisfied he is a true friend of his country and the Inhabitants of this District, so far as we walk agreeable to the resolves of the Legislative power of America.) to present our prayers to the honourable Council who sits at Watertown, in the Massachusetts-Bay, in New-England, for their aid and assistance for our preservation and protection, that they would be graciously pleased to think on us, as we are greatly oppressed by an invidious tyrant, John Bateman, who is every way watching over us for evil, in order to render us useless and helpless to our country's cause, which we are ready at the risks of our lives and fortunes to put ourselves in any jeopardy, if occasion calls, as we have all of us used our utmost influence to encourage all single men and others as could possibly be spared, to enlist themselves into our country's service. And we are willing, and stand ready to sacrifice our all in compliance with your Honours' commands, and in due obedience to the officers your Honours see proper to set over us; and, also, we should be as ready to serve your Honours under the said Bateman, as any one man in the country, but he still continues to use his utmost endeavours to destroy almost every person in this place, and confiscate their interest. He, the said Bateman, was the first man in the place that traded with Mr. Nathan Philips, and encouraged said Philips's further trade in this District, and, also, advised the Committee to tolerate the carrying off wood to the westward. Upon the whole, he is a very dangerous person, and, if he is suffered to rule over us, and we have not your Honours' protection, we are an undone people."

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That the within named John Bateman be served with a copy of this Petition, and be ordered to show cause to this Board, if any he has, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, on the 1st day of January next, and that the said Bateman surcease all further proceedings as a Justice of the Peace in the meanwhile.

The Committee appointed upon the Petition of some of the Inhabitants of Majabigwaduce, against the conduct of John Bakeman, Esq., relative to his conduct with the people of that place, have attended that service, and heard the said Bakeman in his defence of the charges alleged against him in said Petition, and have examined the depositions and declarations relative to the conduct of the Committee of Safety and numbers of the Inhabitants of that place.

Your Committee have great reason to suspect that a number of said inhabitants and petitioners, under the countenance of some of the Committee of Safety of that place, have the last year, in many instances, supplied our enemies with wood and live-stock, thereby counteracting the resolves of the Congress. And it does not appear to the Committee that the said Bakeman has acted an unfriendly part to his country, or has done any thing to forfeit the trust reposed in him by his appointment to the office of a Justice of the Peace for the County of Lincoln. And, with respect to the riot committed on said Bakeman in December last, it being of such an alarming nature, we think, that unless some methods are speedily taken, in order to bring the perpetrators thereof to condign punishment, it will prove of very mischievous consequences; and, that it is a matter of so much importance, that it deserves the attention of the whole Court.

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Moses Gill and John Taylor, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the subject-matter of the above Report, and what is further necessary to be done.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Norton, Mr. Hovey, and Captain Hathaway, are joined.

Petition of Joshua Elderkin, (Blank.)

The Committee of both Houses on the Petition of Charles Chauncy, Esq., in behalf of Mr. Neal McIntyer, beg leave to report, as their opinion, that the prayer of the petition be granted; and, that an order pass this Court to the person, or persons, who may have the goods, clothing, or furniture, mentioned in the petition or invoice, in their possession, to deliver the same to the order of Charles Chauncy, Esquire, or Mr. Neal McIntyer, as soon as demanded.

JABEZ FISHER, per order.

In Council: Read, and accepted, and, thereupon, Resolved, That the Committee of Frenchman's Bay be, and they hereby are directed, to deliver all the Goods, Clothing, or Furniture, mentioned in the enclosed schedule, to the order of Charles Chauncy, Esq., or Mr. Neal McIntyer, on demand.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, in the present important contest with Britain the Militia of the several United Colonies of America may be frequently called forth to defend their invaluable rights and liberties, and it is indispensably necessary to the welfare of the Colonies, that such of the said Militia as shall have conducted in the service with a laudable zeal and fidelity therein, should be fully satisfied with publick measures, and, at all times so accommodated and rewarded for their services, that the Colonies may have the fullest assurance of a renewal of their engagements whenever the same shall be required; and, whereas, it will be much for the convenience and advantage of any part of the said Militia, when called as a temporary reinforcement of the American Army, to receive their wages at the time of their dismissal, as the trouble and expense of a future application for the same would greatly reduce the reward of their services, and may tend to discourage their insisting again:

It is, therefore, Resolved, As the opinion of this Court, that it will greatly tend to promote the service in this Colony, and encourage the reenlistment of that part of the Militia of said Colony, now in the American Army, as a temporary reinforcement, if they could be assured by his Excellency General Washington, that they should be paid their wages at the time of their discharge from service.

Resolved, That Mr. Speaker and Colonel Thayer, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be, and they hereby are appointed a Committee to apply to his Excellency General Washington, with a copy of the preceding Resolve, and, also, a Resolve of the Court, relative to the reenlistment of the Militia aforesaid.

In Council: Read, and concurred; and Walter Spooner, Esq., is joined.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadbourn, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Samuel Holtin, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Memorial of John Tufft, of Belfast, in Penobscot, setting

* COUNCIL-CHAMBER, January 10, 1776.—Sir: The bearer, Mr. James Seward, is a person lately sent out of Boston, and is now a prisoner on the parole of his honour. The Council, by inquiry into his character and conduct, find he has been guilty of acting, in some instances, an unfriendly part to the liberties of America, such as working for the King's troops in Boston, and keeping his shop open on last fast-day, in contempt of the recommendation of Congress. As a palliation for this conduct, he urges his religious tenets; in indulgence to which, and in consideration that he comes recommended to the charity of the Colony from the Committee of Donations within the town, the Council have ordered that he be confined within the limits of the town of Bridge-water, until their further order. And I am directed, by them, to recommend him to you to be employed as a gunsmith, to which trade he served his time, that he may be able to maintain himself and family and not be an incumbrance to the community. And I am directed, further, to request of you to see that he does not pass the limits of the said town of Bridge-water, on any occasion whatever, and if he should, that you give the earliest intelligence thereof to this Board.

In the name, and by order of the Council: WALTER SPOONER, To Hugh Orr, Esq.

forth: "that your memorialist dwells at Penobscot, and that he lives near Long-Island, in said Penobscot-Bay, and on said Island dwell about fourteen families; and that some of said families have, from time to time, supplied the Ministerial forces with cord-wood, and other necessities, from said Island. And, as your memorialist is one of the Committee of Correspondence of said place, thinks it his duty to set forth to your Honours (and that he is come on purpose to set forth) their proceedings, which is inimical to the country, and prays your Honours would order their removal, or that they may not countenance such proceedings.

"Your memorialist further prays, that the inhabitants of Belfast may be allowed some ammunition, to defend themselves from the enemy, as they are now exposed, and have none to help themselves."

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to the Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider the subject matter of a Report on the Petition of a number of the Inhabitants of Majabigwaduce, relative to the conduct of Bakeman.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Resolved, That two Ships be built, as soon as may be, at the expense of this Colony, one suitable to carry thirty-six guns, viz: twenty guns carrying twelve-pound shot, and sixteen guns for six-pound shot; and the other ship suitable to carry thirty-two guns, viz: twenty guns for nine-pound shot, and twelve for six-pound shot; and that these Ships be built in a manner best calculated for swift sailing, and of timber and all other materials suitable for ships-of-war, of such a number of guns and weight of metal, and furnished with a suitable number of officers, seamen, and marines, and that all kinds of arms, ammunition, and provisions, be furnished for such ships.

Resolved, That with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to carry the foregoing Resolution into execution, as soon as possible, and that a sum of money for that purpose, not exceeding be put into their hands, they to be accountable to this Court for the expediture of the same.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and ordered to be recommended; and the Committee are directed to report an estimate of the expense of building and furnishing the vessels above proposed to be provided.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Letter from his Excellency General Washington, on the critical situation of the Army, read and sent down. Came up committed to a Committee of both Houses.

In Council: Read, and concurred; and John Adams and Jedediah Foster, Esquires, are joined.

In Council: Ordered, That there be a Committee of both Houses appointed, to remedy the defect of the Inholders not exhibiting their Accounts.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, (Blank.)

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Letter from William Williams, Esq., of Connecticut, communicating measures adopted by that Colony, and discoveries made of a Lead-Mine.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and John Adams, Esq., is joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

* COUNCIL-CHAMBER, January 11, 1776.—GENTLEMEN: The Council have considered a petition presented by Joshua Young, who is confined to your town, and who seems to be heartily penitent for his past offences, and have ordered that he be removed from his confinement to the town of Northampton, and be sent to Marshfield, and confined within the limits of that town till their further order, and they request that you see this order carried into execution.

In the name, and by order of the Council: JEDEDIAH FOSTER.
To the Committee of Correspondence of Northampton.

COUNCIL-CHAMBER, January 11, 1776.—GENTLEMEN: Joshua Young, who has been confined to the town of Northampton, for his offences and misdemeanours against the country, has presented a petition to the Council, to extend their clemency towards him, in consequence of which the Council have ordered that he be released from the town of Northampton, and be sent to your town, and confined within the limits thereof till further order. And they request that you take care that the said Young does not pass the limits of his confinement.

In the name, and by order of the Council: JEDEDIAH FOSTER.
To the Committee of Correspondence of the Town of Marshfield.

Friday, January 12, 1776

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadburn, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

A Letter to the Honourable John Taylor, Esq., from Timothy Parsons, on matter of publick concern.

In Council: Read, and committed to the Committee on the Petition from Majabigwaduce.

Deposition of Ebenezer Goodell and James Goodell, relative to Joseph Bowditch refusing a tender of Bills of publick Credit.

Read, and committed to John Taylor, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, ten o'clock.

Saturday, January 13, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Benjamin Chadburn, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Moses Gill, Jabez Fisher, Michael Farley, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration the Letter from his Excellency General Washington, of the 10th instant, have attended that service, and beg leave to report, that a Committee of both Houses be appointed to wait on the General, and to assure him that this Court are zealously disposed to do every thing in their power to promote the recruiting of the American Army, and to acquaint him that they cannot be of opinion that the publick service will be promoted by offering a bounty, at the separate expense of this Colony, or any other encouragement beyond that which has been ordered by the Congress; that they are still further from an opinion that the same service can be promoted by any coercive measures, or any other expedient than voluntary enlistment. But, that this Court is willing, if his Excellency shall approve of this measure, to recommend any further temporary drafts from the Militia, that may be necessary to supply the present deficiencies, to be continued until the 1st of April next; and, also, to exert the influence of this Court, by recommending to the Selectmen and Committees of Correspondence, and others, to exert themselves, and employ their influence among the people, to promote and encourage, by all reasonable methods, the recruiting service in the several towns.

JOHN ADAMS, per order.

In Council: Read, and accepted; and, Ordered, That John Adams, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, for the purposes expressed in the above Report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Speaker and Major Hawley are joined.

Petition of John Tidd, of Lexington, setting forth: "that, on the 19th of April, he received a wound in the head, (by a cutlass,) from the enemy, which brought him senseless to the ground; at which time they took from him his gun, cartridge-box, powder-horn, &c. He prays your Honours would make him some compensation for said loss; likewise, six weeks' loss of time, charge of a Surgeon, nursing, and board."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to John Tidd, the sum of four Pounds ten Shillings, in full, for his loss of Gun, &c., set forth in his Petition.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, the Captains and Lieutenants of the Militia, who have lately joined the Army as a temporary reinforcement, have not been commissioned according to the several stations to which they have been elected; and whereas, they may continue a longer time in service than was at first expected; therefore,

Resolved, That the honourable Council of this Colony be desired to commissionate all such officers, as aforesaid, according to their several ranks, who, with fifty men or upwards, (accounting in said number officers, and, also, such men as have enlisted from their respective companies into the Continental Army,) shall incline to continue in the service till the last of this month, or till the 10th of February next, if occasion shall require, upon their being certified of their appointment according to the Resolves of this Court, and of retaining the number of men specified in this Resolve.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned, until Monday next.

Monday, January 15, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Thomas Cushing, John Adams, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Colonel Porter and Mr. Brown, of Boston, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be, and they hereby are appointed a Committee to settle the Accounts remaining unsettled on the books of the late Committee of Supplies, and to collect and pay the balances that may be due to, or from the Colony on said Accounts. Also, to take the care of the brigantine Rockingham and Unity's cargoes, and such a part of the schooner Maccaroni's, as belongs to the Colony. Also, to see that the order of this Court be complied with by Captain William Johnson, late commander of the schooner Brittania, relative to his delivering to the Commissary of said Colony the nett proceeds of the cargo of said schooner, consigned him by the said late Committee of Supplies, exclusive of what he shall produce receipts of having delivered agreeable to any order of said Court. And they are further directed, to receive from the files of said Committee of Supplies all the papers relative to said vessel, or any of the persons having accounts unsettled, as aforesaid; and, upon the arrival of any of them, to cause the proceeds of their cargoes, if vested in military stores, to be delivered to the Colonial Commissary, and take his receipts therefor, and to certify to the Standing Committee on Accounts the sums which they shall find necessary to discharge the portledge bills, hire, and other necessary charges attending the said voyages, that shall be due from the Colony aforesaid. And the Standing Committee on Accounts are hereby empowered to pay and discharge the portledge bills, hire of vessels, and other charges that shall be examined and certified by the Committee now chosen, as aforesaid; they to be accountable to the General Court for their doings.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Moses Gill, Esq., is joined.

Mr. Cooper came up with a message to the Board, to inform them that the House proposed to come to the choice of Officers to command at Plymouth and Truro, also, a Captain to command in the County of Cumberland, in the room of Captain Rice, who declines, at three o'clock, this afternoon, if agreeable to the honourable Board.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., went down with a message to the House, to inform them, that the Board agreed to the foregoing proposal of the honourable House.

Letter from his Excellency General Washington, respecting the want of Fire-Arms for the new recruits, now coming in.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to Mr. Pitts, Colonel Woodbridge, and Captain Smith, with such as the honourable Board may join.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Prescott and Colonel Lincoln are joined.

Message came up from the House, to inform the Board that the House are now ready to proceed to the choice of Officers for the Company to be stationed at Plymouth and Truro, and a Captain in the room of Captain Rice.

In Council: Ordered, That Charles Chauncy and Moses Gill, Esquires, be a Committee to count and sort the votes, who reported, that for the Officers to command at Plymouth, the number of votes were:

On the part of the Board, - - - - 12

On the part of the House, - - - - 50

Total, - - - - 62

Thirty-two made a vote; and that Jesse Harlow, as Captain; James Churchill, First Lieutenant; Timothy Goodwin, Second Lieutenant, were unanimously chosen.

William Watson, Esq., for a Commissary, had fifty-nine votes, and was accordingly chosen.

For Officers to command at Truro, the number of votes were:

On the part of the Board, - - - - 9

On the part of the House, - - - - 42

Total, - - - - 51

Twenty-six made a vote; and that Joseph Smith, as Captain; Hezekiah Harden, First Lieutenant; Seth Smith, Second Lieutenant, were unanimously chosen.

Samuel Harding was chosen Commissary.

For a Captain, in the room of Captain Rice, the number of votes were:

On the part of the Board, - - - - 11

On the part of the House, - - - - 42

Total, - - - - 53

Twenty-seven made a vote; and Bryant Morton was unanimously chosen.

The Committee appointed to count and sort the votes for a Commissary at Tarpaulin-Cove, reported that the number of votes were:

On the part of the Board, - - - - 10

On the part of the House, - - - - 47

Total, - - - - 57

Twenty-nine made a vote; and that Thomas Jones, Jr., was accordingly chosen.

Petition of James Lemont, setting forth: "tha the received orders to enlist a company of men, to be stationed in the County of Lincoln, for the defence of the sea-coast, and before they passed muster, the County was alarmed by a number of our enemy's vessels arriving at Pleasant-River, to which your petitioner, with his men, immediately went, and was obliged to victual said men until their return to Georgetown, where your petitioner was afterwards stationed, and was victualled by the Selectmen. Further, your petitioner did hire several boats for the use of the Colony, to convey the men under his command from one place to another, as the County was often alarmed by the enemy's vessels, which occasioned Colonel Cargill to order him from one place to another, where there was no passing by land; therefore, your petitioner prays your Honours would grant him payment according to account annexed."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Henry Gardner, Esquire, Treasurer and Receiver-General be, and he hereby is directed to pay to James Lemont, or his order, the sum of fifty Pounds and two Shillings, in full discharge of his account.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

* PHILADELPHIA, January 1, 1776.—MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS: I arrived at this place the 28th ultimo, where I found a letter from Mr. Morton, Deputy Secretary, wrote by the direction of the major part of the honourable Council of the Province of the Massachusetts-Bay, by which I am acquainted that they have honoured me with an appointment as one of the Justices of the Superior Court of Judicature, &c., for that Province. I am, also, favoured with a list of the other gentlemen appointed to the Superior Bench, and of our arrangement in rank. I am, also, requested to signify to the honourable Board, as soon as may be, my acceptance or refusal in writing.

That my answer has been so long delayed from the arrival of this letter, has been entirely owing to my absence on a commission to the northward, so that I have really been notified but a few days of my appointment to that important office, and have not had that time and opportunity to consider the matter which I could have wished; but as your Honours have thought it expedient that a Superior Court should be appointed, and the appointment is of so long standing, I think it necessary to give my answer by this first opportunity, lest the matter remaining undetermined, might prevent the accomplishment of your Honours' determination.

After expressing my sincere thanks for the honour you have conferred upon me by this appointment, I find myself constrained to decline accepting it, and without troubling your Honours with a detail of reasons which are not required, I beg leave to observe that I have the highest sense of the importance of that office, and am satisfied that, if sufficiently qualified, I could not attend to the due execution of it, while the attack made by our enemies, on every thing we hold dear, appears to me to demand our constant attention.

I heartily wish the establishment of peace, and the due administration of justice in our Province, success to your Honours' endeavours to effect these valuable purposes, and happiness to your persons, and am with unfeigned respect, your Honours' most obliged, humble servant,
ROBERT TREAT PAINE.

To the Honourable the Council of Massachusetts-Bay.

IN COUNCIL, January 15, 1776: Read, and ordered to be entered on the files of Council.
PSEZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

Tuesday, January 16, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Channey, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, James Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration his Excellency General Washington's Letter to this Court, of the 10th instant, have attended that service, and report as followeth, viz:

That his Excellency be informed that it is the opinion of this Court, there would be a general supply of fire-arms brought into the camp, if he would give publick notice that if the recruits would come well armed, they should be allowed for the use of their arms; and if lost in the service, the just value of them should be paid, and that their arms shall not be detained from them when their time of service shall expire. And, that to detain the arms of the Militia, without their consent, would neither promote the good of the service nor facilitate the arming the forces, as it would produce a general uneasiness through the country. And that his Excellency be also informed that this Colony have in store but about two hundred fire-arms, part of which are out of repair. Such as will do for the service, although provided for the particular use of this Colony, we shall be ready to deliver, if they shall be needed, and do all in our power to aid his Excellency in arming the troops.

In Council: Read, and sent down.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and accepted, and thereupon, Ordered, That the Committee appointed to wait upon his Excellency General Washington, on the subject of his Letter of the 10th current, be a Committee to present him a copy of the within Report.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, representation has been made to this Court, by a Committee thereof, that his Excellency General Washington was desirous of borrowing, for the use of the Continental Army, a supply of money,

Resolved, That the Council be, and they hereby are empowered to draw on the Treasurer of this Colony, for the sum of fifty thousand Pounds, lawful money, in favour of his Excellency aforesaid, as Commander-in-chief of the Continental Army, or for such a part of said sum as his Excellency shall have a present demand for, he giving an obligation, in his capacity, to return the same to the said Treasurer, when demanded.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Committee appointed to wait on his Excellency General Washington, on the subject of his Excellency's Letter of the 10th instant, be a Committee to present his Excellency with a copy of the within Resolve.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Letter from the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., President of the Continental Congress, be committed to a Committee of both Houses.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Walter Spooner and Jedediah Foster, Esquires, are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Memorial of Jonathan Jackson, Chairman of the Committee of Inspection of Newburyport, setting forth the fraud of Benjamin Balch, &c., be committed to Mr. Story and Mr. Wheeler, with such as the honourable Board shall join.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Caleb Cushing, Esquire, is joined.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, by a Resolve of this Court, passed this House the 16th of December last, it was recommended to a number of towns in the Counties of Suffolk, Essex, Middlesex, Plymouth, and Worcester, as they regarded their own safety and the general welfare of these Colonies, to take effectual measures to supply the camps at Cambridge and Roxbury, with such quantities of Hay as were set to the respective towns named in said Resolve, at the rate of five Pounds per ton for English Hay, and forty Shillings per ton for salt Hay. And, whereas, upon a thorough inquiry made by this Court, it now appears, that the allowance then made is below the market price, and short of what has been usually given by the inhabitants of this Colony, under a like scarcity with the present,

Resolved, That it be recommended to those towns which have not, as yet, forwarded to the camps the quantities of Hay which have been assigned, that they send their respective quantities immediately, and receive pay therefor, at the rate of six Pounds per ton for English, and fifty Shillings per ton for salt Hay, provided the same shall be brought into camp within ten days from the date hereof. And lest the other towns mentioned in said Resolve, which from an early regard to the recommendations of this Court, have already furnished their respective quantities of Hay, should be sufferers for so doing, they are to receive out of the Colony Treasury, such sums as have been short paid them of the prices now allowed to be given therefor, on their producing proper certificates to the honourable Board of the quantities furnished aforesaid, who are hereby empowered to grant warrants for the same; and the Selectmen and Committees of Correspondence in those towns are desired to transmit to this Court the receipts for the Hay they have already carried into the camps, that so their regard to the credit of this community, and zeal for the common safety may appear upon the publick records of this Colony. And whereas, it may so happen, that at the expiration of said ten days, some towns may still remain deficient, to prevent the fatal consequences of such neglect, the Selectmen of any delinquent town are hereby directed and empowered to impress therein, for the use of the Continental Army, so much Hay as will make up the full quantity assigned such town by the aforesaid Resolve of this Court; and the Committee named in the former Resolve are directed to see that and the foregoing Resolve be carried into execution; and Colonel Thompson is directed to get this Resolve printed in handbills and dispersed through the several towns mentioned in the schedule annexed to the first Resolve.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Mr. Gerry came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the House proposed to come to the choice of such Officers on the Sea-Coast, as remain to be chosen, at five o'clock this afternoon, by joint ballot, if agreeable to the honourable Board.

Mr. Spooner went down with a message to the House, to inform them that the Board agreed to the foregoing proposal of the honourable House, and would request to be informed what Company the House propose to begin with.

In Council: Ordered, That Charles Chauncy and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, be a Committee to count and sort the votes for Officers to command the Company to be stationed at Salem, who reported the number of votes were:

The Committee of the honourable House then informed the Board, that the House proposed to defer the further choice of Officers on the Sea-Coast till to-morrow, twelve o'clock.

Adjourned till to-morrow, ten o'clock.

— Thursday, January 17, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In Council: Whereas, John Hancock, Samuel Adams, John Adams, Robert Treat Paine, and Elbridge Gerry, Esquires, having been chosen by joint ballot of the two Houses of Assembly, to represent the Colony of the Massachusetts-Bay, in New-England, in the American Congress, until the 1st day of January, 1777,

Resolved, That they, or any one, or more them, are hereby fully empowered, with the Delegates from the other American Colonies, to concert, direct, and order such further measures as shall to them appear best calculated for the recovery and establishment of American rights and liberties; and the Secretary is hereby directed, as soon as may be, to signify to each of those gentlemen their appointment, with an attested copy of this order.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to Mr. Speaker, Mr. Hawley, and Mr. Cooper, with such as the honourable Board may join; and said Committee are directed to form Instructions to said Delegates.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and William Sever and Walter Spooner, Esquires, are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That that part of the Sea-Coast establishment, which respects the raising two Companies in the County of Cumberland, be so far reconsidered as that Captain Bryant Morton, lately appointed by this Court to command one of the said Companies be, and he hereby is empowered and directed to enlist the whole, or any part thereof, in any other County in this Colony, where he can fill up the same with the greatest despatch, except in sea-port towns; and that Colonel Thompson be, and hereby is empowered and directed to sign enlisting orders, and give a form of an enlistment to the said Morton, agreeable to the establishment before mentioned.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, by a Resolution of this Court, of the 27th of December last, provision is made for a Commissary for the Forces stationed on the Sea-Coast at Salem and Marblehead; and as it appears to be more for the publick benefit that there should be a Commissary for each of those towns,

It is, therefore, Resolved, That the Commissary already appointed be a Commissary for the Companies at Marblehead only; and that a Commissary be appointed for the Forces stationed in the Town of Salem.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

FOURTH SERIES.—VOL. IV.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, his Excellency General Washington hath informed this Court, that he doth not think himself at liberty to pay four Companies of men, who have generally done duty at Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham, the last year; and the said Companies having received no part of their pay from him since August last,

Therefore, Resolved, That the Officers of the said four Companies, be directed to make up their Rolls to the 1st day of January current, and observe such rules as were given to the Officers in the camps at Cambridge and Roxbury.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee of both Houses appointed upon a Petition from the town of Dorchester, relative to Jane Jackson, and her two children, beg leave to report the following Resolve:

Whereas, it appears that Jane Jackson, and her two children, have been sent over from Castle-William into the Town of Dorchester, since which they have been maintained at the expense of the said town, notwithstanding their application to General Washington, (by order of this Court,) to desire his assistance in conveying them back to Boston, he refusing to concern himself in the matter,

Therefore, Resolved, That the Selectmen of Dorchester be, and they are hereby directed to remove the said Jane Jackson, with her two children, into some inland town, where they may be maintained at the cheapest rate; and, provided either of the said persons are able to work, that they be put out for that purpose, to lessen the charge of their maintenance as aforesaid, the said Selectmen to lay their Accounts before this Court, for examination and allowance.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

— Thursday, January 18, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to form Instructions for the Delegates from this Colony to the American Congress, have attended that service, and report the following draft, which is submitted.

WILLIAM SEVER, per order.

In Council: Whereas, John Hancock, Samuel Adams, John Adams, Robert Treat Paine, and Elbridge Gerry, Esquires, have been chosen, by joint ballot of the two Houses of Assembly, to represent the Colony of Massachusetts-Bay, in New-England, in the American Congress, until the 1st day of January, 1777,

Resolved, That they, or any one, or more of them, are hereby fully empowered, with the Delegates from the other American Colonies, to concert, direct, and order such further measures as shall to them appear best calculated for the establishment of right and liberty to the American Colonies, upon a basis permanent and secure, against the power and arts of the British Administration, and guarded against any future encroachments of their enemies, with power to adjourn to such times, and places, as shall appear most conducive to the publick safety and advantage.

Read, and accepted. Sent down.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and the Secretary is hereby directed, as soon as may be, to signify to each of those gentlemen their appointment, with an attested copy of this order.*

In Council: Read, and concurred.

A Bill, entitled "An Act for regulating the Militia,

* COUNCIL-CHAMBER, January 19, 1776.—SIR: Agreeable to the directions of the enclosed resolution, I am to acquaint you, that by a joint ballot of both Houses of Assembly for the Colony of Massachusetts-Bay, you are elected one of the Delegates to represent that Colony in American Congress, until the 1st day of January, 1777; and the enclosed resolution you are to make the general rule of your conduct.

By order of the General Court:

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

To John Hancock, Esq.

[Same to Elbridge Gerry, Samuel Adams, John Adams, and Robert Treat Paine, Esquires.]

&c.,” having passed the House of Representatives, to be engrossed.

In Council: Read a second time, and passed a concurrence, to be engrossed.

Petition of Elizabeth Sampson, and others, setting forth: “that their families have been visited with distressing sickness, and the distress much augmented by their not being able to purchase proper necessities for persons under such circumstances, as theirs were in the time of their sickness, which was brought upon them, at least in part, by the delay of the Trustees of Indian Affairs, in Grafton, paying us our reasonable part of the interest money due in May last; we, therefore, pray that such measures may be pointed out as may be effectual for the speedy collecting and paying us our proportions of said interest money, respectively, not only for our present relief, but for the future.”

In the House of Representatives: On the Petition of Elizabeth Sampson, and other Indian inhabitants of Grafton, praying to be relieved respecting their income by the interest money in the hands of the Guardians of that Tribe:

Resolved, That whereas, the Honourable Artemas Ward, Esquire, one of their present Guardians, is necessarily employed in the Continental service, and the others have neglected to relieve those Indians, it is become necessary that new Guardians shall be appointed, who shall, by such appointment, be vested with the same power, in all matters respecting the property of those Indians, as the present Guardians have.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Ordered, That Moses Gill, Esquire, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider of the propriety of commissioning such Captains and Subalterns as marched and joined the Continental Army from the Militia, with full companies, in pursuance of the Resolve of the General Court, on the 1st of December last.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Captain Parker and Colonel Ward are joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, January 19, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That . . . be a Committee, with such as the honourable Board shall join, to confer with Mr. Thomas Harling on the subject of erecting a Powder-Mill, &c.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Caleb Cushing and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, are joined.

Letter from Samuel Jordan, representing the fraud of Colonel Cargill:

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Eldad Taylor and John Taylor, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take the foregoing Letter, and papers accompanying it, into consideration, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Thompson, and Colonel Cushing, are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Committees, or Selectmen, of the several towns in this Colony, send a just and true account of all the Powder, Lead, and Flints, by them delivered, by order of the Congress, or House of Representatives, of this Colony, for the use of the said Colony or Army, to the Committee of Accounts, by the 1st day of April next, in order to their being paid for the same: the Powder at five Shillings per pound, the Lead at five Pence per pound, and the Flints at five Shillings per hundred; unless they choose to have the same replaced, when the state of this Colony will permit of.

And it is further Resolved, That the Selectmen, or Committees aforesaid, send an account of all the Powder, Lead, and Flints delivered to the Minute-Men, or others, that was used or left in the camps, for the benefit of the Army, on the alarm of the 19th day of April last, or otherwise be left in the camps for the use of the Army, that the same may be paid for by this Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Ordered, That John Winthrop and Thomas Cushing, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration the Resolution of the American Congress, passed the 2d of January, and called “the Tory Act,” and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and . . . are joined.

The Committee appointed to draft a Proclamation, to be read at the opening of Courts, &c., reported a draft, which is as follows, viz:

By the Great and General Court of the Colony of MASSACHUSETTS-BAY:—A PROCLAMATION.

The frailty of human nature, the wants of individuals, and the numerous dangers which surround them through the course of life, have, in all ages, and in every country, impelled them to form societies, and establish Governments. As the happiness of the people is the sole end of Government, so the consent of the people is the only foundation of it, in reason, morality, and the natural fitness of things; and, therefore, every act of Government, every exercise of sovereignty, against or without the consent of the people, is injustice, usurpation, and tyranny.

It is a maxim that, in every Government, there must exist, somewhere, a supreme, sovereign, absolute, and uncontrollable power; but this power resides always in the body of the people, and it never was, nor can be, delegated to one man, or a few, the great Creator having never given to men a right to vest others with authority over them, unlimited either in duration or degree.

When Kings, Ministers, Governors, or Legislators, therefore, instead of exercising the power intrusted with them according to the principles, forms, and proportions stated by the Constitution, and established by the original compact, prostitute those powers to the purposes of oppression, to subvert, instead of supporting a free Constitution, to destroy, instead of preserving the lives, liberties, and properties of the people, they are no longer to be deemed magistrates vested with a sacred character, but become public enemies, and ought to be resisted.

The Administration of Great Britain, despising equally the justice, humanity, and magnanimity of their ancestors, and the rights, liberties, and courage of Americans, have, for a course of years, laboured to establish a sovereignty in America, not founded in the consent of the people, but in the mere will of persons a thousand leagues from us, whom we know not, and have endeavoured to establish this sovereignty over us, against our consent, in all cases whatsoever. The Colonies, during this period, have resorted to every peaceable resource in a free Constitution, by petitions and remonstrances, to obtain justice, which has not only been denied to them, but they have been treated with unexampled indignity and contempt; and, at length, open war, of the most atrocious, cruel, and sanguinary kind, has been commenced against them. To this, an open, manly, and successful resistance has hitherto been made. Thirteen Colonies are now firmly united in the conduct of this most just and necessary war, under the wise councils of their Congress.

It is the will of Providence, for wise, righteous, and gracious ends, that this Colony should have been singled out by the enemies of America, as the first object, both of their envy and their revenge, and, after having been made the subject of several merciless and vindictive statutes, one of which was intended to subvert our Constitution by charter, is made the seat of war. No effectual resistance to the system of tyranny provided for us could be made, without either instant recourse to arms, or a temporary suspension of the ordinary powers of Government, or tribunals of justice; to the last of which evils, in hopes of a speedy reconciliation with Great Britain, upon equitable terms, the Congress advised us to submit; and mankind has seen a phenomenon, without example in the political world—a large and populous Colony subsisting, in great decency and order, for more than a year, under such a suspension of Government.

But as our enemies have proceeded to such barbarous extremities, commencing hostilities upon the good people of this Colony, and with unprecedented malice, exerting their power to spread the calamities of fire, sword, and famine through the land, and no reasonable prospect remains of a speedy reconciliation with Great Britain, the Congress have resolved, "that no obedience being due to the Act of Parliament for altering the Charter of the Colony of the Massachusetts-Bay, nor to a Governour or Lieutenant-Governour, who will not observe the directions of, but endeavour to subvert that Charter, the Governour and Lieutenant-Governour of that Colony are to be considered as absent, and their offices vacant; and, as there is no Council there, and inconveniences arising from the suspension of the powers of Government are intolerable, especially at a time when General Gage hath actually levied war, and is carrying on hostilities against His Majesty's peaceable and loyal subjects of that Colony; that in order to conform as nearly as may be to the spirit and substance of the Charter, it be recommended to the Provincial Convention to write letters to the inhabitants of the several places which are entitled to representation in Assembly, requesting them to choose such Representatives; and that the Assembly, when chosen, do elect Counsellors, and that such Assembly and Council exercise the powers of Government until a Governour of His Majesty's appointment will consent to govern the Colony according to its Charter." In pursuance of which advice, the good people of this Colony have chosen a full and free representation of themselves, who, being convened in Assembly, have elected a Council, who, as the Executive branch of Government, have constituted necessary officers through the Colony. The present generation, therefore, may be congratulated on the acquisition of a form of Government more immediately, in all its branches, under the influence and control of the people, and, therefore, more free and happy than was enjoyed by their ancestors. But as a Government so popular can be supported only by universal knowledge and virtue in the body of the people, it is the duty of all ranks to promote the means of education for the rising generation, as well as true religion, purity of manners, and integrity of life, among all orders and degrees.

As an Army has become necessary for our defence, and, in all free states, the civil must provide for and control the military power; the major part of the Council have appointed Magistrates and Courts of Justice in every County, whose happiness is so connected with that of the people, that it is difficult to suppose they can abuse their trust. The business of it is to see those laws enforced which are necessary for the preservation of peace, virtue, and good order; and, the Great and General Court expects, and requires, that all necessary support and assistance be given, and all proper obedience yielded to them, and will deem every person who shall fail of his duty, in this respect towards them, a disturber of the peace of this Colony, and deserving of exemplary punishment.

That piety and virtue, which alone can secure the freedom of any people, be encouraged, and vice and immorality suppressed, the Great and General Court have thought fit to issue this Proclamation, commanding and enjoining it upon the good people of this Colony, that they lead sober, religious, and peaceable lives, avoiding all blasphemies, contempt of the Holy Scriptures, and of the Lord's day, and all other crimes and misdemeanors; all debauchery, profaneness, corruption, venality, all riotous and tumultuary proceedings, and all immoralities whatsoever; and that they decently and reverently attend the publick worship of God, at all times acknowledging, with gratitude, his merciful interposition in their behalf, devoutly confiding in Him as the God of armies, by whose favour and protection alone they may hope for success in their present conflict.

And all Judges, Justices, Sheriffs, Grand-Jurors, Tything-men, and all other civil officers within this Colony, are hereby strictly enjoined and commanded, that they contribute all in their power, by their advice, exertions and examples, towards a general reformation of manners; and that they bring to condign punishment every person who shall commit any of the crimes or misdemeanors aforesaid, or that shall be guilty of any immoralities whatsoever; and that they use their utmost endeavours to have the resolves of the Congress, and the good and wholesome laws of this Colony, duly carried into execution.

And as the Ministers of the Gospel within this Colony, having, during the late relaxation of the powers of civil Government, exerted themselves for our safety, it is hereby recommended to them still to continue their virtuous labours for the good of the people, inculcating, by their publick ministry and private example, the necessity of religion, morality, and good order.

In Council: Ordered, That the foregoing Proclamation be read at the opening of every Superior Court of Judicature, &c., and Inferior Court of Common Pleas, and Court of General Sessions of the Peace, within this Colony, by their respective Clerks, and at the annual Town-Meetings, in March, in each town; and, it is hereby recommended to the several Ministers of the Gospel, throughout this Colony, to read the same in their respective assemblies, on the Lord's day next after their receiving it, immediately after Divine service.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the request of his Excellency General Washington, relative to raising one Regiment, to consist of seven hundred and twenty-eight men, including officers, agreeable to the Continental establishment, to reinforce the Army in Canada, be forthwith complied with; and that the said Regiment be enlisted from the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, to continue in the service of the United Colonies until the 1st of January next, if required thereto; and that the Field-Officers be now appointed, by ballot, of one House of Assembly, and concurrence of the other; and, when chosen, the said officers be commissioned by the Council, and ordered on their service of recruiting without delay.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Committee appointed for erecting a Powder-Mill for this Colony, be, and they hereby are directed, to cause the same to be built at Stoughton, without delay, and to exert themselves for executing this most important and necessary business, in preference to any other engagement which they may be at present under to this Court, and to cause the same to be constructed in such manner as shall appear to them most advantageous.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the honourable House, to know if the Board had concurred with a Resolve of the House, for raising a Regiment in the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire.

Mr. John Adams went down with a message to the House, to inform that the Board had concurred in said Resolve.

In the House of Representatives: The House proceeded, by ballot, to choose the Field-Officers for the Regiment to be raised in the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, to reinforce the Continental Army in Canada, agreeable to a Resolve of this day, and unanimously made choice of Elisha Porter, Esq., Colonel; Thomas Williams, Esq., Lieutenant-Colonel; and Mr. Abner Morgan, Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Saturday, January 20, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Hollen, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Commissary-General be directed to inform his Excellency General Washington, that he has a number of Blankets by him, and is ready to deliver them, and such as shall come in to his order, for which he is to take a receipt.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the House, desiring that his Excellency General Washington's Letter, relative to raising a Regiment to go to Canada, might be sent down.

Mr. Spooner went down with the above Letter.

In Council: Whereas, Benjamin Lincoln, John Taylor, and Benjamin White, Esquires, have received out of the publick Treasury, the sum of eight thousand Pounds one Shilling, and one Pound sixteen Shillings, of the Selectmen of Hopkinton, for three blankets overpaid that town;

The Committee, therefore, have examined the said Accounts, and find they were such only as had been examined, allowed, and passed upon by the Committee appointed by the honourable House, and concurred by the said Benjamin and others, the Committee of Council, that they were well vouched, and right cast, and have presented said Accounts with the vouchers, to be lodged in the Secretary's Office; that the said Benjamin Lincoln, John Taylor, and Benjamin White, Esquires, have faithfully discharged the trust reposed in them, and find a balance of sixteen Pounds, nineteen Shillings and three-fourths of a Penny, due to them, which they have advanced for this Colony; that the examination of the said Accounts, by said Committee, was made the 18th instant, and does not include any payments made since that time; and that the order received on the 19th instant, for three thousand Pounds, on the Treasurer, was not included in the above said sum of eight thousand Pounds.

Therefore, Resolved, That the said Benjamin Lincoln, John Taylor, and Benjamin White, Esquires, be, and they are hereby discharged from the sum of eight thousand Pounds, which they received out of the publick Treasury, and the sum of one Pound sixteen Shillings, received for Blankets; also, that there be allowed and paid out of the publick Treasury, to Benjamin Lincoln, John Taylor, and Benjamin White, Esquires, the sum of sixteen Pounds, nineteen Shillings and three-fourths of a Penny, in full, for so much advanced in payment of Accounts for this Colony.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned till to-morrow, twelve o'clock.*

* SALEM, January 19, 1776.—MR. ADAMS: I had wrote you several posts before my hearing you was returned. I should be very glad if you and Mrs. Adams could take a turn this way before you return to Philadelphia again.

I had lately a schooner arrived, with some powder, at Barnstable, rather better than three hundred pounds, which was disposed of there, as the people wanted it much. I understand that any person importing powder shall be entitled to ship the value of it in fish, and to bring the produce thereof in powder. As such, I should be glad to have a certificate from the proper persons authorized to give one. I want to ship the fish in a different bottom, which cannot make any odds, as both belong to me. I should be glad to have liberty for one hundred and eighty quintals of fish, being about the amount of the powder. The powder was imported in the schooner Sally, Ebenezer Nickerson, master, from St. Eustatius, and now want to ship the fish by the schooner Endeavour, Jesse Harding, for the West-Indies.

Your assisting the bearer in procuring the above, will oblige your humble servant, ISAAC SMITH.

To the Honourable John Adams, Esq., Watertown.

MR. ADAMS presents his compliments to Mr. Cushing, Mr. Palmer, Mr. Gerry, and the other gentlemen at Mr. Hunt's, and begs the favour of them to assist the bearer in the business mentioned in the within letter.

IN COUNCIL, January 20, 1776: Read, and Ordered, That Mr. Isaac Smith have liberty to export one hundred and fifty quintals of Fish to the West-Indies, being about the value of the Powder he lately imported into this Colony, he giving bond to the Committee of Inspection of the town from which he may export said Fish, that he will lay out the nett proceeds of the same in Powder, Saltpetre, or Sulphur, provided they are to be had at the ports he may go to, and bring the same into some port in this Colony, Boston and Nantucket excepted.

JOHN LOWELL, Deputy Secretary pro tem.

COUNCIL-CHAMBER, WATERTOWN, January 20, 1776: Whereas, Isaac Smith, Esq., late of Boston, has imported into the town of Barnstable, within this Colony, in the schooner Sally, Ebenezer Nickerson, master, from St. Eustatius, a quantity of Powder:

Ordered, Agreeable to a Resolution of the American Congress, of the 15th of July last, that he be, and hereby is permitted to export one hundred and fifty quintals of Fish to the West-Indies, (being about the value of said Powder,) in the schooner Endeavour, Jesse Harding, master, he, the said Isaac Smith, giving bond to the Committee of Inspection for the town from which he may export the said Fish, that he will lay out the nett proceeds of the same in Powder, Saltpetre, or Sulphur, provided they are to be had at the port to which said vessel may go, and import the same into any ports within this Colony, Boston and Nantucket excepted.

WATERTOWN, January 20, 1776.—This may certify that Isaac Smith, Esquire, had a vessel, Ebenezer Nickerson, master, called the Sally, arrived at Barnstable, from St. Eustatius, with three hundred and fifty weight of gunpowder, which was landed there, as I am informed by letter. Your Honours' most humble servant, JOSEPH OTIS.

To the Council of the Colony of the Massachusetts-Bay.

Sabbath-Day, January 21, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the honourable House, to inform the Board that nothing was likely to come up from the House at this time, and desiring that when the Board adjourned, they would adjourn to four o'clock, this afternoon.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, this Court, at the request of his Excellency General Washington, have thought it necessary that a temporary reinforcement of the Army should be made with all possible despatch, and to effect the same, have proportioned among the several towns in this Colony such a number of men as they apprehended each town ought to raise upon the present emergency, and have appointed a Committee out of each County to assist in raising the men, and forming them when raised, into companies, which Committee are as follows:

For the County of Suffolk: Mr. Gould, Colonel Lovell, and Colonel McIntosh.

For the County of Essex: Mr. Phillips, Mr. Jewett, Mr. Hopkins, and Major Cross.

For the County of Middlesex: Colonel Spaulding, Mr. Brooks, Colonel Perry, Captain Sartle, and Mr. Bryant.

For the County of Plymouth: Captain Cushing, Colonel Cushing, and Captain White of Middleborough.

For the County of Barnstable: Colonel Otis and Colonel Cobb.

For the County of Bristol: Captain Hodges, Mr. Starkweather, and Doctor Baylies.

For the County of Worcester: Captain Parker, Mr. Fessenden, Mr. Allen, Mr. Rice, and Colonel Hill.

For the County of York: Colonel Sawyer, Mr. Sullivan, and Major Gooding.

For the County of Cumberland: Mr. Fabyan and Captain Cutler.

For the County of Lincoln: Captain Howard and Colonel Jones.

Therefore, Resolved, That the persons aforementioned, for each of the several Counties aforesaid, be, and they hereby are directed to use their utmost endeavours with the Committees of Correspondence and Safety, and the Selectmen of each town, to have the several proportions of men affixed to each town in their several Counties, raised with all possible expedition; and when raised, to form them into Companies of ninety men each, including officers, and as soon as each Company have chosen their several officers, that they cause them to march forthwith to the camp at Cambridge or Roxbury, as his Excellency General Washington shall direct.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it is of very great importance to our brethren, the Inhabitants of Canada, and to the Inhabitants of the United Colonies, especially to the western and northern Counties thereof, that the advantages gained under the smiles of Providence by the American Army, during the year last past, over the Ministerial Forces in Canada should be maintained, and the remainder of them there effectually subdued, as well as the rights and liberties of our brethren in that Colony secured: And whereas, his Excellency General Washington, has applied to each of the Colonies of Connecticut, New-Hampshire, and Massachusetts-Bay, severally, to furnish a Regiment, consisting of seven hundred and twenty-eight men, including officers, to be raised with all possible despatch, on the American establishment, and to serve the United Colonies until the 1st day of January next, if required thereto:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That a Regiment, consisting of seven hundred and twenty-eight men, be raised for the purpose aforesaid, in the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, and to be under the command of Elisha Porter, Esquire, as Colonel; Thomas Williams, Esquire, as Lieutenant-Colonel, and Abner Morgan, Esquire, as Major; who have been unanimously chosen by the General Court of this Colony to those offices, respectively; and that the commanding officer of each Company of Militia, in the towns of the said Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, hereafter-mentioned, chosen agreeable to the direction of the Provincial Congress, be, and hereby is directed to cause his Company, without delay, to be mustered; and, that out of the Company or Companies in such town, they cause to be voluntarily inlisted the number of effective men herein affixed to each town, respectively, to serve the United Colonies, on the Continental establishment, and under their Generals, until the 1st day of January next, if the service shall require it; and that each officer and soldier shall be allowed and paid for their service, respectively, the same sum, by the calendar months, as is allowed to other officers and soldiers in the establishment aforesaid; the time of service to be computed from the time of his inlistment, or entering the same, to the time of his discharge, and allowing sufficient time for his return home, that is to say, accounting one day for every twenty miles' march; also, one Penny per mile to compensate his expenses on his march to and from the camp, for so many miles as he shall bear his travelling expenses in the march aforesaid; and each non-commissioned officer and soldier shall be allowed a Blanket, or twelve Shillings to pay for the same, if he finds it himself.

And whereas, the season is severe, and the service both important and necessary,

It is further Resolved, As a further encouragement to such non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers as shall appear to inlist for the succour of their brethren in Canada, and for the defence and support of the just cause of America on this occasion, that, in addition to one month's advance wages to be paid them by his Excellency General Washington, there shall be paid them, also, out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, one other month's advance wages upon their passing muster, by a Mustermaster to be appointed by his Excellency, in full confidence that the justice of the Congress will order the same to be reimbursed; and the Treasurer is hereby ordered to pay the sum of thirteen hundred and ninety-eight Pounds eight Shillings, to Colonel Porter for that purpose, he to be accountable to this Court for the same. And the Selectmen and Committees of Correspondence and Safety of each of said towns, are requested, without fail, to afford their immediate assistance fully to effect this business with the utmost despatch, as they regard their country's and their own safety and welfare.

And it is further Resolved, That the Captains, Subalterns, and non-Commissioned Officers of the several Companies, shall be chosen by the Companies, respectively, from those inlisted, or others, and commissioned by the Council, and that the Committee appointed by this Court, in conjunction with the Field-Officers aforesaid, distribute the men inlisted as aforesaid into Companies.

The Form of the Inlistment.

We, the subscribers, do hereby severally inlist ourselves into the service of the United American Colonies, until the 1st day of January next, if the said service should require it. And each of us do engage to furnish and carry with us into the service aforesaid a good effective fire-arm and blanket, also, a good bayonet, cartridge-pouch, and a hatchet or tomahawk, or cutting sword, if possible; and we severally consent to be formed by such person, or persons, as the General Court shall appoint into a Company of ninety men, including one Captain, two Lieutenants, one Ensign, four Sergeants, four Corporals, one Drum, and one Fife, to be elected by the Company, and commissioned by the Council, and, when formed, we engage to march to Canada with the utmost expedition, and to be under such Field-Officers as the General Court have appointed, or shall appoint; and we further agree, during the time aforesaid, to be subject to such Generals, or superior officers, as are or shall be appointed, and to be under such regulations in every respect, as are provided for the aforesaid.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Monday, January 22, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chaucy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it is of great importance that the Regiment to be raised by this Colony to serve the United Colonies in Canada, should be inlisted and marched with the utmost despatch, and the appointment of the Staff-Officers by this Court, and making commissions to Captains and Subalterns for said Regiment by the Council, may occasion delay:

Resolved, That the Field-Officers of the Regiment, together with Major Pynchon, Major Ely, Colonel Field, Mr. Dickerson, Major Bliss, Colonel How, Doctor Whiting, Captain Goodrich, and Major Smith, or the major part of them, be, and they are hereby appointed a Committee to appoint a Quartermaster, an Adjutant, a Chaplain, Surgeon, and Surgeon's Mate, for said Regiment, and the honourable Board are hereby empowered to deliver to said Committee five blank warrants for the said Staff-Officers; also, a sufficient number of blank commissions for the Captains and Subalterns aforesaid, signed; and the said Committee are directed to fill up the said blank commissions with the names of such commissioned officers as the Companies shall respectively choose.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

An engrossed Bill, entitled, "An Act for regulating the Militia of this Colony," having passed the House of Representatives, to be enacted,

In Council: Read a second time, and passed a concurrence, to be enacted.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, this Court, at the request of his Excellency General Washington, have ordered that a Regiment should be raised in the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, to reinforce the Army in Canada, with all possible despatch; and, to effect the same, have proportioned among the several towns in those Counties such a number of men as they apprehend each town ought to raise, and have appointed a Committee out of each County to assist in raising the men, and forming them, when raised, into Companies, viz: Major Pynchon, Major Ely, Colonel Field, Mr. Dickerson, Major Bliss, and Colonel How, for the County of Hampshire; and Doctor Whiting, Captain Goodrich, and Major Smith, for the County of Berkshire:

Therefore, Resolved, That the said Committee be, and they hereby are directed, to use their utmost endeavours with the Field-Officers of the Regiment to be raised as aforesaid, and the Committees of Correspondence and Safety, and the Selectmen of each town, within their respective Counties, to have the several proportions of men affixed to each town, therein raised with all possible expedition, and, when raised, to form them into Companies of ninety men each, including officers, and, as soon as each Company has chosen their several officers, that they cause them to march forthwith into Canada.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, a certain Act, entitled, "An Act for establishing and regulating the Fees of the several Officers within this Province, hereafter mentioned," made and passed at the Session of the Great and General Court of this Colony begun and held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, upon Wednesday, the 6th day of January, 1773, expired on the last day of October last, and, at present, there is no act or law of this Colony now in force for establishing and regulating the fees of the several officers in the said Act mentioned, excepting a certain Act made and passed in the fourth year of the reign of William and Mary, King and Queen, entitled, "An Act for regulating Fees," which last mentioned Act has, by divers temporary acts, from time to time been superseded and suspended as unsalutary, and the fees thereby settled and established appear to be, in many instances, extravagant and unreasonable:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That henceforward, until the further order of the General Court, it shall be lawful for all Officers named and mentioned in the Act first above-mentioned, to take and receive for the several services therein specified, such, and no higher Fees, than the Fees or sums of money specified in the first-mentioned Act, and be subject to the pains and penalties there provided for offences against the same.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of James Curtis, of Brunswick, setting forth: "that he raised a Company of fifty men, and was ordered by Colonel Phinney to march them to Head-Quarters, where we arrived the 30th day of July, and, on the 9th day of August, received orders from the honourable Council to return to Deer-Island, in the County of Lincoln, under the command of Colonel James Cargill. Your petitioner would further set forth, that he has made up his muster-rolls upon the establishment, until he received orders, and, also, his rolls, from said 9th of August, upon the sea-coast, and has been at great cost and charge therein, and still at great charge, and the honourable Committee refuses to pass said rolls, by reason they are not made up to and from the 1st day of August, and, also, refuses to allow the men their coats and blankets, according to establishment they insisted in, when they marched to Head-Quarters without your Honours' approbation. Your petitioner prays your Honours would allow them the same as others that insisted upon the establishment."

The Committee chosen to take into consideration the Petition of Captain James Curtis, beg leave to report, as their opinion, that said Curtis have leave to make up his Muster Roll, from the time the men insisted to the 9th day of August, but cannot find that they are entitled to any Coats or Blankets.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and accepted, and Resolved, That the Committee on Muster-Rolls be directed to pass upon said Curtis's Roll, when made up agreeable to the above Report, on the establishment of the Army.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Treasurer be directed to pay the two thousand Pounds which the Court have this day resolved to lend Joseph Trumbull, Esq., Commissary-General of the Continental Army, in Continental Bills, if the said Trumbull shall desire it.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

* COUNCIL-CHAMBER, January 22, 1776.—GENTLEMEN: Your instructions to Mr. Wigglesworth and Mr. Hodge, requesting them to pursue William Miller and Margaret Gzantz, were laid before this Board, with the letters which were taken with them.

The Board fully approve of the vigilance of your Committee, and are of opinion that the escape of those persons, especially Miller, might be dangerous to the country, and to your town in particular. We have, therefore, directed that they return to Newburyport, and be under the care and inspection of your Committee, and, unless William Miller shall

Tuesday, January 23, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Seyer, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

The Committee appointed by both Houses to consider the propriety of commissioning such Captains and Lieutenants as marched and joined the Continental Army from the Militia, with full Companies, in pursuance with the Resolve of the General Court, on the 1st day of December last, have attended their duty, and are of opinion, that the commissioning all the Captains and Lieutenants in the order in which they were chosen by their respective companies, as they marched into the camp, is what said officers expected, and, as they have done the duty, sustained the office, and expect the pay due to them by the establishment of the Continental Army, your Committee conclude they ought to be commissioned; therefore, beg leave to report a resolve for that purpose:

Resolved, That all the Captains and Lieutenants marched into the camp, as a temporary reinforcement to the Continental Army, by order of this Court of the first of last month, be now commissioned by the Council, agreeable to the several ranks, and in the order in which they were chosen by their respective Companies, any thing in a Resolve of this Court, of the 13th instant, to the contrary notwithstanding; and that said commissions bear date the 10th of last month, the day on which most of them arrived in the camp.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Joseph Deane, setting forth: "that he has, for several years past, used the Surinam trade; in consequence, a very considerable part of his interest, to the amount of five hundred pounds, now remains in the hands of the merchants in that place, the time limited for the payment of which has already expired. Your petitioner begs leave further to represent to the honourable Court, that he last spring purchased a bill of exchange, to the amount of five hundred pounds more, drawn by a Dutch merchant there on his correspondent in Amsterdam, which bill has since come back protested to your petitioner, both of which sums must be infallibly lost to your memorialist in case of failure of any of his debtors (which, at this day, is not improbable.) He, therefore, prays your Honours to grant him liberty to sail from this Colony to Surinam in a brigantine which he now has by him, and lying totally useless, in order to secure the aforesaid sums. He means not, nor does he wish to contravene the Resolves of the American Congress, or the regulations made by this Colony. He, therefore, only asks permission to carry empty molasses casks enough to bring home the proceeds of his said debt in the produce of Surinam, and the rest ballast. He intends, if by any means can be obtained, to purchase a cargo of powder; but as this is a matter altogether uncertain, and as molasses casks cannot be procured in Surinam, he prays your Honours to grant him the permission above prayed for.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to the Committee appointed the 15th current, to consider the subject-matter of Thomas Russell's Petition.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee of both Houses on the above Petition, have attended that service, and having considered the same, report the following Resolve:

Resolved, That Joseph Deane be allowed to send the Brigantine in his Petition mentioned, to the foreign West-Indies, in order to collect any moneys which may be due to him there, he giving bonds with sufficient sureties in the sum of one thousand Pounds to the Treasurer of this Colony, that he will not export in said brigantine any cash or produce of the Colonies. And it is recommended to the said Joseph Deane, to purchase and return here Arms, Ammunition, or any species of Military Stores enumerated in a late Resolution of the Congress, if they are to be obtained.

give such security as you may think safe for the publick, as, also, for your town, that he will not depart the town of Newburyport, unless by leave of this Board, and that he will not hold any correspondence with the enemies of American liberty, you are further empowered to commit him to close confinement, until the further order of this Board.

In the name, and by order of the Council:

W. SEYER.

To the Committee of Safety of Newburyport.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Petition of Thomas Russell, late of Charlestown, setting forth: "that he has now due to him considerable sums of money from the foreign West-India Islands, for the recovery of which he conceives there are no possible means, if the intercourse between them and us is totally stopped. That your petitioner is also possessed of a small schooner, of which Matthew Groves is master, now in the harbour of Salem, the inactivity of which, if a total stagnation of trade takes place, your Honours are doubtless sensible must prove a dead loss.

"That your petitioner proposes by no means to export the produce of this Province to the foreign West-Indies, but to sail in ballast, and make a return with the commodities of said foreign Islands; wherefore, and considering the amazing scarcity, and consequently high price of West-India commodities, your petitioner prays that the said schooner may be permitted to perform said voyage."

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Speaker, Mr. Hopkins, and Colonel Sawyer, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider at large the subject-matter of the within Petition, and report.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and William Sever and John Winthrop, Esquires, are joined.

The Committee of both Houses on the Petition of Thomas Russell, have attended that service, and having considered the same, report the following:

Resolved, That Thomas Russell be allowed to send the schooner, of which Matthew Groves is master, to the foreign West-Indies, in order to collect any moneys which may be due to him there, he giving bonds, with sufficient sureties, in the sum of one thousand Pounds, to the Treasurer of this Colony, that he will not export in said schooner any cash or produce of the Colonies. And it is hereby recommended to the said Thomas Russell, to direct the master of said vessel to purchase Arms, Ammunition, or any kind of Military Stores enumerated in a late Resolution of the Congress, if they are to be obtained.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

— Wednesday, January 24, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Adams, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, there are two Companies, of seventy-five men each, raised and stationed at the Elizabeth-Islands, by a former Resolve of this Court, and it being apprehended that one of those Companies will be sufficient to guard those Islands till the first day of April next, and as it is of importance to reinforce the Continental Army before Boston, with the greatest expedition,

Therefore, it is Resolved, That the Committee for raising men, in the County of Barnstable, be directed to include in the proportion of men to be raised in that County, one company of said men stationed at the Elizabeth-Islands aforesaid, in case they will inlist; and all such officers and soldiers of them, who shall inlist and engage in the service of the Continental Army, till the said first day of April, shall receive the same allowance for travelling to and from the camp, as also the same wages as others raised for the purpose of reinforcing the said Continental Army, and shall be released from their service at the said Elizabeth-Islands till the first day of April next, and then shall return to that service and establishment again; and if one set of officers shall inlist one company of seventy-five men of said companies, stationed at said Islands, they shall, in that case, be the officers of that company, and may fill up, by inlistment, the remainder of the company, to make up ninety men in the whole, including officers, and the whole of said company shall then proceed to the choice of an Ensign, to serve till the first day of April.

And whereas, Barachiah Bassett, Esq., was appointed by this Court as a Major, to command the forces stationed at the Islands aforesaid, at Martha's Vineyard, and his attention to said service, till the first of April next, being thought unnecessary, and the said Bassett being chosen as a Lieutenant-Colonel by this Court, for the regiment to be raised in the Counties of Plymouth and Barnstable, to reinforce the Continental Army till the said first day of April,

Therefore, it is further Resolved, That the said Barachiah Bassett, Esq., be released from his service at said Island, until the first day of April, and then return to said station and establishment.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, in Continental Bills, to the Honourable John Hancock, Samuel Adams, John Adams, Robert Treat Paine, and Elbridge Gerry, Esquires, Delegates from this Colony in Continental Congress, the sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds each, to enable the said gentlemen to defray their expenses and support the dignity of their office, they to be accountable to the General Court for the same.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

— Thursday, January 25, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Charles Chauncy, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Receiver-General have liberty to pay the fifty thousand Pounds which this Court have offered to lend his Excellency General Washington, either in Continental Bills or other money.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Doctor Samuel Langdon, President of Harvard College, the sum of one hundred Pounds, in full for the balance of his services for one year, ending 14th of October, 1775.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Major Joseph Hawley, the sum of three hundred and twelve Pounds sixteen Shillings, to be delivered to Colonel Elisha Porter, Esquire, to be by him paid to such of his soldiers as shall provide themselves with a blanket.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Resolved, That all Fire-Arms and Cartridge-boxes belonging to this Colony, or to any town within the same, and which are or shall be in the hands of any officer or soldier belonging to this Government, shall, when such officer or soldier is discharged the service, be lodged either with the Commissary-General of this Colony, or with the Quartermaster-General, his Deputies, or the Ordnance Storekeeper of the Continental Army, who shall give his receipt for the same, taking care particularly to mention whether they belong to the Colony, or any particular town in the Colony, and if to any town, to what town and in what County; which receipt the Receiver-General is hereby directed to annex to the roll of the company to which such officer or soldier belongs, and pay all such stoppages as shall have been made for the same, without any special warrant from the Council therefor; and the Treasurer is also hereby directed, upon his receiving any receipt of the Quartermaster-General, his Deputies, or the Ordnance Storekeeper of the Continental Army, for any arm, or arms, cartridge-box or boxes, which have been delivered him by any officer or soldier belonging to this Government, to charge the Continent with the arms and cartridge-boxes so delivered.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Whereas, upon inquiry, it doth not appear that many of the Inhabitants of the Island of Martha's Vineyard, ever had a disposition to supply the enemy with Provisions, and it doth not appear by the Resolve of the 9th of December last, that they were suspected of corruptly doing the same; and such measures having been taken as (in all probability) will prevent the enemy from being supplied from that Island, and the Inhabitants thereof must suffer while under the aforementioned restraint,

Therefore, Resolved, That the order of this Court, of the 9th of December last, so far as it respects Martha's Vineyard only, be, and hereby is, annulled, and that this Resolve be printed in the Cambridge and Watertown Papers.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

The Memorial of the Selectmen of the Town of Sherburne, on the Island of Nantucket, at the request of a number of the Inhabitants, humbly sheweth: "that your memorialists are deeply concerned to find that there is a resolve of the General Assembly of this Colony, forbidding any importation of fuel or provisions into this town; and that it is recommended to the United Colonies to afford no further supplies, by reason, as we apprehend, of some misrepresentation being made of our past conduct.

"Your memorialists beg leave further to represent, that such restraint will, in its operation, in a very short time, subject the inhabitants to extreme distress, as there is already great complaint for want of fuel and other necessities. Numbers of families begin to feel the pressing calls of hunger and want; therefore, your memorialists beg your attention to a resolve of the Continental Congress of the 11th of December last, founded in humanity, as they say, pointing out the necessity of said town's being further supplied through a Committee of this Colony. Your memorialists, therefore, humbly request, that said restraint recommended to the other Colonies, may be recalled, or otherwise, as your Honours shall think proper.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to Colonel Freeman, Mr. Brown, of Boston, and Mr. Davis, of Barnstable, with such as the honourable Board may join, and the Committee are directed to report what is proper to be done.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and John Winthrop and Charles Chauncy, Esquires, are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, there has no establishment been made for the General Officers appointed by the Congress of this Colony, for their service in the Massachusetts Army, from the time they entered into said service, until they were put into the pay of the Continent, or were otherwise discharged:

Therefore, Resolved, That there be allowed, and paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to the General Officers appointed by the Congress of this Colony for their services in the Massachusetts Army, from the time they entered into said service, until they were put into the pay of the Continent, or were otherwise discharged at the several rates following, viz: The Honourable General Ward, who served this Colony as Commander-in-chief, twenty-one Pounds per month; To General Thomas, who served this Colony as Lieutenant-General, eighteen Pounds per month; and to Generals Whitcomb, Heath, Frye, and Pomeroy, sixteen Pounds per month—each accounting twenty-eight days to a month; and, they are hereby respectively desired to make up their Accounts accordingly, and lodge them with the Secretary of this Colony, for examination and allowance of the Committee on the Muster-Rolls of the Army.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, January 26, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whitcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Captain Batchelder came up with a message from the House to inform the Board, that the House had assigned this day, at twelve o'clock, to come to the choice of Guardians for the Hassanimesco Tribe of Indians, at Grafton, if agreeable to the honourable Board.

Jabez Fisher, Esq., went down with a message to the House, to inform them that the Board agreed to the foregoing proposal of the honourable House.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, this Court observe, that in consistency with the letter of the purview of their Resolve of the 19th December last, relative to the compensating the loss of Arms, Accoutrements and Clothing, sustained by certain persons who engaged the Ministerial forces, on the 19th of April and 17th of June last past; accounts of losses may be exhibited to the Committee of this Court from officers and privates, not so much as raised by this Colony, and others may make a claim of compensation for losses, which losses were not caused by their being actually engaged in fight with the Ministerial troops on the days aforesaid, or either of them, which is evidently diverse, and without the true intent and design of the Court at the time of their passing the said Resolve, as appears from the preamble thereof, as well as the justice and reason of the case.

It is, therefore, Resolved, That the aforesaid Resolve of the 19th December last ought not to be taken or construed to extend to any Commissioned, non-Commissioned Officers or Privates, who, on the said 19th day of April or 17th of June, or either of them, were not on the establishment of this Colony, or to losses which were not caused by such persons having been actually engaged in battle against the Ministerial troops on the said days, or either of them, and no Committee or Committees of this Court, or either House appointed to consider of the claims of persons for compensation of losses, in consequence of the said Resolve of the 19th December, ought to allow, or report in favour of an allowance of any such claim, without satisfactory evidence that the person, or persons, making such claim was on the establishment of this Colony, and that he was actually engaged in fight with the said Ministerial troops.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Ordered, That Jedediah Foster and Michael Farley, Esquires, be a Committee on the part of the Board to count and sort the votes for Guardians to the Hassanimesco Tribe of Indians, at Grafton; who reported that the number of votes were:

On the part of the Board, - - - - -	9
On the part of the House, - - - - -	55
Total, - - - - -	64

Thirty-three made a vote; and that Edward Rawson, Esquire, had 64, Stephen Maynard had 48, Deacon Hall had 45, and were accordingly chosen.

The Committee appointed to arrange the Militia through the Colony reported:

That there be four Regiments formed in the County of Plymouth, in the manner following, viz:

South Regiment, on the West side of the river: West-Springfield, Westfield, Southwick, Granville, Blanford, Murrayfield.

Middle Regiment, on the West side of the river: Northampton, Hatfield, Whately, Williamsburgh, Chesterfield, (with the Gore,) Southampton, Worthington, Norwich, Number-Five.

Middle Regiment, on the East side of the river: Hadley, South-Hadley, Granby, Belchertown, Ware, Greenwich, Pelham, Amherst.

North Regiment, on the East side of the river: Northfield, Sunderland, Leverett, Shutesbury, New-Salem, Ervingshire, Montague, Warwick.

North Regiment, on the West side of the river: Deerfield, Greenfield, Charlemont and Ward's Grants, Merryfield, Colerain, Barnardstown, Shelburne, Conway, Ashfield, Hatfield Equivalent, Number-Seven, N. Town.

Which divisions were read, and accepted.

In Council: Whereas, by a Resolve of the General Court of the 25th instant, the Receiver-General is directed to pay out such sums as are ordered to be stopped on the pay-rolls, for supplies of arms and cartridge-boxes to the officers and soldiers, made by any town in this Colony, without a special warrant from the Council therefor; which Resolve does not extend to such supplies made by the officers to the men borne on their respective rolls:

Therefore, Resolved, That the Receiver-General be, and he hereby is directed to pay out the Stoppages made by the Officers for Arms and Cartridge-Boxes, by them supplied, in the same manner as for those supplied by the towns.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That be a Committee to examine the Accounts of this Court for fixing out Armed Vessels, and the Resolves of the American Congress relative to the capture of Vessels.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and William Sever and Thomas Cushing, Esquires, are joined.

The Committee appointed to arrange the Militia, reported that there be two Regiments formed in the County of Berkshire, in manner following, viz:

South Regiment: Sheffield, Great-Barrington, Egremont, New-Marlbrough, Sandersfield, Tyringham, Alford, Lowden.

North Regiment: Stockbridge, West-Stockbridge, The Glassworks, Lenox, Richmond, Pittsfield, Lonesborough, Jericho, Becket, Hartwood, Partridgefield, Gageborough, New-Providence, New-Ashford, Williamstown, East-Hoosick.

That there be six Regiments formed in the County of Lincoln, in the manner following, to wit:

First Regiment: Georgetown, Woolwich, Topsham, Bowdoinham, and the South Company in the East Precinct of the Town of Pownalborough.

Second Regiment: North Company in the East Precinct of Pownalborough, the Company in the West Precinct in said town, the Plantation called Bathtown as far East as Dyer's Rizer, the Plantation called Gardnerstown, Hallowell, Winthrop, Vassalborough, Winslow, with the adjacent Settlement on Kennebeck-River.

Third Regiment: Booth-Bay, Edgecomb, Newcastle, Bristol, Plantation called Walpole, and adjacent Settlements on the Danascotta-Pond.

Fourth Regiment: Waldoborough, Plantation called St. George's and Meduncook, Camden, Belfast, with all the Settlements on the western side of Penobscot-River.

Fifth Regiment: All the Settlements lying between Penobscot-River and Union-River.

Sixth Regiment: All the Settlements between the river called the Union and St. Croix.

Which divisions were read, and accepted.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to morrow morning.*

*To the Committee of Safety of the Town of NEWBURYPORT, Greeting: You are hereby requested to take into your custody and safe-keeping, William Erwin, Henry Wilkinson, mariners, John Gopety, rope-maker, John Wilson, nailer, Joseph Lushly, mariner, James Kendel, weaver, John McMaine, carpenter, and Robert Hute, cook, lately taken prisoners in the ship Jenny, and brought into Gloucester, and to put them to such employment as you shall find them, individually, best qualified for; and if, by their conduct or conversation you may think it most conducive to the publick safety that they be confined in jail, or otherwise, you are hereby authorized and empowered to cause them, or any of them, to be apprehended and put into close confinement, until the further order of the major part of the Council.

Letter from John Dickinson, one of the Committee of Correspondence for the Town of Hatfield, relative to the conduct of Elisha Ellis, Jun.

In Council: Read, and sent down.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to Mr. Cooper and Colonel Thompson, with such as the honourable Board may join.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Foster is joined.

Petition of John Underwood, (Blank.)

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, this Court on the 5th day of January current, passed a Resolve empowering Mr. Putnam, Mr. Crane, and Mr. Vose, to purchase the remains of a Powder-Mill at Stoughton, and land and privileges convenient to improve the same, or purchase a privilege for, and erect one at Sutton, as they, after having consulted the Master-Workman who shall undertake the same, shall judge expedient. And whereas, by a Resolve of this Court of the 19th day of January current, the said Committee were directed to build the said Mill at Stoughton, but the Committee aforesaid were not invested with sufficient power to hire the Land and Stream at Stoughton, but are restricted to purchase the same,

Therefore, Resolved, That the Committee aforesaid be, and they hereby are fully authorized and empowered to purchase or hire, as they shall judge meet, the Land and advantageous Stream at Stoughton, where they have, or shall agree to erect a Powder-Mill for such a term of years, and for such yearly rent as they shall think proper, and that they, in behalf of this Colony, take a deed or lease of the same, as they shall agree to purchase or hire.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, by a Resolve of this Court, dated January 4, a Committee of this Court was appointed and directed to purchase and collect a number of Blankets for the use of the Continental Army, to deliver the same to the Commissary-General of the Colony, and take his receipt therefor, after which, an order passed this Court, dated January 18, that the Blankets collected in the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, be stayed for the use of the Regiment to be raised in the

To the Committee of Safety of the Town of GLOUCESTER, or Committee of Correspondence of said town, Greeting:

You are hereby requested to take into your custody and safe-keeping, William Wood, master, and Robert Ayles, mate, lately taken prisoners in the ship Jenny, and brought into your port. You are desired to see that they do not pass out of the limits of the Town of Gloucester on any pretence whatever; and, if they, or either of them, shall attempt it, or if, for any other reason, you may think it to publick safety to confine them, you are hereby authorized and empowered, in either of such cases, to cause the said Wood and Ayles, or either of them, to be apprehended and put under close confinement, till the further order of the major part of the Council.

In the name, and by order of the Council: WILLIAM SEVER.

COUNCIL-CHAMBER, January 26, 1776.

In Council, January 26, 1776: It having been represented to the Council, that some time last fall, his Honour General Ward, directed that one Haswell, an officer of the British navy, and now on half pay, be removed from Hull, (or Nantasket), to the Town of Hingham, there to be supported at the publick expense; and that he was removed accordingly, and there remains with his family. And it having, also, been represented that it is unfit for him to remain there, considering the situation of said town, that it borders on Boston harbour; that it is but a few miles from whence, now and generally, the ships-of-war ride; that the said Haswell, may with ease correspond with their officers; that he has evidenced himself to be unfriendly to the interest of the United Colonies, by frequently making such false representations among the inhabitants as tend to cause divisions, to strengthen our enemies, to intimidate and weaken our friends.

It is therefore, Resolved, That Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., wait on his Excellency General Washington, and lay before him this state of the matter, and request that he would direct that said Haswell, with his family, be removed to some inland town, or otherways disposed of, as his Excellency shall think proper.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

above Counties for the Canada expedition, which Blankets, for the County of Hampshire in particular, were stayed accordingly, before they arrived at the Commissary's Office, and, by a Resolve of January 22, were ordered to be delivered to Colonel Elisha Porter, for the use of his Regiment upon the Canada expedition, by reason of which, the Committee for collecting of Blankets for the County of Hampshire, cannot obtain the Commissary's receipt for the Blankets collected in said County :

Therefore, Resolved, That when the Committee, who were directed to procure Blankets in the County of Hampshire, shall produce a receipt for the same from Col. Elisha Porter, or the major part of the Selectmen of any town in the County of Hampshire, where such Blankets shall be deposited, certifying the number and value thereof, and that they were received for the use of Colonel Porter's Regiment, it shall be accepted and allowed in the same manner as if the same had been under the hand of the Commissary-General of this Colony.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned till ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, January 30, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Caleb Cushing, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In Council: Ordered, That Moses Gill, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to examine what number of Sheets of the value of ten Pounds sixteen Shillings each, and what number of Sheets of the value of one Pound four Shillings, of the emission for seventy-five thousand Pounds, have been stamped or struck off, and to separate and put into different bundles each sort of Sheets, marking the value of each bundle, and make report to this Court what number of Sheets there are of each denomination.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred; and Captain Bragdon and Captain Stone are joined.

The Committee appointed by both Houses to examine what number of Sheets of the value of ten Pounds sixteen Shillings each, and what number of Sheets of the value of one Pound four Shillings each, of the emission for seventy-five thousand Pounds, have been stamped or struck off, and to separate and put into different bundles each sort of Sheets, and make report to this Court what number of Sheets there are of each denomination, have, agreeable to order of Court, attended the Committee for signing and numbering said Bills, into whose hands the whole of said emission is committed, and have critically inspected and sorted the Sheets of each denomination and put them into different bundles, find, upon a due and accurate examination, that there is now in the hands of said Committee two thousand nine hundred and forty-eight sheets, of ten Pounds sixteen Shillings each, amounting to thirty-one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight Pounds eight Shillings; also, five thousand two hundred and fifty Sheets of twenty-four Shillings each, amounting to six thousand three hundred Pounds; and, that the Committee for signing the Bills is possessed of the Treasurer's receipt for three thousand three hundred of the large Sheets, amounting to thirty-five thousand six hundred and forty Pounds, and one thousand of the small Sheets, amounting to twelve hundred Pounds, which, together with the Sheets in the Committee's hands, is as follows:

Six thousand two hundred and fifty Sheets, at twenty-four Shillings each, is seven thousand five hundred Pounds; and six thousand two hundred and forty-eight Sheets, at ten Pounds sixteen Shillings, is sixty-seven thousand four hundred and seventy-eight Pounds six Shillings. The whole of said emission, as now estimated, is seventy-four thousand nine hundred and seventy-eight Pounds eight Shillings; two sheets of the largest sum wanting, to complete the seventy-five thousand Pounds ordered to be emitted.

Your Committee, also, find a surplusage of eleven Sheets of the smallest denomination in the Committee's hands, and conclude there must be some mixture of Sheets, either in the hands of the Treasurer or Committee of Council, for discharging the publick accounts: therefore, beg leave to report, as their opinion, that it will be necessary to appoint a Committee to examine the Sheets of each denomination in the Treasurer and Committee of Council's hands, and Committee of Clothing, in order that all mistakes respecting the last emission may be rectified.

MOSES GILL, per order.

In Council: Read, and recommitted; and the Committee are directed to examine the Sheets of each denomination in the Treasurer's, Committee of Council's, and Committee of Clothing's hands.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it appears to this Court that the sum of sixty Pounds, now in the hands of Thomas Crafts, Jun., Edward Proctor, Winthrop Gray, and Daniel Sigourney, was the property of Joseph Goldthwait, a noted enemy to the rights of America, and now actually employed in the Ministerial army in Boston,

Resolved, That the before-mentioned Thomas Crafts, Jun., Edward Proctor, Winthrop Gray, and Daniel Sigourney be, and are hereby directed to pay the above-mentioned sum of sixty Pounds into the hands of Henry Gardner, Esq., Treasurer and Receiver-General for this Colony, there to remain for the further order of the General Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid, out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Thomas Crafts, Jun., Edward Proctor, Winthrop Gray, and Daniel Sigourney, or to any two of them, the sum of two hundred Pounds, they being a Committee of the Court to receive the inhabitants of Boston at Chelsea.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Wednesday, January 31, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Caleb Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Mr. Mills came up with a message from the House, desiring that the honourable Board would send down the division and arrangements of the several Regiments.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the House, desiring the honourable Board to take upon themselves the trouble to arrange the Regiments of the County of Hampshire, there being but one or two Members from that County now in the House.

In Council: Whereas, the General Court have received such information as that there is reason to apprehend a confederacy is forming by some evil-minded persons in this and other Colonies, which may injure the credit of the Continental Bills, and the Bills of this and the other Colonies,

Therefore, Resolved, That it be recommended to the Committees of Inspection and Correspondence in all the towns in this Colony, to make strict inquiry in their several towns, and if they shall find any person within the same endeavouring, in any way whatever, to prevent the credit of the Continental Bills, or the Bills of this, or any other of the United Colonies of America, or to alter or counterfeit the same, that they cause such person to be arrested and secured, and give information thereof to this Court, in order that such person may be proceeded with according to the just demerits of such high crimes and misdemeanours, and that this Resolve be published in all the Newspapers in this Colony.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That it be an instruction to the Committee appointed to bring in a Bill to prevent the bodies of Soldiers to be arrested for debt, or their estates attached in certain cases: In the same Bill to make provision to prevent desertion in the Army, and any person from harbouring deserters.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petitions of the Committees and others, inhabitants of the towns of Machias, Goldsborough, Number-Four, Narraguagus, Pleasant-River, and Chandler's River, in the County of Lincoln, on behalf of said inhabitants, setting forth: "that ever since the first settlement of said Townships until the last year, your petitioners comfortably supported themselves and families by exchanging their lumber for such things as they found necessary for their support; that the present unhappy situation of affairs has stopped their lumber trade, and have not the means of supporting their families, although they have vast quantities of lumber by them. Wherefore, your petitioners pray your Honours would take their deplorable situation into your wise consideration, and point out some method whereby they may support themselves, as a means of doing which they beg leave to observe to your Honours, if a sufficient quantity of provisions should be allowed them, and proper persons appointed by your Honours to receive their lumber therefor; or, if your Honours would indulge them with the loan of a sum of money, until it be in their power to repay the same by the sale of their lumber, either of which methods would, in great measure, answer the desired end.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to the aforementioned Benjamin Foster, and others, the sum of three hundred and fifty Pounds, lawful money, provided the said Benjamin Foster, and others, before-named, shall, all of them, give their bond, jointly and severally, to repay the same in one year from the date thereof, to the Treasurer of this Colony, for the use of the same; which money the aforementioned persons shall dispose of in the best manner they can, to purchase provisions for the inhabitants of Machias, Chandler's River, Goldsborough, Narragagus, Number-Four, and Pleasant-River, to be divided among the said Plantations as the aforementioned persons shall direct, having respect to their circumstances, number, and necessities.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

Thursday, February 1, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Charles Chauncy, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That Mr. Speaker, Colonel Orne, and Colonel Freeman, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to bring in a Bill establishing a Test, by which all persons inimical to the rights and liberties of America shall be distinguished from their friends, and to provide some methods to secure us against the practices and designs of our enemies; and, that it be an instruction to the Committee, that they immediately, and previous to their reporting any Bill for this purpose, write to the Delegates of this Colony, at the American Congress, and obtain information from them whether the Congress have taken, or are about to take any measures for this purpose, or, if they have taken any, what those measures are.

In Council: Read, and concurred; and William Sever and Thomas Cushing, Esquires, are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That be a Committee, with such as the honourable Board shall join, to take into consideration an anonymous Letter from Dartmouth.

*BRIDGEWATER, January 18, 1776.—HONOURED SIR: Yesterday the bearer, Mr. James Seward, delivered me a letter from the honourable Council, relating to him, &c., on the receipt of which I have procured a house for his family, and a shop for him, and have assured him of work to do in the finishing way, with such a price as I can afford, and gave it as my opinion that he will have as much work as he can do in repairing of old arms, as soon as it is known that he is settled here. But from some conversation that he had with Mr. Devanis, the Commissary, and with your Honours, he prays that he may have leave to repair to Watertown, to see whether or not it may not be more to his advantage to be employed by the Commissary, than to be employed here, more especially as he has a son in the Army, which he expects to have the advantage of working with him, in order to give the lad what insight he can into his business; have, therefore, favoured him with an opportunity of making a personal application to the Council, for a revocation of what was done respecting him before, not doubting but all proper indulgence will be granted him.

I am, sir, with due esteem, your Honour's very humble servant,

HUGH ORR.

For the Honourable Moses Gill, Esq.

IN COUNCIL, January 31, 1776: Read, and Ordered, That the order of Council respecting the said Seward's being confined within the limits of the Town of Bridgewater be reconsidered, and that the said Seward be confined to the Town of Watertown, in order to his being employed by Richard Devanis, Esq., Commissary-General of this Colony, who is desired to see that he does not pass without the limits of said town.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Thomas Cushing, Esq., is joined.

Colonel Freeman came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that it was the desire of the House that the Town of Boston be considered as making one regiment in the County of Suffolk, and that they be arranged in their proper place.

Petition from the Selectmen of the Town of Rehoboth, setting forth: "that they have been greatly alarmed by the frequent attempts of the enemy in coming up their river; they have erected a breastwork on an eminence, on a point of land more than twenty rods in length, fourteen feet thick at its basis, about which works they have expended three hundred and eighty days' work, &c., which are nearly finished, and have, also, procured and properly mounted on field-carriages four pieces of ordnance, two of which are four-pounders, the other two are three-pounders, all which, at a moderate computation, amounts to one hundred and three pounds; they pray your Honours would grant them some compensation, &c."

In the House of Representatives: Read, and Ordered, That Colonel Williams, Doctor Bayliss, and Colonel Thayer be a Committee to repair to Rehoboth and view the Fortifications mentioned in the foregoing Petition; and, also, that said Committee view Taunton-River, near Slade's Ferry, at Taunton, and make report to this Court of the true circumstances of those places, and what would be proper for this Court to do to put those places in a defensible state.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, February 2, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Letter from William West, respecting Doctor Samuel Gelston, be committed to the Committee on said Gelston's affairs.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Petition of John Bakeman and others, setting forth: "that there were divers Field-Officers chosen by the honourable House of Representatives, for the two Regiments to the eastward of Penobscot-River, in the County of Lincoln. Your petitioners pray your Honours would not concur with said vote until inquiry be made into the conduct of some of said appointments as we apprehend will be prejudicial to the County."

In Council: Read, and committed to Benjamin Lincoln and Jabez Fisher, Esquires.

In Council: Ordered, That William Sever, Caleb Cushing, John Whetcomb, and James Prescott, Esquires, be a Committee to prepare a general arrangement of the Militia through the Colony.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Joseph Cushing, Esquire, be appointed a Brigadier-General for the County of Plymouth.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the honourable Council be desired to give commissions to such Officers as joined the Army in December last, who were chosen by the companies, and formed under the direction of the Committees of this Court, who were directed to raise those temporary recruits, although such companies did not amount to sixty-four men.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of the following gentlemen as Field-Officers for the First Regiment, in the County of Worcester, viz: Samuel Denny, Colonel; Benjamin Flagg, Lieutenant-Colonel; Paul Raymond, First Major; Asa Baldwin, Second Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice of the following gentlemen as Field-Officers for the Second Regiment of Militia, in the County of Worcester, viz:

Josiah Whitney, Colonel; Ephraim Sawyer, Lieutenant Colonel.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Secretary immediately give notice to the gentlemen elected Field and Staff Officers of the several Regiments to be raised in this Colony, to join the Army before Boston, till the first of April next, of their appointment to said offices, respectively.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Ordered, That the Secretary give the aforesaid notice, by making out a list of the said Field-Officers, and publishing the same in Edes's and Hall's Newspapers, apprising them of their appointment, and directing them to repair to their respective posts in the Army, with all possible despatch.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration the Memorial of the Selectmen of Sherburne, in the Island of Nantucket, have attended that service, and beg leave to report as their opinion, that a representation of the present state of that Island and of the conduct of the Inhabitants, be made to the American Congress, and that the Inhabitants be supplied with necessaries for their subsistence in the manner directed by a Resolve of the Congress, until their determination on such representation may be had. All which is humbly submitted.

JOHN WINTHROP, per order.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and thereupon Ordered, That a representation to the purpose mentioned in the foregoing Report, be made to the American Congress, accordingly; and that John Winthrop, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to make said representation.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Mr. Brown of Boston, and Mr. Cushing of Scituate, are joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

Saturday, February 3, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, James Prescott, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In Council: Whereas, it appears by Doctor Gelston's confession, that he has contravened the Resolves of the American Congress, and has supplied the enemies of America with sundry articles of provision; and by other evidence it appears that the said Samuel Gelston is unfriendly to the rights and liberties of this country. And whereas, the greatest danger must necessarily result from permitting such persons to go at large and continue their traitorous practices of opposing the measures adopted for our defence, and of spreading false and discouraging rumours, and of communicating information of all our operations to our unnatural enemies. And whereas, the said Gelston did make his escape from the Messenger of the honourable House of Representatives, who had him in his keeping, and it appears necessary that he should be effectually secured,

It is further Resolved, That the said Samuel Gelston be forthwith confined in some jail in this Colony, that the Council shall order, there to remain till the further order of the Council.

And whereas, it appears, by the examination of John Brown and Doctor Gelston, that the said Brown has con-

* COUNCIL-CHAMBER, February 2, 1776.—GENTLEMEN: The Council have taken under consideration your letter, enclosing the intercepted letter from Elisha Alliss, Jun., to Major Gray. We fully approve of your vigilance in the publick cause, and if you shall find any persons attempting to injure the credit of the Continental Bills, or any of the Bills of Credit of this or the other United American Colonies, we trust you will use your utmost endeavour to secure them, that they may receive such punishment as is the due demerit of such crimes and misdeemeanors.

The Council further direct that you take such measures that Elisha Alliss, the writer of the letter above-mentioned, do not go out of the limits of the Town of Hatfield, or hold, without your permission, correspondence with any person who may be justly deemed inimical to the liberties of America, and if you shall find that his conduct shall be such as will endanger the publick safety, that you cause him to be committed to close confinement.

In the name and by order of the Council,

To the Committee of Correspondence for the Town of Hatfield.

IN COUNCIL, February 2, 1776: Read and accepted, and ordered to be signed by the President of the Council, and forwarded.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

travened the Resolve of the American Congress, and aided the said Doctor Gelston in making his escape from the Messenger of the honourable House of Representatives, who had him in custody, and carried him to Rhode-Island, where he and the said Gelston were apprehended and secured by order of the honourable Council.

It is further Resolved, That the said John Brown be forthwith confined in some jail in this Colony, that the Council shall order, there to remain till the further order of the Council.

And whereas, there was found in the custody of the said Brown, about ten pounds weight of India Tea, which is now in the custody of the Committee of this Court,

Therefore, Resolved, That the Messenger of the honourable House of Representatives be directed to cause the said Tea to be publicly consumed by fire, this day, at one o'clock, P. M.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

A Bill, entitled "An Act for altering the places appointed for the holding the Courts of Justice for the County of Middlesex," having passed the House of Representatives, to be engrossed.

In Council: Read a second time and passed a concurrence, to be engrossed.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice of Mr. Samuel Gerry, as a Commissary for the forces stationed at the Town of Marblehead.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Monday, February 5, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, John Whetcomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palm r, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, representation has been made by this House, that Colonel Doan, of Barnstable County, has sent two vessels to the West-Indies, loaded with the produce of the Colonies; and that Mr. Solomon Davis, of said Barnstable, is now loading two vessels, and Mr. Cutt, of Saco, another; and, that a vessel at Falmouth, in Casco Bay, is likewise loading with the like produce, contrary to the Resolution of the American Congress,

Therefore, Ordered, That Mr. Speaker, Major Cross, and Mr. Story, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to make inquiry into the matter, and report what is proper to be done.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and William Sever and Walter Spooner, Esqs., are joined.

The Committee of both Houses appointed to consider the subject matter of a report of a Committee of this Court, of the 10th instant, relative to a Petition of some of the inhabitants of Majabigwaduce, against the conduct of John Bakeman, Esq.; also, sundry depositions against several of the inhabitants of said place, for threatening the life of said Bakeman, and supplying the ships of our enemies at Boston, with provisions, &c., together with a Letter from Timothy Parsons, complaining he is in danger of his life, from a number of lawless inhabitants of Powallborough; and a Petition of John Tufts, setting forth, that the enemies at Boston have been, and are continually supplied with wood, &c., by a number of inhabitants of Long-Island, and praying this Court's order thereon, have carefully attended that business; and, from all the evidence they can obtain, find that the conduct of said Bakeman as a magistrate and a friend to his country is unexceptionable; and it having been made to appear to your Committee by the depositions aforesaid, as well as other witnesses, that a number of men, inhabitants of Majabigwaduce, under the colour of a Committee of Safety, and others, have been supplying the fleet of our enemies at Boston, with wood, live stock, vegetables, &c., and do still persist therein; and, in order to carry on their base and wicked practices with impunity, have, and do threaten the life of said Bakeman, (who openly opposes such wicked conduct,) and did, in a lawless, hostile manner, with clubs, &c., by force and arms, enter the house of said Bakeman in the night, between the 4th and 5th of December last; and, as he says, robbed him of a sum of money to the value of about twenty pounds, and many valuable articles, as set forth in the memorial of said Bakeman, break and destroy the windows and doors of said Bakeman's house, abused his person, destroyed his property, and threatened and endangered the lives of said Bakeman, his wife and family. Your Committee view the above as a high-handed offence, and that some effectual measures ought to be taken by this Court to prevent such a growing evil for the future; therefore, beg leave to report by way of Resolve:

Resolved, That William Lithgow, John Taylor, Ezekiel Pettee, Thomas Stinson, and Waterman Thomas, Esquires, Justices of the Peace for the County of Lincoln, or any three of them, (Quorum Unus), are hereby required to make inquiry into the riot and injury committed by a number of persons, armed and disguised, against the property of John Bakeman, Esq.; and, also, respecting the conduct of some of the inhabitants of the County of Lincoln, in supplying the enemy with Provisions and Fuel; and of all breaches of the peace, and other disorders committed in said County; and, also, to inquire what persons have been guilty of contravening the Resolves of the American or Provincial Congresses, or the acts or ordinances of the General Court of this Colony; and, the said Justices are hereby empowered and directed to cause to come before them any accused in the premises, and such witnesses as may be found; and of them inquire, on oath, of all matters relative to the premises; and, all persons who shall by such Justices, be found so far guilty of the breach of the Laws of this Colony, especially provided, or the breach of the peace, or of evil intent against the rights and liberties of America, as that, in their judgment, they ought to be brought to trial for their respective crimes and offences; that they cause such persons to recognise, with sureties, in such sums as shall appear to them reasonable, according to the circumstances of the accused; that they will appear, and answer for their respective crimes and misdemeanors, at the Superior Court of Judicature, Court of Assize, and General Court of Delivery, next to be holden at Falmouth, in the County of Cumberland, within and for the Counties of Cumberland and Lincoln; and, in default of their recognising as aforesaid, the said person, or persons, to commit to prison, until they shall so recognise, or be legally discharged; and, all persons, of what quality or denomination soever, within the said County of Lincoln, are hereby commanded to assist the said Justices in the inquiry into, and execution of, all matters in the foregoing order contained, which Justices, Officers, and Witnesses, shall be paid for their cost and expenses, as in the law of this Colony is provided, in case of conviction, and in case there shall not be a conviction before the Court of Assize, they shall be paid as this Court shall hereafter order.

In Council: Read, and accepted.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, February 6, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, John Whetcomb, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esqs.

Colonel Bowers came up with a message from the House to inform the Board, that the House had passed upon all business of a publick nature, before them, and desired the Board would do the like, in order that the House may have a recess on Thursday next.

The Committee of both Houses appointed to consider a Petition of Philip Hodgskins, making complaint against Colonel Cargill; also, a Letter from Samuel Jordan, Chairman of the Committee at Goldsborough, complaining of Colonel Cargill; also, setting forth the state of several vessels detained by said Committee: furthermore, requesting that a number of troops be stationed there; and, that the doings of the Committees in places not incorporated might be confirmed, have carefully attended that service, and beg leave to report, as their opinion, viz: That Philip Hodgskins have leave to withdraw his Petition, as it fully appears to your Committee, that his confinement was in consequence of refusing to be mustered and sworn, when, at the same time, he owns that he was enlisted in the service of this Colony; and, as to the complaint of the Committee of Goldsborough against said Cargill, no part thereof was supported, therefore, in our opinion, ought not to operate to the disadvantage of Colonel Cargill; furthermore, as to the vessels detained by the Committee of Goldsborough, your Committee are humbly of opinion, that this Court has made sufficient provision already. Your Committee beg leave further to report as their opinion, that a Committee of both Houses be appointed to consider, and report, what is further necessary for this Court to do, in order to support and protect the people in the County of Lincoln, east of Penobscot River; also, how Committees shall be chosen in places not incorporated. ELAD TAYLOR, per order.

In Council: Read, and accepted; and, thereupon Ordered, That the same Committee be appointed for the purpose mentioned in the last paragraph of the foregoing Report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and recommit- ted, and Mr. Caldwell is appointed on the Committee in the room of Colonel Freeman, absent.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Petition of Jeremiah Obrien, setting forth: "that he has been in the Colony service, since the 1st day of August last, as Commander-in-chief of the sloop Machias-Liberty, and schooner Diligent, which two vessels now lie at Newburyport completely equipped for sea, with about fifty men on board them, ready for any service the honourable Court shall think fit to employ them in; one vessel has four carriage guns, ten swivels, the other has five carriage guns, and twenty swivels, has ports for eight carriages, has accommodations for sixty-five men each; we are all waiting the determination of the honourable Court, whether we are to be discharged, or further employed in the Colony service; your petitioner can recommend to the honourable Court, the under officers and gunner to be men well skilled in the business."

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it is of importance that the enemies of the United Colony should, as far as possible, be deprived of necessary supplies, whereby they may be rendered the less capable of distressing this and the other Colonies aforesaid, and to effect this purpose, it is expedient and necessary armed vessels should be fitted out and employed to prevent supplies getting into the hands of our said enemies;

Therefore, Resolved, That the Committee of Correspondence, Inspection and Safety of Newburyport, with Captain Jeremiah Obrien, be a Committee to prepare, and in all respects, equip and man, with fifty men each, including officers, the Sloop Machias-Liberty and Schooner Diligent, now lying at Newburyport; and that said Committee recommend such proper persons to the honourable Council as may be necessary for Officers of said Vessels for the purposes above-mentioned, and when said Vessels are prepared as aforesaid, the officers belonging to said Vessels, be commissioned by, and follow such directions as they shall receive from time to time from the Council of this Colony.

And it is further Resolved, That the following sums set against the several officers and men engaged in the above service, shall be paid them upon their faithfully discharging the duties assigned them, viz:

	Per month.		Per month.
Captain, - -	£4 0	Carpenter, - -	£1 10
First Lieutenant, -	3 0	Gunner, - -	1 10
Second Lieutenant, -	2 10	Pilot and Q. Master, -	1 10
Surgeon, - -	2 10	Steward, - -	1 10
Master, - -	2 0	Master-at-Arms, -	1 10
Boatswain, -	1 10	Foremast men, -	1 4

And for the further encouragement of said Officers and Seamen,

It is Resolved, That they shall be entitled to one-third the proceeds of all captures that shall be by them made, and finally condemned, agreeable to a law of this Colony, made and passed in the present session of the General Court, entitled "An Act for fixing out Armed Vessels, and for the trial and condemnation of vessels, that have been employed in aiding and assisting our Enemies;" and in such proportions as is allowed the officers and seamen of the Armed Vessels fitted out on account of the United Colonies, by his Excellency General Washington. The above establishment to be continued until the last day of December next, unless this Court should think it expedient to discharge them sooner.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Friday, February 9, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Wintthrop, Thomas Cushing, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In Council: Whereas, Accounts have been presented to this Court for payment, by several towns in this Colony, for provisions supplied the men who marched from such towns, respectively, on the alarm on the 19th of April last, and after, and no sufficient vouchers are lodged with such accounts, whereby it may be made evident that the publick had the benefit of such provisions; and whereas, this Colony allowed to each man, so marching, one penny per mile, to refund his expenses of travelling into camp, &c.,

* BARNSTABLE, February 3, 1776.—GENTLEMEN: At the express solicitation of my daughter-in-law, the wife of my son Samuel Allyn Otis, I have presumed to write a line to your Honour in behalf of her brother, John Gray, who, we hear, is confined to Newbury jail. How far he was concerned in the affair, so as to be confined in a jail, you that have had the examination of that matter are certainly the best judges. I would just hint to your Honours that, as he is a minor, and must be supposed altogether under the direction of others, whether in case of sufficient bondsmen should appear in his behalf that he shall not go into Boston in such a time as you set, nor supply our enemies, nor correspond with them, whether he may not be confined to some town in the country until the Court shall otherwise order. But I must leave the matter with your Honours' discretion, hoping I shall be excused, considering my connexions, in giving these hints, and am, gentlemen, your most obedient, humble servant,
JAMES OTIS.

For the President of the Honourable Council at Watertown, (to be communicated.)

IN COUNCIL, February 8, 1776: Read, and Ordered, That the order of Council touching the said John Gray be so far relaxed, that he be released from close confinement, and sent to the Town of Barnstable, and to remain within the limits of that town, Samuel Allyn Otis, with sufficient sureties, giving their joint several bonds in the sum of one thousand Pounds, that the said John Gray shall not pass without the limits of the said Town of Barnstable, or correspond with the enemies of America, or supply them with provision of any kind.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

Therefore, Resolved, That each Town, who have presented their Accounts to this Court for payment, and yet remain unpaid, and those who in future shall present such Accounts for payment, shall lodge with them, before they shall be passed on, a certificate from the officer who commanded such men, on the alarm aforesaid, that no part of the provisions mentioned in such Account were expended on their march to Head-Quarters, and a certificate from the Commissary what number of days such Company were in camp, and did not draw their allowance from the publick stores.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

An engrossed Bill, entitled, "An Act to enable the Inhabitants of Falmouth to support prosecutions against persons who have in possession goods taken from said Inhabitants during the late fire," having passed the House of Representatives, to be enacted,

In Council: Read a second time, and passed a concurrence, to be enacted.

An engrossed Bill, entitled "An Act for reviving a number of Laws that are expired, or near expiring," having passed the House of Representatives, to be enacted,

In Council: Read a second time, and passed a concurrence, to be enacted.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Doctor John Greenleaf be joined to the Committee appointed to receive, examine, and pay for all good and merchantable Saltpetre, at the rate heretofore established by this Court, that shall be manufactured in this Colony; and that there be paid to the said Committee, out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, the sum of one thousand four hundred Pounds, to enable them to pay for the same, they to be accountable to this Court for the money they or either of them shall receive; and Mr. Jedediah Phips is directed to attend at Watertown, on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, for that purpose, until the 1st day of June next, and to advertise this order for his attendance in the Watertown and Cambridge Newspapers three weeks, successively.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the following be the form of an Inlistment, to be signed by such soldiers as are to be raised by this Colony in the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, to join the American Army in Canada; and Brigadier Thompson is hereby appointed to get the same printed, as soon as possible:

We, the subscribers, do hereby severally inlist ourselves into the service of the United American Colonies, until the 1st day of January next, if the service do require it, and each of us do engage to furnish, and carry with us into the service aforesaid, a good, effective fire-arm, and blanket; also, a good bayonet, cartridge-pouch, and a hatchet or tomahawk, or cutting-sword, if possible. And we, severally, consent to be formed into a regiment, under the command of such Field-Officers, Captains, and Subalterns, as are, or may be appointed and commissioned by the American Congress; and, when so formed, we engage to march under said officers into Canada, with the utmost expedition. And we further agree, during the time aforesaid, to be subject to such Generals, and other officers, as are, or shall be appointed, and to be under such regulations, in every respect, as are provided for the American Army.

Dated the of A. D. 1776.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Saturday, February 10, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, John Winthrop, Thomas Cushing, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Petition of Isaac Battle and Samuel Nichols, praying to be fixed out a Privateering by the Colony, be committed to the Committee appointed to build ten Armed Vessels.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be allowed and paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to the Honourable Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., and others, a Committee of this Court for fitting out ten vessels, to procure Gunpowder, Ammunition, &c., the sum of two thousand Pounds for that purpose, they to be accountable to this Court for the same.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That Mr. Speaker and Major Hawley, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, and inform him that this Court is about to rise, and to know if he has any application to make to the Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Lincoln is joined.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Richard Devans, Esq., Commissary-General of this Colony, the sum of one thousand Pounds, to enable him to procure Warlike Stores for the use of the Colony.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of the following gentlemen for Field-Officers of the Second Regiment of Militia in the County of Plymouth, viz: Anthony Thomas, Colonel; John Cushing, Jun., Lieutenant-Colonel; Jeremiah Hall, First Major; Nathaniel Cushing, Second Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, the votes and proceedings of the honourable Continental Congress, respecting the Regiment now raising in this Colony to join the Continental Army in Canada, make it necessary that some alteration should be made in the Resolves of this Court of the 21st of January last, respecting the encouragement thereby offered and proposed to such as should inlist themselves into the said service; and whereas, it is apprehended the mode of appointing the Captains, Subalterns, and non-Commissioned Officers, therein recommended, will retard the speedy inlistment and forming the several companies to be raised, which ought to be forwarded with all despatch;

Therefore, Resolved, That the Order of Court of the 21st of January last, relative to raising a Regiment of men in the Counties of Hampshire and Berkshire, to serve in Canada, so far as it relates to the two months' advance wages, the electing Captains, Subalterns, and non-Commissioned Officers, by the men, and the officers being confined to raise said Regiment in the Counties aforesaid, be reconsidered.

Resolved, That the blank Commissions for the Captains, Subalterns, and Staff-Officers, sent by this Court to the Continental Congress, to the said Regiment, be lodged in the hands of the Field-Officers appointed to raise and command said Regiment, as, also, inlisting papers to those men who come recommended to them for their loyalty to their country, their courage, and good conduct, as properly qualified for officers, and, upon their raising the complement of men assigned them, to deliver them their commissions.

And for the encouragement of such as shall inlist themselves into the said service,

It is further Resolved, That, agreeable to the Resolves of the honourable Continental Congress, there shall be paid to each effective, able-bodied non-Commissioned Officer and Soldier, who shall inlist as aforesaid, and be properly accounted, according to the terms of their inlistment, the sum of forty Shillings, lawful money, as a bounty; and, also, that there shall be advanced and paid to every Officer and Soldier one month's advance wages, that they may be enabled to purchase necessary clothing; both the said sums to be paid them on their passing muster.

It is further Resolved, That those who have inlisted already, upon the former inlistment, given out upon their signing the inlistment now ordered, shall be entitled to the same bounty and privileges as if they had not before inlisted, and shall be entitled to receive pay from the date of their first inlistment. The said sums of one month's advance wages, and forty Shillings bounty, to be in lieu of the two months' advance wages ordered in the said Resolves of the 21st of January.

And whereas, by the said Resolves of the 21st of January, three companies were to be raised from the County of Berkshire, as part of the said Regiment; and whereas, nearly four hundred men have already inlisted, and marched from the said County of Berkshire into Canada, to serve the United Colonies there, until the 15th of April next, many of whom, it is hoped and expected, will be willing to continue in the said service until the 1st day of January next;

Therefore, Resolved, That the Field-Officers of said Regiment be directed to inlist, as soon as possible, out of those already marched, as aforesaid, two whole companies, to join said Regiment, whose advance wages and bounty, including what they have already received from General Schuyler, shall be made equal, in every respect, to those who now inlist according to the terms proposed by the honourable Continental Congress, and that six companies only be now raised for the said Regiment, until this Court shall be informed of the success of raising the two said companies, out of those now in Canada, as aforesaid.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of . . . a Brigadier for the County of Middlesex, in the room of John Cummings.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of the following gentlemen, as Field-Officers for the First Regiment of Militia in the County of Bristol, viz: Thomas Carpenter, 3d, Colonel; Luther Thurber, Lieutenant-Colonel; Nathan Dagget, First Major; Peleg Slead, Second Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of the following gentlemen as Field-Officers for the Fourth Regiment of Militia in the County of Suffolk, viz: Ephraim Wheelock, Colonel; Benjamin Hawes, Lieutenant-Colonel; Seth Bullard, Second Major; James Metcalf, First Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice of the following gentlemen as Field-Officers of the Fourth Regiment of Militia in the County of Plymouth, viz: Ebenezer Sprout, Colonel; Ebenezer White, Lieutenant-Colonel; Israel Terrin, First Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, Monday morning.

— Monday, February 12, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables William Sever, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Thomas Cushing, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That . . . be a Committee, with such as the honourable Board shall join, to take into consideration a Letter from his Excellency General Washington, on the great want of Fire-Arms in the Army.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., is joined.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it appears to be of great importance to the safety and welfare of this Colony, that the Harbour of Marblehead be effectually secured against the attacks of our enemies; and, whereas, the inhabitants of that town, have, at very great expense, erected Batteries, wherein twenty pieces of cannon are mounted, and it being absolutely necessary for a successful defence, that there should be a number of men, well acquainted with the management of cannon, appointed to said Batteries; therefore,

Resolved, That a number of Matrosses, consisting of thirty-eight men, exclusive of officers, be immediately raised for the purpose aforesaid, and that a Captain and two Lieutenants be chosen for said Company, their pay to be the same with officers of the like rank on the Sea-Coast establishment; and, the Commanding Officer of the two Companies of Sea-Coast Men, stationed at Marblehead, is hereby directed and empowered to draft twenty-five men from each of said Companies, to be joined to said Company of Matrosses, which will then consist of one hundred men, officers included.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Ordered, That John Winthrop, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to prepare a Proclamation for a General Fast throughout this Colony.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Major Hawley and Mr. Hopkins are joined.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of Andrew Reed, to be Lieutenant-Colonel of the Third Regiment of Militia in the County of Lincoln, in the room of Edward Emerson, who was non-concurred by the Council.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of Nicholas Holt, to be Lieutenant-Colonel in the Fifth Regiment of Militia in the County of Lincoln, in the room of Matthew Patten, who was non-concurred by the Council.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of Samuel Harnden, Esq., to be a Brigadier for the County of Lincoln, in the room of Authur Noble, Esq., who was non-concurred by the Council.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, by a Resolve of the General Court, passed the 19th of December last, all Officers and Soldiers who were, on the 19th of April and 17th of June last past, engaged in battle with the Ministerial troops, and suffered loss of Clothing, Arms, and Accoutrements, should, on application made to the General Court, with sufficient evidence of their having sustained such loss, be compensated; and, whereas, the delaying to exhibit said Accounts may give occasion for frauds and impositions,

Resolved, That all Officers and Soldiers, who sustained any loss of Clothing, Fire-Arms, Ammunition, &c., by being engaged in battle with the Ministerial troops on the 19th April and 17th of June last, are hereby noticed, that unless they shall exhibit a particular account of their losses to this Court, on or before the second Tuesday of the next sitting of the same, they will be deprived of the benefit of compensation; and, that this Resolve be printed in the Watertown and Cambridge Newspapers three weeks, successively.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice of the following gentlemen as Field-Officers for the Second Regiment of Militia in the County of Essex, viz: Jonathan Titcomb, Colonel; Henry Morrill, Lieutenant-Colonel; Ralph Cross, Jun., First Major; Winthrop Merrill, Second Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of the following gentlemen as Field-Officers of the Second Regiment of Militia in the County of Middlesex, viz: Jonathan Fox, Colonel; Benjamin Brown, Lieutenant-Colonel; Timothy Walker, First Major; Joseph Bryant, Second Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In Council: Whereas, it has been found necessary to deposit in the hands of the Committees large sums of money for defraying the charges incurred in the present unhappy contest, and a balance is often left in the hands of such Committees, which sums, though they may be paid into the Treasury of this Colony, and a receipt given by the Treasurer for the same; yet, unless the Treasurer shall credit the Colony for such sums, a loss may happen by such receipt being mislaid or forgotten; therefore,

Ordered, That all such receipts be lodged with the Secretary, who, upon his receiving the same, shall immediately enter all such in a Book, to be by him kept for that purpose, to be produced when there shall be an adjustment of Treasurer's accounts; and, all Committees who shall be hereafter intrusted with sums of publick Moneys, shall not be considered as discharged of such balances in their hands until they shall lodge the Treasurer's receipts in the Secretary's hands for the purpose aforesaid.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

Petition of a number of the Inhabitants of the Eastern part of the County of Lincoln, setting forth: "that the Indians of the St. John's and Passamaquoddy Tribes, are in great distress for the want of clothing and ammunition, which prevents their getting sufficient quantities of provisions to support their families; that the Government of Nova-Scotia have offered to supply them with all such necessaries, provided they will join the enemies of the United Colonies; that the said Tribes have informed us of said application from Nova-Scotia, and have declared their desire to join their brethren of the United Colonies, provided they could be supplied with such things as they wanted, and take their Furs in return for them for the same; for which end, the said Tribes have sent three of their principal men to wait on your Honours, and that they appear to be very uneasy that something is not yet done for them. Your petitioners, apprehending, if said Indians are not supplied by your Honours, they will be necessitated to join our enemies, humbly pray your Honours would appoint a Truckmaster at Machias for that purpose."

In the House of Representatives: Read, and committed to Mr. Story and Colonel Smith, with such as the honourable Board may join; and, the Committee are directed to confer with the Indians on the subject.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Walter Spooner, Esq., is joined.

The Committee of both Houses appointed on the above Petition, report as follows, viz: That said Indians' place of abode is about eighty miles from Machias, and consists of about sixty families; they are in want of clothing, provisions, ammunition, and their fire-arms repaired. Your Committee are informed by Captain House, that he had traded with these Tribes, and that the trade was to the amount of sixteen hundred pounds, lawful money, annually; and said Indians appear desirous of giving the trade to our Colony, provided we will supply them by putting a quantity of goods into the hands of a proper person to trade with them at Machias. Your Committee, also, find that John Steel, with two sons, will remove to Machias, and act as armourers, for soldiers' wages, provided he is allowed for the use of tools; and, that he has twelve and fourteen pounds in stock, that he will take down with him for the Colony's use.

WALTER SPOONER, per order.

In Council: Read, and sent down.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That a Truckmaster be appointed by this Court to reside at Machias, and that the sum of four hundred Pounds be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony to said Truckmaster, to enable him to procure such Ammunition and other articles of Goods as may be necessary to supply the said Indians with; and, that he set the articles he shall supply them with, at a moderate advance, and take in return therefor their Furs and other things they may procure in hunting; he, the said Truckmaster, to be accountable to this Court for the said money, and his conduct in this affair.

And it is, further Resolved, That John Steel be desired to repair to Machias as soon as may be, and there act as Armourer in repairing the said Indians' Guns, and such others as may be sent him by order of Court; and for his service, and the use of his Tools, there be allowed, and paid to him, after the rate of four Pounds per month, to commence from the time of his setting off from Newburyport till the further order of this Court; and, that the said Truckmaster furnish the said Armourer with Stock to proceed in his business, and receive from the Indians, and others, such Pay on account of this Colony, as shall be reasonable for the stock, and work done.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it appears from the state of Ordnance, Ordnance Stores, and Ammunition for small Arms, at Falmouth, in the County of Cumberland, exhibited to this Court, that most of the Cannon there are unfit for use; and, that the quantity of Shot, Powder, and Flints, is very small; and, as it is necessary for the general safety of the Province, and that part in particular, that a supply of those articles should be immediately procured. Therefore,

Resolved, That the Commissary-General of this Colony be, and hereby is empowered and directed to procure as soon as possible, at the expense of this Colony, ten good Cannon, as follows, viz: three twelve-pounders, three nine-pounders, and four six-pounders, together with one hundred Round Shot for each Cannon, suitable for the same; also, nine hundred weight of Powder, and one thousand Flints.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, February 13, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Benjamin Greenleaf, Caleb Cushing, Walter Spooner, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

A Bill, entitled "An Act for ascertaining the number of Inhabitants in this Colony," having passed the House of Representatives, to be engrossed,

In Council: Read a second time, and passed a concurrence, to be engrossed.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That Joseph Henderson be appointed to lay the disbursements of this Colony, in defence of American liberty, before the American Congress for approbation.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony to Joseph Henderson, the sum of thirty-five Pounds, to enable him to defray the expenses of his journey to Philadelphia, on account of this Colony.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Receiver-General of this Colony be, and is hereby empowered and directed to make use of the Continental Money now in the Treasury, transmitted to this Colony by the honourable Continental Congress, as well as the Bills emitted by this Colony, for discharging all Warrants drawn upon him by the Council of this Colony.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of Jonathan Warner, Esq., a Brigadier for the County of Worcester, in the room of Brigadier Whetcomb, who declines that appointment.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice, by ballot, of Ephraim Hartwell, Quartermaster of the Regiment to be raised in Worcester, as a reinforcement to the American Army, to the 1st of April next, in room of Mr. Clap, who declines.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The Committee to whom was referred the consideration of Mr. Elias Hasket Derby's conduct in importing Coffee and other goods, from the Island of Dominica, contrary to the Resolves of Congress, have attended that service, and have examined the several depositions in the case, as well as the orders given by Mr. Derby to Captain Lander, and heard several witnesses on the affair—upon the whole, are of opinion, that the said Captain Lander has acted quite contrary to the orders of his owners, and in direct violation of the Resolves of the Continental Congress. And as to Mr. Derby's conduct in this affair, the Committee are unanimously of opinion, that he has not, in the importation of those goods from Dominica, acted, in any way, contrary to the Resolves of the Continental Congress, and that he ought not to be charged with the misconduct and misbehaviour of said Lander.

Resolved, That the Coffee, and such other articles as were imported contrary to the Association, in the Schooner William, Peter Lander, master, from Dominica, in the hands of the Committee of Correspondence, of the Town of Ipswich, and of the Town of Beverly, or in the hands of whoever else it be stored, at the charge and risk of the owner, and kept in safe custody until the further order of this Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider the Petition of Philip Hodgskins, making complaint against Colonel James Cargill; also, a Letter from Samuel Jordan, Chairman of the Committee at Goldborough, complaining of Colonel Cargill; also, setting forth the state of several vessels detained by said Committee; furthermore, requesting that a number of troops be stationed there; and that the doings of Committees in places not incorporated may be confirmed, have attended that service, and beg leave to report their opinion in several paragraphs, as follows, viz:

That, as to the complaint of Philip Hodgskins against Colonel Cargill, for confinement, your Committee are of opinion that it is a matter cognizable before a civil rather than a legislative Court.

That the said Hodgskins is worthy of the favourable notice of this Court, for his zeal in pursuing and taking the Sloop Advance, Nehemiah Eastman, Commander, on her return from Boston to Georgia.

As to the complaint of the Committee of Goldsborough against said Cargill, no part thereof was supported; therefore, in our opinion, ought not to operate to the disadvantage of said Colonel Cargill. Furthermore, as to the vessels detained by the Committee of Goldsborough, your Committee are humbly of opinion, that this Court has made sufficient provision already.

Your Committee beg leave further to report as their opinion, that a Committee of both Houses be appointed to consider and report what is further necessary to be done in order to support and protect the people in the County of Lincoln, east of Penobscot-River. Also, how Committees shall be chosen in places not incorporated.

ELDAD TAYLOR, per order.

The Committee of both Houses on the Letter this morning received by this Court, from his Excellency General Washington, relative to supplying the Army with Fire-Arms, beg leave to report, by way of Resolve, viz:

In Council: Resolved, That a Committee be appointed in the several Counties of Suffolk, Essex, Middlesex, Hampshire, Worcester, Plymouth, York, and Bristol, to purchase, as early as possible, in the recess of this Court, all the good and effective Fire-Arms, which are to be obtained in the several towns in the Counties aforesaid, on the best terms they may be had, and forward them, without delay, to his Excellency General Washington, or his order.

Resolved, That it be recommended to his Excellency, to deliver to the Chairman of each Committee, for the several Counties aforesaid, such sum or sums of money as may be sufficient to enable them to execute their commission with care and despatch, they to be accountable to his Excellency for the same.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and accepted, and the following gentlemen are appointed for the purpose within expressed, viz:

For the County of Suffolk: Captain Ellis, Mr. Witherton, Colonel Thayer, and Mr. Metcalf.

For the County of Essex: Mr. Jewett, Captain Epes, Mr. Ingalls, and Mr. Johnson of Lynn.

For the County of Middlesex: Colonel Barrett, Mr. Stickney, Colonel Perry, and Mr. Bryant.

For the County of Hampshire: Captain Goodman, Mr. Cranston, Colonel Field, Major Ely, and Major Bliss.

For the County of Worcester: Mr. Singletary, Captain Parker, Captain Moore, Mr. Stone, and Colonel Grout.

For the County of Plymouth: Colonel Mitchell, Major Cushing, Major White, and Mr. Partridge.

For the County of Bristol: Colonel Williams, Mr. Hathaway, Captain Tobey, Mr. Starkweather.

For the County of York: Mr. Hovey, Captain Bragdon, and Major Goodwin.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Wednesday, February 14, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Thomas Cushing, Jedediah Foster, James Prescott, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Samuel Holtten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, the invention and industry of the inhabitants of this Colony have been excited by the barbarous policy of Britain, and by the encouragement given by the General Court, to seek internal resources of warlike stores, and have been so far successful, that much greater quantities of that capital article, Saltpetre, has, and probably will be made here, than the Powder-Mills now erecting at Stoughton and Andover will be able to manufacture into gunpowder; and whereas, experience, and the present apparent designs of Administration strongly dictate the necessity of guarding against the want of that important article, which we presume may be done by encouraging individuals to erect Powder-Mills,

Therefore, Resolved, That a bounty or premium of fifty Pounds shall be paid out of the Treasury of this Colony, to the person, or persons, who shall, at his or their own expense, erect the first Powder-Mill in this Colony, other than the aforementioned, capable of manufacturing at least fifty pounds weight of Powder per day; and shall make and manufacture therein one thousand pounds weight of good and merchantable Gunpowder, to be judged and approved of by a Committee to be appointed by this Court; also, that a bounty, or premium, of thirty Pounds shall be paid out of the Treasury of this Colony to the person, or persons, who shall in like manner erect a second Powder-Mill, (other than those mentioned in the preamble,) and make and manufacture therein one thousand pounds weight of good merchantable Powder, to be judged and approved as aforesaid. Provided always, the said Mills shall be erected, and the Powder manufactured therein, within six months from the 15th day of February current; and that the said Mills shall be erected within such towns or plantations as the General Court of this Colony shall license, or in the recess of the same, as shall be licensed by the Council; and in such part or parts of such licensed town as shall be approved by the major part of the Selectmen thereof.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice of the following gentlemen as Field-Officers for the First Regiment of Militia in the County of Essex, viz: Timothy Pickering, Jun., Colonel; John Flagg, Lieutenant-Colonel; Joseph Sprague, First Major; Daniel Parker, Second Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: The House made choice of the following gentlemen as Majors in the Second Regiment of Militia in the County of Worcester, in the room of Jonas Houghton and Ebenezer Jones, who have been non-concurred by the honourable Board, viz: Silas Bayley, First Major; Ebenezer Jones, Second Major.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Mr. Story came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the House proposed to come to the choice of a Truckmaster for Machias, by joint ballot of both Houses, at twelve o'clock this day.

Walter Spooner, Esquire, went down with a message to the House, to inform them that the Board had agreed to the foregoing proposal of the honourable House.

The Committee of both Houses appointed to sort and count the votes for a Truckmaster for Machias, reported that the number of votes cast were:

On the part of the Board, - - - - 11

On the part of the House, - - - - 61

Total, - - - - 72

Thirty-seven made a vote; and that Mr. Stephens Smith was unanimously chosen.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Richard Devans, Esq., Commissary for this Colony, be, and hereby is added to the Committee appointed to examine, receive, purchase, and pay for Saltpetre.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Colonel Orne be, and he hereby is appointed to raise as soon as may be, and muster a Company of Matrosses, to be stationed in the Town of Marblehead, agreeable to a Resolve passed the House of Representatives, the 10th instant, and that the following be a form of Inlistment for the said Company of Matrosses:

We, the subscribers, do hereby engage and inlist ourselves as Matrosses in the service of the Massachusetts Colony, for the defence and protection of the sea-coasts of said Colony, from the day of our inlistment to the last day of December, 1776, for the establishment of that purpose made, unless the said service shall admit of a discharge of a part or the whole sooner, which is to be determined by the General Court of said Colony, and we do hereby oblige ourselves to submit to all the orders and regulations of the Army, and faithfully to observe and obey all such orders as we shall from time to time receive from our superior officers.

... day of ... 1776.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to the Committee of this Court appointed to procure Wood for the Continental Army, the sum of one thousand Pounds more, to enable them to perform that service, they to be accountable to this Court for the same.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Thomas Crafts, and others, the sum of three hundred Pounds, they being a Committee of this Court to receive and take care of the Inhabitants of the Town of Boston, coming out to Chelsea, to enable them to defray the expenses thereof.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Commissary-General be, and he is hereby empowered and directed to deliver to his Excellency General Washington, or his order, such Colony Fire-Arms as are in his keeping, that are fit for service, he paying the price they shall be set at by a Committee to be appointed by this Court to appraise the same; and that Captain Brown, of Watertown, Colonel Thatcher, and Major Fuller, be a Committee for that purpose, who are directed to keep an account of the number of the Guns so appraised, and the amount thereof, and to report the same to this Court.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

A Letter from Henry Laurens,* President of the Council of Safety of their sister Colony of South-Carolina, relative to raising Seamen in this Colony, for the service of that.

In Council: Read, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner

* IN THE COUNCIL OF SAFETY, CHARLESTOWN, SOUTH-CAROLINA, December 31, 1776.—GENTLEMEN: The bearer, Captain Robert Cochran, being sent by us to procure seamen in your Colony for the defence of this, we take the liberty of requesting that you will afford him every assistance in your power, which he may want in this business.

From your zeal in the common cause of America, we doubt not that he will meet with your support and countenance. Be assured that we shall think ourselves happy in rendering any service to our brethren in the Massachusetts-Bay, and testify upon every occasion the esteem and regard which we have for your honourable Board.

By order of the Council of Safety: HENRY LAURENS, President. To the Honourable the President and Members of the Council of Massachusetts-Bay.

The Committee to whom was referred the consideration of the foregoing Letter have attended that service, and beg leave to report that and Thomas Cushing, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the same, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred, and Colonel Orne, Brigadier Thompson, and Mr. Brown of Boston, are joined on the part of the House.

In the House of Representatives: The House taking into consideration the disbursements, expenses, and time of services of the Honourable Thomas Cushing, Esquire, a late Member of the Continental Congress on the part of this Colony; thereupon,

Resolved, That the sum of one hundred and forty-six Pounds eight Shillings be allowed and paid to Thomas Cushing, Esquire, for two hundred and forty-four days' attendance on the business of the Colony at the Continental Congress the last year; his Account of disbursements and expense for the Colony to be considered and acted upon the next session of the General Assembly.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That the Roll of the Company who marched from Stockbridge, under Captain Brown, for the reduction of Ticonderoga, be committed to the Committee on Minute and Militia-Rolls.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, the Colony cannot be supplied with a sufficient quantity of Paper for its own consumption, without the particular care of its inhabitants in saving rags for the Paper-Mills:

Therefore, Resolved, That the Committees of Correspondence, Inspection, and Safety, in the several Towns in this Colony, be, and they hereby are required immediately to appoint some suitable person, in their respective towns, (where it is not already done,) to receive rags for the Paper-Mills; and the inhabitants of this Colony are hereby desired to be very careful in saving even the smallest quantities of rags proper for making Paper, which will be a further evidence of their disposition to promote the publick good.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

An engrossed Bill, entitled "An Act for carrying into execution a Resolve of the American Congress for ascertaining the number of Inhabitants in this Colony," having passed the House of Representatives, to be enacted,

In Council: Read a second time, and passed a concurrence, to be enacted.

Adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.*

Captain Robert Cochran be allowed to enlist a number of seamen for the purpose mentioned in the letter, and that the Council of this Colony give him a permit for that purpose. All which is submitted.

WALTER SPOONER, per order.

IN COUNCIL, February 16, 1776: Read, and accepted, and thereupon Resolved, That Captain Robert Cochran be permitted by the major part of the Council to enlist a number of seamen for the defence of South-Carolina, not exceeding three hundred men, out of the inhabitants of this Government, excepting such as are employed in the Continental Army in the armed vessels fitted out, either by this Colony or any of the inhabitants thereof, or in the forces raised by this Government for the defence of the sea-coast, (A.) Sent down for concurrence.

PERAZZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

* LETTERS TO THE COMMITTEES OF MACHIAS AND NORTHAMPTON, ON LIEUTENANT KNIGHT'S PLANS.

GENTLEMEN: Yours of the 29th of January last, by Captain Willard, to the President of the Council, is now before us. The subject matter thereof hath been duly considered. Although we could wish that the plans in possession of Lieutenant Knight had been detained, yet we are far from censuring the inhabitants of Machias for not doing it. We are informed they are now in his hands—some steps will be taken to secure them. We approve the measures you have taken with regard to Lieutenant Spy's goods. You will safely retain the whole in your possession, until the further order of this Court.

GENTLEMEN: We are informed that Lieutenant Knight, now confined to the town of Northampton, hath in his possession some valuable and important plans, which, if they should fall into the hands of our enemies, would not only deprive us of an actual survey of our own sea-coast, but enable them with more facility to annoy and distress us. You will, therefore, take all such plans, minutes, and sketches, which he may have relative thereto, into your possession, and safely keep them until the further order of this Court, and advise this Court of your doings.

IN COUNCIL, February 16, 1776: Read, and accepted, and Ordered, That the first Letter herein mentioned be signed by the Secretary, by order of the General Court, and be sent to the Committee of Safety at Machias; and that the last recited Letter be signed by the Secretary by order aforesaid, and be sent to the Committee of Correspondence of Northampton. Sent down for concurrence.

PERAZZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, February 17, 1776: Read, and concurred. WILLIAM COOPER, Speaker pro tem.

Saturday, February 17, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Thomas Cushing, John Whetcomb, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Samuel Holtten, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Petition of Benjamin Crocker of Falmouth, setting forth: "that there is due to him, and others, of Falmouth, large sums of money, to the amount of about seven hundred pounds sterling, in the Islands of Tobago and Grenada. He, therefore, humbly prays that your Honours would permit him to sail from Falmouth (in a vessel in ballast) to said Islands, in order to collect the aforementioned sums."

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That Benjamin Crocker be allowed to go in a Vessel, of which himself is master, to the West-Indies, in order to collect any moneys which may be due to him, and others, there, he giving bonds, with sufficient sureties, in the sum of one thousand Pounds to the Treasurer of this Colony, that he will not carry in said Vessel any cash or produce of the Colonies, and that he will return to some port of the United Colonies, (other than Boston, Nantucket, or New-York;) with the proceeds of the collection of such debts, and not purchase Goods from any Island contrary to the Continental Association; and, it is hereby recommended to the said Crocker, to purchase Arms, Ammunition, or any kind of Military Stores, enumerated in a late Resolution of the Congress, if there to be obtained; and, that the Committee of Inspection of Falmouth be, and hereby are directed to see that there be no more Provisions carried off in said Vessel, than what is necessary for victualling the people belonging to her in said voyage.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, to Philip Hodgskins, and others, the sum of four hundred Pounds, to supply the necessities of the Inhabitants between Penobscot and Goldsborough.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it is of the utmost consequence, that there be procured a sufficient quantity of Sulphur, for manufacturing into Gunpowder the Saltpetre that may be obtained:

Resolved, That there be allowed, and paid out of the Treasury of this Colony, for every pound of good and merchantable Sulphur that shall be refined from mines and ores within this Colony, and delivered to the Commissary-General of this Colony before the 1st day of July next, a bounty of nine Pence per pound, in addition to the like sum which the Committee of this Court for procuring that article are already directed to give; the venders of such Sulphur producing a certificate from the major part of the Selectmen of any town where such Sulphur is refined, certifying in what Town and County within this Colony the same was produced and refined; and that Captain Brown get this Resolve printed in the several Newspapers.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Resolved, That the Committee lately appointed to build, rig, and fix ten armed Sloops be, and they hereby are empowered, to suspend contracting for more than five of that number, until, upon making full inquiry, they shall have a probable prospect of obtaining the necessary materials for rigging and equipping the same; and, instead thereof, said Committee are hereby authorized, also to purchase, rig, and fix five suitable Vessels already built, for the purpose of defence, of any other denomination and dimensions than those specified in a former Resolve, according to their best discretion; and, said Committee are further empowered to import, at the risk and expense of this Colony, any materials they shall find necessary for rigging and fixing any of the aforesaid Vessels, as they shall judge best, not infringing upon any Resolves of the Continental Congress.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

Mr. Phillips came up with a message from the House, to desire the Board to suspend granting the commissions of General Officers, and Brigadiers of this Colony, till the next sitting of the General Court.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That Mr. Dix and Major Johnson be added to the Committee on the Rolls of the Militia and Minute-Men, who are to sit in the recess of this Court, so long as a quorum of the Council shall sit.

In Council: Read, and concurred.

The Committee of both Houses, appointed to make inquiry after virgin Lead, &c., beg leave to report, that a sub-Committee has been to Northampton and examined the Lead-Mine there, which has been worked, and in which, as Mr. Clapp, Clerk of the Works, informed us, much loss had been sustained. He, also, told us that Mr. Bowdoin, Colonel Ward, and Mr. Hedge, were the present proprietors; that they owned about two hundred and twenty-five acres of land, had a Storehouse, Stamping-Mill, and Smelting-House; that they would sell their estate there for one thousand pounds, lawful money, as he believed that their land is bounded about half a mile upon a river, upon which is said Mill. Said Clapp also said, that many assays had been made upon the ore, and it produced, in that small way, from fifty to seventy-five per cent. Lead; but, in smelting in the large way of business, they could not produce any Lead, but it all ran into glass, they not understanding the business. He said that they stamped and washed the ore, and in that state, without smelting, they sold in considerable quantities to the potters.

The sub-Committee are of opinion, that if the present proprietors' right be purchased, it will be necessary to purchase other lands, perhaps to the amount of one thousand pounds, lawful money, more, so as to command the river roads, and the summit of the mountains, in which, it is likely, are better mines than that which has been opened; and, as the buildings are much out of repair, and others will be needed to carry on the business, it will require at least one thousand pounds, lawful money, more, to set the work in a good way of business. There will be twelve or fourteen niles cartage to water carriage.

The sub-Committee have, also, examined a Lead-Mine in Southampton, very convenient for working and water; but, as this had not been opened, and the winter preventing, they could not make full discovery of the quantity. They, also, examined a Mine in Worcester, but its situation would not admit of its being worked.

The sub-Committee brought from Northampton some of the ore, and obtained Mr. Clarke to make an assay, in doing which he saved twenty-five per cent. Lead, and he supposed that he washed or lost in the operation twenty-five per cent. more. They have, also, endeavoured to have another assay made by Mr. Hurd, but, his fire-place being very small, the assay failed, he not being able to raise a sufficient heat.

The Committee beg leave to sit again, and desire to be instructed whether they shall now transmit this Report to the American Congress, or wait for further light in this matter, and, also, whether they shall examine into the process, &c., of the Lead-Works now carrying on at Middletown, in Connecticut.

ELDAD TAYLOR, per order.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and that the said Committee be directed to sit again, and transmit a copy of the foregoing Report to the American Congress, and, also, to examine into the process, &c., of the Lead-Works now carrying on at Middletown, Connecticut, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, the Administration of Great Britain, by their despotick and cruel measures, from time to time, and finally by shedding the blood of the inhabitants of the British-American Colonies, has obliged us to take up arms for our defence, and thereby we are engaged in an unnatural war, which has, in a considerable degree, prevented the importation of Bread, Corn, Flour, and other articles of subsistence and defence, into this Government, from the neighbouring Colonies, whereby great part of the usual supply is cut short; and, as the sea-coasts of this Colony are surrounded with ships-of-war and cutters, which makes it necessary for our defence an armed force should be stationed in various parts thereof, which army cannot be subsisted and defended without an importation of those supplies, and it being of great importance proper measures should be pursued, to prevent the distresses that may arise from the want of the said articles;

Therefore, Resolved, That Thomas Dufree, Esq., Daniel Davis, Esq., Captain Josiah Batchelder, with such as the honourable Board may join, be, and they are hereby, appointed a Committee to agree for, and fix out, with all possible despatch, on account of this Colony, on the best terms, as many vessels as may be sufficient for the importing ten thousand barrels of Flour, two thousand casks of Rice, and one hundred tons of Pig-Iron, from any of the Southern Colonies that shall to them appear most safe, and may be effected in the most expeditious manner; and that the said Committee deliver unto the Commissary-General of this Colony the aforesaid Flour, Rice, and Iron, when imported, taking his receipt for the same.

And it is further Resolved, That there be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, into the hands of said Committee, the sum of eighteen thousand Pounds, for the above purpose, said Committee to be accountable to this Court for the same.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Walter Spooner and Moses Gill, Esquires, are joined.

In Council: Whereas, Benjamin Greenleaf, Esquire, was appointed one of the Committee of this Court for building sundry sloops-of-war, and his attendance at the Council is necessary for the despatch of the important business of this Colony, on which account he has desired to be excused from the service of building the said sloops:

Therefore, Ordered, That Richard Derby, Esquire, be appointed on said Committee for building the said Sloops, in his room.

In the House of Representatives: Read, and concurred.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That Mr. Phillips, Colonel Brooks, and Mr. Vose, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to make some further experiments of the Saltpetre that is manufactured in this Colony.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Benjamin Lincoln and John Taylor, Esquires, are joined.

Adjourned to Monday morning, ten o'clock.

Monday, February 19, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Thomas Cushing, John Wheelcomb, Samuel Holten, Eldad Taylor, Jedediah Foster, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Jabez Fisher, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Benjamin White, Esquires.

Major Hawley, Colonel Freeman, Major Fuller, Mr. Cheever, and Captain Goodman, came up with a message from the House, to acquaint the Board the House is desirous of a conference with both Houses, (immediately, if the Board pleases,) on the subject of regulating Law Processes in Civil Causes, and the Proceedings of the Inferior Courts of Common Pleas in the several Counties of this Colony, until some days in the sitting of this Court after their next meeting.

Thomas Cushing, Esquire, went down with a message to inform the House that they agreed to the foregoing proposal of the House, and that, as the Council-Chamber was not sufficient to hold both Houses, the Board proposed that the Conference be held in the Meeting-House, and that the Board were ready to attend, whenever the House should signify to the Board that they were ready.

Colonel Freeman came up with a message from the House, to inform the Board that the House are now ready to proceed on the proposed Conference, and that they had proposed, also, that the President of the Council should preside at the Conference.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That Major Hawley, Mr. Speaker, Colonel Brooks, Major Fuller, and Major Bliss, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to consider what is proper to be done with respect to regulating Proceedings in Civil Causes, &c., and report.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Thomas Cushing, Jedediah Foster, Esquires, are joined.

In the House of Representatives: Ordered, That be a Committee, with such as the honourable Board may join, to take into consideration a Letter from the Honourable James Otis, Esquire, relative to a French Vessel cast on shore on the Cape.

In Council: Read and concurred, and Benjamin Lincoln, Joseph Palmer, and Moses Gill, Esqs., are joined.

Adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, February 20, 1776.

Present in Council: Honourables Benjamin Greenleaf, Walter Spooner, Caleb Cushing, Thomas Cushing, John Wheelcomb, Samuel Holten, Jabez Fisher, Jedediah Foster, Eldad Taylor, Benjamin Lincoln, Michael Farley, Joseph Palmer, Moses Gill, John Taylor, Esquires.

In the House of Representatives: It having been the laudable practice of this Government, to recommend and appoint days for fasting and prayer, upon solemn and special occasions, besides our Annual Fast; and as this Court apprehend, that the present time is big with the most important events, to this and the other Colonies, and that these events are in the hands of the Supreme Governour of the Universe,

Therefore, unanimously Resolved, That the honourable Board be, and hereby are desired to set apart Thursday, the 7th day of March next, to be observed as a Day of Solemn Humiliation and Prayer, devoutly to implore of Almighty God, that the vocal dispensations of Providence, in the peculiar events which have lately taken place, may be duly resented, and the great end for which they are designed, happily accomplished. That He will, also, command His blessings upon our Council and Arms in the present struggle with Great Britain, for those inestimable rights, civil and religious, with which God and Nature has invested us, and made it our duty to endeavour at every hazard to hand down to posterity; and that they cause a Proclamation to be immediately issued, and sent to the several Ministers and Pastors of the several denominations of Christians in this Colony, for the purpose aforesaid.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Ordered, That Benjamin Greenleaf, Thomas Cushing, and Jedediah Foster, be a Committee to draft a Proclamation for the purpose aforesaid, and report.

In the House of Representatives: Whereas, it is probable, it may be found for the interest of the Colony, that part of quantities of the Flour and Rice, lately ordered to be imported from the Southward, should be brought into some port eastward of Boston,

Resolved, That in addition to the Committee already appointed to procure the same, there be chosen from that part of the Province, two more for the same purpose, and Major Cross is accordingly chosen on the part of this House.

In Council: Read, and concurred, and Benjamin Greenleaf, Esquire, is joined.

Mr. Brown came up with a message from the House, to inform the major part of the Council, that the House had now no business of a publick nature before them, and that they desired a recess to the 20th March next.

Mr. Phillips came up with a message from the House, to inform the major part of the Council, that the House had reconsidered their former request, and desired to be adjourned or prorogued to the 13th of March next.

The Secretary went down with a verbal message to the House, from the major part of the Council, which he delivered in the words following, viz:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed by their Honours, of the major part of the Council, to acquaint the honourable House that they have consented to the enactment of the following Bills:

A Bill for assessing a Tax of seventy-five thousand Pounds, to defray the charges of this Colony.

A Bill for regulating the Militia of this Colony.

A Bill for altering the places of holding the Courts of Law in the County of Suffolk.

A Bill to enable the Inhabitants of Falmouth to support prosecutions against persons who have in possession goods taken from said Inhabitants during the late fire.

A Bill for reviving a number of Laws that are expired, or near expiring.

A Bill to encourage the fixing out of Armed Vessels for the defence of America.

A Bill for carrying into execution a Resolve of the American Congress, for ascertaining the number of Inhabitants in this Colony.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House a Letter from the Rev. Mr. Gordon, desiring to be excused from further serving the House as a Chaplain.

Whereupon, Resolved, That the House will now come to the choice of a Chaplain.

Ordered, That Mr. Rawson, Mr. Wheeler, and Mr. Cooper, be a Committee to sort and count the votes.

Who reported, that Dr. Cooper was unanimously chosen.

Ordered, That Mr. Rawson wait on Dr. Cooper, and acquaint him of this choice.

The House then adjourned, to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, November 30, 1775.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House a Letter from the President of the Continental Congress, enclosing a Letter from the Continental Agents, dated London, September 2, 1775, giving information of their having presented the Petition of said Congress, and that no answer would be given. Read and sent up.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House a Letter from the President of the Continental Congress, dated Philadelphia, November 1, 1775, enclosing a number of Resolves of Congress.

Read, and Ordered, That Mr. Gardner, Major Cross, and Colonel Bowers, with such as the honourable Board shall join, consider said Resolves, and report.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That the Committee for preparing Accounts for the Continental Congress, have liberty to take out of the Clerk's files such Vouchers as they may need to accomplish that business.

Moses Gill, Esq., brought down from the honourable Board the Letter from General Washington, sent up yesterday, with the Report of a Committee thereon, signed

BENJAMIN LINCOLN, per order.

In Council, November 30th, 1775: Read and accepted; and thereupon, Resolved, That Joseph Palmer, Esquire, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, and with the General Officers, to devise some method whereby the deficiency in the Army, which may be caused by the Connecticut Forces leaving the service, and the furloughs granted to part of the Forces enlisted for the next year, can be supplied, and make report: And also, that Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to prepare a draft of a Letter to his Excellency General Washington, in answer to the last paragraph in said Letter, showing the reasons of this Colony's paying their men by lunar months. (A.) That it is not an innovation, and that it is matter of concern to this Court, that while we are doing justice to our men by complying with our contract with them, that it should produce disorder in the Army. (B.)

Read and concurred, with the amendment at A. B., viz: dele from A to B. And Mr. Speaker and Colonel Bowers are joined on the Committee, to wait on his Excellency General Washington, with the other General Officers; and Colonel Orne and Mr. Gerry are joined on the Committee, to report a Letter to his Excellency, in answer to the last paragraph in his Letter.

A Petition from the Selectmen of Newbury, praying an allowance for their trouble and expense in providing and collecting Blankets, Provisions, and Clothing, for the use of the Army, in obedience to repeated orders from Congress, and Committee of Supplies. And also, payment for provision and other articles procured for the men who marched on the 19th of April.

Read, and committed to Mr. Gardner, Mr. Hopkins, and Mr. Bryant.

A Petition from a Committee in behalf of the Town of Mendon, praying payment for Provisions expended for the subsistence of four Companies, who marched from that town on the 19th of April.

Read, and committed to the Committee on accounts of this nature.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That all Petitions from the Selectmen of the several Towns for allowance of charges, that have arisen by their procuring and conveying Provisions to their Soldiers on and about the 19th of April, be presented immediately to the Committee for considering accounts of that nature, without being first presented to this House.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Winthrop Gray be of the Committee for providing conveyances for the Poor of Boston, in the room of Mr. Pierce.

Mr. Rawson reported, that he had waited on Doctor Cooper, and that the Doctor's health, situation, and other engagements, would not admit of his attending the House as a Chaplain.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Cooper, Colonel Barret, and Major Cross, be a Committee to make inquiry and nominate to this House some suitable person to officiate as a Chaplain, and also for proper accommodations for his residence in this town, if necessary.

Afternoon.

A Petition of Nathan Wheeler, setting forth: "that though he had enlisted a considerable number of soldiers, he failed of a commission, by reason of the person from whom he received his orders, being deemed unworthy to have a regiment; that notwithstanding, he has continued in the service as a subaltern officer, and was in the late action at Charlestown, but has not received any establishment whereby he can be intitled to pay until the first of July;" and praying the interposition of this Court.

Read, and committed to Mr. Crane, Mr. Pitts, and Colonel Thayer.

A Petition of John Stevens, Chairman of the Committee of Safety and Correspondence of the Town of Gloucester, praying for Cannon, Ammunition, more Soldiers, and a number of Artillerymen, with a Field Officer to command the Troops stationed there, and the Militia when necessary, for the further defence of that Harbour.

Read, and committed to Captain Batchelder, Mr. Crane, and Mr. Hopkins.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Major Johnson, Colonel Thayer, and Mr. Nye, be a Committee to inquire whether the Commissary-General of this Colony and his Deputies have a right to make contracts with Bakers, and whether such contracts have been made.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Orne, Mr. Story, and Mr. Gerry, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve empowering the Standing Committee of this House on Accounts, to pass on Accounts of Innholders, for affording entertainment to Soldiers on their march from their homes to the Army, and also to Prisoners and their Guards, and for the support of sick Soldiers and Indians.

The House then adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, December 1, 1775.

A Petition of Thomas Livermore, in behalf of a number of Prisoners in the Jail at Ipswich, setting forth, that they are in great need of Clothing, and praying relief.

Read, and committed to Mr. Story, Captain Gates, and Colonel Spaulding.

The Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve for enlarging the Commission of the Standing Committee on Accounts reported. Read and accepted.

Resolved, That the Standing Committee of the House on Accounts be, and they hereby are directed to receive and examine all the Accounts of Tavernkeepers which shall be presented to this House in consequence of a Resolve of the Court of the 7th of November last, and that they certify on such Accounts the sums that are due to such Taverners, whose Accounts shall be vouched agreeable to said Resolve; and having thus proceeded, they are further directed to deliver them to the Committee which shall be hereafter appointed to receive and pass upon the Muster-Rolls of the Militia and Minute-Men ordered in said Resolve, and not to send them without further directions, to the Committee of Council appointed to concur, and make payment of such Accounts as shall have been passed by the first-mentioned Committee.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Dr. Fletcher be added to the Standing Committee on Accounts, to assist them in passing on such Accounts as may be exhibited against the Colony by Physicians and Surgeons.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House a Letter received from Colonel Joseph Otis, of Barnstable.

Whereupon Ordered, That Colonel Orne, Mr. Caldwell, and Mr. Story, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to take the same into consideration, and to inquire into the conduct of the people at Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard, and report.

Moses Gill, Esq., brought down the Report of a Committee appointed to wait on the General Officers, and confer with them on the measures proper to be taken that our lines may be duly defended at this crisis.

Afternoon.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Lovell, Captain Toby, and Captain Knowles, be a Committee to receive all Petitions and Accounts of those who received wounds from the enemy on and since the 19th of April.

A Petition from John Tidd; also from Joseph Cornell; also from Dennison Wallis; setting forth, that they sustained losses and suffered wounds from the enemy on the 19th of April; also a Petition of Alexander Parren, representing that he is rendered incapable of serving his country any longer as a soldier, or supporting his family, by means of a wound received in the battle on Bunker's Hill; and praying consideration.

Read, and committed to the Committee appointed this day to receive Petitions of this nature.

Moses Gill, Esq., brought down from the honourable Board a Memorial from General Frye, setting forth the importance of Falmouth Town and Neck, the works that are there prepared, and the necessity of further provision for the safety of that Post.

Read, and Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Colonel Sawyer, and Colonel Barrett, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration this Memorial, and report.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Speaker and Colonel Orne, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to acquaint his Excellency General Washington with the importance of Cape-Cod Harbour, and confer with him on some method to deprive the enemy of the advantage they now receive therefrom.

Ordered, That Mr. Story bring in a Resolve providing for the settlement of Accounts that are and may be exhibited by Innholders and others, for entertainment afforded to Soldiers on their march from their homes to Head-Quarters; also for support of prisoners and their guards, as well as others.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That the Committee who are appointed to provide for the removal of those Inhabitants of Boston, to the several Towns in the country, who are unable to remove themselves, be directed to procure teams for this purpose, on the best terms they are able.

Benjamin White, Esq., brought down a Report of the Committee for proportioning three thousand and eight men among the several Regiments in particular Counties in this Colony.

Samuel Holten, Esq., brought down the following Vote of Council, viz:

In Council, December 1, 1775: Ordered, That Mr. Spooner and Colonel Lincoln, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration the state and circumstances of the Sea-Coasts, and report whether, in their opinion, the whole or any part of the men stationed for the defence thereof, can with safety be discharged, and if any can be, in what part of the Colony, that they may have an opportunity, if they see cause, of joining the recruits.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Gerry, Dr. Baylies, and Colonel Spaulding are joined.

Ordered, That Colonel Orne procure five hundred copies of the Resolve for raising part of the Militia to be printed as soon as possible.

Ordered, That Mr. Gardner go to the honourable Board, and inquire if they have passed on the Resolve for raising part of the Militia.

Who reported that he had delivered the message.

Moses Gill, Esq., came down, and informed the House that the honourable Board had passed on the Resolve for raising part of the Militia, by concurring the same.

Mr. Stone, according to order, brought in a Resolve providing for the settlement of certain Accounts of Innholders, which was accepted, and is as follows, viz:

In the House of Representatives, December 1, 1775.

Resolved, That the Standing Committee of this House on Accounts be, and they are hereby directed to receive and examine all the Accounts of Tavernkeepers and others, which shall be presented to this House, for supporting the Soldiers in their march from their homes to Head-Quarters, and that they allow such Accounts as shall be properly vouched, and that they keep all such Accounts upon a separate file, and deliver the same to the Committee appointed to examine the Muster-Rolls of the Army, that they may be able to make such deductions as shall be necessary.

And it is further Resolved, That the Standing Committee aforesaid be, and they hereby are directed to receive and examine all Accounts of Tavernkeepers and others, for support of prisoners and their guards, and also for support of sick Soldiers and Indians; and upon their being properly vouched, that they allow and pass the same.

Resolved, That the Standing Committee of this House on Accounts be, and they are hereby directed to receive and examine all the Accounts of Tavernkeepers which shall be presented to this House, in consequence of a Resolve of the Court of the 7th of November last, and that they certify on such Accounts the sums that are due to such Taverners, whose Accounts shall be vouched agreeable to said Resolve, and having thus proceeded, they are further directed to deliver them to the Committee, which shall be hereafter appointed to receive and pass upon the Muster-Rolls of the Militia and Minute-Men ordered in said Resolve: And not to send them without further directions, to the Committee of Council appointed to concur and make payment of such Accounts as shall have passed by the first-mentioned Committee.

A Petition of Francis Brown; also of Nathaniel Farmer; setting forth the loss and damage that they sustain by means of wounds which they received on the 19th of April, and praying relief.

Read, and committed to the Committee for receiving Petitions of wounded men.

The House then adjourned, to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Saturday, December 2, 1775.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Sayer bring in a Resolve directing Mr. Nye to use his utmost endeavours to raise one hundred and twenty-eight men in the East Regiment, in the County of Barnstable.

The Committee appointed at the last sitting of the Court to procure Wood and Hay for the Army, made report of their doings, and proposed a measure for the more effectual supply of the article of Wood. Whereupon the following Order was passed, viz:

Whereas, it appears that the camps at Cambridge, Charlestown, and Medford, consumes fifty-eight cords of Wood per day, viz: twenty-four at Cambridge, sixteen at Prospect-Hill, and eighteen at Winter-Hill; and the camp at Roxbury consumes seventeen cords per day. In order that there may be a daily supply, Ordered, That the Members of this House, from the Towns of Needham, Newton, Weston, Waltham, Lincoln, Bedford, Woburn, Reading, Stoneham, Lexington, Wilmington, and Malden, be a Committee to apportion and make out what quantity it is proper each of said towns (and the Town of Natick) should supply, daily, of the fifty-eight cords, and to which place they shall send it; also, that the Members from the Towns of Roxbury, Dedham, Stoughton, Dorchester, Braintree, and Milton, with Messrs. Perry and Metcalf, be another Committee to determine what part of the seventeen cords each of said towns shall send to the camp at Roxbury, daily. As soon as said Committees have made return what quantity each town should supply, there go a recommendation from the honourable Court to said towns, to carry their respective quotas accordingly.

Ordered, That Mr. Story, Captain Goodman, and Colonel Orne, bring in a Resolve to direct a Committee to collect a part of the Militia, in the several Counties, agreeable to a Resolve of yesterday.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Cutt be of the Committee on the Memorial from General Frye, and also of the Committee on the state and circumstances of the Sea-Coasts, in the room of Mr. Gerry.

Mr. Story, from the Committee, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That Mr. Guild, for the County of Suffolk; Messrs. Hopkins, Phillips, Mighil, and Major Cross, for the County of Essex; Colonel Spaulding, Colonel Barret, Colonel Smith, and Mr. Whitney, for the County of Middlesex; Colonel Cushing, Major White, and Colonel Sprout, for the County of Plymouth; Colonel Joseph Otis, for the County of Barnstable; Doctor Baylies, Major Hodges, and Captain Carpenter, for the County of Bristol; Mr. Singletary, Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Rice, Mr. Allen, and Captain Flagg, for the County of Worcester; Captain Goodman, Major Hawley, Major Bliss, and Colonel Field, for the County of Hampshire, be, and they hereby are severally appointed to use their utmost endeavours to raise the men, proportioned and fixed on the several towns, in their respective Counties, form them into Companies, and direct their march to Head-Quarters, agreeable to a Resolve of this House yesterday.

Ordered, That Mr. Hopkins procure one hundred copies of the above Resolve, to be printed as soon as may be.

The Committee on the Petition of John Stevens, Chairman of the Committee of Gloucester, reported. Read, and accepted, as follows, viz:

In the House of Representatives, December 2, 1775.

Considering the importance of the Harbour of Gloucester to this Colony, the exposedness of the same to the enemy, it appears necessary, that in addition to the provision already made, that more men should be stationed there to complete and defend the fortifications already erected and erecting,

Therefore, Resolved, That there be two Companies immediately raised, consisting of fifty men each, including Officers, upon the same establishment of the Forces raised for the defence of the Sea-Coasts: one Company of which to be employed to manage the artillery; and that suitable Officers be commissioned to raise and command the same. The above Companies to continue in said service till the first day of April next, unless discharged before that time by order of this Court.

And it is further Resolved, That a General Officer be appointed to take the command of the Forces stationed at Gloucester, who shall be empowered to call in the neighbouring Militia upon any emergency, as he shall judge necessary, and discharge them again, as soon as the service will admit of the same, and that the above Officers be chosen, by joint ballot, of the honourable Board and this House.

Colonel Sayer, agreeable to order, reported the following Resolve. Read, and accepted, viz:

Resolved, That Mr. Nye be appointed to repair to the East Regiment, in the County of Barnstable, and use his utmost endeavours to raise and form into Companies, one hundred and twenty-eight men, who are to be officered, equipped, paid, and supported, in the same manner as is provided by a Resolve of this Court of yesterday, for raising men in several towns in this Colony, and the said men to cause to march, and to be at Head-Quarters on the 10th instant.

The Committee, for apportioning a quantity of Wood on a number of towns, reported.

Whereupon the following Order was passed, viz:

In the House of Representatives, December 2, 1775.

Whereas, the supply of the article of Wood for the Cambridge and Roxbury camps hath not been hitherto fully sufficient to answer the demands, notwithstanding the exertions of this Court for that purpose; and such a deficiency not only tends to the discouragement of the Soldiers from again inlisting into the service of the United Colonies, but, also, may be attended with a dispersion of the Army, the loss of our lives, devastation of towns in the neighbourhood, and ruin of the inhabitants:

Therefore, Resolved, That it be, and hereby is, strongly recommended to the towns in schedule annexed, to take effectual measures for daily supplying the camps with at least the quantities of Wood respectively annexed to their names, and that they by no means fail in this matter, as they regard their own safety and their country's welfare; and it is earnestly requested of the Selectmen and Committees of Correspondence in the towns above named, that they use such precaution as will, at all times, prevent the smallest deficiency of the quantity aforesaid, by means of diligent travelling, or any other contingency.

To be carried to ROXBURY.

Ordered, That Mr. Jewett, Mr. Kingsbury, Captain Moody, Mr. Cooper, and Colonel McIntosh, be a Committee to procure a number of copies of the foregoing Resolve printed or written, as can be done with the greatest despatch.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Story bring in a Resolve for the dismissing a number of men stationed on the Sea-Coast.

Charles Chauncy, Esquire, brought down a Letter from James Sullivan, Esq., giving an account of the works of defence in the Town of Falmouth, and representing the necessity of further provision for the safety of that town, and enclosing a copy of the Proceedings of the Convention of the County of Cumberland.*

* FALMOUTH, November 26, 1775.—SIR: Some time ago I troubled the honourable Board with two letters, wherein I aimed to treat of matters which I thought to be of great importance to the Continent in general, and this Colony in particular, but fearing that a further prolixity in that way might by them be deemed assuming and affrontive, and supposing that the benevolent disposition of your mind, would at the same time it pardons my intruding a long letter on you will induce you to lay such parts of it before the honourable Council, as will have a pertinent tendency to urge them to take under their consideration the importance of preventing the enemies gaining a camp here.

But previous to support me therein, I beg leave to give you a history of what has been done here since Falmouth was destroyed. Soon after Commodore Mowat, who burnt the town, had sailed for Boston, Captain Symonds, in the Cerberus, arrived here, and demanded twenty sheep, two tons of hay, and twenty bushels of potatoes, as a reward for his sparing the few remaining houses; these were denied him by the people, and an alarm spread that he was going to land four hundred men; at the same time the people concluded that the Ministerial army designed to take possession of an eminence on the peninsula of Falmouth-Neck, for rea-

Read, and Ordered, That this Letter, with the Papers accompanying, be committed to the Committee on General Frye's Memorial.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down a Petition of the Committee of Safety of the Town of Salem, praying to be instructed what their duty is respecting Captures made by Privateers. Passed in Council, viz:

In Council, December 2, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That Samuel Holten, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take the within Petition into consideration, and report.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Story and Captain Toby are joined.

Mr. Story, agreeable to order, reported. Read, and accepted.

Whereas, it is necessary that a number of men should be immediately raised, agreeable to a Resolve of this Court of yesterday; and, as it appears to this Court, that the men sons and purposes which I shall hereafter mention to you, and apprehended that those houses which were spared in the conflagration, were intended for barracks, to which belief they were more especially lead by Captain Mowat's telling a person, that he was sorry so many houses were burnt, as the saving more would have better answered his design; but the people still supposed that if the landing those troops were impeded by the Militia, they would endeavour to burn those houses also; this alarm spread into the County of York, with as much terror as in the County of Cumberland.

I, therefore, went with a number of men to contrive, if possible, some method to prevent the expected devastation in this part of the Colony; when I came to Falmouth, there were one hundred and eighty men there, including the sea-coast men, (many had gone away for want of provisions,) the Militia there was commanded by Colonel Mitchell, and Colonel Pogge; and a number of gentlemen were attending. They assembled, and chose me to lead them; an office the honour whereof I was as little ambitious of, as I was capable to well execute it; however, it being thought to be a post of danger, and as that modesty and diffidence which strongly urged me to decline it, might have been deemed cowardice, and tended to the discouragement of the people, I accepted it, and instantly determined to break ground on an eminence on the Neck, which overlooks the land for twenty miles round; but as Captain Symons had sent a proclamation on shore, that if we went to erect any fortification he would fire upon us, I thought he might annoy the people; and finding that there was then in town three hundred weight of powder, besides the small stocks in the adjacent towns, and two good double fortified six-pounders, tolerably well mounted, I ordered the people in the night to throw up a battery on an advantageous point, near the ship, in order to combat her if she fired on the people, who were to trounce on the eminence. The zeal and resolution with which the people set about the execution of this plan was much beyond my expectation, but just as we drew to the designed place, the Cerberus, though in the dark, weighed anchor, and put to sea, but apprehending that she might return the next morning, we continued our labour all night; but she has not returned.

On the 7th instant, the Convention of Committees of this County met, and though their proceedings may want some accuracies, yet the spirit obvious in them does honour to the County; and I, therefore, take the liberty of enclosing a copy of them.

Since that time we have erected two batteries, cannon-proof, one bearing two double fortified six, and two ditto nine-pounders, and one three-pounder; and the other battery bears four double fortified long nine-pounders; all which, except the six-pounders, have been mounted since I came here, and we have gratefully received some guns and powder from the General Court. Upon the eminence we have got a fort in great forwardness, and should before now have completed the parapet of it, had not the severity of the weather prevented us. This is all done by the Militia of these two Counties, with some assistance of the sea-coast men. The Militia readily attended with their provision, tools, &c.

There is still wanted a redoubt or two, and other advanced works, on the hill, which, with finishing the citadel, must be deferred until the weather is more favourable.

We much rejoice at the appointment of General Frye, who arrived here yesterday, and have the highest expectation, from his acknowledged ability and integrity, provided he was in such a situation as would render him active; but I am sorry to say that the General Court has commanded him to fight with his hands bound. In his appointment over the Militia, he is confined to the County of Cumberland, and all his operations are limited to that place, while the County of York are as much interested in, and anxiously concerned for the defence of Falmouth-Neck, as the County of Cumberland. This seems an effectual bar to that union of the Counties, which, at this time, is so absolutely necessary; he, therefore, should have been, and I hope yet will be appointed Major-General of the Militia in these two, if not in the lower County. And when this is done, unless the Militia is organized, as I hope soon it will be, he had as good try to command the sea, as them in time of action. In his other department, as commander of two hundred and fifty sea-coast men, whose time expires within one month, he can do nothing to the purpose, but if there should four hundred marines be landed, must fall a sacrifice, before any considerable number of our scattering Militia could be collected to reinforce him. Besides this, when he calls the Militia, (and if they should obey him,) he has no way to find them provision, or any authority to provide one single necessary for his formidable army of two hundred and fifty men. This is the situation of this honourable gentleman, which I should not have mentioned, if I had not the honour to belong to the Assembly.

Now, sir, what remains, is to show you why I apprehend that there is danger of the enemy's taking this post, and what I supposed to be a rational plan to prevent so great a calamity; but I must beg your pardon for this prolixity, which is not occasioned by the love of writing, but by the regard I have for the people, and the cause they are engaged in.

stationed upon the Sea-Coasts in the Towns of Newbury, Dartmouth, Rochester, and Wareham, may, without any inconvenience, be spared from any further service in guarding the Sea-Coasts in those towns: Therefore,

Resolved, That the men stationed on the Sea-Coasts in the Towns of Newbury, Dartmouth, Rochester, and Wareham, be, and they hereby are dismissed from the service aforesaid, from and after the fifth day of December instant, and that no further pay, or allowance, be made for that service after that time.

Upon a motion made, and seconded,

Resolved, That a general attendance of the Members of this House, is, at this time, indispensably necessary for the despatch of publick business; and, all Members not necessarily detained by sickness, or absent by order of the House, are enjoined, forthwith, to attend their duty therein until particular leave of absence can be granted, or a recess takes place.

This is undoubtedly one of the best harbours in the Continent, and the only one for the space of two hundred miles, between Boston and Sheepcut, where a ship can now lie in safety in the winter, and could they be kept out of this harbour, our privateers might cruise in safety; but if they hold this post, our navigation is at an end, and famine is the consequence.

If an army of fifteen hundred men should be lodged on the eminence before mentioned, with a proper train, ten thousand would not force their lines; and as provision for our sustenance cannot be raised here, we must come to them for bread; and where there is no army, or command, the slaughter of a few persons will bring many to submission. This observation I take to be founded in human nature; and it is in vain for people to talk of dying rather than submitting, for when we are furnished, overpowered, or disarmed, we must submit, and are criminal in not doing it; and an entire submission of these Counties when the enemies are possessed of this ground, can be prevented only in three ways, to wit: by forcing their lines, destroying their navy, or watching their motions, with an army much superior in numbers to theirs.

If the importance of these Counties are held as trifling by our Assembly, (as I am sensible they are not,) they will be so with the Continental Congress, and the possession of them by our enemies will make a vast odds in the war; for, beside the distress of the people here, the Ministerial army will be able to furnish the West-Indies with lumber, their several detachments with beef, wood, greens, roots, &c., &c., and the Tories now starting in Boston, with comfortable dwellings and farms. These things appear to me to be a sufficient inducement to the Regulars, while they can gain and hold so important a post with a thousand men, to do it; and if they do, we must inevitably submit, or carry famine with us to the westward of Merrimack-River.

This can never be prevented but by an expense which ought to, and I doubt not will be borne by the Continent. It would be cruel to expect the Militia, either to complete or defend the works begun, for in a small space of time after a fleet appears in sight, with a good wind, the soldiers may be landed and formed, and the assembling a body of the Militia in this country, where the inhabitants are scattering, is a work of time; and, therefore, the most rational plan in my mind is the having a garrison of one thousand men here, under General Frye, and the Militia in these three Counties, organized in small regiments and companies, under his command, and then I dare be answerable for his success. This expense may be lightened by having no other sea-coast men from York to Kennebeck, where there is now four hundred, except what the General shall send on scouting parties.

I am informed that General Washington has said, that if the General Court would request it, he would send a regiment here; it is true that as the season now is, there can be little done at fortification, but there must be a vast many pickets got this winter, to enable a thousand men to defend this post in the spring, while the Militia may be gathering to reinforce them, and flat-bottomed boats should be provided to transport the Militia over the water here, and in this way General Frye may employ his forces this winter, so as to be able to receive an attack in the spring.

I am, sir, with the greatest respect, your most obedient and most humble servant,
JAMES SULLIVAN.

To the Honourable Jahn Winthrop, Honourable Benjamin Greenleaf, or the Honourable Benjamin Lincoln.

P. S. You have a copy of a letter from General Washington to Colonel Pinney.

FALMOUTH, November 7, 1775.—Met on adjournment of the County Convention.

The Committee appointed to view the ground for fortification, made their Report to this Convention, which is as follows, viz:

We, whose names are under written, a Committee chosen by this Convention to view and fix upon some proper places in Falmouth, for intrenching and erecting a fortification, or fortifications, for the defence, security, and government of said harbour, beg leave to report, that we attended the service, and we took upon us the view, and find the eminence on the Neck will command the whole harbour, and a redoubt on an eminence on Brinhat's Hill, which commands the country, and three or four redoubt batteries elsewhere; and on the south side of the harbour, two batteries, one on Spring-Point, the other on Portland-Head. All which is humbly submitted.

November 7, 1775.

JONATHAN MITCHELL,
SOLOMON LOMBARD.

Voted, To accept the foregoing Report.

Whereas, the Committee from this Convention to view Falmouth-Neck, and many of the Militia officers in this County, and some of the officers of other Counties, and a number of other gentlemen that were assembled at Falmouth, the 4th day of this instant, November, for the safety and protection of this County: did choose James Sullivan, Esq.,

Ordered, That Colonel Sayer procure the above Resolve to be printed in the Watertown and Cambridge Papers.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Captain Knowles be of the Committee on the Resolve of the Continental Congress, in the room of Major Cross.

The House then adjourned to Monday next, ten o'clock, A. M.

Monday, December 4, 1775.

Eldad Taylor, Esq., brought down a Letter, informing that some deserters reported that a number of persons, who had been inoculated, were to be sent out of Boston by General Hove, with a design to spread the Small-Pox among the Troops; which being read,

Resolved, That Colonel Thayer, Deacon Rawson, and Mr. Pitts, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider the same, and report as soon as may be what is proper to be done thereon.

to be Commander-in-chief of the Forces at Falmouth, and four others as assistants, viz: Colonel Jonathan Mitchell, Colonel Reuben Fogg, Deacon Benjamin Titcomb, and Major Peter Noyes, and, also, a number of other officers necessary.

Voted, That this Convention approve of said choice.

Voted, To adjourn this meeting for half an hour, in order for dinner.

Met on adjournment.

Voted, Jeremiah Powell, Esq., Solomon Lombard, Esq., and Colonel Jonathan Mitchell, be a Committee to form a vote on a matter that hath been in debate.

Upon the Report of the Committee, Voted, That James Sullivan, Esq., Colonel Jonathan Mitchell, Colonel Reuben Fogg, Major Peter Noyes, and Deacon Benjamin Titcomb, the Committee appointed by the body of the people, be directed and empowered by this Convention to take up all tools and implements necessary, and such teams and all other things wanting, that they think proper for the carrying on the intrenching and erecting batteries for the defence of Falmouth-Neck and Cape Elizabeth, that is now undertaken; also, to compute what number of men will be necessary to carry on the said work with all the expedition possible, over and above what soldiers are in the pay of the Province, and the kind assistance of the other Counties; and for said gentlemen to proportion them on the several towns in this County; and that an account be kept of all that assist either in men or material, and other things wanted and thought necessary, that it may be brought in as a publick expense, as shall hereafter be thought best.

Voted, To send a Petition to the General Court, and another to General Washington, setting forth the distressed state of this County, and humbly imploring their assistance; and that Solomon Lombard, Esquire, John Lewis, Esquire, and Nathaniel Jones, Esquire, be a Committee to draw up said Petitions, and lay them before this Convention, the next morning.

Voted, To adjourn this Convention to eight of the clock, to-morrow morning, and then to meet at that place.

Met upon adjournment.

The Committee made their Report, and presented their drafts of the Petitions, which were read, and an acceptance thereof voted by this Convention, and ordered that the Chairman sign them in their behalf.

Upon a motion made, relating to sending over sea after Powder.

Voted, To put off the affair until the adjournment of this Convention, humbly requesting of James Sullivan, Esquire, that he would inquire after, and point out to us, at the adjournment, the most expedient way to procure the same.

Voted, That it be recommended to the Committees of the several towns in this County upon the sea-shore, that they procure all the Boats or Canoes suitable to carry men to the Islands, or elsewhere, as the emergency of any case may require; and that they make their report, at the next adjournment of this Convention, as to the number they can procure.

Voted, That the Chairman of this Convention sign a Letter, enclosing the two Petitions, and directed to Samuel Freeman, Esquire, humbly requesting of him to present one to General Washington, and the other to the General Court, and use his utmost endeavours that the same may succeed, and make returns to us as soon as possible; and that Enoch Merrill be the bearer of the Letter to Mr. Freeman.

Voted, That the thanks of this Convention be returned to the Committee of North-Yarmouth, for manifesting their concern for the welfare of this County, in its distressed circumstances, so far as to take the lead, and invite the Committees of the several towns in this County to meet, in order to consult and act upon measures for the safety of it.

Voted, That the Commission Officers in each town be directed to keep an Account of the Men, Provisions, and Materials that they have furnished, or shall hereafter furnish, for the works on Falmouth-Neck and Cape Elizabeth.

Voted, That the Officer or Officers sent from each town be directed to give an account, every night, to the General Officer, or Officers, of the Men that have laboured or served under him, or them, for each day.

Voted, To adjourn this Convention to Thursday, the 23d day of this instant November, at ten of the clock, A. M., and then to meet at this place; and in case there should be any emergency that may require this Convention to be assembled before that time, that the Chairman shall call upon the Members to meet, as occasion may require.

A true extract from the Minutes:

Read, and committed to Mr. Pitts, Major Moody, and Mr. Hobart.

A Petition of Joseph Greenleaf, Esquire, representing that he, together with Doctor Jonathan King, and Captain Phineas Upham, had discovered the method of manufacturing Copperas and Alum; also, Oils of Vitriol and Sulphur, Spirits and Balsam of Sulphur, and praying for an exclusive privilege of manufacturing said articles for the term of ten years.

Read, and committed to Mr. Low, Mr. Rawson, and Colonel Thompson.

On a motion, Ordered, That Dummer Jewet, Esq., apply to Doctor Calef, of Ipswich, and require of him such information relative to a new Ship lately built by his direction at the New-Mills, as he can confirm, when called upon, on oath, and that he be desired to furnish them with a copy of all the papers relative to this matter, which he has received from the person or persons by whose order said Vessel was purchased or built.

Ordered, That Elbridge Gerry, William Cooper, and William Story, Esquires, be a Committee to bring in a Bill for the further emission of Bills of publick Credit.

The House then adjourned, to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Wednesday, December 6, 1775.

On a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Sullivan prepare and bring in a Resolve relative to Vessels bound to other Colonies, and make report.

On a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Lovell, Captain Brown of Abington, and Mr. Ingalls, be a Committee to consider Petitions and Accounts of men wounded on and after the 19th April last.

On a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Cutt be a Committee to confer with the Quartermaster-General relative to the price of Wood on Winter-Hill, and the road the carts shall go in, and to inquire whether the Troops at Malden and Chelsea are a part of the Brigade on Winter-Hill.

On a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Cooper, Deacon Rawson, Mr. Pitts, Captain Vase, and Colonel Orne, be a Committee to take into consideration the state of the Poor of Boston, lately came out, and also a Letter from the Committee at Point-Shirley, and to report to this House what is proper to be done.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration a Letter from the Selectmen of the Town of Boxford, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That the Receiver-General be, and hereby is directed to pay to Aaron Wood, Esq., thirty-nine Pounds seven Shillings, to be by him applied for the payment of one Sergeant and forty-five Privates for their service as soldiers at Gloucester, viz: the Sergeant one month, and the men half a month each; and also for the billeting, &c., of said soldiers.

Mr. Sullivan, agreeable to order, reported a Resolve relative to Vessels bound to other Colonies. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That it be, and it hereby is recommended to the Inhabitants of the United Colonies, not to supply any person belonging to this Colony, with provision, or other merchandise, to be transported by water to any place whatever, unless such person shall produce a Certificate, signed by the Secretary of this Colony, in form following:

"Colony of the Massachusetts-Bay, December, A. D., 1775.

"This is to certify, that, master of, owned by, is a person of integrity, and may be safely trusted with such provisions and merchandise as he may purchase, to transport in said vessel to this Colony.

Secretary."

And it is further Resolved, That the Secretary shall sign a number of such Certificates, leaving blanks for the name of the vessel, owner, and master, and shall deposite the same with such persons as shall be appointed by this Court in the sea-port Counties to receive the same, and each of such persons so appointed, on application made to them therefor, and recommendation for the same being produced, signed by the Committee of Correspondence, or Safety, and Selectmen of the town where the owner and master of such vessel live, shall have power to fill up said blanks for, and deliver the same to such persons as may be confided in, and shall engage to send vessels as aforesaid, for the purpose aforesaid, they having first given bond to the Treasurer of this Colony, in a sum equal to the value of such vessel and cargo, conditioned for the landing any provision or other merchandise (that may be shipped on board such vessel in said voyage) within some part of the United Colonies, without the Towns of Boston, Roxbury, Charlestown, and Nantucket; which bond shall be executed before, and lodged with the person filling said certificate.

Michael Farley, Esquire, brought down from the Board a Letter relative to the supply of the Island of Nantucket, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 6, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That John Winthrop and Charles Chauncy, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take the foregoing Letter and enclosed papers under consideration, and report.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Gerry, Captain Foster, and Mr. Sullivan, are joined.

Moses Gill, Esquire, brought down from the Board two Letters, from his Excellency General Washington, on the critical situation of the Army, with the Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 6, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner, John Winthrop, and Joseph Palmer, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, immediately, and confer with him on the subject-matter of the foregoing Letters, and devise some ways and means of easing the difficulties therein suggested.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Sullivan, Captain Batchelder, Mr. Cushing, and Colonel Orne, are joined.

Adjourned to three o'clock, P. M.

Afternoon.

A Letter from Joseph Greenleaf, Esquire, relative to the Post-Office and Post-Riders, committed to Captain Brown, Mr. Kingsbury, and Mr. Jewet.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration the Report of the Committee from Point-Shirley, &c., reported. Read, and accepted.

Whereas, a Committee has been appointed by this Court to provide for, and remove such of the Inhabitants of Boston, as may be sent from thence to Point-Shirley, or other places, as also to make use of every precaution necessary to prevent a communication of the Small-Pox to other parts of this Colony, which appears to be the intention of our enemies.

Resolved, That the said Committee be, and hereby are directed and empowered to impress (if it should be found necessary) a sufficient number of Carriages for the removal of such of said inhabitants, and their effects, as shall have been sufficiently smoked and cleansed, to such towns as the Committee shall judge proper, giving them certificates that they are of the poor of Boston, and quite free from infection; and it is recommended to the Committee that they retain at Point-Shirley such of said inhabitants as they shall apprehend may have been in the way of receiving the Small-Pox, for such a space of time as may be necessary to determine whether they had the infection, taking care that they are supplied with such quantities of Provisions, Wood, &c., as they judge will be sufficient to keep them from suffering.

It is further recommended to said Committee to provide, if they see occasion, suitable houses as Hospitals for the reception of those persons who may be taken with the Small-Pox, or shall appear to have the symptoms of the distemper, as, also, to engage a Physician or Physicians to attend the sick, if required, and to place sufficient guards at the infected houses to prevent a promiscuous passing or repassing to and from said houses.

On a motion, Ordered, That the Town of Bedford be excused from furnishing their proportion of Men, and that Mr. Stickney be appointed to bring in a Resolve for that purpose.

On a motion, Ordered, That the Town of Marblehead have leave to remove two pieces of Cannon at Concord, for their use, until the further order of this Court; and that Mr. Gerry be appointed to bring in a Resolve for that purpose.

Colonel Lincoln brought down from the honourable Board the following Vote of Council, viz:

In Council, December 6, 1775: Ordered, That Walter

Spooner, Charles Chauncy, and Joseph Palmer, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, and represent to him the circumstances of the four Companies now doing duty at Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham, as, when they were enlisted, and by whose order; from whom they have received their orders from time to time, and in what service they have been employed; that they were considered by this Colony, when raised, as part of the thirteen thousand six hundred men voted by us, and have always been so considered; and desire that his Excellency would order them to be paid by the Continent, as they were not enlisted, neither have they been employed, for the special purpose of defending the sea-coasts, as a number since have been.

Mr. Gerry, agreeable to order, brought in the following Resolve, which was read and accepted, viz:

Resolved, That the Town of Marblehead be, and it hereby is empowered to cause two pieces of Ordnance, twenty-four-pounders, now at Concord, which were damaged, on the 19th of April last, by the Ministerial troops, and have since been repaired, to be removed to said town at their own expense, and there improved for their defence, until the further orders of this Court touching the same.

The Committee appointed to consider what is proper to be done with the Records of the Committee on Accounts, reported. Read, and accepted, viz:

Whereas, by a Resolve of this Court, of the 8th of November last past, it is provided that the Committee of the House therefor appointed should keep, in a book, a true record of all accounts which shall have been passed by them, with an alphabet thereto, and it now appears that the business will be conducted with greater despatch by the records being made after such accounts shall have been concurred, and paid by a Committee of Council provided for that purpose:

Therefore, Resolved, That the said Committee of the House be, and they hereby are directed to send to the said Committee of the honourable Board all Accounts which they shall have passed without recording the same; and the honourable Board are desired to direct their Committee to cause such Accounts, when concurred in and discharged, to be fairly recorded, agreeable to the method proposed by the Resolve aforesaid, and to employ a suitable person for that purpose.

The Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve for excusing the Town of Bedford from furnishing their proportion of men, reported. The Report was read, and accepted, and is as follows, viz:

Whereas, by a Resolve of this Court of the 1st instant, the Town of Bedford was ordered to furnish thirteen Men to join the American Army on the 10th instant, and the Commanding-Officer of said town was ordered to enlist that number of men accordingly; and, whereas, by another Resolve of this Court, the same town was ordered to furnish the Army with four cords of Wood, daily; and it would be quite impracticable for said town to comply with both said Resolves:

Therefore, Resolved, That the Commanding-Officer of said Town of Bedford be, and he hereby is excused from assembling the Militia, and enlisting any men to join the American Army, the aforesaid Resolve, first mentioned, notwithstanding.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration the Petition of Francis Brown, who was wounded in the battle of Lexington, on the 19th April last, reported. Read, and accepted.

The House then adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, December 7, 1775.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down from the honourable Board the following Vote of Council, viz:

In Council, December 7, 1775: Ordered, That Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider of, and report what may be necessary to be done relative to the expense arising by the Prisoners taken by private adventurers, and make report.

Read, and concurred, and Captain Stone and Deacon Rawson are joined.

An Account of Nathaniel Goldthwait for a gun and bayonet his son Eli lost in the battle of the 19th of April last. Read, and committed to the Committee appointed to consider of losses sustained in the battle of the 17th of June last.

An Account of Mary Deland, for a gun, &c., lost by her late husband in the battle of the 19th of April last: committed to the Committee appointed to consider of losses sustained in the battle of the 17th of June last.

An Account of Henry Jacobs, father to Henry Jacobs, Jun., for gun, bayonet, clothing, &c., lost in the battle of the 19th of April last: committed to the Committee appointed to consider losses sustained the 17th of June last.

An Account of Samuel Cook, father to Samuel Cook, Jun., for gun, bayonet, &c., lost in the battle of the 19th of April last: committed to the Committee for considering losses sustained in the battle of the 17th of June last.

An Account of Jonathan Tarbell, for time of his servant, gun, &c., and clothing lost in the battle of the 19th of April last: committed to the Committee appointed to consider the losses sustained in the battle of the 17th of June last.

An Account of Thomas Gardner, father to Thomas Gardner, Jun., for a gun lost in the battle of the 19th of April last: committed to the Committee to consider the Losses sustained in the battle of the 17th of June last.

The Petition of Joseph Greenleaf, praying for an exclusive right for himself, and others, of manufacturing Copperas, &c. Read, and committed to Colonel Orne, Mr. Cushing, and Captain Stearns, to be joined with such as the honourable Board shall appoint, to take the same into consideration, and report thereon what is proper to be done.

On a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Mr. Sullivan, Captain Parker, Colonel Dwight, and Colonel Thompson, be a Committee to take into consideration the expediency of providing Military Stores for the Colony, and report thereon what is proper to be done.

On a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Story, Major Moody, and Mr. Stickney, be a Committee to prepare and bring in a temporary Fee-Bill for the Admiralty Courts.

The Committee appointed to consider the Petition of William Young, Chairman of the Committee of Correspondence of the Town of Worcester, relative to George Henry Fisher, a disabled person, and John Holden, a prisoner, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That the Selectmen of the Town of Worcester be empowered to furnish George Henry Fisher, a prisoner, sent by order of (A) this Court to Worcester, with clothes suitable to his necessitous circumstances, and that they lay an account of their expenses before this Court, for allowance and payment. Furthermore, that the Committee of Correspondence, (B) who thought proper to commit John Holden, a paper-maker by trade, to jail, for his insolent behaviour towards them, (C) be directed to keep the said Holden in jail until the further order of this Court.

Afternoon.

The Committee appointed to consider a Letter from Mr. Greenleaf, relative to Post-Riders, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That Benjamin Epes, Cadwallader Ford, Jun., Isaac Colton, Joseph Howland, and Timothy Goodwin, be, and hereby are, dismissed as Post-Riders, for the future, and the Colony be at no further charge for their riding.

On a motion, Ordered, That Captain Batchelder and Major Currier be on the Committee to take into consideration the Resolve of the Continental Congress, in the room of Major Cross and Colonel Bowers, who are absent.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration a Letter from Mr. Greenleaf, relative to Sulphur, reported verbally. Accepted, and is as follows, viz:

That, as said Greenleaf is desirous of having an exclusive right of manufacturing not only Copperas, but Sulphur, the Committee are of opinion that said Letter should be referred to the Committee of both Houses, appointed to take into consideration the Petition for an exclusive right of manufacturing Copperas.

The House then adjourned to nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, December 8, 1775.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down from the honourable Board a report of a Letter to his Excellency General Washington, relative to calling in the Militia. Read, and concurred.

On a motion, Ordered, That Deacon Nichols, Major Johnson, Captain Parker, Mr. Hall, and Colonel Williams, be a Committee to take into consideration the state of the Poor of Boston and Charlestown, now in the Province, and report what is proper to be done.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration the Petition of Joshua Davis, (who was appointed by this Court an officer in the Army, with the pay and rank of Lieutenant-Colonel,) praying for an allowance of part of his wages, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That there be paid to Colonel Joshua Davis the sum of thirty-one Pounds four Shillings, it being the pay of a Lieutenant-Colonel in the service of this Colony, from the first day of May up to the first day of August, which pay said Davis was allowed by a Resolve of this Court.

On a motion, Ordered, That a message be sent to the honourable Board, to inform them that the House proposes to come to the choice of Delegates to attend the Continental Congress, on Wednesday next, at three o'clock, P. M., by joint ballot, if agreeable to the honourable Board.

On a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Mr. Cooper, and Mr. Story, be a Committee to take into consideration the conduct of Mr. Rand, brother of Dr. Rand, a suspected person, and report what is proper to be done.

A Bill, intituled "An Act for making and emitting of Bills of Publick Credit," having had three several readings, passed to be engrossed, by Colonel Dwight, Deacon Nichols, and Colonel Cutt.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker be a Committee to wait on his Excellency General Washington, and be informed whether his Excellency chooses to take into his care the Ordnance Stores received from this Colony, and if it is agreeable to give receipts for the same, as vouchers for a charge to the Continent.

Ordered, That Doctor Fletcher, Colonel Perry, and Colonel Thompson, be a Committee to inquire what number of Cannon belonging to the several towns and of what sizes, are now in the Continental Army under the care of General Washington.

Samuel Holten, Esq., brought down from the honourable Board a Resolve of the House on the Petition of William Young, Chairman of the Committee of Correspondence at Worcester, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 8, 1775: Read, and concurred, with the amendment at A, B and C, viz: At A, dele "this Court," and insert "the major part of the Council"; dele from B to C, and insert, "of the said town, who have thought proper to recommit to Jail for some late insolent behaviour, one John Holden, formerly a soldier in the Ministerial army." Read and concurred.

Samuel Holten, Esq., brought down from the honourable Board the following Resolve of Council, viz:

Resolved, That the (A) Deputy Secretary be, and he hereby is directed forthwith to take copies of all such Vouchers as the Committee appointed by this Court to prepare the Accounts of charges and expenses incurred by this Colony in the defence of American liberty, may think needful to transmit to the honourable Continental Congress: And that he carefully compare such copies with the originals, and attest the same, in order to their being lodged in the Secretary's Office, which copies, so attested, shall have all the validity and effect the originals (B) might or ought to have.

Read, and concurred with the amendment at A and B, viz: At A dele "Deputy"; at B insert, "and the Secretary is directed to consult with the said Committee, and be directed by them with regard to the mode of taking said copies."

Ordered, That Deacon Plympton, Captain Partridge, and Captain Parker, be a Committee to take into consideration, and report to the House the expediency of considering Petitions of the non-Commissioned Officers and Privates, as well as Commissioned Officers, who were wounded in the engagement of the 19th of April, and 17th of June last, and lost their arms and clothes, and what is to be taken as evidence in support of said Petitions.

Afternoon.

A Letter from the Committee at Point-Shirley, representing the distressed situation of the Poor of Boston, arising from their effects being plundered by the Ministerial troops on their passage.

Read, and committed to Mr. Pitts and Deacon Rawson, with such as the honourable Board may join.

Whereas, John Pigeon, the late Commissary of the Forces raised by this Colony, keeps his books at some distance from the Army, by reason whereof the Officers of the Army are prevented from settling their Rolls as ordered by this Court:

Therefore, Resolved, That the said Pigeon be, and he hereby is directed to furnish the Officers of said forces with such Accounts as said Pigeon is possessed of, necessary to the making up their Rolls at Cambridge, and that he be desired to attend there, to settle said Accounts, as long as his presence there may be necessary.

On a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Williams, Captain Brown, and Captain Adams, be a Committee to hear the Member from Lincoln and the Member from Waltham, relative to carrying Wood to Cambridge and Winter-Hill, and determine where each of said towns shall carry their Wood.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Saturday, December 9, 1775.

The Committee appointed to consider what is proper to be done relative to one Rand, a suspected person, reported. The Report was read, and accepted, and is as follows, viz:

Whereas, by information given to this Court, there is great reason to apprehend Edward Rand, a pewterer, of Newburyport, and brother of Doctor Rand, of Boston, has carried on a criminal correspondence with his brother, aforesaid, who is unfriendly to the cause of America:

Therefore, Resolved, That Captain Epes forthwith repair to Mr. Winthrop Gray, at Malden, or Point-Shirley, and inquire into the facts aforesaid, in confidence; and, provided the said Gray shall confirm the same, that then the said Captain Epes forthwith repair to the Committee of Safety and Correspondence of Newburyport, with this Resolve, who are hereby directed and empowered to cause said Rand to be immediately put under a sufficient guard, and his papers secured, until the further order of this Court.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Cooper bring in a Resolve for agreeing with Mr. Revere.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Cutt, Mr. Lincoln, and Mr. Bancroft, be a Committee to take into consideration the circumstances of the Prisoners in Worcester jail, in what method such Clothing as is necessary to make them comfortable shall be supplied, and report.

Read, and committed to Mr. Sullivan, Doctor Rice, and Colonel Soyer.

Upon a motion, Ordered, That three o'clock on Monday next, P. M., be assigned for the choice of a Committee to provide for erecting a Powder-Mill, and a Manufacturer of Gunpowder.

A Petition of Ebenezer Beal, setting forth, that he received a wound in assisting in the taking an armed Cutter in Machias-River, and is thereby disabled from providing for himself, and praying for support.

Read, and committed to the Committee for receiving Petitions of wounded men.

Colonel Whitcomb brought down a Report of the Committee on the Letter of Governour Trumbull.

Whereas representation has been made to the Court, that supplies of provision more than are necessary for internal consumption, and for such voyages as may be prosecuted consistent with the Resolves of Congress and the General Assembly of this Colony, have been lately shipped from this and the neighbouring Colonies for the Islands of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard. (B.)

Resolved, That the Committee of Correspondence for the Town of Falmouth, in the County of Barnstable, be, and they hereby are directed forthwith to return to this Court a true copy, upon oath, of all permits which they have granted to the inhabitants of Nantucket, or any other person, or persons, in their behalf, for obtaining provisions from the inhabitants of this and the neighbouring Colonies, to supply said inhabitants of Nantucket. (C.) And the Selectmen of the Town of Sherburne, on the Island of Nantucket, as also of each town on Martha's Vineyard, are directed forthwith to make strict inquiry into the importation of provisions into the respective towns, since the 28th of September last; and of all provisions now into said towns; and to make returns thereof on oath to this Court as soon as may be: And the inhabitants of this Colony, and of the other United Colonies, are desired to withhold further supplies of provisions (D) from said Island, until the further recommendation of this Court; and the Printers of the Colonies aforesaid are respectively desired to cause this Resolve to be inserted in their newspapers.

Read, and concurred with amendments at B, C, and D, viz: At B insert, "and that the inhabitants of the said Island of Nantucket have abused the indulgence of the Court by supplying our enemies with such provisions &c., as were admitted to be transported to them for their internal consumption only." At C insert, "and to suspend granting any permits in future to the said inhabitants, or any person on their behalf, until the further order of this Court." At D insert, "fuel or other necessities."

Ordered, That Mr. Story procure the above Resolve to be printed in the several publick Papers of this Colony, and a copy thereof conveyed to the Selectmen of Sher- burne, in Nantucket, and of the several towns in Martha's Vineyard, and the Committee of Correspondence in Falmouth.

Mr. Gerry communicated an extract of a Letter from one of the Delegates of this Colony at the Continental Congress, inquiring what number of men in the Colony would engage as Marines; what vessels may be hired upon Government service, at what places others may be built, &c.

Read, and Ordered, That Colonel Orne and Captain Foster, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider the same, and report.

Samuel Holten, Esquire, brought down from the honourable Board a Report of the Committee on the Letter from Thomas Crafts, Jun.

In Council, December 12, 1775: Resolved, That the Committee of said Point-Shirley be, and they are hereby directed to make use of any old, decayed stores, barns, or fish-houses, as fuel for the relief of the sick and distressed, and, if necessary, to take down any publick building there for the purpose aforesaid, said Committee to render an account of their proceedings to the Court; and they are further directed to use their utmost endeavours to prevent the spreading of the small-pox, and make proper representations of the state of such persons as are put under their care to this Court, whenever they find there is occasion thereof. (A.)

Read, and concurred, with the amendment at A, viz: At A insert, "and that Captain Foster and Captain Searl be a Committee to repair immediately to Point-Shirley, and cause such buildings as may be thought necessary to be taken down for fuel, to be appraised, and take any measures, and give directions that shall appear to them necessary, to aid the Committee now there in procuring wood, and in preventing the spreading of the small-pox."

The Report of the Committee on the Resolves of the Continental Congress, brought down from the honourable Board on the 9th instant. Read, and ordered to be recommended.

Mr. Sullivan, by order of the House, brought in the following Resolve,

Whereas, by a Resolve passed by this Court on the 6th of December instant, it is Ordered, That certain persons for each County in this Colony should be appointed by the whole Court, to distribute the Certificates therein mentioned, to be signed by the Secretary for the purposes mentioned in said Resolve, under such regulations as are in said Resolve provided.

And, whereas, there would be too much expense of time in appointing such Committees by the whole Court:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That the Council of this Colony shall be empowered from time to time, when necessary, to appoint in each County where the same shall be needed, such person, and two in the County of Lincoln, to fill up and deliver out said Certificates according to the direction of the Resolve aforesaid.

Walter Spooner, Esquire, came down and informed the House that the honourable Board had agreed with the said proposal.

Leave was given to Colonel Ward to withdraw his Return of those men in General Ward's Regiment, who lost their clothes in the battle on the 17th June last.

The Committee appointed to inquire whether the Commissary-General of this Colony and his Deputies have a right to make contracts with bakers, and whether such contracts have been made?

Reported, that upon examination had of the several papers herewith exhibited relative to that matter, they cannot find that the Commissary-General, whatever his right might have been as to contracting with bakers for the Colony aforesaid, made any other than one and the same general agreement with the whole choir; nor can they find that the Commissary-General aforesaid delegated other power to any of his sub-Commissaries; therefore, are of opinion that no distinction ought to be made in their pay upon any pretence whatever. Read, and accepted.

The Committee appointed to receive the votes of the House for five gentlemen to represent this Colony at the Continental Congress, having carried up the same,

Reported, that the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., Honourable Samuel Adams, Esq., Honourable John Adams, Esq., Honourable Robert Treat Paine, Esq., and Elbridge Gerry, Esq., were chosen.

Jabez Fisher, Esquire, brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses appointed to consider sundry Resolves of the Continental Congress.

Afternoon.

A Petition from the Town of Malden, setting forth the inconvenience attending its supplying the Army with three cords and-an-half of Wood daily, and praying relief.

Read, and committed to Colonel Woodbridge, Deacon Batchelder, and Major Johnson.

A Petition of Samuel Brewer, setting forth, that he was, on the 5th day of May last, appointed by General Thomas, an Adjutant-General of the Army at Roxbury, the duty of which office he performed till the first day of August, and praying a consideration for his services.

Read, and committed to Mr. Story, Colonel Porter, and Major Wood.

It having been represented to this House that Mr. Elias Haskitt Derby, a Member of this House had, contrary to the Association of the Continental Congress, imported Coffee and other things from the English West-India Islands:

Ordered, That Captain Foster, Mr. Bryant, and Captain Epes, be a Committee to repair immediately to Salem to make full inquiry into the matter, and to direct the attendance of the said Derby to his duty in this House.

Ordered, That the Doorkeeper immediately apprehend Mr. Abiel Wood, and him hold in safe custody until the further order of this House.

The Report of the Committee of both Houses, appointed to examine into the conduct of Abiel Wood and Jonathan Williamson, of Pownalborough, accepted by the honourable Board, was read and non-concurred, and ordered to be recommitted.

On a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Cooper, Captain Batchelder, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Phillips, and Colonel Thompson, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve for the purpose of establishing Committees of Correspondence in the several towns in this Colony.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, informing them that this House propose to come to the choice of the Sea-Coast Officers, for the Town of Gloucester, agreeable to a late Resolve of this Court.

Accordingly, Jedediah Foster, Esquire, came down and informed the House that the honourable Board agreed to the said proposal; and at the same time brought down the Heads of a Militia Bill, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 15, 1775: Read, and concurred, with the amendments following, viz: at A, in the 1st, 3d, 7th and 8th Heads add, "or the major part of them."

Read, and concurred, with the amendments proposed.

In the House of Representatives, December 15, 1775.

Whereas, by papers and depositions now before this House, relating to Abiel Wood, of Pownalborough, in the County of Lincoln, merchant, who is now in the custody of the Doorkeeper of this House, there is great reason to believe that the said Wood has been, within the summer past, acting in open violation to the Association entered into by the Members of the honourable Congress of America, in behalf of their constituents; and that the said Wood has used his influence to discourage the people, as well from obeying the present Government of this Colony, as uniting in the cause of their country, and thereby has given reason to suspect him to be a person unfit to go at large.

Therefore, Resolved, That the said papers and affidavits be laid before the honourable Council of this Colony, and that the said Council be, and they hereby are requested to take into custody the said Wood, and bring him before them, and deal with him in such manner as may be for the security of this Colony and all America; and that he may be so secured as that he cannot hereafter use his influence to discourage the people of this Colony in manner as aforesaid.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to bring in a Militia Bill, be directed to insert a clause to prevent the private soldiers firing away their powder without leave of their Officers.

The Report of the Committee appointed to consider sundry Resolves of the Continental Congress, brought down the 9th current, was read, amended, and accepted, and is as follows, viz:

That a Committee of both Houses be appointed to engage and fix out with all possible despatch, on the account and risk of this Colony, ten vessels, to be laden with as much provision, horses, or any other produce of this Colony, except horned cattle, sheep, hogs, and poultry, as they may deem necessary for the importation of ammunition, sulphur, saltpetre, arms, and German steel, for the manufacturing gun-locks, &c. And that the said Committee be empowered to give orders to the commander of every such vessel to export the said cargo to the foreign West-Indies, for the purposes aforesaid.

Ordered, That Mr. Starkweather be on the Committee appointed to explain the Commission of the Committee to consider the Petitions of those who were wounded and left their arms and clothes in battle, in the room of Mr. Partridge, absent.

Resolved, That all the Post-Offices and Post-Riders employed by the late Congress of this Colony, be dismissed from any further service.

Ordered, That the Doorkeeper employ two persons to hold Abiel Wood in safe custody until to-morrow.

Resolved, That eleven o'clock, to-morrow morning, be assigned for the choice of a Committee to fix out vessels to go to the West-Indies after Powder.

A Memorial of the Committee of Inspection for the Town of Newburyport. Read.

Ordered, That Mr. Story and Mr. Wheeler, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider the Memorial from the Committee of Inspection of Newburyport, relative to the conduct of Benjamin Balch, of said town, in exporting fish, contrary to a Resolve of Congress.

A Petition of William Crawford, setting forth the circumstances of the people at Penobscot-River, and parts adjacent.

Read, and the petitioner had leave to withdraw his Petition.

The House then adjourned till to-morrow morning, ten o'clock.

Saturday, December 16, 1775.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board desiring that they would send down the Bill for an emission of Bills of publick Credit, if they have not passed upon it.

Ordered, That Mr. Cooper, Mr. Wheeler, and Colonel Thurston, be a Committee to consider a Letter from the Committee of the County of Fairfax, in Virginia, and a Letter from General Washington, enclosing it, relative to a sum of money sent to him for the suffering poor of Boston.

Moses Gill, Esq., brought down a Bill for an emission of Bills of publick Credit.

Charles Chauncy, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee appointed to consider the representation of the Committee of Correspondence of the Town of Dartmouth, viz:

That by said representation, and that of Mr. Jireh Willis, it appears to this Committee to be a matter of such importance as to demand the attention of the publick; and the Committee are of opinion that there ought to be a Committee of Court appointed to view the premises and report.

J. PALMER, per order.

In Council, December 16, 1775: Read, and accepted, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee for the purposes mentioned in the above Report.

Read, and concurred; and Captain Hathaway and Dr. Baylies are joined to the Committee of the honourable Board.

A Letter from his Excellency General Washington, enclosing a copy of sundry Resolves of the Continental Congress. Read and sent up.

Ordered, That Mr. Phillips, Colonel Otis, and Major Bliss, be a Committee to consider and report some further and more effectual measures for supplying the Army with Wood.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, informing them that this House is ready, agreeable to the Order of the Day, to come to the choice of Sea-Coast Officers for the Town of Gloucester, agreeable to a late Resolve of this Court; and that the House propose to begin with the choice of a General Officer.

Voted, That this last Order be reconsidered, and that a message go to the honourable Board informing them that this House propose to put off the choice of said Officers for the Town of Gloucester, until Tuesday next, ten o'clock, A. M.

Walter Spooner, Esq., accordingly came down and informed the House that the honourable Board agreed to the said proposal.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee relative to fixing out Vessels for Powder, &c., with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 16, 1775: Read, and concurred, and thereupon Resolved, That William Sever, Benjamin Greenleaf, and Moses Gill, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee for the purposes mentioned in the above Report.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Speaker, Colonel Orne, Captain Foster, and Major Cross, are joined to the Committee of the honourable Board.

Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Mr. Phillips, and Major Bliss, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve for altering the style and title of the chief officer to be appointed for the Town of Gloucester, agreeable to a late Resolve of this Court.

Ordered, That the Bill for an emission of Money (being amended) be sent up to the honourable Board.

James Prescott, Esq., brought down a Letter from the honourable James Otis, Esq., in Barnstable, relative to the conduct of the Tories there, and, in particular, of a person at the head of them, who professes himself a Whig, with the following Order of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 16, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner and Moses Gill, Esqs., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take the foregoing Letters and collateral papers into consideration, and report.

Read, and concurred, and Col. Freeman, Mr. Cooper, and Colonel Cushing, are joined.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, desiring that they would direct said Committee to sit forthwith.

A Memorial of Jacob Boardman, of Newburyport, setting forth, that he, with a number of others, inhabitants of said town, had made preparations for a voyage to Europe, for gunpowder, and other military stores, and praying the Court (if their intention is thought to tend to the publick advantage) to give them suitable encouragement.

Read, and committed to Colonel Freeman, Mr. Crane, and Doctor Baylies.

Benjamin White, Esq., brought down the Letter of General Washington, with a copy of sundry Resolves of the Continental Congress, (sent up to the Board this day,) with the following vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 16, 1775: Read, and committed to the Committee of both Houses already appointed to consider the former part of the said Resolves of Congress.

The Committee appointed to consider what further measures are necessary for supplying the Army with Wood, reported. Read and accepted.

Resolved, That some Member be immediately sent to the Selectmen of each of the towns, who are directed by a late Resolve of General Assembly to supply the Army daily with Wood, and make inquiry if the directions of said Resolve have been fully complied with; if not, that they enjoin said Selectmen, that they by no means fail to cause it to be done, as they tender their own safety; and that in case of any failure hereafter, they give immediate notice to the Chairman of the Committee of this Court for supplying Wood, and the reasons thereof: And also that the said Selectmen be requested to cause as much more than is set to their respective towns as they possibly can, to be daily carried to the Army. That application be made to the Selectmen of the Towns of Medford and Watertown, that the former cause the quantity of three-and-a-half cords to be carried daily to the wood-yard on Prospect-Hill, and the latter the quantity of three cords to be daily carried to Cambridge. That the Town of Lincoln have the liberty to carry the quantity of Wood apportioned to them to the wood-yard in Cambridge.

Ordered, That Mr. Phillips, Major Bliss, and Colonel Carpenter, be a Committee to see that the foregoing Resolve be carried into execution.

Ordered, That Capt. Goodman and Mr. Starkweather be on the Committee appointed to consider the state of the Poor of Boston and Charlestown, and report what is best to be done.

Ordered, That Mr. Story get the Resolve relative to the Army bringing in their Muster-Rolls to the 1st of August, printed in the next Watertown Gazette.

Afternoon.

John Taylor, Esquire, brought down an examination of Captain David Duers and Mr. Joseph Akin taken by the Committee of Inspection of the Town of Dartmouth, relative to the Nantucket people supplying the Army with provision, with the following Order of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 16, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That Walter Spooner and Moses Gill, Esquires, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take the foregoing representation under consideration, and report.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Story, Colonel Cushing, and Mr. Pitts, are joined.

A Petition of Joshua Fabyan, praying that he may be paid the amount of an account exhibited for supply to the Militia who were assembled from different parts of the County of Cumberland, in consequence of an attack made upon the Town of Falmouth by Captain Mowat, on the 18th of October last. Read, and ordered to lie.

Ordered, That Mr. Pitts and Mr. Story be on the Committee to consider the Letter of the Honourable Colonel Otis, relative to the Barnstable Tories, in the room of Colonel Freeman and Mr. Cooper, excused.

The Committee appointed to proportion one hundred and fifty Tons of English, and fifty Tons of salt Hay on the several Towns, to be procured for the American Army reported. Read, and accepted.

Whereas, a considerable quantity of Hay is wanted for the use of the American Army, and, unless speedily supplied, very great inconveniences, and, perhaps, fatal consequences may ensue.

It is, therefore, Resolved, That the several Towns mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed, be called upon immediately to furnish such quantity of Hay, and of such sort, and to cause the same to be conveyed to such camp as is therein pointed out, for which they will be allowed and paid at the rate of five Pounds per ton for English Hay, and forty Shillings per ton for salt Hay; and it is expected that the teamsters take of the person, or persons, authorized to receive such Hay, certificates expressing the quantity they deliver; and that such certificates be transmitted to the Secretary's Office within twenty days from the date hereof.

And it is earnestly recommended to the Selectmen and Committees of Correspondence of those Towns, respectively, as they regard their own, and their country's welfare, to see that this requisition be punctually complied with on their part; and the gentlemen hereafter named, are appointed a Committee to cause this Resolve to be communicated to the several Towns concerned; and to take such further steps as may be necessary to procure a full compliance with the same, viz: Mr. Terry and Mr. Kingsbury, for Suffolk County; Mr. Phillips and Mr. Moody, for Essex; Deacon Plympton, Mr. Hayward, and Mr. Bent, for Middlesex; and Colonel Cushing, for Plymouth.

To be carried to ROXBURY Camp.

Monday, December 18, 1775.

A Petition of William Tallman, of Dartmouth, praying for liberty to export a cargo to the West-Indies, for the purpose of procuring Arms and Ammunition. Read, and committed to the Committee appointed to fit out Vessels for that purpose.

The Committee on the Petition of Cotharine Goldthwait, reported. Read, and not accepted, and the Petition was dismissed.

A Petition of Joseph Dean, praying that the Court would permit him to send a Vessel to Surinam with molasses casks, to bring home the amount of a certain sum due to him in the produce of that place. Read, and committed to the Committee appointed the 15th current, to consider the subject-matter of Thomas Russell's Petition.

A Letter from the Honourable John Hancock, Esquire,

President of the Continental Congress, enclosing two Resolves of said Congress relative to raising a new Army of twenty thousand three hundred and seventy-two men, officers included, to lie before Boston. Read, and sent up.

Ordered, That Colonel Thompson, Mr. Hopkins, and Colonel Cushing, be a Committee to consider a representation of Philip Hodgkins, relative to the capture of the Sloop Advance, from Boston, commanded by Captain Nehemiah Eastman, with two Depositions accompanying; together with a Memorial of the Committee of this Court at Union-River, respecting the same Sloop; and likewise, respecting the Brig Betsy, commanded by Captain Benjamin Wormstead, bound from Boston to Halifax, who delivered himself and Vessel to the Committee of Deer-Island.

And, also, a Petition of the said Committee at Union-River, praying for liberty to send a number of Vessels which are by them detained for countervailing the Resolves of Congress, to the Southern Colonies for provision.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to consider the foregoing papers, be directed to inquire into the conduct of Colonel Cargill, relative to the said Sloop Advance, and report what is proper to be done.

The Committee on the Petition and Account of the Selectmen of Newburyport, for carting Provisions, and also for sundry articles supplied the men who marched from that town on the 19th April last. Read, and committed.

A Letter from the Committee of Frenchman's Bay, at the Eastward, representing that Captain John Rust has delivered to their care two hundred and eighty-eight bushels of Wheat, and nineteen barrels of Ship-stuff, being donations for the Town of Boston; and wishing they might have liberty to make use of it for the inhabitants of that part of the Colony, praying, however, the direction of this Court.

Read, and committed to Mr. Cooper, Mr. Swift, and Mr. Wheeler.

John Taylor, Esquire, brought down the Report of the Committee appointed to consider sundry Depositions relative to some of the inhabitants of the Island of Nantucket, and a Letter from the Honourable James Otis, Esquire, of Barnstable, relative to the conduct of the Tories of that town, viz:

The Committee find there is great reason to suspect that some of the said inhabitants of Nantucket have had undue connection with some of the officers and soldiers belonging to our enemy's fleet; and it having been made to appear to this Committee, by the depositions aforesaid, that a certain Doctor Samuel Gelston, of said Island, has been guilty of many infamous practices in supplying our said enemies with provisions, &c., contrary to the Resolution of the Continental Congress, the authority of this Court, and the known sense of the whole Continent:

Therefore, beg leave to report, by way of Resolve, viz:

Resolved, That Major Joseph Dimock, of Falmouth, in the County of Barnstable, be, and he hereby is empowered and directed to repair to said Island of Nantucket, with such assistance as he shall think sufficient, and apprehend said Samuel Gelston, and bring him before this Court as soon as may be, that he be dealt with according to the nature of his high-handed offence, and that he be, and he hereby is empowered and directed to command such aid and assistance as he may need, in order to apprehend said Gelston, and the Committee ask leave to sit again.

In Council, December 18, 1775: Read, and accepted, and the Committee are ordered to sit again. Read, and concurred.

The House considered the amendments proposed by the honourable Board to be made in a Resolve of this House, brought down the 13th current, which passed the 9th of November last, relative to the management of the Estates of Refugees, and thereupon concurred with the amendments proposed at B, and non-concurred with those proposed at A and C.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board to know if they have passed upon the Resolve of this House, on the Petition from the Town of Hardwick, relative to the estate of Brigadier Ruggles, a Refugee.

Walter Spooner, Esquire, accordingly came down and informed the House that the honourable Board had not passed upon it, and acquainted the House that the Board desired to know if this House had passed upon the amendments proposed by the Board to be made in a Resolve of the House passed the 9th November last, relative to the management of the Estates of Refugees.

Afternoon.

The Committee on the Petition of Joshua Hathaway, entered December 15, reported.

Read, and not accepted, and the Petitioner had leave to withdraw his Petition.

A Petition from a Convention of Committees from the several towns in the County of Cumberland, praying for liberty to send two vessels to the West-Indies for Powder and other warlike stores.

And also, a Petition from the Committees of the Town of Bildeford, Pepperelborough, and Arundel, praying that they may be permitted to fit out one vessel for the same purpose, were both read, and committed to the Committee appointed to fit out vessels for Powder, &c.

A Petition signed by David Cheever, Esq., per order of the late Committee of Supplies, setting forth, that from a consideration of the burden of the office of said Committee, the risk of negotiating such large sums as they accounted for, and other circumstances, they propose to exhibit an account for their services, and praying the Court would instruct them what it is proper they should charge per day. Read, and committed to Captain Brown, Mr. Singletary, and Captain Goodman.

Ordered, That Mr. Sullivan bring in a Resolve to empower the honourable Council to pay off the Muster-Rolls that are or may be lodged in the Secretary's Office.

Jedediah Foster, Esq., brought down a Bill for forming and regulating the Militia in this Colony; which was read the first time, and ordered to be read again to-morrow, ten o'clock, A. M., and all Committees of the House are directed to attend at that time.

Ordered, That the choice of Sea-Coast Officers, for the Town of Gloucester, be put off to ten o'clock, next Wednesday morning, and that a message go to the honourable Board informing them of this assignment.

Accordingly, Joseph Palmer, Esq., came down and informed the House that the honourable Board had agreed to come to the choice of the said Officers at the time proposed by the House.

Ordered, That Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Phillips, and Major Ely, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to draft a Proclamation, to be read at the opening of the several County Sessions, for the purpose of inculcating a general obedience of the people to the several Magistrates appointed under the present Government of this Colony.

Then the House adjourned till to-morrow morning, ten o'clock.

Tuesday, December 19, 1775.

The Committee appointed to consider what vouchers are proper to support the Accounts of such Officers and Soldiers as were sufferers by the loss of Arms, Accoutrements, or Clothing, on the 19th of April, and 17th of June last, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That full compensation be made to such Captains, Subalterns, non-Commissioned Officers, and Privates, who sustained loss of Arms, Accoutrements, or Clothing, on the 19th of April, and 17th June last, and that each Captain and Subaltern produce a certificate from the Colonel or Commanding Officer of such Regiment, and that each non-Commissioned Officer and Private produce a certificate from the Captain or Commanding Officer of the Company to which such non-Commissioned Officer or Private did, or doth respectively belong, and that each certificate, with other circumstances concurring therewith, shall be admitted as plenary evidence.

And it is further Provided, That any other legal or satisfactory evidence may be admitted, as time, place, and circumstance may require, to the satisfaction of the Committee appointed by this Court to consider such losses, and compensation shall be made accordingly.

FOURTH SERIES.—VOL. IV.

This Resolve to be printed in the Watertown Newspapers.

An Account of Ely Lewis and others, belonging to Captain Styles's Company, in Colonel Sargent's Regiment, of their loss of Arms, Accoutrements, and Clothing, on the 19th of April, and 17th of June last.

Read, and committed to the Committee appointed to consider such losses.

Ordered, That Major Hawley bring in a Resolve for the purpose of revoking a Resolve of this Court, appointing a Committee of both Houses to examine Muster-Rolls.

Order of the Day moved for.

Honourable Michael Farley, Esq., brought down the vote of this House appointing a Committee to draft a Proclamation for inculcating obedience to the Magistrates appointed under the present Government of the Colony.

In Council, December 19, 1775: Read, and concurred, and William Sever and John Winthrop, Esqs., are joined.

The House, according to the Order of the Day, proceeded to the consideration of the Militia-Bill.

Afternoon.

The Committee appointed to repair to Salem to inquire if Mr. Haskitt Derby had imported Coffee and other things from the English West-India Islands contrary to the Association of the Continental Congress, and to notify the said Derby to attend his duty in this House, made a verbal report, and laid a paper on the table containing the depositions of Ebenezer Lakeman and others, relative to that matter.

Mr. Derby (being present) moved that the matter might be considered, and he heard thereon, by a Committee of this House.

Whereupon the following gentlemen were appointed a Committee for that purpose, viz: Mr. Pitts, Col. Mitchell, Mr. Hale, Captain Parker, Major Ely, Colonel Freeman, and Major Bliss.

The House proceeded to the further consideration of the Militia Bill.

Honourable Samuel Holten, Esquire, brought down the following Resolve, viz:

In Council, December 19, 1775: Whereas, the business assigned the Committee of both Houses appointed to examine all the Muster-Rolls that shall be returned into the Secretary's Office, is found to be inconvenient and too extensive for the attention of one Committee.

Therefore, Resolved, That the Commission of the aforesaid Committee be in future confined to the examination of the Muster-Rolls of the several Captains in the Continental Army; and that Michael Farley, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to examine the several Muster-Rolls of the Sea-Coast Forces and the Militia, and as they shall pass them, exhibit the same to the Board, in order for payment.

Read, and concurred, and Colonel Cushing, Major Goodwin, and Major Bliss, are joined to the Honourable Michael Farley, &c., above named, and such other persons as the honourable Board may appoint.

Honourable James Prescott, Esquire, brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses appointed to take into consideration sundry Resolves of the American Congress.

In Council, December 19, 1775: Read, and accepted.

The Committee appointed to inquire into the number, size, and quality of sundry pieces of Ordnance, removed from several Towns in this Colony, and now under the care of his Excellency General Washington, not charged, reported a schedule containing as exact an account thereof as can at present be obtained.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker, Captain Thatcher, and Major Hawley, be a Committee to lay the same before his Excellency General Washington.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker be excused from serving on the Committee appointed to fit out vessels for Powder, and that to-morrow morning, ten o'clock, be assigned for the choice of some other person in his stead.

Then the House adjourned till to-morrow morning, nine o'clock.

Wednesday, December 20, 1775.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to consider what part of the Sea-Coast should be garrisoned this winter, be discharged of that part of their duty which directs them to confer with General Washington, on the subject thereof, and they are directed to report immediately.

Ordered, That Mr. Pitts be on the Committee appointed to fit out vessels for Powder, &c., in the room of Mr. Speaker, excused.

Ordered, That a Message go to the honourable Board, to know if they have passed upon the Resolve relative to procuring Hay for the Army.

Upon a motion, Resolved, That Captain William Johnson, of the Schooner Brittania be, and hereby is directed forthwith to deliver Richard Devans, Esq., Commissary of this Colony, the neat proceeds of a cargo consigned him by order of the late Committee of Supplies, being per his accounts, three hundred and sixty-four Fire-Arms, five hundred and twenty-nine and-a-half pounds of Powder, (Leward weight,) two thousand Flints, seventy-five weight of Ball, and twelve Cutlasses, excepting so many of said articles as by receipts shall appear to have been delivered agreeable to the order of this Court.

And he is further directed to adjust his accounts as soon as may be with Colonel Orne and Mr. Gerry, a Committee appointed for that purpose; also, that he deliver twelve Swivel-Guns to the Committee of Safety of Newburyport, to be improved by them in the defence of said town, until the further order of this Court.

Ordered, That Mr. Cross send a copy of the foregoing Resolve to Captain Johnson.

A Memorial of Hannah Sewall, of Brookline, setting forth, that considerable quantities of Wood for the use of the Army have been cut and carried away from a landed estate in Newton, which descended to her and her brother Samuel Sewall, (a Refugee,) and praying relief. Read, and committed to Mr. Nye, of Hardwick, Colonel Woodbridge, and Deacon Rauson.

The Report on the Petition and Memorial of Jacob Boardman, of Newburyport, entered the 16th current, was again read, and recommitted.

Joseph Palmer, Esq., brought down the Resolve for supplying the Army with Hay, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 18, 1775: Read, and concurred, as taken into a new draft, the same schedule being annexed.

The new draft was read, and the House concurred in the same. It is as follows, viz:

Whereas, a considerable quantity of Hay is wanted for the use of the American Army, and, unless speedily supplied, very great inconveniences, and, perhaps, fatal consequences, may ensue:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That the several Towns mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed, be called upon immediately, to furnish such quantity of Hay, and of such sort, and to cause the same to be conveyed to such camp as is therein pointed out; for which they will be allowed, and paid, at the rate of five Pounds per ton for English Hay, and forty Shillings per ton for salt Hay; and, it is expected, that the teamsters take of the person, or persons, authorized to receive such Hay, certificates expressing the quantity they deliver, and that such certificates be transmitted to the Secretary's Office within twenty days from the date hereof; and, it is earnestly recommended to the Selectmen, and Committees of Correspondence, of those towns, respectively, as they regard their own and their country's welfare, to see that the requisition be punctually complied with on their part.

And the gentlemen, hereafter named, are appointed a Committee to cause this Resolve to be communicated to the several towns concerned, and to take such further steps as may be necessary to procure a full compliance with the same, viz: Mr. Perry and Mr. Kingsbury, for the County of Suffolk; Mr. Phillips and Major Moody, for Essex; Deacon Plympton, Mr. Hayward, and Mr. Bent, for Middlesex; and Colonel Cushing, for Plymouth.

Mr. Singletary and Major Ely were appointed Monitors.

The Militia Bill was again considered by the House; and three o'clock, in the afternoon, assigned for the further consideration thereof.

The Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve for altering the style and title of the chief officer to be appointed for the Town of Gloucester, &c., reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That that part of the Resolution of this Court of the 2d of December instant, providing, "That a General Officer be appointed to take the command of the Forces stationed at Gloucester, who shall be empowered to call in the neighbouring Militia, upon any emergency, as he shall judge necessary, and discharge them again as soon as the service will admit of the same," be, and it hereby is rendered null and void.

Resolved, That a Field-Officer, of the rank of Colonel, be appointed to take the command of the Forces stationed at Gloucester, and of the Militia that shall at any time be raised for defence of the same, unless some General Officer of this Colony shall be present; and he is hereby empowered to order the Commanding Officer of the neighbouring Regiment of Militia, upon any emergency, to repair with his Regiment to the Town of Gloucester aforesaid, and co-operate with him in defending the same, so long as he, the said Commanding Officer of the Sea-Coast Forces, shall judge it necessary; and, the Militia Officers and Soldiers, who shall be raised as aforesaid, are hereby directed to obey the said Commanding Officer of the Sea-Coast Forces, accordingly.

The Committee on the Memorial of Jacob Boardman, of Newburyport, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That the Vessel mentioned in the Memorial of Jacob Boardman, belonging to Newburyport, be permitted to proceed on a voyage to any part of Europe, the Dominions of Great Britain excepted, for the purpose of procuring Gunpowder, and other Military Stores, for the service of this Colony; provided, the owners of the Vessel enter into bonds, with sufficient sureties, in the sum of (A) four hundred Pounds, to be taken by the Committee of Safety of Newburyport, in the name of the Treasurer of this Colony; that said Vessel shall proceed upon said voyage with all possible despatch, and bring nothing back except Gunpowder, and other Military Stores, and to land the same in some part of this Colony, Boston and Nantucket excepted; and that said Vessel shall proceed in ballast, without any other loading; and this Colony engages to take all the Powder brought in said Vessel, giving for the same at the rate of five Shillings per pound, (B) he delivering the same (C) to the Commissary of this Colony.

Honourable Charles Chauncy, Esq., brought down the Petition of Neal McIntyer, of Portsmouth, in New-Hampshire, praying that the Court would order certain articles of household furniture to be delivered to him, which were shipped by his father at Boston, on board the Sloop Advance, Nehemiah Eastman, master, and are now in the hands of the Committee of Frenchman's Bay, with the following Order of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 20, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That Jabez Fisher, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the foregoing Petition, and report.

Major Hawley, agreeable to order, reported a Resolve for the purpose of revoking a Resolve of this Court, appointing a Committee of both Houses to examine Muster-Rolls. Read, and recommitted to Mr. Gerry.

Afternoon.

The Committee appointed to obtain an effectual method of making Saltpetre, reported. Read, and accepted; and, thereupon, Ordered, That Doctor Whiting, Mr. Hopkins, and Mr. Holl, be a Committee to publish such part of said Report, as, also, such Resolves of this Court, and such experiments that have been made in the manufactory of that article, as they may think proper.

On a motion made, Ordered, That Mr. Morgan, Captain Carpenter, and Mr. Hopkins, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve for reconsidering a Resolve of this Court, which directs that a Powder-Mill shall be erected in the Town of Sutton, and to provide for the erecting one at Andover.

The Militia Bill was again considered by the House, and ten o'clock, to-morrow morning, assigned for the further consideration thereof.

On a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Sawyer bring in a Resolve, directing that application should be made to the Selectmen of the several towns in this Colony, to purchase all the Sulphur they can on account of the Colony.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down a Petition of Abiel Wood, praying that a Committee may be appointed to hear his defence against certain charges laid against him as an enemy to the country, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 20, 1775: Read, and Ordered, To be committed to the Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider anew the Petition of the Committee of Inspection for the East part of the Town of Pownalborough. Read, and concurred.

The House then adjourned to half-after nine o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, December 21, 1775.

A Petition of Aaron Wright, Keeper of the Jail in Northampton, praying allowance of an Account exhibited for keeping sundry Prisoners therein named. Read, and committed to the Committee on Accounts.

The Committee on the Petition of Samuel Brewer, entered December 15, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That the Treasurer of this Colony pay him the sum of twenty-four Pounds seventeen Shillings and four Pence half-penny, in full for his service therein mentioned.

A Memorial of William Powell, of Salem, setting forth, that he has a Schooner at Beverly Harbour, ready to sail, and that he designs to export cash, and import powder only, and praying liberty to proceed on his intended voyage. Read, and committed to Mr. Wheeler, Colonel Cushing, and Major Goodwin.

Moses Gill, Esquire, brought down the Resolve on the Petition of Jacob Boardman, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 21, 1775: Read, and concurred, with the amendments at A, B, and C, viz: at A, dele "four hundred," and insert "two thousand;" at B, dele "he delivering," and, at C, insert "being delivered." Read, and concurred.

Michael Farley, Esquire, brought down a Petition of the Delegates of the several Towns in the County of Cumberland,* met in Convention, at Falmouth, on the 8th of November last, relative to the defenceless and distressed situation of the said Town of Falmouth, in particular, and the County in general, and of the importance of securing

* To the Honourable His Majesty's Council of the Colony of the MASSACHUSETTS-BAY, and the Honourable House of Representatives, in General Court assembled.

The Petition of the Delegates of the several Towns in the County of CUMBERLAND, met in Convention, humbly sheweth:

That, in consequence of the destruction of the Town of Falmouth, on the 18th ultimo, this Convention met on the 31st, (and continued, by adjournments, to this day,) to consider of some ways and means to defend this County, and also this part of the country, and in particular to secure, and take possession of, and keep Falmouth-Neck in our own power, if possible, by our utmost exertions. Accordingly, we advised and ordered the most of the soldiers in the Colony service on these sea-coasts to be immediately set to work to make an intrenchment, to prevent boats from landing for the future, and, at the same time, appointed a Committee to view an eminence on said Falmouth-Neck, in order to begin to build a fort, and keep possession and advantage of the ground from our enemies, with directions to consider what number of men was necessary and proper, besides the soldiers, to carry on the affair, and apportion the same on the several towns, according to their circumstances, situation, and abilities. While these things were in agitation, and before we had well got through, the Cerberus man-of-war hove in sight, and ran into Falmouth harbour, and Captain Symens, its commander, sent orders and letters on shore, copies of which Mr. Freeman will be able to lay before you, if needed. The several towns in the County were sent in, by letters originating from the Honourable Colonel Freeman, with orders and advice to raise half the Militia. A number of the Militia and soldiers repaired to Falmouth, as soon as their distance and situation would admit; but, the weather being very stormy, nothing could be done till Saturday, when the ground was viewed, the men put under some regulation, and tools prepared to begin an intrenchment that night, (while Captain Symens, not thinking it proper to stay and see his orders put in execution, came to sail in the evening, and went out of the harbour.) The men accordingly broke ground, and worked the most of the night, and have continued so to do ever since, in all proper times for working, each town having successive drafts from the Militia to supply the places of their former drafts, so as constantly to carry on the work; while we have some who the harbour of Falmouth, and praying relief. Read, and committed to the Committee appointed to consider a Letter from General Frye on the same subject.

Samuel Holt, Esquire, brought down the following Resolve, viz:

Whereas, it hath been represented to this Court that his Excellency General Washington doth not consider himself at liberty to furnish guards for any of the sea-coasts in this Colony, saving what relates to the general defence, and it appearing to this Court necessary that certain posts should be guarded, for the security of the inhabitants:

Therefore, Resolved, That Benjamin Lincoln, Esquire, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency, and desire him that he would inform this Court to what limits he will extend his Guards.

The House again considered the Militia Bill.

Afternoon.

Joseph Palmer, Esquire, brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses appointed to take under consideration the circumstances of the Sea-Ports:

That they are of opinion that it is necessary there should be stationed at Gloucester two hundred and fifty men; at Marblehead, one hundred men; at Tarpaulin-Cove, one hundred and fifty men; and at Falmouth, in the County of Cumberland, three hundred men, which may serve, under a proper officer, as a guard for all the sea-coast in the Counties of York and Cumberland, excepting Kittery, where your Committee are of opinion that there ought to be stationed not less than fifty men, and at Hingham, Braintree, and Weymouth, two hundred men.

In Council, December 21, 1775: Read, and sent down.

Read, and to-morrow, ten o'clock, A. M., assigned for the consideration thereof.

Charles Chauncy, Esquire, brought down a paper, signed by Colonel Brewer and other Officers of the Army, testifying the bravery of Salem Poor, a negro man in Colonel Frye's Regiment, at the late battle at Charlestown.

Ordered, That Mr. Phillips bring in a Resolve for reconsidering a Resolve of this Court for erecting two Powder-Mills, and to provide for the building only one, and appointing Captain Goodman to consult with the person who has been applied to, to engage in this business, on the most convenient place for erecting such a Mill.

The Committee on the Memorial of Hannah Sewall reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That the Committee appointed by this Court to provide Wood for the Continental Army in this Colony, be immediately ordered to desist from cutting any more Wood on the land of the memorialist, till the further order of this Court.

are fitting out the few cannon we have for use, with a small matter of powder we have got; but our want of men, and want of powder, and other military stores, throws us into great anxiety. We would further beg leave to suggest that this part of the country may be of some importance to all the other parts, and perhaps we might say great; here are large stocks of cattle, of all kinds, and fuel and lumber of every kind, together with masts, which have been beneficial to almost all the sea-coasts on the Continent, and to Britain, and may be so again, and which would be extremely advantageous to our enemies, should they get the possession of it. We would likewise beg further to suggest, that, although Casco-Bay is ten leagues across from cape to cape, yet Falmouth Harbour is the most likely ship-harbour in the bay to command the country around; and must, in all probability, command great part of the Province of Maine, be it in whose hands it will.

Thus have we very briefly presumed to lay before you our distresses and wants, and also our important situation in the present and future scale of American affairs. Praying that your Honours would take our peculiarly distressing circumstances into consideration, as soon as may be, and grant us relief, by affording us men, and such warlike stores, of every kind, as you shall judge proper, together with an able, faithful, and an experienced head officer, and an engineer and other officers, as you shall think needful; and also organize the Militia in this County, that they may with the more ease and expedition be drawn out, on any emergency; or otherwise relieve us, as, in your known wisdom, you shall think fit and see meet. And your petitioners, as in duty bound, shall ever pray.

Signed by order of the Convention:

JONATHAN MITCHELL, Chairman.

FALMOUTH, November 8, 1775.

IN COUNCIL, December 21, 1775: Read, and sent down.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, December 21, 1775: Read, and committed to the Committee appointed to consider a letter from General Frye, on the same subject.

J. WARREN, Speaker.

IN COUNCIL, December 21, 1775: Read, and concurred.

PEREZ MORTON, Deputy Secretary.

On a motion, Ordered, That Mr. Jewett, Deacon Nichols, and Captain Carpenter, be a Committee to inquire of the Committee appointed to purchase Saltpetre, what quantity they have a prospect of procuring, and report to the House what is a meet sum for payment of the same.

The House assigned eleven o'clock, to-morrow morning, to consider of the Report relative to Post-Riders.

Then the House adjourned till to-morrow morning, ten o'clock.

Friday, December 22, 1775.

The Resolve brought in by the Honourable Major Hawley, containing directions to the Committee on Muster-Rolls, was read, and passed.

Note.—This Resolve was afterwards brought down and amended.

Resolved, That the consideration of the Report for stationing Forces to defend the Sea-Ports, be referred to three o'clock, in the afternoon.

An engrossed Bill for making and emitting Bills of public Credit.

Read, and Resolved, That it pass, to be enacted.

The Militia Bill was again considered by the House.

Afternoon.

Resolved, That ten o'clock, to-morrow morning, be assigned for the choice of Sea-Coast Officers for Gloucester, and that a message go to the honourable Board, informing them of this assignment.

Accordingly, Jabez Fisher, Esq., came down and informed the House, that the honourable Board had agreed to come to the choice of the Officers to command at Gloucester, agreeable to the proposal of the House.

The Militia Bill was again considered, and recommitted.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to procure Hay for the Army, be directed to proceed immediately to execute their commission, and to procure as much Hay as they can, over and above what is specified in the Resolve of this Court, agreeable to said Resolve.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down the following Resolve, viz:

In Council, December 22, 1775: Resolved, That Colonel Asa Whitcomb, who was by the late Provincial Congress appointed to muster and pay the advance wages to the men at the camp at Cambridge, be directed forthwith to make return to this Court of the number and names of the men he hath mustered and paid, and to what Regiment and Company they severally belong, with the receipts by him received from them. As, also, the names of such Officers to whom he hath delivered money for the purpose of paying the advance wages to the men by him mustered, and who have not accounted with him therefor; with the receipts he hath received from them respectively.

Read, and concurred.

The Report of the Committee appointed to consider the circumstances of the Sea-Ports, was considered by the House.

Whereupon, Resolved, That there be stationed at the places hereafter mentioned upon the Sea-Coast establishment, as follows, viz:

At Plymouth, one Company.

At Marblehead, two Companies.

At Salem, one Company.

At Gloucester, two hundred and fifty men.

At Kittery, one Company, ten men of which to be kept at York.

At Falmouth, four hundred Men, under the command of the commanding officer there, for the defence of that town and the neighbouring places in the Province of Maine.

At Tarpanlin-Cove, one hundred and fifty men.

At Martha's Vineyard, one hundred and fifty men.

At Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham, two hundred men.

Ordered, That Mr. Sullivan bring in an establishment agreeable to the foregoing Resolve.

Ordered, That Colonel Sayer bring in a Resolve directing the Receiver-General to put a sum of money into the hands of the Committee appointed to purchase Sulphur, to enable them to make payment for what they engage.

Then the House adjourned till to-morrow morning, ten o'clock.

Saturday, December 23, 1775.

The Report of the Committee on the Post-Riders' Accounts read, and recommitted, and Mr. Singletary, Mr. Mighill, and Major Smith, were added to the Committee, in the room of three gentlemen absent.

A Petition of Joshua Haynes, Jun., setting forth, that he was wounded in the battle of Lexington, and in consequence thereof, was unable to labour until the 20th of July following, and praying the consideration of the Court.

Read, and committed to the Committee on the Petitions and Accounts of wounded men.

Resolved, That a Resolution of this Court, that passed the House on the 12th instant, directing Mr. Putnam and others to erect a Powder-Mill at Sutton, and repair another at Stoughton, be reconsidered, and that Captain Goodman attend Mr. Thomas Harling to Andover and Stoughton, to take a view of a place in each of those towns, proposed for erecting a Powder-Mill, and report to this Court at which place said Mill may be erected with the greatest convenience and despatch.

Ordered, That Captain Vose, Mr. Guild, Mr. Stone, of Lexington, and Mr. Withington, be added to the Committee appointed to procure Wood for the Army, and that Mr. Sullivan bring in a Resolve for investing the said Committee with greater power.

James Prescott, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses appointed to consider the Petition of the former Committee of Inspection of the East part of the Town of Pownallborough, the Petition of a number of the inhabitants of said Town, and the Petition of Abiel Wood.

On the Petition and Account of Aaron Wright, entered the 21st current,

Resolved, That the whole sum of the said Accounts, (excepting what is charged for the Prisoners sent by General Washington,) being fifteen Pounds seventeen Shillings and four Pence, be paid out of the Treasury of this Colony to Joseph Hawley, Esquire, to the use of the said Wright, in full satisfaction of the charges for the Prisoners sent by the honourable Council.

The Committee appointed to report what sum was necessary to be put into the hands of the Committee for purchasing Saltpetre, reported.

The Report was recommitted, and the Committee was directed to determine how much money shall be paid to each of the said Saltpetre Committee, for the purpose expressed in said Report.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esquire, brought down a Petition of William Hunt, of Watertown, praying that the Court would direct the Selectmen of that town to deliver him certain articles, lately the property of Lady Franklin, and now in their possession, agreeable to an order of Congress, accompanying said Petition.

Resolved, That it be recommended to the Towns hereafter mentioned, to supply the Army with the following quantity of Wood, daily, viz: Walpole, two cords, to be carried to the camp at Roxbury; Medfield, two cords, to be carried to the camp at Roxbury; Concord, three cords, to be carried to the camp at Cambridge.

And that the Town of Dedham be excused from carrying any more than two cords to the camp at Cambridge, and that the other cord which that town was to procure, be carried to the camp at Roxbury.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to see that a Resolve of this Court, which passed the House the 16th current, relative to the procuring of Wood, proceed forthwith upon the business personally.

On a motion made, this last vote was reconsidered.

Ordered, That Colonel Freeman be on the Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve for establishing Committees of Correspondence, in the room of Mr. Batchelder, excused.

Mr. Sullivan, agreeable to order, reported an establishment for the Forces to be raised to garrison the Sea-Coast.

On a motion made, Voted, That one Company be raised to be stationed at Sheepscoot-River.

Voted, That one of the Captains of the Companies to be stationed at Tarpaulin-Cove, be appointed to command over the whole, with Captain's pay, and with the rank of Major.

Voted, That one of the Captains of the Companies to be stationed at Martha's Vineyard, be appointed to command over the whole, for Captain's pay, with the rank of Major.

Voted, That when this House is adjourned, it be adjourned to three o'clock in the afternoon, then to meet at Mrs. Coolidge's, Innkeeper in this Town, and that a message go to the honourable Board to inform them of this vote.

The House then accordingly adjourned to Mrs. Coolidge's, at three o'clock, in the afternoon.

Afternoon.

The Committee appointed to consider the state of the Boston and Charlestown Poor, reported.

Whereupon, Ordered, That Tuesday next, at three o'clock, in the afternoon, be assigned for the consideration of the Report.

Mr. Sullivan, agreeably to order, reported a Resolve to enlarge the power of the Committee appointed to procure Wood. Read, amended, and accepted, as follows:

Whereas, by a Resolve passed in the House of Representatives, on the 3d day of November last, and concurred by the honourable Board on the 4th day of the same month, it is ordered that Mr. Deans, Captain Thatcher, Mr. Cheever, Colonel Thayer, Mr. Walker, Mr. Dix, and Mr. Ellis, should be a Committee, who were directed to afford their utmost assistance and aid to the Quartermaster General, that the Continental Army might be provided with a full supply of Wood until the further order of the Court; and, for the purpose of more effectually procuring the same, they were empowered to enter the wood-lots of such of our enemies as had fled into Boston, and, after having the Wood thereon growing appraised, to cause the same to be cut down and drawn to the camp, which Resolve, with one since passed for the same purpose, has proved ineffectual, and it being absolutely necessary for the preservation of the lives and property of the people of all America that the said Army be supplied with necessary Wood:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That Captain Vose, Mr. Guild, Mr. Stone of Lexington, and Mr. Withington, be added to the said Committee, and that either three (C) of said Committee, (A) or a greater number, in the absence of some of the Committee (B) be, and they hereby are empowered (if Wood sufficient for said Army cannot be procured at a reasonable price without it) to enter the woodlands of any person, or persons, within this Colony, and, after appraising the Wood thereon standing and growing, to cause the same to be cut down and carried to the camp to supply said Army. And if any person, owner, and proprietor of such woodland, shall molest or hinder the said Committee, or any three of them, from acting in pursuance of this Resolve, the said Committee, or the major part of them present, being not less than three, are hereby empowered to cause such person to be arrested and sent to this Court, to be dealt with according to the demerits of his contempt. And the said Committee is hereby directed to pay each person, whose Wood they shall cause to be cut down and carried away, the price the same shall be by them appraised at; and, also, to pay all axe-men which they shall employ reasonable wages; and the owner of any team that they may employ reasonable wages for his team.

Ordered, That the Committee of three, appointed to put in execution a Resolve of this Court which passed the House the 16th current, relative to procuring Wood for the Army, who have wrote Letters to the Selectmen of the Towns from which the Wood is to be procured, urging them to supply the Army with that article as soon as possible, be directed to report to the House what effect those Letters may have.

The House then adjourned till Monday next, at ten o'clock, then to meet at the Meeting-House, as usual.

Monday, December 25, 1775.

A Petition of James Perry, setting forth, that being in the battle of Lexington, his wife sent him a horse, with provisions, and that the said horse was killed on his returning home; and, therefore, praying the consideration of the Court. Read, and committed to Mr. Allen, Colonel Grout, and Major Hallett.

Ordered, That the Secretary lay upon the table the Resolve of this Court for stationing two Companies at Gloucester.

Who laid the same upon the table accordingly.

Jedediah Foster, Esq., brought down the Resolve investing the Committee for procuring Wood with greater power, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 25, 1775: Read, and concurred with the amendment at A B, viz: Dele from A to B.

Read, and concurred, and the House proposed a further amendment at C, viz: At C, insert the words "or more."

The Resolve for stationing Men to defend the Sea-Coasts was again read, and recommitted, and Major Hawley, Mr. Gerry, Colonel Freeman, and Colonel Cushing, are added to the Committee.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board to inquire if they have passed upon the last Resolve of this House relative to Muster-Rolls.

The Report of the Committee appointed to consider the conduct of Abiel Wood was read, and four o'clock, in the afternoon, assigned for the consideration of it.

The Committee on the Petition of the Committee of Supplies, entered December 18th, reported, and eleven o'clock, to-morrow, A. M., was assigned for the consideration of the Report.

Afternoon.

Joseph Palmer, Esq., came down and informed the House that the honourable Board had not passed upon the Resolve of this House relative to stoppages in the Muster-Rolls, as they judged they could not consistently until they had received Colonel Whitcomb's (Mustermaster and Paymaster) Account.

A Petition of the Town of Harvard, praying the Court to use its influence with the Continental Congress to reduce the stipends granted to Officers and others in the American service. Read, and to-morrow, twelve o'clock, assigned for the consideration thereof.

The Committee appointed to consider the services of the Post-Riders, reported. Read and accepted.

Note.—This Resolve was afterwards taken into a new draft.

A Letter from his Excellency General Washington, desiring the Court to take some measures for supplying the Army with Blankets. Read, and committed to Mr. Hopkins, Colonel Godfrey, Colonel Dwight, Colonel Otis, and Major Hawley.

A Petition from the Town of Murrayfield, praying that the name of that Town, for reasons set forth in said Petition, may be altered to that of "Mount-Asaph." Read, and committed to Mr. Story, Mr. Perry, and Captain Partridge.

The House considered the Report of the Committee of both Houses on the conduct of Abiel Wood, brought down the 23d current, viz:

In Council, December 23, 1775: Resolved, That the former Committee of Inspection on the East part of the Town of Pownallborough, had sufficient evidence to justify them for publishing Abiel Wood as a violator of the Continental Association, and that in many other instances he, the said Wood, appeared by his conduct to be an enemy to the liberties of this country; and the said Committee deserve to be highly commended for so doing; and the Committee of Correspondence of said Town who counteracted the doings of said Committee of Inspection is very unjustifiable, as it encouraged the said Abiel Wood in his principles and practices, so inimical to the rights and liberties of America.

Further Resolved, That Abiel Wood shall be confined until he shall give bond, with two good and sufficient sureties, to the Treasurer of this Colony, in the sum of one thousand pounds; the condition whereof shall be that he, the said Abiel, will not, in any way, assist or correspond with any of the enemies of this country, and that he will be of good behaviour to, and peaceable towards all, and more especially towards the persons of the former Committee of Inspection for the East part of the Town of Pownalborough, and that he will at any time appear and answer to any complaint which may hereafter be made against him, when he shall be thereunto required by order of this Court, and that he will abide their order thereon.

In Council, December 23, 1775: Read, and accepted. Read, and concurred.

The House concurred in the Resolve which was brought down from the honourable Board the 21st current, appointing a Committee to wait on General Washington to desire him to inform this Court to what limits he will extend his Guards.

And Mr. Speaker and Mr. Cushing were joined to the Committee of the honourable Board.

Resolved, That to-morrow morning, ten o'clock, be assigned for the choice of four persons, a Committee on the part of this House, to sign the Bills of Credit of the last emission.

A Bill providing a speedy and cheap course, or method, for the recovery of Debts. Read a first time, and ordered to be read again on Wednesday next, ten o'clock, A. M.

The House then adjourned till ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, December 26, 1775.

On the Petition of Joshua Haynes, Jun., entered 23d ultimo,

Resolved, That there be paid to him, out of the Colony Treasury, the sum of five Pounds six Shillings and eight Pence, in full for the loss of his time and doctoring.

Order of the Day moved for.

Ordered, That Mr. Wheeler, Deacon Cheever, Mr. Morgan, and Mr. Pyncheon, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to sign the Bills of Credit of the last emission.

Ordered, That Mr. Story, Colonel Grout, and Mr. Wheeler, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve, determining how the Bills of Credit shall be signed.

Ordered, That Captain Partridge and Mr. Cushing, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to consider in what manner the gentlemen who have been chosen to represent this Colony at the Continental Congress shall be apprized of such choice.

Ordered, That Colonel Otis, Colonel Lovell, and Mr. Cushing, be a Committee to consider what sum is proper to be advanced to the Committee appointed to fit out Vessels for Powder, &c.

The Report of the Committee on the Resolves of the Continental Congress was read, and ordered to lie.

On a motion, Ordered, That Colonel Grout, Mr. Story, and Mr. Brown of Boston, be a Committee to consider those Resolves, and report to the House.

Afternoon.

Ordered, That Colonel Freeman, Mr. Wheeler, Colonel Grout, Mr. Cooper, and Mr. Brown of Boston, be a Committee to consider a meet grant to the President of Harvard College.

The Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve, determining how the Bills of Credit should be signed, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That the Committee appointed by this Court to sign and number the Bills of publick Credit, of the seventy-five thousand Pounds emission, issued by a late Act of this Court be, and they hereby are directed, to sign them in the following manner: That is to say, the several denominations of said Bills, from eight Pence to ten Shillings, shall be signed by only one of said Committee, in such manner as they shall agree among themselves; and that the several denominations of said Bills, from ten Shillings to forty-eight Shillings, shall be signed by only two of said Committee, as they shall agree. The signing of which Bills in the manner aforesaid, shall be deemed as valid and effectual, as though each Bill was signed by the whole of the Committee appointed as aforesaid.

Ordered, That Colonel Porter, Mr. Pitts, and Mr. Starkweather, be a Committee to inquire into a report of there being a quantity of Powder arrived at New-London, which was sent for on account of this Colony, and report what is proper to be done with it.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down the Resolve relative to the services of Post-Riders, which passed the House yesterday, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, December 26, 1775: Read, and concurred, as taken into a new draft.

Read, and concurred, as follows, viz:

Resolved, That the several Post-Riders (excepting Peter Mumford, already agreed with at ten Pounds per quarter) be paid for their service at the rate of twenty Shillings per annum on every mile of their route for those taken into the Continental service, beginning the 1st of June, and ending the 5th of October last; the four that are dismissed from the service, (excepting Isaac Colton,) at the rate of twenty Shillings per annum for every mile of their route, beginning the 1st of June, and ending the 5th instant.

And, that Joseph Greenleaf, Esq., be, and hereby is directed to pay to the Treasurer of this Colony all the Moneys he has received, or may receive, from the several Post-Offices in this Colony.

And, whereas, it appears that the several Offices are inadequate to the expense incurred by riding:

Therefore, further, Resolved, That the Receiver-General be, and hereby is directed to pay the several Post-Riders as followeth, in full for their services, viz:

John Noble, from Cambridge to Portsmouth, sixty-five miles, twenty-one Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence.

Josiah Barnard, from Portsmouth to Falmouth, fifty-three miles, seventeen Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence.

Adams and Hide, from Cambridge to Springfield, eighty-seven miles, twenty-nine Pounds.

Peter Mumford, from Cambridge to Providence, forty-six miles, thirteen Pounds six Shillings and eight Pence.

The above persons began to ride the 1st of June, and ended the 5th of October last, when they entered the Continental service.

Benjamin Epes, from Falmouth to Georgetown, forty-six miles, twenty-eight Pounds fifteen Shillings.

Cadwallader Ford, Jun., from Cambridge to Exeter, forty-eight miles, thirty Pounds.

Isaac Colton, from Springfield to Great-Barrington, forty-three miles, twenty-one Pounds ten Shillings.

Howland and Goodwin, from Cambridge to Falmouth, eighty-one miles, fifty Pounds twelve Shillings and six Pence.

And these four last are dismissed the service.

The Militia Bill was again taken into consideration.

The House being informed that the Army was in great want of Wood,

Ordered, That the following gentlemen repair immediately to the towns respectively set against their names, and represent to the Committees of Correspondence, Selectmen, and inhabitants of such towns, the distresses of the Army on that account, and the great danger the country is exposed to from a dispersion of the Army, which must take place if it is not supplied with Wood; and, to use their utmost endeavours to prevail with them to exert themselves at this critical juncture, to supply the Army with not only such quantity as has been heretofore set on each town by this Court, but as much more as they possibly can, at least half as much more as has been set on them as aforesaid, viz:

Captain Parker, to the Town of Roxbury,

Colonel Norton, to the Town of Dedham,

Colonel Lovell, to the Town of Stoughton,

Mr. Withington, to the Town of Dorchester,

Colonel Thayer, to the Town of Braintree,

Mr. Vose, to the Town of Milton,

Colonel Barret, to the Town of Concord,

Mr. Fessenden, to the Town of Lexington,

Colonel Howe, to the Town of Bedford,
 Major Brooks, to the Town of Lincoln,
 Captain Walker, to the Town of Wilmington,
 Colonel Perry, to the Town of Natick,
 Captain White, to the Town of Needham,
 Major Fuller, to the Town of Newton,
 Deacon Leonard, to the Town of Weston,
 Major Blood, to the Town of Waltham,
 Mr. Hendrick, to the Town of Stoneham,
 Captain Hobart, to the Town of Malden,
 Mr. Ingalls, to the Town of Reading,
 Major Johnson, to the Town of Woburn,
 Captain Brown, to the Town of Watertown,
 Major Bliss, to the Town of Medford,
 Mr. Perry, to the Town of Medfield,
 Captain Carpenter, to the Town of Walpole.

Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Captain Partridge, Mr. Pitts, Colonel Dwight, and Colonel Cushing, be a Committee to consider what towns it would be expedient to send to for Wood, which are at a greater distance from the Camp than those specified in a Resolve of this House of the 2d instant, and report to the House.

Benjamin Chadbourn, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses appointed to wait on, and represent to General Washington, the circumstances of four Companies, now doing duty in the Towns of Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham, viz:

The Committee of both Houses "appointed to wait on, and represent to his Excellency General Washington, the circumstances of four Companies now doing duty in the Towns of Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham, setting forth by whose order they were raised; that they were then considered as part of the thirteen thousand six hundred men agreed to be enlisted by this Colony, where they have done duty, &c., and to request that his Excellency would order them to be paid by the United Colonies," beg leave to represent, that as the propriety of such an order depends upon various circumstances; and, as many important matters are constantly soliciting his Excellency's attention, the Committee report the following state of facts to be laid before him, so that he may be the better enabled to answer the request of this Court:

Upon application from the towns aforesaid, (as also from those of Chelsea and Malden,) on or about the 1st of May last, to the Committee of Safety of this Colony, who then had the direction of raising and stationing the forces within the same, praying that they would (from a consideration of the situation of said towns, and that the enemy could land in any of them from Boston Harbour within an hour after they enter their boats, and in some parts in less than half an hour; and also that they could from thence easily penetrate into the country,) order a detachment from the camps, as a guard, to be stationed in these towns. The said Committee of Safety, with the Council of War, after full inquiry and deliberation, determined that it was necessary that a party should be constantly stationed on the sea-coasts of these towns, to watch the motions of the enemy, and prevent their landing; but as no troops could well be spared at that time from either of the camps of Cambridge or Roxbury, they directed that there should immediately be raised one company in Hingham, one in Weymouth, and two in Braintree, (also two at Chelsea and Malden,) and that these companies should be joined to such regiments in future, as should be directed. The men were raised, as ordered, and were then, and ever have been considered as part of the thirteen thousand six hundred men to be raised by this Colony; they were so considered by the General Officers, and have been employed in such services, place, and places, as the Commanding Officer at Roxbury hath from time to time directed, as will appear by his orders to the several Captains of said companies, some copies of which accompany this representation. A company from Roxbury was, as soon as the state of that camp would admit of it, detached to the assistance of these four companies, and upon their being remanded in August last, two other companies, also part of the Continental Army, were sent to supply their place, and the place of a company drawn from Cohasset, a town adjoining to Hingham. When these four companies were raised, this Colony had it not in contemplation to raise men for the general defence of the sea-coasts; and they never have been considered by us in any other point of view than as part of our quota for the common defence; and being stationed far within the narrow limits of the Harbour of Boston, his Excellency will, undoubtedly, from all these considerations, grant the reasonable request of this Court, and order these forces to be paid by the United Colonies.

In Council, December 26, 1775: Read, and accepted, and, thereupon, Resolved, That the Committee who were appointed to wait upon his Excellency General Washington, with a representation of the state of the said four companies, be excused that part of their service; and that the Committee appointed to wait upon his Excellency to request his informing this Court how far he will extend his Guards, &c., present him with the foregoing Report and Representation, with the papers accompanying the same, and request his ordering payment to said companies.

Read, and concurred.

A Petition of Duncan Campbell, praying that he may have liberty to send a vessel to Tobago, in ballast. Read, and committed to Mr. Speaker, Major Hawley, and Mr. Sullivan.

Resolved, That it be recommended to the Town of Newton, to send to Roxbury one half of the Wood which they were, by a Resolve of this House, desired to send to Cambridge.

The Militia Bill was recommitted at large, and Major Hawley and Mr. Gerry were added to the Committee.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker and Mr. Cushing be a Committee to wait upon the Quartermaster-General, and desire him to make a return to this House, weekly, of what Wood he receives from the several towns which the House has recommended to supply the Army with. And also to represent to them the necessity this House conceive there is of having proper wood-yards provided, and persons at hand to pay for what may be carried to such yards.

The House then adjourned till ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

 Wednesday, December 27, 1775.

A Petition of David Pratt and others, a Committee of Spencertown, in the County of Albany, and Colony of New-York, setting forth, that early last Spring the inhabitants of that town formed a company of Minute-Men, who, on the 23d of April last, set out on their march for Boston, but being stopped by the advice of Colonel Fellows, and that of the Committee aforesaid, who became bound to pay them for their service until the 25th of May following, as represented in said Petition, they then received orders to march to Lake-George, but General Schuyler having refused to pay them for any service before the said 25th May, without the desire of this Court, they pray the Court to signify to him their opinion hereon.

Read, and committed to Doctor Whiting, Mr. Whitney, and Deacon Wood.

On the Memorial of William Powell, entered the 21st instant:

Resolved, That the Schooner of about sixty tons, mentioned in the Memorial of William Powell, of Salem, in the County of Essex, be permitted to proceed on a voyage to any part of Europe, or to the West-Indies, (the Dominions of Great Britain excepted,) for the purpose of procuring Gunpowder, or other necessary stores, provided the owner of the vessel enter into bonds, with sufficient sureties, in the sum of one thousand Pounds, to be taken by the Committee of Safety of Salem, in the name of the Treasurer of this Colony; that said Schooner shall proceed on said voyage with cash only, (as is proposed in the Memorial,) with all possible despatch, and bring nothing back except Gunpowder, or other Military Stores, if a full load of the former cannot be obtained, and land the same in some part of this Colony, Boston and Nantucket excepted.

Moses Gill, Esq., brought down a Petition of Mrs. Deborah Cushing, wife of the Honourable Thomas Cushing, Esq., one of the members of the Continental Congress, setting forth, that Mr. Cushing, being at the time of commencing hostilities by the Ministerial troops, called out of Boston on publick business, was prevented from getting out any of his household furniture, except one or two beds; and, therefore, praying the Court to grant her the use of the furniture which belonged to the late Governour Hutchinson, now in the hands of the Committee of Correspondence, for the Town of Milton.

In Council, December 27, 1775: Read, and Ordered, That Moses Gill, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider said Petition, and report.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Pitts and Deacon Nichols are joined.

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed, with whom the Commissary-General may advise and consult, with respect to the purchase of Military Stores, and that Mr. Devans, Mr. Phillips, and Mr. Pitts, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve stating the commission of such a Committee.

The Committee on Accounts were directed to allow Doctor's Accounts, so far as they were for services done before the first day of August last.

Ordered, That Mr. Partridge bring in a Resolve directing the Committee for procuring Saltpetre to deliver what they procure into the care of the Commissary-General.

Resolved, That three o'clock in the afternoon be assigned for the consideration of the Report of the Committee appointed to consider the state of the Boston and Charlestown Poor.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board to desire they would send down the Resolve which passed this House relative to the Estates of the Refugees.

Ordered, That Mr. Speaker, Mr. Gerry, and Colonel Thurston, with such as the honourable Board may join, be a Committee to consider the Petition of the Town of Harvard, entered the 25th current.

Resolved, That Colonel Porter, Deacon Cheever, and Mr. Pitts, be a Committee to advise with the Commissary-General in procuring and depositing such Ordnance and other Military Stores as this Court have ordered to be purchased for the use of the Colony.

The House considered the Petition of Charles Chauncy, Esq., in behalf of Neal McIntyer, brought down December 20th, and the Vote of Council thereon.

Read, and concurred, and Colonel Thompson and Mr. Hopkins are joined.

James Prescott, Esq., brought down the Resolve of this House relative to disposing of the Estates of the Refugees.

The Committee appointed to inquire what quantity of Saltpetre will be procured by the Committee on Saltpetre, having acquainted themselves relative to the matter, and being persuaded that in a month or two, one ton of Saltpetre at least will be procured by them, which, at seven Shillings per pound, amounts to seven hundred Pounds:

Therefore, Resolved, That the Receiver-General of this Colony be directed to pay Captain Peck two hundred and fifty Pounds; Dr. Whiting, one hundred and fifty Pounds; Deacon Baker, one hundred and fifty Pounds; and Mr. Phipps, the other one hundred and fifty Pounds, which completes the sum above-mentioned—those gentlemen being the Committee upon Saltpetre, and that they severally be accountable to this Court for the above said sums.

Afternoon.

The Committee to whom was referred the Petition of the Committee of Frenchman's Bay, relative to a quantity of Grain, &c., from Virginia, consigned to the Committee of Donations for the Poor of Boston, reported, that said Petition be handed to the Committee of Donations, that they may act thereon as they shall judge proper.

Read, and accepted, and, accordingly, Ordered, To be handed to the said Committee of Donations, they to act thereon as they think proper.

Mr. Watson, by order of the Committee of Accounts, laid before the House the appointment of Joseph Pearce Palmer, as Quartermaster-General of the Massachusetts Forces, and an Account of his services, and requested the instructions of the House;

Whereupon, Ordered, That the Committee do not take the same into consideration until the said Palmer makes application by way of petition.

It was moved that the sense of the House be taken on this question, proposed by the Committee on Accounts, viz: Whether they ought to allow such Accounts of Tavernkeepers, for billeting soldiers, as are so general that the Committee cannot determine whether they are reasonable or not? And the question being put, it passed in the negative.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, to know if they have passed upon a Resolve of this House, directing how the Bills of Credit should be signed.

Ordered, That Mr. Hobart, Colonel Cushing, and Mr. Pitts, be a Committee to consider what shall be done with those Bills of Credit which specify a different denomination on the back to what is expressed on the face of the Bill, and to determine how they shall be received in payment.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, desiring that they would send down the Resolve of this House relative to the payment of Muster-Rolls, if they have not passed upon it.

John Taylor, Esq., brought the same down accordingly, and, also, brought down a Resolve, certifying the appointment of the gentlemen delegated by the Court to represent this Colony at the Continental Congress, and expressing their commission.

Resolved, That the Committee appointed by this Court to purchase Saltpetre, be, and they hereby are directed to deliver all the Saltpetre they shall purchase, in pursuance of their commission, to Richard Devans, Esq., and take his receipt for the same.

Resolved, That Henry Gardner, Esq., Receiver-General of this Colony, be, and he hereby is directed to pay unto Thomas Crafts, Esq., and others, (a Committee appointed by this Court to provide for such of the Poor of Boston as have, or may be sent out of said town to Point-Shirley), the sum of one hundred Pounds, for the purpose aforesaid, said Committee to be accountable to this Court therefor.

The House considered the Resolve for stationing Forces to guard the Sea-Coasts.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Thursday, December 28, 1775.

Ordered, That Colonel Otis, Mr. Phillips, Captain Carpenter, Mr. Morgan, and Colonel Norton, be a Committee to take into consideration some proper method, by which this Colony may be supplied with a quantity of Wool.

The House considered, and non-concurred a Resolve of the honourable Board, brought down the 26th current, for the purpose of appointing a Committee to consider and report a Resolve directing how the Bills of Credit should be signed and numbered, and what allowance the signers and numberers shall have for their services;

Whereupon, Ordered, That Mr. Singletary, Mr. Brown of Abington, and Mr. Phillips, be a Committee for that purpose.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, to know if they have passed upon a Resolve of this House directing how the Bills of Credit should be signed.

Accordingly, Jedediah Foster, Esq., came down, and informed the House that the honourable Board had non-concurred the said Resolve, and, at the same time, brought down a Report of the Committee of both Houses, on the Petition of Mrs. Deborah Cushing, read yesterday, viz:

Resolved, That the prayer of said Petition be granted, and that the Committee of Correspondence of the Town of Milton be, and hereby are directed to deliver to said Deborah Cushing such, and so much of the household furniture now in their hands, belonging to the late Governour Hutchinson, (A) as she may need, and take her receipt therefor, the said Thomas Cushing, Esq., to be accountable to this, or some future General Assembly of this Colony, for the same, and the aforesaid Committee are directed to get such articles as said Deborah may receive appraised, by three indifferent persons, under oath, and lodge a copy of said appraisement in the Secretary's Office.

In Council, December 28, 1775: Read, and accepted.

Jabez Fisher, Esquire, brought down the following Resolve, which passed the honourable Board the 27th current, viz:

Whereas, many Accounts against this Colony are exhibited by Innholders, and others, without any charge of the particular articles which would justify the foot of such accounts;

Therefore, Resolved, That all Accounts exhibited against this Colony in future, by Innholders, or others, shall particularly specify the several articles and charges thereof, which may, collectively, make up the foot of such Accounts, and no others will be received; and that this Resolve be published in the Watertown, Cambridge, and Worcester Newspapers, for three weeks successively, next after the date hereof.

The Resolve of this House containing directions to the Committee on Muster-Rolls, which was brought down yesterday, was read, and recommitted to Major Hawley, Mr. Sullivan, and Captain Partridge, who, having amended the same, reported. Read, and accepted, as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Committee of both Houses, lately appointed to examine the Muster-Rolls ordered by this Court to be made up to the 1st of August last, be directed not only carefully to see to it, that all such stoppages be made on the said Rolls as are directed to be made by the Resolve passed in the House on the 3d of November last, and concurred by the Council on the 6th of the same month, but that they diligently inquire, and endeavour fully to find out, whether any officer, or officers, borne on such Rolls, are indebted to the Government for any moneys received to pay their regiments or companies their advance pay, which they have not accounted for to the Paymasters of the Colony; and, also, whether any non-commissioned officers or privates have received their advance pay more than once; and in all instances where the said Committees shall find that any officers or privates are indebted to the Government on such accounts, that they stay the payment of so much of the wages of the particular person so indebted, whether officers or soldiers, borne on the said Rolls, as may indemnify the Government; and, in order more effectually to do the same, the said Committee is hereby directed and empowered to call upon such of the Commissaries, Paymasters, and Committees of Supplies, as have been in the service of this Colony, for all accounts and certificates necessary to enable them to make the stoppage, as aforesaid; and that an addition be immediately made to the said Committee, of two on the part of the House, and one on the part of the Board, and that any five of such increased Committee be a quorum, and that the said Committee be hereby directed and required, constantly to attend the business of examining and correcting the said Rolls, until they shall be finished, and, from time to time, as soon as they shall have passed on such Rolls, that they present the same to the honourable Board for their concurrence, and that the Board, as soon as they shall have passed thereon, make their warrant on the Treasurer for what shall appear to be due to each man borne on the said Rolls.

Ordered, That Major Gooding and Colonel Porter be added to the Committee above-mentioned, on the part of the House.

The House again considered the Resolve for stationing Forces to guard the Sea-Coasts, and the further consideration thereof was put off to three o'clock in the afternoon.

Ordered, That Mr. Pitts bring in a Resolve, empowering the Committee appointed to consider the information against Mr. Elias Haskitt Derby, to send for witnesses.

Afternoon.

John Taylor, Esq., brought down the following Resolve, viz:

In Council, December 28, 1775: Resolved, That it be, and it hereby is recommended to the Selectmen of the several Towns in this Colony, as soon as may be, to call their towns together, and to insert in the Warrants to be by them issued for calling said Town Meetings, a clause or article for devising ways and means for introducing the art of manufacturing Saltpetre into private families in such towns; and it is hereby recommended to the said towns to appoint Committees, and grant all such encouragement as they shall judge proper to this necessary business. And it is recommended to the Selectmen to lay before their towns for their consideration, the several methods for collecting materials and making Saltpetre, which have been published by the honourable the Continental Congress, and by this Court.

And it is further recommended to all private families to exert themselves in collecting earth from the foundations of houses, barns, stables, dove-houses, and all other buildings, and from cellars and other places, and in learning the art of extracting Saltpetre from the same, (A.)

The Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve directing how the Bills of Credit should be numbered and signed, reported. The Report was read, and considered, and re-committed.

The Report of the Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve for establishing of Forces to guard the Sea-Coast, was again considered, and accepted, and is as follows, viz:

Whereas, the time for which the men raised by this Colony for the defence of the Sea-Coast thereof, is near expired, and it being necessary that there should be new levies for that purpose:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That there shall be forthwith raised and enlisted in the pay of this Colony, for the defence of the same, twelve hundred men, upon the following establishment, to serve and be in pay from the time of their marching from their homes to their respective stations, (provided they pass muster,) to the last day of December, 1776, unless the General Court shall see fit to discharge them, or any part of them, before; each Company to have one Captain and two Lieutenants, three Sergeants, three Corporals, one Drummer, and one Fifer; the Captain's pay to be five Pounds eight Shillings per month; the First Lieutenant's pay, three Pounds twelve Shillings per month; and the Second Lieutenant's, three Pounds three Shillings per month; each Sergeant's pay, forty-four Shillings; each Corporal's and Drummer's, forty Shillings, and Fifer's and Private's pay, thirty-six Shillings per month; and where it may be necessary to appoint a Field-Officer or Officers over some part of the said men so raised, the pay of a Chief or First Colonel shall be nine Pounds, a Lieutenant-Colonel eight (A) Pounds, and for a Major seven Pounds per month, accounting thirty days to a month. And that each officer and soldier aforesaid, shall arm and equip himself with a good, effective fire-arm, cartridge-box, blanket, and knapsack, half a pound of powder, twenty bullets, and four flints; and no non-commissioned officer or private soldier shall be allowed to pass muster, unless so equipped and provided. And it is recommended to the Selectmen of each town, that they, out of their town's stock, supply the persons so enlisted, being inhabitants of their town, with the quantity of ammunition aforesaid, on such persons paying a reasonable price for the same, and being otherways unable to procure it.

And it is also Resolved, That each officer and private soldier shall within two months next after passing muster, be further armed and equipped with a bayonet and belt, and a canteen sufficient to hold one quart, upon penalty of having six Shillings a month deducted out of their wages for all the time they shall be unprovided therewith, after the expiration of the said two months; and the Captain or Commanding Officer who shall make up the Muster-Rolls, is hereby ordered to deduct the same.

And it is also Resolved, That the allowance of provisions to each officer and private soldier, by the day, shall be one pound of (B) flour bread, or one pound and-a-quarter of other bread, one pound of pork, or one pound and-a-quarter of beef; and where salt fish can be had, they shall be allowed one pound of fish one day in seven, instead of one day's allowance of meat; also one Shilling and eight Pence per week to purchase milk, butter, peas, and other sauce, soap, and vinegar.

And it is Resolved, That there shall, upon the aforesaid establishment of the twelve hundred men aforesaid, be stationed at a place called Martha's Vineyard, in this Colony, two Companies, consisting of seventy-five men each, including officers.

And it is also Resolved, That there shall be stationed upon the same establishment at the Elizabeth-Islands, in this Colony, two Companies, to consist of seventy-five men each, including officers; which four Companies aforesaid shall be under the field command of a Major, to be appointed over them by the Court.

And it is also Resolved, That a Commissary be appointed by this Court, to supply the four Companies aforesaid with barracks, wood, and utensils to cook in, and their allowance of provisions and money, according to the aforesaid establishment, till the further order of this Court.

And it is Resolved, That there shall be stationed at Plymouth, fifty men, including officers, upon the same establishment; and that there shall be a Commissary appointed by this Court to supply said Company with barracks, wood, and utensils to cook in, and their allowance of provisions and money according to the establishment aforesaid.

And it is also Resolved, That there shall be stationed at Marblehead two Companies, to consist of seventy-five men each, officers included, one Captain of which Companies shall have the chief command of both.

And it is Resolved, That there be stationed at Salem, one Company, to consist of fifty men, including officers, and that a Commissary be appointed by this Court to supply said Companies at Salem and Marblehead with the allowance of provisions and money aforesaid, and to provide for them, if necessary, wood, barracks, and utensils to cook in.

And that there be stationed at Gloucester, four Companies, two whereof shall consist of sixty-three men each, including officers, and the other two to consist of sixty-two men each, including officers, and to be under the command of a Colonel, to be appointed by this Court, as already provided; and that a Commissary be appointed by this Court to supply them with the allowance as is above provided for the others on the same establishment; and with barracks, wood, and utensils to cook in, if necessary.

And it is likewise Resolved, That there shall be stationed at Falmouth, in the County of Cumberland, five Companies, to consist of eighty men each, including officers; two Companies whereof shall be raised of the inhabitants of said County; two of the inhabitants of the County of York; and one of the inhabitants of the County of Lincoln, to be under the command of one Colonel and one Major, to be chosen and appointed over them by this Court; of which men the Commanding Officer shall place necessary guards on Kennebeck-River, at Harpswell, Brunswick, North-Yarmouth, New-Casco, Cape-Elizabeth, Scarborough, on Saco-River, and in such other places as he shall think necessary for the defence of the Province of Maine, and that a Commissary be appointed by this Court to supply said Companies with their allowance of money and provisions, according to the above establishment, and with barracks, wood, and utensils to cook in.

And it is also Resolved, That the Council shall, and they hereby are empowered forthwith to issue their warrant to the Treasurer, directing him to pay the aforesaid Commissaries, when chosen, the sum of fifty Shillings for each officer and soldier, which they are to provide for respectively; the said Commissaries giving bonds with sufficient sureties, as the Council shall direct, that the moneys which they shall, from time to time, receive by warrant of Council for the purpose aforesaid, shall be by them faithfully expended in supplying and providing for the Companies under their respective care, and accounted for accordingly; and the Council are further empowered, at the expiration of two months, to order to each Commissary aforesaid, who shall well and truly account with this Court, or such Committee as shall be by them appointed for this purpose, for that part of the sum aforesaid, which he shall have received, the further sum of five Pounds for each officer and soldier under his care, or such a part thereof as shall be found necessary to furnish supplies four months; and at the expiration of that, or any other time for which moneys shall be advanced to each Commissary for supplying the forces as aforesaid, to renew their drafts in the said proportion of twenty-five Shillings a man per month, or so much thereof as shall be found necessary, until the 31st of December next, provided the Commissaries shall, respectively, continue to account for the sums they shall receive as aforesaid, and the Forces shall not be dismissed before from the service of this Colony.

Also, Resolved, That the Captain of each Company aforesaid be, and hereby is directed to make up his Muster-Roll the last day of February next, and after that time, quarterly, so long as he shall continue in the service as aforesaid, and to direct the Company to draw on the Treasurer in favour of some person whom they shall appoint to receive the same; and that the Council are further empowered to issue their warrants on the Treasury for payment thereof, to the persons on said Rolls, or their order.

Resolved, That the Commanding Officer of each Company shall cause them to be improved in military discipline (unless otherwise upon duty) once, or oftener, each day, excepting the Sabbath, and order them to avoid an unnecessary expense of ammunition; and each non-commissioned officer or soldier who shall act in opposition to this Resolve, or disobey the lawful commands of either of his officers relative to the premises, and be thereof convicted before a majority of the Sea-Coast commissioned Officers, stationed in the same town with him, shall forfeit and have deducted from his wages a sum not exceeding six Shillings, nor less than one Shilling for each offence.

Resolved, That there be appointed one person in each County where the Sea-Coast Men are stationed, to muster the same; and each Sea-Coast Officer shall, on an alarm, be under command of any Officer of the Militia of superior rank; and superior to any Officer of the Militia of equal rank.

Resolved, That the Sea-Coast Forces shall be subject to, and governed by the same Articles of War, or Regulations, which shall be provided for the Militia of this Colony, when raised in consequence of an alarm; and where no Field-Officer, or Officers, are appointed over the said Forces they shall, during their continuance on any station, be so far considered belonging to the Regiment of which said station, or place, is a part, as to be tried and punished for any breach of said Articles of War, by a Court-Martial, consisting of the officers of the said Regiment, and the Forces aforesaid; or such a part thereof as the said Articles shall direct.

And it is also Resolved, That there shall be stationed at Kittery-Point, one Company, of fifty men, including officers, under the same laws, regulations, and establishments aforesaid, the Commanding Officer of which Company, shall keep a Sergeant's Guard at York; and that a Commissary be appointed by this Court to supply said Company with the provisions, money, barracks, &c., as above-mentioned for others on the same establishment.

Resolved, That Colonel Freeman be, and hereby is appointed and directed to send a printed copy of the above Establishment, with Inlisting Orders, and Forms of Inlisting, to the several Captains that may be chosen by this Court on said Establishment.

Ordered, That the Committee who reported the foregoing Resolve consider a proper provision for defence of Sheepscut-River, and other exposed parts of the Sea-Coast.

A Letter from the Honourable John Hancock, Esq., dated "Congress-Chamber, December 23, 1775," informing the Court that the money ordered by the Court in consequence of our Accounts, would be ready to be forwarded in three days, &c. Read, and sent up.

John Taylor, Esq., brought down the following Resolve, viz:

In Council, January 2, 1776: Whereas, an Order hath passed this Court, directing the Commanding Officer of the several Companies of Minute-Men and Militia, and, also, the Commanding Officers of the men stationed on the Sea-Coasts, to lodge their respective Rolls in the Secretary's Office, in order to their being examined and passed on, and no provision is made in said Order that a copy of such Roll shall be lodged with the Treasurer of this Colony;

Therefore, Resolved, That Charles Chauncy, Esq., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider of, and report what is further necessary for this Court to do touching the premises.

Read, and concurred, and Mr. Mills and Deacon Stickney are joined.

A Petition of Ivory Hovey, in behalf of the Eastern Districts, lying between the River of Penobscot and Machias, praying the Court to establish a Court of Admiralty at Union-River, for reasons set forth in said Petition. Read, and committed to Colonel Orne and Mr. Hopkins, with such as the honourable Board shall join.

Resolved, That three o'clock, in the afternoon, be assigned to consider the Accounts of Labour done on Cambridge Bridge.

Resolved, That the second reading of the Bill to enable the Inhabitants of Falmouth to recover Goods taken from them at the time of the late fire there, be put off to four o'clock, in the afternoon.

The Bill, intituled "An Act for forming and regulating the Militia in this Colony," read a third time, and passed to be engrossed.

Afternoon

Ordered, That Major Smith, Colonel Freeman, and Colonel Thurston, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to inquire into the conduct of the Officers of the Companies stationed at Falmouth, in the County of Cumberland, at the time of the late fire there, and that the Committee on Muster-Rolls be directed to defer passing on the Muster-Rolls of those Companies, until the Committee now appointed shall report.

The Committee of this day appointed to inspect the establishment of the Field-Officers, &c., reported.

Read, and recommitting, and the Committee were directed to inquire thoroughly into the matter in particular; to examine the Records and Papers of the Congress and Committee of Safety, and to make application to some of the Officers of the Army for the original, or an attested copy of the establishment, and to avail themselves of the grounds on which the Colonels expected fifteen Pounds per month.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

— Thursday, January 4, 1776.

The Committee on the Petition of the Selectmen of the Town of Bridgewater, reported. Read, and not accepted, and ordered to be recommitted.

A Petition and Memorial of the Town of Salem, setting forth their distressed circumstances, and praying that they may be exonerated the whole of the Colony tax laid on them for the current year. Read, and the petitioners had leave to withdraw their Petition.

Ordered, That Mr. Story get the Resolve for procuring Blankets printed as soon as it has passed the honourable Board.

Afternoon.

Colonel Joseph Foster, having been appointed to the command of the Forces to be stationed at the Town of Gloucester, moved the House that a precept may issue to that Town for the choice of some person to represent it in his stead:

Whereupon, Ordered, That Mr. Davis, Mr. Gardner, and Major Blood, be a Committee to consider the said motion, and report.

Ordered, That the Secretary be directed to lay upon the table the Resolve of Court appointing a Committee to sign the Bills of Credit.

The Secretary laid the same on the table, accordingly.

The Secretary came in with the following Message from a majority of the honourable Council, viz:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

The danger that a correspondence would be carried on between a few disaffected inhabitants of this Colony and the enemies of America, through the Town of Hull, to the men-of-war lying in and near Nantasket-Road; and that our enemies might be supplied in that channel, induced the General in July last to cause the inhabitants of said town to be removed, and to place and constantly keep up a guard at the entrance of the beach leading into that town; the guards continued until the 1st of December past, at which time their inlistment expired, and they returned to their several homes in Connecticut. Upon this, and Colonel Lincoln being told, that several persons had been seen to go to Hull, but none being observed to return, he directed a small guard from the Militia in the vicinity to be placed at the entrance of said town, and to continue there until they should receive further orders; he immediately laid the whole matter before the Council. They sent a message to his Excellency General Washington, requesting that he would place a guard there, and relieve the Militia; he gave encouragement to our messenger that he would give orders for that purpose; but it hath been delayed, and now the Council are acquainted that the lines at Cambridge and Roxbury are so thin that no men can be spared for the purpose aforesaid. The Council, therefore, thought it their duty to make this representation to the honourable House, and recommend to them that provision be immediately made, not only for guarding the passage into said town, but, also, that suitable guards be placed in the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, and Hingham.

J. PALMER,

Council Chamber, January 4, 1776.

Read, and committed to the Committee appointed to consider some provision for defence of the Sea-Coast.

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to sign the Bills of Credit be directed to proceed immediately upon that business.

Ordered, That the Secretary be directed to attend this House, that he may be inquired of concerning the proceedings of the honourable Board with respect to Dr. Gelston.

The Secretary attended accordingly, and informed the House that the honourable Board had passed a Resolve for liberating the said Gelston, on his giving certain bonds.

Whereupon, Ordered, That the Secretary lay the same upon the table.

The Secretary laid the same upon the table accordingly.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, desiring that they would not suffer Doctor Gelston to go at large till some orders had passed both Houses respecting him.

Jabez Fisher, Esquire, brought down the following Resolve of the honourable Board:

In Council, January 4, 1776: Whereas, a Committee of both Houses have been appointed for signing and numbering the Bills of Credit for the seventy-five thousand Pounds emission, and as the publick affairs of the Colony press hard upon the Board, they cannot (without injuring the publick) spare any of their Members in the hours they usually sit upon business:

Therefore, Resolved, That Colonel Cushing, with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to take into consideration the matter of signing and numbering said Bills, and report some effectual mode of raising a Committee for that purpose, so that the Treasury may be seasonably supplied.

Read, and concurred, and Colonel Thompson and Mr. Craue are joined.

Benjamin White, Esq., brought down the following Vote of Council, viz:

In Council, January 4, 1776: On a motion, Ordered, That John Adams and Joseph Palmer, Esqs., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to examine into the character and conduct of Doctor Samuel Gelston, lately apprehended by the order of the General Court, and now before them ready for examination, and report.

Read, and concurred, and Colonel Freeman, Mr. Brown, of Boston, and Colonel Grout, are joined.

The Resolve for procuring Blankets, which passed in the forenoon, was reconsidered and recommitted for amendment.

The Committee appointed to consider some further provision for the defence of the Sea-Coast, reported. Read, and accepted.

The Committee appointed to take under consideration and report what Forces are necessary to defend the Sea-Coast, beg leave further to report the following Resolve:

In the House of Representatives, January 4, 1776.

It is Resolved, That there be raised on the Sea-Coast establishment made by this Court for the present year, one Company, to consist of fifty men, including officers, and stationed at the mouth of Sheeps-cut-River and places adjacent, as the Commanding Officer of said Company shall order; and that a Commissary be appointed by the General Court to supply them with provisions and money according to the establishment aforesaid.

And that there be stationed at Pemaquid, for the defence of the Sea-Coast near Damariscotta-River, and the places adjacent, one Company consisting of fifty men, including officers, on the establishment aforesaid, and that there be a Commissary appointed to supply them with money and provisions according to said establishment.

And that there be stationed at Georges, Medumcook, and Penobscot, as the Commanding Officer shall order, one Company of men, consisting of fifty, including officers, and that there be a Commissary appointed to supply them with provisions and money, as by the establishment aforesaid is provided.

And that the Company, by the establishment aforesaid at Salem, be augmented to one hundred men, including officers, and to be supplied as by the said establishment is provided.

And it is, also, Resolved, That there be stationed at Truro, one Company of fifty men, including officers, and that there be a Commissary appointed to supply them with provisions and money according to the establishment aforesaid.

And it is, also, Resolved, That the Council be, and they hereby are empowered to make out their Warrant to the Treasurer to supply the Commissaries of the Companies before-mentioned to be stationed at Truro, Sheeps-cut, Pemaquid, and George's, in the same manner, and the same proportion as is provided in the establishment of the Sea-Coast Men, passed by the General Court in December last; and, also, to draw on the Treasurer for sufficient sums to pay the Muster-Rolls of the aforesaid Companies agreeable to said establishment.

And it is, also, Resolved, That no new Barracks shall be built for the Sea-Coast Men in this Colony by the Commissaries, or any other person, at the expense of this Colony, without the express order of the General Court.

A Memorial and Petition of Hannah Sewall, of Brookline, setting forth, that Mr. Alexander Sheppard, of Newton, and other persons, have entered her woodland, cut and carried off large quantities of wood therefrom. Read, and the Petitioner had leave to withdraw her Petition.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Friday, January 5, 1776.

A Petition of John Bunker, of Mount-Desert, representing that in November last he took and carried into Goldsborough a Schooner, between fifty and sixty tons, bound from Nova-Scotia to Boston, and laden with cattle, butter, cheese, &c., and praying that he may have orders from the Court to remove her to some secure place for his benefit and that of his country. Read, and committed to Mr. Ingalls, Colonel Thurston, and Mr. Low.

Michael Farley, Esq., brought down the following Vote of Council, viz:

In Council, January 4, 1776: On a motion, Ordered, That Walter Spooner, John Adams, Joseph Palmer, James Prescott, Benjamin Lincoln, Jabez Fisher, and John Taylor, Esqs., be a Committee of the Board, to confer with such Committee of the honourable House as shall be chosen for that purpose, upon the subject-matter of the Militia Bill, and upon the manner in which the Officers shall be appointed.

Read, and concurred, and Major Hawley, Mr. Sullivan, Captain Stone, Mr. Gerry, Colonel Grout, Colonel Freeman, Colonel Orne, and Deacon Nichols, are appointed a Committee on the part of the House for the purpose above expressed.

John Whetcomb, Esq., brought down the Petition of Ivory Hovey, read January 2d, with a Report thereon; accepted by the honourable Board, viz:

In Council, January 5, 1776: Read, and accepted; and thereupon, Ordered, That the Petitioner have leave to withdraw his Petition.

Read, and concurred.

A Petition of the Town of Falmouth, in the County of Cumberland, setting forth the distressing circumstances to which the inhabitants of that town are reduced by the burning a great part of the town by Captain Mowat, and praying the Court to release the said town from the Province Tax laid on them the present year, or otherwise relieve them. Read, and ordered to lie.

On a motion, Resolved, That a Committee, to consist of three, be appointed to repair to Falmouth, in the County of Cumberland, in the next recess of this Court, and inquire into the state and circumstances of that town, and such other towns as they may think proper, and report to the House at the next session, and that next Tuesday, ten o'clock, A. M., be assigned for the choice of such Committee, by ballot.

The Resolve for procuring Blankets, being amended, was accepted, and is as follows, viz:

Whereas, his Excellency General Washington, has represented to this Court the necessity of providing Blankets for the Army, and has requested the immediate assistance of this Court in this interesting affair:

Therefore, Resolved, That there be collected from the several Towns hereafter named, according to the schedule hereto annexed, four thousand Blankets.

And whereas, it is of great importance that said Blankets should be speedily in camp:

It is also Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to repair to the Selectmen of the several towns mentioned in said schedule; and the Selectmen in each of said towns are hereby earnestly desired to use their utmost endeavours in aiding and assisting the Committee in effecting the above business. And that the sum of two thousand six hundred Pounds be delivered into the hands of said Committee, in the following proportions, viz:

To Mr. Lincoln, the sum of one hundred and sixty-nine Pounds.

To Colonel Barret, the sum of three hundred and seventy-eight Pounds six Shillings.

To Major Moody, the sum of two hundred and thirty-two Pounds one Shilling.

To Mr. Mills, the sum of one hundred and ninety-five Pounds.

To Mr. Knowles, the sum of one hundred and ninety Pounds nine Shillings.

To Mr. Thomas Durfee, the sum of two hundred and fifty-eight Pounds fourteen Shillings.

To Colonel Mitchell, the sum of one hundred and seventy-six Pounds sixteen Shillings.

To Mr. Singletary, the sum of three hundred and eighty-eight Pounds fourteen Shillings.

To Mr. Thomas Durfee, the sum of four hundred and twenty-two Pounds ten Shillings.

To Deacon Hovey, the sum of forty-eight Pounds two Shillings.

To Captain Hyde, the sum of fifty-two Pounds.

To Deacon Allen, the sum of eighty-eight Pounds eight Shillings.

To enable them to pay for said Blankets, and the transporting them to the Commissary-General of the Colony, the Committee to be accountable to this Court for the same; and said Committee are further directed to deliver said Blankets to the said Commissary-General, and take his receipt therefor.

And it is further Resolved, That the price which shall be agreed upon by the above Committee and Selectmen, together with the name of the town where such Blankets are purchased, be by them affixed to each Blanket.

 Afternoon.

On a motion, Ordered, That Major Hawley, Mr. Sullivan, and Mr. Rice, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve empowering the Selectmen and Committees of Correspondence of the several towns in this Colony, where there are Estates of any Refugees, to dispose of them in such a manner as they may judge most just and prudent, any Resolve of this Court or Congress of this Colony notwithstanding.

A Bill to enable the Inhabitants of Falmouth to recover Goods taken from them during the late fire there, read a second time, and ordered to be read again to-morrow, eleven o'clock, A. M.

Whereas, at the present important crisis of our publick affairs, the intention of this Court for causing to be erected Mills for manufacturing Gunpowder hath not hitherto been so far executed as the exigency of the times most evidently requires; and the attention of the Court to each step to be taken in this measure must further retard it, and unnecessarily interrupt the urgent business of the Court:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That Mr. Putman, Mr. Crane, and Mr. Vose, be, and they hereby are appointed a Committee to purchase the remains of a Powder-Mill at Sloughton, and land and privileges convenient to improve the same, and to repair said Powder-Mill, or purchase a privilege for, and erect one at Sutton, as they, after having consulted the master-workman who shall undertake the same, shall judge expedient; and the said Committee are directed to give their constant and diligent attendance to this business until it shall be perfected; and the Council are empowered to draw on the Treasury for a sum not exceeding three hundred Pounds, in favour of said Committee, to enable them to pay the charges of purchasing and repairing, or erecting a Mill as aforesaid, they to be accountable to the Court for the same.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board to desire them to send down the Resolve appointing a Committee of Conference on the subject of the Militia Bill, and also to desire that they would send down the Resolve which passed this House for erecting a Powder-Mill at Andover, if they have not passed upon the same.

John Taylor, Esq., brought down the Resolve appointing a Committee of Conference on the Militia Bill, and at the same time informed the House that the Resolve for erecting a Powder-Mill at Andover was in the hands of the Committee of which Colonel Palmer, who is gone to Cambridge, is Chairman, but that when he returned it should be sent down.

Voted, That the appointment of a Committee to confer with a Committee of the honourable Board on the subject of the Militia Bill, be reconsidered.

Whereupon, Ordered, That Major Hawley, Mr. Gerry, Colonel Orne, Mr. Sullivan, Deacon Nichols, Major Bliss, and Colonel Freeman, be a Committee for that purpose.

The Committee on the Petition of Joseph Pearse Palmer, read January 2d, reported fifteen Pounds per month for his services as Quartermaster-General.

Read, and not accepted, and Ordered, to be recommitted, and the Committee were instructed to compute his services at twelve Pounds per month.

The Committee appointed to report what sum is necessary to be put into the hands of the Committee who are empowered to fit out vessels for Powder, reported. Read, and recommitted.

Ordered, That Mr. Singletary make application to the Secretary for the original, or an attested copy of the Resolve for procuring Blankets, that it may be immediately printed.

A Petition of the Committee of Safety of Deer-Island, representing the dangerous and distressed situation of the inhabitants, for want of men and ammunition to protect them from the enemy, and praying relief.

Read, and committed to the Committee on the state of the Sea-Coast.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

 Saturday, January 6, 1776.

The two following Petitions were committed to the Committee appointed to consider the Petitions and Accounts of wounded men, viz:

A Petition of Captain Charles Miles, who received a wound at Charlestown, on the 19th April last.

A Petition of Joshua Felt, who received a wound at Concord, on the same day.

A Bill to enable the inhabitants of Falmouth to recover Goods taken from them during the late fire there. Read a third time, and passed to be engrossed.

John Taylor, Esq., brought down the Resolve of this House for erecting a Powder-Mill at Andover.

The Committee appointed to consider what sum of money should be put into the hands of the Committee for fixing out Vessels, on account of this Colony, for importing Powder and other warlike stores, reported. Read, and accepted.

Resolved, That the Receiver-General of this Colony be, and hereby is directed to pay said Committee the sum of eight thousand Pounds, they to be accountable to the General Court for the same.

Resolved, That ten o'clock, next Tuesday morning, be assigned for the consideration of the Report of the Committee relative to the Poor of Boston and Charlestown.

Ordered, That the Doorkeeper be directed immediately to take into custody Doctor Samuel Gelston, and put him under a proper guard till the further order of Court.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses appointed to consider the matter of signing and numbering the Bills of Credit.

In Council, January 6, 1776: Read, and accepted, and thereupon Resolved, That two persons, such as the honourable House shall choose, be appointed to sign and number the Bills of Credit of the last emission, in the room of James Prescott and Joseph Palmer, Esq., who are hereby excused.

Read, and concurred, and Doctor Rice and Major Ely are appointed to sign and number the Bills accordingly, and the Committee are directed to sit forthwith.

Charles Chauncy, Esq., brought down a Resolve recommending the Militia to remain in the Army beyond the time of enlistment, if needed.

On the Petition of Joseph Pearse Palmer:

Resolved, That there be paid to him out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, the sum of forty-five Pounds eight Shillings and seven Pence half-penny, in full consideration for his service as Quartermaster-General, at twelve Pounds per month, in the Army under the command of General Ward.

Ordered, That the Resolve for erecting a Powder-Mill at Andover be recommitted.

 Afternoon.

Ordered, That one-quarter of the Town of Newton's quota of Wood for the Army be delivered at Roxbury; the other three-quarters at Cambridge; and also, one-quarter of the Town of Needham's quota of Wood for the Army be delivered at Roxbury, and the other three-quarters at Cambridge, till further order of this Court.

Ordered, That Mr. Phillips, Mr. Cushing, and Major Fuller, be a Committee to wait upon his Excellency General Washington, on Monday morning next, to know of him whether he thinks there will be a necessity of retaining any or all of the Militia in camp after the 15th instant, and if any, how many he shall then stand in need of, and for what time.

Then the House adjourned till Monday next, ten o'clock, A. M.

Monday, January 8, 1776.

Voted, That the Order of the House, of the 6th current, appointing a Committee to wait upon General Washington, be reconsidered.

Ordered, That Mr. Cushing and Major Fuller, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to inquire of General Washington, whether he thinks there will be a necessity of retaining any or all the Militia, now in camp, after the 15th current, and, if any, how many he shall stand in need of, and for what time.

Ordered, That Mr. Sevall, Doctor Fletcher, and Captain Parker, be a Committee to bring in a Bill for establishing the Fees of the Courts of Admiralty in this Colony.

The Committee on the Muster-Rolls of the Army having requested instructions with regard to some Rolls which contain the service of men, who marched on the alarm a short time before they enlisted, Ordered, That such service be struck out of said Rolls, and made up in the Minute or Militia Rolls, agreeable to the directions of Court.

The Committee to whom was committed a Resolve of this House, for erecting a Powder-Mill at Andover, reported. The Report was considered, and recommitted.

Afternoon.

The Committee to whom was committed a Resolve of this House, for erecting a Powder-Mill at Andover, reported. Read, and accepted.

Whereas, Mr. Samuel Phillips, Jun., has proposed to build a Mill with all expedition at Andover, for manufacturing Gunpowder, and this Court is willing to give all reasonable encouragement to so important and necessary an undertaking:

It is, therefore, Resolved, If the said Mill shall be erected within a reasonable time, in the judgment of the General Court, that during the term of one year next after the said Mill shall be erected and fitted to go, there shall be delivered to the said Phillips, by this Colony, from time to time, so much Saltpetre as shall be sufficient to keep the said Mill constantly employed, provided the same can be manufactured and purchased within this Colony, at the rate and bounty which is already, or that hereafter may be established by the General Court for the same; and, also, that the Committee of this Court (A) be not obliged to reserve by them, at any one time, a larger quantity than will be sufficient to keep the said Mill in employ for more than the term of one week, (B); and, if it shall be made to appear at the expiration of the year to the satisfaction of the said Court, that the Mill has been unemployed during part of the said time from the want of a supply of Saltpetre, there shall be delivered to said Phillips, to manufacture into Powder as aforesaid, sufficient quantity of Saltpetre to employ the Mill so long as to make up the lost time as aforesaid, and there shall be likewise delivered as much Sulphur, if the said Phillips shall require or need the same, as will be necessary to mix with said quantities of Saltpetre in manufacturing the same into Powder, the said Phillips paying the Colony so much for what Sulphur he shall receive therefrom, as said Sulphur shall cost the same. (C). Provided, That the said Phillips shall enter into bonds, as the Council shall order, that he will well and truly deliver the Commissary-General of this Colony, so many pounds of good merchantable Gunpowder as he shall be able to manufacture of the Saltpetre which he shall receive from the Colony, or any Committee appointed by the General Court, to manufacture or procure the same; and, also, be at the expense of transporting said Powder to the Colony Store, and of transporting to his said Mill such Sulphur and Saltpetre as the Colony, or the Committee of said Colony, shall deliver him; and, also, that he will cause to be published all the discoveries which he shall make relative to the construction of said Mill, and the manufacturing Powder as aforesaid.

And it is, also, Resolved, That the said Phillips shall be paid out of the publick Treasury of this Colony, eight Pence per pound, for as many pounds of good merchantable Gunpowder as he shall manufacture of the Saltpetre which he shall receive of the Colony as aforesaid, on his delivering such Gunpowder to the Commissary of the Colony.

And it is also, Resolved, That the several Committees that are, or may be appointed by the General Court, to procure Saltpetre, or Sulphur, are hereby directed to deliver said Phillips, from time to time, so much Saltpetre and Sulphur as shall be sufficient to keep the said Mill constantly employed as aforesaid, and to take duplicate receipts thereof, specifying the quantity of each, and also the price of the Sulphur—one whereof shall be lodged with the Commissary aforesaid, and the other the said Committee are directed to keep.

Resolved, That the Receiver-General of this Colony be, and he hereby is directed, to pay into the hands of the Honourable Benjamin Greenleaf, Esq., Captain Jonathan Greenleaf, and Major Stephen Cross, a Committee appointed by this Court to purchase Sulphur, the sum of three hundred Pounds, to enable them to make payment for the quantities of Sulphur they have, or shall engage to receive, they to be accountable to the General Court for the same.

The Committee on the Petition of John Bunker, reported. Read, and recommitted.

Moses Gill, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee this day appointed to inquire of General Washington, whether he thought there would be a necessity of retaining the Militia now in camp, &c., viz: That from the best information his Excellency could get, the New-Hampshire Militia were determined to return home after the expiration of the time they engaged for; and he apprehended it would be necessary for the whole of the Militia of this Colony, now in camp, to remain there until the last of this month.

JOHN TAYLOR, per order.

Resolved, That three o'clock, to-morrow afternoon, be assigned for the choice of a Committee, to present the state of disbursements of this Colony in the defence of American liberty, to the honourable Continental Congress for approbation and allowance; and, also, for the choice of a Committee for certain purposes expressed in a Resolve brought in by Mr. Gerry.

The Resolve of Council, brought down the 6th current, recommending to the Militia now doing duty in the Continental Army, to tarry there a fortnight, or three weeks, after the 15th instant, was read, and Major Hawley, Colonel Orne, Mr. Gerry, Deacon Nichols, and Major Bliss, were appointed a Committee to consider the same, and report what is further expedient to be done.

Resolved, That next Thursday afternoon be assigned for the several members from each County to determine what division shall be made for the Regiments of Militia in their respective Counties. The extent of each Regiment when determined on, to be laid upon the table.

Mr. Gerry, agreeable to order, reported the following Resolve, which was read, and accepted, viz:

Whereas, the Committee appointed to examine the Muster-Rolls of the Regiments raised by this Colony, now in the Continental Army, have represented to this Court, that some of the Colonels of the Regiments aforesaid, have made up their Rolls at fifteen Pounds for a chief Colonel, and the said Committee have applied for directions in this affair: And whereas, by referring to the Records of the Provincial Congress, it plainly appears, that on the 23d of April last, it was "Resolved, That the Colonels of Regiments, consisting of one thousand men, being part of the Army then voted to be raised by this Colony, should be entitled to fifteen Pounds per month, for a Colonel;" and, that on the 25th it was "Resolved, That each Regiment should consist of about five hundred and ninety men," and the Committee of Safety proceeded to issue inlisting orders, with copies of said establishment, wherein it appeared that each Colonel of a Regiment, consisting of five hundred and ninety-eight men, and raised as aforesaid, should be entitled to fifteen Pounds per month: And whereas, on the 29th of April aforesaid, the Congress having found that great uneasiness prevailed in the Colony and camp, and soldiers were prevented from inlisting on account of the high wages engaged to the Field-Officers, by the establishment aforesaid, sent a Committee to the camp to represent the circumstances of this affair to such Field-Officers as were then engaged, and recommended it to them to consent that their wages should be reduced to twelve Pounds for a Colonel, and in proportion for Lieutenant-Colonels and Majors; and the Committee reported that they had collected together all the Field-Officers who had inlisting orders, and could be found by said Committee, and that the said officers promised to acquiesce in the final determination of Congress relative to this matter, which established the said Colonels at twelve Pounds, and other Field-Officers in proportion: And whereas, this Court consents to the payment of the Field and other officers, according to the last mentioned establishment, notwithstanding few, if any, of said Regiments contained five hundred and ninety-eight men, agreeable to the terms thereof; but had no expectation that any of the Field-Officers would claim the first establishment, because it so happened that the general confusion of the Colony, and hurry of business, did not admit of the said establishments being recalled by the Congress, or Committee of Safety, and thus the Colonels were permitted to hold them; and such claim appears to this Court very unjustifiable:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Muster-Rolls aforesaid be, and they are hereby directed to cause the same to be made up, agreeable to the establishment made on the 29th April aforesaid, and to direct such Field-Officers (if any there be) who require wages agreeable to the establishment of the 23d April, to prefer to the Court a Petition for the wages which they may suppose to be due, in addition to what they will receive upon the last establishment, that they may be heard, and proper order be taken thereon, and that the said Committee show a copy of this Resolve to each of the Field-Officers who shall apply to them on this matter as aforesaid.

The Committee appointed to bring in a Resolve for disposing of the Estates of the Refugees, reported. Read and accepted.

Whereas, several persons belonging to this Colony have joined the Ministerial troops, and others, who are in an hostile manner endeavouring to further the measures of the British Administration for enslaving the uniting American Colonies, and several others belonging to this Colony have absconded and removed themselves out of this Colony, with intent either to promote and further the said measures of Administration, or to escape the trouble and expense of a necessary opposition to such wicked and arbitrary measures, and divers of both sorts have left estate, either real or personal, within this Colony; and whereas, much estate so left has been already wasted, and more thereof is liable to be wasted and perish; and whereas, some of the said absconding persons have, by various arts, procured the rents of their deserted real estates, and their personal estate itself, or the proceeds thereof, to be remitted to them:

Therefore, Resolved, That the Selectmen and the Committee of Correspondence of any town in this Colony, where the estate, either real or personal, or both, belonging to any such person, or persons, above described, shall be found, be, and hereby are empowered and directed, according to their best discretion and judgment, so to manage, order, and lease such real estate, as that waste may be prevented as much as possible for the future, and, also, to take possession of, order, and dispose of such personal estate as (A) above described, in such manner as that the same may not be embezzled or suffered to perish, and also in such manner as neither the rents of such real estate, nor the personal estate itself, nor the proceeds thereof, should get to the hands or use of any of (B) the above described persons, or any of them, in no case wherein such Selectmen and Committee shall judge it inexpedient and against the publick good of the Colony, any former orders or Resolves of Congress or General Court to the contrary notwithstanding.

And that such Selectmen and Committee of Correspondence keep such fair and full accounts of all their proceedings and doings in the premises, as that they may be able to inform the General Court thereof (C) whenever they shall be thereto required.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Tuesday, January 9, 1776.

A Petition of Captain Caleb Hyde, setting forth, that on the 10th day of May last, by order, he marched part of a Company of Militia at the alarm at Ticonderoga, one hundred and forty miles, at his own expense, and praying consideration and allowance. Read, and committed with the Roll accompanying, to Colonel Williams, Captain Parker, and Mr. Hale.

A Pay-Roll of a Company which marched from Stockbridge and West-Stockbridge the 10th May last, under the command of Captain Abraham Brown, for the reduction of Ticonderoga, at the request of Colonel Benedict Arnold, &c. Read, and committed to the same Committee.

The House put off the choice of a Committee to repair to Falmouth, to three o'clock, to-morrow afternoon.

And the consideration of the Report relative to the Poor of Boston and Charlestown, to ten o'clock, to-morrow forenoon.

The Committee on the Petition of Captain John Bunker, read January 5th, reported. Read, and accepted.

Whereas, Mr. John Bunker and others, did on the 24th day of November last, at Mount-Desert, take a Schooner called the Falmouth-Packet, Isaac Danks, master, laden with live-stock, butter, cheese, sauce, &c., and in our enemy's service, bound to Boston; and said Bunker, not knowing any provision made in such cases, delivered said Schooner and cargo into the hands of the Committee of Goldsborough, till he should have the order of this Court thereon:

Therefore, Resolved, That the Committee of Goldsborough be, and they hereby are directed to deliver said Schooner with her cargo, or the proceeds thereof, if the same or any part thereof hath been disposed of by said Committee, as also the papers and appurtenances to her belonging, unto the said John Bunker, that said vessel may be brought to trial at some Court of (A) Admiralty, erected by the General Court of this Colony, (B.)

Ordered, That the Committee appointed to consider the Petitions and Accounts of wounded men, be also a Committee to consider the Petitions and Accounts of Soldiers that have been sick.

The Committee appointed to consider sundry Accounts from Machius, reported. Read, and ordered to lie till the House received further information with respect to the vessels taken by the people there.

Afternoon.

Jedediah Foster, Esquire, brought down the Resolve of this House on the Petition of Captain John Bunker, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, January 9, 1776: Read, and concurred, with the amendments at A and B, viz: At A, dele "Admiralty," and insert "Justice;" and at B insert, "to try the capture of Vessels." Read, and concurred.

Benjamin Chadbourn, Esquire, brought down the Report of the Committee appointed, the 2d current, to inquire into the conduct of the Officers of the companies stationed at Falmouth, viz:

That, upon the best inquiry, they cannot find that the officers stationed at said Falmouth have been guilty of breaking their orders at the time of the late fire in that town; and, as there is no evidence against them in that respect, the Committee are of opinion their Muster-Rolls pass for payment according to the establishment.

In Council, January 9, 1776: Read, and accepted; and thereupon,

Resolved, That the Committee of Muster-Rolls be directed to pass on the Rolls of the Officers stationed at Falmouth, in common with others, without preference or distinction.

Ordered, That Major Smith and Mr. Guild, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider a Resolve of this Court, which passed both Houses on the 9th ultimo, recommending to the inhabitants of this and the other Colonies to withhold further supplies of Provisions from the Islands of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard, and report what they think is necessary to be done for the relief of the inhabitants of Martha's Vineyard.

Resolved, That the choice of the Committee to present the state of Disbursements, &c., to the Continental Congress, also for a Committee for certain purposes expressed in a Resolve brought in by Mr. Gerry, be put off to four o'clock, to-morrow afternoon.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esquire, brought down the Resolve, which passed this House yesterday, for erecting a Powder-Mill at Andover, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz :

In Council, January 9, 1776: Read, and concurred, with the amendments at A, B, and C, viz: At A, insert "appointed to purchase Saltpetre;" dele from B to C; and then insert: "In case said Mill shall be obliged to stand still any part of said year, for want of Saltpetre, and the same be made to appear to the satisfaction of this Court, said Phillips shall be allowed to receive a sufficient quantity of Saltpetre to employ said Mill the same length of time it was obliged to stand still, and to manufacture it into Powder, on the same terms as during the aforesaid year; and, in case said Phillips requires it, there shall be delivered to him so much Sulphur as is necessary to manufacture the Saltpetre into Gunpowder, he (the said Phillips) paying this Colony the first cost of the Sulphur; and he (the said Phillips) shall, at his own expense, not only provide a sufficient quantity of good charcoal for all the Gunpowder he shall manufacture for the Colony, but also provide and keep, at his own cost, a good and sufficient guard at his Powder-Mills, at all times, to prevent any wicked and designing persons from destroying the same, and to be at all other necessary expenses in manufacturing said Powder." Read, and concurred.

Benjamin Lincoln, Esquire, brought down a Letter from Mr. Joshua Elderkin, of Windham, in Connecticut, acquainting the Court that he has made such progress in the manufacture of Saltpetre as to be able to produce fifty pounds per week, and declaring his willingness to communicate his discoveries in such way as to the Court may seem meet.

A Petition of Doctor Stephen Ball, of Northborough, praying an allowance for his account of doctoring divers soldiers of the American Army, who were sick, and had leave to return home. Read, and the Petitioner had leave to withdraw his Petition, and to exhibit an account to the 1st of August.

Ordered, That a message go to the honourable Board, informing them the House has now under consideration a Resolve recommending to the Militia now doing duty in the Continental Army to tarry there until the last of January instant, and to request that the Board would not yet adjourn.

Charles Chauncy, Esquire, brought down the Report of the Committee on the services of the Committee that signed the bills of the one hundred thousand Pounds emission, with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz:

In Council, January 9, 1776: Read, and concurred, with the amendments at A, viz: At A insert, "Read, and accepted, and Ordered, That the said Committee be discharged accordingly."

Read, and accepted, with the following amendment at B, viz: At B, dele the words "Read, and accepted, and Ordered," and insert the words "and, also."

Whereas, it appears to this Court that the part of the Militia of this Colony now in the American Army as a temporary reinforcement, in consequence of a Resolve of said Court, of the 1st of December last past, did conceive, at the time of their inlistment, that by said Resolve they were intitled to one penny per mile for their travel from their respective homes to the camp, and back again, and that his Excellency General Washington did only engage to the Committee of said Court, when upon a conference with him relative to this matter, that there should be allowed to said Militia so much per day for their travel as the value of their rations in the camp would amount to; and whereas, by referring to the said Resolve, it appears that the said Militia were promised "rations while on their march to and from the camp, to bear their expenses in the same," and the said mode of expression may be naturally construed by the inhabitants of this Colony to mean the usual allowance of this Colony of one penny per mile for travel, whatever might have been the real intent of the Court at the time of passing said Resolve; and whereas, it is the duty and interest of every Government strictly to keep their faith and engagements with all persons whatever, and this Court is disposed to give all reasonable satisfaction to the persons aforesaid, and any other inhabitants of the Colony, while they continue to act with the spirit and patriotism which appears at present to influence their conduct:

It is, therefore, Resolved, That the Captain or commanding officer of each Company of the Militia aforesaid be, and he hereby is directed forthwith to make up a Roll of the travel of each man of his respective Company, from his home to the camp, and back again, and the amount thereof at one penny per mile, therein deducting the sum or sums which shall have been paid to him or his Company, as rations for travel as aforesaid, and he is further directed to meet the Committee of this Court, viz: Colonel Lovell and Major Bliss, at Cambridge, at the house of Mr. Jones, Innholder, or Colonel Williams and Mr. Perry, at Roxbury, at the house of Mr. Blany, Innholder, on the 13th day of January instant, or if his duty in the Army will not admit thereof on said day, to attend on Monday, the 15th of said January, in order to receive the balance that shall be due for said travel, to pay the men borne on said Rolls. And the Commissary-General of the Army aforesaid, is requested to deliver said Committee a schedule of the sums that he shall have paid to each Company for rations as aforesaid; and the Council are hereby empowered to issue their warrants on the Treasurer of this Colony to pay to said Colonel Lovell and Major Bliss, the sum of four hundred Pounds, and to Colonel Williams and Mr. Perry, the sum of eight hundred Pounds, to enable them to pay off said Rolls as aforesaid, said Committee to be accountable to the General Court for the same:

And whereas, his Excellency General Washington has signified to this Court, that he shall need the assistance of the said Militia until the last of this month, and from the late virtuous zeal and ardour manifested in their conduct, the Court have the highest confidence in their readiness to afford the same:

Resolved, That it be, and hereby is strongly recommended to the Officers and Soldiers of each Company aforesaid, to reinlist themselves to serve in the said Army until the last day of January instant, or for such a part of said time as his Excellency General Washington shall require, upon the pay, and under the regulations expressed in the former inlistment.

Resolved, That the Committee aforesaid are hereby directed to cause the foregoing Resolve to be forthwith printed in handbills, and copies thereof delivered to each Captain and commanding officer of the Companies aforesaid, who are directed to cause the said Resolve to be read to their several Companies.

Whereas, the Soldiers who were inlisted into the American Army belonging to this Colony, who have been discharged, and had received Fire-Arms and Cartridge-Boxes, which were purchased and delivered to them by this Colony, were ordered to return the same to Richard Devans, Esquire, Commissary-General of this Colony, and to take his receipt for the same, to entitle them to receive the sums deducted for such Guns and Cartridge-Boxes out of their wages, as made up in their Pay-Rolls as lately exhibited: And whereas, the said Fire-Arms and Cartridge-Boxes were purchased for the use of the Continental Army, and the Soldiers alleged that they have accordingly returned the same to the Ordnance Storekeeper of the American Army, or such other persons as were properly authorized to receive the same by his Excellency General Washington:

Therefore, Resolved, That any Soldier who has received a Gun or Cartridge-Box from the Colony Store, and shall produce a certificate either from the Quartermaster-General or his Deputies, or the Ordnance Storekeeper of the American Army, that such Gun or Cartridge-Box has been by them returned into the Continental Store, the same certificate shall be deemed sufficient to all intents and purposes as if the same was certified by Richard Devans, Esq., the Commissary-General of this Colony, according to the former Resolve of this Court.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

Wednesday, January 10, 1776.

A Receipt of Timothy Edwards, dated 12th August last, for one hundred pounds of Gunpowder, received of the Selectmen of the Town of Stockbridge, for the use of Colonel Eastman's Regiment at Crown-Point; and an order drawn by said Selectmen the 5th December last, on Deacon Elnathan Curtis, to procure or pay for ammunition, as mentioned in said order.

Read, and committed to Captain Brown, of Abington, Mr. Hale, Mr. Hobart, Major Smith, and Mr. Guild, who were directed to consider the matter thereof at large.

The Letter of Mr. Joshua Elderkin, brought down yesterday, was read, and committed to Major Brooks and Deacon Nichols, with such as the honourable Board should join.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House a Letter from his Excellency General Washington, enclosing a copy of Peteg Wadsworth's account of Cape-Cod Harbour. Read, and sent up.

Jabez Fisher, Esquire, brought down the Report of a Committee appointed to consider the Petition of some of the inhabitants of Majabigwaduce against the conduct of John Bakeman, Esquire, &c., viz:

The Committee appointed upon the Petition of some of the inhabitants of Majabigwaduce, against the conduct of John Bakeman, Esquire, relative to his conduct with the people of that place, have attended that service, and heard the said Bakeman in his defence of the charges alleged against him in said Petition, and have examined the depositions and declarations relating to the conduct of the Committee of Safety, and numbers of the inhabitants of that place. Your Committee have great reason to suspect that a number of said inhabitants and petitioners, under the countenance of some of the Committee of Safety of that place, have the last year, in many instances, supplied our enemies with wood and live stock, thereby counteracting the Resolves of the Congress.

And it does not appear to the Committee that the said Bakeman has acted an unfriendly part to his country, or has done any thing to forfeit the trust reposed in him by his appointment to the office of a Justice of the Peace for the County of Lincoln; and with respect to the riot committed on said Bakeman in December last, it being of such an alarming nature, we think that unless some methods are speedily taken in order to bring the perpetrators thereof to condign punishment, it will prove of very mischievous consequences, and that it is a matter of so much importance, that it deserves the attention of the whole Court.

BENJAMIN CHADBOURN, per order.

In Council, January 10, 1776: Read, and accepted, and Ordered, That Moses Gill and John Taylor, Esqs., with such as the honourable House shall join, be a Committee to consider the subject-matter of the above Report, and what is further necessary to be done.

Read, and concurred, and Colonel Norton, Mr. Hovey, and Captain Hathaway, are joined.

Afternoon.

Michael Farley, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider the Petition of Charles Chauncy, Esq., read December 20, viz:

That the prayer of the Petition be granted, and that an Order pass this Court to the person, or persons, who may have the Goods, Clothing, or Furniture, mentioned in the Petition, or Invoice, in their possession, to deliver the same to the order of Charles Chauncy, Esq., or Mr. Neal McIntyer, as soon as demanded.

JABEZ FISHER, per order.

In Council, January 10, 1776: Read, and accepted, and,

Therupon, Resolved, That the Committee of Frenchman's Bay be directed to deliver all the Goods, Clothing, or Furniture, mentioned in the enclosed schedule, to the order of Charles Chauncy, Esq., or Mr. Neal McIntyer, on demand. Read, and concurred.

Resolved, That the choice of a Committee to go to Falmouth be put off to Friday next, ten o'clock, A. M.

The House proceeded, according to the Order of the Day, to the choice of a Committee on the part of the House, for the purposes expressed in a Resolve brought in by Mr. Gerry. And Colonel Porter and Mr. Brown, of Boston, being nominated, were appointed.

The Resolve being amended, passed the House, and is as follows, viz:

Resolved, That Colonel Porter and Mr. Brown, of Boston, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be, and they hereby are appointed a Committee to settle the Accounts remaining unsettled on the Books of the late Committee of Supplies, and to collect or pay the balances that may be due to or from the Colony on said Accounts; also, to take care of the Brigantines Rockingham and Unity's cargoes, and such a part of the Schooner Maccaroni, as belongs to the Colony; also, to see that the order of this Court be complied with by Captain William Johnson, late commander of the Schooner Brittania, relative to his delivering to the Commissary of said Colony the neat proceeds of the cargo of said Schooner, consigned him by the said late Committee of Supplies, exclusive of what he shall produce receipts of having delivered agreeable to any order of said Court. And they are further directed, to receive from the files of said Committee of Supplies all the papers relative to said vessel, or any of the persons having Accounts unsettled, as aforesaid, and, upon the arrival of any of them, to cause the proceeds of their cargoes (if vested in military stores) to be delivered to the Colonial Commissary, and take his receipts therefor, and to certify to the Standing Committee on Accounts the sums which they shall find necessary to discharge the portage-bills, hire, and other necessary charges attending the said voyages, that shall be due from the Colony aforesaid. And the Standing Committees on Accounts are hereby empowered to pay and discharge the portage-bills, hire of vessels, and other charges that shall be examined and certified by the Committee now chosen, as aforesaid, they to be accountable to the General Court for their doings.

Ordered, That Major Bliss, Dr. Fletcher, and Mr. Bancraft, be a Committee to count and sort the votes for some persons to repair to Philadelphia, with the state of Disbursements of this Colony, &c.

On a motion, Resolved, That the Committee consist of one person only, and that twelve o'clock, to-morrow, be assigned for the choice of some person for that purpose.

Whereas, in the present contest with Britain the Militia of the several United Colonies of America may be frequently called forth to defend their invaluable rights and liberties, and it is indispensably necessary to the welfare of the Colonies that such of the said Militia as shall have conducted in the service with a laudable zeal and fidelity, should be fully satisfied with publick measures, and at all times so accommodated and rewarded for their services, that the Colonies may have the fullest assurance of a renewal of their engagements, whenever the same shall be required; and whereas, it will be much for the convenience and advantage of any part of the said Militia, when called as a temporary reinforcement for the American Army, to receive their wages at the time of their dismission, as the trouble and expense of a future application for the same would greatly reduce the reward of their services, and may tend to discourage their enlistings again:

It is, therefore, Resolved, As the opinion of this Court, that it will greatly tend to promote the service in this Colony, and encourage the reenlistment of that part of the Militia of said Colony, now in the American Army as a temporary reinforcement, if they could be assured by his Excellency General Washington that they should be paid their wages at the time of their discharge from service.

Resolved, That Mr. Speaker and Colonel Thayer, with such as the honourable Board shall join, be, and they hereby are appointed a Committee to apply to his Excellency General Washington, with a copy of the preceding Resolve, and, also, of a Resolve of this Court relative to the reenlistment of the Militia, aforesaid.

A Petition of John Tufts, of Belfast, in Penobscot, setting forth, that he came from thence to inform the Court that fourteen families now dwelling on Long-Island, have, from time to time, supplied the Ministerial forces with cordwood and other necessaries, and praying that they may be removed, or otherwise discountenanced; also, praying for ammunition, and for the direction of the Court with respect to a large quantity of wood on the sea-shore at Belfast.

Read, and committed to the Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider the subject-matter of a Report on the Petition of a number of the Inhabitants of Majabiguaduce, relative to the conduct of John Bakeman, Esq.

The Committee appointed to consider and report some Directions to the Committee on Muster-Rolls, with respect to Minors and Servants, reported. Read, and not accepted.*

Benjamin Lincoln, Esq., brought down the Militia Bill, with sundry amendments thereof proposed by the honourable Board, and the same were considered by the House.

The House then adjourned to ten o'clock, to-morrow morning.

— Thursday, January 11, 1776.

Jedediah Foster, Esq., brought down the Report of the Committee of both Houses, appointed to consider a Plan for fitting out Armed Vessels for the defence of American liberty.

Joseph Palmer, Esq., brought down a Letter from his Excellency General Washington, dated the 10th current, relative to the strength of the Lines, Recruits, and Recruiting-Officers.

Read, and committed to Captain Stone, Mr. Jewett, of Ipswich, and Major Brooks, with such as the honourable Board may join.

Charles Chauncy, Esq., brought down the following Resolve, viz:

In Council, January 11, 1776: Whereas, by a Resolve of the General Court, passed the 9th of November last, among other things, it was
